

Shelling continues in Kuwait

U.S. intervention is not ruled out

KUWAIT (AP) — Shelling and gunfire today shook portions of Kuwait's capital, indicating a last-ditch attempt by Kuwaiti forces to hold out against the more powerful Iraqi army. World reaction toughened against Iraq's invasion.

The USS Independence, backed by six U.S. warships, headed to the Persian Gulf to back up eight warships already there. President Bush refused to rule out military intervention, calling Iraq's attack Thursday on its much smaller neighbor "naked aggression."

Major nations, including some heavily dependent on Iraqi oil, today followed the superpowers in announcing measures aimed at pressuring Iraq to withdraw from Kuwait.

In other developments: —Some American oilfield workers living in Kuwait were missing after apparently being rounded up by Iraqi soldiers during the invasion.

—Secretary of State James A. Baker III was on his way to Moscow, where he and Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze planned a rare joint statement on the situation.

—Demonstrations in support of the invasion were reported in Iraq.

Iraqi troops backed by 350 tanks and air cover swept into Kuwait before dawn Thursday and penetrated as far as Kuwait's southern oil fields near the border with Saudi Arabia. A well-informed diplomatic source said there had been no movement of Iraqi troops across the Saudi frontier today.

Details of the situation in Kuwait, an oil-rich sheikdom on the Persian Gulf, were hard to come by. Telephone operators in Bahrain said it appeared phone lines were cut this afternoon.

A curfew was in force, all ports were sealed, the airport remained closed and the three main land crossings into Kuwait were impassable, said a British Embassy official, reached by telephone in the morning.

Diplomats said shelling was heard through the night at the country's main military barracks in Shuwaikh, in the northern part of Kuwait city.

City council session outlines agenda for Monday meeting

The Snyder city council Thursday night previewed next Monday's agenda which will include a request from Mason's Wrecker Service.

The 6:30 p.m. agenda also includes three requests for zone changes and two first readings of ordinances.

Four of six city councilmen attended the 90-minute session Thursday evening during which agenda items were discussed, along with background and previous history pertaining to the request from Mason's and two zone change requests.

Ordinance 762 would establish appropriations for the support to the city government for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1, 1990, and ending Sept. 30, 1991.

Ordinance 763 would set the tax rate and levy a tax upon all property subject to taxation within the City of Snyder for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1. The ordinance would also apportion said levy among various funds and items for which the revenue must be raised.

In addition, the ordinance will also assess penalty and interest for the non-payment of taxes.

Council members will also consider going out for bids for the

Snyder will have chance to match AJRA rodeo bids

Chamber Manager Bill Moss told tourism and retirement committee members Thursday that Snyder will have an opportunity to match any bid to host the AJRA National Finals Rodeo for 1991-92.

Snyder is hosting the youth event this year for the 15th consecutive season but some community leaders have expressed concern that the two-year contract is up for renewal and other communities are planning to make bids. Abilene, El Paso and Sweetwater have indicated interest in bidding for the event. Moss told the group that the current agreement with AJRA stipulates that Snyder will be awarded a new contract if the city matches the top bid.

Consideration of the contract will come before the AJRA board during this year's rodeo, which is scheduled Aug. 14-18 in the county coliseum. An exact time and date of the board meeting has not been set.

"We've had tremendous cooperation from everyone," said Moss, who told the committee that the AJRA program this year will be in excess of 100 pages. "It's a tribute to the folks in Snyder."

Chamber officials are hoping for a good turnout of participants for the rodeo. The number of contestants entered impacts the financial situation.

"I'm optimistic," said Moss. "If we get a good amount of contestants, we should do real well."

"People have the perception and rightly so, that this is a major thing for Snyder," said Jack Denman. "I've been proud of the unity people have shown. They want to keep the AJRA here."

In other discussion, Jerry Baird told the committee that Scurry County Senior Citizens Center has some 1,300 members. Baird was praised by committee members for his work in promoting the center.

It was also noted at the meeting that 132 people have voted absentee in the city's half-cent sales tax election. Absentee voting in the Aug. 11 election ends Aug. 7 at City Hall.

Committee members reported positive response from local citizens concerning the proposed tax, the monies of which would be used for economic development.

Jobless rate soars to 5.5%

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate jumped to 5.5 percent in July — the highest jobless rate in two years, the government said today in a report providing mounting evidence of a weak economy.

The Labor Department said July's 0.3 percentage point rise, up from the June jobless rate of 5.2 percent, put the American unemployment rate at its highest level since it hit 5.6 percent in August 1988.

The sharp increase in unemployment was due largely to the economy's loss of 219,000 jobs, the government said. Though about 160,000 of those Americans who lost jobs were temporary census workers laid off by the government, private industry payrolls also lost 45,000 jobs.

Job losses in the private sector were largely due to the continuing deterioration in the nation's construction and manufacturing sectors, the government said.

Many analysts were bracing for even worse unemployment news in the months ahead as the impact of a prolonged period of economic sluggishness begins to force the jobless rate higher.

Today's report provides the first indication of whether the economy fared any better so far in the third quarter than earlier in the year. Analysts were disturbed by government data last week that showed the economy grew at an annual rate of just 1.2 percent from April through June.

The unemployment rate is derived from a household survey by the Labor Department, while job growth numbers are figured from a separate survey of business establishments. The job growth survey is often considered a more reliable indicator of economic activity.

Construction payrolls fell by 50,000 jobs, after seasonal adjustment.

Q—If child care will be offered at the Hobbs School as articles have stated, how much will it cost students to keep their children there?

A—There is no charge. Cooperative officials stress that the school is designed to give young citizens a second chance at a high school education. This includes those that presently cannot return to school because they have no funds for child care facilities.

In Brief

Barry trial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mayor Marion Barry says he is suffering pain and shame after a six-week trial in which his defense admitted he used cocaine occasionally and the government accused him of having "lived above the law."

The jury of two whites and 10 blacks was instructed Thursday not to consider "politics or race" as the panel began deliberating the mayor's fate on 14 criminal charges.

The nine-woman, three-man jury's first decision was selecting a foreman, Edward Eagles, one of the two whites.

Restore order

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad (AP) — The government struggled to restore order and prepared to search the Parliament building for bombs following the surrender of Moslem radicals who held government officials hostage.

Security forces on Thursday fired warning shots at looters still plaguing the capital. A state of emergency imposed during the six-day hostage standoff that ended Wednesday remained in effect.

Government spokesman Gregory Shaw said a regional security force of 300 led by a Jamaican colonel was to arrive today "to guard installations, thereby freeing local forces to patrol." He did not specify which countries were involved.

Barge spill

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Texas Gov. Bill Clements has sparked a public outcry by downplaying the impact of a 500,000-gallon oil spill that prompted a ban on all fishing in the seafood-rich Galveston Bay and interrupted traffic in the Houston Ship Channel.

Clements, who flew over the stricken area Thursday, called the effects of the spill "greatly exaggerated," saying that much of the oil apparently evaporated before reaching sensitive marshlands.

Parker to become coordinator of expanding program at WTC

By SHIRLEY A. GORMAN
SDN News Editor

After 14 years as a principal within the Snyder Independent School District, Gerri Parker has resigned to become the coordinator for the Adult Basic Education Program at Western Texas College. In addition, she will also oversee the English as a Second Language program.

The Adult Basic Education Program helps people who never completed high school to earn their GED (General Equivalency Degree). In past years, WTC only offered Adult Education classes in the evening, but Mike Thornton, dean of continuing education, said the college is in the process of expanding its program to include day classes.

Since WTC's Adult Education Program is included in the Sweetwater region, Thornton explained that approval has to be granted by Sweetwater personnel before the expansion can be implemented.

However, he said they have received initial approval and all that remains is for the college and Sweetwater officials to get together for a planning meeting, something he hopes will take place next week.

GERRI PARKER

Both day and evening Adult Education classes are slated to begin in September. Minimum age requirement is 17 and there is no maximum age. Classes are free and students will work at their own speed until they feel they are ready to take the GED test.

Each person will start at his or her own level and progress at whatever speed they wish. Instructors will be available to help and career counseling will also be provided for people who earn their GEDs.

The English as a Second Language Program will have a bi-lingual instructor and again, people can progress at their own rate of speed.

All classes will meet on the second floor of the Learning Resource Center.

"For the first time, last year, the House placed limits on the free mailing privileges incumbents use to bombard voters with news of their good works.

"But the House isn't required by law to abide by them; it can just pass a supplemental appropriation months later to cover any overspending.

The city council has also been asked to address several issues raised by Daniel G. Howell, who owns Mason's Wrecker Service, in a letter written to City Manager John Gayle dated July 27. These include:

—whether all local wrecking services should be required to have the necessary equipment to haul both cars and trucks;

—whether Snyder police officers should have to drive lawbreakers' vehicles rather than call a towing service;

—what would the city's liability be if one of these vehicles is involved in an accident and the officer is at fault;

—what will happen if the city has to use an out-of-town service if local wrecking services are not on call 24 hours a day;

—and, all such units must have proper permits from the state of Texas.

The first zoning change request on next week's agenda is from Wanda Houston seeking to operate a one-station beauty shop at her residence located at 2205 B 21st Street.

Gayle told council members that the Planning and Zoning Commission had unanimously approved this request at its July 30 meeting.

Miracle claim keeps drawing crowd

NEW YORK (AP) — At a park that was twice the World's Fair grounds, amid softball games and bicycles, under the vapor trails of thundering airliners, hundreds convene each week to seek the Virgin Mary.

They are certain she is here, in Flushing Meadows Park. They have assembled for 20 years — since June 18, 1970, when Veronica Lueken, a housewife and mother of five, first said she saw Mary at a church in Bayside, Queens.

The Roman Catholic Church is not convinced. But believers insist they are witnesses to a continuing miracle.

"It increases our faith," said

Kathy Anderson, a Long Island mother of four who attends with her husband, a computer consultant. "We truly believe that Jesus and the blessed mother are here. This is the most important Marian shrine of our day."

Linda Bonas, 30, a Brooklyn teacher, looked around at the 500 or so worshippers reciting the rosary on a recent Sunday and said: "If everything was happy and was doing well around the world, you wouldn't have too many people here. Most of them realize there's something missing."

Mrs. Lueken claims the apparitions tell her that unless we mend our sinning ways, the world will be destroyed by comets, earthquakes, World War III and other disasters.

But she rarely attends services. She has had heart and gallbladder surgery and suffers from high blood pressure, back pain and ringing in the ears. Her followers call her a "victim soul," one who suffers in exchange for blessings.

Word of her first vision at St. Robert Bellarmine Roman Catholic Church spread quickly. In 1975, she was barred from holding vigils there — the crowds were too big.

Police offered to let them meet at Flushing Meadows, where the Vatican pavilion stood during the 1964-65 World's Fair. Pope Paul VI had blessed the site, marked by a stone wall on a grassy field.

Mrs. Lueken says the visions moved there from the church.

Worshippers bring a statue of the Madonna each week and adorn it with roses. The flowers, believed blessed by the Virgin during services, are then given to the crowd.

Frank DeRosa, spokesman for the Roman Catholic Diocese of Brooklyn, which oversees Queens, said "no credibility can be given to the claims of apparitions at the site of the vigils. The diocese does not believe that anything of an incredible or miraculous nature is happening there. We discourage people from coming to attend the vigils."

Actor becomes father

NEW YORK (AP) — What's Jack Nicholson done for kicks lately?

"Had my baby," he says with a grin.

Playing Daddy is "not my most flamboyant role, but I've always liked it," the Oscar-winning actor told USA Weekend magazine in an interview for its latest edition.

Nicholson's daughter, Lorraine, was born four months ago to Rebecca Broussard, 27, a waitress he met in Aspen, Colo. Mother and child live in a carriage house on the grounds of an estate Nicholson owns, and he says he sees them every day.

Nicholson's latest film, "The Two Jakes," was directed by the actor who also stars as wisecracking Los Angeles private eye Jake Gittes.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 32-year-old girlfriend has a problem, but she refuses to discuss it. Each evening, she has three beers with her dinner, and afterward she has two 3-ounce drinks of vodka mixed with diet pop. Her hair breaks off at about six inches, she wakes up with spots on her face and alcohol on her breath. I say she is consuming too much alcohol, and it will affect her health. She disagrees.

DEAR READER: Of course she disagrees. She may not relish giving up her best friend: booze. It's not my place (or yours) to decide if your girlfriend is an alcoholic; only she can decide that when she's ready. However, if it looks like a duck, walks like a duck and quacks like a duck... At the very least, she has a problem with alcohol. Six ounces of vodka plus three beers a day is, by any criterion, excessive drinking.

I suspect she knows she has a problem, even though she won't discuss it. One of the alcoholic's most treasured character faults is denial. It sounds to me as though your girlfriend is heavily involved in denial. Of course, this attitude makes it impossible for you to help her. Rather than changing her behavior, your observations about her drinking will more likely lead to arguments and acrimony.

Get some help for yourself. Join Al-Anon, a support group for people whose loved ones are heavy drinkers. You'll find a lot of sympathy, support and wisdom in Al-Anon meetings. With time and knowledge, you may be better able to approach your girlfriend's alcohol problem. And once she sees that you are no longer interested in playing the role of rescuer and enabler, she, too, may decide to get help from a counselor or Alcoholics Anonymous.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Help II — Mental/Substance Abuse." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Why don't dental offices afford more privacy? It's embarrassing to sit in public with your mouth open and full of cotton. I find I am going to my dentist less and less because of this.

DEAR READER: Your question confuses me because, in my experience, privacy is paramount in dental offices. I do not believe that most dentists require their patients to sit in open rooms, in full public view, while in the midst of procedures. Ask your dentist about this; perhaps he or she is short on space and would be willing to modify the practice to accommodate your discomfort. If not, find another dentist who will.

Scope's work to continue

AUSTIN (AP) — Scientific work with the Hubble space telescope should begin soon despite problems the $1.5 billion device has encountered in focusing on distant objects, Texas scientists say.

"Most scientists won't know the difference," said University of Texas Chancellor Hans Mark, a nuclear physicist and former deputy director of NASA.

"That doesn't mean I don't feel bad about NASA screwing up. But my guess is that 20 years from now, we'll look back on it as an amusing incident. And we'll have made discoveries to much more than pay for the investment," said Mark, who helped run the space agency from 1981 to 1984.

Texas scientists are scheduled to be among the first to peer into the universe when the telescope's scheduled scientific work begins later this year.

William Jefferys, a University of Texas astronomer, is one of nine Texas scientists who worked on the telescope. He said their plan is on schedule to use it to search for a Jupiter-sized planet around Proxima Centauri, the star closest to our sun.

Jefferys said the scientists never planned to use the telescope's imaging abilities for the search but rather an instrument called the fine guidance sensor. The sensor will measure Proxima Centauri's light for wobbles, indications that it is tugged at slightly by the mass of a companion body.

If there is no wobble, the scientists have 12 more candidate stars on their list.

Robert O'Dell, an astrophysicist at Rice University, was the scientific boss of the telescope project during several crucial years in its 15-year development. He said the science work may begin later this month.

Neither O'Dell nor any of the UT scientists who worked on the project in advisory capacities had anything to do with the faulty grinding of the 94-inch primary mirror that is believed to have caused the telescope's inability to focus on distant objects.

NASA "took the word of the contractor," Mark said, referring to Perkin-Elmer, the Connecticut firm which made the mirrors for NASA.

Fortunately for the telescope project, the orbiting observatory was created with future changes of its scientific instruments in mind, he said.

"The spacecraft is designed so instruments can be slipped in and out like video cassettes in a VCR. So the people who designed the thing should be given credit for that piece of forethought," Mark said.

 South bid three diamonds because he felt that three hearts was not enough and that four hearts was overly emphatic. North, despite holding long and strong spades, did not want to suppress such fine diamond support and hence bid four diamonds. South now had a chance to show decent spade support, but he bid four hearts. Four spades, five clubs and six clubs were all cue-bids. When South settled into six hearts (which would not make), North bid the grand slam in the wrong suit.

There is a story behind West's double. This deal was the final one in a championship team-of-four match, and West knew his side was behind. He hoped for a pickup with his double and was trading on his heart length to be troublesome to declarer. He also wanted declarer to play him for any missing honors in the trump suit. That worked. Declarer won the ace of clubs, played ace of diamonds, king of diamonds and then the 10 of diamonds, intending to play West for J-x-x-x. But West showed out, and the contract was one away.

Perhaps South should have played better poker. West would hardly double seven diamonds when that might tip off declarer to play him for the guarded jack. Declarer should therefore succeed by playing East for the jack of diamonds, and for my money that's the right play.

Mexican police detain photographer

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — An El Paso photographer and two members of a California news crew say they were "roughed up" when Mexican journalists saw them searching for stolen cars outside.

The journalists also said they were beaten by Mexican federal police, who denied the accusations.

El Paso Herald-Post photographer Rick Kelley, television photographer David Gerberding and field producer Vince Sturla were detained by Mexican police when the fracas broke out Thursday.

Kelley and Gerberding were released about 3 p.m. CDT, a few hours after being detained. Sturla remained in custody until about 8 p.m. He was questioned by immigration officials because he did not have press credentials, police said.

Terry Scott-Bertling, Herald-Post managing editor, said the newspaper's parent company, Scripps Howard, plans to file a complaint with the U.S. State Department in Washington. The newspaper is also talking to attorneys about possible legal action.

Kelley had accompanied the film crew from KCRA-TV in Sacramento to Ciudad Juarez, Mexico, across the border from El Paso, said Ray Chavez, Herald-Post city editor. The Sacramento journalists were doing a story on border auto thefts for a program called "The West."

El Paso police have accused Mexican authorities of driving stolen cars.

Gerberding said the trio of American journalists was searching for stolen cars near the headquarters of the Federal Judicial police, which is in a house in a suburban neighborhood of Juarez.

"We were looking in windows and so forth ... Rick opened one car door as far as I know," said Gerberding.

Kelley, who speaks a little Spanish, said he received permission to open the car's door from a woman leaning against it.

Gerberding said several Mexican journalists who commonly gather outside the federal police's offices became angry when Gerberding took pictures of them.

Gerberding said he stopped taking photos and continued checking for stolen cars.

"We worked our way back ... toward our car ... just as we were about to get in, about three or four cars with 15, 20 people jumped out. Some of them we recognized as 'federales' we had talked to two days before and some of them we recognized as so-called journalists," Gerberding said.

Kelley said his hands were tied behind his back and he was punched in the face by one of the Mexican journalists.

Gerberding said police also beat Kelley.

"They were really manhandling him quite seriously. I saw them punch him in the head, throwing his face down against the tables, he was just trying to hang on to his cameras," Gerberding said.

Federal Judicial Police Commander Carlos Salas said officers took the journalists into custody to protect them from Mexican journalists. He denied that any federal officers beat the Americans.

"It was a problem between journalists ... They (the American journalists) were opening their car doors and taking their photos. The police intervened (when the fight broke out) and took them into custody to protect them," Salas said.

He said no charges were being filed against the journalists.

Ms. Scott-Bertling said the newspaper's reporters will continue to cross the border.

"We won't be intimidated by it. We won't stay on this side of the border because they've roughed up one of our photographers," she said.

Kelley was not seriously injured.

Kelley's film, including a roll which had shots of the California journalists being beaten, was confiscated by the Mexican federal police, he said.

But Kelley said he was able to retrieve another roll of film, which had been placed in a desk drawer.

The Queensboro Bridge, which links the New York City boroughs of Manhattan and Queens, was opened in 1909.

Williams' ranch hand killed by lightning

FORT DAVIS, Texas (AP) — A worker on a West Texas ranch owned by Republican gubernatorial candidate Clayton Williams was killed by lightning, authorities said.

Teodoro Chavez was struck about 3:45 p.m. CDT Thursday during a thunderstorm, said Jeff Davis County Sheriff Harvey Adams.

Chavez and another ranch hand had been riding on all-terrain vehicles in a pasture, spraying mesquite brush with herbicide when the lightning struck, Adams said.

The ranch where Chavez was killed is between the communities of Alpine and Fort Davis, which is in the Davis Mountains of Far West Texas. The other worker, whose name was not immediately known, was about 100 yards from Chavez when the lightning struck. He was not harmed, Adams said.

Jeff Davis County Justice of the Peace George Vickers pronounced Chavez dead at the scene, and the body was taken to Geeslin Funeral Home in Alpine. A woman answering the phone there said late Thursday they had not determined Chavez' age or next of kin.

Gordon Hensley, a campaign spokesman for Williams in Austin, said Williams was home in Midland Thursday night and had been informed of the death.

"I do know that he is aware of this and he's sad and upset," Hensley said.

Williams is running against Democrat Ann Richards for the office that Gov. Bill Clements is retiring from.

Oilers claim 26-13 win in scrimmage

AUSTIN (AP) — Former University of Houston backup quarterback David Dacus' 13-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Bernard Ford broke a 13-13 tie and the Houston Oilers went on to defeat the Dallas Cowboys 26-13.

The scrimmage game was played before a sellout crowd of 15,147 at Burger Center, a local high school field. Scalpers were getting $100 for a $16 ticket.

Ford, a member of the Cowboys last season before signing a Plan B free agent contract with the Oilers, made a diving grab in the end zone to break a tie.

Brian Lowe added a 38-yard field goal to pad Houston's lead to 23-13.

"Overall, we're where we want to be as a team," said Oilers coach Jack Pardee. "Even though Dallas made some big plays, we didn't give up a lot of touchdowns. Our goal wasn't to score 10 touchdowns. We wanted to get some long drives going and we did that."

The Cowboys effectively shut down Houston's run-and-shoot offense until Dacus entered the game on the Oilers' fourth set of 15-play series.

Dallas made a number of early mistakes against the Houston offense last Saturday, yielding two early touchdowns before the Cowboys rallied for a 24-24 tie in a scrimmage at San Antonio.

"We did a better job against the run-and-shoot than the last time," Dallas coach Jimmy Johnson said. "We've got work to do but I'm happy with what I saw. Some pass interference penalties hurt us but I was happy to see the aggressive play in the secondary."

Houston pulled into a 13-13 tie when running back Allen Pinkett turned a short pass from rookie quarterback Reggie Slack into a 16-yard touchdown. Slack hit wide receiver Tony Jones with a 54-yard bomb on the previous play.

The Cowboys got a 32-yard field goal from Luis Zendejas on the final play of their third 15-play possession to move their lead to 13-7.

Dallas surged to a 10-7 advantage on its second series when backup quarterback Steve Walsh connected on an 11-yard touchdown strike to Derrick Shepard. Running back Lorenzo Hampton turned a short Walsh pass into a 47-yard pickup in the biggest gain of the possession.

The Cowboys' first unit jumped to a 3-0 lead in their possession on a 29-yard field goal by rookie Ken Willis. First-string quarterback Troy Aikman's 28-yard completion to Dennis McKinnon was the big play in the 12-play possession.

Houston came back to grab a 7-3 advantage on its first possession with Mike Rozier's three-yard run. First-unit quarterback Warren Moon went five-for-five during the drive and the Oilers were also assisted by three Cowboy penalties leading to three first downs.

Hall to greet new members

Former Cowboy coach Tom Landry is among inductees

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — It will be difficult for Buck Buchanan to top this year's birthday gift to his mother.

Fannie Buchanan turns 73 Sunday. On Saturday, her little boy — the 50-year-old, 6-foot-7, 274-pound Buck — will be inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

"We're still counting, but I think there will be about 100 people there with me, members of my family and friends," Buchanan said. "My mom and dad will be there, my two sisters, a brother, my kids, some business associates, a lot of friends from Kansas City and elsewhere ..."

Buchanan, who starred for 13 years for the Kansas City Chiefs, said their presence will provide pressure when he makes his acceptance speech.

Buchanan will be inducted on the front steps of the Hall of Fame along with Pittsburgh Steelers running back Franco Harris and linebacker Jack Lambert, Miami Dolphins quarterback Bob Griese, San Francisco 49ers offensive tackle Bob St. Clair, Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry and Ted Hendricks, a linebacker with the Baltimore Colts, Green Bay Packers and Oakland and Los Angeles Raiders.

The Cleveland Browns meet the Chicago Bears in the annual Hall of Fame exhibition game Saturday at 1 p.m.

Buchanan, a graduate of Grambling, said he was seldom overcome by butterflies during his career, but has had to calm himself in the days approaching his induction.

"I've been getting pretty anxious," said Buchanan, who runs a Kansas City-area construction company and a promotional firm.

Buchanan will be presented at the enshrinement by Hank Stram, head coach of the Chiefs during most of his career from 1963 to 1975.

Griese will be presented by Don Shula, his coach with the Dolphins. Los Angeles Raiders president and general partner Al Davis will be making his eighth appearance at an induction ceremony when he presents Hendricks.

Harris will be presented by Steelers teammate Lynn Swann, introducing Lambert will be his position coach with the Steelers and at Kent State, Dennis Fitzgerald, and St. Clair will be presented by Dave Beronico, a columnist and illustrator with the Vacaville (Calif.) Reporter.

Ironically, Landry will be introduced by former Cowboy quarterback Staubach. Landry was the presenter for Staubach when Staubach was inducted in 1985.

Athletic directors mull SWC's future

DALLAS (AP) — A possible alliance or merger with the Big Eight Conference will be among the items to be discussed when athletic directors from the Southwest Conference meet here today to discuss options following Arkansas' departure.

SWC Commissioner Fred Jacoby called the meeting in conjunction with the conference's Kickoff Luncheon to be held today.

Arkansas ended its 76-year membership with the SWC Wednesday, effective July 1, 1991. Officials at Arkansas said the SEC provided more revenue, fans and national exposure than the SWC.

Soccer league sets sign-ups

Snyder Soccer Association has scheduled its final day for fall season registration Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Bargain Time in Varsity Square Shopping Center.

Sign-ups will be held for boys and girls teams.

All players must bring a parent to register and first time players must furnish SSA with a birth certificate and a social security number.

Registration costs $20 for the first player in a family to sign up with each additional player in the same family costing $18.

Soccer players in under 8 to under 12 categories moving into a new age division will have tryouts Monday, Aug. 6 at 5 p.m. at the group's soccer field adjacent to Snyder Junior High School.

Jacoby said no action will be taken, but said the informal meeting will give officials a chance to discuss important issues concerning the SWC's direction now that Texas and Texas A&M might be considering a move to the SEC.

"I just want us to make improvements in our conference," Houston Athletic Director Rudy Davalos said. "If it's through an alliance, through a merger or adding teams, whatever. I just want us to move forward, to use this exit by Arkansas to get things going."

"Coaches say we've got to be on TV, we've got to be seen. That's become so important that you've got to position yourself to be with people that make it attractive," Davalos said. "I have very high hopes. We have the kinds of people running the athletic departments that we can get some things done."

The SWC is not likely to take action before the league's presidents meet in September, when the consulting firm that has been hired to analyze the conference releases its report, Jacoby said.

But the league is continuing discussions with the Big Eight about possible alliances and television deals.

"We've got a president's meeting in September to finalize the direction," Jacoby said. "I think by September, if everything is moving, we'll know more. But we've got to have the presidents and faculty reps involved."

Aggressive action would help change the conference's image, Davalos said.

"For the last two or three years, there have been some subtle hints that everything was not hunky-dory in our league," Davalos said. "I really think we were kind of to blame for not foreseeing the problems, that maybe we could have been a little more alert to things that were a

Winners will be determined using a total points system.

A Mexican food buffet will start associated festivities Friday night and a dinner and Las Vegas night capping the event Saturday evening.

Program is expanding

Anyone wishing to know more about the program may call the Continuing Education Department at 573-8511, ext. 240, to get on a mailing or telephone list.
Mrs. Parker had completed her third year as the principal at West Elementary when she resigned. Prior to that, she had been the principal at Northeast for 11 years.
Before moving to Snyder, she was a diagnostician for the Sweetwater Independent School District, special education supervisor, fourth and sixth grade teacher, and she also worked with the early childhood program and high school special education and learning disability students.

Mrs. Parker has degrees from Abilene Christian University and Hardin-Simmons University. She has also completed some studies at Sul Ross University.
She said she was always interested in the education field, but chose to get married and raise a family first. She began her college career at age 29 after her husband died.
"I was always interested in education and I never really considered anything else," she said. "I wanted to get to work as soon as I could."
Becoming an administrator was another step for her to take within the education field, and after "lots and lots of thought" she said she decided it was time to move on to another area of the education field.
She said she found school administrative work to be both "interesting and challenging."
Mrs. Parker also intends to pursue her hobbies such as history which will include serving as a docent for the Cornelius-Dodson House, making jewelry and collecting antiques.
She has two children. A son, Jerry Parker, is a local policeman. He and his wife, Karen, have two children, Stacey and Lacey.
A daughter, Margaret Parker, has recently moved from Austin to Tyler, where she is the supervisor for the Department of Public Safety (DPS) Intoxilizer Program. She supervises a 10-county area.

Top drug-smuggling ring hurt by DEA seizure

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Officials say one of the top drug-smuggling rings in South Texas suffered a severe setback with the seizure of more than $1 million worth of cash, gold, houses and other property from the organization's alleged kingpin.

Jose Leon Gonzalez's organization is believed to have brought up to a ton of cocaine and hundreds of pounds of marijuana per month into the United States from Mexico, officials said Thursday.

The Cameron County District Attorney's office on Wednesday seized from Gonzalez $575,000 in cash and $125,000 in gold jewelry, watches and coins.

The cash and gold were found in the safes of two Brownsville houses also seized from Gonzalez.

District Attorney Luis Saenz said the property was seized under a law allowing for forfeiture of the proceeds of drug trafficking.

"I think this will put a big dent in the man's operation," Saenz said.

He said the operation "has got to rank as one of the top three" smuggling organizations in South Texas.

Gonzalez, 27, has been jailed in Matamoros, Mexico, since last September on Mexican drug and weapons charges.

He doesn't face any charges in the United States.

Armando Ramirez, Brownsville resident agent-in-charge of the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration, said U.S. authorities believe Gonzalez has continued to operate a drug trafficking business with a cellular telephone from his Matamoros jail cell.

Matamoros is just across the Rio Grande from Brownsville.

Photos seized from Gonzalez's homes show him in a wood-paneled cell equipped with a cellular phone, television and video-cassette recorder.

At his Brownsville houses, authorities also seized seven vehicles, three pistols, a shotgun, and several cellular telephones.

Although the houses had an estimated total value of less than $200,000, Saenz said both were lien-free and that one was purchased recently with cash.

"That's what they're in the business for, the cars, the luxury, the houses, the money," Ramirez said. "You take that away, they're really hurting."

Ramirez said the seizure of assets would make it difficult to operate the alleged drug ring, which he said had suspected links with the Medellin cocaine cartel.

"Obviously by what you see here, this was not a plain Joe," Saenz said Thursday, pointing to a table at the Brownsville DEA office, where piles of Gonzalez's cash, gold and other property were put on display for reporters.

TU Electric says...

Unusual events are not out of line

GLEN ROSE, Texas (AP) — Nuclear Regulatory Commission. "We're basically consistent with the industry average, especially since we're going through the initial start-up stages," said Jim Kelley, site manager of Comanche Peak.

Since March, there have been three "unusual events" declared by plant operators. They were the lowest classification of emergency.

Workers trapped in the plant were not threatened, TU Electric officials said Thursday.

TU Electric spokesman Dave Fiorelli has said there were 212 unusual events reported at U.S. nuclear power plants in 1988, most during start-up and early operations.

The utility received permission to begin low-level operations in February. Unusual events were declared March 12, July 26 and July 30.

Kelley said Comanche Peak engineers are considering new safety measures for the plant.

After the July 26 incident, Comanche Peak operators and planners spent two days reviewing emergency operating procedures, Kelley said. From that review Comanche Peak officials learned that some operators were confused about their duties during the emergency.

Kelley said steps will be taken to clarify emergency procedures. Officials will also consider lengthening training periods at each station.

Human error was blamed for the July 26 incident. The July 30 incident was blamed on an equipment malfunction. The reactors were inactive when the latest two incidents occurred.

Mysterious illness strikes 3 adults

TEMPLE, Texas (AP) — Palestine Syndrome, a mysterious illness found mainly in children, has been diagnosed in three adults, according to the Temple physician who discovered the illness.

Physicians have reported 149 reported cases of Palestine Syndrome. Of those, 54 have been confirmed and 25 of them have been recommended for aggressive blood sample studies by the state health department and the federal Centers for Disease Control.

Dr. Jeffrey W. Jundt, a Scott and White Memorial Hospital physician and discoverer of the illness, said Thursday that while experts are trying to crack the illness, they still know little of its origins and are uncertain of how, or if, it can be prevented or cured.

Jundt, of Temple, named the malady after the town where it was first encountered last March.

The syndrome has not been fatal, but includes such symptoms as a sore throat, itching, a welt-like rash, debilitating arthritis and inflammation in children ages 3 to 13.

Astro-Graph

By Bernice Bede Osol

Your Birthday

August 4, 1990

There is a possibility you might have more opportunities in the year ahead than you have had for quite some time. It would be a shame if you don't capitalize on each and every one.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Be sure to look gift horses in the mouth today, because what might initially appear to be a good opportunity could, in actuality, be anything but. Don't be taken in. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Usually you're not the type of person who likes to showboat, but today there's a possibility you might attempt to upstage your companions in order to redirect the attention to yourself.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you do not quickly capitalize on favorable developments today, they could deteriorate rather rapidly. Don't let your opportunities go by the boards.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though it might be hard for you to own up to your mistakes today, it's best to do so instead of making excuses. Rationalizing impairs your image.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If you borrow something today that the lender values treat it with extra care. You might be inclined at this time to be careless with the possessions of others.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Being too indecisive is bad enough if it only affects you, but if you lack the ability to make a decision and stick to it today, it'll affect others and compound the problem.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) If you are too impatient or impulsive today, it might impel you to do something rash where you create problems for yourself that could easily be avoided.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) There is a big difference between trusting others or merely being too gullible for your own good. Today it might not be too hard for some sharpie to sell you a piece of the Brooklyn Bridge.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It could be a grievous error today to depend too heavily on chance or luck to carry you through important involvements. These are not allies upon whom you can rely.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Don't get caught in a one-upmanship game today where boasting is concerned. Your adversary might be able to get away with some gross exaggerations, but you won't.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you're indifferent or careless in the management of your commercial affairs today, your miscalculations could be rather serious. Move cautiously to avoid mistakes.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Steer clear of people you know from personal experience are inclined to take you for granted. These individuals will be even more difficult to please today.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON TAX INCREASE

The Scurry County Junior College District will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax role in 1989 by 8 percent. Your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on August 13, 1990, at 5:45 p.m. in the Administration Building on the campus of Western Texas College.

FOR the proposal: Robert H. Hargrove, Jr., John A. Fagin, R. C. Patton, Carl Williams.

AGAINST the proposal: None.

ABSENT: Howard G. Sterling, John W. Gayle, William H. Wilson, Jr.

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the effective tax rate that the unit published on July 30, 1990. The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	Last Year	This Year
Average home value	30,128	28,844
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions).
Average taxable value	30,128	28,844
Tax rate	.1964	.1887
Tax	59.17	54.43

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would decrease by $4.74 or 8 percent compared with last year's taxes.

Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would decrease by $.0077 per $100 of taxable value or 3.9 percent decrease compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

CORRECTED NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON TAX INCREASE

The Snyder Independent School District will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in 1989 by 7.9 percent. Your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on August 7, 1990, at 7:00 p.m. at the School Administration Building, 2901 37th Street.

FOR the proposal: Ann Walton, Glen Clarady, LouAnn Bureson, Terry Martin, Mike Jordan.

AGAINST the proposal: None.

PRESENT and not voting: None.

ABSENT: Sam Robertson, Billy Bob McMullan.

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the effective tax rate that the unit published on July 25, 1990. The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower,

	Last Year	This Year
Average home value	30,977	29,541
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	5,000	5,000
Average taxable value	25,977	24,541
Tax rate	.104	.97
Tax	270.16	238.05

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would decrease by $32.00 or 11.8 percent compared with last year's taxes.

Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would decrease by $.07 per $100 of taxable value or 6.7 percent compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for your recent article about grief in which you recommended the group called Compassionate Friends.

I found the group that meets here in Fresno the second Monday of each month, and it really helped to talk to others who have lost loved ones. I had never heard of them.

I lost my 17-year-old grandson in a tragic gun accident, and I am having a hard time coping with it. I also lost my mother, mother-in-law and several friends last year. The meetings have helped me to come to terms with those losses. God bless you for your help.

MRS. T. IN FRESNO

DEAR MRS. T.: My heart goes out to you and to all who have experienced the death of a child (of any age), which is one of the most tragic losses one can experience. For those who have never heard of "Compassionate Friends," it is a national self-help support group for people who have lost children from any age and any cause. They meet and find comfort in consoling each other. It doesn't matter how long ago—if you are still grieving, it will comfort you.

Compassionate Friends has no religious affiliation; people of all faiths (or none) may join. Contributions are voluntary.

To locate a group in your area, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to the national office: Compassionate Friends, P.O. Box 3696, Oak Brook, Ill. 60522-3696. If you can, please enclose a dollar to cover the cost of mailing.

DEAR ABBY: Recently, I was invited, rather unexpectedly, to a wedding shower for a young neighbor. I purchased a very nice gift and went to the shower.

When I got there, I discovered that the wedding was only two weeks away and that I was not invited to it—only to the shower. Among the many friends of the bride who were there, I met one other lady who looked a little uneasy, and after we had chatted a while, I learned that she had not been invited to the wedding, either. While everyone else was gaily discussing nuptial plans, she and I tried to be as cordial and polite as we could, but we both felt uncomfortable, to say the least. Please comment.

ZIP CODE 60558

DEAR ZIP CODE 60558: According to Emily Post, with whom I wholeheartedly agree:

"No one should be invited to a bridal shower who is not also invited to the wedding. It is extremely presumptuous to ask someone to a shower—meaning she must bring a gift—if she is not close enough to the bride or groom or their families to be included on the wedding list."

The bottom line: People should not invite strangers to showers. But if perchance they do, the strangers should not accept.

DEAR ABBY: Many times you have received letters from new brides who are pestered by family and friends who ask, "When are you going to start a family?"

All the women in our family give the same answer: "When we want one." After getting the same reply repeatedly, people stop asking. Also, it calls for no discussion, and it can be delivered straight to a busybody or with a smile to one's favorite aunt. In any case, it is 100 percent effective and leaves no hard feelings.

E.F. IN ORANGE, CALIF.

DEAR E.F.: Congratulations. You have just performed a helpful service that I'm sure will be appreciated by the many brides who are too polite to say, "It's none of your business."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THE OLD PHILOSOPHER": "Keeping score of old scores and scars, getting even and one-upping, always makes you less than you are."

MALCOLM FORBES

Everything you'll need to know about planning a wedding can be found in Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." To order, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. Invasion gives domestic producers boost WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. oil industry may get a zest-restoring jolt because of higher prices after Iraq's takeover of Kuwait, officials say.

But domestic producers aren't ready to meet the demand if Iraq cuts shipments from the Persian Gulf.

Those twin extremes unsettle producers, consumers and lawmakers alike.

Many industry representatives on Thursday said the invasion underscores the need for a long-term, national energy policy.

Some said U.S. leaders have ignored warning signs, such as statistics about oil import reliance, too long.

"They just gamble on the fact that the world is awash with oil for awhile," said Joe Lastelic, spokesman for the American Petroleum Institute.

Houston oilman George Mitchell said the United States needs to develop policies that encourage greater use of domestic oil.

"We've allowed our energy capabilities to deteriorate to the point that our economy can be seriously hurt by the power-seeking actions of a Middle Eastern warlord," Mitchell said, referring to Iraqi President Saddam Hussein.

"It's high time for our leaders in Washington to quit pussyfooting around."

Low prices and restrictions on more drilling places have beset the U.S. oil industry for more than five years, officials say. The industry's infrastructure — equipment, suppliers and trained personnel — is weak, they say.

The number of domestic oil producers has declined from 13,000 in 1985 to about 4,500. The number of working oil rigs in the United States has fallen from 4,500 in 1981 to about 1,000, according to the Independent Petroleum Association of America.

The Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association estimates it would take 18 months to 3 years to reverse the slide, said Julian Martin, the group's executive vice president.

Despite the higher prices, Iraq's takeover of Kuwait won't revive the domestic industry, Martin said from Austin.

For that to happen, he said, TIPRO's studies suggest oil prices must be sustained at $25 per barrel, natural gas must sustain at $2 per thousand cubic foot and tax incentives will have to be created to encourage new production.

"I don't think a war is going to do it," Harry Spannaus, executive vice president of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association, said from Midland.

"We need some stability in pricing. We're not looking for $30 oil. We're looking for the mid-range 20's with stability."

Rep. Charles Wilson, a Lufkin Democrat who has visited the Middle East several times, said Hussein will keep oil prices up.

"Everybody wants to sell oil," he said. Only Iran has the resources to oppose Iraq's oil price-setting power, Wilson said,

"and they're hawks when it comes to prices too."

"All of the OPEC countries — at least all of those in the Middle East — will be intimidated by Iraq," said Sen. Bennett Johnston, D-La., chairman of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee. "Iraq will be able such prices as it wants."

"We're going to get to pay a lot more money," Wilson said.

Iraq and Kuwait combined supply about 5 percent of the nation's imported oil, about 713,000 barrels per day.

If that supply were cut off, domestic producers couldn't replace it immediately, Martin said.

"We've got to turn that decline around and then if you're going to add 700,000 barrels a day on top of that, that's going to take a long time to achieve," he said.

The invasion came two weeks after the American Petroleum Institute announced that the United States, from January to June, relied on imports for half its oil, the most ever.

Now AmWest can give you something few banks can...

A good night's sleep.

Now AmWest has "DreamSaver"—a savings program designed to bring peace of mind to all those who worry about saving money.

Here's how it works: You tell AmWest how much you want to save every month, (as little as $25 if you like) and they'll deduct it automatically from a free checking account (that's right, free checking) and put it into a CD account. Keep your money there for a full 12 months and it will earn a high-interest CD rate. Take it out early, and you'll get a penalty — three months interest or $50.

So "DreamSaver" not only helps you save money on a regular monthly basis — it helps you keep your hands off it too. And with a little money in savings — a good night's sleep will come a whole lot easier.

Put Your Money on Texas.

Substantial penalty for early withdrawal. Interest paid quarterly. Rates subject to change without notice.

Hance: short term oil prices go up

AUSTIN (AP) — Short-term oil prices will rise in the wake of the Iraqi invasion of Kuwait, but if the conflict continues oil could hit $30 a barrel within a month, the chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission says.

"We could see $30 a barrel oil by the end of August. I don't think that will happen. But we have to wait and see what the intentions are of Iraq," said Kent Hance, whose agency regulates the Texas oil industry.

Hance said Thursday that he expects Texas oil prices to rise over the next few days before settling in the low $20s range between now and the end of the year.

Hance met with the oil ministers of both Kuwait and Iraq during last week's OPEC meetings in Geneva. He said the invasion came as a surprise because Kuwait had promised to abide by oil production quotas.

"I thought that Iraq would start some kind of skirmish if Kuwait continued to cheat on their quota. But they didn't get them enough time to cheat," he said.

The invasion followed two weeks of tension between Kuwait and Iraq, caused by Iraqi accusations that Kuwait stole oil from a disputed border area. Iraq also accused Kuwait of exceeding OPEC production quotas and driving down the price of oil.

The Iraqi conquest of Kuwait catapulted Iraq into the top ranks of world oil powers, industry analysts said.

By grabbing Kuwait, Iraqi President Saddam Hussein added about 94 billion barrels of oil reserves to his country's own 100 billion barrels. That makes Iraq second only to Saudi Arabia in world ranking for oil reserves, according to the American Petroleum Institute, an industry trade group.

Hance said the key now will be what course Hussein decides to follow.
