Council schedules meeting to address water line woes

Snyder City Council approved a depository for city funds, adopted a policy concerning DWI vehicles and heard a presentation from a representative of a water line rehabilitation company during a four-hour meeting Monday.

The majority of the meeting was taken up with discussion of the city's water lines. C.O. Davin, owner of In Place Linings, Inc. of Fort Worth presented a video illustrating how his company uses cement lining to restore water pipes.

During the process, the lines are cleaned and corrosion and other pipe blocking material is flushed out. The pipe is then lined with a cement and quartz sand mixture intended to inhibit corrosion.

Davin explained that he leases the equipment to municipalities by the pipe foot or the year. To lease the equipment by the year would cost $3,000 a month. He noted that the City of San Angelo is completing a 15-year pipe rehabilitation project.

Council members were shown a piece of pipe taken from the Ave. T water line to demonstrate the local problem.

Bob Rhodes, pastor of Northside Baptist Church, asked to speak before the council concerning the quality of water at his residence and at the church. Rhodes presented water samples taken from his residence at 1601 Ave. T and laundry that had been soiled by the water.

"Something needs to be and has to be done," urged Rhodes, who said that this has been a problem for 10 years.

The council instructed city staff to study the most cost effective way of leasing the rehabilitation equipment and also ordered a report on the cost of replacing the pipe. A meeting is scheduled

Monday to report on the findings. Monday's meeting began with the council reviewing bids from West Texas State Bank, Snyder National Bank and American State Bank for the city's deposits beginning Oct. 1. Representatives from all three institutions were present.

Questions from council members directed to West Texas State Bank officials about when interest is paid brought a protest (see COUNCIL, page 8)

Gulf crisis key topic of Bush address tonight

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush will tell Congress tonight that the Persian Gulf crisis has forged "a new world order" in which the superpower adversaries of the Cold War now stand united to reverse Iraq's conquest of Kuwait.

Bush, fresh from his one-day summit with Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev in Helsinki, will go before a joint session of the House and Senate with a nationally broadcast address at 9 p.m. EDT.

Aides said the president would seek the nation's support for his decision to send more than 100,000 troops to the gulf region to put pressure on Iraqi President Saddam Hussein and deter a possible invasion of oil-rich Saudi Arabia.

"He's going to be very candid with them about exactly what we're doing there and why and what our purposes are," said White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater. "It's going to (see BUSH, page 8)

Counts announces re-election plans; pledges rural voice

State Rep. David Counts formally announced his re-election plans Monday before a group of supporters at The Shack restaurant.

Counts, a Knox City Democrat, is completing his first term as representative of the 78th District. Counts will face Republican John Pennington of Sweetwater on the Nov. 6 general election ballot.

"As a result of the legislature's efforts, Texans will be safer, healthier and better prepared to meet the many challenges of our changing state," Counts said.

"Much of this included worker's compensation reform, public school finance equity, health and human services, and the broadest state and local prison expansion and reform program in the history of Texas."

However, Counts said a future challenge will be to maintain the rural influence in the legislature in view of redistricting. "This election is going to determine who draws district lines that are going to be used for the next 10 years. I am working to keep the district rural so we can still have a collective voice for rural Texans."

Counts said he is proud of his efforts on school finance. Counts said he consulted everyone in the district and was never asked to take a different position on school finance.

Pennington recently criticized Counts' vote, saying it caused a loss of funds for Sweetwater public schools. "I did what was best for the 32 schools in my district," Counts said.

College trustees hear goals, okay policy revision Monday

Western Texas College trustees were given a list of college goals, heard a report on the impact of a dwindling population on enrollment and approved a policy revision as a show of confidence in Leon Pettitt, physical plant director, during their September board meeting Monday evening.

The board also approved the appointment of Helen McLeod to the WTC Scholarship Foundation Board and accepted the resignation of Mace D. McDaniel, lab assistant in Golf and Landscape Technology. McDaniel's position will not be filled, at least for the current semester.

No action was taken during an executive session, which opened the meeting.

Trustees approved a recommendation by President Harry Krenek pertaining to a policy revision effecting the status of Pettitt. Instead of reporting to the vice president of business and finance, Pettitt will report directly to the president.

The change, said Krenek, was instituted to take some workload from Hickman, as well as a show of confidence in Pettitt's ability.

"I'm impressed with the job he has done," agreed Trustee Howard Sterling in making a motion to accept the policy revision, which was unanimously approved.

As an informational item, trustees were informed that State Rep. David Counts will be at the college on Oct. 1 in an event sponsored by the faculty association. Counts will meet with faculty, staff and board members at 8 a.m. on Oct. 1 and will meet with students in the Fine Arts Theatre at 9 a.m.

Krenek presented board members with a list of 30 institutional goals for 1990-91. It was noted that the college has already accomplished some of the goals, and is in the process of completing others. He outlined (see COLLEGE, page 8)

Thursday deadline for Century II class

Noon Thursday is the deadline to turn in applications for the next Century II: Leadership Scurry County class, officials are stressing.

Applications are available at the chamber office. The class begins Thursday afternoon.

Century II: Leadership Scurry County is a program designed to acquaint community leaders and potential leaders with the area's continuing needs and problems.

Anyone may apply or nominate someone for the program. Official Century II: Leadership Scurry County application forms must be used. A selections committee will select a maximum of 15 individuals from all segments of the community to participate.

Tuition for each participant is $225, which covers all materials and program expenses.

The program, sponsored by the chamber and Western Texas College, is aimed at developing and maintaining a pool of well-informed men and women qualified to assume present and future leadership roles in Scurry County. The program seeks to develop community knowledge and leadership skills through 16 sessions. Included are programs on the local economy, government, education, health care and quality of life. Program resources come from citizen leaders and specialists in various fields.

Contest winner

Joe Shafer of HCR 69 Box 37, Fluvanna won the first place in the first SDN Football Contest of the year.

Shafer had just three misses to win the $50 first-place prize.

Close behind with four misses was Tedo Boyce of 3901 Ave. O #26, who won the second-place $25. Using the tie-breaker procedure, the third place money was split between Terry Kubena of 3507 Irving and Steve Link of 1809 39th. Both had five misses and predicted 27 total points.

The first SDN Football Contest produced some confusion when two games were accidentally placed in one advertisement. However, those games were not counted in the grading.

Another contest appears in today's issue.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "A tourist is a person who travels to see things that are different and then gripes when they aren't the same."

Truth is stranger than fiction, and often more entertaining. The following are some statements taken from actual letters received by the welfare department in applications for state assistance.

-I am forwarding my marriage certificate and six children. I had seven but one died which was baptised on a half sheet of paper.

-I am writing the welfare department to say that my baby was born two years old. When do I get my money?

-I cannot get sick pay. I have six children. Can you tell me why?

-I am glad to report that my husband who is missing is dead.

-This is my eighth child. What are you going to do about it?

-Please find for certain if my husband is dead.

The man I am living with can't eat or do anything until he knows.

-In answer to your letter, I have given birth to a boy weighing ten pounds. I hope this will be satisfactory.

-I am forwarding my marriage certificate and my three children, one of which is a mistake as you can see.

-Unless I get my husband's money pretty soon, I will be forced to lead an immoral life.

-You have changed my little boy to a little girl. Will this make any difference?

-In accordance with your instructions, I have given birth to twins in the enclosed envelope.

-I want money as soon as I can get it. I have been in bed with the doctor for two weeks and he doesn't do me any good. If things don't improve, I will have to change doctors.

We doubt if the Infernal Revenue Service people have this many laughs.

Q—Will the county fair hold a domino tournament again this year? If so, when do the fair and the tournament start?

A—The fair and the domino tournament begin on Thursday, Sept. 20. Scurry County Fair booklets — which contain a schedule of events as well as entry information, rules and booth prices — are now available at the chamber of commerce, 2302 Ave. R, and the county extension office at 2605 Ave. M.

In Brief

Found guilty

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Jurors deliberated three hours before convicting a man of robbing an 88-year-old woman who said she was threatened with a knife and beaten.

Tyrone Williams, 30, of Galveston, was convicted Monday of aggravated robbery in the Feb. 1 attack on Ruby Robertson Whitney. The attack was one of 11 that terrorized Galveston senior citizens for more than a year before Williams' arrest on a burglary charge April 16.

Will be tried

HOUSTON (AP) — An ex-convict accused of killing a city police officer during a routine traffic stop will be tried in Fredericksburg, a judge ruled.

State District Judge Bill Harmon chose the small Hill Country town as the site of Carl Wayne Buntion's capital murder trial instead of San Antonio, Beaumont or the University of Texas Law School in Austin.

"It'll be easier trying it in a small town instead of a big town," Harmon said Monday.

Local

Appraisal

Scurry County Appraisal District board of directors met in a brief session this morning, with four board members and L.R. Peveler, chief appraiser, present.

Peveler presented a 1990 amended budget to the board for the purchase of a new tape drive and PC terminal for the Appraisal District office. It was approved and noted that the cost of the tape drive could be dropped from the 1991 budget.

Troops left in Limbo are tired of the wait

MCGREGOR RANGE, N.M. (AP) — The heat of the desert Southwest is cooling. Some of the heaviest military machinery at Fort Bliss is gone. And the soldiers remaining are getting restless.

"Everybody is anxious and wants to get doing something," said Capt. Edward Morris, 3rd Armored Cavalry Regiment, A Troop, 1st squadron commander.

It has been about a month since the military buildup in the Persian Gulf began, prompted by Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait. Tanks and other military vehicles that sat for 10 days on rail cars near Fort Bliss have been gone nearly three weeks.

Officials won't reveal whether any members of the 3rd Armored Cavalry have left or when they will be leaving, but the soldiers know it's imminent.

"We need to go over and do something or stay here and relax," said Pfc. Rob DeZoete, 22, a native of Kalamazoo, Mich. "It's hard while you're awake to relax because every time you turn on the TV or the radio, you hear something. It would be nice to just be able to get away for a day," DeZoete said.

And waiting leaves time to think about the future. "You get a lot of crazy thoughts running through your head," he said.

DeZoete said his wife and 1-year-old son, who just celebrated his birthday, are going to live with his mother.

"There are a lot of rumors on post, and my wife will go do laundry and hear something," he said. "So between what she hears at the laundromat and what's running through your head..."

Pfc. Mark Lott, 19, of Jackson, Tenn., said he fills his idle time acting as counselor to his family that is anxious for information.

"They're nervous, anybody's family would be nervous. But they know it's our job," he said. "We're all anticipating what's going on and what will happen. We're not on edge or anything, we're just tired of sitting and waiting."

The regiment had been training seven days a week since it began preparing to be dispatched, Morris said. Labor Day was the first chance troops had for a weekend off.

Morris said he has adjusted his units training schedule so they spend more time outside during the hottest part of the day. But he also said he tries to limit the soldiers' days to normal hours so they can spend time with family and friends.

And he knows his soldiers are getting restless.

"You keep them busy. There's a lot of stuff to do," Morris said. "We teach them how to identify enemy aircraft and vehicles, how use their chemical suits."

On Monday the soldiers demonstrated how they "zero in" their M16A2 rifles. Zeroing in is military jargon for customizing the sights of the rifles that are issued to almost every soldier. The rifles, which are fully automatic or can be switched to semiautomatic, have a maximum effective range of 560 meters.

The soldiers fired their rifles Monday while wearing gas masks, protective suits, gloves and boots.

Capt. Dave Breuhan, commander of B Troop, 1st squadron, said soldiers are shooting 40 rounds with the suits on, about four times the number of rounds they usually fire while wearing the suits.

"It's part of their normal training, but because of the increased concern with chemical weapons, we are firing more," Breuhan said. He said soldiers compensate for the suit by focusing their weapon on a target differently.

Capt. Walt Rohr, McGregor Range Commander, said the soldiers may not get a chance to adjust their weapons once they reach Saudi Arabia.

"This helps to build the soldier's confidence in his weapon," Rohr said, "in case he needs to use it."

Increase in students not linked to crisis in Gulf

Petroleum engineering recruitment program cited

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — A tenfold increase in the number of new petroleum engineering students at Texas A&M University this fall is being attributed to the work of a professional recruiter and not the crisis in the Middle East.

School officials said Monday that petroleum engineering enrollment in College Station is expected to reach 360 students for the semester that began this month, compared with 36 petroleum engineering freshmen during the fall of 1989.

Officials say the increased enrollment has as much to do with savvy recruiting and fat scholarship money as it does academic interest.

Of the 360 new petroleum engineering freshmen at A&M, 200 received scholarships averaging about $1,200 to help pay for their first year, university officials said.

The university hired Herbert G. Warren, an acknowledged college recruiting whiz, last year to sell their story to high school students across the state.

Many of the enrolling freshman are expected to drop out or change majors before the class of 1994 graduates, leaving the school with a graduating class of about 90 people majoring in petroleum engineering.

But Warren says the enrolled surprised him.

"I was flabbergasted and so is everybody else around here," said Warren, the former head of the petroleum engineering department at the Montana College of Mineral Science and Technology in Butte, Mont. "I just told them that right now was a great time to go into petroleum engineering."

Warren boosted the Montana school's 1988 freshman petroleum engineering enrollment to 56, at the time the highest in the nation.

In his Texas pitch, Warren said he told the state's high school seniors that petroleum engineering salaries are at their highest level in a decade, with a 1990 average starting salary of $37,500 per year.

University officials say that 433 petroleum engineering students graduated last year from the nation's universities. The number of opening in the same year was between 500 and 600.

"You need to hit the job market at the right point of the cycle and this is the right time," said Doug Von Gonten, head of A&M's petroleum engineering department. "We have tried to get the word across that there is a future in the petroleum business."

The enrollment boost at Texas A&M is an isolated case in Texas, officials at other state universities say.

Only 55 freshmen and transfer students registered as petroleum engineering students for the fall semester at the University of Texas, a total virtually unchanged from last year.

"We want to do the best with what we get rather than flood the classrooms," said Larry Lake, chairman of UT's petroleum engineering department. "If we had a tenfold increase, it would wipe us out."

Police say prison gang linked to homicide in San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A roundup of 11 Mexican Mafia prison gang members indicted here on federal drug-related charges could help curb the number of homicides, police say.

"Getting them off the streets is probably the best thing to do even if we couldn't get them for the murders themselves," police Lt. Albert Ortiz said Monday. "I think we've made tremendous strides."

Local, state and federal authorities called an afternoon news conference to announce the gang crackdown, part of an eight-month probe of the Mexican Mafia in San Antonio. Police said they infiltrated the organization but refused to disclose details.

"They don't know what hit them, and they don't know who is providing us with this information," Ortiz said of the gang.

The organization was formed in the Texas Department of Corrections in about 1984 and includes members outside of prison, officials said. Police estimate more than 200 Mexican Mafia members are in San Antonio and said the group is linked to at least 29 of 146 total homicides in the city this year.

The alleged members indicted last week were charged with possession and or sale of heroin and cocaine, authorities said. All but two had been arrested by Monday.

Authorities declined to provide a breakdown of the charges against each member, but said they all are federal cases.

Police Chief Bill Gibson said the number of gang-related killings in state prison has declined while the number in San Antonio attributed to the Mexican Mafia has gone up.

"We're experiencing this crime here, and the TDC no longer has this problem," he said.

Among the Mexican Mafia members arrested, Gibson said, is the alleged "general" of the local organization. Ortiz said because some local gang leaders have been arrested, other members are competing for leadership of the Mexican Mafia in San Antonio.

Gibson said he had no estimate on how many Mexican Mafia gang members there are in the Texas prison system, but said many of the members in prison are from San Antonio.

Gibson was asked at the news conference why journalists here had been "discouraged" from reporting on gangs. One television photographer earlier said he was stopped by police cars as he was pursuing squad cars thought to be cornering a gang member.

Your Birthday
Sept. 12, 1990

Business arrangements constructed around conventional practices and methods could turn out fortunate for you in the year ahead. If you depart from the norm, you might risk failure.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Social involvements should prove to be fun today, provided you're involved with people with whom you're already friendly. You're not apt to be as comfortable mingling with a strange crowd. Virgo, treat yourself to a birthday gift.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Let events run their courses today, especially those that pertain to your work or career. If you try to make on-the-spot adjustments, it could set you back a few steps.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Do not make snap judgments today either favorable or unfavorable regarding new people you meet. There is a possibility you could be wrong in either instance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Joint involvements that don't cost you any money could turn out to be worthwhile today, but if you're asked to dip into your wallet for a collective endeavor, put it under the magnifying glass.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Reciprocity is of extreme importance in your relationships with others where you're concerned today. If somebody does you a favor, reciprocate promptly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) This can be profitable day for you, provided you follow a sound agenda. Matters which are meaningful to you monetarily are the ones that should be given top priority.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You're likely to have much more fun today palming around with one or two special friends instead of hanging out the whole gang. Select your companions wisely, then go and enjoy yourself.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) The comments of an acquaintance should not be allowed to influence your opinion of someone you like. You're in a much better position to make a judgment than the outsider is.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Be yourself today and avoid all affections of speech and demeanor. Putting on airs to create a new image will produce a person who doesn't measure up to the real you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you are presently involved in something that has been proceeding in a profitable direction this is not the time to make changes merely for change sake. Adjustments could prove negative.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Left to your own devices things should work out rather well for you today, but you are not apt to perform equally as effective if you have to abide by the dictums established by another.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Do not toss in the towel today if your initial efforts do not produce the types of results you desire. Instead of quitting, regroup your forces and go for victory on the second try.

Slide show presented at meeting

The Alpha Study Club met at the Martha Ann Woman's Club Sept. 4 with Velma Lunsford, president, presiding and ten members in attendance. Flora Gladson and Katy McKenzie were hostesses for the occasion. Mrs. Hugh Boren and Elizabeth McCloskey were welcomed as new members.

Mrs. Lunsford discussed the plans for a sign to be placed on the Woman's Club building and announced the garage sale that was to be held at Towle Barn on Sept. 8.

In keeping with the club programs for the year, 'People of The World', Flora Gladson discussed her tour of Israel and presented a slide show of the country.

She told of many interesting experiences they had while in Israel. She said that they saw only one native Israeli woman while on the trip and that she wore a heavy black veil. She reported that the food was not up to our American standards, but that the men who served them were very friendly and efficient.

After her presentation, the club members had a better understanding of a Third World country.

Refreshments were served before the club meeting was dismissed.

Setting up your own darkroom

AP Newsfeatures

Some of the real joys of photography can be found in the dark. I'm not referring to available-light photography, but to processing your own pictures in the darkroom.

It's the best way I know of to learn about film, your camera and your ability to see good pictures. Processing your own film isn't difficult, and it can save you money. What's more, it gives you better control over your pictures — you can salvage incorrectly exposed shots and crop an image to make a good picture out of a routine snapshot.

Concentrate on black-and-white first. Color is not that much more difficult, but it does require some experience. A starter set doesn't cost much, and it can be expanded as you gain skill and experience.

You will need a film processing tank (about $20), a safelight bulb ($5-$6), a good thermometer

(about $15) and a set of trays (about $15). The biggest initial investment is an enlarger to blow up your shots to whatever size you want — 5-by-7, 8-by-10 or even bigger. Look around and you may locate a used enlarger and lens for $100 or so; new, and better ones, can cost a few hundred dollars. Add an easel ($20) to hold the paper under the enlarger.

Disposable equipment consists of developer, stop bath, fixer and, of course, enlarging paper. The cost for these items is not high, and once you get the hang of processing, you'll save a bundle over the cost of having it done commercially. Developer and paper come with helpful instructions.

Probably the trickiest part at the start is loading your film onto the spiral reel in the developing tank, something that must be done in total darkness. The best approach is to practice in the light, using an old roll of film; then, practice in the dark so that when you are ready to use a real roll of film, you will have the feel of loading the reel.

Times and temperatures are clearly set out in the developer instructions. For example, Tri-X black-and-white film is processed at 7½ minutes and 68 degrees. Other films have different times and temperatures.

Once the film has been developed and placed into the enlarger, you set the size by moving the enlarger up or down. Making the exposure is a matter of seconds, and development is only a minute or so in another type of developer. Here, experience will be your guide.

with a trump to shed his losing heart.

The winning defense is for East to play a heart at trick two, before cashing the diamond ace and giving West his diamond ruff. South can do no better than duck to West's heart king. West will then play a second diamond, get his diamond ruff and get off lead with another heart. Later the defenders will get a trump trick and at least one club trick to set the contract.

Although West can make a part-score in hearts, bidding out of the blue at the three-level is perilous, particularly when one is vulnerable. But whatever you do at the bridge table can be dangerous. When he passed, West subjected his side to inadequate defensive play by East, so perhaps he should have risked a three-heart bid.

49ers slip past New Orleans

Last second field goal gives San Francisco 13-12 victory

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — In the end, it boiled down to two completions, a bounced ball and a pressure kick.

And the San Francisco 49ers, who almost always seem to win somehow, edged the New Orleans Saints 13-12 Monday night.

"Offensively we weren't moving the ball methodically the way we usually do," said Joe Montana, once again a last-minute hero. "At the end, we came back and showed a little character. We got what we needed when we needed it, finally."

All it took was 1:30 with San Francisco trailing 12-10.

Montana hit John Taylor for 25 yards, then Tom Rathman for 4, and then looked for Roger Craig and Jerry Rice.

The 49ers had third and six on their 48 with 39 seconds to go when Montana hit Craig for 11 yards. He came back with a 20 yarder to Rice, and, with no timeouts, bounced the ball for an incompletion to stop the clock with 12 seconds remaining to give Kicker Mike Cofer another chance.

Cofer, who had missed a 55-yard try at the two-minute mark, hit a 38-yard field goal to give the defending Super Bowl champs the victory.

"I think we know we were kind of lucky to get out of here with a win," Cofer said.

Montana was 26 for 43 for 210 yards a touchdown and an interception on the night. He was also sacked six times by a hustling Saints defense.

"They covered us well, they came up the field after us well. I think we settled down a little bit in the second half," Montana said. "But, give them credit because they always play us well. We made a lot of mistakes. I know I didn't play worth a damn."

"It wasn't just the sacks, it was the overall pressure," coach George Seifert said. "They mixed it up really well. Fortunately, our defense played really well, too. Either team could have won at the end and you can credit both defenses."

Saints linebacker Rickey Jackson, who had two of the sacks, was particularly upset.

"We had the world's best team beat and we couldn't pull it out. Defensively, you just can't play any better," Jackson said.

San Francisco scored first when Cofer hit a 52-yard field goal in the first quarter. The 49ers' only touchdown came in the third quarter a four-yard pass from Montana to Brent Jones. The 80-yard drive, after an interception in the end zone by Darryl Pollard, was fueled by two 15-yard Saints' penalties.

"At times things are not going to go right," Rice said. "We just keep fighting and eventually someone makes the big play."

Kicker Morton Andersen did all the scoring for New Orleans, making field goals of 41, 39, 28 and 32 yards.

The New Orleans offense had its own problems, however. Quarterback John Fourcade, making his fourth start with the Saints, was 12 for 34 for 186 yards. He was sacked once and threw three interceptions.

Ira grid game rescheduled

Ira's Friday night football game with Midland Christian Academy has been rescheduled for 5:30 p.m. instead of the 7:30 p.m. kick-off time listed.

The Midland private school's football field has no lights making the earlier start necessary.

Best and McMillan teamed up for a three-set 7-5, 2-6, 6-0 victory over Gove and Turner as the SHS boys swept the doubles competition, as well.

Kathy Ogburn and Robin Cave were girls winners in doubles play eking out a 2-6, 7-5, 7-5 win over the team of Veronica Carrillo and Eva Garcia.

In all, Snyder won three of four matches in girls' doubles. Against Brownfield, Snyder's boys notched eight singles wins and all four doubles victories.

McMillan beat the Cubs' Danny Milnes 6-3, 7-6 while SHS teammate Jason Warren dumped Bryan Panson of Brownfield, 6-3, 7-5.

Bush to address Congress

require a commitment of resources and time and energy by the American people."

The address marks the third time that Bush has addressed lawmakers during his 20 months in the White House. While Congress has been largely supportive of his gulf policy, many of its leaders have urged him to go before the nation with a speech spelling out U.S. objectives and the risks in protecting the region's vast supplies of oil.

The occasion presents Bush with an opportunity to prod lawmakers to conclude a long-stalled agreement with the White House to cut the budget deficit by slashing spending and raising taxes.

Fitzwater told reporters the gulf crisis "points up the need to put our domestic house in order and reach a budget agreement, on defense as well as other domestic issues."

"We're going to need all our strength to see us through in the Persian Gulf," he said.

Bush, in the last two weeks, has been promoting the thesis that the United States and Soviet Union have moved even closer together because of their joint opposition to Iraq's aggression. Fitzwater said the president would expand on that theme tonight.

Despite their agreement on forcing Iraq to retreat from Kuwait, the United States and Soviet Union still have differences on whether military force might eventually be needed.

Gorbachev is pressing for a political solution in the gulf while Bush has left military options open. Gorbachev did not make any commitment to remove all of the Soviet trainers who are helping Iraq's military, although Bush said their withdrawal would be helpful.

On the other hand, the two leaders moved toward agreement at the summit to give Moscow a major role in Middle East peace efforts, reversing a longstanding U.S. policy against Kremlin involvement.

"Under existing circumstances, we feel they can be helpful," Fitzwater said. However, he said the idea of a Middle East peace conference, as espoused by Moscow, "should not be linked to the existing situation."

On the eve of today's speech, Fitzwater said Saddam was "grasping at any straw he can find" by mending relations with Iran, once a bitter enemy, and by offering free oil to Third World nations.

"The man is desperate, reaching out wherever he can," Fitzwater said.

five of the goals which are:

- to employ a criminal justice instructor, an agriculture/GLT instructor and a lab assistant in reading — all of which have been accomplished;

- to continue to work with the Texas Department of Criminal Justice in meeting the educational needs of the Price Daniel Unit in particular (academic and vocational classes) and the TDCJ in general (COT classes, TDCJ in-service program), and to study the possibilities of an expanded role;

- to continue the stucco project and other maintenance and repair projects to insure that college facilities are properly repaired and maintained, and to continue to renovate and remodel facilities to meet the changing institutional needs;

- to study the feasibility of making baseball a part of the intercollegiate athletic program;

- to continue development of the college preparatory programs and develop exit examinations to ensure minimum competence in all instructional programs.

Other goals not specifically outlined by Krenek but appearing on the list of 30 included to develop evaluation criteria for faculty, develop a long-range plan for extension centers, to develop a marketing plan for the recruitment of students and to increase the recruitment of minority students.

The subject of enrollment was another topic of discussion and Krenek provided figures which showed the combined population of Scurry, Mitchell, Nolan, Fisher and Haskell counties has dropped 3,645 from the 1980 census to the 1990 census. Likewise, enrollment at Western dropped from 1,164 in the fall of 1980 to 1,057 for the fall of 1990.

Trustees were also informed that bids will be taken for two computers and a printer for the office careers department, and for a 15-passenger van and a sedan — items budgeted for the 1990-91 year.

Trustees at the meeting were Sterling, Bob Hargrove, R.C. Patton, John Fagin, Carl Williams and Bill Wilson Jr. Absent was John Gayle.

HISPANIC WEEK — Mayor Troy Williamson signed a proclamation on Friday, proclaiming Sept. 10-16 as Hispanic Week, in observance of Mexican Independence Day on September 16. It is being celebrated locally with a Mexican Independence Fiesta on Friday and Saturday at Our Lady of Guadalupe Catholic Church. The proclamation urges all citizens of Snyder and Scurry County to participate in the celebration of Hispanic Week and to show the brotherhood and unity of the city. from representatives of Snyder National Bank, who said that should have been part of the bank's bid and should not be open for discussion after the bids were in.

After examining bids for over one-half hour, the council unanimously approved a motion that deposits stay with West Texas State Bank for the next year.

The council also adopted a new policy concerning DWI vehicles. Concerns about the former policy were brought to the attention of the council by Danny Howell in a previous meeting.

Howell contended the city was opening itself to liability because of its policy of having a police officer drive a DWI subject's car rather than having it towed. In a DWI arrest, officers have the option of legally parking the vehicle at the scene of the arrest or offering to drive a subject's vehicle, rather than having it towed, if a passenger is unable to drive. Monday night, council members voted to eliminate the part of the policy that allowed officers to drive DWI vehicles.

The two services currently on the city's rotation system were inspected by a city official last week for compliance with state requirements. The two services were given 30 days to get into full compliance with state regulations. Each service must be in full compliance after 30 days to stay on the rotation list.

Members heard from Scurry County Fair director Jeanne Butler who requested that a $50 fee for exhibiting wild and exotic animals be waived. Butler explained her exhibit consists of game birds. The council agreed that Butler's exhibit did not fall under the city ordinance and waived the fee.

The council also approved two signs to designate a cross walk at Gary Brewer Road and El Paso Ave. and adopted a resolution addressing the problem of diminishing highway funds.

In old business, the council approved on second reading the new tax rate of .3871 cents per $100 valuation and a five percent increase in water, sewage and sanitation rates.

The board also approved on recommendation from City Manager John Gayle a transfer of line item budgeted amounts within departments and an ordinance adjusting the budget to accommodate the transfers.

The council will meet Monday at 6:30 p.m. to further address the waterpipe situation.

Present at the meeting were Mayor Troy Williamson, City Attorney Ernie Armstrong, Gayle and council members Ernest Tippens, Mike Thornton, Jackie Greene, Paul Zeck and Joe Coronado. Jack Denman was absent.

Dr. Gott Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've taken methysergide for four years to prevent migraines. I now understand there is some risk of fibrous growths when this drug is used for long periods. Would you comment?

DEAR READER: Methysergide (Sansert), a drug that blocks the effects of serotonin, has been used for years to treat vascular headaches, including migraine. However, its popularity has waned following reports that it can cause retroperitoneal fibrosis, extensive scar formation around the kidneys, leading to fatigue, weight loss, backache, fever and kidney blockage.

Because of these serious side effects, the manufacturer warns against continuous administration for more than six months. In my opinion, the risks of Sansert outweigh its benefits; therefore, I discourage patients from using it, preferring instead less hazardous medications such as beta-blockers.

I urge you to question your doctor about why he or she has prescribed the drug for four years. I believe you would be at less risk using alternative therapy.

To give you more information, I am sending you free copies of my Health Reports "Consumer Tips on Medicines" and "Headaches." Other readers who would like copies should send $1.25 with their names and addresses for each report to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title(s).

DEAR DR. GOTT: Please discuss the problems of a bipolar disorder. My husband's doctor won't listen to our input and only hands out another prescription to him in an attempt to remedy the problem.

DEAR READER: Bipolar mood disorder, also known as manic-depression, is an emotional affliction marked by rapid and extreme swings between depression and euphoria. I say it is "emotional" because the emotions are involved. In fact, it is probably caused by an imbalance of potent, naturally occurring hormones in the brain. Thus, the treatment of bipolar mood disorder usually requires medicine, such as lithium and anti-depressants, to re-establish the normal concentration of brain chemicals.

Unfortunately, patients with this disorder do not readily admit they have a problem; their mood swings may seem perfectly normal to them, but often cause concern, even consternation, in loved ones and family members.

Therefore, physicians often attempt to find the right combination of medicine — sometimes with the patient as an unwilling partner in the venture. Frequently, a fully treated patient will be grateful because he or she finally feels "better," albeit it different, on medication. The perception of improvement is a new and welcome sensation.

Nonetheless, I'm concerned your husband's doctor has failed to involve you and your husband in the treatment plan. This is not helpful. I think you should have a private discussion with the doctor, during which you express your observations and opinions. Also, listen to what the doctor says. Perhaps in this way you'll learn more about your husband's disorder and be able to contribute to his improvement.

If the doctor is not able or willing to accept your input, ask for a referral to a colleague — preferably a psychiatrist — who will be more sympathetic to your views.

University of Texas at El Paso... Students forget about Mosbacher invitation

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — No one but the candidate was on hand at the University of Texas at El Paso when Rob Mosbacher brought his campaign for lieutenant governor to the campus.

Student leaders apparently forgot about the invitation although some said they thought the appearance was scheduled today instead of Monday.

Mosbacher, embarrassed by the snafu, cancelled the event after he arrived and learned that student leaders were hastily trying without success to round up an audience.

"It's not fair to the students, or to me, frankly," Mosbacher told Tracy Opperman, one of the leaders in the Student Association at the University of Texas at El Paso.

Mosbacher said he didn't want anyone "grabbing a bunch of unsuspecting students between class and telling them, 'come over here for a minute and sit down in the sun.'"

Mosbacher said he would like for student leaders to reschedule the visit later and let the school's Republicans know about it.

"Give them a little bit of time, so we can at least turn out the faithful," Mosbacher said. "If they don't know about it, they won't be here either."

Blunders such as the one Monday are infrequent in his campaign, Mosbacher said.

"I would be much more concerned if they had made a conscious effort to stir up a crowd and nobody showed up. But when you show up and nobody's been notified and the best you can do is to round up a few student senators, then I don't have real high expectations," Mosbacher said.

"It would be embarrassing if it were my fault, but I don't have to consider it my fault," he said. "I think they fairly clearly indicated that they dropped the ball on this, and I'm not one to believe that anyone's perfect."

Ellen Harrison, office administrator of El Paso's Republican party, said standing up a lieutenant governor candidate is embarrassing.

"I don't want to lay blame at UTEP, but somebody's not overseeing the student government office," Harrison said.

Mosbacher is opposed by Texas State Comptroller Bob Bullock for the post being vacated by Democratic Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Putting On a Happy Face Is Easier Said Than Done

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I'm not writing for advice; I need a favor. A couple of years ago, someone wrote to you complaining because she resented being told by total strangers to "smile." It was obviously written by a person like me who has a naturally sad face.

I was born with this face, and although it may look sad, it does not reflect my mood. I can be happy as a lark, yet someone will say, "Hey — cheer up. Smile. You look so sad!" This drives me up the wall!

When that article appeared in your column, I cut it out and handed it to the first person who told me to smile. She happened to be a good friend of mine. When she read it, she thought it was so great, she asked if she could keep it to put in her scrapbook, so I let her have it. How I wish I had made some copies of it before I gave it away because I am still being ordered to smile.

I hope you can find it. I'd love to see it run again. I'm sure there are other people this applies to.

H.K. IN BROOKFIELD, WIS.

DEAR H.K.: That "smile" letter wasn't hard to find. Many readers wrote to say they identified with it. Here it is:

DEAR ABBY: I wish people would stop telling me to smile! I can be walking down the street, humming a song to myself, perfectly content with the world, when someone will say, "Why don't you smile?"

It makes me feel awful! I think to myself, "Gee, do I look that bad?" There must be a lot of other people out there who have had this happen to them. Maybe we just have sad-looking faces, but it sure doesn't make us feel any better. (It's really an insult.)

Abby, you could do all of us a big favor if you'd ask your readers to say, "Have a nice day," or make some other pleasant comment. Anything, even just "Hello," would be better than saying, "Smile."

I'd love to see this in your column. Then maybe people would think twice before they ask someone to smile.

INSULTED

DEAR INSULTED: Don't let it get you down. These are the same people who say, "Gee, you look tired." (Also no compliment.) It may be comforting to know that most serious thinkers scowl and frown unconsciously when they are deeply immersed in thought. And while a smile may be "prettier," folks who go around smiling all the time for no good reason at all are often followed by a butterfly net. Have a nice day.

DEAR ABBY: I was so amused when some of your readers mentioned how little it cost for them to be delivered into this world.

I think I may hold the record. I was born around 4 a.m. on Oct. 22, 1921, in Hartford City, Ind. The delivery was at home. When my father asked the doctor, "How much do I owe you?" the doctor replied, "I drove over here on a flat; if you'll change my tire, we'll call it even."

MARGARET BALLENGER-ROADAMLE, LA FONTAINE, IND.

DEAR MARGARET: Congratulations. I doubt if anyone can top that.

"You could dig up more than you bargained for."

Hi, I'm Willard Weaver and I work for TU Electric. You may not know, but often there are power lines buried underground, as well as overhead... sometimes even in your own yard! I'm telling you this because every year a number of serious injuries or deaths are caused by people accidentally digging into buried power lines.

Electrical safety is a priority.

These types of accidents can easily be avoided. If people would just think before they dig. Know the location of underground electric lines before you dig. If you're not sure, call us at TU Electric.

We care about your safety.

In each advertisement on this page you will find the contestants in a prominent football game being played around the country this weekend. On the entry blank at the bottom of the page, fill in your selection of the WINNING TEAM only...opposite the name of the business firm on the entry blank. Then clip out the entry blank and send it to FOOTBALL CONTEST EDITOR, Snyder Daily News, Box 949, or bring it by the news office at 3600 College Ave. Entries must be in the hands of the editor by 5:00 p.m. Friday. Games ending in a tie must be specified as a tie or else it will be considered a miss.

To avoid splitting the prize money a TIE-BREAKER slot will be provided on each entry blank. Pick the total points of the score for that game and in case of a tie the one who picks the winner and the nearest number of total points will receive the prize money. The same formula will apply to second and third place winners. In the case of a perfect score, the formula would apply for that cash prize.

There will be fun for the entire family. Only one entry blank will be permitted for any one person. More than one will disqualify all that person's entries. Entries must be on the official entry blank (No Copies Please). Scores listed on the entry blank will have no bearing except in the case of the tie-breaker. Sign your entry blank and list your address and phone number and watch for the winner's story in next Tuesday's SDN. Employees of the SDN and their families are not eligible to enter.
