Q—Why were some people allowed to buy 20-30 tickets to the football playoff game in Sweetwater? Why isn't there a limit on the number of tickets one customer can purchase?

A—According to Business Manager Lee McNair, most people buying large blocks of tickets were getting them for family or friends not able to get to the SISD office to stand in line. Also, the larger purchases cuts down on the number of transactions necessary at the ticket office. A limit has never been imposed for SISD athletic events for those reasons.

In Brief

Rate drops

AUSTIN (AP) — The state unemployment rate fell from 6.2 percent in September to 5.3 percent in October, according to the Texas Employment Commission.

But labor market analyst Suzanne Butterfield cautioned that the one-month decrease "is not going to be that much of an indication that everything's real rosy."

Part of the decrease in unemployment could be due to a delayed withdrawal of summer job-seekers from the labor force, she said.

Local

Grid contest

An entry with only one miss took first prize in last week's SDN Football Contest, while second and third places were determined from 10 entries with two misses each, using the tie-breaker procedure.

Monica Hinojos of 1301 Ave. R won the first prize $50. Cory Maxfield of Rt. 2 Box 59 won the second place $25, and B.J. Clayton of Box 609 won the third place $15.

Because Hereford was declared the winner over Estacado on penetrations, we also counted Hereford the winner for the contest.

The contest will continue as long as the Tigers are in the playoffs, and another contest appears in this issue.

Tickets

Tickets for the Area Class 4A playoff game between Snyder and Sweetwater are $5 for general admission and $3 for students, not $3 for either, as an article in Monday's paper stated.

All 996 reserved tickets for the 2 p.m. ballgame in Sweetwater have been sold. General admission and student tickets are still available at the SISD administration building on 37th St.

Board extends offer to Cogdell CEO candidate

Cogdell Memorial Hospital board of managers on Monday extended an employment offer to Tim Lancaster for the position of chief executive officer.

Lancaster, currently assistant administrator at Southeastern Methodist, a 172-bed hospital in Dallas, is expected to notify the board of his decision on or before Wednesday morning. The board will reconvene in a noon Wednesday executive meeting in the event that Lancaster declines the offer.

In meeting with the board Monday, Lancaster said he felt positive about accepting the offer, but said he first wanted to discuss the move with his family. Lancaster, 36, has served as (see CEO, page 8)

Complaint filed against school aide

Snyder public schools Superintendent Dalton Moseley said this morning that a disciplinary hearing has been scheduled in the wake of an assault complaint filed against a Snyder ISD employee.

Rick Kemp of 2801 38th St. told police Monday evening that a teacher's aide slapped his 12-year-old daughter. The incident allegedly occurred Nov. 12.

The principal at the elementary school where the aide works said he could not comment on the situation.

Supt. Moseley would say only that a disciplinary hearing has been scheduled before the SISD board of trustees for 5:30 p.m. Dec. 13.

According to police, the report was filed due to a complaint by Kemp about the way his child was being disciplined by the aide.

Police said no charges have been filed and they plan to interview parties involved.

BUYING TICKETS — Ticket sales for Saturday's 2 p.m. area playoff game between Snyder and Sweetwater drew long lines Monday and this morning. The administration office sold out of its 936 reserved tickets Monday and was selling general admission tickets, at $5, and student tickets, at $3, today. (SDN Staff Photo)

Scurry faces 16.7% increase in property insurance rates from local and wire reports Scurry County residents face a 16.7 percent hike in property insurance rates, part of a statewide increase approved Monday by the State Board of Insurance.

The board approved increases that average 15.2 percent statewide — the largest increase in residential property rates in at least 10 years.

The new rates, which take effect April 1, mean property owners will pay about $227.2 million more in premiums per year, officials said.

On a 3-0 vote, the board approved dividing the state into 21 rating territories, rather than the current practice of four.

The move to 21 rating territories is designed to better match premiums with losses in more specific areas of the state, board members said.

Rates hikes varied from as little as 1.4 percent in zones 15 north and 16 north which include Nolan and Taylor counties, to as much as 24.1 in zones 3, 14, 15 central, 16 central, 17 and 19 central.

Scurry is in territory 18, which includes Borden, Dawson, Fisher, Garza, Kent and Lubbock counties among 22 others.

Joe Fowler, of Fowler and Associates Insurance, calculated that insurance premium on a $60,000 brick home, currently amounting to $533, would rise to $622. Those figures are for a home inside the city limits, based on "manual rates" and do not take into effect certain discounts given by some companies. By those standards, the premium on a $40,000 frame home would go up from $530 to $619.

State Board of Insurance Chairman James Saxton said the increase was needed because of high claims from weather losses and declining property values.

First-year phase...

City okays water line project

Snyder City Council approved a low pressure water line replacement project for an estimated $167,125 during a special meeting Monday evening.

The council also approved an ordinance which states that write-in candidates in city elections must file 30 days prior to the election, okayed a zoning ordinance on second reading and voted to go with a $50,000 deductible when renewing the city's law enforcement liability insurance.

The low water pressure project approved by the council is the first-year phase of an estimated $1.14 million, six-year plan to replace 62,515 feet of water line.

However, the council has only approved the first year of the project, which includes 11,025 feet at an estimated cost of $167,125. In an earlier meeting, the council agreed to contract with In-Place Linings, Inc. to rehabilitate water lines along Ave. T at a cost of $41,000, bringing the total cost of water line rehabilitation and replacement to $208,125.

The council also added an option to add another 2,200 feet of line replacement at an estimated $52,800, noting that it may be more cost effective to include it in the first year phase.

The council has budgeted $304,000 for water system repair during the current fiscal year. The difference of roughly $50,000 will be used to offset cost overruns or to expand the project, if necessary.

The first year of the project includes 15 sites throughout the city, using a prioritized mapping system drawn up by city staff. The mapping took into account the extent of deterioration of the lines, population density and cost effectiveness. Considered top priority areas are 38th Place between Denison and Galveston and an area along 39th St.

In passing the ordinance applying to city elections, the council noted that unopposed candidates frequently receive only a few votes, and pointed out that it would not be difficult for a last-minute write-in candidate to gather enough supporters to win the election. After noting that (see CITY, page 8)

Board members named during chamber meeting

Snyder Chamber of Commerce board, meeting Monday, announced new chamber members, heard several reports and confirmed new board members.

The board, which did not have a quorum, was unable to act on a resolution request from Ed McAnally opposing construction of a proposed waste facility in Mitchell County. McAnally, head of a local group of concerned citizens, SCRAP, spoke to the board concerning hazardous waste facilities and their potential harm to the area. He also answered questions from the board, which indicated its desire to sign a resolution pending the gathering of a quorum.

Also speaking to the board was Jack Smartt, who reviewed details of a recent Texas Department of Criminal Justice board meeting.

Named as new chamber members were Snyder Nursing Center, Whitmire Chiropractic Clinic, Applegate's Floral, Sonny and Jan Harrell, The Movie Stop, Texas Cellular, Nancy's Art Style, C.D. and Donna Gray, Snyder EMS and All-State Insurance Agency, Carol Iglehart agent.

The board also presented board member Gary Sisson with a windbreaker for his efforts in recruiting new chamber members.

The board also learned that the nominating committee's selection of new board members had been voted in by chamber members. They are Bobby (see CHAMBER, page 8)

PARKING PERMIT — Bob Martin, principal of the Windham School at the TDCJ Price Daniel unit, received a parking permit from Warden Les Woods. The school raised $1,200 for United Way and earned the department head the right to park in the warden's space for one month. Because of his staff's contributions to United Way, Martin is now obligated to valet park his employee's cars one day this winter. Employees of the Daniel Unit contributed over $4,000 to the United Way. (SDN Staff Photo)

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Some people can debate all by themselves — by talking out of both sides of their mouths."

Trying to get federal spending in perspective is difficult for many of us who have difficulty keeping our own checkbook in balance.

If you really want to understand the scope of the federal budget, one needs to look not only at how much, but how fast your tax dollars are being spent.

The national budget, which began on Oct. 1, calls for spending of $1.23 trillion while there are projected revenues of $1.17 trillion.

If you look at the annual budget on a daily basis, the projected income is $3.3 billion. The daily revenue is $3.2 billion, leaving a daily deficit of $172,876 million.

On an hourly basis, federal spending is $140.4 million while hourly revenues are $133.5 million—making a deficit of $7.2 million per hour.

On a per minute basis, federal revenues would be $2.3 million while 60-second revenues are $2.2 million. The federal deficit each minute is $120,053.

Each second of every day, the federal government expects to spend $39,003 and the anticipated revenues are $37,100. That means that each tick of the clock, the deficit jumps by $2,000.89 cents.

Pass the Tums...

Earlier in the year, U.S. Comptroller General Charles Bowsher estimated that the federal government is squandering about $180 billion of taxpayers' money through waste, fraud and mismanagement.

The projected waste figure is three times the budget deficit projected by the Bush administration. The waste figure is also three times the entire budget for the state of California.

Chevron reaches partial settlement

HOUSTON (AP) — Former Gulf Oil of Pittsburgh employees who lost their jobs during a two-year merger with Chevron Corp. will receive pension benefits as terms of a partial settlement to a class-action lawsuit against the San Francisco-based petroleum company.

Chevron on Monday agreed to pay benefits and claims of about $25 million for the employees who were terminated by Gulf between Jan. 1, 1984, and June 30, 1986.

"I would think it's a reasonable resolution of the claims that were disposed of, the effect of which was to sever those litigants from this case," said Robert J. Malinak, the Houston attorney representing Chevron in the proceedings.

"Of course, some of them are still litigants in some issues of the case," Malinak said. "In essence, we've been arguing five lawsuits as one."

The settlement was announced as the month-long trial resumed Monday in U.S. District Judge Simon T. Lake III's courtroom in Houston after a break in testimony of nearly two weeks.

Plaintiffs seeking nearly $600 million be restored to a Gulf pensioners' plan rested their case on Oct. 31. Testimony for the defense resumed Monday afternoon in a courtroom littered with bulging file boxes for attorneys on both sides.

In its partial settlement, Chevron has agreed to pay claims for severance, early retirement benefits and post-retirement medical and life insurance made by various employees working at operations sold by Chevron.

In addition, Chevron agreed to pay 25 percent of the litigants' attorneys' fees.

"We are pleased that Chevron has agreed to pay these claims."

said Lee Godfrey, lead counsel for the plaintiffs. "Many class members who will be vested by this agreement have no other vested pension rights."

"And the severance benefits, early retirement benefits, and post-retirement medical and life insurance will certainly help to soften the effects of the loss of Gulf benefits suffered by those employees who suddenly found themselves working for someone else as result of these divestitures," Godfrey said.

"We will continue to litigate most of our other claims, including the claim to the $600 million surplus assets in the plan," Godfrey said.

Malinak said he expected defense testimony to be completed Wednesday, but a decision in the case could take weeks longer.

The lawsuit was filed in 1986 on behalf of more than 40,000 former Gulf Oil Corp. employees, retirees and Chevron employees who previously worked for Gulf and their family members.

Standard Oil of California, which became Chevron, agreed to terms with Gulf Oil of Pittsburgh in May 1984, with the deal finalized the following year. Two years later, Chevron merged the two companies' pension plans into one.

Former Gulf employees sued, claiming surplus money in the Gulf plan that was there before the merger of the two pensions was theirs and should not have been lumped into a merged fund.

Lawmakers blast staff for insurance board

AUSTIN (AP) — State insurance officials are under fire from state legislators who fought for more than a year over reforming the workers' compensation system.

The workers' comp legislative oversight committee on Monday criticized the State Board of Insurance staff for recommending a 19.9 percent increase, or $975 million in employer-paid workers' comp premiums.

The insurance industry wants an 18.8 percent increase, while the state Office of Consumer Protection has recommended a decrease of 0.6 percent.

"When the staff recommendation calls for a greater increase than that requested by the industry being regulated, something is definitely wrong," said Sen. Bob Glasgow, D-Stephenville.

Sen. Cyndi Taylor Krier, R-San Antonio, said the 1989 workers' comp overhaul requires the Insurance Board to consider savings under the law when setting new rates.

"It does not seem the staff has read the law," she said.

Insurance Board Chairman James Saxton said the board hired a consultant to determine the impact of the workers' comp reform law, but directed the staff to act independently and not consider the measure's effect.

Asked why lawmakers were criticizing the staff, Saxton said, "I really don't know."

State Rep. Betty Denton, D-Waco, appeared at the board's hearing, protesting the insurance industry's requested increase, which follows approved increases over the past five years of about 200 percent.

"I am very disappointed in the insurance industry for not giving the new legislation a chance to work before they come down here and ask for a rate increase," she said.

But insurance industry officials defended their proposed rate hike, saying it took into account the workers' comp law that was passed after two special legislative sessions.

"In the absence of such legislation, I believe it is entirely possible that the workers' compensation system would, today, be in a state of total collapse," Robert Hilton, senior vice president of the National Council on Compensation Insurance, said.

Without the new law, Hilton said, his organization would have requested a 65.8 percent rate increase.

The board has not yet set a date when it will decide the new workers' comp rates.

Army, Marines call up 26,000 more reserves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army and Marine Corps are ordering to active duty 26,625 additional reservists, most for combat roles, as the military reaches into hundreds of communities nationwide to bolster its Persian Gulf deployments.

The callups announced Monday were the largest on a single day since President Bush authorized the use of citizen-soldiers in the Gulf crisis in August.

It also was the Army's first call to arms for reserve combat units, which some critics have said may not be adequately prepared for desert warfare against Iraq.

Since the start of Operation Desert Shield on Aug. 7, a total of 77,126 reservists have been called up — most in non-combat roles such as transportation and cargo handling. It is the biggest call-up of reservists since the Berlin crisis of 1961.

The Army said Monday it ordered 20,129 National Guard and Reserve members from 41 states, Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia to report for active duty Wednesday. The Army had put those units on alert for possible call-up last Friday.

The Army units include three National Guard combat brigades totaling about 12,000 troops — the 48th Infantry Brigade (Mechanized) of Georgia, the 155th Armored Brigade of Mississippi and the 256th Infantry Brigade (Mechanized) of Louisiana.

Each of those three brigades is a "roundout" unit for a regular Army armored or mechanized division, but none was called up in the initial deployment of more than 230,000 forces to the Gulf. It's still not certain that the three brigades will be sent to the front lines; they are scheduled to undergo desert warfare training in the United States before a deployment decision is made.

Reservists normally train one weekend per month plus one two-week exercise a year.

The Marine Corps said it was ordering 6,496 reservists to active duty for Desert Shield. Most are expected to be deployed to the Gulf as part of Marine reinforcements totaling about 45,000 men. About 45,000 regular Marines already are in the Gulf area.

The Marine reserves, from units in 23 states and the District of Columbia, will report for duty starting Saturday with the 2nd Marine Expeditionary Force at Camp Lejeune, N.C. That unit is expected to deploy to the Gulf.

Paul Newman donates $10,000

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Newman is donating $10,000 from his Newman's Own line of food products to help keep a Ms. magazine educational program cooking.

The program, "Ms.: the World of Women," provides copies of the magazine for use in women's, sociology and psychology classes at about 2,000 U.S. colleges.

The magazine initially provided the copies for free. After Ms. ran into financial troubles last year, people such as Newman began underwriting the program, said publisher Ruth Bower.

Happy Mom Took a Chance And Found Her Adopted Son

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1990 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: This concerns "Closed Chapter," who wants to close the book on her past. I know what she went through because 32 years ago, when I was 16, I also had a child out of wedlock and gave him up because I wanted him to have a better life than I could provide for him.

I beg "Closed Chapter" to at least contact the adoption agency and give them her medical history. She need not disclose her present whereabouts, but she should give them some information about her family, and the family of her child's natural father. (It might not be anything to brag about, but at least the child will know something about his or her birth parents.)

Abby, four months ago, I located my son living in another city. I wasn't sure he would want to see me, so I had him contacted through a third party. He telephoned me immediately, and when he said, "Hello, Mother," I couldn't hold back the tears.

He asked how soon we could meet, and did I want to come to him or should he come to me? I decided to go to him. Abby, he's tall, handsome and well-mannered. He is married to a beautiful woman and they have a lovely daughter.

Last month, he flew here to meet my husband and his half-brothers and sisters, and they all got along beautifully.

I realize that not all reunions turn out as well as mine did, but the point I want to make is this: There should be no secrets. Adopted children should have the chance to meet their birth parents if they so choose.

ONE OF THE LUCKY ONES

DEAR LUCKY: I agree, adopted children should have the chance to meet their biological parents if they wish to, but I wonder how many people are aware that adopted children and biological parents can register with International Soundex Reunion Registry, P.O. Box 2312, Carson City, Nev. 89702. The children must be of legal age (legal age varies from state to state).

If both parties are registered and want to find each other, a match is made. Interested parties must send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to the above address to request Soundex forms. There is no charge for this service.

DEAR ABBY: Our son, age 32, is marrying a woman who is 23. It's his second marriage and her first, and I know she's planning a big church wedding.

We are reluctant to send invitations to our friends and relatives who attended our son's first wedding and sent lovely gifts.

Would it be proper to enclose a little note with the invitations to those who have already given him one wedding gift saying that no gift is expected?

PONDERING PARENTS

DEAR PARENTS: Please resist enclosing a little note with the wedding invitations. Consider the bride. It's her first wedding, and she shouldn't be deprived of gifts because it's her husband's second trip to the altar.

DEAR ABBY: I'm another man who enjoys working in the kitchen with nothing on. I also do the backyard gardening and watering in my birthday suit.

The hubby of "Baffled in Vancouver" is smart; he learned the freedom of not wearing clothes at 49. I'm 65, and my wife is thankful that supper is ready when she gets home from work.

STARK NAKED IN SAN MARCOS

DEAR NAKED: Suit (or unsuit) yourself. But if you fry bacon in the buff, be sure to wear an apron.

What teen-agers need to know about sex, drugs, AIDS, and getting along with their peers and parents is now in Abby's updated, expanded booklet, "What Every Teen Should Know." To order, send a long, business-size, self-addressed envelope, plus check or money order for $3.95 ($4.50 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Teen Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61064. (Postage is included.)

Indian people are topic for program

The Alpha Study Club met at the Martha Ann Woman's Club for their November meeting with Rev. T.O. Upshaw as guest speaker.

He discussed many aspects of life in India, explaining that there are only two classes of people there, the wealthy and the poor. He showed slides of the country showing the cities and the countryside.

Velma Lunsford presided over the business meeting.

Twelve members and one guest were present with Bea Trevey and Lucille Tierce as hostesses.

Sea level in the eastern United States has risen a foot in this century alone, and it is predicted to go up at least another foot in the century ahead.

Methane, which is increasing in the atmosphere faster than carbon dioxide, has, molecule for molecule, 20 to 30 times the greenhouse effect of carbon dioxide.

REVIEWS BOOK — Daughters of the American Revolution met at the Snyder Country Club for their November meeting. Following the luncheon, Charles Anderson, author, presented a review of

community the longest, 85 years. Courtney Pharris, two-year old granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Goodlett was the youngest to attend and Gloria Woody Simmons of St. Torrance, Calif. traveled the farthest to attend. The group heard a poem written by Mrs. Richardson and Norma Denison in the late 1920's. The next homecoming is set during November of 1992. (Private Photo)

By James Jacoby

In yesterday's deal declarer was lazy, missing a chance for a safety play to make a doubled contract. Today we see a defender exhibiting the same laziness. Forget the fact that East-West can make three clubs. Neither defender felt like entering the bidding, and neither can be blamed. Against two spades, West had a tough opening-lead decision. He did not want to lead trumps away from the king, and both red suits had been bid by the opponents. So he decided on a club. For whatever reason, he led the three-spot. The deuce was played from dummy, and East, not thinking it possible that West had underled the ace, lazily played the eight of clubs. Declarer gratefully won the queen and eventually made nine tricks.

Look what might happen if East had the strength to put up the club king at trick one. He should then lead back a low heart. Presumably declarer would play low, and West would take the queen. West would play back a heart to East's ace, and now East would shoot back a club. West would win the ace and play a third heart, ruffed by East. That's five tricks in, and West would still make the king of spades.

Readers, take heart! If East, an experienced professional player, could be as careless as this, all of us should reduce our remorse over errors and think positively about avoiding mistakes in the future.

Snyder cage teams gear up for games

The Snyder Tigers and Lady Tigers continue their respective basketball season with games today. The boys are at Midland Lee while the girls travel to tangle with the Abilene High Lady Eagles.

The Lady Tigers are fresh off a third place finish in the weekend's Howard County Crossroads Tournament in Big Spring. Snyder knocked off Class 5A Lubbock Coronado and lost to Odessa Permian before edging former loop opponent Big Spring Saturday, 48-44, for third place.

Vinnie Clay found the basket for 12 points to lead the Lady Tigers against Big Spring. Dessie Ware nailed 10 for the 2-2 Snyder team.

Snyder's boys stand at 1-1 on the campaign with a win over Andrews and a loss last Friday to San Angelo Lake View, 59-48.

The Tigers were led by Jeff Wortham's 16-point effort on six baskets and a 4 of 4 night from the free-throw line.

Both games begin with 6 p.m. junior varsity tilts at their respective sites and follow with the varsity games at 7:30 p.m.

Irish fall to seventh...

Colorado voted No. 1 by AP

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — It's almost December, which means it's time for Colorado to be ranked No. 1 in the nation.

The Buffaloes moved into the top spot in The Associated Press college football poll for the first time this year after winning nine straight games following a rocky 1-1 start.

"This year we have overcome more adversity, we've come on strong at the end of the season," Buffs coach Bill McCartney said Monday. "We've won nine in a row. Has any other team done that?"

"We're playing every bit as well as last year, perhaps better." A year ago at this time, Colorado, then unbeaten, was ranked No. 1, too, but bowed to then-No. 4 Notre Dame 21-6 in the Orange Bowl, giving the national title to Sugar Bowl winner Miami.

McCartney is convinced his team is better prepared for the national championship challenge this time around.

Until Notre Dame's 24-21 loss to Penn State on Saturday dropped the Irish from No. 1 to No. 7, the Orange Bowl shaped up as an irresistible battle of No. 1 Notre Dame vs. No. 2 Colorado. "I think having Nos. 1 and 2 play would have eliminated a lot of speculation," McCartney said. "It would have been more clear-cut. The team that won in the Orange Bowl would have won the national title."

"But we don't have to depend on anybody else. Just like a year ago, if we win the game, we win the title. If we lose, somebody else wins it."

The Buffaloes (10-1) received 45 first-place votes and 1,476 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. Miami (7-2), which beat Boston College 42-12, jumped from third to second with three first-place votes and 1,344 points.

Georgia Tech (9-0-1) rose from fourth to third after beating Wake Forest 42-17 and BYU (9-1) went from fifth to fourth after downing Utah 45-22.

Tech received five more first-place votes than Miami, but got 11 fewer points because 15 of the 60 voters didn't put the Yellow Jackets in the Top Five. Tech was as low as 13th on one ballot.

BYU got two first-place votes and 1,263 points, while fifth-ranked Florida (9-1) and No. 6 Texas (8-1) each got one first-place vote. Rounding out the Top 10 are Notre Dame (8-2), Florida State (8-2), Washington (9-2) and Nebraska (9-1).

With six schools getting first-place votes, there obviously is no consensus on No. 1. Even the bowls may not settle the debate.

Colorado will probably win the national championship if it beats Notre Dame in the Orange Bowl. But even then, some people will say the title is undeserved because of the Buffaloes' controversial fifth-down victory over Missouri.

Miami can stake its claim to the national title by winning its last two regular-season games and beating the Southwest Conference champion in the Cotton Bowl. But the Hurricanes would have two losses, more than any previous champion at the time of the final poll.

Georgia Tech can boast the only unbeaten record if it beats Georgia and wins the Citrus Bowl over Nebraska. On the negative side: a tie with North Carolina and only two victories over teams currently ranked in the Top 25.

And what about Brigham Young? Even if BYU wins the Holiday Bowl and goes 12-1, critics will contend that the Cougars played a patsy schedule.

Notre Dame, which plays one of the nation's toughest schedules, fell to seventh after losing the top ranking for the second time this year. Miami, Michigan and Virginia have also been No. 1 this season.

Penn State jumped from 18th to 11th after winning its eighth straight game. Houston is 12th, followed by Iowa, Tennessee, Michigan, Clemson, Virginia, Southern Cal, Ohio State, Louisville, Mississippi, Illinois, Auburn, Michigan State and Southern Mississippi.

Virginia fell from eighth to 17th after losing to Maryland 35-30 and Mississippi dropped six spots to 21st following a 22-13 loss to Tennessee.

Westerners take 126-100 win in Howard cage tournament

BIG SPRING — The WTC Westerners kept up their high-flying ways Monday night with a 126-100 win over Lamar of Colorado in the opening round of the Hawk Classic hosted by Howard College.

In the event's other first round game Howard lambasted Wharton County Junior College, 119-75.

The Westerners moved to 7-2 on the campaign behind the scoring of sophomore Dominick Byrd, who pushed through 30 points on 12 goals from the floor and a 6 of 8 performance at the free-throw stripe Monday.

Fellow sophomores Paul Johnson, Allen Smith and Jeff Shelley all finished in double figures, as well.

Johnson, a transfer student from Delgado JC in New Orleans, scored 26. Smith hammered 19 on six buckets, one a three-pointer, and converted on all six freebies.

Shelley bombed a trio of threes and wound up with 17 on the night. The Westerners' final appearance in the Hawk Classic is slated for today at 6 p.m. when they tangle with Wharton. Howard plays Lamar in the 8 p.m. nightcap.

Western Texas' next outing is scheduled for Friday when the Westerners hit the floor at Reunion Arena in Dallas for a 4:30 p.m. matchup against Navarro Junior College.

The juco basketball tilt precedes the Dallas Mavericks-San Antonio Spurs regular-season NBA game slated for Friday.

Tickets, good for both games, are on sale at the WTC Athletic Office for $11 each until Wednesday.

WTC women drop game to Ranger JC

RANGER — Monica Ramirez scored 14 points and La Shunta Jackson put down 10 for the Western Texas College Lady Dusters Monday but that wasn't enough as Ranger JC notched a 71-58 win here.

Ranger led by a 29-20 margin at halftime and, paced by Melissa Graham's 22 points, bolted to the 13-point win.

Ramirez was good on five baskets and shot 4 of 8 from the line against RJC while Jackson dropped five 2-pointers.

Sophomore Kelsey Koester and freshman Becky Hinojos each finished the game with nine points for WTC.

The Lady Dusters, now 3-5 on the young campaign, had trouble at the charity stripe Monday converting just 18 of 30 tries for 60 percent.

Western Texas will take off until after the Thanksgiving holiday.

Beginning Friday, the Dusters will host the two-day Turkey Day Classic at Scurry County Coliseum.

Manley reinstated after year's rehab

HERNDON, Va. (AP) — Dexter Manley says he is ready for "a new beginning" in pro football, but he is looking for a new team now that the Washington Redskins have released him.

NFL commissioner Paul Tagliabue reinstated the defensive end to the league on Monday, a year after his ban for substance abuse. Manley is available starting today to a team willing to take a chance on the Redskins' all-time sacks leader.

Several teams have expressed an interest in Manley, but his new team won't be set until the waiver period expires Wednesday afternoon. If no team claims him, the nine-year pro would become a free agent.

"It's a new beginning," Manley told reporters shortly after the announcement by Tagliabue.

He rushed away, saying, "I'm going to get on an airplane and go to the Super Bowl."

Manley, 31, was banned from the league after he tested positive for cocaine use. It was his third violation of the league's substance abuse policy in three years, resulting in the so-called "lifetime ban."

Tagliabue said in a statement released in New York that Manley would be eligible to practice this week but not allowed to play in a game until Dec. 9. But he said Manley must avoid drug involvement and participate in a "structured support program" to remain in the league.

Manley's waiver gave the New England Patriots, the team with the league's worst record, the first shot at Manley, but they have said they don't want him.

Joe Bugel, a former Redskins assistant whose Phoenix Cardinals are tied with Cleveland for the second-worst record, said Monday he would be interested.

"There are guys with worse problems than him still playing in the league," said Bugel.

Cardinals' general manager Larry Wilson said no decision had been made on Manley, while Manley's attorney, Bob Woolf, said he had heard indirectly that the Los Angeles Rams, the Los Angeles Raiders, Miami and Denver are also interested.

The Redskins announced Manley's release simultaneously to the Tagliabue announcement, ending a career in Washington with what coach Joe Gibbs called "mixed emotions."

Manley had 97 sacks in his career with Washington, including a team-record 18 in 1986. He led the Redskins with nine sacks in his last nine games before his ban.

Manley has said he has worked out and run on his own and can run as fast as he did before he was banned.

L.A. upsets Miami in Monday contest

MIAMI (AP) — This time the NFL's top-ranked defense was second-best.

Miami leads the league in fewest points and yards allowed per game, but the Los Angeles Raiders' defense was a more dominant force Monday night. The Raiders limited Miami to 14 yards rushing — a record low in Dolphins' history — and came away with a 13-10 victory.

The Miami defenders couldn't cope with the Raiders' 1-2 rushing punch of Bo Jackson and Marcus Allen. Jackson ran for a season-high 99 yards in 17 carries; Allen gained 79 in 19 carries and scored the first rushing touchdown against the Dolphins in 26 quarters.

"We came through like champions," said defensive end Greg Townsend, whose sack on the first series set the tone for the game.

The Raiders (7-3) snapped Miami's six-game winning streak and their own two-game losing streak. Los Angeles took a one-game lead over second-place Kansas City in the AFC West.

"It was really important to win," Allen said. "We were in a two-game slide, and we didn't want to make it three. We felt we were a better team than that."

The Dolphins (8-2), who hadn't played a team with a winning record since the third week of the season, fell one game behind first-place Buffalo in the AFC East.

"I really feel we should've won that game," Miami quarterback Dan Marino said. "At the end, we didn't make the plays we had to make to win."

SNYDER TITANS — The Snyder Soccer Association Titans, an under 12 team, defeated Lubbock, 1-0, to advance to the finals on the Midland Turkey Shoot recently. The Titans knocked off the San Angelo representative in the tournament, 5-0, before beating Amarillo, 1-0, and then the Lubbock squad to finish in third place in the annual event. The team is, back row from left, Eric Pesina, David Smith, Jeremy Clifton, Kelly Gentry, Scott Sanders, Greg Herrera and Alvaro De Lao. Bonds awarded NL MVP prize for '90

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Finally, Barry Bonds isn't just Bobby Bonds' son.

You might want to refer to him by his new title: National League Most Valuable Player. He was a near unanimous choice, receiving 23 of a possible 24 first-place votes from the Baseball Writers of America Association after his career year led the Pittsburgh Pirates to their first NL East Division title in 11 years.

"I knew I was capable of this, but there are so many great ballplayers out there, I didn't know if it would be this year," Bonds said Monday. "I just put it together in the right year."

In his first four major league seasons, Bonds tried unsuccessfully to reach the standards of excellence his famous father achieved while hitting 30 homers and stealing 30 bases in five different seasons.

Now, after enjoying the kind of season Bonds himself wasn't sure he had in him, he's making others guess how much better he can get. According to Pirates manager Jim Leyland, even an MVP can get better.

"Barry's maturing and coming of age," Leyland said. "He's a hungry player and his concentration is better than it's ever been. People say he's finally playing up to his potential, but, hey, he was a pretty good player before this season."

"Sometimes he goes off the deep end and wastes an at-bat here or there, and if he didn't do that, he could hit 40 homers." That would put the 26-year-old Bonds in the 40-40 category with Jose Canseco, a class not reached even by Bonds' father. For now, Barry Bonds will have to be content being the majors' first 30-50-100 player.

Bonds, who had never hit higher than 283, batted .301 this past season. He'd never hit more than 25 homers, but he hit 33. He'd never driven in more than 59 runs, but he did that by July 8 and finished with 114. He'd never stolen more than 36 bases, but he stole 52 for the NL East champions.

The Dolphins' final possession ended with a fourth-down incompleteness from their own 48 with 1:09 left.

"I didn't know if we'd be able to hold on at the end," Raiders coach Art Shell said. "But the guys got the job done."

Hurt by the loss of tough-blocking fullback Tony Paige to a knee injury, Miami abandoned its feeble running game after falling behind 10-0 and tried to rally with the shotgun formation. The Dolphins' final rushing yardage total, in 12 carries, broke the team record of 23 yards set in 1967 against Kansas City and tied in 1987 against Buffalo.

"Our running game couldn't get started. That was a disaster," coach Don Shula said. "So the whole thing rode on our passing game."

The Raiders controlled the ball for more than 35 minutes and mounted scoring drives of 9, 18 and 11 plays.

Greyhound ties its bankruptcy filing to drivers lawsuit

DALLAS (AP) — Greyhound Lines Inc. has tied its bankruptcy reorganization to a dispute with the National Labor Relations Board over treatment of its striking drivers.

In a Chapter 11 plan filed with a bankruptcy judge in Corpus Christi Monday, Greyhound said it will restructure itself and issue new stock, most of which will go to unsecured creditors.

The plan must be approved by U.S. bankruptcy Judge Richard S. Schmidt and Greyhound's creditors. Its completion also hinges on how Schmidt views the NLRB's charges against Greyhound on behalf of 6,000 drivers who went on strike in March.

The NLRB has charged Greyhound with unfair labor practices and says the company owes the drivers more than $80 million in back pay and damages, attorneys say. The filing says Greyhound will not proceed with the reorganization if drivers win more than $40 million.

The company earlier asked Schmidt to define any amount of money the NLRB wins for striking drivers as an unsecured claim at the bottom of Greyhound's list of obligations.

"If those two conditions are not met, we would not try to confirm this plan we would pull it back and re-look at it," said George W. Hanthorn, senior vice president and general counsel for Greyhound.

Attorneys for the drivers received copies of the plan late Monday and had no immediate comment.

Under the plan, all of Greyhound's routes will keep operating.

"I think really the key to the plan is the way our operations have come back since the strike," Hanthorn said. "Without those improved and good operations, a plan like this we have proposed on this fast a track couldn't happen."

Passenger revenue fell below half of 1989's monthly levels during the first part of the strike, but steadily increased over the summer and, in October, was 90 percent of the 1989 figure.

The company would like to complete the reorganization process by next spring or early summer, Hanthorn said.

Greyhound filed for reorganization under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy code in early June, three months after the drivers went on strike over wages and benefits. The expense of fighting the strike and a fall in revenue after the strike siphoned cash Greyhound needed to operate, the company said then.

Greyhound lost $108 million in the first three quarters of 1990, including $50 million in the first quarter.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I would like to know the current treatment for valve stenosis. Is there any medication to avoid drastic, invasive surgery of replacing valves with artificial or pig valves?

DEAR READER: The valves in the heart, which prevent a backflow of blood, are composed of tough, but thin, cusps or membranes. Valvular stenosis simply means that a valve cannot open properly; over time, this weakens the heart because of increased cardiac work necessary to force blood through the narrow opening.

Some infants are born with valvular stenosis. This causes a variety of signs and symptoms, such as circulatory abnormalities and a murmur (an extra heart sound). Adults can acquire valvular stenosis because of disease (heart-valve infection or endocarditis) or a natural, age-related calcification and thickening of the valve cusps.

Mild valvular stenosis does not necessarily require treatment, either in children or in adults. Doctors often choose to monitor the patient's progress (with examinations and electrocardiograms) and withhold therapy until signs of cardiac overwork appear.

On the other hand, moderate/severe valvular stenosis must always be repaired, or the heart will give out from additional work. Therapy has traditionally been surgical replacement of the valve with an artificial device or with an animal valve (porcine valves work well); or surgeons, using a special cutting instrument, can actually repair and unblock a sticky valve (valvuloplasty) without replacing it. This latter technique is simpler and safer, but not all diseased valves can be repaired by valvuloplasty.

Recently, cardiac surgeons have reported success with balloon angioplasty in certain cases of valvular stenosis; this technique is often used in treating blockage of the coronary arteries, too. During the procedure, a thin catheter with a deflated balloon is passed into an artery and positioned in the defective valve. Then the balloon is rapidly inflated; this stretches the narrow valve and breaks the stenosis.

Balloon angioplasty is especially effective in calcific aortic stenosis, a common condition in elderly patients, marked by progressive calcium deposits in the aortic valve, leading to stiff, hard cusps that cannot fully open.

Therefore, if a patient needs a valve repair, several options are available, depending on which valve is affected and the degree of stenosis (narrowing). Since valvular stenosis is a mechanical problem, it requires a mechanical solution; medicine may aid the heart action (and protect against overwork), but it is not suitable or appropriate therapy for a stuck valve.

Consumers still want lower rates

AUSTIN (AP) — Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. disputes consumer group charges that it's over-collecting more than $1 million a day from ratepayers, saying that estimate leaves out legitimate expenses.

"The groups that have been making these kind of million-dollar-a-day allegations would delete from our legitimate expenses such things as research and development ... We disagree completely with all of their figures," said company spokesman Bob Digneo.

The state-paid lawyer for residential and small commercial ratepayers accused Southwestern Bell Monday of overcharging customers by $1 billion in the 22 months its rate case has been before the Public Utility Commission.

Backed by groups including Consumers Union and a coalition of 103 cities, C. Kingsbery Ottmers stepped up the call for the PUC to reject a proposed settlement of the case.

The consumer groups say the PUC should reduce Southwestern Bell's rates by at least $392 million a year right away, including a reduction in basic local service rates. The proposed settlement would freeze those basic rates.

"What is the response of (PUC's) general counsel and Southwestern Bell to this situation? They've told ratepayers either take the crumbs we've offered you, or continue the overcollections while we hold new hearings," Ms. Ottmers said.

The PUC general counsel, Bob Rima, is among parties that support the proposed Southwestern Bell rate case settlement. Ms. Ottmers contended at a news conference that Rima instead should join the call for temporary rates.

Rima said if the settlement is rejected by the PUC, he would resume a plea that Southwestern Bell's current rates be made temporary. That could allow any overcharge to be refunded at the conclusion of a full-blown rate case.

Ms. Ottmers wants telephone rates to be reduced at least temporarily, until such a rate case is concluded. The telephone company says the law does not provide for interim rates in a case like this one, which was initiated by the PUC rather than the utility.

Southwestern Bell says the proposed settlement would be worth $1.2 billion to customers over four years, but consumers say the annual revenue reduction to Southwestern Bell is far less, at $73 million a year.

Rima said the benefit to customers doesn't exactly match the cost to Southwestern Bell, noting that the company could stimulate business by lowering costs.

He said there were mistakes in the $73 million figure. Without increased business, he said, the settlement cost to Southwestern Bell would be more than $1.1 billion.

Study: beef can be part of lean diet

HOUSTON (AP) — A study has demonstrated that lean beef can be safely substituted for poultry or fish in a low-cholesterol diet, but the nutritionist who did the study cautioned that doesn't mean burgers and chicken-fried steak.

Lynne Scott, assistant professor at the Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, said her study of 46 men with borderline high cholesterol found that lean beef can be as effective as lean chicken or fish in a low-cholesterol diet.

"There's no reason that they couldn't eat beef as long as they stipulate it is a very lean beef in a low-fat diet," Ms. Scott said. "It must be with that stipulation, however. Otherwise, immediately people start thinking of hamburgers, lasagna and chicken-fried steak and that's not what we're talking about."

The study findings will be published in the January edition of Nutrition, Metabolism and Cardiovascular Disease journal, Ms. Scott said. Last week, she presented her findings in an abstract at the American Heart Association's 63rd annual convention in Dallas.

Ms. Scott put the 46 men, whose cholesterol levels were between 200 and 250 milligrams per deciliter of blood, on the low-fat, low-cholesterol diet recommended by the American Heart Association. That diet has less than 30 percent of calories derived from fat and less than 10 percent from saturated fat.

Half of the group ate 8 ounces of beef daily with less than 4 percent fat, while the other half ate 4 ounces of red snapper and 4 ounces of skinless chicken breast.

After four weeks, the overall cholesterol levels of both groups declined by the same amount and there was no statistically significant difference in their cholesterol levels.

Ms. Scott said the finding supports allowing more variety in such diets, but she emphasized the beef had to be extra lean and cooked without additional fats.

"It was all steaks — strip steaks — with the fat trimmed away," she said. "It's not hamburger. That isn't graded in the same way that whole meat is."

She said the study showed "if a person is going to use beef, he should use the select grade and he needs to trim off all of the fat."

The findings did not surprise Dr. Robert Lees, professor of cardiovascular disease at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Oswald's widow said he 'adored John Kennedy'

DALLAS (AP) — Marina Oswald, widow of presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald, said in a television interview that he often spoke fondly of President Kennedy.

"With all clean conscience, I can say, yes, he adored John Kennedy," Mrs. Oswald told David Lifton, author of a Kennedy conspiracy book. The interview was broadcast Monday night by "Hard Copy."

"In my mind I cannot ever pit Lee against Kennedy. That is why I desperately try to find this theory," she said. "It had to be something else. I never heard one negative remark against Kennedy ever from Lee."

Lifton's book "Best Evidence" is one of dozens suggesting that Oswald was framed as part of a covert operation. The Warren Commission ruled that Oswald was the assassin and that he acted alone.

Oswald was shot and killed by Jack Ruby two days after Kennedy's death as he was being transferred from the Dallas city jail to a county facility.

The 30-minute show was billed as a "World Exclusive," but Mrs. Oswald didn't offer any substantially different views than she has in previous discussions, including a four-hour interview with The Associated Press in 1983.

At the end of the program, "Hard Copy" said Mrs. Oswald would during today's show say why she now thinks her husband didn't kill Kennedy.

Mrs. Oswald, now remarried and living in a rural Texas town, said Oswald "had much confidence in his president."

"He always bragged about the young, vivacious president America had, not the old fuddy-duddies like in Russia. He really boast(ed) about the country, the system and John Kennedy," she said.

"I believe the evidence exists right now to prove that he is not guilty of the crime he was accused of," she said.

Asked what she would ask Oswald today, Mrs. Oswald said, "I would ask, 'Did you do it or not?' I want to be certain from him."

Cobblestones are controversial in the asphalt jungle

NEW YORK (AP) — Can cobblestone survive in the asphalt jungle? That issue, and those surfaces, have divided a historic block and left the street a half-cobbled, half-paved patchwork of ruts and potholes.

Franklin Street's cobblestone controversy pits some of the artists and professionals who have moved into lofts in the old textile district in lower Manhattan against businessmen still trying to make a living there.

And it raises the question of how much the city is willing to spend to preserve a street surface that went out with the horse and buggy.

"At a time when the city is raising taxes and laying people off, it's elitist to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars on cobblestones for one block," said Waring Abbott, who thinks cobblestones belong in a museum. "Why not put them on Fifth Avenue, too?"

But Paul Goldstein, head of the local planning board, calls cobblestones "just a little bit of old New York that people want to retain down here."

The block in question is between Broadway and Church, a 19th century streetscape of cast iron facades, granite slab sidewalks and Belgian cobblestones.

On the buildings' upper floors, potted flowers hang in the windows of airy artists' lofts; on the street, workers lug huge rolls of fabric to and from trucks.

Upstairs and downstairs coexisted peacefully until July, when a road crew arrived and began raising manhole covers, pulling up cobblestones and spreading asphalt.

Donna Downes was aghast. For years she had kept an eye on the cobblestones, even chasing off homeowners who tried to pull them up to pave their patios.

At her behest, a Transportation Department official visited the street the next day. After surveying what had been done, the official pronounced it a mistake: City policy bars blacktopping of cobblestone streets. The stones would have to be replaced.

Meanwhile, several utilities needed to do emergency work under the street. Seeing the asphalt the city had spread, they apparently concluded it was open season on cobblestones and filled their cuts with more asphalt.

By now, the street felt more like a dirt road in Appalachia than an urban thoroughfare. Issac Cherechian, who runs a fabric business, watched as trucks lurched into each other and cars bottomed out. One raised manhole cover caused $6,000 damage to a new Saab.

Cherechian and other businessmen were furious. Thus began a small-town feud in the nation's largest city.

Abbott, a photographer who has lived on Franklin for 15 years, joined the fray after receiving an anti-asphalt flyer from Downes' "Franklin Street Block Association."

Abbott, who seems to love a fight, obtained a city document showing the estimated cost of repairing the cobblestones to be $146,500, compared with $20,000 for asphalt.

He circulated a petition, and Downes did the same. "It's gotten down to, 'Whose petition is longer?'" he said. "Ours is."

The city, in the midst of a fiscal crisis, has had second thoughts.

Jeff Maclin, a spokesman for the Transportation Department, said the street probably will be covered with asphalt in the spring because "the cost of restoring the cobblestones is prohibitive."

Downes said her group will sue if necessary.

And the old cobblestones? They sit in a depot on Staten Island, waiting, perhaps, for a new life on a suburban patio.
