

Recent Baylor grads charged with vandalism

WACO, Texas (AP) — Two recent Baylor University graduates were jailed in the wake of a series of incidents of vandalism that has cost Waco businesses an estimated $100,000 in the past two months. Officers arrested Wesley Bernard Smith, 22, and Lawrence Carr Gale, 21, late Tuesday after a witness called in a license plate number after seeing a ball bearing shot through a window of the United Bank Building. Officers stopped and detained Smith and Gale, who were parked in a car behind a nearby Ramada Inn, said Sgt. Ken Porterfield.

Vandals broke windows at several Waco businesses Tuesday night, Porterfield said. A similar string of vandalism in the past two months has cost local merchants more than $100,000. Smith and Gale were in McLennan County Jail Wednesday charged with criminal mischief over $750. Their bond was $5,000.

Criminal mischief over $750 is a third-degree felony, meaning the men could face up to 10 years in prison and a fine of up to $10,000 each if they are convicted.

Both men graduated from Baylor last Saturday. Smith, of Collins, Miss., got a degree in biology. Gale of Palm Springs, Fla., got degrees in accounting and real estate.

Joint appearance expected to be calm

FLOYDADA, Texas (AP) — Republican gubernatorial candidate Clayton Williams and Democratic nominee Ann Richards are expected to make their first campaign stop shared by opposing camps here Saturday.

But don't expect any fireworks. Richards and Williams are scheduled to help celebrate Floyd County's centennial during the Old Settler's Day reunion.

"Anything can happen," Margaret Justus, a spokeswoman for the Richards campaign, said Wednesday. "But we don't expect any fireworks."

Gordon Hensley, press secretary for Williams, said his candidate would likely avoid any conflict with Richards.

"An exchange won't occur unless she starts one," Hensley said Wednesday. "We don't anticipate that."

Neither candidate was available for comment Wednesday.

"This is really it in terms of a joint appearance," Ms. Justus said. "His spokespeople have gone on the record saying their strategy is not to appear publicly with Ann."

Williams spokesman Bill Kenyon said last week Williams' events would focus solely on the Midland oilman and his message.

But Hensley said Wednesday, "there is no formal policy of avoidance."

Although Williams and Richards will be in Floydada at the same time Saturday, they will not be sharing a stage.

Dawnell Smith, chairwoman of Floydada's arts and crafts festival, said Williams will speak at about 11:45 a.m. Saturday and Richards will speak at noon.

"I think they (reunion organizers) wanted it not to turn out to be too political," Ms. Smith said. "They wanted more of it to be pertaining to Old Settler's Day, so they put them separate."

Another joint appearance had been slated for the Buckholts Cotton Festival June 2, but Williams canceled.

Hensley said Wednesday Williams was forced to back down because of previously scheduled engagements.

The Richards camp accused Williams of "baling" out of the cotton festival.

"Williams has gone on record saying he is uncomfortable running against a woman," Ms. Justus said. "We didn't think he would be afraid to stand next to a woman at a campaign stop. It's unfortunate to the public who needs to see the two candidates together to make some comparisons."

Joint ventures look very promising for you in the year ahead, provided you link up with capable, industrious persons. Lazy associates won't be of any value at all.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Competitive developments must be realistically assessed today, or else you might get involved in a situation where the odds are stacked against you. Don't kid yourself. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences which are governing you in the year ahead. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions today by mailing $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-5428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Instead of viewing situations with logic and objectivity today, you might resort to the unproductive luxury of emotionalizing. This standard of measurement won't work.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you are wishy-washy today, there's a chance you could be drawn into an undesirable activity that does not serve your best interest. Don't let companions dictate your schedule.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) An important relationship could be jeopardized today if you are rebellious rather than cooperative. Work with others, not against them.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Systematize your work efforts today and establish an achievable agenda. Nothing productive will result if you proceed in a disorganized fashion.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Keep everything out in the open and as uncomplicated as possible, especially in your social involvements today. Coyness or secret maneuvers could be interpreted as deceitful by your peers.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Today if your mate does something that displeases you, it is best not to review this behavior for the benefit of outsiders. This will only make a bad situation worse.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Don't be reluctant to defend your position today if co-workers try to palm off their responsibilities on you. You can only be used if you permit it.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) A little further down the line you might be denied doing or having something you want if you're too extravagant in the present. Don't learn this lesson the hard way.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) It isn't likely your family will cater to you today if you have a cranky disposition. Members of your household won't be in the mood to pamper a bad temper.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Don't let your impulsiveness gain the upper hand today and cause you to jump to erroneous conclusions. If you get off track, it could be very difficult to get back on again.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Usually you're pretty good at getting maximum mileage from the dollars you spend, but today could be an exception. Count your pennies with prudence.

Police don't have a motive for the vandalism, Porterfield said. "You tell me why anyone would want to go around breaking out windows," he said.

Police confiscated a sling-shot and ball bearings from Smith and Gale, Porterfield said. The sling-shot is called a "wrist rocket." A brace fits around the shooter's wrist, and it has bands made of surgical tubing, Porterfield said.

Sharp-eyed card reading

By James Jacoby

Netherlands player Piet Borst made three no-trump in today's deal by correctly placing the cards and the distribution. After three passes, he bid one no-trump and North raised to game. East won the opening heart lead with the ace and returned the 10. Declarer played the jack, and West won the queen and cleared the suit. Next came the queen of clubs, ducked. A second club went to East's ace, and East led the jack of spades. Declarer now had enough information to avoid the error of playing the queen. East had shown with two aces plus the heart 10 and the spade jack, and would surely have opened the bidding in third seat with a king more.

So declarer rose with the spade ace, played a diamond to dummy's jack and began playing out the club suit. South discarded a diamond and a spade on two good clubs as West also shed a diamond and a spade. On dummy's last club, declarer threw another spade and watched closely to see which card West would relinquish. In fact West now discarded his last good heart, and the key decision that South had to make was whether West had already unguarded his diamond king and was left with king and a small spade, or was down to the bare spade king and still had a small diamond. Reasoning that the opening lead might have been a spade if West had started with four in that suit, declarer got off lead with the queen of spades, and hapless West had to lead from the K-9 of diamonds to give South nine tricks.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharus Books.

Fiction program presented

Scurry County Penwomen met May 16 in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Everett. Christine Killgo gave the invocation.

Janelle Burk presented the program "Truth in Writing Fiction." She told the group that fiction is a made-up story but is made around truth. Biographical material must stick to facts that are true; characters have to be true in character.

Poetry is like fiction. She said that the "I" in poetry may or may not be the author. Poetry expresses emotions and feelings. The poet creates characters in poems as he does in fiction.

Non-fiction had better have truth in research, facts and documentation about people said Burk.

Members brought two of their own poems to be sent to a judge to be critiqued.

In the reading session, members reading their own works were: Dorothy Cox, introduction to her book of poems about the four seasons; Estelene Murphy, "The Second Time Around;" Sherry Bryant, "Just Around the Bend" and "In Autumn;" Betty Boyd, "The Day Death Came To Call" and "These Things;" Garnet Quiett, "Desolate Mother;" Burk, her aunt's poem "Stored Treasure" and her poem about her aunt "Your December;" Mary Westmoreland, "Country Poems;" Jean Everett read several of her Haiku; and Betty Kellum, "Poetic Thoughts."

Killgo read Dan Reagan's column from the Abilene Reporter News "There's a Fish in Heaven."

Boyd won the popular prize in a secret ballot for the best reading. Killgo brought the word of encouragement using a devotional from "The Upper Room" and Matthew 6:33. The thought for the day was: More than bread is served through table fellowship.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Bryant June 20. Visitors and writers are welcome.

Lawyer fined, given probation

CANTON, Texas (AP) — A Dallas lawyer was fined $1,000 and ordered to serve one year of unadjudicated probation after pleading guilty to one of 32 charges filed against him involving starvation of cattle from the famed King Ranch in South Texas.

Gwen David Westfall was fined and put on the probation Wednesday after he pleaded no contest before Van Zandt County Judge Truett Mayo. The case had moved from Kaufman County to Van Zandt County on a change of venue.

The 31 remaining charges will be dismissed in accordance with the agreement, which Kaufman County Assistant District Attorney Dan Wood deemed "sufficient." "To my knowledge no other cruelty case in Kaufman County has involved the number of animals this one has," Wood said.

The King Ranch, located outside Kingsville and covering a vast area of South Texas, is famous for its development of the Santa Gertrudis breed of cattle.

The ranch had leased an estimated 1,300 acres of pastureland south of Forney from Westfall in the summer of 1988 and contracted with him to care for 1,900 cows and calves, according to court records.

A passerby later noticed that the animals were in various stages of malnutrition and dehydration and notified authorities. Volunteers and law enforcement officers found carcasses of about 80 cattle scattered in a pasture.

Mattox says...

Names can't be kept secret

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center cannot keep secret the names of members of a committee that oversees the treatment and care of research animals, Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox said in an opinion.

Animal research at the center in Lubbock has come under fire from animal rights activists.

The Animal Liberation Front claimed responsibility for breaking into the center's animal research laboratory on July 4 and causing an estimated $70,000 in damages.

The group claimed to have liberated five cats that were allegedly being submitted to inhumane experiments in the lab.

School officials had argued the committee members' names should be kept secret because the committee chairman, a researcher and University President Robert Lawless have received several threatening letters.

But Mattox said Wednesday an exception under the state Open

Records Act "does not protect the identities of individuals performing services for the government."

Texas Tech also argued the names should be kept secret because of possible litigation against those who have made threatening telephone calls or written threatening letters to center representatives.

But Mattox said that information can be withheld only if there is pending litigation and that the university has not filed a lawsuit yet.

The university's Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee is charged with reviewing the animal research program.

However, Mattox did say the committee's proceedings, reports and minutes of meetings may be excluded from disclosure if the public university can prove that scientific information that could be sold would be revealed.

Mattox gave the school 30 days to submit evidence that demonstrates that material should be protected.

In other opinions, Mattox said: — Information about hazardous materials at two microelectronics companies in Austin are excluded from disclosure because the information could reveal trade secrets.

Harris tense before opening

LONDON (AP) — Richard Harris says he was so tense before the opening of his first West End stage appearance in 25 years that he was almost physically ill.

Harris, 59, won the audience at London's Wyndham Theatre on Wednesday with a performance in Pirandello's "Henry IV." But before the curtain went up, he had a classic case of jitters.

"I was very tense. I thought, 'Oh God, what if I let everyone down and I just threw up,'" he said. "I felt a great deal of nervousness but I just knew I had to get out there and do it."

Harris plays a wealthy 20th century man who bangs his head and believes he is the 11th century German king. For 20 years his friends and servants join in his fantasy by turning his home into a replica of the period.

Barry 'inspired'

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Washington Mayor Marion Barry says he was inspired by what he saw during a tour of a drug treatment center here.

Barry, who faces 14 drug charges, spent more than four hours Tuesday with patients and staff members at the Black Alcohol-Drug Abuse Service Information Center. The outpatient program aimed at blacks claims an 85 percent success rate.

"I'm inspired already," Barry said.

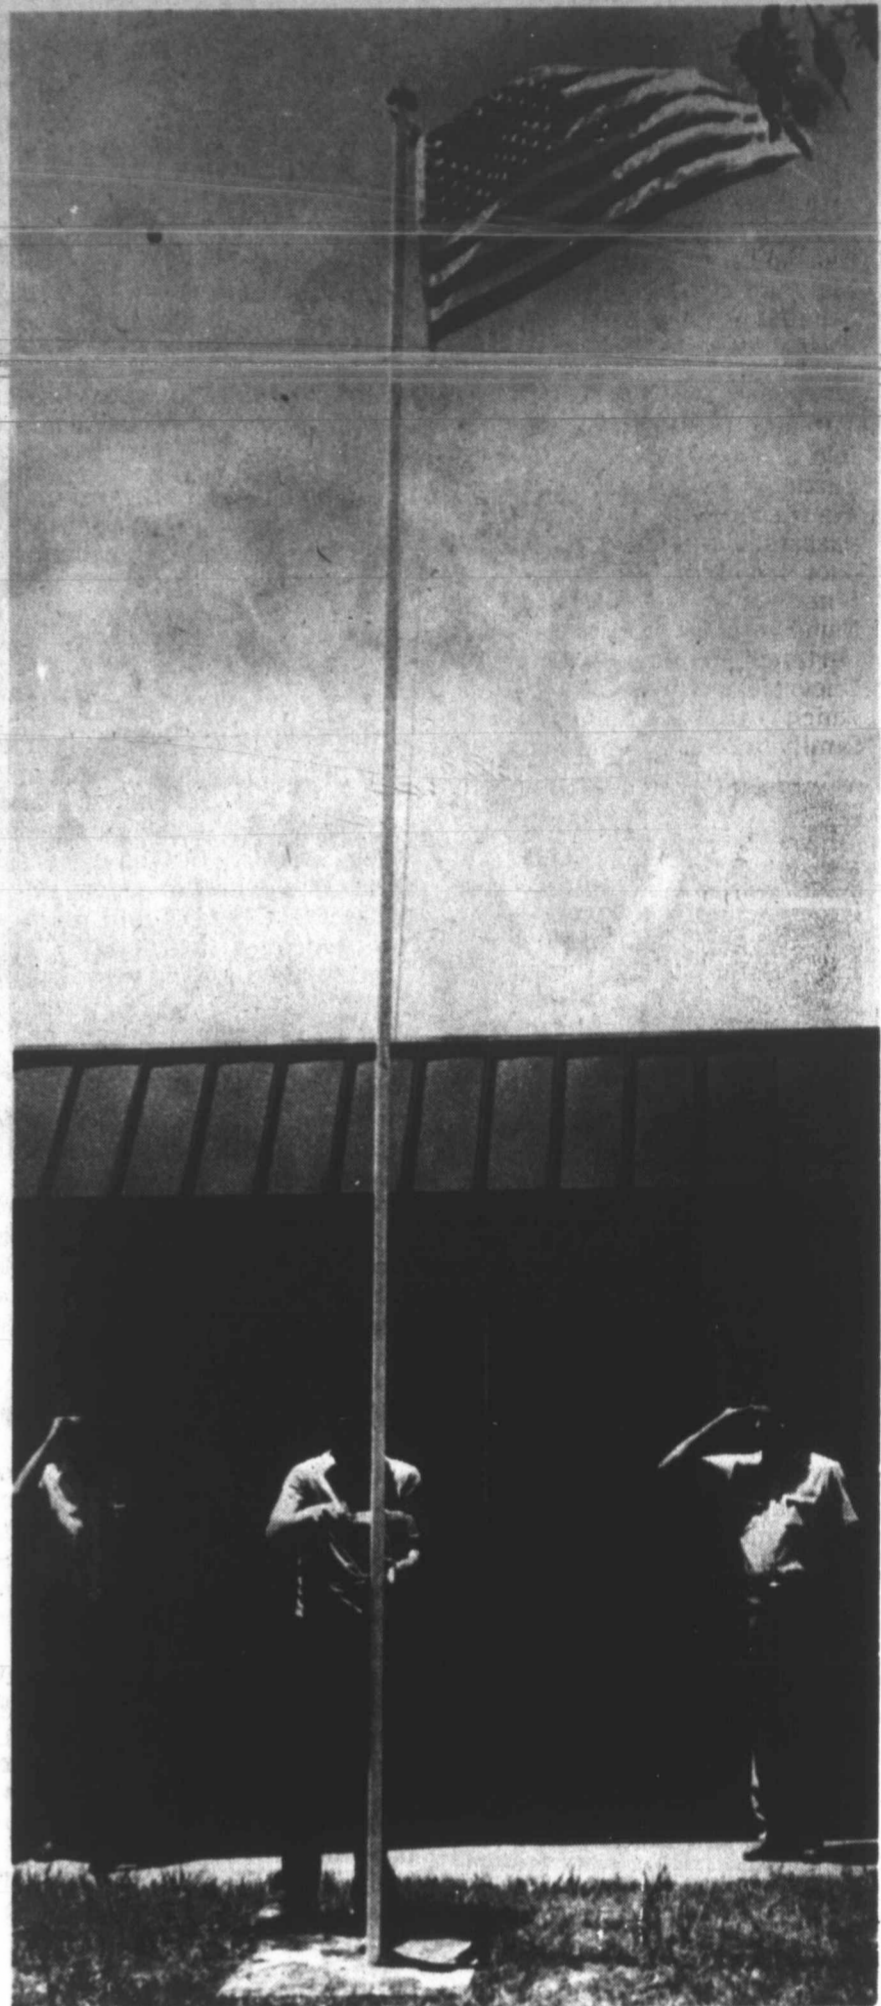

Oval Miller, the program's director, said he invited Barry because he knew the mayor was interested in starting a similar program in Washington.

Taylor recovering

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor, recovering from a near-fatal bout of pneumonia, may be able to leave the hospital early next month, her doctor says.

Dr. Michael Roth said Wednesday the 58-year-old actress is significantly improved and in good spirits in her seventh week of hospitalization.

Miss Taylor was placed on a respirator last month, and doctors said she was near death.

Scholarship donated to WTC on Tuesday

Continuing a tradition started about 15 years ago, the Panhandle-South Plains Fair Association of Lubbock has again presented Western Texas College with funds for agriculture scholarships.

Making the formal presentation on the WTC campus Tuesday were Don Hufstедler, president of the fair association, and Steve L. Lewis, manager. WTC received $3,000 this year.

"The directors of the fair association are proud to be able to continue giving financial support to Western Texas College and to recognize the excellent job being done by the college in providing high quality educational opportunities to the young people of our country," Hufstедler said.

The Panhandle-South Plains Fair, a non-profit organization, started in 1915 to promote agriculture and livestock production and the support and education of youth as well as to provide an entertainment media for the people of West Texas. It was chartered by the state in 1920.

Since 1972, the fair association has made contributions totaling $250,000 for agriculture scholarships, research and emergency needs.

The 73rd annual Panhandle-South Plains Fair is scheduled for Sept. 29, 1990.

John Denver gets standing ovation

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP) — John Denver received a standing ovation from the group he has blamed for threats to the planet — corporate executives.

The singer, songwriter and activist mixed song, poetry and a save-the-Earth message in an address Tuesday to corporate real estate executives and developers at the Industrial Development Research Council's 1990 World Congress.

He blamed greed and corporate shortsightedness for various threats to the planet, then was caught off guard by a standing ovation from the audience of more than 1,200. "I was shocked — very surprised," said Denver, 46. "I think it's surprising that they are listening."

Knocks music scene

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Swing Era clarinetist Artie Shaw marked his 80th birthday by taking a swipe at the current music scene. "Now, Madonna goes out there in a jock strap and that's called music. It isn't music," Shaw said Wednesday during a City Council tribute to the jazz legend, who reached his commercial peak in 1938 with "Begin the Beguine."

Boy missing in Clovis, N.M. found dead in car

CLOVIS (AP) — A 6-year-old boy, the object of a search by thousands of townspeople after his May 8 disappearance, has been found dead in the back of a station wagon parked outside his family's home, police said.

Police Chief Caleb Chandler told a news conference that the partially decomposed body of Matthew Roberts was found by passersby who smelled a strong odor from the car around 7:47 p.m. Wednesday. The body was found in a two-by-two-foot compartment in the back of the Chevrolet Impala station wagon, which had been loaned to the family by a friend, he said.

Chandler said it was "a compartment similar to a glove compartment in the back of the wagon." He declined comment when asked if the child might have crawled into the compartment on his own or whether the body showed any signs of violence.

He said that as far as he knows, the child was dressed in the same clothes he was wearing when he disappeared.

The cause and time of death were not immediately determined. Medical examiners from the state Office of the Medical Investigator were to arrive today, and an autopsy will be conducted, he said. "There are still a lot of things we don't know. We are still investigating and at this point won't rule anything out. We just don't know," Chandler told an 11 p.m. news conference.

About 30 concerned citizens, some wearing "Find Matthew Roberts" T-shirts, attended the news conference along with reporters. Many of them were in tears.

Chandler said a news conference at 10 a.m. today hopefully would furnish more answers.

A state crime lab examination of the car should be complete this afternoon, he said.

Around the time the body was found, townspeople had been holding a forum on missing children in the junior high school auditorium.

Matthew's parents, Geoff and Debbie Roberts, were at the meeting along with a psychologist and other experts. A note was brought in notifying the family that the child's body had been found.

Outside, Mrs. Roberts collapsed.

"Oh, no! Oh, my God!" she cried out, then fainted. Her husband, who was in tears, had to carry her from the scene.

"We're all saddened and depressed to learn the child is dead. That's not what we had been praying for," said Clovis Mayor James B. Moss.

Up to 10,000 townspeople had joined in the search for Matthew, and divers had searched a local lake twice. Clovis has a population of about 35,000. Reported sightings of the boy came in from Roswell, 100 miles southwest of here, and from nearby Texas.

"This search really brought the city together," Moss said. "They pulled together, they were focused. It's just awful that it ended that way!"

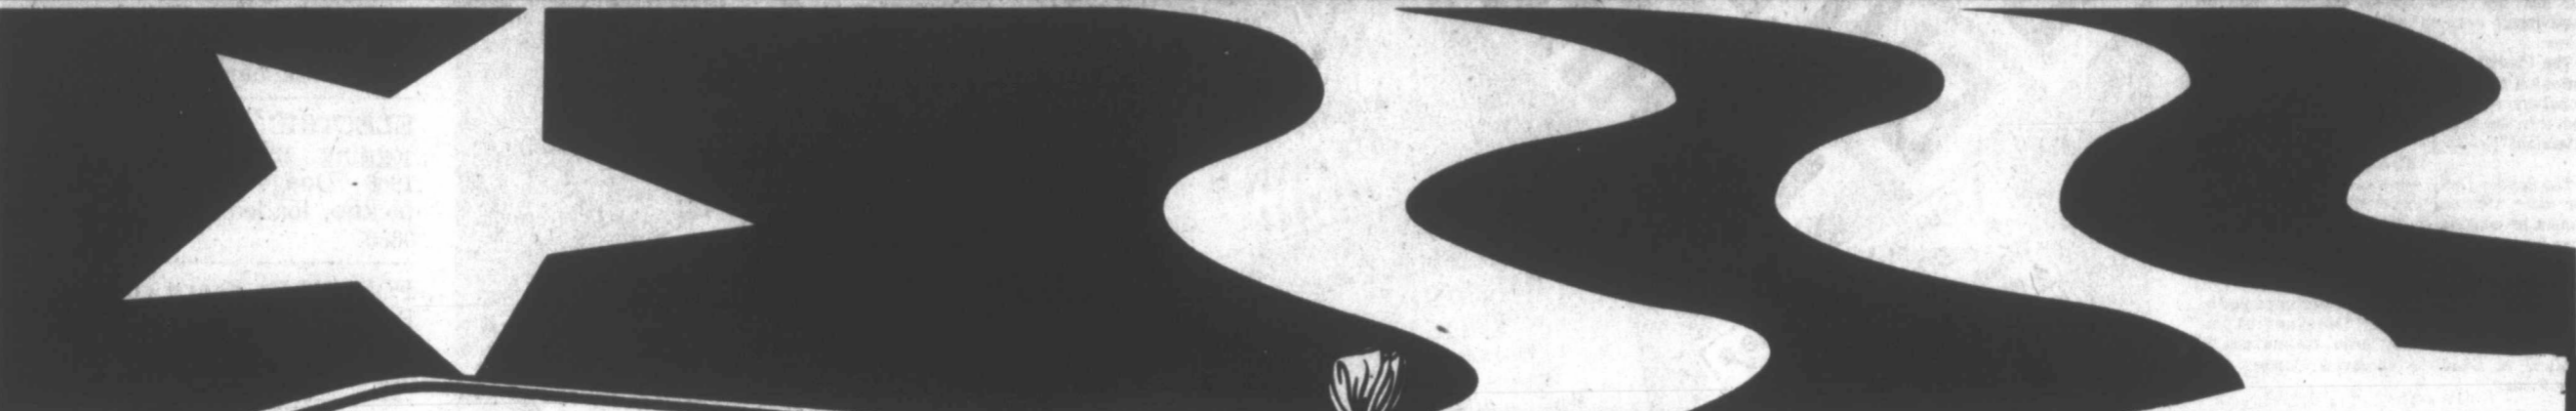

The child disappeared May 8 after he was left with his 76-year-old grandmother, Evelyn Guaidabasso, while his mother drove to a local store. The child apparently tried to follow his mother and ran out of the house before his grandmother could stop him.

Mrs. Roberts said she had asked Matthew if he wanted to come with her, and he had replied: "No, I'm just going to stay here and play. Bring me a surprise."

Mrs. Guaidabasso, who lives with the family, said five minutes after Mrs. Roberts left, Matthew ran through the house, calling, "Mommy! Mommy!" She changed from her bathrobe into street clothes to catch him, she said, but he was already gone.
