God and Country Award Presented Tommy Hester

Tommy Hester was presented the coveted God and Country Award in scouting last Sunday morning during the regular worship service at the First Presbyterian Church of Haskell. The award represented almost four years of study and work by Mr. Hester covering all phases of the Christian Church, its history and development, and its current work and ministry throughout the world.

Mr. Hester is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hester of Haskell. He graduated from Haskell High School last year, and was the salutatorian of his class. He will enter the University of Texas this coming semester.

The work which the awardee did leading toward the award culminated in his leading in an entire worship service, including preaching the sermon, in the First Presbyterian Church of Anson, Texas, on July 22nd of this year.

The study and work leading to the award has been under the supervision of four ministers of the Presbyterian Church. The final examinations and directed study was under the pastor of the Haskell Church, Mr. Douglas B. Finch, and the Church Session.

Indians, Seymour Meet Here Friday

The Haskell Indians will host their traditional foe, the Seymour Panthers, here Friday night in blasting open the 1962 football season.

The opener brings the Tribe up against one of their toughest former district foes in the Panthers, formerly members of District 6-AA.

The Panthers posted an impressive record last year, and was runner-up to Jacksboro in the 9AA title race.

The 1962 Panther squad has two outstanding regulars who were candidates for all-State ranks last year. Guard Lynn Thornhill, 198, and Fullback Art Harris, 210-pounder who stands six-three. Along with Billy McClung and Leonard Peters, the quartet forms the nucleus of the powerful Panthers.

Wheat Marketing Quota Approved

Haskell County wheat producers voted 252 for marketing quotas and 42 against, in the national wheat referendum last Thursday.

Statewide and nationally, producers voted favorably for the quotas, although by closer margins than in previous years. In Texas voting, the totals were 8,592 for, and 3,561 against the marketing quota program.

On the national scene, unofficial returns from the 39 commercial wheat states where balloting in the referendum was held, gave 161,242 for, and 74,454 against marketing quotas.

This was a favorable margin of 68.4 for passage, but it is the smallest margin in 12 such referendums since 1941. A margin of 66.7 per cent or a two-thirds approval of the nation's wheat farmers was needed. Under the approved program, wheat next year will be supported at $1.82 a bushel, compared to $2 this year.

Rotary Club Told Of Performance Of Rockets

A native of Haskell, Bobby Neil Smith, engineer with Chance-Vought missile division, Richardson, was guest speaker at the meeting and luncheon of the Rotary Club Thursday in the Highway Drive Inn.

The personable young engineer told Rotarians of one of the inertial guidance rockets Chance-Vought has developed. Referring to it as "The Bird," the young engineer showed pictures of the rocket and told of its almost uncanny performance. The unit has been launched in the Pacific and landed under control on the desert.

From launching to landing, "The Bird" is under control by radio for maneuvering and landing and is completely recoverable in most instances, he explained.

Young Smith also talked briefly on other rocket and missile developments, and described several types of rockets, as well as training aids being developed for astronauts.

Tom Barfield, program chairman for the day, introduced the speaker. The speaker was accompanied by his wife, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clay Smith. Also a guest at the meeting was Judge Ben Charlie Chapman, uncle of the speaker.

Club sing-song was led by Bob Herren, with Jane Bynum as guest pianist.

Revival At First Baptist Church Will Be Held Sept. 9 Through 19

Plans have been completed for what is expected to be one of the most successful revivals in years at the First Baptist Church, with the evangelistic campaign beginning Sunday, Sept. 9, and continuing through Wednesday, Sept. 19.

The Rev. Ray Nobles, pastor, will be the evangelist, and Danny Boone, music director of the church, will be the singer, and will direct a large Revival Chorus.

Preaching services during the revival are scheduled at 7 a. m., 10 a. m., and 7:30 p. m. in the comfortably air conditioned church auditorium.

The nursery will open during both morning and evening services for the convenience of mothers of young children.

Evangelist Nobles will bring a series of scripturally based revival messages, and those attending are invited to bring their Bibles at every service.

Among the sermon topics to be discussed during the revival will be: "The Price of Power," "Akin's Sin and God's Cure," "Peter the Backslider," "The Cross," "Is Hell Real?," "The Judgment," "Hindrances to Prevailing Prayer," "The Secret Disciple," "Can a Saved Man Ever Be Lost?," "What Is the Church?," "How to Be Saved."

Prayer Meetings A series of cottage prayer meetings sponsored by deacons has been scheduled in the interest of the revival. Meetings will be held tonight (Thursday) in the following homes:

A. C. Pierson, R. C. Couch Sr., John Paul Perrin, Harold Spain, Ed Fouts, C. V. Oates, Harold Turner, Elmer Wheatley, Carl Bailey, Norris Gibbons.

Prayer meetings will be held Saturday night, Sept. 8, in the following homes: R. L. Burton, C. H. Herren, Dr. J. F. Cadenhead, J. L. Toliver, Charlie Quattlebaum, John Fouts, Walter Rogers, Frank Martin, Jim Fouts, Clovis Norton, I. N. Simmons.

Central Baptist Church to Host Singing Sunday The Central Baptist Church in this city will be the meeting place for an afternoon of singing Sunday, Sept. 9, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

This is the regular monthly program of the Haskell County Singing Convention, President Truett Cobb explained. The programs have been dismissed during the summer to avoid conflict with revivals and family reunions, he explained.

Mr. Herren, well-known farmer, serves as weather observer on a voluntary basis, without pay. First starting as an observer principally as a hobby, his work in that capacity has extended over a period of more than 20 years.

In a letter accompanying the award to Mr. Herren, Gilbert E. Stegall, Supervising Climatologist, stated: "You have an enviable record of dedicated public service and it is a pleasure for us to present you with the enclosed 20-year award. Your weather data is a valuable asset to business and industry as well as to the government. We hope that you continue as observer for many more years and that you will always find the work interesting and satisfying."

Gauges and other instruments used in making accurate weather observations are installed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herren at 1607 North Ave. F. This equipment is checked for accuracy at regular periods by technicians of the Weather Bureau.

Mr. Herren is a graduate of the University of California. He is an active member of the Presbyterian Church and serves as elder.

Mr. and Mrs. Herren have two daughters, Mrs. Gene Cross of Hopkinsville, Ky., and Louisa, who will be a sophomore in McMurry College this year.

There will be no charge, and no one will be denied the vaccine. However, there will be a contribution box, where each person receiving the vaccine may leave 25 cents or more to cover the cost.

The immunization is for all ages. It has been given on a mass plan in many cities and there have been no reactions or complications.

Even though it may be remote that an older person would have the malady, anyone can be a carrier, and according to doctors, the Sabin oral vaccine prevents a person from being a carrier, in addition to preventing the disease.

Two agencies participating in last year's United Fund budget have withdrawn, the Little League and the Local Heart Fund, while a new agency admitted this year is the Students Scholarship program.

The Budget and Admissions committee of the United Fund, along with directors and representatives of the participating agencies, set up and approved the coming year's budget at a recent meeting.

The United Fund drive to raise the $13,975 budget will be held in October, with Nettie McCollum as chairman. Participating agencies and the amounts allotted in the budget for the coming year were announced as follows:

Another Landmark Goes

Within the space of a few days, another familiar Haskell landmark will pass, as workmen complete the demolishing of the old county jail building.

The building, erected in 1909-10, served its purpose well until it became outmoded and had to be replaced in the mid-50's with more modern, better equipped facilities.

At the time it was built, the Haskell County jail was acclaimed the acme of county prisons, escape-proof and the model of prisoner security.

But where one man devises, another surprises, and within a few years escapes from the jail became fairly frequent. Installation of improved cell blocks in 1930 brought an end to the break-outs with the exception of one or two instances when a particularly "talented" inmate was able to pick a lock on the cell doors.

A built-in feature of the jail which was never used was the death cell and trap door, for use in execution by hanging. After the jail was built, the law on capital punishment was changed requiring all executions to be in the electric chair at Huntsville.

Old-timers recall that bitter opposition developed over building the jail on the corner of the courthouse square. One prominent businessman, who owned property nearby, pitched a tent on the jail site and camped there for a week, defying anyone to come onto the land. He had a Winchester for company and a reputation for meaning what he said. Friends finally convinced him that progress would prevail in the end, so he gave up, moved off his tent and carried his Winchester home.

Cornerstone of the old jail lists Joe Irby as County Judge, and the following County Commissioners: T. M. Mitchell, C. T. Jones, J. O. Stark, N. E. Martin. Of these officials, Mr. Jones is the only one still living.

People, Places & Things

By A. PATE

On their vacation in Canada recently, Dr. and Mrs. J. F. Cadenhead and children visited a particularly beautiful lake. A guide, describing the lake, told the Cadenhead children "The water is so cold, the little fish have to wear mink coats to keep from freezing."

Considering this statement for a moment, seven-year-old Mary Cadenhead, who takes a practical view of things, came back with a question of her own for the guide: "How do the fish keep their money dry so they can make the payments on their mink coats?"

L. D. (Lark) Jones, who was here recently visiting in his old hometown, now lives at Del Rio where he works for a Government agency. His work deals with insecticides and chemicals used in controlling insect pests harmful to animals and plants.

A large warehouse is maintained in which is stored various chemicals and preparations for distribution when needed. "No matter what kind of insect is causing trouble, anything from termites to dog ticks, we're supposed to have what it takes to kill it," he says.

"We can also show you how to 'insect-proof' your house or building, to make it safe from any kind of insect," he added.

The agency's large warehouse, though, almost lost its foundation recently, before the damage was accidentally discovered.

Cause of the damage? Swarms of termites and fire ants.

Few people know that Marvin Letz, one of the area's best known building contractors and home builders, first started his business career as a barber shop owner and operator, a vocation in which he was singularly successful until deciding to enter the building trades.

A still plainly legible sign on the southeast corner of the square, which reads "Letz Barber Shop" marks the site of his shop back in the early 30's.

Despite the fact that more than 30 years have passed, we have an idea that Marvin could pick up a pair of clippers today and turn out a crew cut or flat top that would pass as the work of a professional.

Bob Edwards was reminiscing the other day about early days in Weinert, when that community was a thriving little town with a reputation of being live-wire and wide-awake, which it was.

Business especially "boomed" during the fall of the year, as it did in all West Texas towns after a favorable cotton season.

Bob says he recalls seeing the streets of Weinert so crowded with buggies and wagons, along with a few Model T's, that you could only move at a snail's pace.

Weinert during its peak days, had a 20-room hotel, a newspaper, bank, half a dozen or more grocery and mercantile stores, two drug stores, several gins, and the normal complement of blacksmith shops.

Also in those days, every live-wire town had its baseball team and in the spring and summer a full schedule of games was matched with neighboring towns.

Baseball rivalry sometimes became extremely keen, and it was not uncommon for a town like Weinert or Goree to come up with a team which would consistently defeat teams of the larger towns like Haskell, Munday and Seymour.

After World War I, these teams took on something of a professional status, with the leading pitchers and possibly one or two players being "imported" and paid a salary.

Haskell's first baseball park was built about where Bill Wilson Motors is now located, with the grandstand being about where the motor agency building is now.

Later, a larger field was built as the first phase of the Fair Grounds, with a larger grandstand. The baseball diamond was located on part of the automobile race track built about that time.

Manager of Haskell's team for several years was Frank "Dobber" Dodson, and Haskell business men underwrote a substantial sum to maintain the team each year.

A popular entertainment in the 1936-37 era was amateur boxing, with every town staging a prolonged version of the Golden Gloves.

Remember the Mexican fighter, Acosta? And the Negro battler, Herman Hill? They were the top attractions on any boxing card, and each had his share of partisan backers. However, a Rochester fighter, T. E. Bagwell, beat Acosta in several matches, and rated as the outstanding amateur boxer in this area.

In Haskell, local firemen sponsored a series of amateur fights in an open air arena in either 1936 or '37, and the programs caught the fancy of the public with the result that hundreds of fans turned out for the weekly matches.

Firemen were unaware of the state boxing commission rules, however, and almost lost their shirts when they had to fork up money for licenses, permits, commission fees, etc., covering their first few fights. Proceeds from these fights had gone partly to the boxers, the remainder into paying for the arena and seating arrangements. After learning the facts of life as explained by the boxing commission, firemen could see no future in the fight game, and dropped the programs.

Some of the initial amateur matches are worth recalling, however, and many local fans will recall these and others, in which City Marshal Sebo Britton usually had the role of referee.

Britton was a top-flight boxer himself, and occasionally appeared in exhibition matches. With a little more experience, he would have been in a class with T. E. Bagwell.

One amateur match which attracted a record crowd billed Rosy McMillin against a transient fighter who called himself Irish O'Malley. He had age, and presumably, experience, on his side, while Rosy, a Haskell boy, had been training under Britton and knew nothing of professional fighting. (Later, during World War 2, Rosy won the Marine boxing title in the SW Pacific war zone.)

On the night of the fight, both men entered the ring keyed to a high pitch, with O'Malley probably a little over-confident.

After circling each other warily, feinting, crouching, and throwing a few short jabs, the crowd began yelling.

It was late in the round as the fighters continued their footwork, and the crowd became noisier.

Then it happened. O'Malley lashed a powerful right to the chin at the same instant Rosy swung a long looping haymaker toward the Irishman's chin.

Both blows landed on target and two fighters crumpled slowly to the canvas for the count. O'Malley was out cold, but Rosy was struggling to rise at the final ten-count.

Only disappointment of the crowd was at the shortness of the fight. Fans knew that both fighters were in dead earnest in watching for an opening, and took advantage of it when it came.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bounds, Sunday, Aug. 19. Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Smith hosted the Scott family reunion at their home. Mrs. Will Scott, her daughter, Mary Williams and her son, Will, were here from El Paso; Mr. and Mrs. Gene Mickler, Mary Ann and Jay were here from Fort Worth, and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mickler, Mr. and Mrs. T. N. Gillespie, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Isbell and children from here, and Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Mickler and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Ezell from Stamford attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Hughes and Dolin visited Mr. Hughes' mother and daddy, Mr. and Mrs. Edd Hughes at Lueders.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Overton spent Sunday afternoon in Rule visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Jones Sr., and her brother's family, Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Jones Jr.

The family of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Mickler held their annual family reunion at the Round-Up Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Medford Underwood and daughters from Oklahoma spent the Labor Day holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Underwood.

Mr. and Mrs. John Carlos Montgomery, Johnny Paul, April, and Scottie, spent last weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Montgomery and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Smith and Jeff.

Margaret Fischer, Cynthia Feiser, Sam Chaffin from Crane and Jerry Yoes from Dallas spent the Labor Day weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fischer and daughters.

William Overton of Garland spent several days last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Overton.

School started last Monday with 135 pupils registered. Ten more have enrolled since then. This is about 15 or 20 less than we will have when all the Latins and new farm families transfer. Last week was very hot and humid but the kiddoes didn't seem to mind the heat, and everybody was ready to begin the school year.

This week has been pleasant. The football boys have been working out every night and school patrons have been enjoying going to the school every night and watching them.

There are several new pupils but I don't have all their names right now. Don Ray and Billy Joe Swinney are seniors from Haskell, and Christi Miller is a freshman from Haskell.

The first football game will be at Leuders Sept. 7, and the first home game will be with McCauley on Sept. 13.

Homecoming plans are coming along nicely, and most of the invitation letters have been mailed. We have some gaps in the faculty list because we can't find addresses, but we are going to try to get this list of names and addresses up to date this year, so it won't be so hard next time.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Morrison and Mr. and Mrs. Van Morrison and their families attended the Morrison family reunion in Granbury Sunday.

Attending the barbecue for stockholders in the Farmers

Co-Op Gin last Friday night were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Overton, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fischer, Albert Thane, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Overton, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Schaake, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Overton, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Grand, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Montgomery, and Mrs. Lucille Watson.

Some Scout news I have failed to report is that the Paint Creek troop 48 won the Swimmeree at the Haskell Park on August 17. The boys were entered by patrols and points were given for placing in the races. The Coyote patrol won first with 16 points, the ants won second with 13 points and the badgers won third with 10 points. There was a mix-up in the relay race that may have given more points to one of the other patrols. The instructions had said that the relay should be a troop contest, and so only three of the best swimmers were entered from our troop. The other troops entered a team from each pa-

Had troop 48 done this, the Badgers or Ants might have had more points. But we were very proud of the boys. Some of the best swimmers are in the Eagle patrol and they were all on vacation, so the troop hadn't expected to win three places. The ribbons are very pretty, and the boys did well. There are only three Explorers in the troop and they had to enter every race. Weinert won the Explorer swimming easily, and Haskell Crew 1, Haskell Crew 2, and Paint Creek Crew 1 all tied for second with 10 points apiece. I don't have the names of the Weinert boys who swam.

In Paint Creek Crew are Danny Isbell, Thurman Howeth and Mike Overton. Scout Randy Wiseman swam with them to make four for the relay team. Haskell Crew 1 was composed of Eddie Smart, Bill Perry and Eddie Hester, Haskell Crew 2 was Jim Bynum, Gene Hester, Mike Felker and Billy Black.

SOUTHWESTERN DIABETIC FOUNDATION

Southwestern Diabetic Foundation (Camp Sweeney), Gainesville, Texas, is a summer camp for diabetic boys and girls.

The camp has three separate and distinct divisions: Junior, for boys and girls 6 to 10 years of age; Intermediate, for those 11 through 13; and Senior, for youths 14 through 16 years.

Science has conquered many of the bacterial diseases, but diabetes, a metabolic disorder, has thus far resisted cure. Persons afflicted with it can lead an almost normal life by following a rigid and exacting routine of self-treatment and diet.

They can do so, however, only if they know what to do and how to do it. Camp Sweeney, Southwestern Diabetic Foundation, teaches the afflicted youngsters these things, and just as important, it imbues them with a self-reliant and philosophical attitude that helps them adjust mentally to their misfortune.

At Camp Sweeney these children are taught and enjoy swimming and life saving; horseback riding. Athletic activities: baseball, badminton, volleyball, basketball, football—all with professional instructors.

They fish, they are instructed in hobbies, such as tooled leather work, painting, bead work, metal craft and airplane craft, riflery and archery, square dancing, boating and water skiing.

Camp Sweeney staff consists of Camp Director and Counselors who are well trained and mature. Experienced personnel who have shown a real interest in children, with first hand knowledge of their problems are always present. There are: dietitians, experienced and well trained to supervise the kitchen and dining room. Swimming instructor and most important, Doctors, two on day duty and one on night duty all the time.

What a privilege to make available this Camp Sweeney to all children to help them build a good life and be self-reliant.

Superintendent Pat Morrison paid tribute to Mrs. Owens and presented her with two gifts from the church. They were a table lamp and some linens. Willie Lee Medford presented her a gift from the faculty and it was a beautiful wall clock.

By AL HINDS

The struggle of life is not a sudden blinding glare. It is made up of very little beams, each one of which shines brightly all the time.

I WISH I HAD... the appetite of George Fouts, the consideration of others and politeness of Raja Hassen, the zest for living as George Neely, the ever-present smile of Harold Spain, the tact of getting things done as Wallace Cox Jr., the humor of Guy Kennedy, a voice like Danny Boone, the speech delivery of Rev. Ray Nobles, the talent of expressing thoughts in words as Rev. Douglas B. Finch, the artistic touch of a paint brush as "Doc" Brady, and the manly looks of Bob Wheatley.

Right thinking and actions always pay, even though the reward is long delayed. For they determine the pattern of your mind and conscience which will guide all future conduct.

Wallace Cox Jr. and Elmer Hilliard over at Jones and Cox were doing a little gluing and intricate repair work on some furniture recently and Wallace Cox Jr., pleased with the result of his work remarked: "Just think how many lives I might have saved if I had been a surgeon." To which Elmer quipped: "Just think how many lives YOU'VE SAVED by not becoming a surgeon."

The following article came to my desk through the courtesy and thoughtfulness of Mrs. James F. Cadenhead Sr. I am using it because I think

Registered PUBLIC SURVEYOR County Surveyor O. H. BARTLEY Phone 888-2454 SEYMOUR, TEXAS

It has a lot of food for thought: The Archdeacon of Chesterfield has given his Church of England parishioners a handy guide on "How to Turn Your Child Into A Crook."

Drawing a bead on indulgent parents the Venerable Talbot Dilworth Harrison listed these 12 rules in his parish magazine:

1. Begin from infancy to give the child everything he wants. In this way he will grow up to believe that the world owes him a living.
2. When he picks up bad words, laugh at him. It will encourage him to pick up "outer phrases" that will blow the top of your head off later.
3. Never give him any spiritual training. Wait until he is 21, and then let him decide for himself.
4. Avoid the use of the word "I may" which develops a guilt complex. This will condition him to believe later when he is arrested for stealing a car that society is against him and he is being persecuted.
5. Pick up everything he leaves lying around - books, shoes and clothes. Do everything for him so he will be experienced in throwing the responsibility on to others.
6. Let him read any printed matter he can get his hands on. Be careful the silverware and drinking glasses are sterilized, but let his mind feed on garbage.
7. Quarrel frequently in the presence of the children. Then they won't be shocked when the home is broken up.
8. Give the child all the spending money he wants. Never let him earn his own way. Why should he have things as tough as you had them?
9. Satisfy his every craving for food, drink and comfort. See that every desire is gratified. Denial may lead to harmful frustration.
10. Take his part against the neighbors, teachers, and policemen. They are all prejudiced against your child.
11. When he gets into real trouble, apologize for yourself by saying, "I never could do anything with him."
12. Prepare for a life of grief - "You will have it."

A farm lad who took a job in the big city returned home a few months later to report he was flat broke in spite of the big pay. He said, "Most of my money I spent on women and whiskey. The rest I just wasted."

Daffinitions: Dime, a dollar with the taxes out; Lady, a woman who makes it easy for a man to be a gentleman; Income, an amount of money, no matter how large, you spend more than.

We owe much to our cheerful and kindly friends. They add greatly to our happiness, and enjoyment of life; giving us a more courageous outlook, as we endeavor to climb to their joyful heights.

Food for thought: People who live in glass houses shouldn't. Give a convict enough rope and he'll skip. About the only thing left in this world that can be shocked is grain.

Tricks of the Trade: Asking a woman her age is like buying a second-hand car... the speedometer has been set back, but you can't tell just how far.

Cotton Buyer Returns from Victoria

J. E. (Barney) Bernard returned home Sunday from the Coastal Bend country, where he has operated out of Victoria buying cotton since the season opened.

He reports cotton is about all picked in that section and sold, with little or no cotton going into the Government loan.

That has been a very hot and dry section, with no rain falling since June until about three days before he left, the Haskell cotton buyer reported. Similar conditions prevailed in the Corpus Christi section, he stated, and most cotton buyers who migrated to the Corpus area to buy early cotton have left that region.

EAST SIDE GA'S MEET MONDAY

The regular meeting of the East Side GA's was held Monday, Sept. 3, from 4 to 5 p. m. Following the pledge of allegiance and prayer, the program was presented entitled "Layne's World Family." Business also was discussed. Those present were Katie Campbell, Yvonne LeFevre, Mary Brown, Carolyn Rhoads, Mrs. Cub Russell and a visitor, Jo Nell Brooks. Carolyn Rhoads led the closing prayer. Mrs. Thurman Rhoads and Mrs. Lester Fore served refreshments of pops and cookies.

CARD OF THANKS

Words cannot express our deep appreciation for the many kindnesses shown us during our mother's recent illness and death. We especially want to thank the nurses and doctors at the hospital that administered to her comfort and care so faithfully in her final hours, to the members and ministers of the various churches who offered their prayers and words of comfort which helped us in our hour of loneliness and sorrow; and to our many friends and neighbors for the beautiful floral offerings to the memory of our loved one. Your kind expressions of sympathy were deeply appreciated and will be long remembered. Mrs. E. H. Baugh's family. 36p
