PLAQUE AWARDED — Members of the city's financial department presented a plaque to Mayor Troy Williamson during a city council meeting Monday night at City Hall. The plaque was awarded to the city by Government Finance Officers

City accepts bids on vehicles, beds during council meeting

Snyder City Council concluded business for the calendar year by accepting two bids for city equipment and approving on second reading a new city ordinance during its December meeting Monday night at City Hall.

Only one bid was submitted to the council for the purchase of two new vehicles for the local police department.

Big Country Chevrolet submitted a bid of $23,924, with two trade-ins, for two 1991 Chevrolet Caprice sedans. City Manager John Gayle noted that the council had budgeted $24,000 for the purchase of the vehicles.

The council was also presented a bid from Roger Anderson of Sisco Inc. in Minneapolis for bed units for Snyder Fire Department. The bid was for $10,069.41 for nine folding bed units. Fire Chief Terry Don McDowell told the council that the beds currently in use at the station were purchased in 1963.

Approved by the council on second reading was ordinance 768. The ordinance requires that write-in candidates in city elections declare candidacy 30 days in advance of the date of the election.

At the conclusion of regular business, members of the city's financial department presented Mayor Troy Williamson with a plaque awarded to the City of Snyder for excellence in financial reporting.

The plaque was awarded by Government Finance Officers Association based on the city's comprehensive annual financial report.

At an earlier city council meeting, City Secretary Jeanne Johnson was awarded a certificate by CFOA.

CFOA is a nonprofit professional association which serves some 11,500 government finance personnel. The association produces technical publications in government finance and represents its membership in Washington, D.C. In addition, the organization provides training opportunities and hosts an annual conference.

Iraq will release Soviets if compensation is paid

by The Associated Press

Baghdad backed away from its confrontation with Moscow today, saying it would allow all 3,000 Soviets stranded in Iraq to leave, but it demanded the Kremlin pay compensation for canceling their work contracts.

Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze had warned that Moscow, which has not sent troops to join the U.S.-led multinational force stationed in the Persian Gulf, would use military force if its citizens were harmed.

Meanwhile, former world boxing champion Muhammad Ali and six Americans who had been detained in Iraq arrived in New York early this morning.

As Iraq apparently tries to chip away at the world alliance arrayed against it by releasing hostages on a piecemeal basis, Senate Democrats continued to express reservations over the Bush administration's gulf policy.

Sam Nunn, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, said on Monday that the U.N. trade sanctions against Iraq should be given more time to work before Washington considers war to liberate Kuwait.

But Defense Secretary Dick Cheney told Congress that military action was the only sure way to drive Iraq from the oil-rich emirate.

The official Iraqi News Agency said today that the Soviets, mainly oil industry experts, will be allowed to leave beginning Wednesday. It said, however, Moscow would have to pay compensation for broken contracts.

Moscow last week accused Iraq of breaking a promise to allow Soviets to leave. The accusation came as Moscow adopted a harder line against Iraq.

The Kremlin was Iraq's main arms supplier and chief ally before the gulf crisis began on Aug. 2.

Eight dead as two jets collide in fog

ROMULUS, Mich. (AP) — Investigators today tried to determine whether a pilot was lost on a foggy runway when he turned his jetliner into the path of another and caused a "kerosene torch" collision that killed eight people.

Monday's collision of a Boeing 727 and a DC-9, both operated by Northwest Airlines, reduced one plane to a blackened shell, its roof burned away. At least 20 people were hospitalized with burns, broken bones, smoke inhalation and other injuries.

The 727 was racing down a runway toward takeoff at Detroit Metropolitan Airport when its wing was sheared off by the DC-9, which had turned in front of it. Fuel poured from the planes and the DC-9 burst into flames, killing eight of the 43 people aboard.

"It was like a big kerosene torch," said passenger John Izzo, 41, of Pittsburgh, who escaped uninjured by jumping off a wing.

"The only thing going through my mind was 'I'm going to die in this damn plane and I'm only 26 years old,'" said another passenger, medical student Mike Marrone of Saddle River, N.J. "I wanted to get out of there and I think a lot of other people did too. I didn't see too many acts of heroism."

The air traffic controllers union said the DC-9 appeared to have become lost in the fog. Federal investigators refused to comment on that possibility, and it was not known what instructions the DC-9 received before straying into the path of the 727.

The SDN Column

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Be bold in what you stand for, but careful what you fall for."

We learn from each other, and perhaps we adults can learn from the success of the Snyder Tiger football team.

Following their bi-district victory over Pampa, several players were asked to comment about the difference in this team.

The responses were similar. "This year we played as a team instead of individuals." In other words, we can accomplish much collectively if we don't dwell on who gets the credit.

The 1990 Snyder Tigers taught us a lot about unity and pride. As we approach the new year, we hope that we older folks in Scurry County can put the same qualities to work for community progress.

The Tigers gave fans their money's worth all season. It was repeated often Saturday afternoon-

Eight indicted by grand jury

Bond has been set at $15,000 each for a Snyder couple indicted by Scurry County Grand Jury Monday for sexual assault of a child.

Twenty-six-year-old Cary Brent Witte of Rt. 2, Box 166, was indicted on two counts of the assault charge, one count for an Oct. 1 incident and another for a Nov. 1 incident. His bond was set at $30,000 — $15,000 on each count.

His wife, 26-year-old Judy Erwin Witte, was also indicted in connection with the alleged Oct. 1 incident.

They were arrested at 7:50 p.m. Monday and remain in Scurry County Jail. The sheriff's office is investigating the case.

Also indicted by the grand jury was Kenneth Walter Toby, 53, for felony theft. Toby was arrested by Snyder police Nov. 7 in connection with the Nov. 5 burglary of the office of Kingswood Apartments on East 37th St., which he was managing.

Toby, who reported the burglary himself, told police that someone had entered the office through a window and taken an undetermined amount of cash.

Police later determined that $2,465 in cash and checks were taken. Authorities allege that Toby made the office appear to be burglarized. Some of the cash was recovered, according to police.

Bond was set at $5,000.

Also indicted for felony theft was 33-year-old Stephen Mark Franks of Snyder for allegedly stealing a 1980 Ford pickup from Rick Graham Sept. 28. Franks has left the state, according to the sheriff's office.

Completing the list of eight indictments are three for driving while intoxicated. Darwin Lee Garvin, 32, of Rt. 1, Box 500 in Colorado City, was indicted for a Nov. 23 offense and remains in the county jail. David Keith Marricle, 34, of Rt. 2 Box 149 in Hermleigh, was indicted for a Nov. 18 offense and Daniel Ubando, 28, of 1006 Presser St. in San Angelo, was indicted for a Nov. 10 offense.

Marricle and Ubando are free on bond.

AFL-CIO files suit over worker's comp

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas AFL-CIO today said it has filed a lawsuit challenging the constitutionality of the state's new workers' compensation law.

The lawsuit also seeks a temporary injunction to prohibit implementation of parts of the new law until a judge determines its constitutionality.

"As a result of the workers' comp bill due to take effect Jan. 1, 1991, injured and ill workers in Texas will be denied basic justice," said Joe D. Gunn, AFL-CIO president.

"The law is regressive, punitive and patently unfair to injured workers. We have a duty to all workers to challenge such laws," Gunn said.

The law was passed by the Legislature in a 1989 special session. Gov. Bill Clements and others sought the new law to help control what business interests said were skyrocketing workers' (see SUIT, page 8)

Committee advised SHS used ineligible student in fall band

Snyder public schools Superintendent Dalton Moseley confirmed today that he has advised a District 2-4A music committee that an ineligible student participated in band competition for Snyder High School.

The student, a fifth-year senior who was over age 19 at the start of the current school year, participated in marching band, including district and regional competition.

"I have notified the UIL (University Interscholastic League) and they referred the matter to the district committee," Moseley said. "I have notified the district music committee, and when they receive a letter from me concerning the ineligibility, they will schedule a meeting."

Moseley said the district committee will review the case and determine a penalty, if any, which could be a private or public reprimand, or have Snyder High School forfeit its district awards.

The superintendent said the ineligible participation by the student was not intentional.

"No sir. This was definitely an oversight," he said. "The age limit was overlooked. It was not intentional."

Moseley said he did not know the age of the student, only that he was over 19. The student was taken out of band last Saturday. Other sources indicated the student was 21 years of age.

Snyder received a 1st Division rating in the District 2-4A marching contest on Oct. 31 in Lubbock and advanced to regional competition in Odessa on Nov. 3. The band was selected as second alternate to state at the regional contest.

Ask Us

Q—How much was spent by the state government on public education last year? How much of this went to public schools?

A—According to the state comptroller's office, the state spent approximately $10.1 billion in 1990 for public education, including public schools, colleges and universities. Of that, 62 percent went to public schools, 29 percent to state colleges and universities and nine percent to fund retirement contributions for public and higher education employees.

Seek release of hostage relatives...

Three leave for Middle East

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — Five Texans have joined a group of 17 Americans traveling to Baghdad, despite U.S. government warnings, to seek the release of loved ones held hostage since the Iraqi army invaded Kuwait Aug. 2.

Willie Carr of North Richland Hills, Jennifer Williams of Dallas and Donitta Cole of Odessa left from Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport Monday afternoon bound for New York, then Amman, Jordan. They expect to reach Baghdad Wednesday.

The departing Americans also include Kevin Hale, 17, of Spring, and Bharati Bhatt of League City, who departed from Houston. They are accepting an offer from Iraqi President Saddam Hussein to visit relatives during the holidays.

Mrs. Carr will try to obtain the release of her husband, Gary, an oil field worker, and Ms. Williams will be seeking the release of her father, Stuart Williams.

Mrs. Cole left in hopes of bringing back her husband, John, an oil field worker who was captured at his home in Kuwait.

"I am not saying that there is a strong probability that our husbands will come home with us, I am hoping that there is a good possibility," Mrs. Cole said.

The State Department has warned that U.S. officials would be unable to help should anything happen to Americans who risk a trip to occupied Kuwait.

"I'm not afraid," Mrs. Carr said, "a little anxious but not afraid."

Mrs. Cole said she doesn't mind accusations that Hussein will use the relatives' visits to counter worldwide opinion of Iraq.

"If they want to use us, I say let them use us," she said. "If that gets my husband home, so be it."

Mrs. Carr said that after four months she is tired of waiting for the State Department to act. She said the negotiating trip by Secretary of State Jim Baker is long overdue.

"It (negotiations) may not be the things said that each other wants to hear, but they've got to start somewhere and this is a start," she said.

Kim Edwards of Carson City, Nev., and a hostage support group, Coming Home, in Champaign, Ill., helped organize the trip. A second group plans to leave for Iraq Dec. 19.

Mrs. Carr and Ms. Williams said they believe Hussein will cooperate because they are going in peace.

"I'm going on a mission of peace," said Ms. Williams, a student at Southern Methodist University. She added that should the delegation meet with Hussein she'll ask him to "please give me my Daddy back."

She said she doesn't want to consider being forced to return without him.

Family members waiting with Mrs. Carr also said she will be successful in bringing home their father.

"I can't wait for him to meet my husband," said Carr's 21-year-old daughter, Heather LaFon. She said she started dating her husband of one month just after Carr left for Kuwait.

Jarrold Carr, 22, said he's sent dozens of photos of Trey, Gary Carr's only grandchild. But Jarrold wants his father to see how the 20-month-old boy has grown, learned to walk and say his grandfather's name.

Carr said he thinks his mother will be all right in Kuwait but he knows the potential dangers. He said the entire family, including Jon Carr, 19, left Iran in 1976 just before Iranian forces seized American hostages.

Ms. Williams' mother, Wendy Williams, said because she isn't married to Stuart Williams her daughter is the only one in the family who could go.

"It (the trip) wasn't my idea, but... she'll always have my support," she said. "She's a very brave little girl."

Richards says Lena Guerrero's appointment sends a message

AUSTIN (AP) — The appointment of Lena Guerrero as the first woman and first Hispanic on the Texas Railroad Commission sends a message about the makeup of the new administration, governor-elect Ann Richards says.

"That is that rich and poor, and old and young, and men and women, and white, black and brown alike are going to be in positions of power and responsibility in this state," Richards said Monday.

The nomination of Ms. Guerrero, 33, to the century-old panel that regulates the oil, gas and transportation industries in Texas is the first major appointment for Richards.

Ms. Guerrero, a three-term House member from Austin, will succeed Commissioner John Sharp, who was elected state comptroller. Richards said the appointment would take effect as soon as she is inaugurated Jan. 15.

If confirmed by the Senate, Ms. Guerrero, a Democrat, will serve until the next general election, in 1992. The nominee said she would seek election at that time.

The new Railroad Commission will include Commissioner James Nugent and Bob Krueger, both Democrats. Krueger was elected Nov. 6 to succeed retiring chairman Kent Hance.

Richards said Ms. Guerrero

"brings to the commission a background that is strong in areas that are important to my administration: a thorough understanding of ethics in government, a sensitivity to the rights of consumers and the needs of regulated industries, and an abiding respect for the environment."

Ms. Guerrero, a native of Mission, once worked as a migrant farm worker. She is a Phi Beta Kappa graduate in broadcasting from the University of Texas and has represented Austin in the Texas House since 1985, most recently as vice chair of the House State Affairs Committee.

She served as political director for Richards' Democratic primary campaign and during the general election was co-chair of the Democratic Party's "Unity 90" drive.

Ms. Guerrero said she would work to promote greater use of Texas-produced natural gas and to see that the state plays a central role in forming the nation's energy policy.

"Our entire state economy is largely affected by two industries regulated by the Railroad Commission," she said. "My job as commissioner is to enforce a social contract between the people of Texas, whom we serve, and the industries of Texas, which we regulate."

"We must assure that prices are fair and that industries are competitive."

Richards said Ms. Guerrero's environmental record was a key

Taylor was first
NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — The first person to go over Niagara Falls in a barrel was Anna Edson Taylor in 1901.

She plunged 186 feet over the Horseshoe Falls, where 500,000 tons of water thunder down each minute. She was housed in a barrel that was 4½ feet high and 3 feet in diameter and was filled with cushions.

reason she won the appointment to the agency she described as "one of the most powerful energy and transportation regulatory boards in the United States."

"She brings a perspective that is too often missing from our regulatory boards — and that is a person who is committed to preserving our land, our air and our water," Richards said.

Ms. Guerrero serves on the national board of directors of the World Wildlife Fund-Conservation Foundation and the National Wildlife Foundation.

"I'll examine the policies on this commission as to the responsibility about environmental protection," Ms. Guerrero said. "I say that without being critical of the job the agency has done in the past. But I think those of you who know me are aware of my interest in environmental conservation and protection as a top priority."

The Railroad Commission members traditionally have awarded the chairmanship to the member who is next up for election. That would be Ms. Guerrero, who said, "I like that tradition."

Will 'Video Catnip' perk up bored cats?

HERNDON, Va. (AP) — At last, the purr-fect Christmas stocking stuffer for indoor cats who have everything. It's their very own videotape, featuring a mouth-watering parade of live birds, squirrels and chipmunks cavorting on the TV screen.

The 25-minute, full-color video, taped in a wooded backyard of this Washington suburb, is sure to delight all those latchkey kitties who are bored with napping, scratching the furniture and swatting ornaments off the Christmas tree.

Just slip a $19.95 copy of "Video Catnip" into the VCR and watch them turn into regular couch furballs. But heed the warning at the start of the tape:

"While watching this video, your cat may become excited and attempt to get inside your television set to get at the birds.... We strongly suggest that you remove all breakables from on top or around your TV set. No kitting."

Creator Steve Malarkey promises "some cat-a-clysmic fun with no paws in the action." His satisfied customers, speaking for their pampered pussycats, say his video really delivers the goods.

The live action is divided into segments titled "Cheep Thrills," "Mews and Feather Report" and "A Stalk in the Park." Voyeuristic feline viewers will enjoy lots of juicy close-ups of their favorite outdoor creatures, feasting noisily on birdseed and popcorn.

Malarkey was a disgruntled computer technician searching for a career change when he decided to "get into the cat business." He tried making heated "cat houses" and tree-shaped scratching posts, but both were flops.

Then one night, he said, "I was sitting in front of the TV with my wife, watching a National Geographic special on birds of the Cayman Islands or somewhere," he said. "Our cat Stick, who never even glanced at TV before, came out of his box like a shot and sat right in front of the screen, growling and meowing."

Malarkey borrowed a friend's video camera and tripod, seeded his backyard with treats and let the tape run for an hour.

"When I brought the tape back to the house and showed it to Stick, he went ballistic," Malarkey said.

Malarkey hired a professional camera crew and doused his backyard with 200 pounds of birdseed and popcorn. "It was springtime, and things were really hopping out there," he said.

11 new judges

WASHINGTON (AP) — When 11 new federal district judges climb up to the bench in Texas, Judge Lucius Bunton says they should be ready to start paring down some overloaded dockets around the state.

Texas' federal courts are among the busiest in the nation, swamped by drug cases that are causing delays in some districts' civil dockets, according to members of Congress who pushed for legislation creating 85 new judgeships nationwide. With 11, Texas gets more than any other state.

President Bush signed the bill into law Saturday, saying the additional resources "will provide needed assistance in our fight against crime and drugs by enhancing our courts' ability to provide swift and fair justice."

Man Who Runs to Mama Tramples on His Marriage

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1990 Universa Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I've been married to Harry for six years. It's been a constant struggle to keep our marriage going, due to his drinking and my co-dependency. Harry has been sober for six months, and we are both seeing therapists at an alcohol treatment center.

Recently, we had such a severe crisis that we considered divorce. We both did a lot of crying and thinking. (We have four children.) During this time, Harry went to his parents for emotional support.

His mother decided that I am not a good wife because I don't cook big, elaborate meals, and I don't give Harry sex often enough, so divorce would be in his best interest. Then she cooked a pork roast and made sandwiches from the leftovers for him to take to work. She brought this lunch to the house while Harry wasn't home and said to me, "You don't like me doing this, do you?"

I replied, "No, I don't."

Then she shook her finger in my face and proceeded to tell me all the things she didn't like about me, so I took her hand in mine and held it at her waist while I attempted to correct her misconceptions. Then she sat down and waited for Harry to come home so she could tell him that I had picked a fight with her and twisted her arm! Can you believe this?

What do you think of this woman's behavior? She has been interfering in my marriage since day one, and I am totally exasperated! What is your advice?

END OF MY ROPE

DEAR END: As I see it, the central problem in your marriage is your mother-in-law's interference. She must let go of her son so he can be a mature man instead of a mama's boy.

You say that both you and Harry are seeing therapists. That's good. What does your therapist think of Harry's complaining to his mother about his inadequate sex life? Unless your husband can outgrow his dependence on his mother, I see little hope for your marriage.

DEAR ABBY: I am the mother of a wonderful 2-year-old daughter. I am also a college student who works three nights a week as a waitress. Abby, I can hardly express how sick it makes me feel when a woman who is obviously pregnant orders an alcoholic drink. I feel that I am a party to giving an unborn baby poison. I thank God that my precious child has been healthy since the day she was born, so I find it hard to struggle with this crisis of conscience.

Does the law requiring labels warning of alcohol's danger to unborn babies compel me to verbally inform the customers, since they never see the bottle of wine? Can I refuse to serve these women without losing my job? What can I do to ease my conscience?

SCOTTSDALE WAITRESS

DEAR WAITRESS: I respect your sensitivity and integrity, but were you to refuse service to anyone for personal reasons, you would surely lose your job. (Aside from pregnant women, how do you feel about serving alcohol to customers who, in your opinion, have had enough to drink?)

Since you feel that serving alcohol to a pregnant woman makes you guilty of giving "poison" to an unborn baby, ease your conscience by switching to a job that will not require you to serve alcohol at all. Good luck in your job search.

By popular request, Abby shares more of her favorite prize-winning, easy-to-prepare recipes. Taking no chances

By James Jacoby

The mark of an expert declarer is his taking precautions against unusual distributional breaks whenever possible. Lynn Deas demonstrated this expertise in her play of four hearts. As far as the bidding was concerned, Deas held a minimum hand, which blossomed when partner supported hearts. Jumping to game is good practice when your major suit has been supported and you hold a void in a side-suit. In any event it can be difficult to discover whether partner's values are useful, so why give the defenders any information?

Declarer shed a diamond on the ace of clubs and immediately led a spade back to her jack, cashed the spade ace and played a third spade. East won the king and returned a club, ruffed by declarer. It now looks automatic to play the heart ace and a heart, but Lynn Deas played a low heart out of her hand instead. Nothing would matter if hearts split 2-2 or 3-1, but the disastrous 4-0 split could be protected against.

East won the heart jack and played still another club. Declarer ruffed again. She next cashed the king and ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond small as East followed, and then played her last spade, ruffing with dummy's nine of hearts. East took the queen, but had to lead away from the K-7 of hearts into declarer's A-8. For declarer, well done.

Walnut, fir tree uses

ATLANTA (AP) — Without wood, your next train ride would probably be an uncomfortable and bumpy one.

Black walnut is used to make railroad ties because of its strength and shock resistance, while Douglas fir is used to construct railroad cars, according to Georgia-Pacific Corp.

Black walnut also is used to produce cabinets, furniture veneer and gunstocks. Plywood veneer, lumber, timbers and pilings are made from Douglas firs.

Western Texas upsets Odessa

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

The Western Texas College Westerners used a tough defense in the first half and a hot-handed sophomore, Jeff Shelley, in the second half to upset the No. 14 Odessa College Wranglers, 96-87, in Western Junior College Athletic Conference action Monday night at Scurry County Coliseum.

"The kids did a good job getting the ball to Jeff in the second half," said WTC coach Tony Mauldin.

"We were trying to break to the outside because their inside game was so strong. Jeff went out on the corner and we were looking to dish off to him."

Shelley scored 18 points on the night and hit all five of his field goals from 3-point range.

"I just followed through on my shot," Shelley said.

"Coach (Don) Clay told me at halftime to work on my shot in the warmups."

The Westerners bolted to a quick 10-2 lead and held onto a 20-10 advantage at 14:49 in the first half.

Odessa's Robert Shannon hit a 10-footer and followed with a 3-point bucket to pull the Wranglers to within six at 26-20 with 11:49 left in the half.

Shelley lifted WTC back up by nine, 34-25, with a pair of free throws at 7:45 in the stanza but OC came roaring back and moved to 35-31 on hoops by Calvin Sinkfield and Jessie Henderson.

The Westerners went on a 7-2 streak that included two baskets by sophomore Dominick Byrd, a field goal by guard Allen Smith and a freebie from Shelley, to jump to a 44-33 margin with under four minutes left in the half.

Odessa came back, aided largely by a pair of Shannon threes, to 46-43 with about a minute before intermission.

Michael Richardson banked in a deuce for WTC to set the tally at 48-43 heading into the locker room.

The Wranglers came out with an emotional burst in the second half tying the score at 48-48 on a lay-up by Sinkfield at 18:32.

Paul Johnson put the Westerners back in front with a two-pointer but Sinkfield again tied the score with a bucket.

It was Sinkfield again, later in the stanza, who boosted the visitors to a 67-59 lead with his two successful free-shots at the 11:36 mark.

Western Texas moved even with OC two minutes later when Stanley Cunningham converted the front end of a one-and-one and Byrd grabbed the offensive board and got a put-back bucket on Cunningham's second shot from the line.

Mauldin's crew fell behind by six on a 14-foot jumper by Shannon when Shelley's long-distance magic kicked in.

Shelley hit a trey to pull WTC to 83-80 at 5:29, then bombed another three to tie the score at 85-all with 3:42 left in the game.

Following an OC turnover Shelley struck again hitting from just off the right wing to give WTC a lead they would not relinquish.

Byrd stretched the gap to 10 points, 95-85, on two free-throws with under a minute remaining to ice the upset-win.

The Westerners were held to under 100 points against the Wranglers Monday, something that has been a rarity this season.

"It was a conference game," said Mauldin smiling, "I don't care about the points, as long as we win."

Johnson led all scorers with 27 Monday followed on the WTC squad by 23 from Byrd, Shelley's 18 and Richardson with 10.

The Wranglers had five players in double figures on the game including John White with 19, Shannon and Sinkfield with 16 each, Tony Martin's 12 and highly-touted 6-10 post Rodney Dent with 11.

Western Texas will battle the defending co-champions of the WJAC on Thursday when South Plains College blows in for an 8 p.m. contest at the coliseum.

Following the SPC tilt, the Westerners will take a break until January 7 for the holidays.

Lady Dusters lose to Wranglers 80-49

By PHIL RIDDLE
SDN Sports Editor

The Odessa Lady Wranglers visited Scurry County Coliseum and left with their unblemished 1990 basketball record intact as they embarrassed the WTC Lady Dusters, 80-49, in a Western Junior College Athletic Conference matchup Monday.

Odessa moved to 13-0 atop the conference standings with a 2-0 WJAC mark while the Dusters fell to 4-9 and 0-2.

"We just weren't aggressive enough from the point guard position," said WTC coach Kelly Chadwick.

"Every team we're playing is pressing us and we can't handle the pressure defense."

"I guess, what it boils down to, is that we're just not getting into our offense."

Chadwick said that some position changes might be in the offing.

"I think Melissa Sutton had her best game tonight. She was real aggressive on defense and I think we'll try her at the point. She seems to do real well there. We can certainly use the help."

Chadwick said, in defense of his tandem of Becky Hinojos and Sherry Hoffpauir, that neither is a true point guard.

"They are both converted off guards that we have tried to change to play the position."

Hoffpauir sank a pair of free throws to open the scoring and it was the last time the Dusters would lead Monday.

A stubbornness on defense kept the WTC women in the game and by the half they trailed by just 13, 33-20.

A 26-6 run executed by the Lady Wranglers put Chadwick's crew in a 71-36 hole at the 5:16 mark in the second half, too much to overcome.

"They were stealing and shooting lay-ups," said Chadwick of the streak by OC.

Sutton paced the WTC attack with 10 points. Monica Ramirez scored seven and Kristi Risinger, and Jill Forrest added six each.

Standout post, 6-5 Twanda Wilson, hit 22 points for Odessa. She was trailed by Michele Reynolds' 14 and 13 by D'Andria Thomas.

The Dusters will entertain No. 2 ranked South Plains College in a WJAC battle Thursday at the WJAC standings county coliseum at 6 p.m.

Baugh is Coach of the Year...

14 Tigers chosen to all-district squad

The Snyder Tigers, District 2-4A football champions filled 17 roster spots on the just-released all-district team.

Besides the players, Snyder head coach David Baugh, in his third year at the helm for SHS, was named the loop's Coach of the Year.

Baugh's Tigers went from a 2-8 season in 1989 to a 9-3-1 campaign this year including bi-district and area wins in the Class 4A playoffs.

Baugh led the Tigers to their first winning season since 1979, their first district title since 1978 and their first win over archrival Sweetwater since 1979.

The Tigers under coach Baugh, went farther than any Snyder football team in history. Snyder gridders making the first team offense were guards Charlie Richardson, a sophomore and senior Clint Hayward, junior tackle Chad Fox and fullback Bryan Brunson, a senior.

Franship quarterback Brad Cade was chosen the loop's Most Valuable Player on offense, first team kicker, punter and quarterback.

Estacado junior Robert M. Johnson won MVP honors on the defensive squad from his position in the Matadors' secondary.

Defensive first-teamers for the Tigers include seniors Clint and Damien Hayward at tackle spots, junior Hayward Clay at defensive end and safeties Mark King and Shelby Bufkin.

King, a junior, led the Tigers with six interceptions in 1990. Senior Bufkin stole three enemy aerials. As a team, Snyder captured 18 passes intended for op-

Doubleheader set by Snyder eaglers

Snyder's varsity basketball teams, the Tigers and Lady Tigers, both take to the floor again tonight as the non-district cage season continues for each squad.

The SHS girls start things off with a 6:30 p.m. battle against Coahoma at Scurry County Coliseum followed at 8 p.m. by the Snyder-Big Spring boys' tilt.

The Tigers are fresh off a 59-49 win over Seminole last Friday in which senior post Jeff Wortham scored 26 points and snatched 19 rebounds.

The win boosted Snyder's season record to 3-3. Basketball players from Snyder's football team, which finished its season Saturday, will make their first appearance for the Tiger cage team today.

Included in that number are last season's all-district selections Ed Rios and Hayward Clay.

The Snyder girls are also coming off a win. They defeated Seminole Friday, 57-56, on the strength of an 8 of 10 free-throw performance down the stretch by junior Betsy Taylor.

Freda Clay paced the offensive attack with 18 points followed by Taylor with 12 and Vinnie Clay's 10.

Both teams will go to out-of-town tournaments beginning Friday. The Tigers, coached by Bud Birks, will participate in the two-day Lamesa Tournament and coach Laurie Welch's Lady Tigers are slated to compete in the Abilene Tournament Friday and Saturday.

Niners take 7-3 win

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The San Francisco 49ers have been known for their finesse, their offensive explosiveness. Joe Montana to Jerry Rice, that's the 49ers.

The physical, defensive teams? The Chicago Bears and New York Giants. Those are the team whose defenses stuff opponents senseless.

Well, the 49ers proved in their 7-3 victory over the Giants Monday night they can play that game, too.

"To slug it out with them was great," Montana said. "People don't think we can do that."

Even though they had already clinched their fifth consecutive divisional title, the 49ers (11-1) met the Giants squarely on Monday, slamming helmet to helmet, matching tackle with tackle. All their defense was given was a 23-yard touchdown pass from Montana to John Taylor with 1:30 left in the first half. It was enough.

"We had to come out and prove a point," said Charles Haley, who led the 49ers with 1 1/2 sacks and five tackles. "We are the World Champions and are the best, and people can't come in and dominate us."

Twice the Giants had first-and-goal — at the 3-yard line in the se-

ANTONIO ZAPATA

Zapata stationed in Saudi Arabia

Antonio Zapata, son of Felicitas Jaramillo of Snyder, is stationed in Saudi Arabia as part of Operation Desert Shield. His address is PFC. Antonio Zapata, SS# 452-31-7421; GBTRY 3rd Br. 11th Mar., FPO New York, N.Y. 09503-9667.

One arrested by local PD

Snyder police handled routine calls Monday evening and early this morning, including one arrest and one traffic accident.

Officers arrested a 32-year-old male at 12:20 a.m. today in the 100 block of E. 37th St. for DWI. The subject was transported to the county jail.

At 4:25 p.m. Monday, police worked an accident at 24th St. and College Ave. Involved were a 1984 Ford driven by Jill Price of 3002 Crockett and a 1990 Pontiac Bonneville driven by Katharine Murdock of Snyder. The Ford was towed from the scene.

At 5 p.m. Monday, police investigated a report of two suspicious males in a yard in the 2700 block of 42nd St. The subjects apparently left the area in a black 1974 Chevrolet and were not located.

At 6:09 p.m., a man contacted police in reference to two males harassing his 10-year-old son in the 2500 block of Ave. C. The man was advised of the proper steps to take in filing a complaint.

Police handled two other complaints involving individuals. At 10:21 p.m., a woman in the 2000 block of 27th St. was advised of steps to take when she complained of having problems with her son's girl friend. At 10:50 p.m., police talked with a man in the 1000 block of 26th St. in reference to problems he was having with his son.

No formal complaints were filed.

BRECKENRIDGE — Services were held at 10 a.m. Monday at Melton Funeral Home Chapel for Charlie J. Crook, 92, who died Saturday in a Breckenridge nursing home. Burial was in Necessity Cemetery.

He was the brother of Ruby Branson of Snyder.

Born in Lorena, he was an oilfield pumper and rancher and was a long-time resident of Stephens County. He was a member of the First Baptist Church and the Roughneck Bible class. His wife, Sallie Crook, preceded him in death.

Other survivors include a daughter, Tiny Whitley of Breckenridge; two sons, Milton Crook of Brenham and Jack Crook of Crockett; another sister, Madelene Burgess of Granbury; a brother, Fred Crook of Fort Worth; seven grandchildren; and seven great-grandchildren.

According to inventor Edwin H. Land, "If a problem can be stated, you can solve it."

Progress made with repairing shuttle observatory problems

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Columbia's astronauts made major progress today in repairing NASA's $150 million observatory after losing almost a full day of precious star-gazing time.

Mission specialist Robert Parker said this morning that all three star trackers in the instrument pointing system finally appeared to be working well.

One of the trackers still had to be calibrated before observations could begin using a fully automatic pointing system, said flight director Bob Castle. But he said observations could be made without the third tracker.

"We're really in business now," said Castle.

By manually operating the system, the astronauts were able to look briefly at star clusters today and a distant galaxy and two stars Monday. NASA said up to 10 percent of the shuttle mission's 230 planned observations might have to be scrapped because of the earlier problems in aligning three of the Astro observatory's four telescopes.

Scurry County Sheriff's Office made three arrests and handled a theft complaint Monday.

At 9:20 a.m., deputies arrested a 31-year-old male for probation violation.

At noon, the office received a complaint from Jay Baize that someone had stolen a gun and some cassette tapes from his vehicle over the weekend. According to the report, Baize had left the vehicle parked at a residence he shares with his brother 2½ miles north of the Ira Cemetery. He said the items may have been stolen during a party at the residence.

The sheriff's office is investigating the report.

At 3 p.m. Monday, a woman called to report she had been receiving obscene telephone calls. Deputies advised her of steps to take.

At 7:50 p.m., deputies arrested Cary Brent Witte and Judy Erwin Witte, both 26 years of age, and took them to the county jail. Both had been indicted earlier in the day by a Scurry County grand jury for sexual assault.

Prosecution rests in Eicke's trial

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — The government rested its case Friday afternoon in the federal conspiracy trial of former Snyder resident Johannas J. Eicke.

Eicke, 36, is charged with conspiring to aid and abet the disappearance of his common-law wife, Bridgette Jones, 36, in March of 1987 while she was free on bond after being convicted of conspiracy, wire fraud and obstruction of justice.

The pair is being tried together and Jones began presenting her defense to the seven-man, five woman jury Monday morning. She is representing herself.

Eicke is being represented by court-appointed attorney Bruce Locher.

The trial recessed Monday afternoon and will not resume until Thursday morning. Eicke is expected to open his defense at that time.

IRA FFA WINNERS — Ira's FFA members recently qualified five teams for area competition. Competing at Howard County Junior College in Big Spring, five teams won and will advance including Senior Skills, second place; Quiz Team, second place; Creed Speaking, third place; Radio Team, fourth place; and Junior Chapter Conducting, 8th place. Approximately 80 schools are included in Area II and 14 teams competed in each contest. what is left to the higher-priority objects that have been lost," said mission scientist Ted Gull. "Perhaps a low-priority object is going to get pushed off the list as we go."

The 10-day mission, which began with liftoff early Sunday, was already six months behind schedule because of five launch postponements, four of them caused by hydrogen leaks in Columbia and one by problems with Astro.

Observatory repairs were delayed for a few hours Monday when a computer aboard Columbia malfunctioned after a faulty message was included in a series of commands from Earth. After the computer crash, one of the three star trackers failed to return to operating condition.

Suspect said he didn't know clerk had been killed

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — One of two men suspected in the abduction and slaying of an optical store clerk says he didn't know the 41-year-old mother of four had been killed until he was captured by Arkansas police nearly a week later.

Arkansas law enforcement officials told the Dallas Morning News on Monday that David Hernandez, 37, appeared frightened and anxious to cooperate with police after he and his cousin were arrested Sunday in Clarendon, Ark.

Hernandez reportedly expressed fear of being in the same cell with his cousin, Servando Pachecano Jr., 24, after finding out that Cruz Torrez, 41, had been killed, the newspaper reported.

Mrs. Torrez and Yvonne Molina, 22, were abducted from the optical store Nov. 28.

Mrs. Torrez's nude body, bound with electrical and duct tape, was discovered in a shed late Wednesday. Molina was released near her North Fort Worth home after more than 30 hours of captivity.

The suspects waived their right to an extradition hearing, clearing the way for their return to Fort Worth to face charges in the kidnappings and slaying, officials said.

Fort Worth police have said they believe it was Pachecano who forced Mrs. Torrez into the shed while Hernandez remained with Ms. Molina in her car.

Both men are charged with capital murder, aggravated kidnapping, rape and possession of stolen goods. Hernandez was being held on $250,000 bail. Pachecano was being held without bail.

On Monday, Monroe County, Ark., Sheriff Larry Morris said Hernandez told him that he had thought that Mrs. Torrez was left unharmed.

The lawsuit was filed Friday, said AFL-CIO spokesman Christopher Cook.

The challenge doesn't ask that the entire workers' comp system be dismantled, but it does seek to keep the current rules in effect until the legal issues are settled.

Girl, 13, charged with burglary, arson

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — A 13-year-old girl was arrested on an arson charge after someone burglarized her parents' home, stole $62 her younger sister had earned by babysitting and set the house on fire, authorities said.

Julio Rodriguez, an arson investigator with the San Antonio Fire Department, said the girl, a 13-year-old boy and a 21-year-old man were arrested following the fire Monday.

Officers said the girl's sister had been saving the money to buy Christmas presents. Clothes, cameras and other items were also stolen in the burglary, officers said.

Alvie L. Dashner, 21, was being held in the Bexar County Jail today in lieu of $10,000 bond on an arson charge.

Damage to the three-bedroom brick house was about $50,000, according to Acting District Fire Chief Larry Upton.

The girl's father, 59, a Civil Service employee at Kelly AFB, said he returned home from early because he was ill and saw the house burning.

The girl's mother said she saw her daughter appear to be defiant as she was taken from the scene by officers.

She said that as her daughter "went by, handcuffed, in the patrol car, she stuck out her tongue."

Amnesty: Iran executed 5,000 plus

LONDON (AP) — Iran has executed more than 5,000 people in the past three years in the country's biggest wave of political persecution since the early 1980s, Amnesty International charged in a report today.

Government critics continue to be arrested and tortured, some for no more than signing a letter criticizing lack of human rights and freedoms, the international human rights group said.

Amnesty quoted ex-prisoners as saying a "death commission" of Iranian officials chose prisoners every day and sent them to their deaths after a cursory interrogation if their views were not acceptable.

In 1988, more than 2,500 political prisoners were killed secretly in a few months on orders of the commission, the London-based organization said.

Thousands more have been executed after summary trials in which they were convicted of criminal offenses, Amnesty said. Crackdowns on drug trafficking led to more than 1,100 executions in 1989, it said.

Most criminal executions are by hanging, but some people are beheaded, forced to jump from high places or stoned to death while buried to the waist, Amnesty said.

A photo in the report shows the bodies of nine men hanging from a crane on the back of a truck.

The report says that after executions these portable gibbets may be driven through the streets with the bodies still hanging from them.

Soviet capsule successfully docks

MOSCOW (AP) — A space capsule carrying a Japanese journalist and two Soviet cosmonauts docked today with the orbiting Mir space station, Tass reported.

The Soyuz TM-11 capsule, launched Sunday from the Baikonur Cosmodrome in Soviet Central Asia, will return to Earth on Monday with journalist Toyohiro Akiyama and a Soviet crew completing a five-month expedition.

Akiyama is the first Japanese in space, and also the first journalist.

Tass said the docking at 12:57 p.m. (4:47 a.m. EST) was uneventful.

Cosmonauts Viktor Afanasyev and flight engineer Musa Manarov will remain on board the space station until May 1991. They plan four space walks.

Akiyama, a 48-year-old news director for Japan's TBS television company, will photograph environmental damage on Earth and conduct experiments on Japanese tree frogs to see how they cope in a gravity-free environment.

He has also been broadcasting television and radio reports.

TBS, Japan's biggest private television company, paid $12 million for a seat on the space capsule and exclusive rights to Akiyama's reports.

John Connally said in Baghdad

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Former U.S. Treasury Secretary John Connally is in Baghdad, apparently trying to negotiate the release of employees of a Texas oil company held hostage in Iraq, officials said Tuesday.

Connally, a member of the board of Coastal Corp., traveled to Baghdad with officials of the Houston-based oil and gas company for talks with Iraqi officials.

Iraq media reported Tuesday that Oscar Wyatt, the head of Coastal Corp., and his accompanying delegation met Monday night with Hussein Kamel Hassan, the minister of industry and military industrialization. Iraqi news reports noted Connally was a member of the delegation but did not say when it arrived or how long it would remain in Baghdad.

Hassan also is acting oil minister and a son-in-law of President Saddam Hussein.

The U.S. embassy said the Coastal Corp. delegation might be trying to win the release of an unspecified number of its employees held hostage in Iraq.

There are some 1,000 Americans trapped in the country since Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of Kuwait. Some Americans also are among 600 foreigners held as human shields at strategic sites to fend off a possible attack to liberate Kuwait.

Several indicted for pornography

DALLAS (AP) — An 18-month sting operation ended when a federal grand jury returned indictments against the owners of three major national distributors of pornography on obscenity charges, officials say.

One of the companies indicted, California Publishers Liquidating, was identified by FBI officials as the largest distributor of pornography.

The companies, all headquartered in California, allegedly distribute $20 million worth of video cassette tapes annually, federal and local officials said.

The eight-count indictment, returned last Friday, named Donald Browning and Michael Warner, who reportedly operated California Publishers Liquidating, Video Team and Investment Enterprises, and three employees, Ron Zdeb, Susan Colvin and Christian Mann.

All were scheduled to surrender to authorities in Los Angeles today.

Anthony Glassman, a lawyer who represents Browning, said his client is innocent.

"They are alleging the materials that were transported (to Dallas) are obscene," Glassman said. "We intend to prove to a jury that they are within community standards. They are the kinds of materials rented in video stores nationwide."

Dallas Police detective Ronnie Bardin said the sting began in 1988 after police arrested Barry Saul Rosen, owner of Good Vibrations of suburban Richardson on obscenity charges.

Bardin said that as part of a plea bargain, Rosen agreed to sell his business to police in return for charges being dropped. Good Vibrations then continued buying merchandise from the California companies.

LBJ bill...

The Snyder (Tex.) Daily News, Tues., Dec. 4, 1990 9

Connecticut lawmaker will propose national version

WASHINGTON (AP) — LBJ did it. Lloyd Bentsen did it. Why, asks a Connecticut lawmaker, shouldn't any Capitol Hill mogul be able to seek the White House without risking hard-won legislative clout?

Rep. Sam Gejdenson, D-Conn., said Monday he will introduce a bill next month to let House members and senators run for president and still appear on the ballot for their legislative jobs.

The bill would adopt nationally the essence of a Texas law designed for Lyndon Johnson and used by Lloyd Bentsen in 1988 to ensure he could run for vice president without giving up his Senate seat.

Texas is the only state with such a law, Gejdenson said.

"It shouldn't just be Texans who have the opportunity to run for re-election and president simultaneously," Gejdenson said. "And the country shouldn't be put in the position where a person of that experience should either remove himself from office or stay as majority leader or minority leader or committee chairman."

Republicans viewed the legislation as a thinly veiled bid to widen the field of possible challengers against President Bush in 1992.

"It's nonsense," said Sen. John Chafee, R-R.I., a close friend of the president. "If the states want to do it, let them do it. ... If legislators are not serious enough about the presidency to be willing to give up a Senate seat or a House seat, then they're not serious about being president."

Gejdenson said there is a crisis in a political system when seasoned elected officials stay out of the presidential fray because the odds are so long compared to the security of a powerful post on Capitol Hill.

Political science Professor Larry Sabato of the University of Virginia said the GOP "would be crazy" to go along with Gejdenson's proposal.

"They'd just be encouraging opposition to George Bush," Sabato said.

The Texas law allowing a candidate to appear on the state ballot for two different offices was tailor-made in 1959 for Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, the Texas Democrat who ran for president the next year. He lost the nomination to Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts, but was on the successful national ticket as Kennedy's running mate.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Tex., used the law to his advantage in 1988 when he ran for re-election while joining Gov. Michael S. Dukakis in the presidential race.

The move backfired for Dukakis, though. Instead of helping Dukakis carry Texas, many voters in the Lone Star State supported Bentsen for Senate and then voted for Bush for president.

"It was 'Vote twice for Texas!'" Sabato said, "so it actually ended up hurting the Democrats." Bush, of course, claims Texas as his home state.

The LBJ law also cost Texas Democrats in 1960.

Official says...

'America's Sea' said in peril

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Disturbing things already are happening in the Gulf of Mexico and failure to act now could bring unpleasant consequences later, the U.S. official in charge of preserving the Gulf said Monday.

"There are troubling trends in the Gulf and we have an opportunity to do something about them," said Dr. Douglas A. Lipka, director of the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's Gulf of Mexico Program.

Lipka was among the speakers at a four-day symposium at which government agencies, industries, researchers, environmentalists and educators are examining the problems and potential of the Gulf of Mexico.

More than 900 people registered for the session, entitled: "America's Sea! The Environmental and Economic Status of the Gulf of Mexico." The session ends Wednesday.

Participants represent such diverse interests as Exxon, du Pont and Conoco, the National Audubon Society, Sierra Club, Occidental Chemical, Texas A&M, the Army, Navy and Coast Guard.

One-sixth of the U.S. population now lives in the Gulf coast states of Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas — and more people and industry are moving south, Lipka said in itemizing the region's problems.

"Population is certainly one," he said.

"With population increases, we're going to get development of these areas, losses of critical habitat, increased pollution. That is the problem. It's not here yet

Woman told to clean up pit

NEW HOME, Texas (AP) — Melba Roper, a 77-year-old resident of this tiny West Texas town, says she is still in shock after learning a caliche pit dug by the government on her property 40 years ago may end up costing her thousands of dollars.

For years, people have been throwing trash into the pit.

The floor of the hole, which is about 150 feet across and 10 feet deep, is filled with tin cans, tires, furniture and even a junked air conditioner.

The Texas Department of Health recently identified the pit as an unauthorized solid waste disposal site, and has ordered Ms. Roper to clean the pit by April 1, 1991, or face fines as high as $10,000 a day.

and that's what we have an opportunity to do something about," he said.

There are foreboding signs already, said Lipka, whose EPA department was formed in August 1988.

"We have marine debris. Our beach cleanups are still picking up a ton a mile, on the average," he said.

"More and more, we have septic systems that don't work, overloading of sewage treatment facilities that are contaminating the water ...

"There is nearly 60 percent closure, at some time of the year, of all the shellfish (harvesting) areas of the Gulf. That's significant."

"We're losing our wetlands. How much are we willing to accept? How much can we mitigate? And what's the cost?"

"We want to get as many of these issues out on the table so the general public can be aware that here's what we can do, here's what nature has control over and here's what it's going to cost."

Failure to confront these problems now could bring far-reaching government rules and regulations, Lipka said.

"With more and more use (of the Gulf), there's the potential for more and more regulatory controls — controlling fishermen, controlling boaters, controlling housing developments, controlling waste discharges. All of this means more and more controls, and that's what we have to be aware of," he said.

Earlier Monday, a coastal restoration expert urged wide-ranging cooperation to get federal assistance for preserving and protecting the Gulf.

"We need to work together as a region to get our fair share of federal resources," said David Chambers, special assistant to the Louisiana governor's Office of Coastal Restoration.

"The Gulf of Mexico hasn't gotten the same federal attention as other areas such as Boston Harbor and Chesapeake Bay and, though their problems are significant, they pale in comparison to the Gulf," Chambers said.

Passengers unconcerned; airline employees low-key

HOUSTON (AP) — Continental Airlines employees and passengers were for the most part unfazed by word that the carrier was seeking protection in bankruptcy court for the second time in seven years.

Flights ran normally and employees remained at their jobs Monday as Continental officials filed under Chapter 11 of the federal bankruptcy code.

"You think about it, but what are you going to do?" said Bonnie Young of Houston, who was flying to Seattle with her husband, Pat.

The couple was in the crowd of people waiting for Continental flights at Houston Intercontinental Airport's Terminal C, the Houston-based airline's main hub.

"I fly with them a lot," added Jim Lemmerz of Houston. "My biggest concern is the frequent flyer program. I've got about 300,000 miles."

Most Continental customers and many airline workers were unaware of the action.

Some Continental employees were handed a printed message about the filing when they reported to work Monday morning and a text of the announcement was made available to others on computer monitors at passenger check-in gates.

"If I was an employee, I'd really be concerned," said passenger Robert Cloud of Houston.

Cloud was a reluctant Continental passenger and was sent to the airline on Monday by United Airlines when his United flight was canceled.

"I had heard they were having problems," he said while waiting to fly to San Francisco and then Bangkok. "It's one of those hazards."

classmate Robert Carney formed a financial advisory firm.

But even before that, in 1963, Lorenzo's first professional job was in the industry, when he was hired by Trans World Airlines as a financial analyst. Within two years, he was manager of the financial analysis department at Eastern.

In 1968, the Lorenzo-Carney duo created Jet Capital Corp., which bought a controlling interest in Texas International Airlines in 1972. Lorenzo, then 32, a Harvard MBA and son of Spanish immigrants from Queens, N.Y., was the carrier's youngest president.

In 1981, Lorenzo merged Texas International with Continental after a bitter takeover battle. His image as a union buster began when he fought organized labor at Continental and won.

that the troubles in the airline industry could leave just three or four major airlines within three years.

"And if you don't like air fares today ... just hold on to your hats — you may not have seen anything yet in terms of air fare price increases," he said.

He also likened the perilous financial situation of the airlines to 11 p.m.

Under that comparison, Monday was midnight of sorts for Continental; seven years and 10 weeks after Lorenzo took the carrier into bankruptcy court in Houston, Continental returned to the protection of the court, this time in Delaware.

During his years with the airline, Continental rose to become the nation's largest carrier, climaxing a business growth that began in 1966 when Lorenzo and Harvard University

Lorenzo gone; Continental seeks bankruptcy protection

HOUSTON (AP) — Frank Lorenzo no longer may be in charge at Continental Airlines, but the carrier he shaped into a leading force in the industry is following a road he traveled in the early 1980s when Continental filed for protection under federal bankruptcy laws.

In August, the 50-year-old entrepreneur who came to symbolize a tumultuous decade of airline deregulation announced he was selling off most of his stake in Continental to Scandinavian Airlines System.

He also resigned as chairman and chief executive at Continental to be replaced by Hollis Harris, a respected manager lured to Continental after serving as president of rival Delta Air Lines Inc.

Just two weeks ago, in his first public remarks since departing Continental, Lorenzo warned

DEAR DR. GOTT: Is sick sinus syndrome hereditary? Is there anything I can do to prevent it?

DEAR READER: Sick sinus syndrome, often known as tachycardia-bradycardia syndrome, is not inherited; it is an acquired abnormality of the heart's normal pacemaker.

As we age and progressively develop rust in our pipes, circulation to the cardiac nerves is reduced. This process can selectively affect the blood flow to the sino-atrial node, a button of nerve tissue that generates the impulses which trigger heart contractions. When the sino-atrial node malfunctions, it resembles an accelerator on an old car. Sometimes it runs too fast (tachycardia) and sometimes too slowly (bradycardia). This results in cycles of inappropriate fast (or slow) heartbeat that may cause symptoms, such as lightheadedness, fainting, chest pain, palpitations, weakness and shock.

Last month, I spent most of an evening with an elderly patient in the emergency room. He had previously experienced bursts of inappropriate rapid pulse, which he ignored. However, during the night in question, his heart rate repeatedly fell into the 30s, causing him to faint. I could not get his pulse to rise into the normal range, even with intravenous medicine. Eventually, a surgeon was able to place an artificial pacemaker, a device commonly used to treat sick sinus syndrome.

Today's pacemakers are remarkable contraptions. An electrode wire, threaded through a vein into the heart, is attached to a small, battery-driven generator. The pacemaker can be programmed to "sense" the impulses from the sino-atrial node (during which the generator is inactive); however, if for some reason the heart fails to beat at a normal rate, the artificial pacemaker fires, replacing the heart's own pacemaker with electrical signals of its own. This is called "demand pacing."

Pacemakers can also be programmed to disregard ineffectual natural electrical impulses or to override them. Many people with sick sinus syndrome have returned to full activity, thanks to pacemakers. The miniaturized computer generator/battery pack is permanently implanted, by surgery, under the skin of the chest, where it sits, ready to do its job when called upon to do so. Pacemakers last for years. Depending on the amount of use, the batteries have to be replaced at intervals, usually about five years.

Therefore, sick sinus syndrome is a consequence of aging, over which we have no control. However, if symptoms appear, the affliction can be successfully treated with artificial, implantable pacemakers.

Your Birthday

Dec. 5, 1990

In the year ahead you may make some interesting changes that will produce fortunate circumstances. Although they might not seem major at the time, their peripheral effects will be quite advantageous.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You should do well today in endeavors where the final decisions have to have your stamp of approval. Don't let someone less competent usurp your authority. Sagittarius, treat yourself to a birthday gift. Send for your Astro-Graph predictions for the year ahead by mailing $1.25 to Astro-Graph, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428. Be sure to state your zodiac sign.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Lady Luck tends to favor you today, but she's not apt to do so in an obvious fashion. She will, however, try to see that you are involved with the right people at the right time.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Mixing business and pleasure today could turn out to be a homogeneous blend. Discussions over lunch or dinner with important clients or friends should turn out successfully.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) A factor that could add broader dimensions to your effectiveness today will be in involvements that challenge your creativity. Your imagination is your greatest asset.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be all eyes and ears today, because you might either see or hear about an opportunity of substantial magnitude. One with whom you're chummy socially could be the tipster.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Something of value can be gained today by closely watching how one you admire operates. Developments might later arise that will give you a chance to imitate his/her strategies in your own affairs.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) The type of reward you're likely to garner today can't be measured materially. Instead it will be the good will and golden thoughts of a friend you'll help.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) You could be rather lucky today in several instances. The most impressive situation, however, might be of a financial nature. Be alert for ways to add to your resources.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You are likely to be more fortunate today in dealing directly with the person who can give you a definite yes or no than going through intermediaries. Make your pitch to the head honcho.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) An arrangement with which you've been rather uncomfortable might undergo some classic improvements today. Think positive, because conditions may end up better than you dared hope.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) You've just entered a rather hopeful cycle where your expectations have good chances of being fulfilled. You'll still have to do your part, of course.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) A positive attitude is a mind set for which we should always strive. Today, however, it's doubly significant in your case, because it could have a big influence over financial results.

Court papers allege state school condoned sex between residents

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sexual intercourse between mentally retarded residents of Lubbock State School is commonplace and condoned by school officials despite four pregnancies there in recent years, according to documents filed in federal court.

The allegations of sexual activity at Lubbock State School were filed Monday with U.S. District Judge Barefoot Sanders of Dallas.

The documents were filed by David Ferleger of Philadelphia, who represents hundreds of retarded state school residents in a class-action lawsuit alleging unconstitutional conditions in state schools.

State officials acknowledge that two retarded women became pregnant during sex with other residents in 1989. But Lubbock State School never reported the two possible sexual assaults to police, according to police records.

A third Lubbock State School pregnancy is now under investigation by Lubbock police — the rape of a 33-year-old woman who is so profoundly retarded she doesn't know she is eight months pregnant. No details were available Monday on the pregnancy of the fourth resident.

"I don't have any idea" why the two possible assaults were not reported to law officers, said Toni Hunter, an assistant Texas attorney general who represents the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

A court-appointed attorney for one of the two retarded women who gave birth after having sex with other residents said her client is so severely retarded she cannot consent to sexual relations.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — For years, pharmacist Edward Kilkeary used arthritis medication, saline solution and sterilizing equipment to whip up hundreds of tiny bottles of specially prescribed eye drops for cataract patients.

But sometime this year something went wrong. Two women last month each lost an eye to a virulent bacteria. At least 10 people were hospitalized with infections, and countless others sought help for swelling and burning caused by a toxin that was eating away their eyes.

The bacteria, Pseudomonas, contaminated an unknown number of bottles that were sold under the name Indocin to patients who had recently undergone cataract surgery. The infection puzzled doctors who treated the patients, and the drops were traced to Hieber's Drug Store, where Kilkeary manufactured them.

"A pharmacy is a place where people put their trust, like their docs, like their priests," said Dr. Robert Lewen of Allegheny General Hospital, where eight people were treated. "When that trust is violated, I think people seem to be somewhat resentful. This was not supposed to be the way things work."

State and federal agencies are investigating, but answers have been hampered by poor records, the sale of the drug to other pharmacies and doctors, and conflicting information from Kilkeary, said Ron Howard of the state Health Department.

Kilkeary has refused to be interviewed.

District Attorney Robert Colville said Monday that investigators found that the eye drops became contaminated when they were placed in the bottles.

Investigators didn't know the source of the bottles or whether they were supposed to be sterile when they were shipped by the manufacturer, and that is one reason Colville was uncertain if criminal charges should be filed.

Criminal charges would require gross negligence, and investigators "haven't offered us any evidence of that," Colville said.

The patients who experienced the worst problems ranged in age from 55 to 78 and took the drops after undergoing cataract surgery when their wounds were fresh, giving the bacteria access to sensitive tissues.

Two women had to have their eyes removed because of irreversible infections from the drops, Lewen said.

"Their eyes were blind, painful and cosmetically unacceptable — ugly, red and draining. The pain was as unrelenting as toothache pain," Lewen said. He also said there was a small risk the infection could spread to the brain.

Indocin is an anti-inflammatory drug produced by Merck, Sharp & Dohme for pain caused by diseases such as arthritis. At least 15 Pittsburgh-area doctors have legally prescribed it to reduce swelling after eye surgery, Howard said.

Indocin has not been approved by the Food and Drug Administration for use as eye drops, but such use is not illegal.

Hieber's is believed to be the only pharmacy in the area that manufactures the drops, which are sold in half-ounce bottles for about $15.

Howard said Kilkeary made up to 2,000 bottles a year and either sold the medication outright to patients with prescriptions or for resale to doctors and other pharmacies in violation of state pharmaceutical regulations.

Because Kilkeary wasn't registered as a drug manufacturer, there was no inspection of his facilities and methods, which Howard called "extremely primitive."

He said Kilkeary used an autoclave — a pressurized vessel used for sterilization — but couldn't answer questions about the amount of heat or pressure applied to kill bacteria.

Recent eye surgery patients with Indocin eye drops, or drops that contain the generic ingredient indomethacin, have been warned not to use them.

Henry Henrich, a 65-year-old from McKeesport who was treated for infection in one eye, has sued for $20,000, and more lawsuits are anticipated.

"You have a guy making moonshine in the back yard and selling it as medicine," said his attorney, Samuel Cordes. "The methods they were using are so primitive that it's kind of surprising it hasn't happened before."

McAlLEN, Texas (AP) — Panelists before the National Commission on Migrant Education decried federal regulations that they said punish schools with successful programs.

"If we get a bunch of kids to drop out, or get them to fail, we're going to get more money," said Jack Hall, federal programs coordinator for the San Benito Independent School District. "If they progress at grade level, then we're going to be penalized."

A two-day hearing that opened Monday in McAllen is part of a series of hearings the commission is holding nationwide. The commission, mandated by Congress in 1988, is gathering data for reports expected to influence legislation on migrant education.

Commission studies migrant problems

The nation's crops are treated too often as an educational underclass, the commission was told.

Far southern Texas, where McAllen is located, has an estimated 69,000 migrant students, or more than half of the migrant children in Texas, according to the commission.

Migrants from Texas tend to travel to the north for work in April and return home about November.

A lack of coordination between school districts and between health-care agencies tends to hold back many migrant students, panelists said.

The students often find themselves shifted from grade to grade as they move between states and school districts with differing sets of requirements, school counselors testified.

Frustration too often motivates migrants to drop out, they said.

"The assignment of these students to different grades is chaos," said Carlos Cantu, a junior high school counselor in the McAllen Independent School District.

A report the commission must complete by next fall will make suggestions for improving the Migrant Student Record Transfer System. Part of that system's role is to make it easier for migrants to transfer credits.

Hall, a former high school principal, suggested a coordinated curriculum for migrant students to be used nationwide.

Poor health care also holds migrant children back, others testified.

Parents must go through the lengthy certification process to apply for benefits under the federally supported Women, Infants and Children programs every time they move to a different state, public health professionals said.

Paula Gomez, director of the Brownsville Community Health Center, said migrant children with broken bones sometimes go for two days without proper treatment while schools, counties and other agencies argue over who must pay for the indigent care.

Roberto Zamora, superintendent of La Joya Independent School District, called for schools to bring migrants more into the mainstream.

"We have created over a period of time a caste system in public schools that really needs to be broken," said Zamora, a former migrant.

Schools, he said, treat migrants like "a minority within a minority" by placing them in groups with low expectations and keeping them there.

Some also told the commission that the estimated 680,000 children from families that pick up the nation's crops are treated too often as an educational underclass, the commission was told.
