HOUSTON (AP) — The city will appeal a judge's order to reinstate two police officers fired in 1984 after being accused of beating an irate customer at a topless bar, an attorney says.

The officers had been called to the bar to deal with a disturbance.

Visiting State District Judge E.W. Patteson's ruling Wednesday invalidated a 1985 order by the Civil Service Commission, which indefinitely suspended the two men.

Christmas joy comes early for Snyder woman, brother

By SHIRLEY A. GORMAN
SDN News Editor

Christmas has come early for Vona Fisher of Snyder. Her brother — Ron Dwight Webster of Champagne, Ill. — was released from captivity in Kuwait earlier this week when he and a planeload of other just-freed hostages were allowed to leave the country.

News of her brother's impending arrival in Washington, D.C. was a great joy to Fisher and it increased tenfold when Webster called her Wednesday morning to say that he was okay and would be traveling by car to his home in Illinois.

"He sounded good. I think he is in great shape," Fisher told the Snyder Daily News this morning. "He came through okay. His personal well-being is all that matters."

Fisher said her brother intends to "rest up" now, but that sometime in the future he will visit her because he "wants to see some southerners."

Webster, a computer consultant, had gone to Kuwait on business, but was caught up in the Iraqi invasion on Aug. 2 before he could depart.

He took refuge in the U.S. Embassy in Kuwait and remained there until Saddam Hussein released all of the hostages. The Associated Press reported today that U.S. Embassy staff in Kuwait, including Ambassador Nathaniel Howell, left Baghdad for home on a chartered flight that reportedly carried 25 other Americans. Officials said the last five U.S. diplomats from Kuwait were among 94 passengers on an Iraqi Airways flight to Frankfurt, Germany. It was said to be the last charter plane carrying foreigners from Iraq and occupied Kuwait. The exit of the American diplomats ended a four-month diplomatic standoff between the United States and Iraq. Howell and his colleagues had defied Iraqi orders to close the U.S. Embassy in August. Eventually, all (see HOSTAGE, page 8)

Mosley to address WTC guard classes

Artis B. Mosley Jr., assistant director of personnel and training for the Texas Department of Criminal Justice Institutional Division, will be the guest speaker as two correctional officer classes receive their certificates in 7 p.m. ceremonies today at Western Texas College. The program will be presented in the Fine Arts Theatre, with a reception to follow in the Student Center.

Mosley was appointed to his present position in January of 1987. Previous to that, he was the assistant director of security and training, which he assumed in January of 1985.

Before coming to the TDCJ in August of 1984, he accumulated over 21 years of service in the field of military law enforcement and corrections. His experience in the field of corrections includes administration and operations involving maximum and minimum custody institutions; rehabilitation, education and vocational and mental health programs; staff development; and implementation and management of policies and procedures.

In his present position as assistant director of personnel and training with TDCJ, Mosley is responsible for the recruitment of all agency personnel and development of all personnel policies and procedures and pre-service and in-service training for correctional officers.

He has a bachelor of science degree in agriculture and a master of arts degree in criminology from Sam Houston State University. A former lieutenant colonel in the U.S. Army, Mosley has also completed the Armed Forces Staff College, and attended several U.S. Military Police schools.

Mosley will be introduced by Mike Thornton, dean of continuing education at WTC.

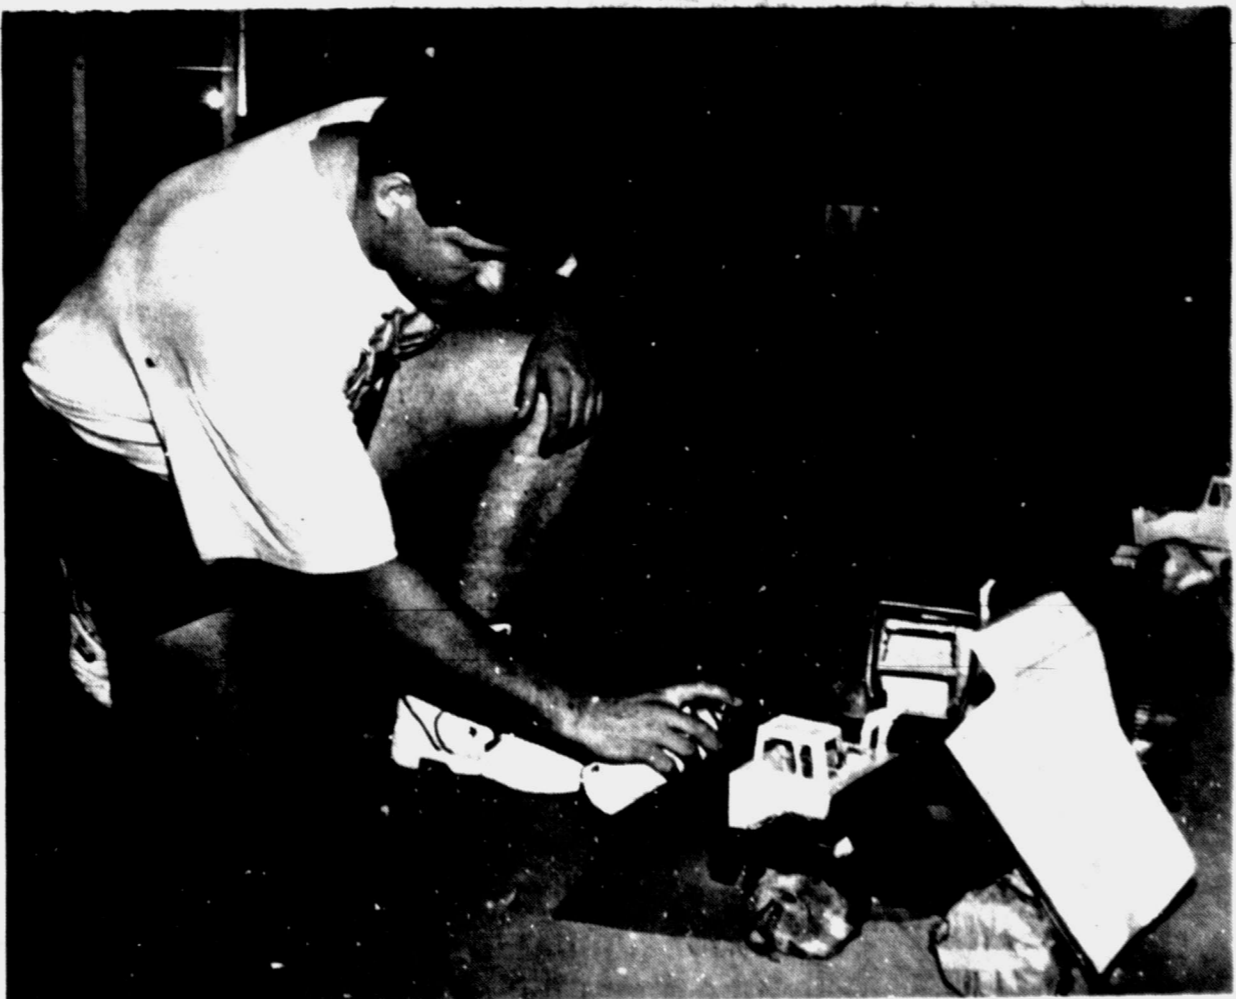

Dr. Harry Krenek, college president, will welcome visitors. Certificates will be awarded by J.D. Barham, correctional officer training instructor, and Leslie Woods, senior warden of the Price Daniel Unit. Giving the invocation and benediction will be Charles Streetman, Price Daniel Unit assistant warden.

Twenty-eight students, representing two classes, are to receive certification during this evening's ceremonies. Since Western Texas College began offering the classes in September of 1988, some 232 correctional officers have been certified through the campus.

Students who successfully complete the course and are certified by the TDCJ may qualify for employment at all state prison units.

TOYS FOR TOTS — Local Jaycees President Rudy Garza paints one of the dump trucks donated to the group for its annual Toys for Tots campaign. Toys are still being accepted and donations for children age 4-13 and boys ages 10-13 are especially needed. Last year, some 3,000 toys were given to over 500 children. (SDN Staff Photo)

Schools to dismiss for holiday period

Snyder secondary and elementary students are set to enjoy a holiday period in excess of two weeks when schools let out Friday afternoon.

Classes will be dismissed at the regular time Friday and students won't report back until Wednesday, Jan. 2.

Classes at Western Texas College ended this evening and students will not resume studies again until Jan. 14. Registration for the spring semester will begin at 1 p.m. on Jan. 10.

Offices at both the public school system and the college — to include the administration buildings — will close at 4 p.m. Friday and reopen on Jan. 2.

Ira and Hermleigh students will wait the better part of a week before beginning the holiday period. Ira school lets out at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 19, and will resume classes on Jan. 2. Hermleigh students will be dismissed at 2 p.m. on Thursday, Dec. 20, and will also return on

SISD board holds closed, open sessions

Snyder public schools board of trustees will open and close its December meeting in executive session this evening.

The first executive session is scheduled for 5:30 p.m. An open session will follow.

The first executive session concerns a parent's complaint in the way his daughter was disciplined by an aide. The second executive session will involve the routine renewal of the superintendent's contract, as well as a matter of student discipline.

During the regular session, trustees will act on a resignation and a recommendation to hire a second grade teacher, seek to approve the annual audit, consider a physical education/office aide at West Elementary and a bilingual office aide at Central Elementary, and confirm District Educational Improvement Committee members.

The District Education Improvement Committee is a state mandated committee which, in the case of Snyder ISD, will be include two teachers and one other professional from each of the eight campuses. The 24 committee members, who are elected by staff at their respective campuses, will serve as an advisory committee to the school board.

Other items on the agenda include a reports on North Elementary, Drug Free Schools and a communities plan by principal Ray Courtney, bids for the sale of a station wagon, past minutes, and payment of bills.

The Toys for Tots effort in Snyder is building, but Jaycees are still needing toys, cash donations and volunteers.

"These kids think of us as Santa Claus' helpers. They get really excited," said Danny Engle, Jaycees representative. "If we didn't do this, they wouldn't get anything."

Headquarters for the project is now the old Anthony's building on the north side of the city square. Volunteers are working there each day from 5-9 p.m. preparing toys for delivery.

Jaycees are asking that new and used toys be dropped off at the chamber office, McDonald's, Golden Corral, Taco John's, Spanish Inn, Everybody's Thriftway, IGA Supermarket, Bob Lang Tire Company, the Central Fire Station, Kmart, Wal-Mart, Jaramillo's, Whataburger or any of the financial institutions during the day. Toys will be accepted at the old Anthony's building in the evening.

Donations are also needed. gifts for infants," said Engle. "Right now, we've got a lot of (see TOYS, page 8)

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Everybody loves a lover except the guy waiting to use the phone."

We're not sure it will turn more profits for the retailer, but the store manager can at least feel good about getting his revenge on shoplifters.

Shoplifting is a big problem for retailers all over the country, and it means higher prices for the paying consumer as retailers must charge more to cover anticipated thefts.

However, some entrepreneur in New York has developed a new device that makes shoplifting a dirty business.

The company produces a plastic tag that retailers attach to clothing. If the tag is not removed properly, it will spray indelible ink on the product.

The tag won't necessarily help catch a thief, but it will leave the culprit with a visible stain and perhaps cause the garment to be of no value to the thief.

The guy with a ballpoint pen ink stain on the pocket of his white shirt will have to be more careful — somebody might get the wrong idea.

Speaking of new products and techniques, medical science continues to explore ways of testing without being intrusive.

There's new technology that may soon allow doctors to diagnose diseases such as ulcers, diabetes and cirrhosis through laser-based breath analysis.

We guess the doc will come in and say, "Your breath smells like ulcers."

It may be too late this year, but for 1991 giving you might want to start saving now. If you have a golf nut in your family, you might want to consider a certain set of clubs in the Pebble Beach pro shop.

Irons are cast from a Queen Elizabeth II propeller and the set sells for a mere $12,300.

Panhandle native to fill in AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — The Texas Panhandle native who will fill in for departing Education Secretary Lauro Cavazos says it's too early for him to discuss permanently assuming the Cabinet job.

Ted Sanders, formerly of Friona, will serve as interim secretary in place of Cavazos, who submitted his letter of resignation to President Bush Wednesday. The resignation will be effective Saturday.

"It is premature to comment on my interests," Sanders told the Amarillo Globe News. "Right now I am concerned with the kinds of things I have got to do to manage the department during this transition."

There were reports, however, that Sanders had been lobbying for Cavazos' position. He is considered one of a number of possible replacements for the departing secretary.

Sanders, who also will continue to serve as the deputy education secretary, said that Cavazos' resignation came as a surprise to him.

The former Panhandle resident said he will have plenty to keep him busy during the next several weeks.

"There are a good number of things sitting on the plate right now," he said. "There is a major reauthorization of higher education coming up in this next session with Congress, and we've got to make the necessary preparations to build a budget to present to Congress."

Despite being burdened with two jobs, Sanders said he is familiar with all of the tasks at hand.

"I have been very much involved in all of these things," he said. "It is not like I am just starting from scratch."

DEAR DR. GOTT: My husband has been diagnosed as having mononeuritis affecting his left leg. Treatment involves exercise, walking and time. Do you agree?

DEAR READER: Mononeuritis means that a single nerve in your husband's leg is not functioning properly. Although in unusual instances this can be caused by a virus infection (which will eventually heal with exercise and patience), mononeuritis has other causes that should be more aggressively addressed. For example, a neurinoma (a growth on nerves) will lead to malfunction (pain and weakness), as will a nerve that is pinched by a herniated disc in the back.

To diagnose these conditions, physicians usually use either a CT scan (computed tomography, a type of special X-ray) or MRI (magnetic resonance imaging, a type of non-X-ray picture using powerful magnets). One further test, which should be undertaken only after a neurological exam, is electromyography, an electrical test that identifies which specific nerve is malfunctioning.

Judging from your question, the cause of your husband's symptoms able to help a patient, I usually refer to a specialist. In your case, I believe this approach is appropriate.

A duodenal diverticulum is a sacular protrusion — sometimes a large protrusion — from the wall of the upper small intestine. It can cause symptoms — such as heartburn, bloating and chest pain — that mimic peptic ulcer. If antacids don't help, I ordinarily use medicine, such as Tagamet or Zantac, that reduces the production of gastric acid and thereby relieves symptoms. Ask your doctor about this.

If he or she is unable or unwilling to try different preparations, ask for a referral to a gastroenterologist. You can be helped, but it may take some experimentation with medication to find the right combination. On occasion, if the diverticulum is very large, surgery may be necessary to remove it. The specialist can advise you.

Your Birthday

Dec. 14, 1990

Someone who was once important to you awhile back could reenter your life again in the year ahead. This person might have a powerful, constructive influence on many areas of your life.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You're not apt to perform too well under pressure today, so don't make things tougher on yourself than they already are. The person most likely to goof up your agenda is you. Get a jump on life by understanding the influences which are governing you in the year ahead.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A friend of yours who is presently at odds with another friend of yours might try to draw you into their disagreement today. If you respond to the bait, you'll be sorry.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You have the motivation and drive today necessary to achieve your objectives. If you fail to attain desired results, it might be due to your talents as a tactician.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You might find yourself on a collision course today with a person diametrically opposed to your views on a volatile issue. Try to give this individual some space in the passing lane.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Be finicky about your selection today if you're contemplating a purchase that is supposed to last for a very long time. You may pay more than you should and end up with a lemon if you're not careful.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) If you take an unyielding position on a touchy issue today, you can expect the same type of posture from your mate. He/she is not likely to give in before you do.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone who usually looks to you to bail him/her out of tight spots might come to you with a complicated problem again today. You know what can result if you get too involved.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be extremely careful today you do not yield to peer pressure and do or participate in something that does not serve your best interests. There's a chance you can be manipulated.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If you are able to evaluate developments through the eyes of your competition today, you should be successful. With limited vision you may lose what you've already acquired.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) An emotional response, such as giving someone a piece of your mind out of anger, will only make a bad situation worse. Let your cooler judgment take command in frustrating circumstances.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Resources for a joint venture must be managed very skillfully at this time where both parties are concerned. Imprudence on behalf of either party could deplete the endeavor.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You are likely to be extremely resistant today if anyone tells you what to do and when to do it, yet this may be exactly how you treat associates or companions.

Incidentally, back pain (resembling that of arthritis) may be caused by the diverticulum. Therefore, therapy for your intestinal affliction may provide added and unexpected benefits.

Deputy wounded

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — A 21-year-old Minneapolis man was arraigned on attempted capital murder charges Wednesday after he allegedly shot a Wichita County deputy and fired at two Archer County deputies.

Mark Edward Henry of Minneapolis was taken into custody Wednesday and arraigned on two counts of attempted capital murder, Archer County dispatchers said.

Wichita County Sheriff's Lt. Stan Horton said Henry emerged from his pickup truck holding a rifle when a Wichita County deputy stopped him at about 3 p.m. Wednesday.

The deputy, whose name was not released, stopped the pickup near the Wichita County Rodeo grounds because the vehicle had no license plates, Horton said.

The 1991-1994 Long-Range Extension Program for Scurry County has recently been completed. This program is set up to serve as a guide for educational programs conducted in Scurry County during the next four years.

It was developed through study group meetings of local leaders within the county. The leaders were assigned to areas including agriculture, home economics, youth, and community development. Critical issues were identified under the general categories of economic, environmental and social issues.

Local leaders which served in study groups included Morris Light, Roy Baze, David Kattes, Steve Moore, Larry Thompson, Brenda Hedges, Elida Garza, Jerry Vestal, Terry Busby, Renee Moore, Dorothy Campbell, James Jones, Lonnie Blackard, Tim Huddleston, Larry Schwarz, Pam Breuer, Sandra McDonald, Sy Tabor, Joni Gonzales, Carolyn Limmer, Vernest Tippens, Sammie Harrison, Margaret Drum, Jon Derouen, Virginia Fogle, Joe Coronado, Geneva Coronado and Bo Robinson.

After the study groups reported the critical issues, the executive board of the Extension Program Council prioritized the issues.

Refs not booked in UA-USA game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Sun Belt Conference says the Southwest Conference was to provide officials for the Arkansas-South Alabama basketball game.

The Southwest Conference says the Sun Belt Conference was told twice that its officials would work the game.

And when no officials showed up, Alabama administrators turned to a high school referee and a local umpire who had planned to have the night off.

The start of Tuesday's game was delayed an hour before No. 2 Arkansas (8-1) defeated the Jaguars (4-1) 101-91.

In a telephone interview on Wednesday, Charlie Bloodworth of Atlanta, the head of officials for the Sun Belt Conference, said that a list he received from South Alabama showed that the Southwest Conference would provide officials for the game.

"We work with the schools; they send us what's on their contract," Bloodworth said. "I'm not really sure who's at fault." He said it should be up to the schools, not the conference officials, to resolve the situation.

But the head of officials for the Southwest Conference said Wednesday the Sun Belt Conference was told twice that its officials were to work the game.

"They came back and said it was supposed to be Southwest Conference officials," Paul Galvan said. "I contacted (Arkansas) Coach (Nolan) Richardson and he said, no, it was supposed to be Sun Belt officials."

Galvan said he called the Sun Belt Conference a second time to inform the league that it was to assign officials.

"The contract from the University of Arkansas said there should have been Sun Belt officials," Galvan said.

He said when he got Arkansas' schedule he called the Sun Belt Conference to inform the league it was to provide officials for the South Alabama-Arkansas game.

South Alabama coach Ronnie Arrow could not be reached for comment Wednesday evening.

Rick Schaeffer, sports information director at Arkansas, confirmed the contract called for Sun Belt officials this year and officials from Arkansas' conference in a return match next year at Mobile, Ala.

Arkansas joins the Southeastern Conference next season.

Billy Rogers, assistant SID at Arkansas, said when assistant coach Wayne Stehlik discovered that no officials were assigned to the game, the two of them hit the phones.

"I was able to reach Mike Fox, a (NCAA) Division I college basketball official who lives in Rogers," Rogers said. The other official was Johnny Gabbard of Springdale, who was at the game. Rogers said they were standing around discussing the situation when they saw Gabbard walk in.

"I told him to have someone bring his gear to the game," Rogers said.

Bloodworth called the situation unfortunate, but said it was a stroke of luck that Fox was located and was able to officiate the game.

"It looks like the team that played the best won the game, and that's what it's all about," Bloodworth said.

Mavs, Spurs win...

Bird leads Celtics past Bucks

by The Associated Press

Beware of Larry Bird when he's in a shooting slump.

After shooting 15-for-51 in his previous three games and scoring 5 points in his last appearance against Milwaukee, Bird found the range Wednesday night.

Bird hit his first seven shots and scored 18 of his 30 points in the first quarter of the Boston Celtics' 129-111 victory over the Bucks at Boston Garden.

"We knew Larry Bird would come back strong. He just didn't play well in Milwaukee," Bucks coach Del Harris said. "I know Larry's history well. Whenever he has a bad game, he follows it with a good one."

Harris said he started worrying about Wednesday night's game immediately after Bird went 2-for-7 against the Bucks on Nov. 13.

"After the game in Milwaukee I tried to be as complimentary as possible because I knew what would happen here," Harris said.

Playing just 31 minutes, Bird hit 11 of 15 field-goal attempts, including four in a row from 3-point range, and was 4-for-4 on free throws for the Celtics, winners of 13 of 15 games.

"We played like we would like to play every night," Bird said. "I put a little more arc on my shot, and it's a little better playing at the Garden."

Elsewhere in the NBA, it was San Antonio 92, Charlotte 81; the Los Angeles Clippers 100, Cleveland 90; Atlanta 118, Miami 93; Houston 108, Philadelphia 100; Seattle 99, Indiana 90; and Dallas 112, the Los Angeles Lakers 97 in overtime.

The Bucks, who won their four previous games and still lead the NBA's Central Division, battled Boston to a 20-20 standoff before Bird helped the Celtics pull away.

He hit a pair of 3-point bombs and added a layup before the end of the quarter, giving the Celtics a 34-24 lead.

With a 106-72 lead starting the fourth period, the Celtics cleared the bench and the Bucks managed to make the score more respectable against Boston's reserves.

The Bucks were led by Frank Brickowski with 17 points.

Mavericks 112, Lakers 97 OT

Dallas scored the first 13 points of overtime and outscored Los Angeles 23-8 in the extra period.

The Lakers took their only lead of the second half, 89-87, on Terry Teagle's off-balance jumper in the lane with three seconds left in regulation.

But after Rodney McCray's basket from the top of the key forced the overtime, the Lakers turned the ball over on each of their next four possessions.

Rolando Blackman and Derek Harper scored 22 points each for the Mavericks.

James Worthy scored 28 points for the Lakers.

Spurs 92, Hornets 81

David Robinson had 24 points and 17 rebounds as San Antonio handed Charlotte its fifth straight loss.

The Spurs, who have a half-game advantage over Utah in the Midwest Division, trailed just once in the game despite making only 44 percent of their shots. But the Hornets managed to hit just 40 percent.

Armon Gilliam led Charlotte with 16 points.

Rockets 108, 76ers 100

Houston broke a 16-year, 23-game losing streak in Philadelphia as Akeem Olatunjuwon had 29 points and 15 rebounds.

The Rockets led by as many as 21 points in the second quarter and held an 89-73 lead at the end of three periods.

Charles Barkley had 29 points for Philadelphia.

Sonics 99, Pacers 90

Seattle converted eight Indiana turnovers into 13 points in the fourth quarter.

Derrick McKey and Shawn Kemp scored 18 points apiece for Seattle.

Reggie Miller led Indiana with 26 points.

Clippers 100, Cavaliers 90

Los Angeles broke an 11-year losing streak in Cleveland as Ken Norman scored 9 of his 30 points during a 21-2 run at the start of the third quarter.

Hawks 118, Heat 93

Dominique Wilkins hit two 3-point shots during a 10-2 run in the third quarter and had 28 points and 14 rebounds, leading Atlanta over Miami.

Falcons QB coach may take SMU job

DALLAS (AP) — Atlanta Falcons quarterback coach Tom Rossley, a former offensive coordinator at SMU, is expected to be recommended for the SMU head coaching position, according to published reports.

Florida A&M coach Ken Riley had been a candidate for the SMU position but removed himself from consideration Wednesday.

The search committee interviewed a fourth candidate Wednesday, but a source told the Houston Chronicle that SMU athletic director Forrest Gregg would recommend Rossley to SMU president A. Kenneth Pye today.

SMU spokesman Ed Wisneski confirmed Wednesday that Gregg is likely to make a decision today, with an announcement expected by Friday.

Rossley has expressed interest in the job and was interviewed last week, but he told the Dallas Times Herald Wednesday that he has reservations about the job.

"There is good chemistry there," Rossley said. "They have the nucleus of a good football team. It would be a great challenge to lead them back."

"But I would not want to come back if the admission standards are too tough," Rossley said. "I would not be interested if the standards were such that you couldn't compete."

Although Rossley said he doesn't want SMU to lower its academic standards for athletes, he wants fair admission procedures that would allow the Mustangs to compete in the Southwest Conference.

"They never told me what their standards are, if they've decided to change it," Rossley said. "I just don't know. Nothing was talked about in specifics, what we will be working under."

"I would love to be the person to lead SMU back," he added. "I don't think I want to be the per-

Continued high oil output endorsed by OPEC ministers

VIENNA, Austria (AP) — OPEC ministers today endorsed continued high crude production to ease any oil shortages caused by the Persian Gulf crisis, and pledged to sharply reduce their output once it is resolved.

Nigerian Oil Minister Jibril Aminu said the statement was signed by all 13 members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries.

Iraq and Libya had opposed earlier moves to produce excess crude.

Aminu said the accord, which quickly wrapped up the cartel's winter meeting that began Wednesday, "should firm (prices) up and send a signal (that people) need to relax in a time of worry."

The ministers' action reaffirms an earlier decision to suspend the cartel's production quota system and allow countries to produce to their utmost.

The suspension, first approved in late August, was designed to help offset shortages caused by Iraq's Aug. 2 invasion of fellow OPEC member Kuwait.

The countries wanted to make up for the shortfall of about 4 million barrels a day resulting from the U.N.-ordered embargo on trade that has cut the export of Kuwaiti and Iraqi crude.

Indonesian Oil Minister Ginandjar Kartasasmita said Wednesday that the ministers had agreed to meet again in early March to take a fresh look at the situation.

With super-producer Saudi Arabia in the lead, the cartel has boosted production to around 23 million barrels of oil a day, including only small amounts from Iraq and Kuwait.

Saudi Arabia alone was close to pumping 8.5 million barrels a day, according to sources.

Under the new arrangement, Saudi Arabia and other over-producers would be required — after the gulf crisis is over — to restrain production to the level set in late July.

That accord placed an overall supply cap of 22.5 million barrels a day on all 13 nations in an effort to lift prices to a new target of $21 a barrel.

Saudi Arabia's output limit was put at 5.4 million barrels under that agreement.

Speculation about prospects — good or bad — for war in the Persian Gulf region has sent oil prices rising or falling since the invasion.

Prices for light sweet crude peaked in October at $41 a barrel. They have since tumbled to under $30 a barrel on hints of peace and concern about an impending oil glut.

The average price of a basket of crudes monitored by OPEC was $26.25 a barrel Monday, well above its target price of $21.

OPEC's members are: Algeria, Ecuador, Gabon, Indonesia, Iran, Iraq, Kuwait, Libya, Nigeria, Qatar, Saudi Arabia, the United Arab Emirates and Venezuela.

Bush to go to Moscow...

Price tag for Soviet food aid may go as high as $1 billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush will go to Moscow for his fourth summit with Mikhail S. Gorbachev in February and is helping the Soviet leader feed his people with up to $1 billion in credit to purchase food.

The deliveries could be on their way within two months, even as bitter winter deepens the hardships the Soviets are experiencing as Gorbachev tries to lead them from communism to a market economy.

"I want perestroika (restructuring) to succeed," Bush said Wednesday as he announced what the White House described as the largest initial assistance package the United States has ever offered any country.

Standing at the president's side, Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard A. Shevardnadze acknowledged his nation is going through rough times. But, he said, "the Soviet people will cope with the problems."

The package includes technical help in reforming a stagnant transportation system, medicines and support in access to international lending institutions.

The summit, meanwhile, was scheduled for Feb. 11-13 in Moscow even though the nuclear arms reduction treaty that is its projected centerpiece is not finished.

Bush had vowed not to hold the summit unless the accord was ready. But a White House official said that did not preclude setting a date to meet with Gorbachev.

Secretary of State James A. Baker III, who has worked on the treaty with Shevardnadze in Houston and in Washington this week, said a number of technical issues remain unresolved.

These include monitoring of solid rocket and missile assembly facilities to guard against breaches in the accord, which will cut stockpiles of long-range nuclear bombers, submarines and missiles by about 30 percent.

But Bush said, "I'm pleased with the great progress we've made on START (Strategic Arms Reduction Talks) and hopeful that we'll be ready to sign a treaty" in Moscow.

In the meantime, the president suspended at least until next June 16-year-old trade restrictions that Congress had imposed on the Soviet Union to try to force emigration of Jews and other minorities.

Baker said the U.S. assistance program would include credits for $500 million to $1 billion in food shipments. That is more than Shevardnadze requested Tuesday in their talks in Houston, said a U.S. official who briefed reporters under rules shielding his identity.

"The Soviet Union is facing tough times, difficult times. But I believe that this is good reason to act now in order to help the Soviet Union stay the course of democratization and to undertake market reforms," Bush said.

The target for about 40 years of U.S. investment and a massive military buildup, the Soviets lately have been on friendly terms with the United States.

Toys

"What we're needing especially are toys that would be good gifts for kids age four through 13."

Batteries, of all sizes, are also needed to power some of the electric toys.

Not every used toy can be fixed, but Jaycees will accept any toy that can be cleaned up or repaired.

Toys for Tots also needs volunteers to help repair the toys, and volunteers who will deliver toys. Anyone wishing to help deliver the toys should come by the old Anthony's building beginning Monday at about 7:30 p.m. Toy deliveries will start Monday and will take a week to complete, Engle said.

He also pointed out that all proceeds from the Jaycee's Christmas Tree Sale at Everybody's Thriftway goes to Toys for Tots.

foreigners except the Americans and British removed their diplomats as Iraq cut off utilities and posted soldiers outside the compounds.

The diplomats and others who took refuge in the embassy subsisted for three months on canned tuna and boiled water from the embassy's swimming pool. They were allowed emergency supplies in recent weeks.

Gasoline may cost more, but it's still cheap, analyst says

HOUSTON (AP) — Rising prices at the gas pump, although unsettling, are not as steep as they were in the oil shocks of 1979 and 1980, an oil industry historian and energy analyst says.

"Obviously, inflation has eroded so much of the value of the dollar," Daniel Yergin, president of Cambridge Energy Research Associates, said Wednesday at an energy symposium.

In 1990, prices have gone up about 30 cents at the pump and now average $1.42, Cambridge Energy said.

"What we did is to calculate and compute gasoline prices over time in 1990 prices," Yergin said. "What it showed was the reality is quite different from appearances."

Until August, when Iraq invaded Kuwait and set off the latest round of price boosts, the cost of gasoline in real terms had not been so cheap since World War II.

"Gasoline was never as cheap as people recollected it as having been in the good old days," Yergin said. "What Saddam Hussein did with the invasion of Kuwait was to raise gasoline prices back to levels that the American people had known in the 1960s before the oil shocks of the 1970s."

"This is one of the subjects of great rancor in this country," Yergin said. "There's a special place for gasoline not only in our pocketbooks but in our hearts."

"It is the price (consumers) see every day several times a day. They shell out money a couple of times a week. And when price goes up, they get mad."

Yergin said Americans in 1947 spent 2.5 percent of their household income on gasoline. By 1973 to 1978, it rose to 3.4 to 4 percent. In 1980, it was nearly 5 percent.

By 1989, it was down to 2.4 percent, he said.

The gasoline that was 23 cents per gallon in 1947 would be $1.46 in 1990 dollars, according to Yergin. The 27- to 35-cent gasoline in the 1960s would be the equivalent of $1.34 to $1.57 today.

"I think what we have is really quite a different view than what we think," he said.

He noted that efficiency improvements were responsible for much of the savings. In 1973, the typical car got 13.1 miles per gallon. Today, that car gets 21 mpg.

Yergin said that until the Iraqi invasion, energy was far down on the list of concerns of Americans.

"We've had another lesson and in a sense it could have been a worse lesson," he said. "We are an oil civilization. It's what makes the world go around. It's what makes our country go around."

Writ is denied in appeals court

Texas Court of Criminal Appeals denied a writ of habeas corpus for Carol Johnene Morris Wednesday.

Morris was convicted July 27, 1988, in Scurry County's 132nd District for forgery and was sentenced to 20 years and fined $10,000.

She alleged that her indictment in the forgery case was faulty because it left out the allegation that the forged writing was purported to be the act of someone who did not authorize the act.

Morris contended that because of the faulty indictment, the district court had no jurisdiction in the case.

The state court admitted that the indictment was flawed, but said in a written opinion that Morris waived her right to question the legality of the indictment because she did not raise the issue before her trial.

Red meat diet linked to colon cancer

BOSTON (AP) — Scientists today reported some of the strongest evidence yet that red meat significantly raises the risk of colon cancer. The research found that people who eat beef, pork or lamb every day are more than twice as likely to get colon cancer as those who avoid red meat. Even those who have meat occasionally raise their risk somewhat, the study said.

The findings came as no surprise to health experts who have been urging reduced red meat consumption for years because of its links to heart disease and cancer, but the new study solidifies beliefs about its cancer effects.

"Moderate red meat intake is certainly better than large amounts, but it's quite possible that no red meat intake is even better," said Dr. Walter C. Willett, who directed the study at Brigham and Women's Hospital in Boston.

Another non-surprise in the study of 88,751 nurses from 1980 to 1986 was the finding that switching to fish and chicken helped reduce the risk of colon cancer.

"That has practical implications, because it will be easier for people to increase chicken and fish consumption rather than becoming strict vegetarians," Willett said.

Colon cancer is the second-leading cancer killer after lung cancer. An estimated 110,000 new cases will be diagnosed in the United States this year.

In the study, 150 of the women studied got colon cancer. Although all the participants were women, the researchers said their conclusions probably apply to men, too.

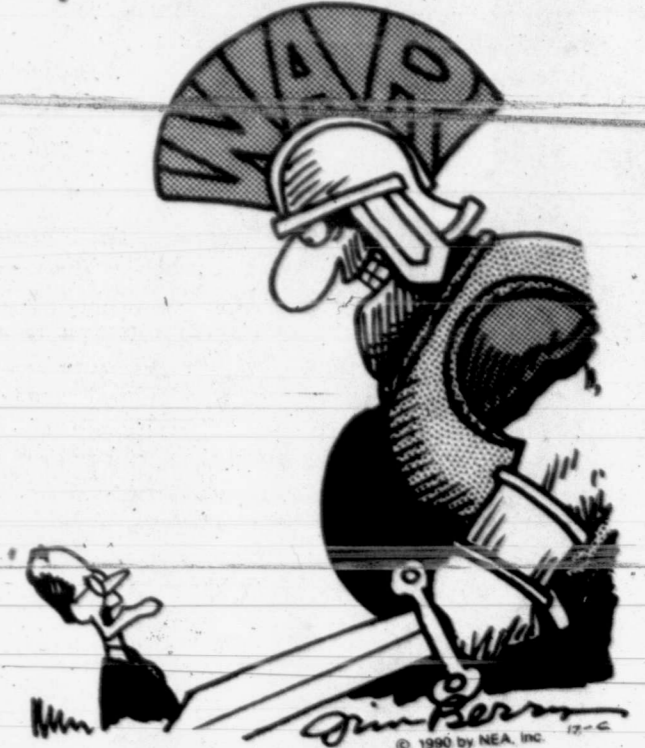

The study "provides some of the most direct evidence that there is likely to be a payoff in cancer risk by reducing our consumption of animal fat," Willett said.

The eating recommendations of major health organizations already emphasize cutting down on red meat and other sources of saturated fat.

Dr. Peter Greenwald of the National Cancer Institute cautioned against interpreting the report to mean people should stop eating red meat entirely.

"Meat has important nutrient value," he said. "The message should be to cut down, not to cut out."

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When I married Roy (not his real name), I had two daughters, ages 9 and 5, from a previous marriage. Roy began to sexually molest the older one. It was almost two years before she told me about it. She told because she was afraid that her younger sister was in danger of being molested, too.

Abby, this was a terrible shock to me. I knew things like this happened to children, but I never believed it could happen in my family.

I am now divorced from Roy, and my children are doing well after much counseling. Although Roy was indicted by a grand jury, he jumped bail before going to trial and has been missing for almost a year. It upsets me to know that he is out there somewhere, probably with a new identity, and he may be sexually abusing other unsuspecting children. I am writing this to alert others to this possible danger. It's far more common than most people suspect.

TEXAS MOM

DEAR MOM: Thank you for sharing your experience so that I can once again tell my readers that their best insurance against child molestation is to educate their children early. They should be taught that their bodies are private, and if somebody tries to touch their bodies, they should tell their parents immediately.

Children must be assured that if anyone makes them promise not to tell anyone, that is one promise it is all right to break.

DEAR ABBY: Would it be appropriate to send a Christmas card to an old boyfriend I haven't spoken to in eight years? We are both married, and even though I love my husband, I still have feelings for this man.

I want him to know that I still think of him, and I don't want him to forget me. Even though he never told me he loved me, we were lovers for nearly a year. I would include a recent picture of myself and also an update of what I've been doing since he last saw me. I would send it to his office so as not to arouse any questions from his wife.

Thanks for any advice you can give me.

FOND MEMORIES

DEAR FOND MEMORIES: Do yourself and your old boyfriend a favor and resist the urge to re-establish communication with him. No good can come of rekindling this old flame. Be content with your "fond memories." What was, was.

DEAR ABBY: I just saw an article in the newspaper here and had to write to you. It was about a 49-year-old man who was speeding in his car when he lost control of the vehicle. The car flipped over twice, and his 6-year-old son who was riding with him was killed. Because the child was not wearing a seat belt, the father is being prosecuted and, if found guilty, he could serve a year in prison.

I know that your column reaches so many people, and this could be an important reminder to get across to parents of young children. It could be a lifesaver.

DEAR MRS. J.E.F.: Since you wrote me, the manslaughter charge against the father has been dropped, but that doesn't change the point of your letter. Although it may seem cruel to further punish a parent who has suffered the misfortune of losing a child, perhaps this kind of example will cause other parents to think.

Parents are responsible for the safety of their children, and it is the responsibility of parents to see that their child is seat-belted — no matter how much the child protests. The rule should be: Until the child is secured, the key in the ignition will not be turned on.
