Bullriders excite fans at AJRA finals rodeo

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

Bull riders excited the crowd during Thursday's performance of the 38th AJRA National Finals Rodeo, being held at Scurry County Coliseum.

Snyder's Ross Hataway, leading the chase for a world championship in the boys 13-15-year-old junior bull riding, scored a 66 to jump into the lead in the event. Second place is currently held by last night's runner-up, Blu Bryant of Nacogdoches, who rode to a 63.

Among the 16-19 year-old boys, Gilbert Carrillo of El Paso, reigning AJRA bull riding champion, took a reride from Wednesday's show and turned it into a 73-point effort. Brother Adam Carrillo, Texas state high school bull title holder, scored a 73 on Tuesday to set the brothers atop the standings after one go.

The action continues tonight as Miss AJRA 1990-91 will be crowned during ceremonies. Ruidoso, N.M., cowgirl Cheyann Lambert will relinquish her title to one of six hopefuls including, Lorissa Edmondson of McCaulley, Olney's Gretchen Hilton, Valley Springs' Kippi Kuykendall, Crissi McCormick of Eldorado, Alison McFadden of Crane and Ft. Hancock's Jamie Bean.

The Friday and Saturday edition of the rodeo gets underway at 8 p.m. each night. Admission is $4 for adults, $2 for children 12 and under and $6 for box seats.

Saturday's show will be televised via tape delay on Snyder Cablevision channel 5, Abilene's KTAB channel 32; channel 14, (see AJRA, page 8)

AJRA board grants delay on site bids

The future site of the AJRA National Finals Rodeo is pending, awaiting bids from four Texas cities.

Bids were expected to be presented during a Thursday afternoon meeting of AJRA board members, but Snyder Chamber of Commerce Manager Bill Moss said today that bidding communities Odessa, El Paso, Abilene and Sweetwater requested and were granted additional time.

Snyder's two-year contract with AJRA ends Aug. 31. The contract stipulates that Snyder will be given an opportunity to match any bid from another city.

Snyder has hosted the AJRA National Finals Rodeo for the past 15 years.

"Right now we're just waiting on out-of-town bids to come in. It should be in the next few days but I doubt a decision will be made before the rodeo is over," said Moss.

In special meeting... County adopts tax rate

Scurry County commissioners court, meeting in special session Thursday afternoon, formally adopted a .3337 cent tax rate to finance the 1991 budget.

The public hearing, required by law because the tax rate exceeds the effective tax rate by three percent, was attended by 17 people, but only two in the audience had questions for the court which on Monday had approved a $13.8 million budget.

The tax rate unanimously approved is 7.99 percent above the effective tax rate but less than the .3475 rate for the current fiscal year.

Scurry County Judge Bobby Goodwin described 1991 as a "zero-based budget" which took months of preparation by county staffers. He made special mention of the efforts of County Auditor Linda Franklin and her staff.

Melinda Drum, a resident of Precinct 4, said, "I don't understand how you can keep on spending. You're taxing us to death. There has to be a quitting point sometimes."

Goodwin said the court had trimmed expenses, but a high level of services continue to be demanded by Scurry County citizens.

Republican candidate for county judge, Bob Doolittle, questioned several budget line items.

Bond denied

District Judge Gene Dulany denied bond for 17-year-old Manuel Medrano Jr. Thursday afternoon.

Medrano is charged with a series of crimes last Sunday morning, including the theft of a pickup which was rammed through the fence at Key Brothers Lawn and Leisure. He is charged with the burglary of that business, theft of a motorcycle, evading arrest and misdemeanor theft.

(see BOND, page 8)

Asked if the county's contract for services with Western Texas College had doubled, Doolittle was told that there were no increases, but only a consolidation of expenses into one line item. The county participates in the senior citizens center, county museum and veteran service office.

The GOP candidate also asked about $5,000 in the county judge's budget for 911. Goodwin said the funds are to be used for such things as mapping and organizational startup. Goodwin said the county was first told the amount would be $30,000, but cooperative efforts of volunteers will see substantially less spent on 911 preparation.

Doolittle suggested that future county budgets show more documentation for capital purchase items.

The county's share of the $13.8 million budget is $5.7 million with the balance belonging to Cogdell Hospital. Tax funds for the hospital have been reduced from $488,000 in the current year to $225,000 in 1991.

(see TAX RATE, page 8)

Study grant application in works for Hermleigh

Scurry County commissioners unanimously authorized County Judge Bobby Goodwin to sign a resolution to apply for a study grant concerning Hermleigh's water works Thursday.

The study would cost $10,000 with $4,500 coming from the Texas Community Development Program and $5,500 from the Hermleigh water works.

Goodwin said the study will apply to the water works as well as deteriorating housing.

Kay Howard, consultant from Gary R. Traylor and Associates of Lubbock, presented Thursday's hearing to commissioners and about 35 concerned citizens. The meeting and study are preliminary actions necessary to apply and receive a planning grant.

The county had initially planned on making application for a $250,000 grant to upgrade the aging water works in Hermleigh. Meetings on the subject revealed more study is needed to determine improvement needs.

City permits reflect $52,000 in valuation

Snyder city building permits for the month of July reflected $52,800 in building valuation.

The city made 85 inspections and issued 11 permits classified as construction.

They included a mobile home at 3206 Ave. J, owned by Howard Smith; an addition at 3100 Ave. T, owned by Charley Stone; an addition at 2600 El Paso, owned by Dale Sands; a carport at 1503 Ave. E, owned by J.D. Row; a storage addition at 1108 Ave. R, owned by Juan Avila; an addition at 901 23rd St., owned by Loyd Isbell; an addition at 2608 34th St., owned by C.W. Howell; and a mobile home at 2311 26th St. owned by Jimmy Fletcher.

Those permits, amounting to $165.34, reflected $51,300 in construction. Also, permits of $20 were issued for two signs representing $1,500.

Total permit fees for the month were $709.80, including 14 electrical and 33 plumbing permits.

The almost $60,000 in construction brings the city's total building valuation this year to $641,042, compared to $1,671,908 last year. The building inspector's office has performed 833 inspections for the current fiscal year, compared to 1,069 last year.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The guy who said talking is cheap never said, 'I do.'"

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

Weddings have been big and numerous this summer. James Roberts, in the Andrews County News, told about the gal that had gone to the altar four times.

The first time, she married a multi-millionaire and lived the good life with furs, diamonds, and vacations to exotic lands. She became a devout member of the jet set.

That husband died and after a short time, she married a movie star. And the couple enjoyed the spotlight of show business in Hollywood. It was glamorous and exciting—until that hubby died.

The third time around, she married a preacher and became a devout Christian. She was an excellent soul-mate to her spouse in his ministry. But he also died after three years of the good life.

"The fourth time around, she married a mortician and proved an excellent helpmate to her spouse. But this time, she died first. On her tombstone, the mortician had these words inscribed: "One for the money, two for the show, three to get ready, and four to go!"

Lynn Brisendine, in the Brownfield News, says he has learned a valuable lesson this hot summer.

"Never buy anything with a handle on it. It means work."

Larry Crabtree, in the Vernon Daily Record, said one North Texas couple has concluded that they were too lenient in rearing their children.

"We realized we were too liberal when they stopped asking us where they came from and started telling us where to go."

Retarded man gets mower replaced

AUSTIN (AP) — Austin residents opened their hearts and pocketbooks to help a 37-year-old mentally retarded man whose life was shattered when a thief stole the lawn mower that had allowed him to make a living and remain independent.

All Danny Riddle really wanted was for his best lawn mower to be returned. He didn't get it but he got so much that he is overwhelmed.

So far, Riddle, 37, has received two new mowers and at least one more is on the way. A radio station even arranged for a new storage shed to protect against future thefts. Still others offered cash.

"I think it's great, you know," Riddle said. "Everybody is going to crank up their engines. They're coming out and helping people."

Most of the donors say they were impressed at Riddle's effort to make the most out of his life.

Although he once lived at a state school for the mentally retarded, he is now on his own, trying to live an independent life with money from his lawn work.

Riddle's mother makes payments on his home where he lives alone.

Mildred Riddle of Midland said the theft of the mower not only threatened to hurt his ability to help support himself, but also had shattered his faith in his fellow humans.

The outpouring of generosity has shed new light on the world for her son, Mrs. Riddle said.

"It's just unbelievable," she said. "My heart has just been so full. He had been so upset to think somebody would do this, and now he knows there's an awful lot of good people. Danny was just bouncing off the walls."

After reading of Riddle's problem in the Austin American-Statesman, John Cartier took Riddle to a store and bought him a slightly used $199 mower that the store discounted to $99.

Cartier said Riddle's can-do attitude impressed him, too.

"He's not looking for hand-outs," Cartier said.

"Danny is a businessman. He's a winner and as an individual he's an inspiration," he said. "The guy is a productive citizen of this community."

News director Cathy Conley of KEYI-FM said the station received about 100 calls from people wanting to donate mowers Thursday morning after the station mentioned Riddle's plight.

The station accepted the donation of Kathleen Bentley, who offered one of her company's "used but like new" mowers.

The radio station then arranged for Affordable Portables to donate a portable building where Riddle can store his lawn equipment.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm a 49-year-old female with rheumatoid arthritis. I take Darvocet and two Extra-Strength Tylenol a day. My problem is that I am unable to maintain a comfortable temperature. I wake up as often as 10 times a night because I am too hot. Once the covers are off, I am too cold. Could this be a normal symptom of menopause, the arthritis, or something else?

DEAR READER: Your difficulty with temperature control is more likely due to menopause than to rheumatoid arthritis or the medicine you are taking.

During the change of life, as the estrogen level falls in a woman's body, she may show periodic signs of vascular instability: flushing, sweating, rapid pulse, hot flashes and moodiness. These symptoms are often prevented by using hormone supplements in pills or patches.

On the other hand, rheumatoid arthritis, a common inflammatory joint affliction, is not associated with vascular symptoms. It causes stiff, swollen, painful joints — sometimes with fever — but not problems with temperature control.

Also, Darvocet (a prescription analgesic) and Tylenol do not cause temperature fluctuation. In addition, other diseases — such as hidden infections — usually cause consistent fever, rather than the pattern you describe.

Ask your doctor about this. Or see a gynecologist for further advice and treatment. To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Menopause." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: After taking Questran for six months, my recent dental checkup revealed seven cavities. This was quite a shock to me. I then changed to Questran Light. Have you heard of this problem before with people on Questran?

DEAR READER: Questran, a powdered drug used to lower blood cholesterol, contains sucrose. This sugar adds flavor — and calories — to the medicine when it is mixed with water (or juice). The sucrose can also cause dental cavities.

Questran Light has reduced sucrose; therefore, it is an appropriate substitute for people who should avoid extra calories. Although I would hesitate to blame standard Questran for your dental problems (because other substances in your diet contribute to cavities, as well), I agree that a change to Questran Light is appropriate under the circumstances. Also, you should check with your dentist for advice about your diet and tooth care.

GuyRex wants to start own competition

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — The Texas beauty queen moguls who are challenging Miss Universe Inc. pageants in California with their own pageant now are aiming to create a national competition.

Richard Guy said 59 women competed Saturday in the GuyRex California Girl pageant, which was televised throughout California. Guy and partner Rex Holt, owners of El Paso-based GuyRex Associates, created their own competition after Miss Universe Inc. didn't renew their 4-year-old Miss California USA franchise agreement.

Cheryl Derry, 22, became the second California GuyRex Girl, a title that brought her an appearance contract, a mink coat, a Chevrolet Geo and a supply of cosmetics.

Inmate quarry says hunt was no big deal

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — An inmate pursued by dogs as the quarry on a top state prison official's "Ultimate Hunt" says he's puzzled by all the hoopla over disclosure of the chase.

"Really, it's insignificant," Alvin Hughes, 47, says of his role as the bait in what he calls a dog training exercise that occurred last year with Jerry Hodge, the vice chairman of the Texas prison board, and two of Hodge's hunting buddies.

"The only thing I was concerned about was doing my job. I can't understand what is the big deal here.

"I feel he was just doing his job. He wanted to see what was going on with this dog business. I don't really feel like he did anything wrong, but who am I to say."

Hodge has been under fire since disclosure of the incident earlier this week.

Sources have said Gov. Bill Clements planned to name Hodge chairman of the Texas Board of Criminal Justice on Tuesday, but delayed the announcement after the revelations. Clements, however, denied Hodge had been selected to succeed Charles Terrell, who is stepping down Sept. 1.

Hodge, 47, a former Amarillo mayor, acknowledged taking friends along on the dog-training exercise in which inmates were tracked down. He said he later sent his companions jackets bearing the inscription "Ultimate Hunt."

Hodge has defended his attending the exercise and said the inmates all were volunteers and never were endangered. But while denying any impropriety, Hodge has acknowledged the jackets were a mistake.

Texas prison inmates long have been used as quarry for dog exercises, and officials have defended it as an effective tool in teaching the animals to hunt down prison escapees.

"I know that most people outside of this job don't ever know what we're doing," Hughes, of Dallas, said Thursday in an interview at the Ellis I Unit northeast of Huntsville, where he is serving a life sentence for burglary, his fifth prison term and second life sentence.

Cramps and Fever Were Early Clues to Rare Bowel Disease

By Abigail Van Buren
 © 1990 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Two years ago, our 13-year-old son, Josh, who had always been a healthy, active boy, started having sharp stomach pains and a constant fever. It was the beginning of a nightmare that lasted nine months.

specialize in treating inflammatory bowel disease. Also available are free educational brochures, and the location of local chapters that sponsor seminars and support groups.

Physicians in our small town told us that Josh had a "nervous" stomach. We were asked if he was having trouble in school. He wasn't. Then the doctors suggested that it was stress, common in adolescents, and would probably pass. It didn't. Josh's condition rapidly grew worse. He lost his appetite and, in a few weeks, he dropped 25 pounds! Seriously alarmed, we went to more doctors. They told us that his symptoms were "imaginary" — and suggested Josh needed psychological "counseling."

DEAR ABBY: I do volunteer work at a very large medical center. I feel very good about it. We have 400 volunteers at this hospital, and we all feel very proud of what we do for the patients.

Our happy, outgoing son became more and more withdrawn. His friends grew impatient with him. His teachers accused us of coddling him, and complained of his frequent absence from school.

LONGTIME VOLUNTEER

In desperation, I took Josh to a pediatric gastroenterologist in a nearby town, where he was immediately hospitalized and put on intravenous feeding. He was diagnosed as having inflammatory bowel disease, a collective term for Crohn's disease and ulcerative colitis. We were told that an estimated 2 million Americans — of which 200,000 are children — have it. Although the cause is not known, and thus far there is no known cure for it, the symptoms can be controlled by medication.

DEAR VOLUNTEER: You rattled the right cage. "B.C." (Before Column), I worked as a "Gray Lady" for the American Red Cross — training women to work in hospitals — and it was one of the most rewarding experiences of my life.

Today, Josh is back at school and actively involved in sports. His disease is now under control, and we have a happy, energetic son once more.

The rewards that come from volunteer work are far more valuable than any monetary compensation. Women (and men, too) who are financially able to volunteer their services should do so, and leave the paying jobs for those who must work in order to support themselves or a family.

For nine months, I painfully watched my son's health slowly deteriorate. Other parents can be spared my experience by simply being aware of the early warning signs of inflammatory bowel disease:

- persistent diarrhea
- abdominal pain or cramps
- blood passing through the rectum
- fever and weight loss
- skin or eye irritation
- delayed growth and retarded sexual maturation.

JOSH'S MOTHER, WILMINGTON, OHIO

DEAR ABBY: This is for your "Now I've heard everything" file: In Ionia, Mich., a very intoxicated man attempted to rob two service station attendants at gunpoint. The attendants refused to hand over the money, so the would-be robber threatened to call the police!

The attendants still refused to budge, so the drunk called the police, who showed up and immediately arrested him.

Optimism justified

By James Jacoby

Today's deal raises two questions. First, how can we explain the optimistic bidding that resulted in reaching a grand slam? Then how can declarer take 13 tricks?

As for the bidding, South left plenty in reserve when he rebid only two clubs with his basket of aces. When North jumped to three diamonds, South took off, asking for aces. The key to reaching the aggressive grand slam was North-South's bidding agreement with respect to the five-trump bid asking for kings. That bid promised that their side held all the aces and expressed strong interest in playing a grand slam. North knew the diamond suit was solid and, expecting South to hold something like five clubs to the A-Q on the side, forthwith bid seven diamonds.

Declarer knew that West would not lead away from the spade king against a grand slam, so he played low from dummy on the opening lead. Marking East with the spade king, he saw some light if East also held the club queen and four or more clubs. He played A-J of diamonds, cashed the ace and king of hearts, ruffed a heart, crossed to dummy's diamond queen and ruffed another heart. A club to dummy's king was followed by dummy's last trump, on which South shed his small spade. Poor East had to keep the king of spades, so he discarded a club. Declarer played a club back to his jack and cashed the ace. The lowly seven of clubs now took the 13th trick.

Hughes said he recalled one of Hodge's companions "looked like Buffalo Bill, with a big white goatee and handlebar mustache. I remember seeing him."

One of Hodge's companions was Glenn McMennamy, a member of the state Department of Human Services board. The other was Bob Wilds, of Indianapolis, an avid bear hunter.

After he was caught by the dogs and Hodge's party, "The only thing that was said to me was, 'Now there's a man that's tired,'" Hughes said, showing a big toothless grin.

He said a corrections department sergeant told him about the special guests on the hunt and asked him to "give them a good show."

"So that's what I did," said Hughes, saying he used some of the tricks he's picked up during his dog training experience since 1985 to make certain his pursuers would enjoy themselves.

Some of those diversions included doubling back over his own trail and leading them in circles before the dogs and the hunters on horseback finally found him in a tree.

"I really don't understand the seriousness of it," he said of the publicity surrounding the incident. "I don't know what the deal is. The only thing different to me was just some of the people I hadn't seen before."

Expansion talk... SEC considers Coogs

HOUSTON (AP) — The Southeastern Conference is considering the possibility of extending an invitation to the University of Houston to join the SEC if Texas and Texas A&M join the Pac-10 Conference, according to a report in The Houston Post.

An SEC official, who requested anonymity, said Houston "would be approached about joining (the SEC) if Texas and Texas A&M are admitted to the Pac-10," the newspaper reported Thursday.

Talk around the Southwest Conference has centered on Texas and Texas A&M leaving the SWC for financial reasons. Arkansas announced it was leaving the league after 76 years for the SEC beginning next school year.

Pac-10 officials have talked informally with Texas and Texas A&M, but no expansion offers have been forwarded from the league to either school.

Mark Whitworth, associate director of the SEC, said that because the SEC presidents voted last May to allow the league commissioner to discuss expansion with interested institutions only, and not to solicit membership, Kramer would not be able to contact UH officials unless they first approach the SEC.

He said SEC Commissioner

Roy Kramer hasn't revealed with which schools the SEC is talking expansion.

"If the SEC is talking to somebody, it is because that school has expressed an interest in the SEC," Whitworth said.

Rudy Davalos, UH's athletic director, declined to confirm whether contact was made with the SEC before he left Wednesday for vacation on South Padre Island. Davalos, however, said he would continue to explore the school's options.

"We feel the SEC is the kind of conference we'd like to be associated with," Davalos said. "We feel we would fit in well with the SEC schools in a number of ways. Of course, we'd like to stay in the Southwest Conference, but we have to be realistic about our future. We have to do what's best for Houston."

SEC officials want an even number of teams, and the conference already has held discussions with South Carolina and Florida State regarding expansion. South Carolina is awaiting an invitation to join, but the Seminoles may be heading to the Atlantic Coast Conference, a turn of events that has left SEC officials looking at Houston as an alternative, The Post reported.

Houston would be an attractive addition to the SEC because of its lucrative television market.

'Pokes, Raiders set for preseason game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Never known for making much of a commitment to excellence during the preseason, the Los Angeles Raiders shoot for their second straight victory Saturday when they meet the Dallas Cowboys.

Kickoff time at the Los Angeles Coliseum in the Raiders' first home game of the preseason is 1 p.m. PDT.

The Raiders lost to New Orleans 17-10 in their preseason opener Aug. 5 before beating the defending Super Bowl champion San Francisco 49ers 23-13 at Candlestick Park last Saturday night.

While the Raiders were beating the 49ers, the Cowboys were losing to the San Diego Chargers 28-16 in the preseason opener for both of those teams.

The Raiders were 0-4 last summer, giving them a 13-27 record in preseason games during the

Watermelon Bowl planned Saturday

Snyder Tiger football fans will have a chance to see their team in action in Saturday's annual Watermelon Bowl.

Gridders from freshman, junior varsity and varsity squads will scrimmage against each other beginning at 9 a.m. at Travis Field.

Following the football scrimmage, watermelon will be served to fans and players.

The frosh Tigers and the JV are to face-off at 9 a.m. followed at around 10 a.m. by the varsity mixing it up with a team of JV and varsity players.

Scrimmage action, according to SHS head football coach David Baugh, should wind down by approximately 11:30 a.m.

Snyder will travel to Midland to scrimmage Ft. Stockton next Friday and hosts Crane in the last preseason tune-up Aug. 31 in Tiger Stadium.

The Tigers will be on the road to start the season Sept. 7 as they face former District 4-4A foe Monahans in Lobo Stadium.

Snyder's home opener is scheduled for Sept. 14 against Clyde and competition in the newly created District 2-4A begins Thursday Oct. 11 when SHS travels to Lubbock's Lowrey Field to face the third-ranked Estacado Matadors.

Americans in Baghdad said moved

By The Associated Press

Fears for about three dozen Americans detained in Baghdad, Iraq, intensified today amid word they had been moved to an undisclosed location.

Saudi Arabia, meanwhile, reportedly turned away an Iraqi tanker trying to break the oil embargo.

As the Persian Gulf crisis caused by Iraq's invasion of its neighbor Kuwait entered its third week, officials in Washington said U.S. officials in the Iraqi capital were demanding access to the detainees.

"We understand the 35 Americans who were in the Rashid Hotel have been moved."

W.H. Grant

1908-1990

Services are pending at Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home for W.H. Grant, 81, of Snyder.

Mr. Grant died this morning in Grand Prairie.

He was born Dec. 1, 1908 at Ira.

He is survived by his wife Dollie; three daughters, Edna Jean Smith of Dallas, Jayne Clark and Barbara Spock, both of Houston; one son, Wayne Grant of Dallas; one sister, Estaline Taylor of Snyder; one brother, W.B. Grant of Snyder and six grandchildren.

Lois Franklin

1914-1990

BIG SPRING — Services for Lois Underwood Franklin, 75, of Lake Brownwood will be at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at Myers-Smith Funeral Home and Chapel.

She died Thursday at Scenic Mountain Medical Center in Big Spring from injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Franklin was the mother of Dewey Thames of Snyder.

Born Sept. 14, 1914, in Big Cedar, Okla., she lived most of her life in Big Spring. She married Clyde Franklin in July of 1984 in Las Vegas. She was a member of Trinity Baptist Church in Big Spring.

Other survivors include her husband, Clyde of Lake Brownwood; two daughters, Maria Hahn of Midland and Shirley Deal of Arlington; two sisters, Myrtle Burchette of San Angelo and Lena Hogue of San Diego, Calif.; two brothers, Dennis Brunson and Belton Brunson, both of Big Spring; six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

No permits cause arrest

Three individuals were arrested for soliciting without a permit Thursday after police received reports of their activities.

At 4:12 p.m., two white males, ages 41 and 24, were taken into custody in the 1900 Block of 25th St. At 4:14 p.m. in the 2500 Block of College Ave., a third white male, age 23, was arrested also.

Thursday morning, additional charges were filed against the Snyder man. These include two for burglary of an auto and one for attempted auto theft.

AJRA vendor reports theft

Two watches were reported stolen Thursday night by a vendor selling merchandise at the AJRA National Finals Rodeo underway in the Scurry County Coliseum.

The misdemeanor theft was reported to police a 10:50 p.m. by Paula Fox. She indicated the watches were taken from one of the booths set up in the coliseum foyer area.

A second theft report was filed with police at 7:01 p.m. Thursday in the 2400 Block of 25th St.

Robby Robins said four wheels had been stolen from a 1957 Chevrolet.

We think we know where they are, but we have not seen them," a source at the State Department said today.

Iraq, seeking peace with its old enemy Iran in order to focus on the escalating confrontation with the United States, today began withdrawing troops from Iranian POWs.

Defense Secretary Dick Cheney was bound for Riyadh to visit American troops standing guard in the Saudi desert against a possible further thrust by Iraq's president, Saddam Hussein. President Bush expressed pessimism Thursday that Iraqi forces would end their occupation of Kuwait.

In the Persian Gulf, the military buildup and economic embargo intensified, but American efforts to squeeze Iraq with a trade embargo could run into complications. The United Nations chief said military enforcement of U.N. sanctions against Iraq requires U.N. approval. Bush has ordered U.S. naval commanders to use "the minimum force necessary" to interdict shipments to and from Iraq. That could include firing across the bow to halt a ship.

Gulf crisis to benefit Permian Basin

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — Higher oil prices caused by the Persian Gulf conflict will prompt Chevron Corp. to pump an extra $11 million into the Permian Basin in the next five months, a company official says.

Ken Derr, company chairman, said Thursday, "We have just added $100 million to our 1990 capital budget to take advantage of what we consider increased opportunities."

"And we have advised our production units that the capital is available for short-term opportunities," he added.

Noting it is hard to plan capital budgets because of oil price volatility, Derr expects oil prices to remain higher for the next few years.

Derr, in Midland to visit local Chevron operations, said he had no indication how the $11 million capital increase for the Permian Basin might be spent. The $25 per barrel oil prices probably will not be high enough to bring on larger carbon dioxide tertiary recovery projects. "You may see some smaller secondary and tertiary projects initiated, he said.

"But not the big ones that require extensive infill drilling," he added. If the price should reach $30, he said, oil would probably be needed to bring those projects off the drawing board.

The company recently dedicated its North Ward Estes tertiary project near Monahans, but that project which was already drilled on 10-acre spacing did not require extensive in-fill drilling. He pointed out that oil prices are likely to remain high for the next two to three years.

Three of the four bareback riders completed their eight-second stints Thursday, with Jason Jeter of Arlington taking a second-go 68 to move into the lead with a two-ride 143.

Southlake buckaroo Pete Hawkins finished second Thursday with a 62, followed by Chris Stanford of Verhalen who registered a 61.

Dee Bland of Merkel impressed the judges to the tune of 69 points in the boys 12-and-under steer riding to hop into the lead as the second-go began.

Steer wrestlers also began their second-go of the rodeo as Trey Wardlaw of Sonora and Jody Carper of Big Spring battled to within .11 of a second of each other Thursday evening. Wardlaw came in first with a 4.88-second time, trailed by Carper's 4.99.

Both times are slower than first-round leader Decky Spiller's 4.02 recorded Wednesday night.

Barrel racers in both the girls 13-15 group and girls 16-19 had problems turning over barrels Thursday as seven of the combined 10 contestants knocked over at least one barrel.

Lorissa Edmondson of McCaulley and Stephenville's Schelli Walls each managed to get through the cloverleaf course unscathed, however, as the pair tied with identical 14.62 times in the 16-19-year-old division.

Both girls trail Iraan's Mecca McMullan, who paces the field with her Wednesday 14.28 clocking.

Australian helps couple flee Kuwait

by The Associated Press
Driven by an Australian and a tongue-in-cheek desire to be home for Christmas, a Texas couple raced across the heavily armed Kuwaiti desert in a stolen all-terrain vehicle as they fled that country for Saudi Arabia.

About 30 well-wishers and family members greeted Bill and Sharon Gilbert as they arrived Thursday afternoon at Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport on a flight from London. The Gilberts, who lived in the Central Texas town of Salado before leaving for the Middle East three months ago, fled Kuwait early Monday morning.

"Texas never looked so good," Gilbert, 55, told the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. "Freedom has a new meaning."

The couple joked with reporters and relatives about their tense two-hour escape.

"We decided we didn't want to spend Christmas in Kuwait or Iraq, so we left Monday morning at 5 o'clock," Gilbert said.

The American businessman and his wife were helped out of the country by an Australian they now only as "Wild Max."

"They said are you ready to go, and I said, 'This Australian will drive. He's a bush driver,'" said Mrs. Gilbert, 54.

The couple said they saw no atrocities committed by occupying Iraqi troops. "They were kind to us," Mrs. Gilbert said. "They kind of ignored us and we ignored them."

But the Gilberts said they sensed that the time was right to get out and decided to leave in a bullet-riddled all-terrain vehicle they found with half its front and rear windows blown out.

At one point the group sped toward a line of Iraqi tanks, but were determined not to turn back.

"We just said, 'We've come this far, y'all want to go for it?' And we said, 'Let's go for it.' So (the Australian) floored that car and we went between two tanks."

But other Texas families haven't been as lucky as the Gilberts.

Donnita Cole of Odessa spent much of Thursday waiting by the phone for word of her husband's whereabouts.

"That's why I grabbed the phone so fast," she said. "We're devouring the morning paper here."

John Cole, 50, is an OGE Drilling Inc. employee.

Mrs. Cole said she was heartened by rumors of a failed assassination attempt against Iraq's Saddam Hussein.

"It shows me that some of his own people are starting to think," she said.

"I think my husband is stranded until somebody comes up with a better idea than what I have," she said.

Two other Texas women whose husbands were reported safe but being kept in a Baghdad hotel said they had no news either.

Patricia Hale, wife of OGE employee Edward Hale, 52, of Spring, said she had heard nothing new from her husband — "nothing more from the original message I got through the State Department."

"It's beginning to really wear," she said.

"I'm just kind of waiting," said Sarah Amos, wife of Charles Amos, 59, of Harmony in Northeast Texas. Amos is an employee of Santa Fe Drilling Co. in California.

Meanwhile, families with workers still trapped in the war-torn area hung ribbons on their doors as they continued their vigil.

Patty Hale, who is awaiting the return of her husband, OGE Drilling employee Edward Hale, tied a red-white-and-blue bow on her Spring home Wednesday.

"A lot of people have been asking me about yellow ribbons," Mrs. Hale told The Houston Post. "I'm doing red-white-and-blue ribbons. Yellow to me spells 'hostage.' This says, 'We're waiting,' but it doesn't say, 'You're a hostage.'"

County benefits from anonymous guilty conscience

ANGLETON, Texas (AP) — The Brazoria County coffers are $4,000 richer thanks to someone's guilty conscience.

A package was sent to the County Judge John Damon's office this week with a small treasure tucked inside — 40 crisp $100 bills.

"This more than repays what I owe the county," the unsigned note read.

The package was delivered with the noon mail Tuesday. Damon's secretary, Jane Patterson, placed it on the bottom of the stack, thinking it contained some religious, anti-communist literature someone anonymously sends the judge occasionally.
