Hochwalt resigns as Cogdell hospital CEO

To accept senior vice president position with St. Mary's in Lubbock

Cogdell Memorial Hospital Administrator Tom Hochwalt announced Thursday that he has accepted the position of senior vice president with St. Mary's of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock, effective Jan. 1.

The announcement came during the hospital's September board meeting.

"Certainly I have mixed emotions about this. I will miss all of my friends and associates here, however, I am excited about the new challenges that await me at St. Mary's," said Hochwalt.

As senior vice president, one of Hochwalt's responsibilities will be St. Mary's rural outreach program. As such, he said, he will attend Cogdell board meetings.

Board Chairman G.A. Parks Jr. said, "While we are sorry to lose Tom from our community, we are glad that he will continue to be involved with Cogdell through his role in Lubbock."

Hochwalt said he hopes a new CEO will be in place at Cogdell by early December.

"I thank you all for giving me this opportunity. It has been tremendously rewarding, both professionally and personally," Hochwalt said.

Hochwalt's announcement proceded a unanimous approval by the board to renew Cogdell's contract with St. Mary's of the Plains for another three years.

Hochwalt has been only the second CEO at Cogdell in more than 23 years. He replaced Cy Miller who served the hospital for 26 years, including 21 as administrator.

Hochwalt came to Cogdell on Jan. 18, 1988 from Lea Regional Hospital in Hobbs, N.M., where he had served as chief financial officer since July 1987. For the previous two years, he was chief financial officer at United General Hospital in Sedro-Woolley, Wash.

He had also served as assistant chief financial officer at Lee Regional from July of 1983 until (see HOCHWALT, page 8)

Hospital board renews pact with St. Mary of the Plains

Cogdell Memorial Hospital board of managers on Thursday unanimously approved the renewal of a three-year management contract with St. Mary of the Plains Hospital in Lubbock, gave its okay to seek bids for the replacement of the Medical II building, roof, and learned of two family practitioners who may be interested in locating in Snyder.

The board also learned that CEO Tom Hochwalt has accepted a position as senior vice president with St. Mary's.

board members noted three changes. They include, 1) paying fringe benefit costs in addition to the hourly wage of consultants — estimated to be about $3,000 a year; 2) a decrease in the liability limits required from Cogdell, with the understanding that due (see CONTRACT, page 8)

New board member...

Collins to address graduating classes

Richard H. Collins, Texas Department of Criminal Justice board member, will address a group of 34 graduates of the Western Texas College correctional officer training course at 7:30 this evening.

Certification ceremonies will be held in the Fine Arts Theatre on campus with a reception to follow in the student center.

The graduates represent 26 students from the daytime class which concluded this week and eight students from an evening class which concluded in August.

Collins serves as president of the Texas Foundation for Conservative Studies, a private research foundation; is chairman of Associated Texans Against Crime; and is chairman of Conservatives Acting Together Political Action Committee. He was a member of the Texas Historical Commission from 1981 to 1989.

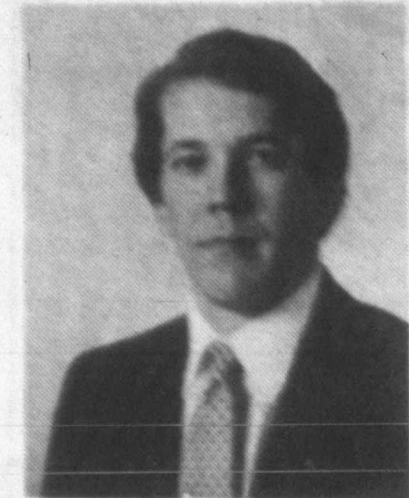

A Dallas native and sixth generation of a well known Texas family in commerce, politics and civic matters, Collins follows a family tradition in the investment business. Elected chairman of the board of the Forney Bank and Trust in 1971, he served as chief executive officer until 1979. From 1983 until 1986, he served as chairman of First National Bank of Jefferson, where he initiated the bank's involvement in historic preservation lending which began the commercial rejuvenation of the city.

Collins became active in the real estate market in 1973 and over the next 13 years acquired ranch, commercial and residential investment property. He also developed resort condominiums and residential lots. He sold his portfolio of Texas real estate in the mid 1980s. He has also participated in numerous oil and gas drilling ventures, acquisition of oil and gas properties and management of oil companies. He was one of the organizational investors in a company that purchased seven AM and FM radio stations in the Southwest in 1979 and was a principal in a company that acquired 42 newspapers in Cleveland, Ohio and Milwaukee, Wis., in 1986.

Collins was appointed to the TDCJ board this month by Gov. Bill Clements.

Collins will be introduced by Roy Baze, civic leader and former member of the WTC (see COLLINS, page 8)

Lake Ivie opens Saturday

O.H. Ivie Reservoir, the newest of the Colorado River Municipal Water District's reservoirs, will open to the public Saturday.

Officials advise there will be no recreation fee at the lake until Jan. 1, 1991.

Limited picnic and sanitary facilities are available, but there are no concession facilities at present.

Fishing will be allowed, although stocking was begun only this year. State fishing rules and regulations will govern size and limits of allowable fish.

The Concho Recreation Area on the southwest side and the Padgett Recreation Area on the northeast side will be open, but the Bill Kennedy Recreation Area near the north end of the dam is presently inaccessible, officials have advised.

Heavy rains during the past week have raised the reservoir level over 15 vertical feet, covered more than 4,300 acres or 7.0 square miles, and impounded more than 80,000 acre-feet of water.

Richard Halfmann, recreation superintendent, along with Jimmy Folkner and Royce Hood from Spence Reservoir, will be on hand to assist visitors. Copies of the rules and regulations for the lake will be available.

District officials also urge boaters to be cautious on the uncharted waters. Although spacious ramps will provide convenient access to the water, channels leading to the main body of the reservoir are narrow and rocky. Moreover, flood waters have flushed considerable timber and debris into the water, which could be a temporary hazard. For this reason, water skiing is discouraged. Since the reservoir is just now becoming a sizeable body of water, there has been no opportunity to mark shallow or rocky areas and prudent boating speeds are advised. (see IVIE, page 8)

Gun show opens Saturday at Scurry County Coliseum

Scurry County Coliseum doors open at 9 a.m. Saturday for the Canyon Gun Club's ninth annual Gun, Knife and Coin Show.

The public is invited to buy, sell and trade a wide array of items. Spectators are encouraged.

The show will open at 9 a.m. Saturday and Sunday. The doors close at 6 p.m. Saturday and at 5 p.m. Sunday.

Canyon Gun Club memberships will be available at the show for $20. A member/spouse membership is available for $25. Anyone who is a United States citizen and age 17 or older may join. There are approximately 90 members currently.

Coyote Opry, fair scheduled in Gail

GAIL — Quilts, baked goods, an art show and team roping will be among the attractions Saturday when Borden County Junior Livestock Association sponsors its Coyote Opry and the county's first fair.

Fair participants are asked to bring their exhibits to the county barn at 11 a.m. in preparation of judging. Categories include quilts, home canned vegetables, preserves and jellies, embroidery, textile painting, crochet, fresh vegetables and irrigated and dryland cotton. An art show will also be held for grades kindergarten through 12.

Team ropers will begin roping at the county arena at 1 p.m. and fair exhibits are to be judged at 2 p.m.

Exhibits will be available for viewing at 4 p.m.

Fish and fries will be served from 4 p.m. until 6:30 p.m. The price per plate will be $5 for adults and $2.50 for children.

The Coyote Opry will begin at 6:30 p.m. and will feature local and area country and gospel music. Homemade pies, cakes and cobblers will be auctioned during the opry.

A concession stand will be available throughout the day.

The event serves as a major fundraiser to assist with the improvements of the show barn facilities.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "The trouble with the brotherhood of man is that it has been turning out more hoods than brothers."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

The guy who made that famous saying about "the only sure thing in life is death and taxes," is probably a relative of the fellow who says "taxes are killing us."

If you keep up with area communities, rising taxes are not limited merely to Snyder and Scurry County. Over in Sweetwater, for instance, the school board is facing a loss in state funding and a half million budget deficit. This has caused trustees to propose a 34 percent increase in the school district tax rate.

On a lighter note, Sarah Greene, publisher of the Gilmer Mirror in East Texas reprinted a series of classified ads.

On Monday it read: "For Sale—R. D. Jones has one sewing machine for sale. Phone 555-3456 after 7 p.m. and ask for Mrs. Kelly who lives with him cheap."

On Tuesday: "Notice—We regret having erred in R. D. Jones' ad yesterday. It should have read, one sewing machine for sale, cheap. Phone 555-3456 and ask for Mrs. Kelly who lives with him after 7 p.m."

On Wednesday: "R.D. Jones has informed us that he has received several annoying telephone calls because of the error we made in his classified ad yesterday. His ad stands corrected as follows. For Sale—R.D. Jones has one sewing machine for sale. Cheap. Phone 555-3456 after 7 p.m. and ask for Mrs. Kelly who loves with him."

Finally on Thursday: "Notice—I, R.D. Jones, have no sewing machine for sale. I smashed it. Don't call 555-3456 as the telephone has been taken out. I have not been carrying on with Mrs. Kelly. Until yesterday, she was my housekeeper, but she quit."

Shooting doesn't surprise officials

AUSTIN (AP) — A gunman's onslaught on a Seguin law office came as no surprise to officials who deal daily in the world of family violence.

Attorneys and welfare caseworkers say they fear the same thing might happen to them.

Two attorneys Thursday remained hospitalized after a gunman, reportedly distraught over losing custody of his two daughters, entered their law firm Wednesday and began firing.

"I'm amazed this doesn't happen more often," said Allison Benesche, an assistant district attorney in Austin who represents the Texas Department of Human Services in asking courts to remove children from abusive homes.

"You don't end up with happy people when you're taking people's kids away from them forever," she said.

Albert De Leon, 34 of Stockdale, was charged with attempted capital murder and remained in the Guadalupe County Jail in lieu of $1 million bail.

Investigators said they believe a custody disputed prompted the shootings Wednesday.

Attorney Alwin E. Pape Jr., 46, suffered three gunshot wounds in the back, neck and shoulder and was in serious condition at Brackenridge Hospital in Austin.

Christopher Moore, 33, was shot three times in the left side and chest and was in guarded condition, at Guadalupe Valley Hospital in Seguin.

"There is nothing more insulting to people than to have a judge say they have been wrongfully parenting their children and to have their children removed," Ms. Benesche said.

Sept. 29, 1990

There is a chance in the year ahead you may be able to participate in something engineered by a competent friend. You'll be brought into the arrangement because your pal likes you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you're entertaining today, it might be wise not to invite too many people. Everyone, including you, will have a more enjoyable time in a cozy, controllable group. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though this should be a profitable day for you, it still might not live up to your expectations. Unreasonable aspirations invite disappointment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Do not let a companion or associate do your thinking for you today regarding a matter about which you are better informed. Think for yourself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Your possibilities for personal gain are quite good today, but not because of your luck. Compensation is only likely in situations where you've made a worthy contribution.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll be both a doer and talker today, yet you'll still chalk up accomplishments. However, you'd do better if you were more industrious and less vocal.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You shouldn't have any problems recognizing your opportunities today and what they could mean for you, but you are likely to fall short on exploiting them to your maximum advantage.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You're going to have to make some concessions or compromises if you hope to work out an agreement with another today. Both parties will do OK, but neither will get all.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Something propitious might develop for you today where your career is concerned. If you handle it properly, it could lead to advancement or increased earnings.

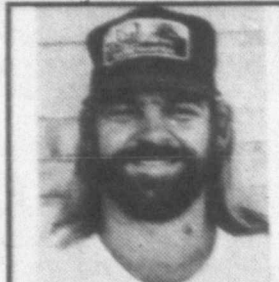

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Socially you are likely to be popular with your peers today, especially members of the opposite gender. You'll make more points with you humor and charm than you will with your logic and reason.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Guard against inclinations today toward excess and overdoing. In some cases, you might be generous to a fault, while in other cases you could have trouble getting your purse unzipped.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) When you take time to study situations your judgment should be quite good today, but there is a possibility you might reason in one direction and act out your thoughts in another.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Boldness and assertiveness can fulfill your material aspirations today, but wishful thinking won't. You're going to have to want something intensely enough to go after it.

Baptist general convention leaders to discuss regents

DALLAS (AP) — The leadership of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, shocked by Baylor University's decision last week to shield itself from a possible fundamentalist takeover, will meet next week to discuss a reaction to the move.

Tuesday's meeting of 15 elected leaders of the convention's administrative committee will be the first such gathering since Baylor's charter amendment that created a separate governing body not controlled by the convention.

Baylor's Board of Trustees on Sept. 21 filed a new charter with the Texas Secretary of State that established a separate Board of Regents with "sole management and control" of the 145-year-old Waco school, the world's largest Baptist-supported university.

Baptist General Convention President Phil Lineberger, pastor of Richardson Heights Baptist Church, said the convention's reaction to the charter amendment could best be described as "just shock."

"I was very surprised," Lineberger said. "We have an attorney who is helping us. We're studying whether or not what was done was legal. We have to get a reading from our attorney and then we'll decide what the possible repercussions would be as far as changes in financing."

George Gaston, pastor of Houston's Willow Meadows Baptist Church and chairman of the convention's administrative committee, concurred.

"Shock is a great word," Gaston said. "There were some folks who were angry, but I'd say on the whole it would be shock."

Gaston said the purpose of Tuesday's meeting is to inform committee members about the status of Baylor's charter prior to a gathering of the convention's 193-member executive board in mid-October.

"We're going to talk about the fact that this has happened and make sure everyone is up to date," Gaston said. "The convention bylaws and constitution say that Baylor should have done it (revise the charter) one way and they say that the charter allowed them to do it another way."

"We'll have to look at funding and the convention's policy regarding funding, but I really don't know what the outcome will be."

Previously, the state convention elected 48 trustees who were charged with running the school. Under the new charter, the trustees will appoint six members of the 24-person Board of Regents. The remainder of the board will be elected by the sitting regents.

Lineberger said he met in Dallas on Tuesday with Gaston and Robert Parker, chairman of the convention's executive board, to discuss possible reactions to the board of trustees' action.

Hostage's letter to wife urges restraint

HOUSTON (AP) — A Spring woman, whose husband is a hostage in the Middle East, has received a two-page letter from her spouse that is a call for restraint in the Persian Gulf crisis.

Patricia Hale received the handwritten letter from her husband, Edward Hale, in the mail Thursday. Hale, 52, a rig supervisor for OGE Drilling Co., was taken off a Kuwait oil rig by Iraqi soldiers just hours after the Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait.

"I fear that this continued detention (of Westerners) will breed ill will among many of the peoples of the world, and that ill will will be directed at the ordinary people of Iraq," Hale wrote Aug. 24. "These people do not deserve that. They suffered untold losses during the long Gulf war (with Iran).

"As always, it is the ordinary people who suffer the consequences."

The missive was delivered last week to the U.S. State Department by Iraqi diplomats along with other communiques from American hostages.

Mrs. Hale said she does not believe the conciliatory tone in the letter was forced upon her husband by his captors, despite its hand-delivery by the Iraqis.

"If there was something wrong, he would put something in the letter that would indicate that, and I would detect it if there was," she said. "This is how he thinks. He is a very generous person, and he cares for other people."

He wrote that he is being held at one of the strategic locations where Westerners serve as "human shields" against a U.S.-led attack on Iraq, adding he doesn't think his detention there "is the will or the wish of the Iraqi people."

He said he is well and well-fed.

"I have been having trouble slimming down in the waist," he wrote. "The food is so good, and they serve us so much. I have made some progress though, maybe (losing) three or four pounds. It saddens me to think of all the hungry people in this country and throughout the whole world who could be fed with the food that is wasted on us."

His comments came just as Iraq announced it would begin withholding food from Westerners in the country. Shortages from an international embargo have forced the Iraqis to begin rationing certain goods, such as flour and cooking oil.

"I have been very distressed with the whole idea of food and medicine being part of the embargo," Mrs. Hale told the Houston Chronicle on Thursday. "To embargo food, that is almost as bad as withholding air," she said. "I mean, how long can you hold your breath?"

In the letter, Hale discussed his feelings toward the Iraqis.

"When I was home last, you remember my saying how I liked and respected the people I met over here," he wrote.

"I want you to know that still holds true. Every Arab I have met is genuinely friendly, courteous, honest and religious. Like I have always said, ordinary people all around the world are very much the same," the letter read. "The people who have been ordered to detain us from our families are very good to us under the circumstances."

"From the first, soldiers who took us from the rig shared water and food with us, giving us the best and the first, and apologizing that they had orders."

He also expressed concern that "the people of Iraq may receive the scorn and the wrath of all the other peoples of the world."

"I do not wish that on these good, hard-working people, for I wish no harm to anyone," he wrote.

Dream turns into nightmare

By James Jacoby

Three no-trump would be easy, but North showed his spade suit, and South now stabbed at four hearts. West had to pinch himself when North passed. No, he was not dreaming, but he did fall asleep later.

When the club 10 was led, declarer took dummy's ace and ruffed a club. Then he played K-A and ruffed a spade. He followed with the A-K of diamonds, discarding a club from dummy, and played a third diamond. West ruffed in with the heart 10 and exited with the heart king. Declarer took the trump ace and led still another diamond. West ruffed with the heart queen and played another heart. Declarer won the jack, but the eight of hearts in the North hand was now high, and that was 10 tricks for declarer.

Declarer played well, but West can prevail. When declarer plays the third diamond, West must ruff low. The dummy will overruff, but now, when declarer tries to ruff back to his hand with a black card, West will overruff and play a low heart. Declarer must win the ace, leaving West with two high honors. He can use one to ruff and the other to draw dummy's last trump.

And what about three no-trump? For starters, East might lead a low club, and South's singleton queen would win the trick. Regardless of that, if North plays A-K of diamonds, dropping West's jack, he can continue with the 10 to force out East's queen. So declarer will get five diamond tricks, one heart, two spades and one club trick or two, without any trouble.

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I finished menopause at the age of 48 without hormones or any awareness of what was happening to me. Is there a need for hormones now? Would bone-density X-rays be beneficial?

DEAR READER: This is a decision best made with the help of your gynecologist. As a general rule, however, women past menopause (and with no symptoms) do not need supplemental hormones.

The one exception to this rule of thumb is osteoporosis. Every woman, starting in midlife, experiences a gradually accelerating loss of bone calcium, often leading to brittle, fragile bones that break easily. Thus, osteoporosis is an extremely common condition that is a major cause of pain and disability for millions of women.

It is most satisfactorily diagnosed with a bone-density examination, a type of X-ray test that measures the amount of calcium in bones. However, the test is expensive, subject to error and unavailable except in large hospitals and teaching centers. Therefore, it is not presently used as a screening tool (to measure bone density in most women). Rather, it is used for patients who have recognized bone problems, to plot the course of treatment and to document the effects of therapy.

If you are active and healthy, you probably don't need a bone-density examination or hormone treatment, although you would benefit by calcium supplements (about 2,000 milligrams of calcium a day) and regular exercise, both of which can slow bone-calcium losses.

On the other hand, if you are showing signs of osteoporosis, such as curvature of the spine ("dowager's hump") and bone fractures, you should be examined by an endocrinologist, a specialist in metabolism, who would obtain a bone-density examination and suggest more aggressive treatment with prescription drugs, such as hormones, calcitonin or Difenol (etidronate disodium).

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Osteoporosis." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their names and addresses.

to my attention at P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My hands sweat profusely. They actually leave small puddles on the floor. It's humiliating and interferes with everyday activity. Is there an operation to remove the sweat glands in my hands? If so, whom would I consult to perform such a procedure?

DEAR READER: Your affliction is called hyperhidrosis, excessive perspiration of the hands and feet. The cause is unknown, but the condition is related to anxiety and stress in some individuals.

Treatment usually consists of an antiperspirant; a 20 percent solution of aluminum chloride and alcohol applied at night to the palms (or soles) and covered with cellophane wrap. In the morning, the plastic film is removed and the area is washed. Two applications ordinarily control symptoms for about a week.

See a dermatologist for further advice. Operations to prevent palm-sweating are expensive, difficult to perform and not always successful.

Record may be broken

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Hank Aaron says Oakland A's outfielder Jose Canseco is the best bet for breaking his major league baseball home run record. If he keeps playing, that is.

"That's the problem. Baseball players today can afford to quit," Aaron said Thursday. "I had to keep playing. I needed the money."

Aaron slammed 755 home runs in 23 seasons and retired after the 1976 season. He played all but two of his seasons with the Milwaukee and Atlanta Braves.

Snyder, Steers renew rivalry

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

Tonight's meeting of the Snyder Tigers and the Big Spring Steers in non-district football action will present the classic confrontation.

Snyder's defense, rated tops in the area and third in the state, is allowing just 119.3 yards per outing and Big Spring's offense, rated the most productive Class 4A squad around, is gouging out 345 yards a game.

"It's the immovable object meets the irresistible force," chuckled Snyder head coach David Baugh.

"There could be an explosion out there."

To keep the explosion from backfiring on the Tigers, the Black and Gold defense will have to defuse a trio of Big Spring playmakers.

"Number one, you have to stop Jermaine Miller. He's their healthiest back right now," Baugh stated.

Miller is a 6-2, 208-pound senior tailback who has amassed 386 yards in three games to lead District 3-4A in that category.

The next Steer you have to stop, according to the Snyder coach, is 6-2, 215-pound wingback Neal Mayfield.

Mayfield has caught six passes for 269 total yards and a healthy 44.8 yard average per catch.

"He is an expert at making the big play," Baugh reported.

"He can catch the short pass and turn it into a long gainer for you."

Steer quarterback Gerald Cobos also drew praise from Baugh.

"He is excellent at running and throwing the ball. We will have to contain him, also."

Big Spring's offense attacks the line of scrimmage from a variety of formations.

"I expect to see them line up in the I and run Miller straight at us a bunch," coach Baugh predicted. "But they'll also line up in the power-I, I-pro and straight-T formations, and they'll use motion off all those sets."

"They're not just sitting still in one formation all the time."

Snyder's defense, charged with keeping the high-powered Steers out of the end zone, is led by linebacker Blair Williams, the team's leading tackler.

Williams has registered 27 take-downs in the first three games of the season and has fallen on a pair of opponents' fumbles.

Defensively, The Tigers have allowed just 189 yards rushing and a measly 169 yards passing in their three previous contests.

Coch Baugh doesn't expect to use many tricks against the Steers.

"We'll just stay with the same basic scheme on defense."

Snyder's offense revolved around backfield mates Paul Anderson and Brian Brunson a week ago against Littlefield.

Tailback Anderson, a senior, scooted for 106 yards on the ground contributing two touchdowns in the process.

Brunson, a senior playing fullback for the Tigers, bulled his way for 86 yards on 17 carries, including a pair of crucial rushes for late-game first downs.

Brunson also punted for a 53.5 average against the Wildcats, scored 17 knockdowns as a lead blocker and kicked a 24-yard field goal in the 16-6 SHS win.

Big Spring defenders to watch, according to Baugh, include middle linebacker Felipe Saiz, who the Tiger pilot calls, "an excellent linebacker" and 1989 all-area defensive back Freddy Rodriguez.

"Rodriguez is an outstanding safety," he said.

"He was an all-area pick last year after intercepting 11 passes."

At first glance, Big Spring's defensive statistics appear to show a weakness in pass defense.

The Steers have given up 385 passing yards this season, but Baugh feels that might be misleading.

"Last week, Lubbock High threw every down but five. When someone does that they're going to get a lot of passing yards."

"Big Spring intercepted four of those passes and didn't give up but two touchdowns."

Snyder will be looking to break a Steer winning streak against the Tigers that dates back to 1986 when the two teams take the field for their 39th meeting this evening.

Despite suffering four straight losses to the Steers, the Snyder-Big Spring matchups have traditionally been great ones. Big Spring topped Snyder 27-17 in 1986, 22-14 in 1987, 14-6 in 1988 and 28-16 in 1989 — a year in which the Steers claimed the district title.

Though some of the 38 previous meetings have resulted in lopsided scores, such as Snyder's 42-28 victory in 1985, the annual meeting between the teams is more indicative of the Steer's wins of 14-13 in 1980 and '81, and Snyder victories of 12-7 in 1977, 14-13 in '76, 21-17 in '75 and 28-25 in '73.

Big Spring leads the series, 21 victories to 17.

Clint Haywood, out for two weeks after undergoing arthroscopic knee surgery, returns to the starting lineup against the Steers.

Haywood will start in his old strong guard spot.

The only other change among starters is at the strong tackle post where junior Chad Fox draws the start.

The 240-pound Fox steps in for Chris Woodard who has been fighting illness this week.

Coch Baugh reports no injuries this week other than the normal bumps and bruises associated with practice.

Kick-off time for tonight's game is 8 o'clock.

Lady Tigers battle Estacado Saturday

Snyder continues District 2-4A competition Saturday as the Lady Tiger volleyball squad hosts Lubbock Estacado in a 2 p.m. contest.

Snyder is fresh off a 5-15, 15-5, 15-9 come-from-behind victory over Seminole Tuesday which upped the Lady Tigers' season mark to 5-7. They stand at 1-0 in district play after beating favored Dunbar last Saturday in the loop opener. Angie Crawford was the offensive leader for SHS against the Maidens Tuesday.

Crawford served 13 points including the last 10 in the decisive third game.

Teammate Dayla Church added 9.

Dunbar defeated Estacado Tuesday night in their last outing, 15-13, 8-15, 15-11.

The Lady Matadors are 0-2 in league competition and 5-12 overall.

Tennis squad faces Lobos

Snyder tennis players put the team's 2-0 District 2-4A mark on the line in a Saturday match at Levelland.

The Tigers defeated Lubbock Estacado two weeks ago, 11-9, then beat a Dunbar squad without any boys, 6-1 to claim an unbeaten record on the young loop season.

Gayle Henderson, Racheal Wilson, Robin Cave and Leslie Sandoval all won singles matches against Dunbar last Saturday.

Wilson and Henderson teamed up for a doubles win as did Kathy Ogburn and Cave.

The Tigers will return home Oct. 6 for a pair of matches.

Abilene Cooper's JV team comes to Snyder for an 8:30 date with the Tigers followed at 2 p.m. by Monahans.

U.S. Congress said moving to approve bigger tapping of strategic oil reserves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is moving to give President Bush authority to conduct a bigger "test" sale from the nation's Strategic Petroleum Reserve. Energy Secretary James Watkins provided the opening Thursday for a second release of oil from the stockpile without forcing the declaration of an energy emergency by saying the 3-million-barrel sale Bush ordered a day earlier is too small to test the system.

Recalling that the administration just two weeks ago had threatened to veto a larger test sale, Rep. Phil Sharp, D-Ind., asked Watkins at a hearing by House Energy and Commerce subcommittees how large a test he would like.

"Three times the (5 million) number is the number," the secretary replied. "We want to run half a million barrels a day to test the system."

The strategic reserve, created in 1975, consists of 590 million barrels of crude oil stored in salt deposits in Texas and Louisiana.

"We welcome the change," said Sharp, who had his staff draft a bill authorizing a new test sale of 15 million barrels and gather the signatures of several other committee members on it while Watkins was testifying.

Anticipating no opposition in the Senate, Sharp said the bill could be on Bush's desk in two weeks.

Despite the test sale that Bush's spokesman said was also intended to "signal" traders to slow their speculation on the future cost of oil, spot prices for West Texas Intermediate Crude rose another 90 cents per 42-gallon barrel Thursday to $39.55, double its price in July.

"We're not going into this test with the idea that it's going to bring the cost down $8 a barrel or something," Watkins said.

Bob Porter, a department spokesman, said an average of 167,000 barrels of oil — far short of the 500,000 barrels that analysts say is needed to drive prices down — will be released daily for 30 days.

"We think the bulk of the oil will be transported in November," Porter said. "If the pipelines or tankers can take it, we'll deliver it to them the next day. But typically it takes 30 days for the commercial docks to

by The Associated Press

Millions of Iranians staged anti-American demonstrations today, chanting "Death To America" and denouncing the U.S.-led forces deployed in the Persian Gulf in the standoff with Iraq, according to a news report.

Turkey enforced the U.N. air embargo against Iraq by searching planes bound for Baghdad, and Spain and South Korea joined other nations in pulling envoys from embassies besieged by Iraqi troops in Kuwait.

A grenade attack killed the 9-year-old son of a French soldier and injured 17 other people in Djibouti, a small Red Sea country that serves as a staging ground for French forces in the Persian Gulf, officials said today.

No one immediately claimed responsibility for the attack Thursday night at a cafe frequented by French military per-

Burglary closed by local police

Local police Thursday afternoon cleared a Sept. 22 burglary case.

Officers forwarded the case to the district attorney after questioning two juveniles, 12- and 13-years-old, about the weekend burglary of the Minute Market, 520 East Hwy. Taken in the burglary were cigarettes, candy and soft drinks, some of which were recovered.

Officers also investigated an aggravated assault complaint at 10:25 p.m. at 1915 Coleman. Linda Alvarez reported that her 11-year-old son had been stabbed earlier that day by a 13-year-old subject. She said that no medical attention was needed. A report for aggravated assault was filed.

In other police activity, an employee at Jodi's Dress Shop, 2511 College Ave., said that two females had apparently taken a dress from the store without paying.

At 8:52 p.m., officers were called to Eastridge Apartments where someone reported hearing a gunshot. Contact was made with other tenants who also heard the noise but were unable to identify where it came from.

Police arrested a 31-year-old male at 1:13 a.m. today in the 3300 block of College Ave. for driving while intoxicated.

Mishaps worked

Snyder police worked two minor accidents Thursday.

At 1:14 p.m. at 2600 Ave. W, a 1973 Chevrolet driven by Marie Martinez of 3905 Merriill was in collision with a 1980 Chrysler driven by Betty Spurlock of Box 84.

The second mishap occurred at 11:24 p.m. at 2500 Ave. X. A 1980 Dodge driven by Juan Mendoza Bernal of 2307 Ave. I struck a parked 1986 Chevrolet owned by Tina Porter of 100 37th St.

SO makes arrest

A Scurry County sheriff's deputy arrested a 30-year-old male at 10:30 a.m. Thursday for theft by check out of Crosby County.

schedule pickups."

Top lawmakers, including Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole of Kansas, have been urging Bush for more than a month to tap the reserve to stem the rapid rise in oil prices since Iraq's takeover of Kuwait on Aug. 2 and the subsequent embargo removing about 4.3 million barrels daily from the world market.

Before acting Wednesday, Bush had repeatedly contended there was no actual shortage and no justification for tapping the government's emergency oil stockpile just because of rising prices.

Watkins reaffirmed that policy Thursday, but acknowledged it could change quickly because of the growing tightness in world supplies as winter nears.

He also cited problems that Saudi Arabia is having with corroded pipelines in trying to make up for production from Iraq and Kuwait.

Hochwalt

Hochwalt received his bachelor of science degree in May of 1976 from Eastern Kentucky University and his master's of business administration degree in 1983 from Texas Tech University.

The hospital has experienced financial growth under Hochwalt. After showing a net loss of $236,000 in 1988 and $98,872 in 1989, the hospital has projected a net gain of $347,939 for 1990. In June, the hospital board approved a 1991 budget calling for a reduction in ad valorem taxes from $488,000 to $225,000, and a projected net revenue of $428,910.

"All along, you have envisioned Cogdell as having the potential to become a regional medical center. This budget clearly indicates we are making progress toward that goal," Hochwalt told the board in June of this year.

Among the steps to the hospital's growth have been the management contract with St. Mary's, the successful recruitment of physicians and a contract with Texas Tech University Medical Health Science Center to provide healthcare for Price Daniel Unit inmates through the Texas Department of Corrections. That contract was recently renewed for another year.

Blue Bell enters global marketplace

AUSTIN (AP) — Yankees can't even buy it yet, but Texas-made Blue Bell Creameries' ice cream has entered the global marketplace.

In the last year and a half, several companies from outside the United States have asked to distribute Blue Bell, company officials say.

So far, Blue Bell has given only one foreign firm, Manhattan Paletas of Mexico, permission to market the ice cream. That agreement was announced this week.

The Mexican firm, which manufactures frozen fruit treats in Mexico and San Antonio, will buy the ice cream already made at Blue Bell's Brenham plant and ship it into Mexico by refrigerated truck.

Blue Bell's food service manager, Sonny Schulte, said he has talked to at least 20 companies from Mexico alone. He has also had inquiries from Japan, Hong Kong, Greece, Thailand and Mexico.

"There's not a week goes by when I don't get a call from somewhere," Schulte said. "It's unreal. ... I'm amazed."

Schulte said Blue Bell has no plans to manufacture in Mexico. He also said company officials are surprised by the ice cream's international appeal. The firm does no promotion or marketing outside this country, and all the contacts have originated with the foreign companies or their representatives, he said.

Blue Bell ice cream should account for about $300,000 to $400,000 of the ice cream sales in Mexico this year and grow to almost $1 million in sales the second year, company officials said.

Specialty foods would be hit hardest

WASHINGTON (AP) — About 7,500 people who inspect beef, pork, chicken soup and Aunt Linda's favorite brand of liver sausage will forfeit a big hunk of their October paychecks if no federal spending deal is worked out.

Moreover, if the mandatory cutbacks are put in place Monday as scheduled without a new budget agreement, that special brand of liver sausage made by a tiny mom-and-pop operation back in the hills may vanish entirely.

That's because no one is allowed to sell meat and poultry products unless it is checked by federal inspectors. And the inspectors are going to take unpaid holidays — furloughs — next month.

Department of Agriculture officials say they do not expect severe shortages at food stores, but they acknowledge that some specialty items from small processors could be hit hard.

Final notices to the nation's 7,000 federally inspected plants were sent out Thursday by Lester M. Crawford, head of the department's Food Safety and Inspection Service, or FSIS.

"When the furlough becomes effective, the meat and poultry industry may not engage in any activities that require inspection," Crawford told plant owners.

Effectively, this will halt production of meat and poultry on those days specified by Crawford as his agency's furlough period. And the four-day layoff will continue each two-week pay cycle, perhaps until 140 days of furlough time has been logged.

Harris County's jail proposal rejected

HOUSTON (AP) — A Harris County proposal to share costs of a temporary prison for 1,000 inmates to prevent early jail releases was rejected by state officials Thursday, sources told the Houston Chronicle.

More than 35 state and county officials held a closed meeting to seek a remedy for the crowding woes that threaten to force release of 400 state felons from the Harris County Jail.

But sources said disputes over financing prevented the two sides from developing alternative housing plans or devising another method to keep federal judges from ordering early releases.

"I can't say we agreed on anything in particular," County Judge Jon Lindsay said after the meeting. "I think we agreed to agree in the future."

Aides to Lindsay and state officials plan to meet again next week. The county's proposal reportedly called for the state to spend $13 million to build a 1,000-bed modular lockup on 10 acres at the Humble Detention Center.

Besides the county's contribution of the land, the Harris County Sheriff's Department would staff the facility.

Jerry Hodge, acting state prison board chairman, confirmed the county's offer, but said the state is legally prohibited from utilizing certain types of temporary housing. He said his agency also lacked the funds to enter into the county's proposal.

On Monday, U.S. District Judge James DeAnda called for exploration of temporary housing for an overrun of state inmates in the county jail. DeAnda and U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice have ordered reductions in the jail population, including a limit of no more than 1,350 state inmates.

found to be a practical alternative to the decrease, St. Mary's cost will go up, and Cogdell will in turn reimburse St. Mary's — a move that could save the local hospital an estimated $60,000-$70,000 a year; and, 3) changing the contract's notice-to-terminate clause from 90 days to 180 days.

Dr. Bid Cooper, in his medical staff report, told the board, "I would like to verbalize support for the contract with St. Mary's," while Dr. Carl Dillaha also appeared before the board to "personally recommend approval of the contract."

Hochwalt added, "The past three years have been very rewarding and I feel that both Cogdell and St. Mary's have grown through the relationship."

Charlie O. Trimble, president of St. Mary's, attended the meeting and praised the relationship, adding, "A large part of the credit for Cogdell's turnaround must go to Judge (Bobby) Goodwin. It was he who initiated the contact with us three years ago. It was he who had the vision to see how such a relationship could benefit your community hospital."

Later in the meeting, board members gave their approval to seek bids to replace the roof of the Medical II building, which includes the critical care unit. The roof has been repaired several times, but recent rains have shown that replacement is necessary. The hospital may also consider building a pitched roof over the existing roof, if that is

Barbara Bush campaigning for gubernatorial candidate

DALLAS (AP) — First Lady Barbara Bush says she shares more with Republican gubernatorial hopeful Clayton Williams than just her political persuasion.

"Claytie and I have one thing in common," Mrs. Bush said at a fund-raiser here Thursday. "We both married very, very well."

She called Williams "the best candidate for Texas" and regaled about 200 supporters with tales of White House home life.

"Our Republican ticket is so strong that George and I are bursting with pride," said Mrs. Bush, praising Williams for what she called his traditional approach to state government.

Mrs. Bush's appearance at the $200-a-plate lunch capped a two-day trip to Texas spent stumping for Republican candidates. Also attending the gathering were

Gov. Bill Clements, his wife Rita, and former Austin Mayor Carole Rylander.

Williams spoke for about 10 minutes, outlining his stances on education and criminal justice and aiming a few shots at his opponent Ann Richards before turning the podium over to Mrs. Bush.

"Clayton Williams and George Bush will make a certainly better team than the Ann Richards-Dukakis team," said Williams. "I'd rather have a direct line to George Bush in the White House than a direct line with Mike Dukakis in the Massachusetts statehouse."

Williams was referring to Richards' keynote address at the 1988 Democratic Convention.

Mrs. Bush stopped in Amarillo on Wednesday to appear with GOP Congressional hopeful Dick Waterfield, a state representative from Canadian. Later in Houston, she appeared on behalf of Republican state treasurer candidate Kay Bailey Hutchison.

Mrs. Bush joked Thursday with Williams, who during a recent visit to the White House said he didn't know what he had just eaten there, but whatever it was "it sure was good."

Mrs. Bush drew laughter with her tales of first dog Millie, their new book and her attempts to retain sanity with a house full of dignitaries and grandchildren.

"George says Millie's new career has gone to her head because she now demands the wine list before dinner," said Mrs. Bush, who assured her listeners that Millie is a teetotaler.

"Millie's Book: As Dictated to Barbara Bush," describes the view of the White House through the eyes of the Bushes' English springer spaniel.

Book proceeds are being donated to Reading is Fundamental, a project to eliminate illiteracy.

Administration official: Gorbachev in danger of becoming irrelevant

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev is wielding less and less power and is in danger of becoming irrelevant as restive Soviet republics wrest authority from the central government, a senior administration official says.

The official, insisting on anonymity, said Thursday that Gorbachev's loss of power is a bigger threat to him than any coup by the military. Rumors of a military takeover have surfaced in Moscow in recent days, but the senior official discounted that possibility.

It is highly unusual that a government official — even when guaranteed protection against being identified — would offer such a candid and damaging assessment of a world leader of Gorbachev's stature.

Moreover, the portrayal of Gorbachev as a faltering figure clashes with the picture that President Bush tried to project when he flew thousands of miles to Helsinki this month to stand alongside the Soviet president in a demonstration that the superpowers are united against Iraq in the Persian Gulf crisis.

As a result, the official's comments raised questions about whether the administration is reassessing its view of Gorbachev. Asked if Gorbachev's problems could complicate the way the United States deals with Moscow, the official replied: "I think it could. It hasn't happened yet."

authority that's been accumulating for some time," said Sonnenfeldt, a specialist in East-West relations who served in the Nixon and Ford administrations.

"The central government and the president (Gorbachev) himself are seriously lacking in authority," Sonnenfeldt said. "He (Gorbachev) has this power that he has been getting from the Supreme Soviet, but it is not clear that anybody pays any attention and implements" his orders.

Rumors have swept Moscow in recent days of a military takeover amid curious troop movements in and around the city. The rumors reached the point where Soviet Defense Minister Dmitri Yazov felt compelled Wednesday to pledge the military's allegiance to the power structure and assert that the troop movements were routine.

The senior administration official said Soviet history offers no precedent for such an attempt by the military.

"I think one of Gorbachev's big problems is not his own staying power," the official said. "He's shown himself a pretty good master of that."

Sharon Gless has new role

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actress Sharon Gless says she was worn out after six years of tracking bad guys on television's "Cagney & Lacey."

"I just retreated. I worked on getting my act together, finding me again," she said. "It sounds so corny. But I had to find out what I liked to do besides work."

Miss Gless, who portrayed New York detective Chris Cagney on the CBS show, is feeling better now and has a new TV series, "The Trials of Rosie O'Neill."

The blond-haired, blue-eyed actress stars as an attorney who left a prestigious law firm for a job as a public defender after her husband dumped her for a younger woman.

Miss Gless, 47, says Rosie isn't a hero but an ordinary woman trying to find a meaningful life after spending her 43 years pleasing others.

publicly, Bush has acknowledged that Gorbachev has serious problems, particularly with his crisis-ridden economy. Yet, he has been unreserved in his praise of the Soviet leader and has said it is in the best interest of the United States for him to remain in power.

The official made his comments in response to questions during an interview with news service reporters.

In a separate interview, Brookings Institution scholar Helmut Sonnenfeldt said, "The administration is quite conscious of this decay of authority and power" of Gorbachev and his government.

"I think that there is a crisis of

President's son feisty, insistent during hearing

DENVER (AP) — Neil Bush, the president's son, combatively denied conflict-of-interest charges stemming from his role as a director of a failed savings and loan.

At the final day of an administrative hearing Thursday, Bush interrupted a government lawyer and drew admonitions several times from the judge.

Bush acknowledged he was a "go-between" for a line of credit that Silverado Banking, Savings and Loan Association of Denver extended to two developers he had business dealings with.

But Bush said he had no financial interest in the projects for which the credit was extended. The two developers eventually defaulted on more than $132 million in Silverado loans.

Bush, 35, was a director of the thrift, which failed in 1988, leaving taxpayers with a $1 billion tab for bailing out depositors.

On several occasions, Administrative Law Judge Daniel J. Davidson warned Bush to answer questions directly and not to interrupt the government lawyer, Stephen Hershkowitz.

"You're doing it again," Davidson scolded Bush at one point. "But you have to wait until the counsel finishes his question, because it's very difficult for the (court) reporter to take down two people talking at once."

Bush replied, "My lawyers advised me I should listen. I'm sorry."

He quickly resumed his combative tone, however, and drew new warnings from the judge.

In February, the federal Office of Thrift Supervision brought an administrative action against Bush that could lead to his being barred from the banking industry.

The regulators contend Bush failed to adequately inform fellow Silverado directors of his business ties with developers Kenneth Good and Bill Walters.

Bush insisted he "had absolutely no doubt" that his business dealings with Good and Walters did not conflict with his role as a Silverado director. Consequently, Bush said, he did not consult with Silverado's management about the question of a potential conflict.

Aside from an appearance in May before a congressional committee investigating Silverado, Bush's fight with regulators mainly had taken the form of briefs and counterbriefs submitted to Davidson.

At his long-awaited appearance at the three-day administrative hearing, Bush hadn't lost any of the defiance of his testimony on Capitol Hill.

Bush insisted several times that, although Good and Walters invested in his oil company, JNB Exploration, he had no financial interest in the projects for which they got loans from Silverado.

Previous testimony showed Silverado extended a $900,000 line of credit to a partnership formed by Bush and Good to explore for oil and gas in Argentina. The line of credit, intended to persuade Argentine officials that the venture had strong financial resources, never was used.

Under questioning from Hershkowitz, Bush said lawyers for Good's company suggested Bush present the credit line proposal to the Silverado board.

Prosecution rests case in Lumbrera trial

GARDEN CITY, Kan. (AP) — The state rested its case in the trial of Diana Lumbrera, who is accused of smothering her 4-year-old son to collect insurance money and win sympathy.

Thursday, defense attorney Michael Quint moved for acquittal of his 31-year-old client. But Judge Stephen Nyswonger said Finney County Attorney Ricklin Pierce had made a good enough case that he couldn't throw out the murder charge.

Lumbrera also faces four murder charges in Texas in the deaths of three of her other children and a cousin's child. All six of her children died before age 5. However, details of those other deaths cannot be used against her in the Garden City murder trial.

Nyswonger recessed the trial until Monday because some defense witnesses, including Wichita pathologist William Eckert, cannot be present until then. Eckert conducted the second autopsy on the child's body. Eckert said Jose Lumbrera died of a massive viral infection, not smothering.

Eckert's testimony is expected to be rebutted by Michael Baden, a former New York City chief medical examiner.

Quint has not said whether he will put Lumbrera on the stand in her own defense, but indicated he would take only about five hours to question eight witnesses.

The case is expected to go to the jury Wednesday morning.

On Thursday, Quint had more success with a request that testimony about the "Munchausen-by-proxy Syndrome" be thrown out. The syndrome is a pattern of behavior that, according to one theory, characterizes parents who may harm their children to win sympathy.

Nyswonger told the prosecutor he had not seen "a scintilla" of a connection between the testimony Pierce had presented and the syndrome. He gave the prosecutor until Monday to make that connection or have the testimony, a key part of Pierce's theory of what motivated Lumbrera, tossed out of the case.

The judge also denied Pierce's request to have numerous overdue bills seized at Lumbrera's house admitted into evidence.

Michael Utz, a Garden City Police Department detective, confirmed earlier testimony that Lumbrera had nodded her head up and down when he talked about her suspected guilt and agreed with his theory of how the killing happened.

Sit-Down Dinner Had Bride's Mother on Edge of Her Seat

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: Recently my husband and I gave our daughter what we hoped would be an elegant wedding reception, followed by a sit-down dinner.

A cousin of mine brought her two young uninvited children, ages 4 and 6, who made a nuisance of themselves running around the cake table, screaming, laughing and playing tag while the dinner was in progress. I had to get up from my place at the table to ask them to please go sit with their mother.

Because I did not expect the children, there were no place cards for them, but they sat down first, displacing two other guests for whom I had to find other seating! (We were short two dinners, but fortunately the caterers were able to handle it.)

Abby, please, please, please, tell your readers that if they receive a wedding invitation that does not specifically include their children, they should not assume that the children are invited. It is incredible that people actually need to be told this, but apparently they do, so be a "dear" and tell them.

BRIDE'S MOTHER IN INDIANA

DEAR MOTHER: I've been trying to get that message across for more than three decades. Each time, I have been bombarded with critical mail telling me that children "need" exposure to adult gatherings in order to learn how to conduct themselves.

I have also been called "an old fuddy-duddy" to suggest that uninvited guests of any age can drive a hostess's blood pressure up — and wear her patience down.

at anything and everything he heard or saw moving.

I complained to the owner several times, to no avail. I was simply told that I was the only person in the neighborhood who was disturbed. I spoke to some of the neighbors, and they told me that they too were disturbed by the barking but they were unwilling to sign a petition of complaint, so I had to find my own solution.

I put a new two-hour cassette tape into my recorder and set it in my bedroom window when I went to bed at 11 p.m. I turned it on and just let it run while the dog serenaded me for two hours non-stop.

The next day, I took the recorder to my neighbor's home, turned up the volume and played it for him. Believe me, I didn't have to play it very long before he asked me to please turn it off. He then picked up the telephone and called a friend who lived in the country and asked him how soon he could come and get the dog.

DON IN CHULA VISTA, CALIF.

DEAR DON: Thanks for a doggone good idea.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

DEAR ABBY: When I read the letter from "Dog Tired," it brought back memories of the same type of situation I had years ago. I also had a barking dog in my neighborhood that nearly drove me crazy. The owner was a bartender who didn't get home until about 3 o'clock in the morning. Meanwhile, the dog barked

Hard freezes affect production of aloe

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — Hard freezes in the Lower Rio Grande Valley in the past decade have forced the self-described world's largest aloe vera producer to move much of its production to Mexico.

"We have added that as a security blanket," said Gene Hale, vice president for sales and marketing with Harlingen-based Aloe Corp. "This (Valley) used to be an area they said would not freeze. The weather conditions are changing, and that's one of the reasons a lot of the growers are not getting back into it."

Last winter's freeze wiped out about 600 acres of the company's harvest in the Valley, he said.

But the company remains committed to staying in Texas with an expansion of its Harlingen processing plant, Hale said.

Of 2,000 acres of aloe vera the company has in production, about 1,400 acres are in the area of Villa Gonzalez, Mexico, between Tampico and Ciudad Victoria, Hale said.

The privately held company, owned by South Korea-based Nam Yang Aloe, produces aloe vera juice, powder and concentrate that it sells primarily to manufacturers of health-care and cosmetics products.

Aloe Corp.'s sales last year were between $6 million and $8 million, he said.

"There's no other company in the world that produces as much aloe vera as we do," Hale said.

The company grows about 60 percent of the U.S. aloe crop and about half the world production, he added.

It broke ground this week to add 45,000 square feet to its 15,000-square-foot Harlingen processing plant.

"Unless dramatic things change in the future, we will continue in this area," Hale said Thursday.

It also has a 12,500-square-foot processing facility in Mexico.

The Mexican production area operates under the maquiladora program in which it ships processed aloe into the United States and only pays U.S. duties on the value added in cultivation and processing performed in Mexico.

Baylor gets grant

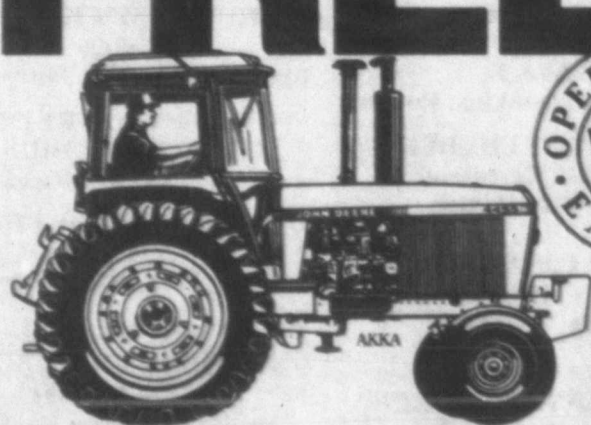

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Science Foundation on Thursday awarded $1.3 million to the Baylor College of Medicine in Houston to develop new science curricula for Houston and Conroe public schools.

The grant is part of $8.6 million given to four colleges, the California Department of Education and a teachers' association to beef up science teaching.

The foundation wants science teaching in junior and senior high to be coordinated from one subject to another with some subjects being taught over three or four years. A foundation news release cites an example of biology and chemistry concepts being integrated into the study of water ecology.
