Battle on to corral 15-mile-long slick from supertanker

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Oil spilled freely into the Gulf of Mexico without being consumed by flames today after firefighters controlled the engine-room blaze that turned the supertanker Mega Borg into a smoky, listing hulk.

Salvage boats and Coast Guard ships skimmed the water and used floating barriers to try to corral a slick estimated early today at 15 miles long and 600 yards wide, up from 13 miles long on Tuesday, the Coast Guard said.

On Tuesday, firefighters spraying water on the searing deck boarded the ship and declared the fire controlled nearly four days after the first of a series of explosions ripped through the vessel 57 miles southeast of Galveston.

The blasts and fire left the 886-foot ship with one deck awash, and crews had feared it would break up or sink with its cargo of 38 million gallons of crude.

In gaining the upper hand on the blaze, firefighters solved one problem but may have created another.

"What appears to be happening, that since they are getting the fire under control, is it's not burning up as much oil and more oil is getting in the water," said Coast Guard Lt. j.g. Robert Garrott.

However, officials had not determined how much was leaking or whether skimming was keeping pace with the spill, he said.

At least 100,000 gallons of oil spilled since an explosion Saturday crippled the tanker, Coast Guard officials said. Most of that burned or evaporated, Garrott said.

The Norwegian government scheduled a hearing today in Galveston to interview crew members who were aboard when the tanker exploded while transferring cargo to a smaller vessel. Two of the 41 crewmen died, two were missing and presumed dead and 17 were injured, none seriously.

"This will be purely fact finding," Norwegian Consul General Erik Leikvang said.

The cause of the explosion is unknown.

For county, city...

Sales tax rebates up

Scurry County sales tax rebates are up over 13 percent for the year in comparison to 1989, according to the state comptroller's office.

Monthly returns also continue to be up slightly over last year, for both the county and Snyder.

The county has received rebates in the amount of $246,046.02 on its one-cent sales tax so far this fiscal year. That figure amounts to an increase of 13.42 percent over $216,926.60 during the same period in 1989.

This month's checks include taxes collected on April sales and reported in May by businesses filing monthly tax returns.

The county received $34,505.48 this month, a payment up 3.46 percent over $33,351.81 for the same month in 1989.

The City of Snyder received $54,562.69 for the month as compared to $51,379.41 for the same month last year — an increase of 6.20 percent. The city's year-to-date payments have totalled $384,354.31, up 1.64 percent from $378,166.09.

The comptroller's office reported it sent checks totalling $83.3 million for the month in local sales tax rebates to cities and counties.

"We're seeing another month of strong sales tax figures and that's good news for Texas," said Bob Bullock, state comptroller.

Below is a list of area cities and their sales tax rebates.

—Abilene: the monthly payment of $995,518.43 is up 111.53 percent from $470,618.89 a year ago. Year-to-date payments of $6,190,176.61 are up 56.47 percent.

—Andrews: the monthly payment of $45,277.18 is up 15.17 percent from $39,312.53 a year ago. Year-to-date payments of $336,317.92 are up 10.95 percent.

—Big Spring: the monthly payment of $91,798.68 is up 17.31 percent from $78,253.62 a year ago. Year-to-date payments of $725,624.83 are up 4.04 percent.

—Colorado City: the monthly payment of $22,426.02 is down 1.00 (see REBATES, page 8)

Membership drive begins...

Transfer of Dermott School is nearing completion stage

For the first time in three years, Historic Scurry County, Inc. will launch a membership drive this week.

Letters will be mailed out to prospective members, listing membership requirements and providing a brief update on the organization's projects.

Prospective members have three options to choose from: contribution, membership or memorial. All monies generated during the 1990 membership drive will go towards completing the furnishing of Dermott School.

The school was acquired by the Scurry County Historical Commission several years ago and moved to the coliseum grounds next to the Cornelius-Dodson House where renovation work, guided by Earl "Hassie" Sneed and Billy Bob McMullan, has been carried out.

B.J. Bartels, president of Historic Scurry County, Inc., said this week that since the restoration of Dermott School is almost complete that the Historical Commission is now ready to turn Dermott School over to Historic Scurry County, Inc. for its maintenance operation. He said they hope that this will be done in conjunction with the upcoming July Fourth celebration.

A portion of the building will retain the old-time school atmosphere, but the rest of the schoolhouse has been converted into a meeting room, dining area and kitchen which can accommodate (see DERMOTT, page 8)

American Legion post announces new officers

Mel Gilbert has been elected commander of Layne-Kite Post 181 of the American Legion.

Other officers include David Adams, first vice commander; Ray Turner, second vice commander; Bill Mapes, judge advocate; Raymond Keller, adjutant; Dave Haywood, chaplain; Slim Jansa, sergeant at arms; Hugh Harvell, service officer; and Russell Jones, finance officer.

Executive board members are James Eddy Wall, Ray Turner and Valden Buchanan.

The organization approved a resolution commending Toby Martin for his work with the American Legion baseball program. A resolution was also approved in support of a Constitutional Amendment that would prohibit burning of the American flag.

Hugh Harvell was also honored with a resolution for his work with the Boys State program. Members were reminded of the state convention in Austin in July and the national convention in August.

the club's camp for crippled children. Also pictured is club sweetheart Jacy LaRoux who was presented a $300 scholarship from the membership. (SDN Staff Photo)

Gressett retires after 34 years as instructor

After 34 years as a teacher — 22 of them in Snyder — Don Gressett deserves a rest.

"I am going to take it easy for a while and search for something else to do. In this economy, that might be hard to do," grinned the retired sixth grade teacher.

Gressett graduated from Westbrook High and, after graduating from Texas Tech University, enlisted in the Air Force, where he attended officer's candidate school and advanced to the rank of second lieutenant. He taught in Silver, then moved to Snyder to teach. He left teaching and Snyder to work for a major oil corporation in Grand Prairie but a slump in the economy found him back in Snyder and teaching again.

During his teaching career locally, he taught two years at East Elementary, nine at Central and 11 (see GRESSETT, page 8)

The feller on Deep Creek says, "In the good ole days, sin was a sin. Now it's some kind of complex."

There has been criticism in recent years that sports is becoming too much of a business. Now even the fans can make business out of attending a sporting event.

Business executives no longer have to feel guilty about going to the ball park instead of taking care of business obligations.

Season ticket holders of the Houston Astros can now wheel and deal from their seats in the Astrodome. A Houston cellular phone company has made a deal to take messages for fans attending the game.

It will then cart a cellular phone to the fan's seat. If necessary it will also bring along a portable fax machine and a laptop computer.

We figure a guy at the game really doesn't want to be found. Despite a good pitch, we predict a strikeout.

Former State Rep. Renal Rosson told us about a state legislator who was arguing passionately with some of his colleagues about a proposed tax increase a few years ago.

The legislator was adamantly opposed to any tax hikes. "Listen, fellows," he told his audience with an extremely mixed, but still graphic metaphor. "If we don't stop shearing the wool off the sheep that lays the golden eggs, we are going to pump it dry."

Q—Does the probation handed down by the UIL affect all events, and does it keep Snyder High School from competing for any district titles next year?

A—No. Only the one-act play was placed on probation, and it can compete for all honors next spring.

In Brief

Lawsuits filed

BOSTON (AP) — Texas and seven other states have filed suit against Mobil Chemical Co. alleging its Hefty trash bags and grocery sacks don't disintegrate in landfills as the company had claimed.

The suits, which were filed Tuesday, contended Mobil Chemical made false environmental claims for the Hefty bags in advertisements by saying the bags break down when exposed to sun, wind and rain.

Flag rally held

SEATTLE (AP) — Opponents of a ban on flag desecration set American flags on fire, and scuffles broke out at a street rally celebrating the overturning of a federal flag-protection law. Seventeen people were arrested, police said.

Company suspends shipments

HOUSTON (AP) — Royal Dutch Shell Group, the world's biggest oil company, said it will stop docking its crude and fuel oil tankers at all but one U.S. port — off Louisiana — because of what it said were huge liability risks.

"The Exxon Valdez made it clear what happens when you have a spill and the enormous liabilities you can face," said Norm Altstedter, a New York spokesman for the Anglo-Dutch company.

The decision has no relation to the fire on the Mega Borg super-tanker some 57 miles offshore from Galveston, Altstedter said. "It was made solely as a commercial decision," he said.

Under the decision, shipments of crude and fuel oils in tankers owned or operated by the Royal Dutch Shell Group will be limited to the Louisiana Offshore Oil Port.

About 80 percent of the company's U.S. shipments of some 180,000 barrels a day involve such oils, but only 40,000 barrels a day will be affected by the decision, Altstedter said. The rest of the shipments already go to the port about 20 miles offshore Louisiana, he said.

The remainder of the company's U.S. shipments involve light oil products such as kerosene and gasoline and won't be affected by the decision, he said.

The suspension came after a review of the risks and rewards to such trading in the United States, the spokesman said.

"The U.S. has not yet ratified the international conventions, which limit liability," Altstedter said. "And there's no limitation on liability or the magnitude of legalities."

Dr. Gott Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Since finding out two years ago I was HIV positive, I have been unable to achieve an erection. I'm taking Retrovir. My doctor thinks it's psychological. What do you think?

DEAR READER: Your impotence is probably psychological and, perhaps, could be helped by counseling.

The knowledge that one is infected with HIV (human immunodeficiency virus — the presumed cause of AIDS) can be a shattering emotional catastrophe that often affects sexual interest and performance. Psychological intervention and counseling may improve your symptoms.

Retrovir (zidovudine) is marketed as a potent inhibitor of HIV. Although there is considerable controversy about its use, a recent article in the New England Journal of Medicine (April 5, 1990) reported that HIV-infected patients without symptoms of AIDS were helped by this therapy. The drug's primary side effects were nausea, anemia, headache, insomnia and rash; impotence was not reported.

Therefore, I suggest you follow your doctor's advice about therapy and follow-up — and consider obtaining counseling.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Blood — AIDS." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've heard of a new medicine that takes the place of castration in patients with prostate cancer. What is it?

DEAR READER: Prostatic cancer is often worsened by the presence of testosterone (male hormone); therefore, treatment of advanced prostatic malignancies may include castration, removal of the major sources of natural testosterone. For obvious reasons, most men do not welcome this type of surgery.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration recently approved a new drug that reduces testosterone levels in the body. Called Zoladex (goserelin), it is administered monthly by injection and has been shown to decrease tumor size and to alleviate pain when the prostatic cancer has spread to bone. The major side effects are hot flashes, loss of sexual interest and ability, lethargy and fluid retention.

Not a hand for Willy
 In the world of slam bidding, a pair's high-card total is not as important as a good trump-suit fit plus key controls. Thus in today's deal South held a minimum hand, but when a good fit was established and when North's four-heart cue-bid showed a key card in that side-suit, declarer jumped to five spades as an invitation. North accepted.

This was not a hand to be played by Willy Nilly. Willy would ruff the opening lead and play Q-A of spades. Then he would realize that he might have heart losers. So he would play K-A and ruff a heart. East would overruff; later West would take a heart trick and the slam would be set. More astute declarers should realize the likelihood of heart losers, and perhaps the necessity of using more than one trump in dummy. So they would ruff the opening lead, and immediately play K-A and ruff a heart. East would of course overruff, but what next? Whatever East might lead back, declarer would be able to ruff still another heart with the queen of spades, and the slam would make.

In fact, declarer can even succeed by playing the ace of spades before going after hearts, if he is careful to ruff the first heart with the spade queen. He can then return to his hand and ruff one more heart with dummy's remaining small trump. East can overruff, but that will be all for the defense.

WTC cowboy holds 3rd place in rodeo

BOZEMAN, Mont. — Troy Cattoor, All-Around cowboy in the National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association's Southwest Region, rode into third place in bareback riding last night at the College National Finals Rodeo here.

Cattoor and the Western Texas College rodeo team are competing in the CNFR for the tenth straight year.

The WTC wrangler posted a 72 score on his first ride in the opening round of competition.

The first go in the event will end with tonight's performance. Teammate Denny McLanahan is holding on to eleventh position as a bareback rider with his 67 from Monday.

In the bull riding, which saw the end of the first round Tuesday night, Darrin Cook of WTC earned an eighth place 70.

Michael Gaffney's 72, scored Monday, keeps the Western Texas cowboy in fifth place in the event.

In other action featuring WTC contestants, Cattoor was bucked off his first saddle bronc and cowgirl Jackie Parker missed her second calf in breakaway roping.

Lined up for tonight's competition are bull riders McLanahan and Buddy Reed, bareback rider Cattoor and team ropers Russell Merchant of WTC and partner Darrin Chick of Tarleton State University.

McLanahan and Reed were both bucked off their first bulls and need exceptional scores in the second round to reach the finals.

Merchant and Chick maintain a top ten position with their 9.0 time on their first steer.

Contestants at the CNFR get two head in their chosen events with the top ten scores or times moving into the finals Saturday.

AL roundup...

Rangers nudge A's

by The Associated Press
Someday, Dennis Eckersley was bound to walk someone. And some time, he was destined to blow a save.

So maybe it's no coincidence that both things happened at once.

Eckersley's first walk in 52 innings since last August set up Ruben Sierra's two-out, two-run double, capping a four-run rally in the top of the ninth inning that led the Texas Rangers over the Oakland Athletics 6-5 Tuesday.

Eckersley had been perfect in 21 save opportunities when he relieved to start the ninth with a 5-2 lead. But an error helped get Texas going and a walk to Julio Franco set up Sierra's hit on a 3-2 pitch.

Eckersley, who walked only three batters all last season, was upset with blowing the save chance. He was even more bothered by what he perceived as the Rangers' slowdown technique.

"The whole inning was irritating," Eckersley said. "What is this timeout stuff. ... Definitely they were trying to get to me. But what's a guy to do? If you call them on it, it will take another 15 minutes."

In other games, California beat Kansas City 3-0, Seattle stopped Chicago 5-2, Toronto topped Minnesota 5-4, Baltimore beat Milwaukee 4-3 in 10 innings, New York downed Boston 5-4 and Cleveland defeated Detroit 7-3.

An error by shortstop Walt Weiss on Kevin Reimer's one-out grounder started Texas' rally in the ninth. With two outs, Gary Pettis hit an RBI double and scored on a single by Rafael Palmeiro that pulled the Rangers to 5-4.

Pinch runner Cecil Espy stole second, Franco walked and Sierra, after stepping out of the batter's box several times as Eckersley prepared to pitch, doubled off the wall in right field.

"Sierra was one thing, but it was Franco in particular," Eckersley said. "He was ridiculous. Pettis took forever and Bobby Valentine had to make his 12th appearance of the game."

Valentine, the Rangers manager, strolled to second base to talk to two umpires during the comeback.

"We weren't trying to disrupt anybody," Valentine said.

Eckersley (2-1) took the loss and reliever Brad Arnsberg (1-0) was the winner.

Orioles 4, Brewers 3

Cal Ripken played his 1,308th straight game and moved past Everett Scott into second place on the all-time list, behind only Lou Gehrig's 2,130. Ripken went 0-for-4 and is batting .213.

Mickey Tettleton hit a solo home run with two outs in the ninth inning off Milwaukee relief ace Dan Plesac to tie it. Randy Milligan led off the 10th with his 10th homer against Plesac (0-3).

Angels 3, Royals 0

Chuck Finley outdueled Bret Saberhagen for the second time in six days and Dave Winfield doubled and singled twice.

Finley (9-4) scattered seven hits in eight innings, striking out six and walking two. Bryan Harvey got his seventh save.

Saberhagen (5-5) allowed 10 hits in 7 1/3 innings.

Yankees 5, Red Sox 4

Stump Merrill won in his managerial debut at Yankee Stadium as pinch-hitter Steve Balboni singled home the tiebreaking run in the eighth inning and Dave Righetti got his 200th save.

Roberto Kelly led off the eighth with a single for his third hit and stole second. Kelly moved to third on Don Mattingly's one-out fly ball and scored when Balboni singled off Rob Murphy (0-4).

Lee Guetterman (3-2) got the victory.

Mariners 5, White Sox 2

Randy Johnson won his third straight start and Jay Buhner hit his fifth home run of the season, all this month.

Johnson (6-3) gave up two runs on three hits in 6 2/3 innings.

Mike Schooler pitched one inning for his 15th save. Adam Peterson (0-1) was the loser.

Indians 7, Tigers 3

Chris James hit a three-run homer and Sandy Alomar had three hits.

Bud Black (5-3) gave up eight hits in his second complete game and Brian DuBois (3-4) took the loss.

Pistons claim 3-1 lead

Portland drops 112-109 decision at home

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Beating the Trail Blazers three consecutive games in Portland is tough. So is winning two consecutive NBA titles.

The Detroit Pistons can do both with one more victory.

Isiah Thomas made a championship celebration Thursday night a possibility in a building where the Pistons, until this week, hadn't won in 16 years. His 32 points led Detroit to a 112-109 victory Tuesday night.

The Blazers must make history — no team has survived a 3-1 deficit in the Finals — to stop the Pistons from becoming only the third NBA franchise to win consecutive titles.

"We're one win away, but we don't take anything for granted," Detroit's Mark Aguirre said.

"How about this?" Detroit coach Chuck Daly said. "We won two games in this building."

"The home court advantage is great," Portland's Clyde Drexler said. "The fans give you a lift emotionally, but you still have to come out and play well."

If necessary, the Pistons would be home for the sixth and seventh games.

They won Tuesday night despite Drexler's 34 points and Jerome Kersey's career playoff high 33, despite blowing a 16-point third-quarter lead and despite front court foul problems.

They had another strong backcourt performance. After outscoring Portland's guards 75-49 Sunday, Detroit's guards held an 80-51 advantage Tuesday night. Joe Dumars, playing two days after his father's death, had 26 points and Vinnie Johnson 20.

But the Pistons' victory wasn't assured until a 3-point basket from 25 feet by Danny Young, first ruled good, was determined to have been launched after the buzzer. Replays confirmed the reversed call was correct.

"I couldn't tell," said Young, who was scoreless as part of a bench that was outscored 26-8. "I was trying to get as close to the basket as I could."

Detroit, trailing 32-22, held Portland to 14 second-quarter points and led 51-46 at intermission. The lead was 65-60 midway through the third quarter.

Then Thomas went crazy.

Starting with 5:13 left, he scored Detroit's next 16 points in a span of 2:56, making the score 81-65. Twelve of those points came on four 3-point baskets.

Foul trouble limited Thomas to just one minute in the second quarter and he had two points at halftime.

"While I was sitting on the bench watching," he said, "I saw that we had the chance to really go after them and knock some wind out of them."

"So when I got in the third quarter, I just wanted to take it to them and take it to them, and after I made my first few shots I felt like I could make them from anywhere."

But it took the Blazers just 8:57 to wipe out that entire lead.

Their defensive trap flustered Detroit and their aggressiveness in driving to the basket drew fouls or resulted in layups.

Terry Porter's short jumper with 5:20 left climaxed a 28-11 run that put Portland ahead 93-92.

Giants slap Padres

by The Associated Press
Whatever became of the June swoon through which the San Francisco Giants fell to infamy?

Only 12 times in 32 previous seasons have the Giants posted a winning record in the season's third month. This year, it would seem, they can't miss.

At 10-1 this month, the defending National League champions are the hottest team in baseball. That's a dramatic turnaround from a dreadful start which relegated them to last place in the NL West, 14 1/2 games behind Cincinnati as late as May 29.

The Giants moved into third place Tuesday night as Will Clark led a 7-2 victory over San Diego.

After Atlanta's 8-3 and 3-2 victories over Cincinnati, the Giants find themselves only 7 1/2 games out.

Astros 5, Dodgers 4
Franklin Stubbs' two-run homer highlighted a five-run first inning.

Bill Doran went 4-for-4, is 7-for-8 in two nights and has reached base in eight of his last nine trips. Mike Maddux (0-1) lasted one-third of an inning.

Glenn Wilson homered and threw out Kirk Gibson to cut short a Dodger rally.

Braves 3, Reds 2

Greg Olson hit a grand slam and Ron Gant had two doubles, a triple and a homer.

Olson's fifth homer was the big blow in a five-run inning.

Gant had a pair of doubles in the opener and led the way in the nightcap with an RBI triple in the first inning and a solo homer, his 10th, in the third off Jose Rijo (4-2).

Tommy Greene (1-0) got his second major league victory by allowing three hits — including Ken Griffey's solo homer — in five-plus innings in the nightcap.

Mets 19, Cubs 8
Kevin McReynolds hit two homers and Dave Magadan doubled his season RBI total by driving in six runs.

Magadan, who entered the game with six RBIs in 75 at-bats, went 4-for-4 as the teams combined for 37 hits. McReynolds, who had four RBIs, hit his ninth and 10th homers as the Mets took a 10-1 lead with the wind blowing out at 25 mph.

Dwight Gooden (4-5) won his first game since May 21.

Pirates 6, Cardinals 3
Neal Heaton joined the Mets' Frank Viola as the league's only nine-game winners and Bobby Bonilla had two RBI doubles.

Heaton (9-1) gave up seven hits in seven innings.

Todd Zeile had a two-run homer for St. Louis.

Sen. Durenberger says...

Senate denouncement too harsh a penalty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Dave Durenberger, R-Minn., says he doesn't deserve the "harsher than warranted" penalty of being denounced by the Senate for financial dealings that he admits broke ethics rules.

The Senate ethics committee's special counsel, Robert Bennett, recommended Tuesday that sanction for "reprehensible" actions by Durenberger that brought "dishonor and disrepute" on the Senate.

"His conduct was clearly and unequivocally unethical," Bennett told the committee after describing allegations that Durenberger broke Senate rules and federal law through a book promotion deal and transactions involving his Minneapolis condominium.

Durenberger was expected to argue before the panel today, before Bennett's rebuttal statement, that denouncement by the Senate was too strong a sanction.

Durenberger, sitting between his lawyer and an aide, appeared stunned as Bennett made his surprise recommendation on the first day of trial-like hearings.

"Senator Durenberger feels that some sanction is appropriate because he was inattentive and unwise," said his attorney, Jim Hamilton.

But Hamilton said denounce-ment by the Senate was a "Draconian sanction."

Later, in a written statement, Durenberger said he was "deeply sorry" for his action but knew "in my heart" that he violated no rules intentionally.

"While I have admitted mistakes, and even some violations of rules, I feel the sanction of denouncement... is harsher than warranted," the 12-year Senate veteran said.

Only the full Senate can decide to punish one of its members. If the committee and the Senate followed the counsel's recommendation, a resolution would be passed denouncing Durenberger's conduct, but his position as a senator — at least until his next re-election campaign — would not be affected.

A less-severe penalty, such as admonishing or reprimanding Durenberger, would not require Senate approval, Bennett said.

Bennett reminded the panel it could consider stripping Durenberger of his seniority and committee assignments as well as order him to make restitution.

He said the most serious punishment, expulsion, traditionally has been reserved for senators guilty of serious violations of the law.

Hamilton portrayed Durenberger as a victim of mistakes and sloppiness who relied on a "bevy of lawyers" to handle his finances. There were no "venal motives" or a "grand conspiracy" to violate the rules.

Bennett accused Durenberger of making fake promotional appearances in 1985 and 1986 for his two books so he could keep more speaking fees than allowed.

The speeches were "a gimmick" to "magically" turn honoraria earned from appearances before trade groups into book promotions, allowing Durenberger to make $100,000 above his Senate salary, Bennett said.

Durenberger received the money from a Minneapolis publisher, Piranha Press, in return for having trade groups he addressed send their speaking fees to Piranha. Piranha earned $248,360 from the speeches but only $15,560 from sales of the two books.

"This very hungry fish, Piranha Press, was allowed to engage in a feeding frenzy" to make money, Bennett said. Durenberger, he added, "allowed himself and his office to be used as the bait and he got $100,000 for his trouble."

Durenberger's attempts to change ownership of his Minneapolis condominium were part of a convoluted scheme to collect $40,055 in Senate travel reimbursements improperly from 1983 through 1989. He knew he would have been ineligible for the payments if he had owned the residence outright, Bennett said.

Bennett also said Durenberger showed a "pattern of insensitivity" when he accepted free limousine rides in Boston from people interested in legislation. Durenberger used the limousine service to get to regular appointments with a local marriage counselor.

A senator can accept only up to $100 in gifts from those with an interest in legislation, Bennett said. The limousine rides were valued at $4,935.

Stars of Soviet circus want the show to go on anyway

ATLANTA (AP) — They've been kicked out of motels, forced to live on charity and lost their animals.

But members of the Great Circus Bim Bom, who say a U.S. business sabotaged their tour, still want to perform for the Americans who have opened their homes, hearts and checkbooks to the stranded Soviet performers.

"We want to perform for you, but we cannot get our equipment, our animals," said Emil Kio, a magician known for his acts with fire. "That is a pity."

The 115-member circus, named for two famous turn-of-the-century Russian clowns, came to the United States for a two-year tour in March.

The group signed a contract with International Showbusiness Inc., a newly formed company in Clearwater, Fla., with financing from Kuwaiti investors. It brought the troupe to the United States and scheduled performances.

The venture starting losing money because of poor publicity, circus director Yuri Turkin said.

The circus came to Atlanta, where its trucking company is based, to regroup and assess its plight, only to be kicked out of a series of motels for not paying bills. Finally, the tour was canceled May 9 after only 12 performances.

"Lies, lies, lies, that's all they told us," a bitter Leonid Gordon, technical director for Kio's magic act, said of International Showbusiness. "We waited two months for them to do something. They didn't tell us anything until we were in trouble. Now we have nothing."

Thirty performers stuck with ISI and got lodging at a West Virginia ski resort but no work.

Turkin severed ties with ISI and is frantically trying to arrange performances in Kentucky before Friday morning, when the troupe must leave its latest home, Atlanta's Oglethorpe University.

To perform, the circus must pay to free its equipment and animals.

Soviet officials easing blockade on Lithuania

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has agreed to restore some fuel and raw material supplies to Lithuania, easing the embargo imposed two months ago to force the republic to drop its declaration of independence, Tass said today.

"We have no doubts the economic blockade will be lifted," Lithuanian Prime Minister Kazimiera Prunskiene said after a meeting in the Kremlin with Soviet Prime Minister Nikolai Ryzhkov, the Soviet news agency reported.

Prunskiene said she had already reached an agreement with Ryzhkov on a partial increase of the supply of natural gas and raw materials to some enterprises in the republic, Tass said.

She also said the Soviet government intends to review the question of renewing the supply of fuel for Lithuanian agriculture.

Bartels said Historic Scurry County, Inc. has "great plans for the building" but much remains to be done before it can become fully functional. Items needed include a full set of tables and chairs and all necessary kitchen appliances. Also needed are linens, dishes, silverware and utensils.

With the addition of the schoolhouse, the name Scurry County Heritage Village came into being. June McGlaun has been serving as a paid docent-director and activities coordinator. ### Virginia Short

1910-1990
LULING — Graveside services for former Snyder resident Virginia Short, 80, of Dallas will be at 1 p.m. Thursday at Luling Cemetery with Rev. John Berkley, pastor of First United Methodist Church, officiating. Burial will be under the direction of O'Bannon Funeral Home.

Mrs. Short died at 8:30 a.m. Monday at Presbyterian Hospital in Dallas following a lengthy illness.

She was born June 7, 1910, in Poplar Bluff, Mo., and married Rupert Short in 1940. Mrs. Short taught language arts at Travis Junior High from 1958-1971. She was a member of the Methodist Church.

She is survived by her husband, Rupert of the home; three daughters, Gretchen Molmen of Houston, Daphne Jones of Atlanta, Ga., and Deborah Hall of Dallas; and six grandchildren.

The family suggests that in lieu of flowers, memorials be made to a fund established for Mrs. Short's step-grandson who is in intensive care at Methodist Hospital in San Antonio after being critically injured in a recent accident. Memorials can be mailed to Ronald G. Molmen Fund, First Gibraltar Savings, 414 Uvalde, Houston, Tx. 77015.

Tuesday quiet in Snyder

Law enforcement officers in Snyder and Scurry County experienced another quiet 24-hour period beginning at 7 a.m. Tuesday.

At 7:30 a.m., Dale Hamby of 4108 Jacksboro reported the possible theft of a spare tire from his pickup. At 1:26 p.m., Juanita Castillo reported the theft of a bicycle, but it was later returned.

At 10:50 p.m., a woman came to the police department to report she had been assaulted by two women. An offense report for a Class C assault was filed.

Also logged were reports of dogs running at large, an harassing telephone call, an obscene phone call, a fight and three noise disturbances.

Jewelry theft from rural home noted

A theft of jewelry from a rural home was reported to the Scurry County sheriff's department on Tuesday.

Carla Price of Rt. 2, Snyder reported that jewelry valued at $4,400 was taken from her home between 9 and 10 a.m. Monday.

Morals wave washing over Florida residents

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — The crackdown on ribald rappers 2 Live Crew is part of a morals wave breaking across Florida's land of sand, sun and fun.

"It's a rising tide that is becoming increasingly difficult to contain," said Robyn Blumner, executive director of the American Civil Liberties Union in Florida.

Those supporting the crackdown argue that a tide of bawdy activity needed containment. Among the targets of their wrath: cheeky thong swimsuits, X-rated videos, nude bars and TV advertising for phone-sex services.

U.S. District Judge Jose Gonzalez ruled here June 6 that the rap album "As Nasty As They Wanna Be" is obscene. That was followed by the arrest two days later of a record shop owner who sold the album and the arrests in the wee hours Sunday of two 2 Live Crew members for performing songs from the record in concert.

The crackdown has been attributed to politics, the influence of retirees and the increasing muscle of conservative groups. It has taken place mainly in tourist-driven beach areas associated with risqué entertainment.

Gonzalez's ruling, which called the album with its graphic sexual content a violation of community standards in Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties, followed similar rulings by a local judge and grand juries in five counties.

—In a four-county area that includes Daytona Beach, two video store owners were arrested and X-rated videos disappeared from most shops after 100 store owners were warned by State Attorney John Tanner against tapes deemed obscene.

—In Sarasota, where charges earlier were dropped against a 19-year-old clerk accused of selling the 2 Live Crew album to a girl not yet in her teens, thong bikinis — which have only a narrow piece of material covering the buttocks — were banned. The state Cabinet on Tuesday approved a rule that swimsuits at state parks must cover at least half of a woman's breasts and everyone's buttocks.

—In the Fort Lauderdale area, bars featuring nude dancing were banned last year unless they serve only non-alcoholic drinks.

—In Palm Beach County, commissioner Ron Howard is seeking a ban on TV advertising for 900-number "phone sex" operations, in which callers are charged $10 or more to hear a woman talk dirty to them.

Gonzalez called the 2 Live Crew case part of the continuing confrontation between anything goes and enough is enough.

"And anybody who lives in the land of 'Miami Vice' as I do knows that just about anything goes down here," John Thompson, a Coral Gables lawyer who helped lead the fight against 2 Live Crew, said Monday on ABC's "Nightline."

But the days of "anything goes" appear to be going.

"I haven't seen anything like it down here. It reminds me of the McCarthy era. It shows that small minds aren't limited to small towns," said Woody Graber, a Miami Beach publicist who represents the Gold Club, an adult entertainment lounge that had to close because of restrictions such as requiring covering of nipples. It is operating now in compliance with the law.

Ms. Blumner of the ACLU said such conservative organizations as the American Family Association have become well-organized in Florida in recent years. Ann Brittain, a University of Miami anthropology professor, noted that retirees make up nearly a fifth of Florida's 12 million residents.

When they were raising their families, she said, they didn't want their children to watch Elvis Presley's undulating pelvis or listen to the Rolling Stones implore "Let's Spend The Night Together." They may be shocked to hear of 2 Live Crew's raunchy lyrics, she said.

Victims want government to buy their flooded homes

DAYTON LAKE ESTATES, Texas (AP) — Some Trinity County residents want the Federal Emergency Management Agency to buy out their flood-damaged homes, but a federal official says only those who bought flood insurance after suffering similar damages last year would qualify for a federal buyout.

Dayton Lakes Councilman Albert Ewing said Tuesday he is circulating petitions asking FEMA to buy out properties hurt by recent flooding along the lower Trinity river.

FEMA Region 6 Deputy Chief Jim Legrotte said the agency will not buy out owners who didn't buy flood insurance after suffering similar damages during the past year.

The area suffered heavy damage from flooding in May, June and July 1989 and FEMA paid for much of it, he said.

But only six property owners in Dayton Lakes bought flood insurance before the flooding this year, he said.

Dayton Lakes, one of many communities along the river, lists a population of 215 and is the smallest city in Liberty County. Only the six insured homeowners will qualify for a federal buyout, Legrotte said.

"As long as it is insured, we'll pay the claim on it," Legrotte said. "If they get a building permit or redevelopment permit from the local entities, they can go back in and rebuild."

The federal government may buy the six homes, but the state, county or even the city of Dayton Lakes may have to buy the rest, he said.

Ewing, one of the six, said he counts at least 10 people who claim to have bought insurance before this year's floods hit, "unless they lied to me."

Ewing said he plans to go ahead with the petition, partly because Legrotte told him to send it in anyway.

But he admitted he has little hope for uninsured residents. Some who received money from FEMA in 1989 spent it on luxuries instead of buying flood insurance and repairing their homes, Ewing said.

Firm to add safety precautions soon

AUSTWELL, Texas (AP) — A threat of a lawsuit has caused the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers to demand that a Houston-based company add more safety precautions before drilling an exploratory oil well within a quarter-mile of the winter home of the endangered whooping cranes.

A biologist with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service said Tuesday that he wrote corps stating the service's concerns about the proposed project and requested consultation.

The proposed oil well, by RSE Inc., is to be drilled in a marsh contiguous to marshland on the Aransas refuge known as Heron Flats. In recent winters, endangered whooping cranes have used the Heron Flats area for feeding, resting and shelter.

Johnny French, a senior staff biologist with Fish and Wildlife, said that after the corps notified his service

After the corps notified Fish and Wildlife that it did not believe informal consultation was necessary, the National Audubon Society threatened to sue the corps alleging violations of the Endangered Species Act.

Less than two weeks later, the corps decided informal consultation was necessary. By May 29, additional environmental safeguards were included in the proposed RSE permit, as well as a mitigation plan.

"I think it helped tremendously," French said Tuesday about the threatened lawsuit. "The logjam was getting the Fish and Wildlife Service and the corps together to avoid impact to the endangered whooping crane and their habitat."

He said Fish and Wildlife cannot force the corps into informal or formal consultation.

Fern Shepard, attorney with the Sierra Club Legal Defense Fund, representing the Audubon Society, said the society feels that it has been successful and is pleased that the corps consulted Fish and Wildlife.

Texas foundations crack due to weather

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Texans need to realize that they are sitting on top of a "slow moving earthquake" compounded by extreme weather cycles that can crack house foundations, engineers say.

Most Texas homes are built on slabs resting on soil. And the slabs are moving more than they should as extreme wet-dry weather cycles cause the state's clay soils to get soaked and then dry out.

Because the slabs rest on soil, the foundation must either flex with the soil or be strong enough to withstand changes brought on by wet and dry conditions, said Jim Marsh, a Texas A&M construction science engineer.

"Due to the volatile weather we've experienced the last two years, I think the significance (of standard foundations) has finally hit home," says Charles Graham, associate director for housing research at Texas A&M.

"We find a potential for up to 3 inches of vertical movement. Most slab-on-grade foundations are not built to withstand more than 1 inch," said Carrol Claycamp, a Texas A&M architectural engineer. "But the construction industry refuses to face the fact that we're sitting on top of a slow-moving earthquake."

Experts say there are few easy answers to the problem.

"We are dealing with a rather imperfect area of construction science," said Graham. "Ar-

Reruns dominate Top 10 list

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Summer time, and the programming's easy.

Eight of the top 10 shows on television last week were reruns.

A "Roseanne" reread on ABC was No. 1. A carbon of NBC's "Cheers" was No. 2. A replay of "The Cosby Show" on NBC and a reread of "Designing Women" on CBS tied for third, according to figures Tuesday from the A.C. Nielsen Co.

NBC was No. 1, as usual. But CBS, in last place for virtually all of the fall season, continued its spring and summer revival by placing second. ABC was last.

chitects, engineers, soil scientists and contractors all view the problem from a different perspective."

Spending more money on a foundation may not be the answer. "Investing in a quality foundation is no different from purchasing an insurance policy," Marsh said. "The consumer must determine whether it is better to spend money up front or risk being saddled with mounting repair costs."

Graham says a typical home foundation repair costs anywhere from $8,000 to $12,000. The economic impact merits more research into foundation design and construction and soil moisture management, he said.

The only original programming in the top 10 were the comedy "The Seinfeld Chronicles" on NBC, which tied for seventh place, and "The Search for Matthew," a "48 Hours" special on CBS, which ranked 10th.

Fox did not duplicate its precedent-setting finish in the previous week's ratings, when it placed two shows in the top 10. "The Simpsons" dropped to No. 13, and "Married ... With Children" fell to 19th. Both were reruns.

Here are the top 10 shows, their network and rating. Each ratings point represents 921,000 homes.

"Roseanne," ABC, 16.8; "Cheers," NBC, 15.4; "The Cosby Show," NBC and "Designing Women," CBS, both 14.7; "Unsolved Mysteries," NBC, 14.6; "A Different World," NBC, 14.4; "The Seinfeld Chronicles," NBC, 14.2; "60 Minutes," CBS, 14.2; "Coach," ABC, 13.8; and "48 Hours" special, CBS, 13.7.

Overall, NBC had an average rating of 10.8, CBS a 9.8 and ABC a 9.7.

In the network news battle, ABC was way out in front with a 9.5 average. CBS had a 7.7 and NBC 7.4.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: In response to Leonard Portzline's letter urging people to respond to invitations to class reunions, did it ever occur to him that perhaps those who did not respond do not wish to be included?

Now that I am a successful businesswoman, married to a wealthy professional, I am bombarded with invitations from former classmates. When we were in high school, I would have given anything to be included in the "in" group, but I was snubbed. Believe me, it hurt.

The shoe is on the other foot now, and I cheerfully toss all their correspondence into the trash. Sign me ...

IT'S MY TURN IN L.A.

DEAR MY TURN: You belong to a very large club — of which I am a member. I, too, was snubbed by the "in" group in high school — and you're right, it did hurt. But I put my hurt aside and went back for my 50th reunion, and a lot of bitter memories were put to rest. Try it, you'll like it.

DEAR ABBY: This concerns the letter from "Mrs. W.W. in New York" who wanted to be buried in a beautiful nightgown, but her children had misgivings about carrying out her wishes. (They feared it would be too revealing.)

Thank you for reassuring her, Abby. Let me tell you about my wonderful mother: She took me into her bedroom several years before she died, and showed me a beautiful soft pink negligee. She told me that she wanted to be buried in it. (One of my brothers had given it to her as a Mother's Day gift.)

Abby, she died at 89, and was buried in her soft pink negligee with her eyeglasses on and an open Bible in her hands, as if she had fallen asleep reading it. She looked so radiant and peaceful. I am proud to say that we carried out her wishes.

HER DAUGHTER, MARGARET

DEAR MARGARET: Many others wrote to say that sleeping attire seemed to be the most appropriate kind of dress for burial. (When in doubt, ask the mortician.) Thank you for the Bible idea, Margaret. Some readers may want to borrow that suggestion.

DEAR ABBY: This is in regard to the woman whose daughter is going to wear her wedding gown and now wonders whose gown it will be after the wedding.

My wedding gown has been worn 15 times. I wore it first when I was married in Seattle.

After that, it's been to California twice, South Africa once, and in Seattle 11 times. Never has there been any question about who it belongs to. It's mine, and will be mine until the day I die.

MRS. E. NIKSICH JR., SEATTLE

DEAR MRS. NIKSICH: A wedding gown that has been down the aisle 15 times must have set some kind of record. (Readers?)

Everything you'll need to know about planning a wedding can be found in Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." To order, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. Here are key facts about the Mega Borg, the supertanker burning in the Gulf of Mexico:

LENGTH: 885 feet 10 inches.
AGE: 15 years.
REGISTRY: Norwegian.
OPERATOR: Mosvolds Shipping of Farsund, Norway.
OWNERS: Mosvolds owns less than 50 percent; other owners are private investors through the K-S Mega Borg investment group of Farsund. The ship's U.S. agent is Biehl and Co. of Galveston, Texas.

OFFICERS AND CREW: Officers and crew from India and the Philippines. Captain is C.M. Mahidhara.

HULL TYPE: Single hull.
ORIGIN AND DESTINATION: Came from Palanca, Angola; its next port of call, after Galveston, was to be Aruba.

OIL'S OWNER: Elf Trading Inc. of Houston, a subsidiary of the French oil company The Elf Aquitaine Group.

THE ACCIDENT: Began early Saturday while some of ship's cargo was being loaded onto another tanker in the Gulf of Mexico 57 miles southeast of Galveston. Explosion in engine room and fire killed two crewmen, left two missing and injured 17, none seriously; 20 others were rescued. Smaller explosions hit Saturday; five powerful blasts within 20 minutes Sunday sent blazing crude into the water, and the ship was tipping toward its stern. On Tuesday, officials said the fire was under control but still burning beneath the deck.

Work begins for pollution crews once fire is put out

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — An oil cleanup company — with a catchy name and resume to match — has been signed on to help collect and contain oil from the Norwegian supertanker Mega Borg.

The crews work for OOPS — O'Brien's Oil Pollution Services — Inc. of Gretna, La.

OOPS was hired by the Elf Trading Inc., a Houston subsidiary of a French oil and gas company which owns the 38 million gallons of oil aboard the Mega Borg.

"I'm confident that we've got the pieces (of equipment) that we need here now. And I'm confident that we've explored where we can get other pieces, if needed," OOPS president Jim O'Brien said Tuesday.

O'Brien was the technical advisor on the Exxon Valdez spill.

His company has brought in booms, skimmers and water separators from throughout the Gulf Coast, San Francisco, Santa Barbara and Long Beach, Calif.

Other equipment also is expected to arrive within 24 hours from the Northeast.

Coast Guard Capt. Thomas Greene said the fire on the 886-foot ship was brought under control Tuesday evening.
