Suspends drama instructor for fall 1990 semester

AUSTIN — A reprimand was handed down today against both Snyder ISD and drama coach Jerry Worsham by a nine-member UIL executive committee regarding the finding that pressure was a factor in the change of a student's grade.

The ruling, however, was not as harsh as the committee could have handed down and will allow the school to compete in one-act contests next spring.

The committee ruled that Snyder High School should receive a public reprimand and one year's probation because of its violation of no-pass, no-play.

The committee also voted to suspend instructor Worsham from any UIL-related activities for the fall semester. The committee could have suspended Worsham for the entire school year. The suspension does not affect his teaching duties.

In addition to his suspension, Worsham was also placed on probation for one and one-half years.

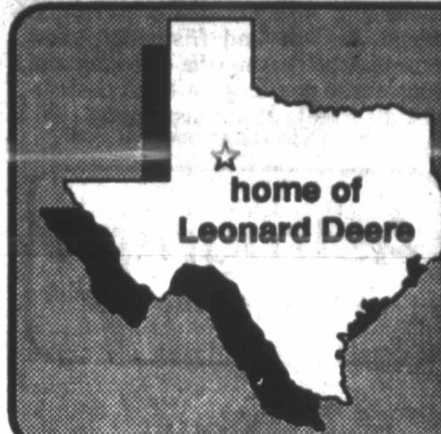

Following the decision, Worsham said he was relieved that the one-act will apparently be allowed to continue under a normal schedule. "Normally, we don't start one-act until February."

All decisions were unanimous with two abstentions. The hearing concluded around 1:10 p.m.

At question from the morning testimony was whether Worsham, as drama coach, used "pressure" on Mrs. Hall to change Coy Berryman's math grade.

The Texas Education Agency ruled May 24 that Snyder's one-act play used an ineligible student at the state contest because of the (see TEACHER, page 8)

WTC board okays $6 million budget for upcoming year

Western Texas College board of trustees approved the 1990-91 budget Monday evening, granted three promotions and agreed to join a consortium for insurance benefits.

Only four of seven board members were present for the meeting, but they also accepted a bid for electrical cable for the golf course, heard a report on summer school enrollment and voted to allow administrators to take bids on a freon recovery system and two vehicles.

In accepting the 1990-91 budget, trustees set July 9 for the required public hearing. The budget and tax rate, if approved at that meeting, would then be formally accepted on July 16.

Trustees on Monday approved the current fund budget for 1990-91 in the amount of $6,065,851, and okayed a tax rate of .1841 cents per $100 in valuation. The .1841 rate is eight percent over the effective tax rate of .1705, but is actually less than the 1989-90 tax rate of .1964. Estimated tax revenue at .1841 cents is $1.9 million.

The budget includes a three percent cost of living raise and a one percent merit raise for faculty and staff.

Trustees also approved two other budgets for 1990-91 — the student housing system fund budget of $625,272, and the student services fee fund of $42,012.

The board awarded promotions to three instructors, including Mike Thornton, who was promoted from director of adult education and extension services to dean of continuing education. Others promoted from instructor to assistant professor were Jan McCathern and Ty Brunson.

The board decided to join the Texas Public Junior and Community College Employee Benefit Consortium in order to expand its employee insurance coverage. Dr. Harry Krenek, college president, said that the present relationship with Blue Cross "has been great" but said the package available to the consortium made more options available. Joining the consortium was the recommendation of both the administration and the Col- (see COLLEGE, page 8)

View SHS campus plan...

School trustees hear report on Hobbs alternative school

Snyder public schools board of trustees heard a campus improvement plan for the high school, listened to a report on the Hobbs At-Risk Cooperative Education Center and discussed portions of the 1990-91 budget during a workshop meeting Monday.

Trustees will address the at-risk topic, as well as other items, when they convene again Thursday for their monthly board meeting. That meeting will begin at 5 p.m. in executive session and open for regular session at 7 p.m.

Rueben Gillespie, high school principal, previewed for the board his campus improvement plan, which he sees as an optimistic, positive step for the school.

"I am very proud of the work the committee did. I think with our effective schools conference here and the movement on campus I believe we will see a big difference next year," he told board members.

The improvement plan begins with the campus mission statement, which reads, "At SHS, all students can and will learn. In a positive atmosphere, we will help students learn academic skills, good citizenship, high self-esteem and self-discipline."

The 19-member campus improvement team which put together the plan included representatives of the administration, faculty and student body, as well as parents.

The plan has six basic objectives which parallel the effective schools concept, and are, 1, the principal as an instructional leader; 2, instructional focus; 3, school climate; 4, teacher behavior and expectation; 5, measurement (testing); and 6, family/community relations.

Each objective lists a goal, and is broken down into several other objectives, for which activities are noted. One goal, said Gillespie, is to increase the number of students passing all subjects during a six-week period from 60 percent to 80 percent.

"This is a major commitment, but we are going to try," said Gillespie.

Sweetwater ISD Counselor Frank Davis met with board members to discuss their possible interest in the Hobbs At-Risk Cooperative Education Center. The school is expected to open this fall on the former Hobbs School campus at Hobbs, and will (see SCHOOL, page 8)

Major remodeling planned by Snyder's Lawrence IGA

A major remodeling of Lawrence IGA Supermarket, located in Highland Park Shopping Center, has been announced by owners Jack and Rita Lawrence.

The remodeling will begin July 1, and Lawrence said he hopes the project will be completed within 60 to 90 days.

The project will include an additional 4,000 feet as the store will expand into the existing S&H Green Stamp Redemption Center located one door north.

The remodeled IGA will have 140 feet of fresh, smoked and frozen meat, 96 feet of dairy, 165 feet of produce, 144 feet of frozen foods and a newly remodeled deli and bakery.

When completed, the store will have approximately 26,000 square feet. The store will also expand from six to eight scanning checkout lanes.

Lawrence said the store will remain open during the entire remodeling project. "The finished store will be a very modern supermarket for Snyder. We have confidence in the future of Snyder and Scurry County, and this is part of our resolve to provide local citizens with the finest grocery shopping environment available."

Lawrence purchased the Snyder store in 1978. It was operated as Piggly Wiggly until 1986 when the name was changed to Lawrence IGA.

The SDN Column By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "There's plenty of heavenly music for those who are tuned in."

Bill and Virgie Martin of Snyder recently traveled to Albuquerque to visit a grandson and a new wife they had never met. The grandson's wife had children by a previous marriage.

The two older children went off to school, and the Snyder great-grandparents were eager to keep the two-year-old while mom and dad went off to work.

It wasn't long before the Martins discovered the youngster missing. They called out his name, they looked in closets and they checked the neighborhood.

Not sure what to do in a strange town, the couple wondered if the lad had followed his older brother and sister to school. Bill, a retired Halliburton employee, went to a nearby grade school and told the receptionist his story.

"What's your grandson's name?"
"I don't know," Bill said.
"What's his address?" she asked.
"I don't know."

Bill also didn't know his grade, but someone put two and two together and located the older grandson. The boy said he could probably help find his younger brother, but a skeptical principal wouldn't let the older boy leave with a stranger who didn't know his grandson's name.

The school decided the police might help, but according to Bill, they asked the same questions, and again Bill didn't know the answers.

About that time the school received a call from home. The missing youngster was quietly hiding under the sofa pillows.

Bill fainted dead-away. When he came to, the school nurse was pouring cold water on his face. Embarrassed, Bill asked to be shown the door so he could head back to his grandson's house.

However, nothing look familiar. Bill had to go back into the school and ask to be shown another entrance. He was, and Bill finally got home.

That evening the older great-grandson showed the most compassion "Granddad, before you leave I want you to learn my full name."

Vestal merges CPA firm with Mason, Warner & Co.

Jerry Vestal, Snyder certified public accountant, Monday announced the merger of his firm with Mason, Warner and Company of Lubbock.

Vestal said Mason, Warner and Co. is Lubbock's "largest and most prominent" CPA firm. "The availability of these expanded resources will benefit Vestal's clients in meeting the challenges of the 1990s," Vestal said.

The Snyder CPA said the merger is an expression of the company's belief that the Scurry County market area has good potential.

Vestal said the firm, with offices in Lubbock and Post, has earned the reputation of being one of the most professional and progressive accounting firms in West Texas.

The partnership of Mason, Warner and Company had its beginning in 1962 when Jimmie L. Mason started his accounting practice. The firm has grown over the years and presently has four stockholders and 35 employees — including 17 CPAs.

Vestal said Mason, Warner and Company now provides services (see VESTAL, page 8)

Q—Does a will have to be updated? Is a will out of date if it is 10 years old or older?

A—No, wills don't go out of date. However, certain circumstances — such as the addition of new family members or property, for instance — may make it wise for you to consider updating your will.

In Brief

Tanker blast

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Coast Guard officials today boarded the fire-ravaged supertanker Mega Borg in the Gulf of Mexico to determine if it has cooled enough to be sprayed with flame-smothering foam.

The Coast Guard also backed off its earlier reports that the Mega Borg, carrying 38 million gallons of oil, had begun buckling.

"There is no evidence at all of any structural damage," said Coast Guard Chief Petty officer Gene Maestas.

The fire that has engulfed the ship since an explosion on board Saturday seemed to be diminishing this morning, Maestas said.

Train mishap

SENECA, Neb. (AP) — Four members of a family that had recently moved here from Dalhart, Texas, were killed when a loaded coal train and car collided, authorities said today.

Thomas County Attorney Warren Arganbright said the "horribly tragic accident" also left a 10-year-old girl critically injured.

He identified the dead as Mark B. Goodpasture, 34, of rural Seneca, his wife, Vanna Goodpasture, 35, the couple's son, Lance, 13, and daughter Brooke, 9. A second daughter, Brandi, 10, was listed in critical condition this morning at Good Samaritan Hospital, Arganbright said.

Strike called

SOFIA, Bulgaria (AP) — Students formed a human chain around Sofia University today and declared a strike over alleged government manipulation of what were billed as Bulgaria's first free elections in 58 years.

The long-ruling Communists, who have renamed themselves the Socialist Party as they strive to break with a repressive past, appeared headed for a decisive victory in Sunday's elections.

Initial official results announced today for 111 seats in the 400-seat Parliament gave the Socialists 68 seats against 32 for the main opposition alliance, the Union of Democratic Forces.

Truck driver involved in worst Texas school bus accident sues Coca Cola

EDINBURG, Texas (AP) — Children, Coca-Cola and stop signs constantly remind truck driver Ruben Perez of his involvement in an accident that killed 21 students on a school bus, according to a lawsuit in which Perez blames his employer for the tragedy.

Perez alleges that his employer, Valley Coca-Cola Bottling Co. Inc., used him as a scapegoat to take all the blame. He seeks unspecified punitive damages.

The 25-year-old Hidalgo County resident also accuses the company, its lawyers and an insurance company of failing to provide information that could have prevented his indictment on criminal charges.

"Valley Coca-Cola and Coca-Cola Enterprises followed a conscious and intentional policy of damage control that forced Ruben Perez to be the scapegoat of this tragedy," the suit states.

"These defendants believed that if they could convince the public and the authorities that the sole cause of the collision was a negligent driver, the damage to the image and the pocketbook of The Coca-Cola Co. and its subsidiaries ... would be far less than if the real truth were known: (the companies) consciously and willfully operated trucks with bad brakes in order to maximize corporate profits at the expense of public safety..."

Perez, 25, drove the Valley Coca-Cola Bottling Co. truck that collided with a school bus at an intersection last Sept. 21. The impact forced the bus into a water-filled pit near Alton in South Texas. Sixty junior and senior high school students were hurt on the bus.

Perez had said that the brakes on his truck failed.

With his litigation, Perez joins families of the dead and injured, as well as a group of rescue workers and bystanders, suing Valley Coca-Cola over the accident.

The company so far has settled with families of 17 of the dead for a total of $73.5 million. Pending settlements with some of the injured also have been reported, but not confirmed.

Perez is suing Valley Coca-Cola; its owner, Austin Coca-Cola Bottling Co.; Great Western Coca-Cola Bottling Co., and Coca-Cola Enterprises Inc.

Also named in the suit are National Union Fire Insurance Co. and Houston lawyers Dana Kirk and Steve Carrigan and their law firm, Kirk & Carrigan.

It alleges that Valley Coca-Cola failed to provide adequate safety training and rushed its drivers out of the gates every morning without allowing them a chance to make safety checks. The company was allowed to perform its own annual state vehicle inspections, and omitted entire sections of the required brake inspection procedures, the lawsuit alleges.

Former Miami attorney receives 15-year term

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Miami attorney Hiram Lee Bauman was sentenced to 15 years in prison for money laundering and conspiracy convictions in Houston's largest cocaine smuggling case.

U.S. District Judge Kenneth Hoyt gave Bauman a stiffer sentence Monday than three co-defendants also convicted April 6 of conspiring to import at least 4,380 pounds of cocaine into the United States between 1981 and 1984.

John Cary on Monday received a 12-year sentence. Two others, Julio Maceo and Pedro Talamas, both of Miami, previously received 12-year sentences.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Lawrence Finder argued that Bauman abused his professional standing.

Hoyt ordered Bauman and Cary to begin serving their sentences immediately.

Jurors found Bauman laundered drug profits for Idinael "Danny" Martinez, ringleader of the international operation whose testimony for the prosecution consumed almost half of the four-week trial. The principal act concerned Bauman helping Martinez purchase a $270,000 home in the Miami area.

Dr. Gott Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Can you explain the difference between hemorrhoids and polyps? Does a person have to be operated on for either one, or is there a medication available that will help my condition?

DEAR READER: A hemorrhoid is a swollen vein in or around the lower rectum and anus. Initially, it appears as a soft, small, purple lump that may cause some discomfort. The hemorrhoid may enlarge, causing stinging and tenderness. Eventually, the blood in it can clot (thrombosed hemorrhoid), leading to pain, particularly during evacuation.

Hemorrhoids are common and harmless unless they bleed, requiring surgery or other therapy. Small hemorrhoids are best treated with suppositories (to facilitate bowel movements) and warm baths (to reduce swelling).

A polyp, on the other hand, is a benign growth arising from the intestinal lining. It causes no symptoms and usually grows high up in the rectum or in the colon, well above the location of hemorrhoids. The two conditions are rarely confused by an experienced doctor.

Some polyps are pre-malignant, meaning they will eventually turn cancerous. Therefore, unlike most hemorrhoids, polyps should be removed. Polyps are easily excised at the time of proctoscopy or sigmoidoscopy, during which a specialist examines the lining of the bowel using a lighted instrument. This is an office procedure, in most instances.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "An Informed Approach To Surgery." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is it possible to get allergies all year round? I usually get hay fever in late summer, but now even in the dead of winter I have similar symptoms. Over-the-counter remedies suggested by my doctor are useless. Is there a good prescription drug that will help me and also prevent them recurring?

DEAR READER: Allergies can be year-round nuisances only if their cause persists in the environment. If, for example, you are allergic to animal dander and insist on keeping a cat or dog, watch out. The material shed from the animal's skin will continue to irritate your nose and throat throughout the year. Similarly, a house dust allergy is difficult to escape. Tobacco smoke, cosmetics and foods also can cause year-long allergic reactions. On the other hand, certain allergies are seasonal; for instance, pine pollen in the spring and ragweed pollen in the late summer.

Rather than blindly trying to control your symptoms with various medications, see an allergist. Such a specialist will test you to determine what compounds you are sensitive to, how to avoid them and how best to treat your symptoms. For instance, in patients with severe allergies, desensitization injections may be of enormous help. Also, two new prescription drugs, Seldane and Hismanal, show promise in treating the sneezing and runny nose of allergy without the usual side effects of antihistamines.

When North cue-bid three diamonds, he hoped South could bid three no-trump. When East doubled three diamonds and South freely bid three hearts, North felt justified in jumping to four spades.

There would be no story if West had followed his partner's indication and led ace and a diamond. (East's K-9-8-4 of spades would eventually produce two more tricks for the defense.) But West led his singleton club. Declarer read the lead correctly and hardly expected West to have a singleton trump as well, but he really had no choice except to play for some favorable division of trumps. So he won dummy's club ace and cashed the ace of spades. If West had started with honor-small in trumps, this would have a positive result. (Declarer would play clubs, West ruffing with the honor as a diamond was discarded; a second diamond by the defense would be ruffed; declarer would play ace and ruff a heart, and then play on clubs, discarding hearts. East, with king and a small spade, would have no counter to this plan.)

In the real world, it worked even better. With the lone queen of spades out of the action, declarer was able to throw both diamonds away on clubs and continue clubs. East did ruff in on the fifth club with the eight of spades, but declarer simply discarded a heart. If East played king and a spade, declarer would be in dummy to play the remaining clubs. If East played a heart, declarer would play ace and ruff a heart, and play clubs, overruffing East's nine of spades if necessary to ruff his last heart loser.

Summer dishes feature lemonade

NEW YORK (AP) — Lemonade can be used in many appealing summer dishes including soups, main dishes and desserts.

The following recipe is provided by Newman's Own, makers of Newman's Own Old Fashioned Roadside Virgin Lemonade and other products.

LEMON CARROT SOUP

1½ pounds carrots, peeled and sliced
 2 cloves garlic, peeled
 2 cups lemonade
 ½ cup water
 ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
 1 cup light cream
 Salt and pepper
 Croutons or chopped chives for garnish

In a covered saucepan, simmer carrots and garlic in lemonade and ½ cup water for about 25 minutes or until carrots are soft.

Discard garlic and add nutmeg. Blend until smooth. Stir in cream and season to taste. Serve hot with croutons, or serve cold with chives. Makes 4 servings.

According to French philosopher Michel de Montaigne, "There is no man so good, who, were he to submit all his thoughts and actions to the laws, would not deserve hanging 10 times in his life."

Joan of Arc entered the besieged city of Orleans in 1429 to lead a victory over the English.

Ryan throws sixth no-hitter

Ranger hurler whiffs 14 in record-setting performance

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Nolan Ryan called the pitching conditions almost perfect — as in almost as perfect as Nolan Ryan.

The Oakland Athletics, baseball's world champions, called the 43-year-old Texan simply awesome after Ryan made more pitching history Monday night by recording the sixth no-hitter of his 23-year major league career.

Ryan, who came off the Texas Rangers' disabled list last week after resting a sore back, struck out 14 batters and walked only two in posting the 5-0 victory.

No one else has more than four no-hitters, and Ryan now stands as the oldest pitcher ever to throw one. Cy Young was the previous oldest, 41 when he achieved the feat in 1908 with the Boston Red Sox.

"The air was cool tonight, and the ball was heavy. The ball Willie Randolph hit in the fourth, I thought would be a home run," Ryan said. "I think if we had been in our ballpark. The way the ball travels there, it probably would have been."

Pete Incaviglia ran down Randolph's drive in deep left field, and there were only a few scares for Ryan and the Rangers after that. Shortstop Jeff Huson made a tough play for the next-to-last out of the game, charging a slow grounder by Rickey Henderson and throwing him out.

When Randolph flew out to right fielder Ruben Sierra in foul territory to end the game, Texas players mobbed Ryan and carried him from the field. Ryan's wife, Ruth, and two of his children were also on hand to congratulate him, and a bottle of champagne was delivered to the pitcher before he reached the clubhouse.

"Amazing is the only way to describe him. Forty-three years old and he's throwing 93 and 94 mile-an-hour fastballs — in the eighth and ninth innings," said Carney Lansford, who pinch hit in the eighth inning and returned to the A's bench as one of Ryan's strikeout victims.

"The key to the game, I think, was that I had good command of the fastball and made good pitches with it, and I had a good changeup," Ryan said. "Oakland is a free-swinging ballclub, and because of that they were swinging at changeups even when they were out of the strike zone."

The A's top two power hitters, Jose Canseco and Mark McGwire, were out of the lineup, Canseco because of a bad back.

But Ryan was throwing to a catcher, John Russell, he'd never worked with before, and his back was giving him some trouble.

"I was giving my back time to respond," he said later, explaining why he took so much time between pitches, especially late in the game. "I threw 130 pitches, and that was about my limit."

The Rangers took a 2-0 lead in the first on Julio Franco's two-run homer off Scott Sanderson (7-3). Russell homered in the second, Franco hit another two-run homer in the fifth, and over the last few innings the Oakland crowd of 33,436 was cheering "Nolan, Nolan."

Ryan pitched four no-hitters with the California Angels, tying Sandy Koufax's all-time major league record, in a three-year period (1973-75) early in his career. He got No. 5 in 1981 as a member of the Houston Astros.

Gaffney's 72 score holds 3rd at CNFR

BOZEMAN, Mont. — Coach Bob Doty and his Western Texas College rodeo team began their quest for a national title yesterday in the first day of slack events at the College National Finals Rodeo here.

Bull rider Michael Gaffney and bareback rider Denny McLanahan are each holding third place within their respective events.

Gaffney earned a 72 in Monday action while McLanahan rode to a 67.

The opening round of bull riding will conclude tonight with WTC cowboy Darrin Cook among the last ten competitors.

Jennifer Lee, who qualified for the CNFR in goat tying, posted a 7.3 time yesterday to move into third place, as well, in the first go.

Russell Merchant of WTC and his team-roping partner Darrin Chick from Tarleton State University, are maintaining a top 15 spot with their 9.0 clocking that puts them in 12th place.

Merchant is also in the upper 15 with a steer wrestling time of 6.3 at the end of the first round.

Western Texas' other team ropers, Troy Cattoor and Terry Graf, received a no-time on their first steer before posting an 11.8 mark in the second go to wind up that phase of the competition for them.

Jackie Parker, WTC's other contestant from the women's team, scored a "no-time" Monday in breakaway roping and will get a shot at her second calf tonight.

Bull riders McLanahan and Buddy Reed were both bucked off in the first go early today.

"I really thought we had a good first day," said Doty.

"It was a little rough this morning with Denny and Buddy getting bucked off, but we're hoping they'll draw good bulls and get good scores in the second round."

Besides Cook in the bulls, Cattoor, the 1990 NIRA Southwest Region All-Around Cowboy, will perform for WTC tonight in both bareback and saddle bronc riding.

NBA Finals to continue

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Having lost their homecourt advantage and their defense, the Portland Trail Blazers are perilously close to losing the NBA Finals.

A loss at home tonight to Detroit would put them down 3-1. No team has survived that deficit in a championship series, and two of the possible three remaining games would be at the Pistons' home in Auburn Hills, Mich.

Guard Joe Dumars, whose father died Sunday after a long illness, was expected to play for Detroit. Pistons forward Dennis Rodman, who missed Sunday's 121-106 Detroit win with a sprained left ankle, felt better and might play.

Physically, the Blazers are healthy. Their defense, though, was ailing in Game 3 when Detroit had its biggest offensive output of the playoffs to move two wins away from a second consecutive championship.

"It's pretty critical," Portland center Kevin Duckworth said of tonight's game. "We at least have to tie" the series.

Game 5 is scheduled for Thursday night in Portland, where the Blazers had two home winning streaks snapped Sunday — 20 games against Detroit and nine games in this year's playoffs. The loss cost them the homecourt advantage they gained with a 106-105 overtime win in Auburn Hills in Game 2.

"There's always pressure on the home team to win," Detroit's Isiah Thomas said. "It compounds the pressure when you lose at home."

"Once you get to this level, there's not really a homecourt advantage," Vinnie Johnson said. "Sometimes I play better on the road because everything's against you and your concentration level is that much higher."

Limmer and Beard attend special energy workshop

Approximately 25 home economics teachers and extension agents from across the state attended a one-day workshop June 6 at the University of Texas at Permian Basin in Odessa. The workshop, sponsored by TU Electric, was entitled "Energy Trends for the 90s." Designed to meet the needs of secondary home economics teachers and other home economics professionals, the workshop featured speakers with expertise in the fields of family relations, home lighting, environmental issues and nutrition. Those attending the sessions earned Professional Development Units and Advanced Academic Training credit. Attending were Carolyn Limmer, Snyder High School, and Darlene Beard, Snyder Junior High School.

College board meets

Trustees accepted a bid of $6,647.88 from Cain Electrical Supply of Big Spring for some 19,500 feet of underground electrical cable for the golf course. The cable is needed to repair the automatic sprinkler system. In a brief discussion concerning the possible privatization of the golf course, Dr. Krenak told the board that the college could save "about $35,000." He also added, however, that he is not aware of any group interested in privatizing small courses in the south. Trustee John Fagin had asked about the possibility of privatizing the course in a previous meeting. Trustees had also been considering a thermal storage unit under an agreement proposed by TU electric and had authorized a study to consider its feasibility. They rejected the proposal, based on an engineer's report which said in part that the pay-out period was too long. A report on summer enrollment indicated 853 students at the local and extension campuses, including Price Daniel Unit. Of those, 751 are credit students, 58 are in the spring opportunity session which actually began in February, and 44 are in quarterly programs such as cosmetology. Some 191 of the students are Scurry County residents while 81 are from Nolan County, 70 from Haskell County and 59 from Mitchell County. Also discussed were coliseum user fee increases, as proposed by the county commissioners court. The fees are only tentative at present. The proposed fee for use of the arena would go up from $175 to $275 per evening. Fees to use the coliseum for basketball workouts would increase from $5 an hour to $15 an hour, based on a two-hour minimum. There would also be a $100 per day additional fee for events in which dirt is placed on the arena floor, such as rodeos. The court is also considering a $5 per day horse stall fee and may be asking 15 percent of the gross proceeds on all concessions sold out of the concession stand. Trustees are estimating the cost to the college to increase by between $4,500 and $5,000 per year. Board members present for the meeting were Fagin, R.C. Patton, Carl Williams and president Bob Hargrove. Absent were John Gayle, Bill Wilson Jr. and Howard Sterling.

3 criminal mischief cases noted

Three cases of criminal mischief, a theft and an assault were investigated by city police Monday. At 8:25 p.m., Harvey Stevens of 126 East Highway reported the theft of mobile home tires. At 6:33 p.m., Saturino Martinez of 2705 Ave. H reported that someone had thrown a rock through a window of his home. At 7:10 p.m., Geneva Oroasco of 1802 15th St. told police that neighborhood children had been taking vegetables from her garden. At 10:30 p.m., the police department received another call about Oroasco having trouble with the children. Another case of criminal mischief was reported at 2 p.m. when Mary Oroasco of 110 Browning reported that children had been writing obscenities on her sidewalk. At 8:26 p.m., a woman called officers to report that her grandson had been assaulted by a male juvenile. The victim was taken to Cogdell Hospital emergency room by private vehicle where he was treated and released. At 6:27 p.m., a 26-inch, 10-speed bike was found and turned in to the police department. At 2:17 p.m. Monday, the city reported that a dumpster had been struck by a vehicle which left the scene. The incident occurred at 2500 Ave. Z, and damage to the dumpster was estimated at $280. Other police activity was routine as they responded to four noise disturbance calls, received one report of a harrasing telephone call and investigated one prowler.

Teacher felt pressure to change grade

grade change after the end of the fifth six weeks grading period. The reason for the grade change was the central focus of testimony from both Worsham and Mrs. Hall. Worsham said, "I did not ask for a grade change, I asked that Coy be allowed to have the same opportunity as other students." These classroom rules included completing posted math assignments prior to being allowed to take the test. Mrs. Hall said these assignments were due Thursday prior to the Friday that closed the six weeks and the deadline for makeup work. Mrs. Hall said on the Monday following the Friday deadline, "Coy asked me if he could retest. I told him 'no,' I felt the six weeks was over." During his testimony, Worsham said he had spoken with Mrs. Hall after sending her a letter requesting that she allow Berryman to do makeup work to improve his failing grade.

"I asked her if Coy had been there Friday, would he have been allowed to take makeup work, and she said 'yes,'" Worsham said. "I am accused of pressuring a teacher. A letter is not pressure; it allows time for consideration. I sent the letter to initiate and open dialogue and to give time for response without physical pressure," he added, in explaining a two-page letter sent to Hall. "I considered the letter friend to friend." Mrs. Hall, however, said she felt "that the one-act play wouldn't go to state if Coy didn't pass. The pressure I felt was that I had eight other students in the play. I felt like the burden of the play rested on my shoulders." She referred to a conversation with SHS Principal Rueben Gillespie when she first notified him of the letter received from Worsham. Hall said Gillespie indicated that the play might not be able to compete without its lead actor.

Supt. Dalton Moseley was asked by committee members if Mrs. Hall had been told this and Moseley replied that he had never indicated this to her. Committee members quizzed the high school principal of the policy of retesting. At several points during the hearing, committee members asked school officials if they could identify the author of a letter sent to the UIL alleging violations. UIL officials said the letter was unsigned but the name Abe Garcia was typed at the bottom. In his testimony, Gillespie said he believed the name to be fictitious. It was the letter which prompted the TEA to consider the allegations against Snyder. Testifying, in order, were Supt. Moseley, Gillespie, Worsham, and Mrs. Hall. Prior to the noon recess, Coy Berryman asked to speak. In response to a question, Berryman said, "Teacher policies at Snyder High School regarding makeup work vary greatly. It makes it hard on a student." He also said other students were allowed to make up work in Mrs. Hall's math class. UIL Director Dr. Bailey Marshall said the final decision would come about 1:30. Worsham was represented at the hearing by Mark Robertson, a Houston attorney.

Congress braces for renewal of flag issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is bracing itself for hard-core politics in an election-year renewal of the flag-burning issue now that the Supreme Court overturned a flag protection law. Congressional Democratic leaders strongly oppose amending the Constitution to ban flag burning. But votes were being scheduled around such symbolic days as the Fourth of July and Flag Day, June 14. House Speaker Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash., promised Monday that the House would vote on a proposed amendment by July 4. Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., chairman of the House Judiciary subcommittee on the Constitution and a leading House opponent of an amendment, predicted an amendment would fail again.

got to go through a very sophisticated explanation of why he is." Democrats were aware of the political pitfalls the issue poses for them, recalling how George Bush exploited the flag's patriotic values at Michael Dukakis's expense in his 1988 campaign. "It will be very tempting to play politics with it, with the Fourth of July," said Rep. Patricia Schroeder, D-Colo., a fierce opponent of a constitutional change. "I'm confident we're going to get enough members to stand up and say, 'No, I love the Bill of Rights,'" Edwards said. With flag burning no longer a federal crime since the court's action, some said a vote for a constitutional ban would be politically irresistible just a few months before the fall congressional elections. Republicans hoped so. "Certainly the vote on the constitutional amendment will become a campaign issue," said Ed Rollins, head of the House Republican campaign committee. "It's a good issue to define your opponent," Rollins said. "If your opponent is for flag burning, he's

School workshop held

serve students who are classified "at-risk." Trustees learned that school districts are required by the state of Texas to make available an "alternative program" for students who cannot, for a variety of reasons, cope in a normal school setting. School districts are not required to contract with a school such as the one planned at Hobbs; however, that is one method of meeting the state requirement. In general, these may be students who have failed to be promoted from one grade level to the next for two or more years, or who have mathematics or reading skills that are two or more years below grade level. They may also be students in need of special compensatory or remedial instruction or who are limited in English proficiency. They could be young mothers who have no financial means to care for a child while they are in school. The alternative school will provide a nursery. Reportedly, eight area school districts have signed up to be members of the Hobbs Center, including Ira, Hermleigh, Sweetwater, Colorado City and Rotan. The Hobbs school is expected to have classes for grades 9-12, with about 10 students per class. Taught will be all core subjects — math, language arts, social sciences and science — on a self-paced basis. Vocational classes will also be offered. "The goal is to get non-productive citizens — who can't find good work because they don't have a high school diploma — some education and can get into the workforce and be productive and not on welfare," said Davis, who said the school concentrates on academic achievement, vocational skills and personal development. Among the vocational skills learned can be food service, health building trades, small engine repair and business office input. Some of the skills, such as building trades and food services, are combined with regular building maintenance at the campus, and food service to the campus. Students would take a bus from each school district contracted with the school, and would not bring vehicles to the campus. Classes are expected to be all day, five days a week for the first school year. Half-day classes, which would enable some students to work, may be considered in the future. "We will have it (the alternative school) whether you want to join or not," said Davis. "We're just here to tell you what it is all about, and let you see what you want to do." To become a member, Snyder ISD would pledge $5,000 now, and $5,000 in September. The district's only other obligation would be up to $1,000 per student, if funding is needed. The Hobbs School will also receive ADA funds for each student enrolled. In other workshop discussion, Lawton Taylor, maintenance director, told the board that the sprinklers around the perimeter of the football field are worn out and he requested $1,300 to replace them. The request will be placed on Thursday's agenda. The board also looked at proposed 1990-91 budgets for district maintenance, transportation and central administration. The maintenance budget for 1990-91 is $911,574, compared to $798,900 for 1989-90. Having to purchase two boilers for the high school makes up most of the difference, trustees learned. The transportation budget for next year amounts to $219,500, as compared to $218,515 for 1989-90. The proposed budget for central administration indicates a drop from $379,389 to $433,380. Thursday's executive session is to discuss personnel. Superintendent Dalton Moseley will be making recommendations to the board to hire at least seven new teachers, allow a leave of absence for two others and accept the resignation of another. Present for the meeting were trustees Billy Bob McMullan, Ann Walton, Sam Robertson, Terry Martin and Mike Jordan. Absent were Glenn Clarady and Luann Bursleson.

Former national security aide gets 6-month sentence

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former national security adviser John M. Poindexter received a six-month sentence and a stern lecture from a judge who said he undermined democracy by lying to Congress about the Iran-Contra affair.

Poindexter became the first of seven people convicted in the scandal to receive a prison term when he was sentenced Monday by U.S. District Judge Harold H. Greene.

The judge said Poindexter, who plans to appeal, deserved incarceration as the "decision-making head of the Iran-Contra operation."

Probation "would be tantamount to a statement that a scheme to lie (to) and obstruct Congress is of no great moment," Greene said.

Poindexter, who served as President Reagan's national security adviser from late 1985 until the Iran-Contra scandal forced his resignation in November 1986, was convicted of conspiracy, making false statements to Congress and obstructing lawmakers' inquiries into the Iran-Contra affair.

Greene said Poindexter, former White House aide Oliver L. North and others usurped political power from Congress when they set up a covert operation to arm the Contra rebels in Nicaragua in defiance of a congressional ban on such aid.

"When Admiral Poindexter and his associates obstructed the Congress, what were they seeking to accomplish?" the judge asked. "In a word it was to nullify the decision that body had made on the issue of supplies to the Congress."

Poindexter was found guilty of conspiring to thwart attempts by Congress in 1986 to verify reports that North was coordinating the secret resupply operation for the rebels. He was also convicted of lying and destroying documents to conceal the U.S. role in a 1985 shipment of Hawk anti-aircraft missiles to Iran.

Poindexter, 53, a retired Navy rear admiral, made no statement in court and showed little emotion, except to smile at his wife, Linda, after the sentence was imposed. The couple kissed and walked arm-in-arm out of the courtroom.

Outside the U.S. District Courthouse, Poindexter briefly joined a throng of about 30 demonstrators who held placards urging President Bush to pardon the Iran-Contra defendants and fire their prosecutor, independent counsel Lawrence E. Walsh.

His car drove off to the strains of "Anchors Aweigh," which was broadcast over loudspeakers set up by the demonstrators, who chanted "Full pardon now."

White House spokesman Marlin Fitzwater declined to comment on the sentence. Asked if he would rule out a pardon by President Bush, Fitzwater said: "I can rule out having any comment on this matter while the case is under appeal."

Greene said Poindexter violated "a principle fundamental to this constitutional republic — that those elected by and responsible to the people shall make important policy decisions."

The judge did not impose any fine, saying Poindexter had already amassed large legal bills. The former national security adviser was allowed to remain free pending appeal of his conviction.

Defense attorney Richard W. Beckler urged Greene to show leniency because of Poindexter's 33 years of service as a Navy officer.

Prosecutor Dan K. Webb "there is nothing about this man's background that would have predicted ... he would have committed five serious felony offenses. Yet, the jury's verdict stands as a monument to that fact."

North drew 1,200 hours of community service and a $150,000 fine, and Robert McFarlane, Poindexter's predecessor as national security adviser, received two years' probation, a $20,000 fine and 200 hours of community service.

Are less people watching TV?

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Network executives are having a cow, dude, but it's not over Fox Broadcasting Co. and Bart Simpson stealing viewers from the Big Three.

If the A.C. Nielsen Co. is correct, about 2 million American households have simply turned off the boob tube.

Nielsen offers no explanation for this drastic and unprecedented decline, leading some network executives to snidely note that perhaps the missing viewers will one day be found with all those socks that vanish in the dryer.

The brass at ABC, CBS and NBC say they just don't believe that millions of people, all of a sudden, have stopped watching television.

Turned to cable, yes. Rented a video, OK. Flipped to "The Simpsons" on upstart Fox, oh, all right. But switched off the set entirely?

"The use of the set has been a very, very predictable behavior," said Alan Wurtzel, ABC's research chief. "All of a sudden, the rug has been pulled out and the behavior has been changed and no one can explain why."

"Nielsen has lost people they can't account for," Wurtzel said. "According to them, they have simply gone away."

To realize why Nielsen's figures have turned TV land on its ear is to understand how the company's rating system is the foundation upon which the television industry is built.

"People meters" installed in 4,000 homes across the country provide the ratings that help decide which shows make it and which get yanked. But more importantly, the Nielsen numbers provide the base for what networks charge advertisers for commercial time.

And these are the Nielsen figures for the first quarter of this year that have caused such a stir:

Seemingly overnight, overall television viewing is down 4 percent (as compared to the same period in 1989).

And in prime-time audiences of women between the ages of 18 and 49 (crucial to advertisers because this group buys most consumer goods), viewership is down nearly 10 percent.

Here is where the controversy begins. The networks say the Nielsen "people meter" system, used nationally since 1987, is fundamentally flawed and has produced incorrect numbers.

As proof of that alleged inaccuracy, the networks point to localized ratings compiled during the May sweeps season, which showed a much lower drop-off than the national people meter survey.

"We think all of these things are related to the people meter," Wurtzel said. "Every time you turn the channel, you've got to punch this button. We're asking people to do something that is far beyond what is reasonable."

Wurtzel and his counterparts at NBC and CBS blame the apparent drop-off in viewers on "fatigue." Nielsen families are just plain pooped when it comes to punching a button every time they switch the dial, the network folks say.

Before 1987, Nielsen's national survey relied on boxes that required no viewer effort. The old system told what was on the tube, but not who was watching it. The people meter is designed to show which family member is viewing.

Nielsen stands behind its numbers, saying it has checked and rechecked the people meters and found them to be accurate.

"There truly was a decline in the first quarter," said Nielsen spokeswoman Jo LaVerde. "It is probably the largest drop we have ever seen. There has been a decline in homes using television, but we have really not stated any conclusions on where they have gone."

And here's where the bottom line comes in: ABC, CBS and NBC say they cannot sell advertising for their fall schedules based on ratings that are incorrect.

NBC alone has said it will lose $200 million this year in advertising revenue, at least half of it directly caused by the drop in Nielsen figures.

ABC added gasoline to the fire two weeks ago by announcing it had come up with its own way of counting viewers for the purpose of selling commercial time.

CBS and NBC followed suit by saying they, too, might revamp advertising formulas.

Poll says... Consumers fear privacy loss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most Americans responding to a poll say they believe consumers have "lost all control" over how businesses handle personal information about their customers.

Consumers want to see the 20-year-old Fair Credit Reporting Act updated to guard against misuse of personal information, Alan F. Westin, the Columbia University professor who conducted the survey for Louis Harris & Associates, said Monday.

The House Banking consumer affairs subcommittee today was considering several proposals to revamp the law, including limits on companies' sharing of consumer credit reports and a requirement that consumers be given free annual copies of their credit rating reports.

Seventy-one percent of those surveyed agreed with the statement, "Consumers have lost all control over how personal information about them is circulated and used by companies," according to the poll.

But consumers are willing to make a "fair information bargain" with the government and industry so they can still have access to conveniences such as direct-mail purchasing and credit cards, Westin said at a news conference.

"Consumers want it all," he said. "They want both privacy and they want the benefits of a consumer society."

Bonnie Guiton, director of the U.S. Office of Consumer Affairs, said Monday, "All too often, consumers are left out of the decision-making process" on how personal information about them will be used.

The survey was commissioned by Equifax, an Atlanta-based company that provides information and technology to businesses including employers, insurers and credit companies.

It found that 79 percent of those questioned were either very concerned or somewhat concerned about threats to their personal privacy, compared with 77 percent in a 1983 Harris survey and 64 percent in a 1978 poll. In 1970, only 34 percent said they were concerned about privacy issues.

A large majority said privacy should be considered a fundamental right, and 30 percent said they had decided against applying for a job, credit or insurance because they didn't want to provide certain kinds of information about themselves, the survey found.

But 78 percent said they would be upset if they couldn't get credit based on their record of paying bills.

Americans trust the government more than private business in properly using information about them, the poll indicated.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Piano Lover" that one of the great joys of my life is that, at 81, I can still sit down at the piano and play "Dizzy Fingers" and dozens of other popular numbers as well as classical.

My parents forced me to take piano lessons when I was 10 years old. I had very little talent and I hated to practice, but I had to whether I liked it or not, so eventually I learned how to play. I didn't realize it at the time, but they did me a tremendous favor when they wouldn't let me quit.

Now that I am retired, playing the piano is my most rewarding hobby. I see many retired folks who are bored to death, with nothing to do but sit in a chair and rock endlessly. I love to walk, but due to a knee injury I got playing four years of college football, I can't walk as much as I'd like to.

Now, piano is my love. What a joy to play Broadway show tunes. I also love Strauss waltzes, Chopin, Debussy, Wagner, as well as those fast, showy novelty numbers.

I agree with you, Abby. Let the boy take piano lessons. It's a wonderful way to learn the basics of music. And by the way, nobody who knew me when I was young would ever take me for a sissy.

B. MORGAN SCHERER,
JOHNSON CITY, TENN.

DEAR MORGAN: Read on for a couple of other male pianists who are anything but feminine:

DEAR ABBY: I had to write in response to "Piano Lover," who wrote to say that her husband wouldn't allow their son to take piano lessons because he was afraid he'd become a sissy.

My son, Steve, now 18, started taking piano lessons when he was 8. He has such a passion for music, along with his God-given talent, and has entertained people for hours with his piano playing. It never once crossed our mind — or his — that a pianist might be considered feminine.

By the way, Steve is also a varsity letter recipient in soccer and track. He lifts weights and is also in the top 5 percent of his class scholastically. He has a steady girlfriend, but other girls call him anyway. Believe me, Abby, this kid is no sissy.

STEVE'S MOM,
SELLERSVILLE, PA.

DEAR ABBY: I'm usually pretty quiet concerning people's opinions, but when they make brash and erroneous statements about guys who take piano lessons, that's something I won't stand for.

I am 16 years old, stand 5 foot 10 and weight 200 pounds. I played first-string linebacker and fullback in football, and I'm a first-degree black belt. I've been taking piano lessons for eight years, which has enabled me to learn how to play nine other instruments, and I'm definitely no sissy.

I'm not saying this to brag on myself; I just want to let that father know that his son can take piano lessons without threatening his masculinity. Sign me...

SOUTHBORO, Mass. (AP) — The Rev. Jesse Jackson says the biggest threat to the younger generation is not bigotry but weakness of character.

He urged his daughter's ninth-grade class to shun drugs and seek out challenges to improve the world.

"What does it matter if you have this opportunity to lead us into the next century and choose some flirtation or infatuation over using these precious moments to improve your mind?" Jackson asked graduating Fay School students Sunday.

"No, the great threat to your generation is not some ancient, archaic law, denying you access and information based upon race or sex or religion, but rather a challenge of character and the will to choose hope if you will over dope."

Oil slick...

Towns ready for the worst

HOUSTON (AP) — Officials of coastal towns in harm's way of the Mega Borg oil slick were combatting the looming threat with prayer, planning and constant Coast Guard communication.

Guard officials downplayed the chance of the oil from the fiery Norwegian supertanker hitting shore, but coastline residents voiced concern Monday that the slick might strike their area.

Approximately 100,000 gallons of light crude oil has spilled from the nearly 886-foot vessel, but officials were worried about the remaining 38 million gallons of oil in the tanker.

"This would really hurt us," said Freeport Mayor Allen Faulk. "It's still 45 to 50 miles out and a lot of things can happen between now and then," he said.

The Brazos River, which runs through Freeport, also could be adversely affected by a slick that would hurt skiing, fishing and camping businesses, he said.

Surfside Beach Mayor Terry White said officials are preparing for the arrival of oil, but hope their efforts will not be needed.

"This is like getting into a boxing ring without knowing who your opponent is. An oil spill is not what we need," he said.

The city of Galveston opened its Emergency Operations Center Monday afternoon to monitor the spill's progress. Spokesman Gary Stone said the city is "preparing for the worst, hoping for the best — kind of like we do during hurricanes."

About 90 city employees are on standby to clean up any oil as soon as it could hit the beach, he said. The city also has 70 pieces of equipment, from dump trucks to back hoes, ready to use, he said.

"If we don't get anything on the beach, we're going to be blessed, and we'd consider it a very good exercise for our emergency operations center," Stone said.

Corpus Christi Mayor Betty Turner said she wasn't particularly worried about the prospect of the slick drifting down to her city but was prepared anyway. She said the Corpus Christi Area Oil Spill Control Association was overseeing the situation and keeping in touch with the Coast Guard.

Things To Check Before Choosing A Roofer:

- Are they asking for money up front? Giving money before the work is completed is the easiest way to get ripped off.
- Do they offer current references?
- Do they offer lien waivers to protect the homeowner from subcontractor's liens? Without a lien waiver the homeowner can still be held responsible for paying for the materials.
- Do they have copies of Workman's Compensation & Liability Insurance? Without these the homeowner becomes responsible for any damage to property or injury to workers.
- Are they really cheap compared to other roofers' proposals? Remember, the lowest price is not always the best deal. You generally get what you pay for. Bargains are generally problems in disguise?
- Always check with your Better Business Bureau for a reliability and performance record.
