A Job Well Done

This month, National Guard units from all over the nation will be returning to their home communities following ten months of active duty. We believe they deserve a hearty "well done" from all of us.

They were called, in the words of President Kennedy, "to prevent a war, not to fight a war." The fact that Premier Khrushchev's "deadline" over Berlin came and went without a major incident is testimony not only to our overall military strength but to the effectiveness of these Guardsmen as well. In fact, Chancellor Adenauer has said that, in his opinion, the prime factor influencing the Soviet slowdown on Berlin was the swift, decisive buildup of American forces.

It is difficult to recapture the emotions and tensions of last fall, when the threat of war was a desperate reality. It seems clear, however, that we were confronted with the gravest crisis since Korea.

It is also difficult to put ourselves in the shoes of the 66,000 Army and Air Guardsmen who were suddenly called; all of them experienced some form of personal hardship, and for many of them it was the second or third callup since 1940. Some had to sell their cars and homes or businesses. Some had to leave their families behind. Some had to drop out of school. There are no small sacrifices when you are involved in them.

There were some complaints, to be sure. But they came from a small, vocal minority and in no way reflect on the Guard as a whole. The fact is that the Army National Guard units which were mobilized brought 98.3 percent of their assigned strength on active duty and the Air National Guard 99 percent. In each case, this represented a sharp increase over the Korean mobilization. Thus the vast majority of Guardsmen neither asked to be released nor complained after they were called up.

For ten months these Guardsmen provided essential strength in being for both the Army and Air Force. Now, even if the crisis hasn't entirely disappeared, the active forces have had time to build up to more realistic levels and the immediate need for the Guardsmen is past.

And so they are returning home.

They have served America well and we salute them.

The animal had caused considerable damage, one or two tombstones having been careened, shrubbery trampled, etc. Since the gates to the cemetery are pretty heavily weighted, it appears that someone wilfully permitted the horse to enter the plot to graze. Considerable sentiment has aroused over the incident.

People, Places & Things

By A. PATE

Cooking and camping gear of Haskell Girl Scouts whose Day Camp on Paint and California Creeks was flooded by high water a few weeks ago, has been scattered from Scott's Crossing to Possum Kingdom.

A few camping articles have been found downstream and returned. Mrs. C. A. Smethie and Mrs. Cliff Berry report, and additional gear may show up from time to time, they believe. However, most of the flood toll has been charged off as loss by the Girl Scouts, the leaders report.

"None are complaining, because the Day Camp was so enjoyable and the location and surroundings so perfect, that all who attended feel compensated for any loss of gear caused by the floodwaters," the leaders said.

The rugged country around Scott's Crossing provide some of the most picturesque and scenic spots to be found in this section of West Texas.

The crossing has been used since the first explorers came into this area, and was a favorite gathering spot for Indians to plan their raids into the "settlements" further east, according to early-day historians.

A history of the county, compiled by the late R. E. Sherrill, records that one of the last battles between whites and Indians took place near Paint Creek and Scott's Crossing.

There are many interesting legends connected with the immediate area around Scott's Crossing, giving it a colorful background and ideal setting for the Girl Scouts Day Camp program. And since it is privately owned ranch property, the owners are to be commended for their generosity in permitting use of a small area for the Day Camp.

Years ago Paint and California Creeks and the Clear Fork of the Brazos were a fisherman and hunter's paradise, according to oldtimers of the 80's and 90's.

The streams were full of fish, while the wooded areas along the streams and the adjacent prairies were the range for squirrel, wild hogs, turkey, quail and other wild game.

In the fall of the year, it was not uncommon for a hunter to bring in a wagon load of wild turkeys which were peddled over town.

However, as the country settled, depredations of hunters and fishermen became of concern to ranchers who were compelled to invoke trespassing laws to protect their property, bringing an end to free public hunting and fishing.

People still like movies. Proof of that can be noted in Haskell each Monday evening, when local merchants host a free program of movies at the Texas Theatre.

The turn-out of movie-goers is reminiscent of pre-television days, and each Monday night's show has enjoyed a full house, Manager Chas. Swinson reports.

Charles Didway in The Post Dispatch, discussing errors that get by in newspapers, writes: "I don't suppose any more mistakes are made in the classified ads than anywhere else, but it does seem that a mistake in one of them is more mirth-provoking than one somewhere else. For instance, I saw this one a few weeks ago:

"Lost: Bulldog. Will eat anything fond of children."

Even getting the comma in that one didn't make it read as it was intended to.

All newspapers are prone to such mistakes. For instance, Lockwood Phillips, editor and publisher of the Carter County News-Times of Morehead, N. C., relates a personal experience. I quote from the News-Times:

A man with a sewing machine for sale placed a classified ad in the newspaper. The ad came out the next day as follows:

Monday: "FOR SALE: R. D. Smith has one sewing machine for sale. Phone 958. Call after 7 p. m. and ask for Mrs. Blank who lives with him cheap."

Tuesday: "We regret having erred in R. D. Smith's ad yesterday. It should have read: FOR SALE: R. D. Smith has one sewing machine for sale. Cheap. Phone 958 and ask for Mrs. Blank who lives with him after 7 p. m."

Wednesday: "R. D. Smith has informed us that he has received several annoying telephone calls because of an error we made in his classified advertisement. His ad stands corrected: FOR SALE: R. D. Smith has one sewing machine for sale. Cheap. Phone after 7 p. m. and ask for Mrs. Blank who lives with him."

Thursday: "NOTICE: I. R. D. Smith, have no sewing machine for sale. I smashed it. Don't call 598, the phone has been taken out. I have not been carrying on with Mrs. Blank. Until yesterday, she was my housekeeper."

There are times, as may be seen here, when the well-worn slogan, "It Pays to Advertise" backfires. But it must be admitted, even in these instances, advertising DOES get action—which reminds me of an ad in another paper. It read (as I recall it) like this:

"FOR SALE: The ladies of the First Presbyterian Church have discarded clothing of all kinds. They may be seen in the church basement any day after 6 o'clock."

This one, however, doubtless paid off.

For a few minutes Saturday afternoon, it seemed that Haswell was in store for a re-play of the May 26 tornado from which the town has not yet fully recovered.

Whether Saturday's sneaker involved a "funnel" or "twister" is debatable, but the after effects of the terrific blow left all the earmarks of the real thing.

The storm, building up in a small bank of clouds in the southeast, apparently caught everyone unawares, insofar as any storm threat was concerned.

One of the first casualties of the twisting windstorm was the sheriff department's 75-foot short wave radio tower, which was toppled from its mounting on the roof of the three-story courthouse. The tower fell to the north, breaking in two with the top half left dangling from the top of the building.

Damage from the freakish storm is certain to be fairly extensive, due partly to the severity of the wind-rain-hail-storm, and the fact that many structures damaged last May had only temporary repairs and were not in condition to withstand severe weather.

Chances are that some of those insurance adjusters who only last week wound up their work here in the wake of the

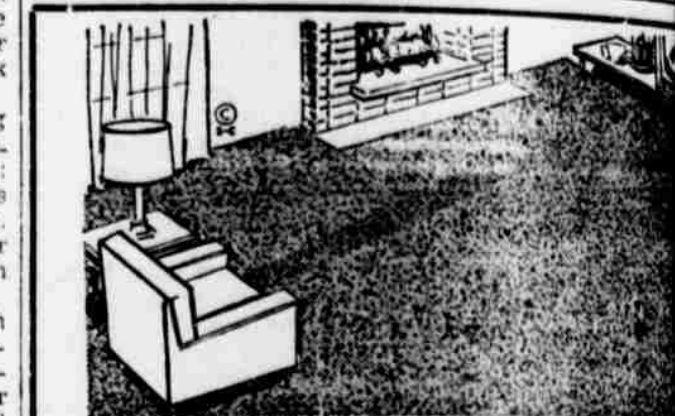

May 26 storm, will be gain to check additional Peculiar feature of was that it came from the southeast, instead of from the west. That probably paid for the fact that few paid any particular attention to the cloud as it thinking it would be a thunderstorm at best. As a result, Haskell watchers will have their methods and eye on approaching from every direction.

A Haskell couple are returning from a vacation trip. The small ed from the long trip turned to his father. "I wish you'd let me—it's more exciting!"

Scientists say many ified plant. That may for some of the blood ots you find along the ways.

If you take your truck for granted

...it's a good one!

A truck that doesn't call for a lot of attention, that just does its job every day, is a great asset. This is the thing most users tell us they like about Chevrolet trucks—their reliability. And this, of course, comes from quality. Sound engines, strong frames, double-wall construction, insulated cabs, separated bodies and cabs, tight tailgates . . . are some of the features that help Chevrolet trucks work longer and bring back more of your investment at trade-in. If you wish you had a truck that cost you less thought and attention, put your money on quality. Make your next buy a dependable Chevrolet truck.

LETTERS . . . To The Editor

TO THE GENERAL PUBLIC

I presume most every one has, by this time, learned of the Ruling of the 11th court of Civil Appeals at Eastland in which it upheld the decision of Judge Sterling Williams of Snyder, Texas, who sat in Judge Ben Charlie Chapman's chair at Haskell, Texas in the trial testing the validity of the North Central Texas Municipal Water Authority.

Mayor J. E. Walling of Haskell has said that the case will be appealed to the Supreme Court at Austin, which likely will be December before we will get a decision from the Supreme Court, as the Court will go into summer vacation the first of August for 60 days.

I am still confident that we will build the lake, and we, as Directors will do everything possible to speed up building the lake. Our Council, which represents and instructs us, is as good as any in Texas.

It is quite different when you are on the inside looking out, and trying to work this out—than it is when one is on the outside looking in, and perhaps criticizing. So we are appealing to the General Public asking you to have patience.

Vahlenkamp and children of Old Glory.

Vickie Teichelman, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Teichelman, spent last week in Abilene with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thorn and attended the swimming classes sponsored by the Red Cross, Abilene Reporter-News and VFW. She was third in her group and has been selected to perform in the Water Show on August 11 at the VFW Swimming Pool.

The time for the Sunday School hour at the Sagerton Methodist Church has been changed back to 9:45 and church services will be at 10:45 from here on, because the attendance seemed to drop off with Sunday School starting at 9:00 a. m. Bro. Holcomb, district superintendent of the Stamford District, and his wife and their daughter, Mrs. Cole, and her two daughters from Tripoli, were guests at the Sagerton Methodist Church for the morning services Sunday and for the fellowship meal served afterwards.

From A Pastor's Study

By DOUGLAS B. FINCH
Pastor, First Presbyterian Church
Haskell, Texas

Many persons who have read the familiar story of the stormy prophet Elijah in I Kings 19 have wondered what it has to say to us today. Following his miracle on Mount Carmel, Elijah went off to Mount Horeb-Sinai to learn that he could not hear the voice of God in the blustering physical forces. He sought God in the roaring wind, in the terrible earthquake, and in the fire. But the Lord was not to be found in the noisy phenomena. It was after the "still, small voice" or, more correctly perhaps, "the sound of gentle stillness" that he was able to hear God, i.e. that the divine purpose became real for Elijah. The blustering physical forces were superseded by the quiet spiritual resources. The stormy Elijah was learning the gentleness of true gianthood. He was learning, as many of us have yet to learn, that we must be still if we are to know God, and to hear His voice.

Too often, I am afraid, God cannot speak to us, even in our churches, because of our flurry of activity, because of so much of our busy-work. For some reason we have, in our nervous age, come to equate "activism" with a church that is "alive" and spiritually strong. This "activism" takes the form of coming together to "do something," and sometimes even God Himself doesn't recognize what it is we are doing, I am sure! We come together at the slightest provocation to "have a meeting," almost as if we have made a sacrament out of body-heat. Too often we look for God to manifest himself through our man-made windstorm of activity, our earth-shaking action (which most often only makes us tired), and the fire of our zeal to be forever busy at doing something. And I am afraid that God must break through the hectic activity of so-called service to His Kingdom, in order that we might hear His voice.

Too often in our church life we substitute our well thought-out programs, souped-up with a little Madison Avenue sales technique, for the proper, reverent seeking of God's will through prayer and meditation. The old cliché (we might as well learn now) that "God helps those who help themselves" is neither Biblical nor is it remotely related to Christianity. The most wonderful thing about the Christianity I know is that God helps those who cannot even help themselves. He helps those who rely upon Him and surrender to His will.

Furthermore, we cannot bring in the Kingdom of God. To the extent the Kingdom of God is not already present for many dedicated people, God will bring in His own kingdom. It is not necessarily true that a Church which chooses to worship God in quiet dignity as becomes a child of God, with the example of Jesus as a pattern, is a church which is cold, complacent, or beset with apathy. It might be true, but it is not necessarily true. Many persons feel that unless a congregation is perpetually whipped to a state of white-hot heat that the Holy Spirit is not in their midst. It seems more true that it is just at such times that the Holy Spirit has the most difficult time visiting through the man-made storms of emotional fervor and feverish activity.

"Be still, and know that I am God."

The proper atmosphere for the Spirit of God in Christ is "the sound of gentle stillness."

'Big Tex' Will Welcome World To State Fair

Big Tex, the gigantic cowboy who symbolizes the biggest State Fair of them all, will "welcome the world to Dallas" in October.

"Exposition of Nations" will be the theme of the 1962 State Fair of Texas October 6 through 21 in Dallas. Now in its 77th year, the Fair is the nation's largest annual exposition in terms of attendance.

The "Exposition of Nations" theme, which will be carried out in exhibits and activities, will emphasize the international flavor and world renown of the State Fair. Foreign exhibits will be featured at the 1962 exposition in the Texas International Trade Fair.

A nightly special event will be the "Torchlight Parade of Nations" around the fairgrounds. The twilight parade will be elaborate with marching bands, beauty queens, gaily decorated circus animals and illuminated floats, including one for each foreign nation exhibiting at the Fair.

The international theme will be carried out in music and pageantry in the Fair's major special events — the Texas Music Festival, Dallas Symphony Spectacular, Circus Night and East Texas on Parade.

For Fair-time the Dallas Museum of Fine Arts has scheduled one of the most important exhibitions in its history. This will be "Arts of Man", a survey of the entire art history of the world.

Decorations at the main gates to State Fair Park and throughout the fairgrounds will mirror the "Exposition of Nations" theme, as will downtown Dallas decorations at Fairtime.

As the oldest of the State Fair's international features, the tenth annual Pan-American Livestock Exposition will be an integral part of the "Exposition of Nations" celebration.

A folder listing highlights of the 1962 State Fair may be obtained by writing Publicity Department, State Fair of Texas, Dallas 26.

PAINT CREEK... COMMUNITY NEWS

BY MRS. GENE OVERTON

Paint Creek had some pretty rugged weather Saturday afternoon. The roof to the Agricultural Shop blew off, and the gas tanks around the school blew over. Sammy Griffith had several barns and sheds to blow away, and there was one small patch of cotton on his place that was ruined by hail. The hail was worse near Haskell along the new farm-to-market road. Mr. Trice had a windmill blow away, and had heavy hail, and several lost their cotton crop. Rain and showers were scattered though, and most of the community had no rain at all.

The Couples class of the Methodist Church left after Sunday school Sunday morning and spent the day at the lake. The Methodist Church has services only on Sunday night, so the Couples class and their families took their basket lunches and spent Sunday afternoon at the lake.

Mike Overton returned home from school at the Texas A&M Adjunct at Junction Friday. He had as guests Sunday, Mike Bonine and Jerl Franklin from Abilene and Joe Breed of Anson.

The Medford family reunion was held on July 4th at Lake Cisco Park. Several Paint Creek families attended. They took their dinner and spent the day visiting and reminiscing with relatives. Those present included Mr. and Mrs. Frank Underwood, Roy Medford and daughters, Leon Medford and family all of Paint Creek; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Medford and grandchildren, Janis and Robin, Johnny Allen Medford and family, Guinn Medford, Leslie Medford, Edmund Medford, Fred Howard and their daughter and family, all of Haskell, Mr. and Mrs. C. Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Cathey and Elizabeth of Grand Prairie spent the weekend with Mrs. Cathey's father, W. A. Montgomery. Mr. Montgomery went home with them for a week's visit. William Overton also went as far as Grand Prairie on his way back to Garland.

William Overton of Garland spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Overton and Mike.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Overton spent the weekend on July 7 to 9 in Alpine visiting their daughter's family, Mr. and Mrs. James Raughton and family. The Raughtons were here last weekend to visit the Overtons and his mother, Mrs. Clarence Raughton. Jean Ann Raughton stayed for a longer night Mrs. Ray Diddle was elected Homemaking teacher and Ray Diddle was elected custodian for the 1962-63 term. Their home is Loft, Texas.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of Sallie Webb wishes to express their deep gratitude and appreciation to the doctors and nurses of the Haskell County Hospital who attended him and to the blood donors who responded so quickly to our call.

Grateful thanks is extended to all those who brought food, for all the beautiful flowers and the many other kindnesses extended at our time of sorrow. A special thanks is offered to the Church of Christ in Stamford for the offer of their church for the funeral services as well as the beautiful floral arrangement. May God bless each of you, Mrs. Gladys Webb and family.

That is why General Telephone maintains many supply centers such as the one pictured.

In these supply centers experienced people must anticipate months in advance what equipment and materials will be required for both expansion and repairs.

It is another way the folks at General Telephone work hard at the job of providing you with the good telephone service you want, when you want it.

With the exception of repair to the church organ, some cleaning up and painting was about all that remained of repair work at press time.

Total cost of repair of the storm damage was around $11,500.

65th Annual Rodeo Opening Today At Seymour

Seymour's 65th annual Rodeo and Reunion opens in that city today for a three-day run which closes Saturday.

Claude Morris, chairman of the 1962 rodeo, said the opening event will be a colorful parade at 4 p. m. today. Seymour High School Band in Western attire will lead the parade, which will include at least 12 riding clubs from area towns, and a number of decorated floats.

A feature of the first night performance will be the crowning of the 1962 Rodeo Queen at the time of the Grand Entry.

A full schedule of rodeo events will be presented each night beginning at 7:45 in the sand arena.

Patrol Checks 9 Rural Accidents Here In June

The Highway Patrol investigated nine rural accidents in Haskell County during the month of June according to Sgt. Frank Jirek, Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These wrecks accounted for two persons injured and an estimated property damage of $3,160.00.

The rural traffic accident summary of Haskell County from January through June of 1962 shows a total of 33 crashes. As a result of these crashes there were no persons killed and 12 persons injured. The estimated property damage amounted to $25,885.00. This compares with the first six months of 1961's total of 21 rural crashes killing one person, injuring 12 persons and causing an estimated property damage of $10,520.00. In a statewide comparison the total number of traffic fatalities are practically the same as they were this time last year.

At the meeting the Tax-Assessor-Collector's annual report, and the County Auditor's reports were approved.

Bob Stephenson Speaker At Baptist Brotherhood Meet

Bob Stephenson brought the inspirational message at the Thursday night meeting of the Baptist Brotherhood.

Centering his message around the scriptures of the birth of Christ, Mr. Stephenson emphasized the need of "peace on earth and good will toward all men," and discussed some of the things the Brotherhood could and should do to bring about a better understanding of our fellowmen.

Prior to the talk by Mr. Stephenson, Mrs. Buck Everitt sang "How Great Thou Art," accompanied at the piano by George Turner.

A barbecue chicken dinner was served to more than 50 persons present for the brotherhood session.

Larry Glyn Quade Attending U of T Speech Workshop

Larry Glyndol Quade of Sagerton is in a group of 33 Texas high school students participating in a University of Texas Speech Workshop through July 21. The group are winners in state, regional and district University Interscholastic League speech contests.

The four-week program, sponsored by the University Speech Department, is concerned with the principles of effective oral communication. Areas of study include debate, extemporaneous speaking, prose reading, poetry interpretation and persuasive speaking, all Interscholastic League speech activities.

Young Quade was one of five students awarded a $150 scholarship to attend the workshop. An equal number of $50 scholarships were given.

Awards were made primarily on the basis of forsenic and academic records.

CARD OF THANKS

We want to express our thanks to each friend and neighbor, that came and brought their tractors and worked on the Shelly farm Monday. We thank Mr. and Mrs. Albert Andress for serving dinner in their home and all the ladies that brought dinner and helped serve it. We want to thank Mr. Jessie Dean for bringing the Butane, and thanks for every thing that any one did. May God bless each of you in our prayer. The A. L. Shelly family.

HIGH AND DRY!

Mounting water needs have outgrown the capacity of many of our water supplies. Each year over 1,000 communities throughout the United States are faced with rationing, in some degree, according to the National Water Institute. These restrictions vary from outright limitations on household use to scheduled time periods for watering the lawn or washing the car. In most cases the situation can be remedied through the mutual co-operation of water officials and alert citizen groups. It requires a complete analysis of present and future needs and a concerted effort to obtain the funds to see that these needs are met.

If your town is left "high and dry" this summer, the situation may be remedied at the cost of only a few cents a day per family. This is a small price to pay to insure an adequate water supply.

PRATTLE---

is going crazy, because most of us in the newspaper game are already "tetched" in the head, or else we would never have made newspaper work our vocation.

In promulgating your esoteric cognitions, or articulating your superficial sentimentality and amicable, philosophical or psychological observations, beware of platitudinous ponderosity. Let your conversational communications demonstrate a clarified conciseness, a compact comprehensibility, rather than coalescent conglomerations of garrulity, and assinine effections. Let your extemporaneous verbal ejaculations... as well as your more copious expatiations... have lucidity, intelligibility, and veracious vivacity without Theopian bombast. Sedulously avoid all polysyllabic profundity, pompous propensity, psittacous vacuity, ventriloquial verbosity, and vain-glorious vapidity. Shun the double entendre, obnoxious jocosity and pestiferous profanity, observable or apparent... in other words, say what you mean and don't use big words.

Why worry? There might be a few things for you to worry about. You are either sick or you are well. Now, if you are well, you don't have anything to worry about. If you are sick, there are two things you might worry a little about: you are either going to get well, or you are going to die. Now, if you are going to get well, there is nothing for you to worry about, but if you are going to die, there are two things you may worry about: you are going to heaven or you are going to hell. Now, if you are going to heaven, there is nothing for you to worry about, and if you go to hell, you will be so busy shaking hands with your friends that you won't have time to worry. So why worry?

Linda Jean Wilburn of Odessa, who was recently awarded the title of Miss West Texas over entrants from Odessa-Midland area will be well dressed when she enters the state finals in Fort Worth, August 1-3... for you see, the young lady purchased two ultra-modern formal dresses recently at Lane-Felkers. Linda is the daughter of Ector County District Attorney C. D. Wilburn and wife.
