Catherine Moshbacher, wife of lieutenant governor candidate Rob Moshbacher Jr.; John Pennington, candidate for state representative in the 19th District; and Mary Strelacki, local Moshbacher campaign chairman. (SDN Staff Photo)

Five escape Iraq...

Saddam tours Kuwait

by The Associated Press
Iraqi troops kissed Saddam Hussein's hands as he took his first known tour of occupied Kuwait, and officials said today that three Britons and two Frenchmen had fled Iraq in a daring escape by boat.

The five Europeans were found Wednesday by the Saudi coast guard drifting in the small boat in a Persian Gulf shipping lane

Hermligh homecoming set Friday

Hermligh School will celebrate its annual homecoming on today and Friday with a bonfire, football game and dance.

Fans are invited to today's 6 p.m. junior high ballgame at Cardinal Field between Hermligh and Ira. Following the game, a bonfire will be held behind the high school gym.

Friday, the varsity squad will entertain Grady at 7:30 p.m. for the homecoming game. Nominees for Football Sweetheart this year are senior Melissa Anderson, junior Rebecca Ramey, sophomore Stephanie Gannaway and freshman Sberri Sandefur. Nominees for Drill Team Hero are seniors B.J. Claxton, Andrew Sanchez and Felix Martinez and sophomore Chris Velasco. The sweetheart and hero will be crowned at halftime.

The senior class will sponsor a dance at the school following the ballgame.

Former Snyder man ruled competent to stand trial in Illinois

Former Snyder resident Johnnas J. Eicke will go on trial sometime in November in Springfield, Ill., on a federal charge of conspiring to aid and abet the disappearance of his common-law wife, Bridget Jones, according to U.S. Attorney Patrick Chesley.

Eicke, 36, was found competent to stand trial in a pre-trial hearing held Monday, and he will be tried with Jones.

Jones was free on bond after being convicted of conspiracy, wire fraud and obstruction of justice when she disappeared in March of 1987. Authorities alleged that Eicke aided Jones in her disappearance.

Eicke will be represented by court-appointed attorney Bruce Locher. Jones will represent off the Saudi-Kuwait border, British diplomats and Saudi officials said.

The British escapees told London's Daily Mail newspaper that they had spent 25 hours in rough seas after taking the 10-foot boat through the marshes of southern Iraq, into the Shatt-al-Arab waterway and then the gulf.

It was the first report of Western men escaping Iraq since August.

The Britons said they had been working on a key oil installation near the Iraqi port of Basra, and the two Frenchmen were barge masters. They were among a small number of Europeans living on dwindling food supplies and denied permission to leave.

Iraq is holding about 2,200 Westerners hostage in Kuwait and Iraq, some at strategic installations to discourage attack by the U.S.-led military forces that began massing in the region after Iraq seized Kuwait on Aug. 2.

Nine of those hostages — all Frenchmen — returned to Paris today after being freed by Iraq. Also today, 173 Brazilians arrived home after Brazil negotiated their release from Iraq.

Saddam's visit to Kuwait coincided with the arrival in the region of two foreign leaders and a top envoy seeking a peaceful solution to the crisis.

Yevgeny Primakov, a senior adviser to Soviet President Mikhail S. Gorbachev, arrived in Baghdad today carrying a message from Gorbachev, Soviet diplomatic sources said. Its content was not disclosed. In Moscow, Gorbachev said today he did not think the crisis would lead to war, and he also told reporters he saw no reason to send Soviet troops to the gulf.

In the Jordanian capital, Amman, Prime Minister Toshiki Kaifu of Japan met today with Iraqi Deputy Prime Minister Taha Yassin Ramadan. Ramadan rejected a negotiated settlement to the gulf crisis as long as foreign troops remain on Arab lands, Baghdad's official Iraq News Agency reported.

Registration begins at 10 a.m. at the Central fire station followed by a lunch prepared by the local Firemen's Auxiliary. A business meeting will follow the lunch in which Dee Edwards, acting Abilene Fire Chief and fourth vice president of the State Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association, will address the group. Door prizes, donated by local merchants, will be given away during the meeting.

Pumper races are tentatively

Chesley said the November trial date is not certain because Locher said in Monday's hearing he may need more time to prepare his client's defense. Eicke was arrested on Oct. 13, 1989 in North Carolina and charged on 13 counts, including multiple land fraud charges. The arrest came after Eicke and other defendants were charged with attempting to acquire a $4 million Hendersonville, N.C. estate with fraudulent bank drafts.

Authorities in North Carolina have since dropped the charges, but reserve the right to re-instate or seek to re-indict.

The federal charge against Eicke carries a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison.

Pep rally set to open homecoming activities

A community-wide pep rally was scheduled on the courthouse lawn today as Tiger fans sought to boost their team into Friday's homecoming game.

The game — to be held annually in the future — is scheduled for 8 p.m. Friday at Tiger Stadium as Snyder entertains Seminole. School officials are reporting fast-paced ticket sales and have reserved 500 seats on the visitor's side of the stadium for the overflow of Snyder fans.

Today's pep rally was to be preceded by a parade which was to leave the Kmart parking lot at 5:30 p.m. and head north on College Ave. to the courthouse where the rally was to begin.

Friday, Snyder All-Sports Booster Club is hosting a steak supper from 5-7 p.m. in the school cafeteria. The meal will include potato salad, beans, rolls, dessert and tea. Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for children age 4-12, and may be purchased at West Texas State Bank, Snyder National Bank, Allstate Insurance Co., and Chevron.

At 6 p.m. Friday, the National Honor Society will sponsor an SHS exes reception in the school library. Refreshments will be served.

Highlighting homecoming will be the naming of the homecoming queen, which will take place during halftime of Friday's football game.

Tickets for the contest are $4 at the gate. Homecoming queen nominees are Kristi Prather, Dayla Church, Emily King, Angie Burleson, Tonya Mauldin and Theresa Martin. Fathers will serve as escorts.

There will be a dance in the student center until 1 a.m. following the game.

Voter registration deadline is Friday

Five o'clock Friday afternoon is the deadline to register to vote in the Nov. 6 general election.

Voter registration is held in the county clerk's office, located on the third floor of the courthouse.

Those planning to register to vote by mail are reminded that applications must be postmarked by Tuesday, Oct. 9.

In-person absentee voting in the November election will begin Oct. 17 and run through Nov. 2. Absentee voting also takes place in the county clerk's office.

In addition to the gubernatorial race and other statewide races, Scurry County will have four contested races.

They include the race for county judge, in which Republican Bob Doolittle is opposing Democratic incumbent Bobby Goodwin, and the Precinct 2 county commissioner's race, in which Republican Roy L. Idom is opposing Democratic incumbent Tommy Pate.

In the two other races, Democrat Elois Pruitt is opposing Republican Patsy Williams for district clerk, and Democrat H.M. Lomax is being opposed by write-in candidate D.M. Forcee for Precinct 2 justice of the peace.

Snyder will host convention for area firefighters Oct. 13

Snyder Fire Department will host an estimated 250 people Oct. 13 during the Midwest Texas Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Biannual Convention.

Firemen and their families from 17 area fire departments will participate in the day's events which will be highlighted by afternoon pumper races and an evening barbecue and dance.

Registration begins at 10 a.m. at the Central fire station followed by a lunch prepared by the local Firemen's Auxiliary. A business meeting will follow the lunch in which Dee Edwards, acting Abilene Fire Chief and fourth vice president of the State Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association, will address the group. Door prizes, donated by local merchants, will be given away during the meeting.

Pumper races are tentatively scheduled for 4 p.m. on the west side of Moffett Field. Trophies will be awarded to the winners. As a host city, Snyder will not be eligible for any trophies.

An evening barbecue, prepared by local firemen, will be at the National Guard Armory followed by dance for firemen and their registered guests.

Flu vaccines given at clinic

Scurry County Health Unit will hold a special clinic Friday for influenza vaccines that targets high risk groups.

Those considered high risk including anyone over age 65 and anyone with chronic pulmonary or cardio-vascular problems. Others include adults and children who suffered chronic metabolic diseases during the preceding year, and children and teens age 6 months to 18 receiving long-term aspirin therapy.

The clinic will be held Friday from 9-11 a.m. and 2-4 p.m.

Vaccines will be offered to the target groups in an Oct. 10 clinic, also.

No appointments are necessary.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Being broad-minded may be a lazy way of not taking a stand."

Retired school principal Charles Anderson was called out of retirement this fall. Anderson filled in for Northeast Principal Lee Presswood who underwent back surgery.

Anderson was once principal at Northeast, and his in-charge style is unchanged. Anderson got on the school's public address system to make sure both teachers and students were informed.

Barbara Jones, a pre-kindergarten teacher, said one of the students listened in awe as the substitute principal implored "listen carefully to these important announcements."

When finished, the four-year-old raised his hand and inquired, "Teacher, was that God?"

The school system is urging parents to get involved and to encourage their children to reach their potential in school.

Parents of one kindergarten student may have been doing a better job of encouragement than they realized.

David and JoAnn Cotton's son, Taylor, is a kindergarten student at West Elementary. He told his parents he had made only check-pluses so far.

The parents were looking through some of his school work and Taylor became distressed when he saw a check without the plus.

Mom and dad attempted to console him, explaining that there is nothing wrong with a check. Young Taylor, however, remained unconvinced.

Still bemoaning the "check" on his paper, the kindergarten lad lamented, "How will I ever get a good job?"

Another kindergarten teacher told us about a kid who refused to do some of the classroom work. When the teacher pressed for an explanation, the little miss said, "When I get married, my husband is going to do all the drawing and coloring."

Ask Us

Q—Could you please tell me how many veteran Dallas Cowboys (from Tom Landry's team) are on the team now? What are their names and numbers?

A—There are 17, but some were just signed when Landry was fired. They are: punter Mike Saxon, 4; linebackers Ken Norton, 51, and Eugene Lockhart, 56; defensive backs Vince Albritton, 36, Bill Bates, 40, Ron Francis, 38, Manny Hendrix, 45, and Robert Williams, 23; defensive tackle Danny Noonan, 73; defensive end Jim Jeffcoat, 77; tackles Kevin Gogan, 66 and Mark Tuiwet, 71; guards Crawford Ker, 68, Nate Newton, 61, and Jeff Zimmerman, 76; and receivers Michael Irvin, 88, and Kelvin Martin, 83.

Town's future uncertain as mill closes

WATERVLIET, Mich. (AP) — When Dave Backus graduated from Watervliet High School in 1978, there was never any question what he'd do next.

Like many of his classmates, he went to work in the town's 80-year-old paper mill, following his father and grandfather, as well as his mother and aunt and uncles.

Now the future is anything but clear. Watervliet Paper Co., the biggest employer in this southwestern Michigan town of 1,867, has been idle since June, when its parent company filed for bankruptcy protection.

The mill's employees are among hundreds of thousands of factory workers left jobless in recent months as the nation's unemployment rate worsens. Michigan has the worst unemployment among top industrial states.

Backus, 31, sits at home most days now, collecting his last few unemployment checks and awaiting word on whether anyone wants to buy the mill and rehire its 250 workers.

He wonders if he'll have to leave his hometown to find work.

"After all we've been through, I don't even want to go back — but I will," he says in his living room, over the noise of an "Andy Griffith Show" rerun. "The paper mill is all we know."

Some mill workers have moved away. Others have taken the few full-time jobs available in the area. Most are reluctant to leave while the mill's fate remains uncertain.

They say no other business in the rural area can come close to matching the $10 an hour they earned at the mill, and they worry things are little better elsewhere.

Michigan leads the nation's 11 largest industrial states in unemployment with a seasonally adjusted 7.9 percent jobless rate for August. Watervliet is in Berrien County, which has a 7.2 percent jobless rate.

The national jobless rate in August was 5.6 percent — a two-year high. The Labor Department will release September unemployment figures Friday.

Since March 1989, the number of factory jobs nationally has fallen by more than 400,000.

Nick Khouri, an economist for the Michigan Senate Fiscal Agency, predicts the state's jobless rate will be 8.5 percent a year from now.

"With the increase in the price of oil continuing to drain the economy, we're going to see even more of an economic slowdown in the next six to 12 months," Khouri said.

The closure forced Mayor Robert Flaherty, who relies on the mill for 35 percent of the municipal tax base, to eliminate the position of police chief. There will be more cuts if the mill doesn't reopen soon.

Watervliet went through the same kind of emergency two years ago when the mill's previous owner closed the mill.

In March 1989, residents rejoiced when Kalamazoo-based Kapaco Group Inc. bought the mill and rehired every worker.

Kapaco had it running at full speed again within a few months, churning out 140 tons a day of coated paper used for playing cards, product labels and catalogs.

Adding to the pain of joblessness is a dispute over health insurance.

Bandit seriously wounds clerk

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A gunman, who shot a nervous teen-age sandwich shop clerk when she couldn't open the safe, was familiar with the store's depositing system.

Schlitzky's Sandwich Shop employee Stephanie McFarland, 17, was shot Tuesday night by a would-be robber who grew impatient with her as she tried to open the store's safe.

Co-worker Gero Brown, 18, said he and Ms. McFarland, were told by the gunman that he knew how the store made its deposits.

Both Brown and Ms. McFarland were confronted by the gunman as they closed the store.

Beverly L. Harrison, 28, of Fort Worth, was arrested about an hour later and arraigned Wednesday on a charge of attempted capital murder, county officials said. Officer Peggy Taylor said Harrison was being held in Tarrant County Jail on $150,000 bond.

McFarland was reported in good condition at Harris Methodist Hospital Wednesday night. She was wounded in the upper torso and left arm, Brown said.

Lt. David Ellis of the Fort Worth Police Department said Harrison was captured as he hid in an alley about four blocks from the sandwich shop, clutching a shotgun. He surrendered peacefully.

Brown said he and Ms. McFarland were just closing the shop at about 9:40 p.m. Tuesday when a man jumped them and demanded the restaurant's money bag.

The gunman told Ms. McFarland to give him the money bag, Brown said. When she told him she didn't have the money, he ordered both of them into the restaurant's office so she could open the safe.

"He said if she didn't open it in two seconds he was going to blow my head off," Brown said.

Ms. McFarland pleaded with the man to wait until she could get the safe's combination from her mother, the restaurant's manager, Brown said.

Barney Milim, a part owner of the restaurant, said the clerk's mother gave her the combination but was suspicious and called police.

Once she had the combination, Brown said, the gunman repeatedly threatened to kill them if she did not open the safe immediately. But Ms. McFarland was extremely nervous and was unable to open the lock on the first try, Brown said.

When she failed to open it, the man fired a single shotgun blast at close range and ran out the back door, Brown said.

City of Austin pulls plug on Xmas lights

AUSTIN (AP) — Santa and his reindeer won't be in Austin this year.

The featured exhibits along with Christmas angels have been cut from the annual Christmas light parade by the city council to help pay for a tree specialist.

The exhibits were part of the 30,000 lights that comprised the Zilker Park Trail of Lights, a mile-long, drive-through trail that would have celebrated its 10th anniversary this year, the Austin American-Statesman reported.

Instead, the money will be used to pay the salary of a tree specialist in the Parks and Recreation Department.

While the move upset volunteers and park employees who help decorate the park, some business owners along the trail view the city's decision as an early Christmas present.

Most restaurant owners are hoping for a break from the thousands of vehicles that traditionally jam traffic near their establishments during the Yuletide festivities.

"I hope that will eliminate some of the (traffic) problem," said Jerry Sanchez, a restaurant owner. "It's good for kids. I don't have anything against that, but it hurts my business. It's a nightmare."

Sanchez said he sends half his staff home because his business falls off by 90 percent on the 17 nights before Christmas when the trail is lighted.

Tom Davis, another restaurant owner, said he sometimes just shuts down and goes home.

"There will be 10,000 cars on a given night," Davis said. "I get no business. None. After 6 o'clock I can't get here; my customers can't get here; my employees can't get here. Sometimes, I close early."

Even some rain last year couldn't keep the crowds away. Bill Pfuderer, special events coordinator for the parks department, said more than 70,000 people rode through, while another 6,000 people walked through the exhibit.

The highest attendance was in 1986 when almost 140,000 people visited the trail.

Although the council moved $31,000 from the Trail of Lights funding to pay for the tree-planting position, the event's actual cost to the city is only $13,700, Pfuderer said.

The $18,000 electric bill for all Yulefest events — including the giant Christmas tree, which will return this year — was inadvertently added to the costs of installation and materials for the trail exhibits.

Pfuderer said he hopes council members will reconsider the move and change their minds about funding the exhibit.

Your Birthday
Oct. 5, 1990

A unique collective endeavor that includes two associates, as well as yourself, has a good chance of succeeding in the year ahead. It will be a venture where each has something special to offer.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) As a Libran you are always interested in maintaining harmonious associations, but today you might have to get a little tough so that you won't be taken advantage of by someone with selfish intentions. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences which are governing you in the year ahead.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Your initial thoughts might be focused today on the negative aspects of situations rather than on their positive attributes. After deliberation, however, your optimism will reassert itself.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You might not be too lucky today in things of an aesthetic or romantic nature, but you could be extremely fortunate in matters that are meaningful to you financially.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) When operating within your sphere of influence you'll manage things effectively today. When you step outside of your bailiwick, you might encounter complications with which you can't deal.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Don't boast about your recent successes in front of someone you know has just suffered a severe setback. This person needs propping up, not reminders of inadequacy.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) In activities today that include friends, try to do things that don't cost money. Frivolous pursuits with a price tag could turn out to be less fun.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Your possibilities for success today look promising, especially if there is some unusual type of trophy at stake. It could be of a material nature or some form of unique recognition.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Ideas you conceive today will be well suited for advancing your own interest, but not necessarily good for the concerns of others. Don't force them on reluctant participants.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You might be a better receiver than a giver today and there's a chance your behavior will irritate someone who feels he/she has treated you very generously without acknowledgment.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Don't let it be said of you today that you are more attentive to and considerate of your new friends than you are of your old pals. Treat everyone equally.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Strive to be imaginative and daring today where your work is concerned. If conditions have you stymied, experiment with new methods and procedures. Nothing ventured, nothing gained.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) This should be a rather pleasant day for you where your social interests and personal relationships are concerned, but it could be a different story in dealings you have with people in the world of commerce.

AIR FORCE ACADEMY QUILT — Mrs. Evelyn Shifflett shown with the quilt that she made for her grandson, who was appointed to the Air Force Academy.

Club members win blue ribbons at Scurry Co. fair

Stargazers Extension Homemakers Club met for their first meeting of the year in the home of Mildred Rogers. Programs were planned for the remainder of the year and plans were made to enter projects in the fair.

Evelyn Shifflett entered a quilt that she had designed and quilted for her grandson who was appointed to the Air Force Academy. She won an honorable mention rosette and a blue ribbon. Pauline Withers entered a baby quilt that she had made in the quilt workshop, held by the county home extension clubs and won a blue ribbon.

It was reported that Plainview Home Economic Club will host the Country Christmas party, and that the truckload of fabric project was a great success.

The next meeting will be Oct. 15 and anyone interested is invited to attend.

North-South were playing weak no-trump openings of 12-14 high-card points. So North opened with one club, intending to rebid one no-trump to describe 16 balanced points. East's one-heart overall persuaded him to raise spades instead, since he was reluctant to bid no-trump without a stopper in hearts. So South got to four spades.

East took the A-K of hearts and continued with the seven-spot. If East had held six hearts originally, that was a strange play. Why wouldn't East lead back a heart higher than dummy's eight? So declarer ruffed low. Next he played a spade to dummy's queen. When East showed out, there were apparently two more losers — a trump trick and a diamond. But perhaps something could be done about it. So declarer played ace of clubs, ace of diamonds, king of clubs and a club ruff. He played a diamond back to dummy's king. If West had the last club, declarer could ruff one more club for 10 tricks and let the defenders fight over the last trick between their high diamond and long trump trick. But East followed with the queen on the last club. South ruffed with the ace of spades.

If West carelessly discards his last diamond, holding on to J-9-3 of trumps, declarer will exit with his last diamond. West will have to ruff and lead back into declarer's K-10 of spades. But West was on his toes; he underuffed, and South had to lose two more tricks and the contract.

East took the A-K of hearts and continued with the seven-spot. If East had held six hearts originally, that was a strange play. Why wouldn't East lead

Loretta Dodson presents program at Xi Alpha Alpha Theta meeting

Xi Alpha Alpha Theta held their regular meeting on Sept. 18 at the Snyder Country Club.

The meeting was called to order by President Lisa Rollins. During the reports from committees, Ways and Means Chairman, Jeanne Johnson, told of the plans that had been made for the 'Holiday Extravaganza' to be sponsored by the club on Oct. 16. She informed the members that as space was limited, tickets would not be sold at the door and anyone needing tickets could contact her at 573-8949, or any member of the sorority. The extravaganza will consist of Fashions by Margaret's; Hair Designs by the Hair Station; Christmas Decorations by Travis Flowers; Table Settings by Classic Interiors; Cooking Demonstrations by Janel Franklin and Sue Vaughn, authors of "Calf Fries to Caviar," and Holiday Craft Ideas displayed by members.

Loretta Dodson presented the program on the Illusion method of using oils. Mrs. Dodson demonstrated the method by painting a canvas during her presentation, which she completed prior to the end of the meeting. She explained that the main factors were how the colors were laid on the canvas and blended, and the special brush strokes required to achieve the desired results.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mickey Baird and Betty Watts and the hostess gift was won by Loretta Dodson.

Frances Cleveland, wife of President Grover Cleveland, gave birth to a daughter in the White House Sept. 9, 1893.

Tom Landry asked to join Dallas Ring

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Dallas Cowboys owner Jerry Jones has formally invited former coach Tom Landry to be inducted into the Texas Stadium Ring of Honor this season.

Jones sent Landry a handwritten and signed letter on Wednesday, marking the first time that Jones has extended a such personal invitation to Landry.

Landry was fired by Jones in 1989 on the very day that Jones bought the Cowboys. Still, Jones says he hopes the letter will persuade the coach to accept his offer.

"We do know from his son that he has an extensive schedule regarding his new book and travel," Jones told The Dallas Morning News. "We asked him to consider it here in 1990. If not, then when his schedule would permit."

Jones also said he's asked Landry to be honored for his induction into the Pro Football Hall of Fame last summer. That ceremony would coincide with the Ring of Honor ceremony.

Last summer, Jones' daughter, Charlotte, the marketing and special events coordinator for the Cowboys, made an informal invitation for Landry to join the Ring of Honor through Tom Landry Jr.

At that time, the younger Landry said that his father wasn't yet ready and that they would get back to Jones.

If he accepts, Landry would become the first non-playing member of the Ring of Honor, which recognizes outstanding contributors to the club. Their names are prominently displayed below the Texas Stadium press box.

Ring of Honor members include defensive tackle Bob Lilly; quarterbacks Don Meredith and Roger Staubach; running back Don Perkins; linebackers Chuck Howley and Lee Roy Jordan; and defensive back Mel Renfro. Jordan is the most recent Ring of Honor member. He joined in 1989.

Jones said the ceremony should be held soon.

"We'd like to do it this year," Jones said. "He's made some big commitments, and we understand that. But to the extent that his schedule would allow, we'd certainly like to do it (this season)."

"We'll do it when he's comfortable with doing it."

Junior High girls claim v'ball wins

The seventh grade took a pair of wins as the Black squad earned a 15-5, 15-7 victory and the Gold took a match win, 15-3, 12-15, 15-1.

Eight grade Black also won, 15-3, 15-3, while the eighth grade Gold crew fell in three games, 15-12, 8-15, 7-15.

The seventh grade Black was paced by Kelly Hart's eight points, six from Christi Dodson, five by Sylvia Herrera, Monica Harbin's four, three by Rosemary Escobedo, a pair from Alicia Jones and one each by Lakeisha Grear and Graci Bareaon.

Most Valuable Players, as chosen by SJHS coaches, were Hart, Harbin and Dodson.

Mandy Baker and Amy Rains, both Gold team MVPs for the seventh grade, scored 10 points apiece.

Lindsey Griffin tapped eight followed by five points from Kelly Clay, three each by Sterling Cave and Julie Lang, two from Jessica Rios and Michelle Spencer's one.

The Black team representing Snyder's eighth grade was led on offense by Samantha Boyd who served eight for the Lady Tigers.

Jill Voss and Jeannie Valdez each hammered five, Holley

Sanders punched four, Francis Grear popped three, Chrystal Oaks nailed two and Isabel Lopez, Genifer Vantine and Angelica Suarez smacked one each.

Sanders and Suarez were tabbed Most Valuable.

Snyder hosts Seminole...

2-4A teams see final non-district action

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

District 2-4A football teams are a cumulative 16-5-2 against outsiders after last week's games which featured Snyder's 14-14 tie with No. 10 Big Spring.

Other games included Estacado taking a 20-16 win over then No. 10 5A Palo Duro, Frenship's 14-7 victory over Hereford and a 32-6 beating of Brownfield by Lamesa.

Andrews defeated Levelland, 10-0, and Pampa handed Dunbar a 34-22 loss last Saturday.

This week's last non-district games include Snyder's homecoming hosting of Seminole, Dunbar at Borger, Frenship at Randall, Hereford at Levelland, Roswell, N.M. at Estacado and Lamesa at Greenwood.

Seminole (0-4) at Snyder (2-1-1)
The hapless Seminole Indians, rated last in their district in total offense, just over 110 yards per game, and last in defense giving up almost 420 yards a contest, faces a Tiger team that hasn't lost since the opening week of the grid season.

Snyder used a 108 yard defensive performance to move into first place in the state in that category according to just released statistics.

Tiger defenders have limited opponents to just 116.5 yards per game in 1990 including District 3-4A powers Big Spring and Monahans.

The Indians, on the other hand have had woes on both sides of the ball.

Leading rusher Darrell Hill has just 92 yards on the campaign on 40 rushes.

One plus for the Seminole team in last week's 20-14 loss to Reagan County was the return of Josh Parrott to his quarterback slot.

Parrott, back after an extended illness, was 11-26 for 123 yards and two TDs through the air.

Dunbar (3-1) at Borger (1-3)
The surprising Panthers are led by tailback Typhail McMullen's loop-high 487 yards rushing.

McMullen is averaging a hefty 12.2 yards per carry on 43 attempts that have resulted in five touchdowns.

Dunbar's offense as a whole is munching almost 300 yards of total offense per game.

Borger is coming off an embarrassing 42-0 lambasting by Sweetwater's Mustangs last Friday.

The Bulldogs gained just 66 rushing yards in the Ponies' homecoming slaughter and trailed 34-0 at the half.

Frenship (2-2) at Randall (0-4)
The Frenship Tigers finally got to win one after a pair of close-but-no-cigar finishes.

Frenship is led by quarterback Brad Cade who has compiled a 41-83 passing mark for 481 yards, five TDs and four interceptions.

The offensive unit of FHS is gaining just over 262 yards an outing while the defense is allowing about 232 yards.

Randall is still smarting from last week's 43-6 whipping at the hands of 3A Childress.

Hereford (1-3) at Levelland (2-2)
The Whitefaces fell victim to Frenship last week, 14-7, and hope to rebound against the Lobos, 10-0 losers to Andrews a week ago.

Hereford stands in second place in the seemingly weak District 1-4A race after four non-district games.

Hereford's Matt Bromlow has accumulated 479 rushing yards on 89 runs for a 5.4 average and five touchdowns on the season.

Levelland is led by quarterback Lance Patton who has amassed 213 yards in the air on a 21 of 46 completion rate.

The Lobos defense is giving up about 255 yards per tilt while the offense is pushing 282 yards.

Roswell, N.M. (2-3) at Estacado (4-0)

The Matadors of EHS remain unbeaten after last week's nail-biter over Palo Duro.

Estacado, rated second in Texas among Class 4-A teams, boasts speedy running back R.J. Johnson who has gained 447 yards against top-flight competition including Palo Duro and Big Spring.

Johnson's totals average out to 6.1 yards per carry and he has scored six TDs.

Roswell is led by its defense which thus far in 1990 has limited opponents to 211 yards per game.

Lamesa (3-0-1) at Greenwood (4-0)

The Golden Tornados have blown away all comers with the exception of Crane in week three, but will face their biggest test yet against the upstart Rangers.

Lamesa leads District 2-4A in total offense with an average approaching 300 yards per contest.

Signal caller James Seago pulls the trigger on the Lamesa offensive attack.

Seago has completed 19 of 49 passes for 259 yards, four touchdowns and a pair of interceptions on the season.

11-12 YEAR OLDS

Bengals 36, Lions 0
The Bengals did everything right as five different players crossed the goal line in the Saturday win.

Tadd Grimes, Matt Fambro, Teddy Murray and two scores by Kevin Lacik plus a punt blocked out of the end zone by Scott Free gave the Bengals their final total.

The Lions' Jessie Hernandez intercepted a pass to stop one Bengal drive.

Bengals 22, Lions 0

In a Monday game, closer than the score indicated, the Bengals iced the victory with a fourth quarter TD on a Teddy Murray quarterback sneak and a fumble recovery in the end zone by Scott Smith and Gabe Rios for a touchdown.

Matt Fambro gave the winners a 6-0 halftime lead on a 12-yard run in the second quarter.

Patrick Jordan, Chris West and L.S. McClain spearheaded the Lions' defense.

Lions 16, Mustangs 0

Lion Running back Gabe Vasquez scored on a fourth quarter 40-yard romp to break a 0-0 deadlock and L.S. McClain added a 30-yard TD run off an intercepted pass for insurance in the Tuesday win.

The Mustangs had an apparent 80 yard punt return nullified in the contest. Tony Robles scooted all the way in from his own 20-yard line but the Mustangs were flagged for roughing the punter.

9-10 YEAR OLDS

Colts 6, Packers 0

Zack Briseno, Ryan Martin and Chris Luna were defensive standouts for the Colts in the scoreless draw played Monday afternoon.

Packers drawing praise for their efforts included Paul O'Connor, Kyle Beck and Eric Gard.

Razorbacks 14, Colts 0

Toby Delce and Chad Carter ran in for scores for the Razorbacks while Roberto Jaramillo, Jack Hedges and Wesley Smith anchored a defense that shut down the Colts.

Sam Bedell got loose for a 60-yard gain for the losing squad but the Razorback defense stiffened and kept the Colts scoreless in the Tuesday contest.

Westerners to ride in Sul Ross rodeo

Bob Doty's Western Texas College rodeo team will be in Alpine today through Sunday for the Sul Ross State University National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association event there.

Nightly performances are scheduled for 7:30 p.m. today, Friday and Saturday. Slack is planned immediately after the Friday show as well as 8 a.m. Saturday.

The short go, featuring the top ten best times and scores in each event, is set for Sunday at 1 p.m.

The Westerners' mens' team is coming off a fifth-place performance two weeks ago in the season-opening NIRA rodeo at Eastern New Mexico University. The women from WTC captured third place.

Jennifer Lee of Western Texas was named women's all-around winner at the rodeo with 110 points earned in goat-tying.

The mens' squad was paced by Dwayne Evans' first-place finish in bareback riding with a 139 tally on two rides.

Couples event slated at SCC

Snyder Country Club's monthly couples event for October, the Turkey Shoot, is slated for play Sunday beginning at 1 p.m. The event will be played in a low ball for a twosome format.

LeMay eulogized as skilled leader

MARCH AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Gen. Curtis E. LeMay was remembered at his funeral as a skilled military leader with little time for small talk but strong concern for his troops and his friends.

"He was a great man, great airman, great American," said retired Lt. Gen. William Craigie, a former test pilot and longtime friend of the gruff, cigar-chomping Air Force general.

About 1,000 people crowded the base chapel for the formal, military funeral ceremony Wednesday. LeMay's coffin was draped by an American flag. Burial was scheduled today at the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo.

LeMay, who directed the atomic bombing of Japan, organized the Berlin Airlift and headed the Strategic Air Command, suffered a heart attack Monday and died at a base hospital. He was 83.

The four-star general and one-time Air Force chief of staff was known for his skill as a military tactician, but his public statements and sparring with former Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara often generated controversy.

But speakers at LeMay's funeral remembered the general in more personal terms.

"(LeMay) believed in one thing, taking care of his people," said retired Maj. Gen. Edward Nichols.

Nichols' voice wavered as he spoke of LeMay's concern for military families.

He said LeMay's first priority was that "bases were set up to take care of our wives and children when we are gone."

The base chaplain, Col. Benjamin Perez, said that LeMay spent his final days helping untangle the government red tape of military care for people living in his retirement complex, Air Force Village, which LeMay helped found.

"There is much of General LeMay that remains," said Perez of the general's contributions. "We remember and we celebrate."

Taps were played after a traditional military rifle salute, bringing tears to mourners.

LeMay, a much-decorated veteran of some of the fiercest air battles over Europe during World War II, later commanded U.S. air forces in Europe and led SAC.

Shortly after his retirement from the military in 1965, LeMay was quoted as having made the infamous remark about bombing North Vietnam "back into the Stone Age."

LeMay later denied the statements, but then kept the controversy alive by saying he saw nothing wrong with using nuclear weapons to shorten any war and to save lives.

Woman guilty of first-degree murder

GARDEN CITY, Kan. (AP) — After being convicted of killing her 4-year-old son, a western Kansas woman now faces trial in Texas in the deaths of four other children, three of them her daughters, the other a relative's child.

A Finney County District Court jury returned a first-degree murder verdict Wednesday against Diana Lumbraera, 32, who moved to Garden City from Texas in 1985. The jurors got the case late Tuesday afternoon and deliberated a little more than three hours.

As the verdict was read, Ms. Lumbraera stood next to her attorney Michael Quint and cried, dabbing at her eyes with a tissue.

Quint said he would appeal the conviction in the May 1 death of Jose Lumbraera.

"We made it perfectly clear from the start that we believed the trial should have been moved because of prejudicial, pre-trial publicity," he said. "I believe the entire jury panel was tainted from the start, during jury selection."

Jurors said the decision had been difficult. They said that until two pathologists testified as rebuttal witnesses for the prosecution, many of them had been leaning toward acquittal.

The state contended Ms. Lumbraera smothered her son to get sympathy and life insurance money, but Dr. William Eckert, the Wichita pathologist called by the defense, said the child died of a viral infection.

However, the pathologists called to rebut his testimony said there were no signs Jose died of natural causes.

Jurors said they had limited knowledge of the Texas cases, and that they had no influence on their verdict. In addition to the four deaths with which Ms. Lumbraera is charged in Texas, the deaths of two other sons are under investigation there.

Ms. Lumbraera, who will be sentenced in November, faces life in prison, with eligibility for parole in 15 years. Three of the cases against her in Texas carry the death penalty on conviction.

A hearing is scheduled for Friday to determine if she will be extradited immediately to face the Texas charges.

Few Texans reveal stand on budget

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most Texans in the House said they were uncertain what they would do today in the budget vote that forces them to choose between higher taxes or economy-crushing automatic spending cuts.

Only 10 of the 27 Texans said they had made a decision by Wednesday. They lined up 7-3 against the deal that trims the federal deficit but raises taxes on such things as gasoline, beer and luxury goods.

A vote time had not been announced by mid-morning and there was talk on Capitol Hill that it would be postponed until Friday so congressional and administration proponents would have more lobbying time.

The undecideds said they were still looking at the deal and the way votes were shaping up, both in the delegation and the House in general.

"It's the worst of all worlds," Rep. Pete Geren, D-Fort Worth, said.

"I think I have two terrible choices," said Rep. Jim Chapman, D-Sulphur Springs.

"It ain't going to be an easy vote," said Rep. Albert Bustamante, D-San Antonio. "I'm going to wait until the last minute."

Republican Reps. Dick Army of Copper Canyon, Tom DeLay of Sugar Land, Jack Fields of Houston and Lamar Smith of San Antonio say they oppose the package.

"When the recessionary effects of its copious tax increases are realized, history will judge this agreement as the pre-plummet summit," Army wrote in a Texas newspaper Wednesday, referring to the summit meeting that crafted the agreement.

The four Republicans were joined Wednesday by Democratic Reps. John Bryant of Dallas, Greg Laughlin of West Columbia and Bill Sarpalius of Amarillo.

"It hits with tax increases too hard on middle Americans," Laughlin said.

Farmers and agribusinesses are treated unfairly by it, Sarpalius said. If it passes, he said, "In my district, the biggest business will be the auction business."

Bryant said he might support it if congressional leaders made "a strong pledge to take up the issue of our (defense) subsidy of Europe and Japan ... and change it. That's not going to come."

The annual subsidy is larger than the federal deficit that the agreement is trying to fix, Bryant said.

Reps. Mike Andrews, D-Houston, on Wednesday joined colleagues Bill Archer, R-Houston, and Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, in support of the deal.

"I think it's the right thing to do," Andrews said.

"I just don't think it would be responsible to let the lights go out on the country. The nation is at a precipice," he said.

But he said the vote will be politically tough. "This will be like a dark dreary animal that'll follow me around for years," Andrews said.

Archer and Texas' senators,

Democrat Lloyd Bentsen and Republican Phil Gramm, took part in the talks that created the budget agreement. The senators were at the White House when Bush announced the deal Sunday, but Archer didn't express support until Tuesday.

Texans apparently heeded President Bush's Tuesday night request to lobby Congress. But they weren't taking the supportive stand he advocated.

"They are calling their congressmen a whole lot more ... but they're all calling to say, 'Vote against it,'" Geren said.

The Texas congressmen say most constituents are complaining about the part of the package that will hit Texas hardest — a 12-cent hike in the federal gasoline levy.

"Truckers are saying 'Vote No,'" said Rep. Ron Coleman, D-El Paso.

Gramm's office logged more than 300 calls, half in favor and half against the package, said the senator's spokesman, Larry Neal. Calls to Bentsen's office rbott 7-to-1 against the package, an aide said.

McDonald's fundraiser to benefit local causes

McDonald's is sponsoring a fundraiser for the Economic Development Fund and United Way on Friday.

The fundraiser coincides with McDonald's Founder's Day observance.

On Friday, all proceeds from the sale of large fries and hash browns will be donated to the two civic causes. In addition, local civic and community leaders will learn how to operate selected work stations at the restaurant.

Among those working will be Gay Hickman, Jerry Baird, Troy Williamson, Eddie Williams, Fran Farmer, Paula Gilbert, Gary Sisson, Terry Bowden, Gary Landes, Bill Parker and the chamber of commerce staff.

McDonald's owner Joel Hook has also said that McDonald's will give each new chamber member that signs up during the month-long chamber membership drive a food certificate worth $10.

Convicted black record store owner decries jury's verdict

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — A black record store owner convicted of obscenity for selling a sexually explicit album by the black rap group 2 Live Crew says the all-white jury "doesn't represent my community."

"It's unfair. The jury was all white. They don't know where E-C Records is. They don't know a goddamned thing about the ghetto," Charles Freeman yelled to reporters after he was convicted Wednesday.

Critics of the rap group hailed the verdict as a milestone in the battle against material they consider obscene. The music industry and civil libertarians decried it as censorship.

2 Live Crew and its album "As Nasty as They Wanna Be" have been at the center of a First Amendment dispute since June 6, when a federal judge deemed obscene lyrics that include references to sodomy and sexual intercourse. Some also have objected to the lyrics as violent and degrading to women.

The jury of five women and one man took only 2½ hours to return the verdict against Freeman, 31, on a misdemeanor charge.

Jurors later declined to discuss their decision.

"It's the first time in musical history that a piece of work has been found to be obscene," said Trish Heimers, spokeswoman for the Recording Industry Association of America, a Washington-based trade association for U.S. record companies.

"I would most certainly characterize this as censorship," she said.

Donald Wildmon, founder of the conservative American Family Association based in Tupelo, Miss., said the conviction is a sign of a national trend against obscenity and pornography.

"There's definitely a shift in attitudes in America about this kind of trash," he said.

Luther Campbell, leader of 2 Live Crew, said he wasn't surprised by the verdict.

"I had figured that the guy would be found guilty based on the jury that was chosen," Campbell said in a statement. "The community standards in the black area and white area are completely different."

Obituaries

Dimple Stokes

Emile Favreau

Services are pending at Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home for Dimple Ogden Stokes, 89, of 3600 Ave. U.

Ms. Stokes died this morning at Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

She was born March 16, 1901. She had lived in Snyder most of her life. She was retired in 1975 from Stokes Insurance Agency, which she owned and operated for many years. She attended school at Texas Women's University. She was a member of First Baptist Church and was the organist for the church for many years. She also taught a Sunday School class for 9½ year old boys.

She married Roy Stokes on Nov. 30, 1928. He preceded her in death in 1965.

Survivors include a daughter and son-in-law, Durrelle and Jack Gorman of Snyder; a son and daughter-in-law, William Richard and Jane Stokes of San Diego, Calif.; two grandchildren, Jack Gorman II and wife Kim of Snyder, Richard Gorman and wife Pam of Cuero; two step grandchildren, Mack Maggioni of El Cajon, Calif. and Martin Maggioni of Los Angeles, Calif.; five great-grandchildren, Trey, Charlie, Jay, Justin and Kaycee Gorman of Snyder.

Services are pending at Bell-Cypert-Seale Funeral Home for Emile Favreau, 68, a resident of Snyder Oaks Care Center.

Mr. Favreau died Wednesday evening at Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

He was born Feb. 9, 1922 in Massachusetts. He had been a resident of Snyder for about 35 years.

Survivors include four sisters, Irene Adrian of Orange, Calif., Yvette Hamel of Clifton, Kan., Lillian Mathison of Clifton Kan. and Jo Ann Adams of Emporia Kansas; two brothers, Richard Favreau of Protection, Kan. and George Favreau of Wichita, Kan.

New proposal comes under fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — A proposal to give $11.1 billion in new tax breaks to small corporations is being criticized as opening the door for wealthy investors to duck their share of federal taxes.

The Bush administration is pushing the new incentives as a substitute for the capital gains tax cut that congressional leaders refused to accept. Some of those leaders are suspicious of the substitute, which actually includes a small capital gains reduction.

The proposal is attached to the $500 billion, five-year deficit-reduction agreement that President Bush and congressional leaders reached this week.

The tax break proposal "has very serious flaws," Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said Wednesday. "I think it will lead to a substantial increase in tax shelters and great abuse."

Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, also has reservations.

Henry Lee Lucas' death date set

AUSTIN (AP) — A Dec. 3 execution date has been set for Henry Lee Lucas, who once confessed to killing hundreds of people before recanting.

State District Judge John Carter set the execution for the 1979 slaying of an unidentified female hitchhiker, Williamson County District Attorney Ken Anderson said Wednesday.

The woman was found strangled in a culvert off Interstate 35, north of Georgetown.

Lucas confessed to nearly 600 slayings before he began saying he had made up the confessions. He now acknowledges only one killing — the beating death of his mother in Tecumseh, Mich. in 1960.

The hitchhiker case is the only one for which Lucas has received the death penalty. He has been assessed six life terms, two 75-year sentences and one 60-year term for other Texas convictions.

Lucas still could appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, Anderson said. Lucas' attorney, Richard Alley of Fort Worth, didn't immediately return a telephone call from The Associated Press.

Williams & Richards debate over debates

AUSTIN (AP) — With less than five weeks before the Nov. 6 general election, there has yet to be a statewide televised debate between Texas' candidates for governor.

On Wednesday, Democrat Ann Richards challenged Republican Clayton Williams to a debate, but Williams refused unless Richards signed a pledge to wage a positive campaign.

Richards said she didn't trust Williams to abide by such a pledge, calling it an excuse for her GOP opponent to avoid a face-to-face showdown with her.

"You cannot be John Wayne and run away from your opposition," Richards said. "You have got to stand up and take responsibility for the fact that you're trying to be the chief executive officer of this state."

Williams, a Midland

businessman, has said in the past that John Wayne is his hero.

After a campaign appearance in Dallas, Williams said he and Richards will probably debate "if she'll be reasonable."

The debate over debates erupted at a news conference by the League of Women Voters, which announced it was canceling its Oct. 30 televised debate because both candidates refused to make a commitment to participate.

The nonpartisan organization denounced the gubernatorial race as shallow, negative and showing "contempt for a citizen's right to a political campaign waged with respect for the voters."

Richards, the state treasurer, appeared at the news conference and said she wants to face Williams at the League of Women Voters' statewide debate.

The Williams campaign called Richards' announcement a "nice stunt" but refused to accept any debate until she promised an issues-oriented race with positive television commercials.

Richards, who contends she's running an issues-oriented campaign, said she didn't want to sign a pledge because the Williams campaign "will be issuing statements on paper saying they are going to do one thing and then doing something that is entirely opposite."

In Dallas, Williams said debate negotiations were still going on. "It is very serious, and we will probably debate," he said. "But we want to defend ourselves when we do that."

Diane Sheridan, chairwoman of the League of Women Voters Education Fund, said she hoped Richards' acceptance of the Oct. 30 debate "will spur on Clayton Williams to make a commitment to a league-sponsored debate."

Ms. Sheridan said the group will have to cancel the debate if Williams doesn't accept their invitation by Friday afternoon.

Boating mishap shatters royal family

MONTE CARLO, Monaco (AP) — When Grace Kelly married Monaco's prince, they seemed like lovers favored by the stars in an old romantic tale. Now, the royal family is starting to seem as star-crossed as players in an ancient tragedy.

The death Wednesday of Princess Caroline's husband, Stefano Casiraghi, in a speedboat crash added to the pain of a family troubled by marital problems and the death of Princess Grace eight years ago.

Grace Kelly, a beautiful American film star, married a dashing Prince Rainier in a civil ceremony on April 18, 1956, after a courtship in his tiny Riviera realm.

Miss Kelly, who came from a blueblood Philadelphia family, became Her Serene Highness Princess Grace. She gave up filmmaking and bore three children, Caroline, Albert and Stephanie.

The couple looked down on their debt-free, tax-free, fully employed realm from the royal palace atop "Le Rocher" — the rock — which dominates the Bay of Monaco.

The years passed smoothly, although some gossips whispered that Princess Grace grew bored with palace life and spent too much time visiting Paris.

But the general sentiment was reflected in the words of a journalist who wrote on the occasion of the couple's silver wedding anniversary in 1981: "They have been living happily ever after."

The sky fell a year later. On Sept. 13, 1982, Grace and Stephanie were traveling a winding road from the family's summer residence near La Turbie, France, in the hills overlooking Monaco.

The automobile failed to negotiate a hairpin turn and tumbled down a ravine. Grace, 52, died of a stroke a day later. Stephanie suffered neck injuries and deep emotional stress.

The Royal Palace has steadfastly maintained that Grace drove the car, although persistent rumors put Stephanie behind the wheel. At the time, Stephanie was 17, a year too young to drive legally.

Grace's death plunged the principality into mourning. A distraught Rainier seldom appeared in public for the next four years and was said to spend most of his time alone.

Stephanie became the family's wild child, posing nude for a photographer, dancing through the night at discotheques and modeling swimsuits.

She has been linked romantically to race driver Alain Prost, actor Rob Lowe, actor Jean-Paul Belmondo's son Paul, actor Alain Delon's son Anthony and the scion of another troubled clan, John F. Kennedy Jr.

All that was to end when she became engaged to property developer Jean-Yves Le Fur in April. But the wedding, announced for June, never came off. No public reason was ever given.

Brother Albert, the heir to the throne, strikes a sober contrast. The 32-year-old has worked in business and law and represented the nation on the bobsled team in the 1988 Winter Olympics in Calgary.

Caroline, 33, has had troubles beyond the loss of her mother and husband.

As the oldest child, she attracted enormous attention from celebrity-watchers when she came into adulthood in the 1970s.

In 1978, Caroline married French playboy Philippe Junot, a man 17 years her senior.

The union ended two years later, after several press photos showed him in the company of other women.

Baby who had experimental surgery allowed to go home

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The wait for Mike and Teri Alexander is over — baby Faith has finally come home.

The couple on Wednesday brought their 2-month-old daughter, who happens to be the first child from Texas to successfully undergo experimental womb surgery, home from Harris Methodist-Fort Worth hospital.

"I am overwhelmed," Mrs. Alexander said before leaving the hospital. "This is real emotional."

Faith Nicole, whose family lives near Burleson, south of Fort Worth, was the third child in the United States to survive the surgery. The Dallas Morning News reported in today's editions.

The defect, a congenital diaphragmatic hernia, occurs in about one in 2,200 births. Six other unborn children who have undergone fetal surgery while still in the womb died.

The Alexanders' ordeal began in June when Mrs. Alexander, 30, was 20 weeks pregnant. Tests showed that the baby, her first child, was developing a life-threatening congenital hernia.

Shortly after learning about the defect, a friend told Mrs. Alexander about a television program she had watched about experimental surgery on unborn children at the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco.

Mrs. Alexander contacted Dr. Michael Harrison, the San Francisco doctor who pioneered the procedure. But the odds were against Mrs. Alexander and her unborn child.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is surgery the best way to go for prostatic hyperplasia?

DEAR READER: Prostatic hyperplasia, the benign overgrowth of normal prostatic tissue, is a common affliction that, sooner or later, affects most men. The overgrowth itself is not a problem; it's the consequences that cause symptoms.

The prostate gland, a walnut-size organ that produces seminal fluid, lies at the base of the penis, next to the rectum. The urethra, the tube draining the bladder, passes through the prostate. As the gland enlarges with age, it progressively presses on the urethra, leading to urinary frequency, hesitancy, urgency and nocturia (urination at night).

Many men put up with these symptoms, assuming correctly that they are part of growing older. However, as the symptoms worsen, men become increasingly disgruntled and uncomfortable until, after months or years, they seek help from urologists.

At present, the most popular way of treating advanced benign prostatic hyperplasia is to remove the portion of the gland pressing on the urethra. Called a transurethral resection (TUR), it is performed by urologists who use a special instrument (introduced through the penis) to core out excess tissue and allow the bladder to drain normally.

In some cases, when the prostate is massively overgrown, it must be entirely removed through an abdominal incision.

Urologists often recommend surgery before symptoms become intolerable, if the specialists suspect prostatic cancer as a cause of the enlargement. In the presence of cancer, the prostate — when palpated during the rectal exam — feels harder than usual, or bumpy. To diagnose cancer, urologists usually perform a biopsy before doing a TUR. Then, depending on the extent of the malignancy, they recommend one of several treatments, including surgery and hormone therapy.

At present, researchers at several medical centers are experimenting with pills to shrink prostatic hyperplasia. However, these drugs have not been completely tested and are yet to be released for general use.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "The Prostate Gland." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their names and addresses to my attention at P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Xerox executive chose 1 for Sematech role

AUSTIN (AP) — Defending the Sematech semiconductor research group in the face of the most important task facing new Sematech chief William J. Spencer, industry analysts say.

Spencer, 60, a microelectronics researcher and Xerox Corp. vice president, was named Sematech president and chief executive on Wednesday, succeeding Robert Noyce, who died of a heart attack June 3.

Noyce, co-inventor of the integrated circuit and a pioneer in the semiconductor industry, had headed the Austin-based chip manufacturing research center since 1988.

Spencer will play an important role in guiding Sematech's research. He also will serve as a key spokesman for the microchip industry on issues such as federal funding and bolstering the semiconductor industry and its support companies against foreign competitors.

"The national mission we must accomplish is the key to America's competitiveness and to preserving our standard of living for our children and our grandchildren," Spencer said.

"He has extensive contacts in Washington D.C. and in the industry in general," said Frank Squires, vice president of research operations at Xerox Palo Alto Research Center. "This is a big loss for Xerox."

"They've got technical people," Don Hutcheson, an analyst with VLSI Technology, a San Jose-based market research firm, said of Sematech. "What they need is somebody who can stand up in Washington and say we need money to protect America's future."

Ralph Thomson, a former vice president of the American Electronics Association and industry observer, said Spencer also has a good working background. "He sounds like a good guy. The technology background is impeccable."

"He certainly had the experience base," said Pat Hill-Hubbard, a vice president with the American Electronics Association. "He is Mr. Technology."

The nonprofit Sematech was created by 14 companies in 1988 to regain the world lead in microchip manufacturing technology for the United States by 1993.

The consortium employs 650 people in Austin. It has an annual budget of $200 million, which is supported by member companies and by matching funds from the Defense Advanced Projects Research Agency.

Spencer brings to his new post a lengthy background in microelectronics research.

He was group vice president and senior technical officer for Xerox Corp. in Stamford, Conn. He also previously managed Xerox's worldwide research activity.

Spencer joined Xerox in 1981, when he became manager of the company's integrated circuit laboratory at its Palo Alto Research Center. He formerly worked for the government-funded Sandia National Laboratories in Livermore, Calif., and Albuquerque, N.M., and was a research professor of medicine at the University of New Mexico.

With a master's degree in mathematics and a doctorate in physics from Kansas State University, Spencer began his career in 1959 with Bell Laboratories.

"With his experience in key research positions at Bell Laboratories, Sandia National Laboratories and Xerox Corp., Dr. Spencer has the technical expertise to implement programs which will enable this country to remain globally competitive," said Charles Sporck, chairman of Sematech's board of directors and head of the selection team which chose him.

Sematech is developing advanced semiconductor manufacturing methods, equipment and materials. Research results are given to the member companies and the federal government for commercial and military applications.

Six pipeline companies combine to build natural gas pipeline in Alabama

HOUSTON (AP) — Six natural gas pipeline companies have combined to build and expand a southern Alabama natural gas pipeline, making it one of the largest U.S. pipeline projects in recent years, industry analysts say.

A letter of intent to transport up to 1.2 billion cubic feet of natural gas daily from Mobile Bay has been signed by the six companies.

The companies intend to own and operate onshore and offshore pipeline facilities from the energy-rich bay, the Houston Chronicle reported.

However, the group is withholding the exact construction cost and level of ownership each company will hold until they file applications required by the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

The participants are ANR Pipeline Co., a subsidiary of Coastal Corp. of Houston; Florida Gas Transmission Co., half owned by Enron Corp. of Houston and Sonat Corp.; Southern Natural Gas Co.; Tennessee Gas Pipeline Co., a subsidiary of Houston's Tenneco; Texas Eastern Transmission Corp., a subsidiary of Houston's Panhandle Eastern Corp.; and Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Corp., a subsidiary of Houston's Transco Energy Co.

Cost estimates offered by analysts ranged from $100 million up to $400 million.

The announcement comes a month after Houston's Exxon Co. U.S.A. announced it would spend $1 billion to build platforms, pipelines and onshore facilities needed to produce its natural gas reserves in Mobile Bay.

These gas pipeline companies will use the gas to supply customers in Florida, the Northeast and the Midwest.

The energy commission has been holding so-called "open season" proceedings in the Mobile Bay area to decide which competing pipeline proposals will be approved, the newspaper reported.

In June, five major companies agreed — at the commission's urging — to collaborate on building one pipeline.

Wednesday's announcement throws out the June agreement in favor of expanding four times the capacity of the 123-mile onshore Transco line and building a 77-mile offshore line. Transco was not a party to the June agreement.

"This is a very sensible and rational way of avoiding duplication of effort, spending of dollars and environmental exposure," said John Olson, an analyst with First Boston's Houston office.

The line, made of 30-inch pipe, runs from a Mobil gas processing plant in Mobile County to the main Transco line in Butler, Ala.

Construction is expected to start in early 1991, pending the commission's approval. Transco's subsidiary will operate the onshore line and construct the offshore line. Enron will operate the offshore line. Southern Natural will construct the onshore facilities.

Dear Abby

Sowers of Good Works Will Reap Better Health

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column, a writer stated that it was foolish to work for nothing as a hospital volunteer. Thanks for saying, "The rewards are far more valuable than money." You're so right, Abby.

In 1988, a study was done by the University of Michigan Survey Research Center. They followed 2,700 people in Tecumseh, Mich., over a 10-year period to determine the impact of social relationships on health. They found that regular volunteer work, more than any other activity, dramatically increased life expectancy!

This was especially significant for men: Men who did no volunteer work were 2 1/2 times more likely to die during the course of the 10-year study than those who volunteered at least once a week.

Research at Yale, the University of California, Johns Hopkins, the National Institute of Mental Health and Ohio State supports these findings.

LONGTIME VOLUNTEER LEADER, MECHANICSVILLE, VA.

DEAR LEADER: So what else is new? People who spend their time doing for others feel useful, productive and good about themselves. Volunteers, particularly those who work in hospitals, hospices and nursing homes, are too busy to dwell on their own troubles or feel depressed. Those who give — get!

DEAR ABBY: I want to clear up a common misconception that has resulted in many painful feelings.

My best friend is 17 years old. She's pretty and popular, and she's worn a pacemaker for two years that I know of. Until people get to know her, they make rude comments like, "My grandfather has one of those — what's wrong with you? I thought they were only for old people."

This has caused a great deal of pain for my friend. I just wish you'd tell people that pacemakers aren't such a horrible thing. My friend is able to run, dance, swim and do everything I can do. Abby, please set the record straight and encourage people to be more understanding of this heart condition.

A FRIEND IN PITTSBURGH

DEAR FRIEND: Thanks for giving me this opportunity to state that anyone who has a heart is old enough to have a heart problem. And thanks to the advances in medical science and technology, we now have that modern miracle — the pacemaker.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter who lives in another city believes she has a ghost or spirit living in her house. She says that ever since she rented this house, things get moved around, lights get turned on, doors open by themselves, etc.

She is really upset by all this and doesn't know what to do. My suggestion was to move quickly, but moving is expensive, and besides, she can't find another place she can afford right now.

My question is: Is there some way to get the ghost to move so she won't have to?

I am not crazy, and neither is she. LOUISE IN MARYSVILLE, WASH.

DEAR LOUISE: Advise your daughter to phone the clergy person of her choice and ask whether he or she performs exorcisms (the act of expelling evil spirits). And if her clergy person does not perform exorcisms, ask if he or she knows of someone who does. It may not help, but it can't hurt.

Want your phone to ring? Get Abby's booklet, "How to Be Popular" — for people of all ages. To order, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Popularity Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. Now AmWest can give you something few banks can...

A good night's sleep.

Now AmWest has "DreamSaver"™ — a savings program designed to bring peace of mind to all those who worry about saving money.

Here's how it works: You tell AmWest how much you want to save every month, (as little as $25 if you like) and they'll deduct it automatically from a free checking account (that's right, free checking) and put it into a CD account.

Keep your money there for a full 12 months and it will earn a high-interest CD rate. Take it out early, and you'll get a penalty — three months interest or $50. So "DreamSaver"™ not only helps you save money on a regular monthly basis — it helps you keep your hands off it too. And with a little money in savings — a good night's sleep will come a whole lot easier.
