City council calls sales tax election

The Snyder city council, meeting Monday night, tabled action on two requests — and on second reading — called an Aug. 11 election for a half-cent city sales tax for economic development. Following the brief agenda, the council went into a 2-hour executive session for the evaluation of Municipal Court Judge Tommie Mills.

As a result of the closed session, the council unanimously approved an increase in the retainer for the city judge from $14,400 to $25,000 per year.

The sales tax, if approved by city voters, would generate about $380,000 in funds that could be used only for economic development. Before the unanimous vote, Councilman Joe Coronado asked if any time limit could be placed on the time the tax is collected, and he was advised that it could not be limited.

The council also unanimously named Councilman Paul Zeck as mayor pro-tem, and at the end of the meeting Councilman Ralph Williamson, who is being transferred from Snyder, submitted his resignation. Mayor Troy Williams presented the outgoing mayor pro-tem with a plaque of appreciation.

No action was taken on a request for the city to provide free water and chemicals for operation of the county-owned pool in Towle Park. The request was made by Terry Bowden on behalf of an ad hoc swimming pool committee appointed by the commissioners court.

It was estimated that water and necessary chemicals would cost $3,391 a year, and Mayor Williamson said he would visit with the commissioners court to discuss possible city cooperation.

Mayor Williamson said he was concerned about city taxpayers, who are also county taxpayers, having to pay twice for the operation of the pool.

The pool is due to open Saturday, and Bowden said the city's decision would not impact the opening this year, but a successful operation could affect future years.

No action was taken, but the (see ELECTION, page 8)

Quick end to sixth session possible with compromise

AUSTIN (AP) — State leaders are predicting lawmakers will approve a $528 million compromise plan for court-ordered school finance reform and bring a quick end to the Texas Legislature's record sixth special session.

"We're going to put it on the fast track and hope we can get it out of here within the next four or five days," House Speaker Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, said as lawmakers convened in special session Monday.

The compromise plan for the 1990-91 school year was worked out among Democratic legislative leaders and Republican Gov. Bill Clements Friday in response to a Texas Supreme Court order to make more money available to poor school districts.

The Senate Education Committee approved the school finance reform bill 9-1 and sent it to the full Senate for consideration. The Senate Finance Committee approved state budget cuts to help pay for the reform bill.

In the House, where tax increases must originate, the Ways and Means Committee endorsed a quarter-cent increase in the state sales tax to help pay for education reform.

Also in the funding package — which would raise about an additional $100 million to bail out financially strapped social service programs — are: a 15-cent per pack cigarette tax increase; higher taxes for mixed drinks and smokeless tobacco; and higher state fees, including doubling the levy for obtaining a duplicate driver's license to $10.

Clements killed two previous school finance reform plans after objecting to lawmakers' plan to help pay for them with a half-cent increase in the sales tax, now 6 cents on the dollar.

Grand jury returns eleven indictments

Eleven indictments and one no-bill were returned by a Scurry County grand jury meeting Monday in 132nd District Court.

The grand jury failed to indict LuAnn Thomason, 2306 30th St., for aggravated assault for a May 22 incident in which Moody Thomason of Route 2, Snyder, was shot four times at his ex-wife's home.

James Trice, a former employee of Circle In Grocery, was indicted for felony theft. On May 12, store owner Peggy Vernon reported that a bank bag containing both cash and checks was missing. The checks were found outside the store, and the money was found hidden inside a store room in the business. Trice is free on $5,000 bond.

Three Big Spring men were indicted for felony theft of an Evinrude boat motor from Martin Edwards of Lamesa. The theft occurred May 27 at Lake J.B. Thomas.

The trio indicted includes Joseph Edward Young, 31; Jerry Field Baldock, 19; and Donald Wayne Fitzgibbons, 20. Each are free on a $5,000 bond.

Also indicted was 23-year-old Joseph James (Bo) Hearin. He was charged in a May 29 offense in which a saddle and other items were taken from a building owned by Helen Feinsod. Bond is set at $5,000.

Don Ringo Constancio, 18, was indicted for the burglary of a habitation owned by Bobby Griffith. Bond was set at $5,000 for the offense which occurred May 23 at 3202 Ave. V.

Craig Merritt, 28 and an inmate in the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, was indicted for the burglary of habitation owned by W. J. Fuller. The offense occurred on Dec. 25, 1989.

James Billy Melton, 29, who lives east of Snyder near U.S. 180 and 84, was indicted for aggravated sexual assault of a child. The incident occurred April 26, and bond has been set at $20,000.

Margaret Jaramillo, 17, of 419 30th St. was indicted for forgery by passing and bond has been set at $3,000. She was indicted for the May 4 offense of passing a forged check on the account of Gayla Ann Newton to Whataburger.

Two felony driving while intoxicated indictments were handed down by the grand jury. Indicted for DWI were Keith William Jordan, 33, for a May 5 offense; and Gregario Guerra, 20, for a May 26 violation.

Dance for Heart slated Saturday

"Dance for Heart," an event to promote good health as well as solicit donations for the Heart Association, will be held from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday at the Aerobics Center on the north side of the downtown square.

Featured will be low-level aerobics by instructors Rhonda Ward and Kathy Reed.

Volunteers are encouraged to join in the fundraiser and get a first-hand look at aerobics. Volunteers may stay for the entire four-hour period, or for as long as they wish. There will be door prizes for participants.

The public is encouraged to drop by and make donations to the Heart Association.

Snyder student is selected for Bluebonnet Girls State

Gayle Henderson, a junior at Snyder High School, will be representing Snyder at the American Legion Auxiliary Bluebonnet Girls State, June 12 through June 22 at Texas Lutheran College in Seguin.

Henderson is being sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary and the Kiwanis Club. She is the daughter of Charles and Sandra Henderson of Hermleigh.

Locally, Jean McCormack is president of the ladies auxiliary and Dessie Harvel is junior vice president and Girls State chairman.

The purpose of Girls State is to educate young women in the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American citizenship. It is a mythical 51st state where, for a period, the citizens of Girls State organize their own city, county and state governments. They choose their own officials and learn the duties of the various city, county and state offices, introduce their own bills, and form their own law enforcement agencies and courts.

The program is non-partisan. A visit to the state Capitol is included in the program, which offers the girls an opportunity to assemble in the halls of state legislative bodies and meet officials.

Two citizens from the 1990 Girls State in Seguin will be selected to attend the 1990 Girls State, a program which parallels Girls State on a national level.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Old age is when you're no longer interested in major medical, but rather major miracle."

Larry Scott, Snyder High School basketball coach and economics instructor, got a grin out of an answer put on one of his end-of-school tests by a graduating senior.

As part of the class, Scott had been teaching laws regarding consumer lending and credit. One question on the test asked what three things a loan officer is required to tell a loan customer.

He received this answer:
"How much the payment is.
"When the payment is due.
"And, have a nice day."

Everybody knows crime is on the increase — especially on Earth.

You have probably seen the DQ commercials where the entire population of Earth, Texas, is said to be gathered at the local restaurant.

The town's most famous citizen is Bill Clayton, former speaker of the Texas House of Representatives. Located north of Littlefield in Lamb County, Earth's population is just over 1,500.

The editor of the weekly newspaper in Earth recently reported that the most serious crime in Earth is theft of the Earth city limit signs. The editor estimated that more than 200 are stolen each year.

A check of the records, however, caused that number to be adjusted to 60 stolen signs.

Over-65 deferral option for elderly

Texans aged 65 or older can postpone paying delinquent and current property taxes on their homesteads by taking advantage of a tax option called over-65 deferral.

The elderly homeowner simply signs a deferral affidavit at the Scurry County Appraisal District office.

This special form of tax relief can also halt a lawsuit already filed to collect delinquent property taxes on an older Texan's homestead, according to Ray Peveler, chief appraiser of the district. To stop a delinquent tax suit, the over-65 homeowner files the deferral affidavit with the court in which the suit is pending.

"This law means that, if the proper affidavit is on file, an older homeowner cannot lose a homestead because of delinquent taxes," Peveler said. Once a homeowner files an over-65 tax deferral affidavit with the appraisal district, no taxing unit can initiate or pursue a suit for delinquent taxes as long as that person owns and lives in that homestead.

Peveler stressed, however, that tax deferral for the elderly only postpones paying delinquent taxes on the homestead; it does not cancel them. During the deferral period taxes and delinquent interest continue to add up, he said.

"When the elderly taxpayer no longer owns or lives in the home, those accrued amounts become due. Taxing units can then sue to collect all the deferred tax and interest."

Q—Does the prison own the gun range that is used to train guards in the use of firearms? If so, was this part of the incentive package to get the prison here?

A—No, the gun range is owned by Canyon Gun Club. The club makes the range available to Western Texas College for its correctional officer classes.

In Brief

Two drown

BLUM, Texas (AP) — Two young children drowned in a stock pond on their parents farm about three miles east of this Central Texas town.

Cody Whitfield, 5, and his sister, Rebecca, 3, were on a picnic with their 6-year-old brother, Charles, when they waded into the water, said Hill County Deputy Sheriff Robert Fowler.

The youths apparently ignored warnings by Charles not to enter the water, officials said. The stock pond has a steep dropoff, and the children apparently couldn't swim, Fowler said.

"They walked into the water. They went in to play," Fowler said.

Reopen square

BEIJING (AP) — Authorities reopened Tiananmen Square to the public today after closing it for four days that coincided with the first anniversary of the bloody military suppression of a massive pro-democracy movement.

At the same time, the Foreign Ministry issued a "serious warning" to foreign journalists, accusing some of collaborating with opposition activists involved in "illegal anti-government activities."

Counterfeit 'green card' ring broken

LAREDO, Texas (AP) — U.S. and Mexican authorities cracked a counterfeiting ring that allegedly made millions of dollars by selling 1,000 bogus alien resident cards a month, officials said.

"They were generating, we're being conservative when we say $1.5 million a month," said Joe De La Cruz, supervisory special agent with the U.S. Border Patrol in Laredo.

Six people have been charged in the case, including four in the United States and two in Mexico, the Border Patrol said.

The alleged ring operated a printing press in San Luis Potosi, Mexico, where it produced the laminated alien registration receipt cards, commonly known as "green cards," De La Cruz said.

The cards identify a foreign national as having permanent legal residency in the United States.

Fake social security cards also were printed at the Mexican site, De La Cruz said.

Packages containing a counterfeit resident alien card and a bogus Social Security card sold for $1,500, De La Cruz said. He estimated the ring was selling about 1,000 of the counterfeit packages a month, but did not know how long it had operated.

Although immigration officials easily could recognize the cards as counterfeit, "the average employer would never be able to discover that these were not genuine documents," De La Cruz said.

The case broke on May 22, when two Mexican citizens were discovered with false residency and social security cards at the Border Patrol's highway check point near the South Texas city of Hebbronville, De La Cruz said. The two men told officials where they bought the cards, according to the Border Patrol.

Agents then arrested Irma Pierrro, a notary public in McAllen, allegedly while a Mexican woman was trying to buy a counterfeit card in Ms. Pierrro's office.

Lawmakers consider other items

AUSTIN (AP) — Lawmakers returning for a record sixth special legislative session were immediately faced with the prospect of more work.

Gov. Bill Clements on Monday opened the agenda of the session to changes in the Texas Racing Act, which horse racing advocates say should be reformed to lower the state's wagering tax.

The governor also said he would allow lawmakers to take up legislation to permit Anheuser-Busch Cos. Inc. to sell alcohol at its recently acquired Sea World of Texas theme park in San Antonio.

The new issues on the agenda joined school finance reform, a bailout of financially strapped social service agencies and a proposed constitutional amendment to clear up confusion over gubernatorial appointments.

Lawmakers immediately went to work on a $528 million package to meet a Texas Supreme Court order for school finance reform, and a $100 million appropriation to the departments of Human Services, Mental Health and Mental Retardation, and Health.

The House tax-writing committee approved a quarter-cent increase in the state sales tax, and the Senate budget committee approved the bailout for social service programs that reported budget deficits.

Without new money, state officials say they will have to cut back some critical programs, including assistance for chronically ill children and the elderly. Mental health officials say they need more funds to meet orders of a federal judge who oversees the system.

On the other issues before lawmakers:

— Legislation has been filed that would exempt Anheuser-Busch from the state law that prohibits brewers from owning establishments where their alcohol is distributed. Mothers Against Drunk Driving has criticized the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission for allowing Anheuser-Busch to sell alcohol at Sea World.

— Proponents of pari-mutuel horse racing have complained that the state's 5 percent wagering tax is too high and has stalled investment in large Class 1 tracks in Houston, Dallas-Fort Worth and San Antonio.

Clements has said he favors a sliding scale ranging from 1 percent to 5 percent that would depend on the amount of money wagered.

— A question over gubernatorial appointments arose last month after Attorney General Jim Mattox ruled in a legal opinion that the Senate must confirm a governor's appointment in its earliest session after the appointment is made — or the nomination is considered rejected.

Jettison an ace to survive

By James Jacoby

Would you hesitate to go down an extra trick in an undoubted vulnerable slam contract, if putting yourself in that position gave you a better chance of success? I think not. On the other hand, you would need the imagination to see the play, since it involves throwing away an ace.

Cue-bidding back and forth, North-South wandered into six no-trump, with South declarer. South won the opening lead with the ace of hearts and led a spade. West ducked the first spade, then took the second (South throwing a heart) and continued with the heart 10. Dummy's king won and declarer played out all his spades, discarding a heart, two clubs and a diamond. West, who had to make four discards, let go two hearts and the five and king of clubs, keeping his four diamonds to the 10. When declarer then played the ace of clubs, West was free to let his last heart go. So West took the setting trick at the finish with the diamond 10.

South can succeed by jettisoning his ace of clubs as he runs his spade winners. Then West is caught in an unusual squeeze. If he ever throws a diamond, declarer makes five diamond tricks. But throwing away the club king or the winning heart simply allows declarer to play a card from dummy in the corresponding suit, squeezing West once again. Sure, this dramatic play costs declarer another undertrick when East holds the length in diamonds, but the extra chance justifies the risk.

NEW YORK (AP) — The possibilities for cooking with sausages are as endless as they are delicious.

The National Live Stock and Meat Board says there are more than 200 types of sausages available; most sausages are already cooked or partially cooked.

- For a quick-to-fix dinner, serve pasta flavored with Italian sausage, peas and sage.
- Almost any smoked or fresh sausage can be grilled on skewers with fresh vegetables.
- Italian sausage can be stuffed in a flank steak, baked in acorn squash, used to top a potato, or sprinkled on pizza.

— For a traditional and delicious East European dish, simmer Polish sausage or kielbasa in sauerkraut.

— Sprinkle cooked chorizo or Italian sausage in an omelet or on scrambled eggs.

— Substitute chopped, smoked Polish sausage for ham in hearty split pea soup.

— Serve braunschweiger as a pate on crackers or crusty French bread.

NBA Finals to begin

Trail Blazers in Detroit for opening game

By The Associated Press
 — The Portland Trail Blazers, who barely made the playoffs a year ago, say they aren't surprised the team is in the NBA Finals for the first time since 1977.

"This team won 59 games, and people still say, 'Portland Who?'" Jerome Kersey, the Trail Blazers' leading playoff scorer, said on the eve of tonight's championship series opener against the Detroit Pistons. "But I knew we had a good team at the beginning of the season, and I knew we had a good chance of making the finals if we made the playoffs."

Clyde Drexler, Portland's closest thing to a marquee player, said the Trail Blazers expect to beat the Pistons, who are making their third consecutive trip to the finals and hope to become the third NBA franchise to repeat as champions.

"A lot of people think we're just happy to be here, but even early in the season we expected to be here," Drexler said. "We're coming in with the idea that we can beat the Pistons."

Detroit coach Chuck Daly doesn't gracefully accept the Pistons' favorite's role.

"They have guys who have been around for a long time and I don't think our championship experience will make much difference," Daly said.

Daly said Portland "is balanced, tough and quick on transition. It's a mental adjustment to go from one kind of team to another. You can't cheat on defense on any player in their lineup. They've got too many guys who can play, and they're bigger than us at nearly every position."

The finalists have a lot more in common than their identical 59-23 regular-season and 35-6 home records. Both play a physical style, with strong rebounding and balanced scoring.

Another similarity between the teams is that each won on the other's homecourt in two regular-season games.

Portland won its home game 102-82 on Nov. 26, another source of worry for Daly.

"We got totally annihilated and we were rested," Daly said. "I don't think anybody beat us that badly all season."

Pistons guard Isiah Thomas agreed with Daly that the Trail Blazers' balance makes them a tougher team to defend than Chicago, which was held under 80 points twice in the seven-game Eastern Conference finals.

"We have to respect everyone on their team because they have three or four guys who can score 25-35 points," Thomas said. "In the other series I've been able to dominate the other point guard most of the time, but Terry Porter is equal to or better than me."

Porter, who has played in the shadow of the West's strong cast of point guards — Magic Johnson, John Stockton and Kevin Johnson — said he and his teammates have gotten some recognition because of Portland's playoff success this year.

"Before the playoffs, if you asked the average fan to name someone on the team, they probably only could have named Clyde Drexler and Buck Williams," Porter said. "But we've been getting a lot of national publicity as we've gone through the playoffs."

In 1988, the Pistons won the first game on the road, lost the next two games, won two at home and then lost the next two at the Forum.

"The Trail Blazers are going to have to learn for themselves the problems we had that first year in the finals," Thomas said.

One of Portland's problems is the Pistons' defense, which is allowing 92.3 points per game, even better than last year's record playoff pace of 92.9 when Detroit won 15 of 17 postseason games en route to its first title.

Graf rips Martinez to advance in Open

PARIS (AP) — Top-ranked Steffi Graf shook off a mid-match charge by Conchita Martinez and reached the semifinals of the French Open today.

Graf started a day of six quarterfinals in strong fashion and reached the semifinals of the 14th consecutive Grand Slam tournament she has entered with a 6-1, 6-3 victory.

Graf was followed onto center court by Americans Andre Agassi and Michael Chang. It was an intriguing matchup pitting Agassi, at No. 3 the top-ranked man left in the tournament, against Chang, the defending champion.

Frenchman Henri Leconte, who thrilled the hometown fans with a five-set victory, was next.

Monica Seles, the second seed and the hottest player in tennis, met Manuela Maleeva and Jana Novotna played Katerina Maleeva.

Martinez, the ninth seed from Spain, threw a momentary scare into the No. 1 seed when she took a 3-0 lead in the second set and had game point for 4-2. But Graf used her powerful forehand and some aggressive tactics at the net to win the last six games, finishing the match on a bullet-like service return winner.

"There were some big points in the second set and she could have had a 4-2 lead," Graf said. "But in the end, I felt stronger."

Graf said even some of the things she did wrong played to her advantage. She often needed two volleys to win the point, a second chance not many Graf opponents get.

"I attacked her backhand and had trouble putting away volleys," the West German said.

Files for Chapter 11...

Greyhound seeks protection

DALLAS (AP) — Fears that creditors would begin repossessing buses and closing off terminals led strike-bound Greyhound Lines Inc. to seek protection in federal bankruptcy court, the company says.

The only nationwide bus system filed for Chapter 11 protection from its creditors Monday. The move allows Greyhound to continue operating under court supervision while it tries to reorganize its finances.

A hearing has been set for Thursday at 9 a.m. before U.S. Bankruptcy Judge Richard Schmidt in Brownsville.

"There will be no interruption of service," senior vice president J. Michael Doyle said.

The Dallas-based company has seen ridership and revenues plunge after most of its 6,300 drivers walked out March 2 in a dispute over wages and job security.

Striking drivers, who maintained that Greyhound had tried to bust the union at the expense of the company's economic health, said picketing will continue into the Chapter 11 reorganization.

"We're not surprised about the filing because we've been expecting it all along," said Gary H. Daugherty, executive board member of Local 1313, Amalgamated Council of Greyhound Local Unions in Dallas.

"A lot of us can't figure out why it took so long for Greyhound to seek bankruptcy court protection."

One reason that Greyhound's financial woes worsened was that fewer striking drivers than company management had anticipated had crossed union picket lines, Daugherty said.

The company has hired about 3,000 replacement drivers and claims to have restored service to locations that provided 98 percent of revenues last year.

But the drop in ridership and the cost of fighting the sometimes violent strike drained the company's cash, including a strike fund estimated at more than $54 million.

Greyhound blamed the strike for much of its $56 million first-quarter loss. The company also has missed more than $17 million in interest, lease and principal payments, putting it in default on many financial agreements.

Modest approach expected for winery

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Unlike the previous owners of Teysha Cellars Winery, the new owners prefer moderation. Officials from Teysha, which was acquired by Plains National Bank in an April bankruptcy auction, said Monday they would bring the winery along slowly to ensure Teysha against the pitfalls it stumbled into the first time around. "We are going to start out small," Kim McPherson, Teysha's new winemaker, said Monday after the winery's ribbon cutting. "We don't want to make more than we can sell. We must crawl before we walk. The previous operation built this huge facility and then had to cut back." Established in 1988 by Texas Winery Products Inc., Teysha became the first publicly held winery in Texas. The Lubbock winery, which won a gold medal for its 1988 Gewurztraminer in the San Francisco National Wine Competition, saw its excellent record of quality wines give way to an irrecoverable debt due to construction cost overruns. Getting into the wine business was never the intention of Plains National officials, who reopened Teysha's doors a little over one month after buying the winery in a bankruptcy auction.

"I'm in the banking business, not the wine business," said Alan White, chairman of the board of Plains National. "We hoped someone else would buy it, but we were the only bidder and we wanted to protect our investments." Teysha filed for protection under the U.S. Bankruptcy Code in September 1989 and operated under Chapter 11 protection until late April 1990. The move left creditors and shareholders out millions of dollars, White said. During a closed-bid bankruptcy auction April 27, Plains National Bank, which had first lien on the winery, bid $2.5 million — the amount owed to them by Teysha — and ended up the winner of the winery by default. Plains National will maintain the winery's name. Some estimates have valued Teysha at upwards of $5 million. But White said the Lubbock-based bank is not entering the wine business to make a fortune or to take the winery public again. "We just want to make our money back," he said. "We must first get the winery into a profitable situation and then hopefully sell it to a private group of local investors."

White and Tom Battin, president of Plains Teysha Corp., a company created by Plains National to oversee Teysha, are upgrading wines made from last year's harvest and are keying the winery's future on McPherson. McPherson, who has won more than 100 medals for wines he has produced, said Monday: "We're back and we're better. We are going to do a lot of things differently." Plains National blames the failure of the original winery on construction cost overruns. Money spent on elaborate Italian-style brickwork, Victorian-style furniture for the wine tasting room and too many wine storage tanks helped drive costs $1.5 million above the projected price, officials said.

Judging Book by Its Cover Holds Bitter Lesson for Son

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: The letter concerning the minister who, on receiving a pair of leather gloves for services rendered, was disappointed — until he tried them on and discovered a $10 bill stuffed into each finger, reminded me of this story:

A young man from a wealthy family was about to graduate from high school. It was the custom in that affluent neighborhood for the parents to give the graduate an automobile. "Bill" and his father had spent months looking at cars, and the week before graduation they found the perfect car. Bill was certain that car would be his on graduation night.

Imagine his disappointment when, on the eve of his graduation, Bill's father handed him a gift-wrapped Bible! Bill was so angry that he threw the Bible down and stormed out of the house. He and his father never saw each other again. It was the news of his father's death that brought Bill home again.

As he sat one night going through his father's possessions that he was to inherit, he came across the Bible his father had given him. He brushed away the dust and opened it to find a cashier's check, dated the day of his graduation — in the exact amount of the car they had chosen together.

BECKAH FINK, TEXAS

DEAR BECKAH: I hope Bill read the Bible cover to cover, for it contained much he needed to learn. "A foolish son is a grief to his father, and bitterness to her who bore him." (Proverbs 17:25)

date told me I am the kind of woman he would like to marry, but first he must find out what kind of a lover I would make.

I am the kind of woman who will make love only to her husband, so what should I tell him when he suggests going on a weekend trip with him?

NEW YORKER

DEAR NEW YORKER: Tell the gentleman exactly what you have told me. (He might be wise to take a gamble. While putting you to the test, he could fail it.)

DEAR ABBY: May we add our 2 cents' worth about older people getting college degrees?

My husband and I, both black graduate students, have a very special friend, Jennie Lander, of Half Moon Bay, Calif. Jennie is a courageous black woman who is legally blind and hearing-impaired. Last year, she received her master's degree in gerontology from San Francisco State University. Jennie is 84 years old! Can anybody top this?

DELIGHT AND KOFI AVOKE, DALY CITY, CALIF.

DEAR DELIGHT AND KOFI: If anybody can, I will surely hear about it. Meanwhile, congratulations and kudos to Jennie Lander!

Don't put off writing thank-you notes, letters of sympathy, etc., because you don't know what to say. Get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Dr. Gott Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've had hepatitis for 76 days, and my doctor says mine is an unusual case. I might have it for the rest of my life. My whole body is yellow. Is there any cure or medication I can take?

DEAR READER: In the United States, hepatitis (liver infection) is most frequently caused by a virus. The most common types of viral hepatitis are hepatitis A (transmitted by food contamination and raw shellfish) and hepatitis B (transmitted by infected blood transfusions or shared needles among drug addicts). Irrespective of the type of virus, hepatitis is customarily marked by jaundice (yellow skin), due to a backup of bile from malfunctioning liver cells.

Hepatitis is also caused by alcohol abuse, mononucleosis, drug allergies, and non-A/non-B viruses.

Most forms of viral hepatitis last two to four weeks. Therefore, your hepatitis, which has been present 2-1/2 months, is distinctly unusual. I worry that you may be slipping into sub-acute or chronic hepatitis, more serious conditions for which you should be under the care of a liver specialist or gastroenterologist. Chronic hepatitis is associated with more extensive liver damage and a much poorer prognosis.

However, I cannot comment on your prognosis because I don't know the cause of your hepatitis. You should obtain this information from your doctor.

In any case, following your recovery from this ailment, you may remain infectious for many years, meaning that the virus — although dormant in your liver — still lives in your tissues and could be transmitted to another susceptible person through a needle stick or a blood transfusion. This is the reason the Red Cross prohibits patients who have had hepatitis from donating blood.

I suspect you are going to have to wait out your hepatitis, if it is caused by a virus. There is no cure for viral hepatitis; treatment is for symptoms only and consists of rest and a balanced diet. Ask your doctor — or the gastroenterologist — what, if any, treatment might help you feel more comfortable during your recovery.

In addition, if you are developing a more chronic form of hepatitis, you will need further testing, such as a liver biopsy, to establish a diagnosis and prognosis, as well as to assess your progress.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a man who experiences cramping and pelvic pain after orgasm. My doctor cannot explain this uncomfortable experience. Can you?

DEAR READER: Perhaps. During sexual arousal, the pelvic blood vessels become engorged. After orgasm, the blood vessels return to normal. However, in some cases, for inexplicable reasons, the pelvic area remains congested, leading to discomfort and cramping. This may be accentuated by spasm or tension of the ejaculatory muscles that cause orgasm.

I suggest you see a urologist for advice about how to manage these symptoms. Also, the specialist will wish to check you for prostatic infection which, because of chronic irritation, can be a source of post-orgasmic pain.

Divorce case thrown out

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — The divorce petition filed by former Dallas Methodist minister Walker Railey has been thrown out by a judge who cited lack of jurisdiction because of an error in legal papers.

Superior Court Judge Luther Callion ruled Monday that Railey had named his incapacitated wife Margaret "Peggy" Railey as the respondent, when the papers should have named her mother, Billie Jo Nicolai of Tyler, Texas. Mrs. Nicolai is her legal guardian.

"If the court had proceeded and issued any orders, they would have been void, and Walker Railey would not have gotten a divorce, even if they said he did," explained family law attorney Jill Greenspahn, who has worked with lawyer Stephen Kolodny in representing the Nicolais.

Railey currently represents himself in court, but had an attorney working for him when the erroneous papers were filed. Phone calls were placed to his home and work seeking comment on the ruling.

Lucy Papillon, the psychologist linked romantically with Railey, was also at the hearing. Mrs. Nicolai has filed an alienation of affection suit against her, blaming her for seducing the minister and destroying his marriage.

Railey has the option of refiling his divorce petition. Under California law, a divorce cannot be granted until at least six months after papers are served.
