Our Firemen Range Far In Cold Again to Save Lives, Property

Cotton burs burning and blown by a howling north wind ignited two wagon loads of loose cotton, destroying them, and fire consumed approximately 75 bales of remnants totaling 30 full bales at the Paymaster Gin in Weinert, early last Saturday morning. The loss in cotton and damage to the wagons was estimated at $8,000.

Both the Haskell and Munday Fire Departments rushed to Weinert, 12 miles from either city, to contain the blaze which threatened a number of homes in Weinert. The two departments battled the fire from 12:45 until 3:30 a. m. in five-degree temperature.

E. D. (Toots) Earls, manager of the Paymaster Gin, credited Haskell and Munday volunteer firemen with a "major save" in their efforts at Weinert. "They ought to be on somebody's payroll," Earls said in praising the work done.

Haskell's Fire Department stayed busy most of the night last Friday, according to Fire Department Supervisor Floyd Lusk. At 8:10 p. m., they made a 16-mile run to a fire out of control in a sorghum alum field on Highway 277 near the north end of Haskell County. Fire Chief Tom Watson said the efforts of eight volunteer firemen saved a 5-room house on the property.

At 12:10 Saturday morning, the same eight volunteers were called out to extinguish a cotton burr heap burning on the Drey Lowe field just south of the Haskell City limits. The blaze, fanned by a stiff wind, was endangering the home of Tom Barfield, nearby. Lusk reported. Two other runs were made to the same location before the fire in the burr heap was snuffed out.

WINSOME WINNERS FROM WEINERT—This pretty pair of sisters, Brenda and Judy Boone, 11 and 13 years old, showing a set of steers with fancy "chassys" bred by their father, Wallace Boone, made a family affair of the 20th annual Haskell County 4-H Steer Show last week. The Boone Sisters annexed both grand and reserve championships in run for the rosettes. Brenda's grand champion steer is a full brother of the last year's reserve champion at the highly respected Odessa stock show. That animal sold for $1600, Frank Martin, Haskell County Agent and founder of the Haskell Steer Show, reported.

All members of the Haskell County civil defense team were notified of their responsibilities Wednesday by Chairman, Coordinator and County Judge Alvis.

Grease Week For the Boys On Ambition, Short on Cash Ride Herd at Rotary

A trio of hustling Haskell Jaycees, attired in firewagon red Jaycee jackets, let their more composed contemporaries, Haskell Rotarians, know Thursday noon that National Jaycee Week is being observed across the county, Jan. 20-26, also providing a verbal vignette on the chief Jaycee aims and objectives—Leadership training and civic growth.

In a program introduced by Rotarian Henry Withers, the chairman for the day, Billie Jack Ray, Haskell Jaycee president, and two of his chief community-conscious lieutenants, James Franklin and Wayne Bradford, reviewed high points in the histories of the national, state and local Junior Chambers of Commerce and announced projects for Haskell's improvement to which the Jaycees are dedicated.

These short-on-money, long-on-ambition and elbow grease Jaycees pledged renewed and accelerating activities during 1963 as the main plank in their platform for civic betterment here.

Following presentation of historical sketches and overall aims by Bradford and Franklin, President Ray outlined a format for future Jaycee activity here.

Rotary President E. J. Stewart presided. Desmond Dulane introduced Rotarians Tom Adams and Bill Eastland, of Stamford, who were visitors. David Anderson, Haskell High School Rotarian of the Month, also was recognized.

Rotarian Tom Barfield led the invocation. Bob Herren led some savory song singing, accompanied by Mrs. Henry Withers at the piano.

Judy Kay Sego Is Baptist Youth Council Prexy

Judy Kay Sego, a member of the Young People's Department of the First Baptist Church of Haskell, has been elected president of the Youth Council of the church for the first six months of 1963, it was announced Friday.

Other Youth Council officers named are Barry O'Neal, vice-president, and Sharon Robertson, secretary.

Judy Kay is Queen Regent in the Girls' Auxiliary, assistant counselor to the Junior Girls' Auxiliary, and holds the office of Forward Steps Chairman in her own Intermediate G. A. in the Baptist Church.

Very active in high school, she is reporter for her Junior Class, a member of Quill and Scroll, band, annual staff, "War Whoop" (school newspaper) staff, and an assistant in the high school office.

Pokey Pace Is Popular Pattern For Tax Take

With very little time left before the January 31 deadline, purchase of poll taxes and payment of all taxes, county, state, school, and water, are lagging far behind the pace of previous recent years, Mrs. Elizabeth Stewart, Haskell County tax-assessor-collector, said Friday.

The off-year for elections and short crops, plus difficulty and delay in getting them out of the field this year, were given as the principal reasons for the snail's pace situation in both categories. However, the deadline is still the same, January 31, Mrs. Stewart reminded.

Poll taxes bought in Haskell County totaled 1,914 at last count, which, even in an off-year, is just over half the 2,000 total usually purchased, Mrs. Stewart said. The figure is between 2,500 and 3,000 in an "on" year, she reported.

An urgent plea to Haskell Countians to "pay your poll tax" is being voiced around the Courthouse these last few days of January. Although there is no general election, there will be elections during the year, some unforeseen at this time, in which citizens will want to vote. Without a paid poll tax slip, one's right of franchise cannot be exercised, it was pointed out. Therefore, action is necessary before the midnight January 31 deadline.

Grand Jury Here Returns 9 True Bills, 1 No-True

Nine indictments and one no true bill were returned by the Haskell County Grand Jury which met last Thursday and adjourned subject to call after presenting its report to District Attorney Royce Adkins.

Billy G. Valentine, 31, and Concepcion Dias Malendez, 19, both of Snyder, both were indicted on two counts of forgery and passing a forged instrument in connection with passing bonded money orders issued in Big Spring in the amounts of $80 and $65, one to H. E. Stephens at the "M" System Grocery here, and the other to F. M. Kassis at the Bluebonnet Dry Goods Store, in Rule. Both incidents were reported to have occurred last October 27.

Cutie Vernilla Marshall, 20, was indicted for assault with a prohibitive weapon for alleged brandishing a pistol and attacking Bobbie Ruth Thomas, 29, in the Yellow Dog Cafe here on Nov. 23.

Hilario B. Cantino, 20, of O'Brien, had an indictment returned against him for the burglary of a store owned by Joe Hanna in O'Brien last Oct. 18.

Under indictment on two charges of burglary is Jesse Willie Neal, alias Roy Lee Hines, 35, of Dallas, for entering Jon Baum's White's Auto Store on the Haskell Square, and Mayor J. E. Walling's Humble Oil Company warehouse, both on the night of Sept. 30.

One person indicted is still a fugitive reported to be Henry Mallette, from Georgia, on a charge of theft over $50 from F. J. Pustejovsky, who farms in the south end of Haskell County near Stamford. Last October 5, Mallette allegedly obtained by false pretext $93 in money in payment for aerial spray, the money belonging to another person.

District Attorney Adkins said one case under consideration by the Grand Jury was passed over.

Haskell Hustlers Amble to Angelo For Area Meet

Haskell's hustling Jaycees, nine of them, will become gladiators on the field of political combat January 26-27 when they deploy through San Angelo in quest of high office for one of their number.

Billie Jack Ray, the president of Haskell's Jaycees, is a candidate for state director for Area II, comprising a considerable chunk of West Texas terrain, and "we aim to get him elected," his lieutenants here said. The nine Haskell Jaycees making the trip will be backed by beauty, too, on their mission, because eight wives will be along.

Attending the Area II Jaycee meet will be Bill Tomlinson, Lyndon Harris, Bud Lane, Kenneth Lane, Billie Jack Ray, T. G. Ballard, Abe Turner, Raymond McBroom, and their wives. James Franklin is the lone bachelor in the crowd.

At the Area II sessions, most of the program agenda will be business attendant to preparation for the state Jaycee convention in San Antonio in April, including the election of five state directors. Haskell Jaycees will be boosting Ray for one of these slots.

The entire contingent from Haskell will be staying at the Town House Motor Hotel, Jrvc-see headquarters, in San Angelo next weekend.

H. L. Guess, Mattson school superintendent, reported last Friday.

Mrs. Toliver Presents Lions Program Tues.

Mrs. Bailey Toliver presented the program Tuesday at the Lions noon-day luncheon session. Rev. Roy Nobles, pastor of the First Baptist Church, introduced Mrs. Toliver.

Lions were very much impressed with the colorful slides made by Mrs. Toliver while touring Europe. She made the tour while a student at Baylor University, Waco.

Lion Bill Reeves announced that only around 1000 poll taxes had been issued and emphasized the need of residents to pay their poll taxes, despite the fact this is an off-election year.

J. M. Crawford will be in charge of the program next Tuesday noon and announced that County School Superintendent Jessie Vick would present the program.

At the evening banquet, International Director Jim M. Cherry from Columbia, South Carolina will give the address. The ladies will be entertained at a luncheon at Artbars Cafeteria.

Mrs. W. H. Morris, Wife of Ex P. O. Employee, Dies

Funeral services for Mrs. W. H. Morris, 79, a Graham resident for the past two years, who lived here many years, were held Tuesday afternoon from First Methodist Church here. Rev. Van T. Morrison, retired pastor of Crestview Methodist Church, Graham, officiated, assisted by Rev. Joe Fagg, pastor of the Graham Church, and Rev. C. R. Leonard, pastor of First Methodist here. Burial was in Willow Cemetery, with Holden Funeral Home in charge.

Mrs. Morris, wife of a long-time employe of the Post Office here, died Monday in a Graham hospital. She was born Nov. 11, 1883, in Berryville, Ark., and married W. H. Morris in Abilene in March, 1922. After a long residence in Haskell, the Morrises moved to Tishomingo, Okla., and then to Graham. Mrs. Morris was a member of the Crestview Methodist Church, Graham.

Survivors include the husband; a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Harris, of Arlington, Texas; a son, Jack, of Duncan, Okla.; and six grandchildren.

Haskell-Jones Sheriffs Team To Nail Trio

Three young Latin Americans sought since 5 p. m. Saturday by Haskell County Sheriff Garth Garrett and Jones County Sheriff Dave Reeves noon in Jones County, and one were picked up Sunday afternoon by Gilberto Gurriero, about 25, of Anson, was charged with assault with intent to murder.

Sheriff Garrett booked Gurriero on the charge after investigation of a Saturday afternoon fracas near a cafe in O'Brien in which Ralph Rios Jr., 21, of Knox City, was wounded in the shoulder with a bullet from a .22 caliber revolver. The wounded man was reported recovering Monday.

Brought before Haskell County Justice of the Peace Judge V. A. Brown, Gurriero posted a $1,000 bond and was released. His two companions, cousins of the accused, Jesus and Hector Gurriero, charged with disturbance, also made bond and were released. All three were picked up in and near Anson by Sheriff Reeves and turned over to Garrett.

Sheriffs Garrett and Reeves had been searching for the trio since they were reported to have left the O'Brien shooting scene Saturday afternoon in a 1958 green and white station wagon.

Happy Warriors Hop Ballinger In Conference Clash

Haskell's Indians were happy warriors Tuesday night, basketballing - the jack-o'-lantern Ballinger 53-47 in District 6AA play. This puts Carlos Berry's boys 2-1 in the conference for the young season thus far, and they definitely are in crown contention. And Dave Middleton's scintillating Squaws rolled on, winning 58-23. They are 16-4 on the season.

Only Anson's squeaker win in an overtime in Anson last Friday has marred the stout-hearted Indians' district record, but there is time to square that account.

In Tuesday night's scrap at Ballinger, Joe Thigpen found the hoop for 16 points to be top scorer for Haskell. Brown racked up 10, Davis 9, Anderson 4, Perrin 4, Larned and Josseliet, both 5.

Last Friday at Anson Larned paced the losers in the scoring column with 12 points. Anson beat Haskell 50-46 in the overtime.

Middleton's Sizzling Squaws, led by Eva Bartley, won Friday, too, 44-28.

Ballinger's B team Tuesday night put the bee on Haskell's junior varsity, 68-52, but they couldn't stop Tree-Topper Turnbow. He meshed 25 points.

Haskell plays Winters here tomorrow night. It'll be a great ball game, three of them, beginning about 5:30, in the Haskell High gym. Y'all come.

Verbal Vignettes

Hereinafter are captioned comments the Free Press feels it propitious to present concerning people, events, and situations currently topical, and therefore deserving of our views as we evaluate the news.

••• Elevation of Frank Icard, until just over a year ago our own Congressman, our friend, and our neighbor, to the top job in the oil industry as President of the American Petroleum Institute, is heart warming news indeed.

We aren't surprised. He grew up in the oil patch in Clay County. As a Congressman for five terms, he parried and thrusted with the best of them in the executive, legislative, and judicial branches of our Government in working for the best interests of the folks back home, those in the oil and gas business and otherwise. He was a respected member of the powerful Ways and Means Committee of the House.

As president of the API, Frank will represent all segments of the industry. No better qualified man could have been placed in this responsible position. It is one which measures the pulse and heartbeat of our precious natural resources—in time of crisis as well as in time of peace. We wish him Godspeed in the titanic task that lies ahead, with the full knowledge that he will deliver, enough and on time.

••• The Free Press is happy to see County Judge Jim Alvis promptly fielding another disaster defense team for 1963. It looks like a formidable flock of downfield blockers who may be depended upon to carry out their assignments. A most calming thought while reading news of Haskell County's civil defense set-up is that, by and large, they already have been tried—and found true. And our fervent thanks goes out to the Almighty and to them to this day.

No one has forgotten the tornado of last May 26. We know no one to whom Coordinator Alvis has given an assignment on the '63 team will take lightly his appointed task.

••• Just as we consider this newspaper a public trust, so also do we consider the exercise of the right of franchise the imperative individual responsibility of every American citizen. This may be a little bluntly stated, but if you don't put up the small investment for the privilege to have your say, then it's time to shut up on speaking your piece about public affairs, local, state or national.

We would consider ourselves derelict in our duty if we did not remind Free Press readers that the deadline for payment of poll taxes is but one week away. Granted, this is an off year for elections, but contests at the polls not now foreseen may loom up in the months ahead in which you "wished to Pete" you had a say. Safeguard that say. Pay your $1.75. Contingent on the action of the State Legislature, this probably will be the last time you will ever have to do it. The people already have said they want it abolished. So be it.

••• We hear tell Haskell never has been anything but a one-sport town when it came to supporting the Indian teams. Football's the only form of athletic endeavor the town will support, they tell us. Well, may we tell you something? If you'll lend us that ear, we'd like to bend it in behalf of basketball. Football isn't even in season, which hangs the hasp on that subject.

Coach Carlos Berry's basketballers are a stronghearted hustling band of full-court pressing, crazy Indians who, at this writing, whipped arch-enemy Stamford in two overtimes in as thrilling a game as you'll see in a lifetime. That was their first Dist. 6-AA outing. Last Friday night, Anson eked out a squeaker on them in another overtime game that was a humdinger on a foreign court.

If you've got a weak heart, we don't advise your presence, but the Indians play here Friday night in their own ballwick. Their proven mettle deserves YOUR all-out backing.

Oakescripts A Pencil Pusher's Potpourri

By PORTER

C. C. (that stands for "Compound Cathartic") McDonald is the subject of a squib elsewhere in the Free Press this week by Poignant Penman Mike Campbell. It is said the "Compound Cathartic" handle given C. C. was earned on the political stump because he "hit so hard and fast." We can believe it. He hasn't slowed any either. "Colorful Character" also could well be the nomenclature for which the double initials stand. Because Mr. Charlie, the Honorable C. C. McDonald, the legal eagle with tenacious talons, from Wichita Falls, really is one.

Mike's mention of Mr. C. C., who is a Haskell County landowner of long standing on a spread up in the northeast corner, cranked up our cranial cogs about Colorful Charlie. Most folks around here know and respect him, so we think he's good "copy."

Now, cogs is just the thing we wanted to talk about concerning C. C. Unless they're in the cranium, and he has an abundant supply of them up there himself, Mr. Charlie McDonald loathes cogs. He hates them worse'n Amon Carter hated Dallas.

His abhorrence and utter lack of comprehension about anything mechanical is a case after our heart. So it's a pleasure to write about it. Did you know that this learned, dynamic, extroverted, personable, mentally agile attorney doesn't drive an automobile? No sirree, and, to our knowledge, he never has. Cars are infernal machines in his books, and he'll have no truck with 'em.

The other day when Bill Rattiff and I were talking at Rotary about Uncle Charlie, Stanley Furrh said one time not too long ago, Lawyer McDonald was trying a case here and was staying at the Hotel Haskell. One afternoon, he approached Stanley and asked to buy a pack of cigarettes. Stanley nodded his head in the direction of the cigarette machine. Mr. Charlie said, "Stanley, you get 'em for me. I can't work that thing."

That was Mr. "Dackdonald" (that's what my nephew has called him since infancy) all right! We used to be privileged to live nearby him, and have a hunch he may think fishin' rods and reels are in the infernal machine class, too.

His wife, Jeanie, is an ardent fisherlady. Charlie often went with her, but never fished. On this occasion, he was leaning back in a chair readin' with his feet propped on a boathouse railing. Jeanie, rarin' back to cast, caught a leg of his chair with the hook of her lure. Charlie hit the water. These mechanical things simply don't have a place in C. C. McDonald's pattern of life.

The other morning at 7 a. m. breakfast of the Chamber of Commerce board, Abe Turner asked what I was doin' up so early. Knowin' him to be one of them Jaycee juggernauts, I told him I had been to a Jaycee meetin' in Wichita Falls and was just gettin' in. "There's ALWAYS someone who leaves early," Abe said, without missin' a bite of waffle.

All of a sudden there seems to be a shortage of magnifying glasses at the Free Press. Our Girl Friday, Wilma, says the Clares got in a new shipment of pictures of Granddaughter Holly Clare Williams, age 1. That figures.

Man Alive, is this country organized! After three weeks of writin' Haskell high sassities, we thought we'd heard of most of 'em. But here comes a piece across the desk about a "Mothers of Twins" Club, in Abilene, I believe it was. Pretty exclusive, I reckon.

This fellow Bill Holden, who, they say, is the last person on earth to let you down, has a business that'll never be affected by the do-it-yourselfers. But it does lend itself to a lay-away plan.

Speakin' of Bill and his business, Rotary Clubs in the larger places often have classification troubles with more than one man in a given business, undertaking, that is, wanting in the club. We know one mortuary operator who had this suggestion: Break the classification into two, "Transportation, Celestial," and "Transportation Sub-Terrestrial," giving him the former!

Now that football season is over, it's safe to tell this one: If you don't have any favorite when SMU plays TCU, or either of them plays Baylor, then you are probably an atheist.

LETTERS . . . To The Editor

2012 Fidler Ave.,
Long Beach, Calif.
January 13, 1963
Dear Mr. Oakes:
Congratulations on becoming editor. My Mom, Dad, and I enjoy your column very much. My Granddad, Bert Orr, sends us The Free Press.

Since my parents moved away 22 years ago, and can't return to visit very often, I don't know too much about cities, so would you please tell me how to obtain a Haskell map. Thank you very much. Sincerely,

(s) Barry V. Jetton, age 12
P. S. I would like to invite the people of Haskell to visit Long Beach. We are planning a World's Fair for 1967.

(Editor's Note: This thoughtful letter from Barry kicked us in the butt. We appreciate his message, and the invitation. Make your plans to go to Long Beach in '67. A passel of information on Haskell is being sent Barry, by Mrs. Roy Johnson of the Chamber of Commerce, but we bet he'd appreciate more from you readers. See above address, and write to Barry, please.)

Dear Sir:
Enclosed please find check for three dollars and 83 cents for one year's subscription to the Haskell Free Press. It is a pretty good newspaper.

Al Hinds is my favorite columnist.

Prattle

By AL HINDS

Christmas morning we placed you before the tree with its beautiful lights, decorations and gifts. We helped you unwrap some of your toys, but you became more interested in a little box, than you did your presents. Sunday morning before Christmas, we took you to church... your first church service spent with adults... since Mommy and Daddy had been leaving you in the nursery, I persuaded your mother and daddy to let us take you to the sanctuary. You played with my car keys, pencils, and fountain pen, then you became sleepy and lay back in my arms and went to bed, bye land. The Pastor, Rev. Grady Adecock, told the story of the Babe in the Manger and the sermon meant so much more to us as you lay quietly in my arms... just like the Baby Jesus. Yes, it was a truly happy occasion and I shall never forget your very first Christmas.

Birthdays greetings to Prattle's little grandson, Scott Allen, who will celebrate his first birthday, Saturday, Jan. 26. You have brought a lot of joy and happiness the past year to your Mommy and Daddy and your grandparents... so happy birthday, Scott.

Your First Christmas has just passed and since you spent that FIRST Christmas, along with your Mommy and Daddy in Paducah with your grandparents, the Al Hinds and Uncle Larry, I must tell you it was a most happy occasion.

From A Pastor's Study

By DOUGLAS B. FINCH

Pastor, First Presbyterian Church, Haskell, Texas

Recently I read a newspaper ad denouncing infant baptism as being un-biblical, placed there by the minister of a church. After carefully showing that infants should not be baptized, the ad went on to explain that a person must be baptized in order to be saved. Logically following this reasoning, then, we must conclude that for this particular minister there is no salvation for children from birth to some point where they are able to make a profession of faith and be baptized.

Of course the main body of Christianity has always found such a notion repugnant, and it goes against the whole tenor of the Holy Scriptures as well as the nature of God—as revealed in Christ.

Those who stand opposed to infant baptism have an erroneous conception of what baptism is, and of the gifts and benefits which baptism confers, as those churches which practice infant baptism have come to understand it.

The basis is the fact that the benefits of baptism derive not from the rite or the minister administering the rite, but from Christ. This is not a piece of mysticism which is beyond our comprehension, but is a fact because Christ ordained baptism as a means of grace of the new covenant. The rite of infant baptism is a sign and a seal of this covenant of God with his people.

The real problem is not in the practice itself, but is in our approach to the Bible message. The problem in our churches is the same basic problem which we encounter in education. Many cannot stretch their intellect beyond the words they read to a comprehension of the words they read. They are people who learn not through comprehension, thus enabling them to explain something in their own words, but they are people who must resort to rote memory of the words themselves, and then parrot them back to the teacher. By memorizing the words, they need not be capable of comprehension. We recognize such people as being loquacious "Bible quoters." Generally they will not venture far from the memorized words. If you speak of the overall tenor of the message, or the basic meaning for our lives today... you lose them. You find yourself abruptly out of communication.

I do not mean to infer that this is a description of all persons who do not practice infant baptism. I do not contend that it is the core of the problem... and was the condition which gave birth to the problem in the sixteenth century. It occurred at the very moment when the Bible came to be considered more authoritative than at any other time in the history of the Christian Church... but so authoritative and inflexible for certain groups that the Roman Church was to say that certain "protestants" had replaced the Pope at Rome with a "Paper Pope." Such authoritarianism was seen in the belief in absolute verbal inerrancy. It was an extremist anti-Roman position which is still prevalent today in the minds of many persons.

On the other hand, many groups which held to verbal inerrancy (i.e. that the Bible is true even down to its punctuation... and contains no human error, though written by human beings who did not even claim perfection for themselves) embraced at that time and still embrace today a theology born not in the Bible which they worshipfully hold forth, but in Renaissance Humanism (the belief that man had the capability of rising by his own power without divine help.) It is too much to ask of people to think these matters through, because the majority of people will not go to the trouble. A great number lack the ability. But if we could, or if we would there would be a new period of enlightenment in the realm of Christianity.

So... like so many other elements of Christian worship, infant baptism continues to plague many people.

Suffice it to say that the question is not, "Should infants be baptized?" The question is: "Dare we withhold baptism from them?"

The whole tenor of the Holy Bible and the nature of God in Christ cries out with a resounding "NO! WE DARE NOT!"

a whole lot of potatoes; lost two front teeth and a lot of hair in personal encounter with an opponent; donated one beef, four shoats, and five sheep to barbecues; gave away two pairs of suspenders; five dresses, five dolls, and fifteen baby rattlers; kissed 128 babies; kindled 14 kitchen fires; put up eight stoves; cut 14 cords of wood; gathered seven wagon loads of corn pulled 456 bundles of fodder; walked 4,960 miles; shook hands 9,060 times; told 10,001 lies; talked enough to make 10,000 volumes; attended 26 revivals; was baptized four times by immersion and twice some other way; contributed to foreign missions; made love to nine grass widows; got dog bit 39 times and then got defeated.

Just saw a couple of lads around 12 years of age pass by the office pulling on some cigarettes. I think their "hides should be tanned," if you will pardon the expression, but then I shall never forget my first taste of nicotine.

This scribe was about 11 years old at the time. I found an old corn cob pipe belonging to my dad—that was one of the strongest and foulest pipes I ever smelled or have seen—despite the fact that Prattle's pipes have been referred to as foul smelling, and strong enough to stand alone.

Well anyway, I "snuck" out the corn cob pipe, filled it up with Prince Albert and hid out behind the barn to enjoy a peaceful and quiet smoke. At first I was pulling kinda hard and drawing big puffs of smoke which looked as if a fast freight train was passing... leaving big clouds of thick, heavy smoke behind.

Before long, however, I began to get dizzy, and decided I had better sit down and lean against the side of the barn to finish my after-dinner smoke. My puffs on the pipe began to get shorter and farther apart—and before long everything went black. What happened I don't rightly know, because when I came to, I was lying on the bed in the house. My older brother happened to find me white, pale and deathly sick... picked me up from the field of action. I have been sick many times, but I can truthfully say that was the "sickest sick" I had ever known.

Some years ago I ran across the following little poem entitled "The Teacher" and believe it is worth passing on to readers of this column.

Behind her ink-stained desk, as on a bridge above a deck of upturned eyes, she sits the captain of a noisy crew that little cares where knowledge lies. Adroit, discreet, her sternness but a mask to leave her mistress of tumultuous youth, she trims the devious course that leads to the sails of discipline and soft growth still April-small, she from the calm that autumn brings, sees life reborn in yearly bursts of bloom and old despair made glad with spring. And sensing from the bud the open flower, she guards those petals half unfurled, and in a casual hand made white with chalk she holds the coming world.—Arthur-Stringer.

Students Here Invited to WF Youth Symphony

Haskell school students from the first through 12th grades have been invited to attend a special Wichita Falls Symphony Youth Concert at 10 a. m. Saturday, Feb. 9, at Wichita Falls Memorial Auditorium, Robert R. King, superintendent of schools here, announced Monday.

A concerted effort will be made, Supt. King said, to secure enthusiastic support of and participation in this worthwhile project in this area.

Mrs. Frank Porter of Haskell High School and Mrs. Hubert Bell of Haskell Junior, directors and leaders of music groups in the schools, have received detailed information on the concert including background on the compositions and composers, seating arrangements for the orchestra members and other information to stimulate students' interest in the conduct of concerts. King reported.

The hour-long concert by the 65-member resident orchestra in Wichita Falls, conducted by Walter Charles, will open with Weber's "Invitation to the Dance," followed by the last movement of Mozart's "D-Minor Concerto" with Dale Dublin Prothro, pianist, as guest artist.

The third selection will be an innovation which has proved popular with student audiences and which has been dubbed the "Sing-along with Charles" feature. The students will join the orchestra to sing "America The Beautiful."
