Group Here Mark 50th Anniversary Of Baptist GA

Fiftieth anniversary of the establishment of the Girls' Auxiliary by the Southern Baptist Convention will be observed here Saturday, Jan. 19, by the 60-member GA organization of the First Baptist Church of Haskell with a Mother-Daughter Banquet.

Coincident with this observance, the GA's parent organization, the Women's Missionary Union, is celebrating its 75th anniversary this year throughout the church, thereby pointing up the joint Mother-Daughter banquet event, Mrs. Danny Boone, GA director, said. This occasion, in which girls 9 to 16 years of age will take part with their mothers, will be held in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church here at 7:30 p. m. January 19.

Mrs. C. V. Oates, local president of the WMU, will be the principal speaker. One of the highlights of the banquet will be a skit by GA members depicting the fashions of the times and red letter events in the 50-year history of the organization. Popular songs representing each 10-year period of the half-century of activity will be sung, and the official sisterhood-wide 50th anniversary hymn will be presented.

A green, gold, and white decorative motif, consisting of the official colors of the group, also will be featured, with old trunks and antique tableware emphasizing the theme. A "date tree" will be garnished with stars hung upon it by skit participants as they note special events and the times in the history of GA.

All those attending will dress in fashions dating from 75 years ago to the present. In addition to the director, Mrs. Boone, counselors for the four GA groups in the First Baptist Church here are: Mrs. Bill Blakely, Mrs. Harold Turner, Mrs. Gentry Middleton, and Mrs. Virgil Wall.

Installing officer at the Rowena ceremony will be Arthur Porter, San Antonio, one of the three members of the statewide Hermann Sons Home for the Aged Committee. Assisting Porter will be M. O. Gold, also of San Antonio, Grand Lodge District Supervisor; and E. H. Niemyer, San Antonio, special representative of the Grand Lodge, which now has more than 56,000 members throughout Texas.

Lodges to have their officers installed on this occasion are: Lubbock Hermann Sons Lodge No. 16, Lubbock; Odessa Lodge No. 38, Odessa; San Angelo Lodge No. 177, San Angelo; Old Glory Lodge No. 228, Old Glory; Haskell Lodge No. 241, Haskell; Hermleigh Lodge No. 256, Hermleigh; Roscoe Lodge No. 257 of Roscoe and Rowena Lodge No. 216, the host lodge.

The Grand Lodge has its home offices in San Antonio. The fraternal order also operated a free summer camp for its junior members and a home for its aged members. Both are situated at Comfort, in the Texas Hill Country.

Sister Act Steals 4-H Steer Show

A set of sisters sizzled when it came to showing steers at the 26th annual Haskell County 4-H Steer Show Tuesday afternoon, and Brenda Boone, 11, and Judy Boone, 13, annexed the grand and reserve championships, respectively, plus a sizeable chunk of the $400 in premium money put up by the merchant and businessmen backers of bovinity.

The two girls, who are from Weinert, showed animals bred by their father, Wallace Boone, Weinert cattle raiser. The grand champion steer is a full brother of the reserve champion at the highly respected Odessa show in 1962, which sold for $1800, according to Frank Martin, Haskell County agent. Martin outlined the Haskell County 4-H Show and directed it again this year.

A total of 21 entries was paraded past Judge R. L. McClung, Baylor County Agent, of Seymour, by 10 exhibitors. Brenda Boone squeezed past Andy Gannaway of Haskell, a steer hair's breadth second, to win the nod for the best two steers shown by one owner. Brenda's entry also took a blue ribbon in the heavyweight class in which young Gannaway's steer, bred by Edgar Davis, Abilene, also finished second. The rest of the finish in this class was as follows: Judy Boone, third; David Gannaway, Haskell, 4th; Dany Ivy, Paint Creek, 5th; Kay Newton, Weinert, 6th; Jackie Hammer, Weinert, 7th, 8th and 11th showing three steers in prime judging. Ricky Perry of Paint Creek drew down the 9th and 10th slots.

In the lightweight steer division, Judy Boone's entry emerged first, with Andy Gannaway's animal, bred by Bob Watson, of Haskell, second. The other places were as follows: Brenda Boone, third; Sherry Newton, fourth; David Gannaway, fifth; Ricky Perry, sixth; Keith Chapman, Mattson, 7th; the Perry Youth, 8th; and Jackie Hammer, ninth. Show Director Martin said many of the steers shown here will be entered in the Abilene Stock Show, the Southwestern Livestock Show in Ft. Worth, and the Wichita Falls Junior Beef Calf Show.

FIREMEN HERE SAVE MOTEL IN COLD, ODDS-ON BATTLE

Haskell volunteer firemen, 28 strong, aroused from their sleep by their unique and effective warning system at 2:30 Saturday morning in 4-degree temperature, overcame obstacles galore to save an 11-unit motel here, with only minor damage resulting.

Fire of undetermined origin leveled a 4-room vacant residence on South Avenue E, Haskell's main stem, damaged another, and the flames bucked a several feet wide space and a brisk north wind to ignite the south end of the Haskell Courts, the motel next door. The gutted house, a total loss, was covered by insurance.

A call to Floyd Lusk, Haskell Volunteer Fire Department supervisor, brought swift action and almost 100 percent participation by 28 of the 30 volunteer firemen in whose homes are installed a tone-generator type of communication system. Utilization of this type of warning device eliminated the necessity for a town-wide alarm except when the situation directs, Lusk pointed out.

All but two of the volunteers alerted, and they were on duty at the town's power plant, arrived at the scene to find the residence, owned by W. C. Carson, who also owns and operates the Haskell Courts, enveloped in flames. One room at the south end of the 11-unit court was adjacent to the house ablaze, and flames were licking the roof of a house behind and to the west of the source of the fire.

Though severely hampered by frozen pressure gauges on the fire trucks, and the necessary use of pickup trucks making shuttle runs to the station house to join the host under shelter due to the extreme cold, the fire was contained. Lusk and Fire Chief Tom Watson were high in their praise of the firemen's efforts.

Carson said some renters had vacated the house which burned to the ground. He had no idea how the fire started. A neighbor came screaming into Carson's quarters in the motel to report the fire. Three of the seven motel guests Friday night occupying south units were compelled to hastily depart the area.

County Court Transacts First 1963 Business

In regular session this week, the Haskell County Commissioners' Court approved of the quarterly report for the final 1962 quarter, authorized a raise in the salary of one county official, and two courthouse employees, and set the salaries of all others the same as 1962; and asked that the selection of a county depository be advertised.

The salary of the County Treasurer was raised from $3100 to $3600 per year in action by the court presided over by County Judge Jim Alvis. Also receiving salary raises were Mrs. Ethel Lou Shelton, secretary to the Commissioners' Court, from $175.00 to $200.00 a month, and Mrs. Sarah Hodge, in the county auditor's office, from $200.00 to $225.00 a month, according to County Clerk Bill Reeves.

Balance as shown on the quarterly report was $279,468.11 on December 31, 1962, compared with a previous balance on October 1, 1962, of $162,223.30. Receipts during the last three months of 1962 totaled $240,595.75 while disbursements during the last quarter were $123,350.92.

Investments of county funds as of December 31 totaled $321,600.00, mostly in bonds. The bond and warrant indebtedness report showed that out of $1,168,000 in original issues, less than half, or $563,000 are bonds outstanding.

Shotgun Slingers Rack Up Pigeons Despite Zero Plus

High spirited sportsmen braved low level temperatures to send a total of 1485 "dead pigeons" to earth as John Gult III, of Abilene, won a Haskell Gun Club-sponsored trophy shoot here at traps on the west side of the golf course here Sunday afternoon.

Hampered by the severely cold weather, Guitarr cracked 90 of 100 clay discs to take the trophy.

First Six Graders Set Stage for Big Winter Festival

A Winter Festival, described as a fabulous and spilling over with entertainment, will be staged in colorful carnival atmosphere under the auspices of the Haskell Elementary School Parent Teachers Association at the recently completed new elementary school building here Saturday evening, January 26.

This enterprising event this year takes the place of the Halloween Carnival usually held each fall, but cancelled last fall for lack of place to hold it. Haskell's elementary school was leveled by last May's tornado, and the new edifice which replaces it was occupied only last month.

Proceeds from the initial edition of the Winter Festival will go for "fringe benefits" for the school, just as last year's Halloween Carnival funds raised were utilized for the purchase and installation of playground equipment.

A home-cooked supper, the melt-in-your-mouth kind, will be prepared and served from five to six p. m. on Festival Day, with the production line revved up on pies to suit the individual taste. Mothers of kindergarten and first and second grade pupils are in charge of this sure-to-be-popular phase of the Festival.

Promptly at 6 p. m., all booths will open to cater to the patronage of both the young and the young at heart. Third through sixth graders will be in charge of the booths. Doll walks, cake walks, and "fish-in" will comprise a portion of the order of the evening.

Haskell Elementary P-TA stemwinders advise, "If you like good food and lots of fun, and plenty of both, don't you dare miss our Winter Carnival."

C Of C Names Aims For Year

At its first 1963 session, the Board of Directors of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce Tuesday laid down across the conference table a barrage of projects designed for Haskell's civic and economic betterment this year and announced a top-notch speaker for its annual meeting in March.

Ben H. Wooten, chairman of the board of the First National Bank of Dallas, will be the keynote at the annual membership meeting of the Haskell chamber on Friday, March 22, President Bailey Toliver announced. Subject of the promisee leader's address will be announced in February, Mrs. Roy Johnson, executive secretary, said.

A most justifiable plea to "court" the occupants of the 1500 motor vehicles passing through Haskell daily, the proposal of a long-range plan as a joint project of all service and civic group to erect a Community Center edifice here, the projected widening of State Highway 24 within the city limits of Haskell, and consideration of establishment of a monthly, or more often, Trades Day in Haskell were the major items presented to the chamber board.

Dr. T. W. Williams, longtime civic leader here and member of the board of directors of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, told the group that "we have a floating industry, an industry on wheels, in the form of transient traffic, traveling through Haskell every day. It should be our prime aim and object to make the main arteries of Haskell look as attractive as possible, and for our establishments to provide the quality of service desired, to make folks want to stop with us here."

1500 Vehicles Daily

A survey has shown that approximately 1500 vehicles per day move through Haskell on the Wichita Falls-Abilene artery. Dr. Williams pointed out, and that occupants of these vehicles, when they stop in a community, spend money at a per head rate ranging from a minimum of $5 for a brief stopper to $23 for an overnight guest.

Successful exploration of its tourism possibilities would benefit Haskell more than any small industry which might be established here, Dr. Williams declared.

He cited as commendable the step taken recently to widen State Highway 24 from east city limit to west city limit in Haskell. "This will greatly enhance the looks of the town, and that's what the transient is looking for," Dr. Williams emphasized, "a

Big Area Highway Improvement Is Delayed A Month

An order calling for bids for constructing 330,399 miles of seal coat and asphaltic concrete pavement in several Northwest and North Central Texas Counties, including Haskell, which was issued last week and scheduled to be received by the Highway Department in Austin until Jan. 25, has been postponed, the Haskell Free Press was told Tuesday.

J. C. Roberts, district engineer for the Texas Highway Department, said revision of plans and specifications necessitated the postponement, and that the contract will be let in February.

In addition to Haskell, other counties included in the projected rebuilding program are Stonewall, Jones, Nolan, Mitchell, Taylor, Shackelford, Callahan, Kent, Scurry, Borden

Haskell Lions Are Observing Melvin Jones Memorial Month

Lions International, a vital and growing force for humanitarian service throughout the world, is paying tribute to its Founder, Melvin Jones, during the month of January.

Haskell Lions have designated this month as Melvin Jones Memorial Month, honoring not only the founder of Lions International, but the pioneers of the association, and the founding members of the local club.

clean, good-looking, serviceable community in which to stop." He said these tremendously potential possibilities should be explored and exploited to the hilt.

Dr. Williams also reported on a hoped for reappropriation of cotton acreage allotments out of East Texas acreage quotas to compensate for the projected 10 per cent reduction in cotton acreage in West Texas. The WTCC is working on this, he said.

Highway 24 Widening. Abe Turner, with Toliver and Billie Jack Ray, are a committee which has undertaken the titanic task of securing cooperation and participation of property owners in widening the right-of-way on Highway 24, the Rule - Throckmorton highway, within the city limits of Haskell.

Chairman Turner Tuesday reported definite progress made on this undertaking, and reminded his listeners that some dis-hardards said the widening of the north-south thoroughfare in Haskell on Highway 277 "couldn't be done."

The proposal for the east-west improvement on Highway 24 calls for much less expenditure, an estimated $1.65 "a running foot," Turner said, to put in curb and gutter and widen the street to a total width of 85 feet in all but the vicinity of the Square, where it would be 75 feet. J. C. (Jake) Roberts, district engineer of the Highway Department, is cooperating to the fullest extent in this project, Turner said.

Jaycee President Billie Jack Ray announced plans for observance here of Jaycee week January 20-26, a Ladies' Night next Tuesday to which all citizens of Haskell will be invited and two substantial proposed projects designed to help Haskell: a long range program "jointly entered into" by all the civic and service organizations of Haskell to stage special sustaining fund-raising enterprises for the purpose of obtaining money to be placed in a pool for the purpose of erecting a Community Center. Ray says, "it might take five years to get it accomplished, with all of us working together, but we should get started." He singled out a similar program in Mineral Wells, which is now on solid financial footing. The Community Center matter was taken under advisement and will be discussed more thoroughly in the near future," Toliver said.

Trades Day. The second Jaycee suggestion as set forth by President Ray, is a monthly, or more frequent "Trades Day" in Haskell. The move was initiated in response to requests by several individuals, Ray said. It would be along the lines of a "Swap 'n Shop" setup, variations of which have begun to dot the countryside, bringing many additional people into communities for these events, it was pointed out. The Chamber will make an early decision on sponsorship of the Trades Day, President Toliver said.

A committee comprised of Toliver, Ray, and Mayor J. E. Wailing will decide this week which day is to be designated Haskell Day at the Ft. Worth Fat Stock Show and every effort will be made to get a representative gathering of Haskell citizens to the show on that day, Mrs. Johnson reported.

The following members were named to a committee to choose 10 names for a ballot to be mailed chamber members from which 5 new directors will be selected: Mrs. Opal Adams, chairman; Wallace Cox Jr., and Desmond Dulaney. Nine members of the chamber board were present for the meeting.

At The Crossroads, A Milepost for Morality

The simple statement of fact that four out of the last five civilizations have died from within is a cranium creaser. It's a spotlight on the High Road to Morality.

And as sure as a fellow named Gibbons wrote a staggering voluminous work on the "Rise and Fall of the Roman Empire," we're in the fifth.

Perhaps, more sharply put, we're ON the fifth, and the pint, and the half pint, and the "needle." Likewise, in matters of responsibility, we "take the Fifth" (Amendment), then guzzle a fifth, and try to forget all about it.

Just as well-known and factual as the statement of the last four civilizations dying from within is this one: Morality on this terrestrial ball, in this modern world, is challenged on many fronts.

While we are here cogitating at the spotlight, which road are we going to take from here on in—to Destination Eternal?

That Low Road to Immorality has a lot of traffic on it. It's just a faster road, while the High Road to Morality has a lot of twists and turns, some detours, but it always straightens out for the careful "drivers."

Exploring the state of morality these days would take more than a Byrd-type expedition. Apparently we don't have a conscience compass. Right here in Texas, in the past year, after the Billie Sol Estes and slant-hole scandals, our slang vocabulary has been expanded to include "See you later, Manipulator," and "See you later, Deviator," to typify these two shades of self-appointed law flaunting.

But all is not dark on the horizon of hope for morality. Phenix City, Alabama, rising out of the ashes of its own destruction, has become a veritable "River City," or "Music Man" legend, strong and vibrant. Denver, after a body blow to its community vitals from a stinking police probe, has its head high once more. Boston, always a noble example setter, hit the moral tobaggan slide, but is making the long climb back. Then there are other examples of "falls." The important thing is the "rises," such as in the foregoing cities, which had fallen, and in Newport, Kentucky, Cleveland, and others.

To get to the core of conditions, we must take stock of the morality from the individual on outward. A place to start is in the local community, where civic virtue is most demonstrable.

Remembering that free society in today's world, though gravely threatened from without, is even more gravely threatened from within. Communism breeds and thrives on such a situation.

Here in Haskell, and in our North Central and Northwest Texas territory, it is our "bounden duty" in our own little sphere, being an integral part of the whole, to get stung, and stay stung into action for continued morality. Proceeding to demand and apply higher standards, our community will benefit from our knowledge that its strength lies in ourselves.

At this spotlight at the milepost, there still is time to be judicious. It is not time to seek out the roadside park or the rest stop on THIS road.

First stop in that highway to Destination Eternal is Hometown. That's where we need to strengthen the quality of the job we are doing.

It can't be done on a 36 or 40-hour week.

One of the Greatest of Them All

Saturday will be the one hundred and fifty-sixth anniversary of the birth of a soldier, statesman, educator, and gentleman in the truly American tradition.

Just the mention of his name telegraphs a tattoo of thrills up and down the spines of most of us. We Americans as we plow our increasingly mundane furrows, have not forsaken one inherent trait, worship of our heroes.

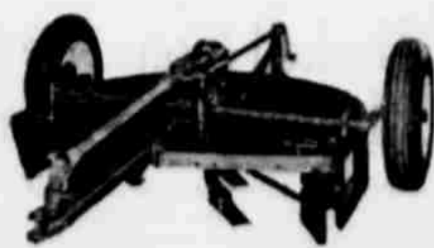

This man was one of the greatest of them all, greater in defeat, perhaps, than he ever would have been in victory. We can see him now, even as he was then, his beard blending with the color of his horse, at Appomattox.

So, on his birthday, we salute, and revere, the memory of General Robert Edward Lee, stalwart soldier, eminent Southern gentleman, and above all, a Great American.

With apologies to Edgar Allan, I reckon this colyum could be "slugged," as they say in newspaper parlance, "P. O.'s Ravin's," now couldn't it? Nevermore.

I was goin' to write a piece about the FFFF, Federation of Falling Follicles, about which there is a lot to write around here, and a local chapter of which I propose organizing with a recommendation of George Fouts as president. There are a number of poor men's Yul Brenners hereabouts. But I won't get on with it at the moment. There are more important things, such as—

Where is that Varmint? Someone must have seen him, her, or it, since those unbiased, previously unwarmed, unprejudiced outlanders reported the sight of the elusive creature.

But that someone is just keeping it under his favorite fedora for fear he'd be tagged with the brand of too much Stamford strip or the impact of Impact.

Glenn Shelton, my colleague in Wichita Falls, writes that he's a "mite jealous" of Haskell and its Varmint. He recalls, with pardonable nostalgia, and I was with him on the Wichita Falls Record News at the time, that reports of "that BIG Snake" which persisted in the WF area in the summer of 1946 helped us immeasurably in whiling away an otherwise unbearably hot and unevenful summer.

Reports of a snake, wriggling corkscrew like, but in a vertical stance, across highways in and around Wichita Falls, were rampant. So rampant, in fact, I, as city editor, put one man, Ben Gould, son of the Wichita Falls Times' longtime, widely-read and respected columnist, John Gould, on the story exclusively to track down all the rumors of the snake's whereabouts. It was a full time job, and we gave Ben bylines identifying him as "Snake Editor," of course. What else?

That snake, whose proportions grew in enormity with the passing of each day, hasn't been caught yet. Guess he went underground, in his own snakey way, and underwater, to the lochs of Scotland where he probably sought the companionship of those of his kind.

To this day, a friend of mine in Dallas, who was on a business matter in Wichita Falls at the time, sixteen years ago and more, salutes me with, "Seen that dadgum big snake yet?"

Glenn Shelton hasn't any premise for being jealous to date. We haven't had any more reports of sighting the Varmint. Wished we had.

Well, back to follicles, which by some yardsticks are reported to be fallen hair. Other descriptions say follicles are the little indentations or cavities left after the hair and your scalp have divorced. Either way, follicles make for a receding forehead, and eventually a gleaming scalp that looks like the rovin' highlight on the Burlington Zephyr driftin' down the rails on a dark night.

Follicles were a favorite subject of the stalwart civilian soldiers, reserve officers, 35 and up, who threw up the bulwark and fought a delaying action while we "youngsters" were being prepared to join 'em in World War II. Overseas, our oldsters with the expanding waistlines and receding foreheads used to collect their follicles in cigar boxes, said they could keep up with the calendar that way. They sent home the hair which had seceded from the union, like a lock of a lover's tresses, or something. Honest. This is a true story.

Back to George Fouts, too. He'd make a likely president of a Haskell chapter of the FFFF. Because George has undergone some experiences lately that may step up the tempo of his own follicle falling.

He was asked at Lions' Club last week if it were true that virility is more prevalent in balding men. This is a question that has concerned him because George had to temper his answer with the fact that he has "only noticed it the last couple of years."

To boot, when George was asked by his family where he was going at six-thirty ayem on the morning of January 8th, he replied, "To a Christmas observance planning breakfast." In truth, he was, but the whole thing was just too involved to try to explain that time of morning, and before breakfast, too.

So George simply cannot be blamed. All this is enough to make anyone baldheaded!

Coach Carlos Berry got off a good one at Lion's last week. In reporting his Indians' 7-6 win-loss record this season, contrasted to the impressive 14-4 compilation of Dave Middleton's Squaws, Carlos said, "Of course, our figures aren't as good as the girls'". OBVIOUSLY.

There's a certain implement dealer in this town who, it is said, goes huntin' by himself and would put the Central Intelligence Agency in the shade when it comes to tellin' anyone else where the coveys are stashed. Reminds me of the fisherman who was asked where he caught that 3-pound bass. "In the side of the mouth," he replied.

This Mona Lisa's quite a gal. I saw her in the Louvre in Paris, courtesy of Uncle Sam, right after World War II was over. Her popularity should give hope to some folks. After all, this gal is 460 years old, and she's still swoonin' the men.

I know a lady in Amarillo who is the essence of perpetual motion. Asked when she was going to slow down, she said, "Oh, there'll be rest in the grave." After going to work for Jetty Clare, I know what she

CHEVROLET... the Quality truck!

WALK AROUND IT. SEE THE DIFFERENCES.

Start at the rear of this Fleetside pickup. Grab the tailgate and pull hard. No give. Two wedge latches keep it tight. Now unfasten them and let down the gate. Jump up and down on it. Does it sag? Notice how the chains are wrapped in rubber so they won't rattle or mar paint.

Now look at the lower side panels. Two walls. You might dent the inside one but it won't show through. The floor will never rust. It's select wood, not metal.

Now please sit in the cab a minute. Co. It also is double walled and the roof is insulated start 'er up and look for a washboard road. coil-spring suspensions fight road shock in other types, good for the truck, load and driver. PAINT CREEK ... COMMUNITY NEWS

BY MRS. GENE OVERTON

I don't suppose this is news to anybody, but for the past several days Paint Creek has been absolutely frigid. If several days of this kind of weather doesn't kill every little boll weevil, leaf worm and army worm, it can't be done. We should have insect-free farming next year. But I don't think there is such a thing.

Some old timers say this is cold enough weather to kill even mesquite trees. Some remember cold spells in the past when mesquite trees were killed. Let's hope these new orchards in the community aren't hurt. I know very little about botany, and my husband (who received his college degree in agronomy) is not here right now for me to ask, but I have always thought the sap in plants lowered into the roots in the winter, and rose up into the branches and leaves in the spring and summer. If that is true, we'll lose some plants, and maybe some trees, because up until now, we haven't had enough cold weather for the poor sap to know whether it should stay "riz" or go down below. My lilac bush had green leaves on it right up until Christmas—poor thing.

Coleman taught for her. Mrs. Hefflin is still unable to come back to school. Her doctor's month's leave of absence, Mrs. Gene Overton is teaching for her.

Mrs. John Kuenstler underwent surgery Friday in Wichita Falls. She had an abscessed tooth removed. She will go back for a checkup this week.

Mrs. Ira Coleman and Dorothy are in New Mexico visiting Sonny Coleman, and children.

Mr. West returned home from the hospital Thursday, but went back to see his doctor Saturday.

Mrs. Gene Overton spent Wednesday and Thursday nights in Rule visiting her mother and daddy, Mr. and Mrs. Lennis W. Jones, while Gene was in Austin.

The Clyde Blands have almost completed a beautiful new home.

Haskell Marines Complete Course In Combat Training At Pendleton

Two young men from Haskell who recently joined the nation's defense team have completed a four-week course in individual combat training at the Marine Corps' base at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

Marine Privates Modesto Munoz, son of Mrs. Estelita Gomez, and Trenis D. Turner, son of F. N. Turner, have been in training with the Second Infantry Training Regiment at Camp Pendleton. This training provides newly enlisted Marines with a background of experience in the field under combat conditions.

Live-firing exercises are conducted, in addition to field trips and classroom lectures. Under carefully selected instructors, the young Marines learn to take their places in small fighting units, such as the four-man fire team and the 14-man squad.

Privates Munoz and Turner finished this phase of their combat training on Dec. 28.

Jaycees Here Cited For Hard Work On 'Rest Stop' Project

Haskell Jaycees were among member groups of the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce cited recently at ceremonies in Grand Prairie honoring the state Jaycees as an organization and Bill Leonard of Dallas as an individual, for their mutual interest and activity in encouraging better traffic safety for Texas.

Certificates of Commendation were presented by Bill Davis, executive vice president of the state Jaycees, and Leonard by a large insurance firm for the production of the "rest stop" program, a brain child of Leonard's, by Jaycee clubs throughout the state. "Coffee break" rest stop stations were manned by more than 70 groups at intersections on State Highways during the 1962 Labor Day weekend.

The Haskell Jaycees, an alert, safety-conscious organization headed by Billy Jack Ray, put in an impressive number of man hours serving hundreds of cups of coffee to earn its share of the commendation for contributing the most to the "rest stop" project. Inspector J. B. Carlisle of the Texas Department of Public Safety and Jim Musick, manager, Texas Safety Association, assisted the insurance company by recommending the recipients for the most outstanding public service award.

Business Gains Over Last Year In Haskell County

Business population of Haskell County is up three per cent over January, 1962, it was learned here Friday. A. I. Hemphill, district manager for the Ft. Worth district office of Dun and Bradstreet, said the physical count of the D&B reference book for January, 1963, totals 210 manufacturers, wholesalers, and retailers in Haskell County compared with 203 in January a year ago, or a numerical increase of seven businesses.

During the past year, Hemphill advised, 168 changes were made in D&B reference book listings of Haskell County businesses, including 46 names added, 44 names deleted, and 76 changes in the rating of continuing businesses. The changes occurring in Haskell County are lower, he pointed out, compared with the rest of the country where a change of business significance is counted about every five seconds.

All Haskell County communities showed increases in business population during 1962 on D&B records.

The percentage increase by towns follows: Haskell, 3; O'Brien, 13; Rochester, 4; Rule, 5; Sagerton, 200; and Weinert 50.

Food List For January Is Revised

The damaging freeze in Florida at mid-December caused a revision in the U. S. Department of Agriculture's plentiful food list for January.

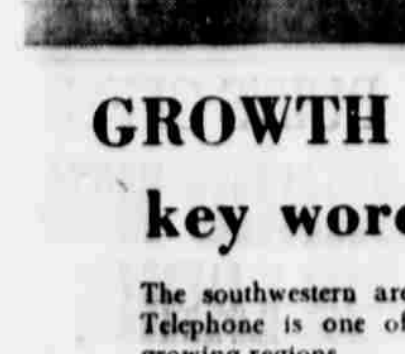

Food shoppers, says the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will find Irish potatoes a good January food bargain and the same goes for fresh pears, and red tart cherries, both frozen and canned. Stocks of fresh pears are much higher than last year at this time since fall movement was on the slow side and the crop was up 5 percent. Supplies of red tart cherries are near a record high for January and prices are averaging about 20 to 25 percent below a year ago.

The Florida freeze caused the USDA to remove from the plentiful list both oranges and grapefruit and also cabbage. Supplies of oranges, however, are expected to be sufficient to take care of consumer demand.

From A Pastor's Study

By DOUGLAS B. FINCH

Pastor, First Presbyterian Church Haskell, Texas

William Shakespeare asked the question, "What is a name?" and then went on to explain that a rose by any other name would smell as sweet.

It has occurred to me that the same principle could be applied to churches. What churches are called is not nearly so important as what essence comes forth from them. In other words, the substance of the church and the witness it makes is the identifying factor.

Some persons may not realize that the name "Christian" began in Antioch as a term of derision. It was coined by those outside the Christian fellowship who thought that the followers of Jesus were rather silly, and they called them "Christians."

The term was adopted by Christians as a sign of their tenacity and sincere devotion, and has remained the "name" of Christ's followers ever since.

The name "Methodist" came into being in much the same way. They were, during the Wesleyan revival, the people with a "method" for altering the course of the undisciplined life, so people originally called them "Methodists" in a taunting manner. Thus the term of derision became the coat-of-arms, so to speak, for the zealous converts of John Wesley.

The term "Lutheran" came to designate those Christians who agreed generally, with the Biblical interpretations and theological teachings of Martin Luther, the great leader of the Protestant Reformation.

The term "Baptist" as a church designation began with "anabaptist," which literally means "re-baptizer." The Anabaptists, who in the sixteenth century came to oppose the Church's practice of infant baptism, were so-called as a term of derision, also. They chose to re-baptize their converts, believing that Christians should receive baptism only as adults, after publicly declaring their faith, and by complete immersion rather than by affusion or aspersion.

The term "Presbyterian" is a Greek transliteration from the Bible meaning "Elder." It designates the form of church government followed by that church, i. e. temporal rule by Elders. It has nothing to do with doctrine or belief.

The various designations came to serve those churches in order to identify for people a "particular" church, none of whom necessarily denied the validity of the other. Most of them acknowledged that somewhere within each and all of these churches was the Church of God in Christ, and only God knew exactly who were members. This is the Church that only Christ can identify, and the real Church Roll is the Book of Life which mortal man cannot read with undisputed accuracy.

The names of particular churches, then, were used as a matter of practical expediency to designate groups within the Christian fellowship with varying methods of worship and differing persuasions. The names served much the same purpose, in one sense, as a street address. Even those who have chosen to call themselves simply the "Church of Christ" have found it necessary to add other identifying terms such as "Highland Church of Christ" or "Central Church of Christ" in order to identify a "particular" church.

We should all remember that great names debase instead of raising those who do not know how to use them. With the vulgar and the unlearned, names have great weight, but wise men inquire into their legitimacy when they are advanced as authoritative. Where men see condemnation instead of love, smug self-satisfaction instead of humility, and a retreat into the past instead of hope for the future, then the writ of inquiry into the use of certain exalted names is justified.

Shakespeare was right! A rose by any other name would smell just as sweet. But maybe we should also remember that garbage by any other name would still smell bad. It is the essence made evident which truly identifies, and not the name which we call ourselves.

HASKELL BOY, BOBBY TATUM, MAKING GOOD AT BOYS RANCH

Bobby Dale Tatum, a former Haskell boy who now makes his home at Cal Farley's nationally famous Boys' Ranch near Amarillo, has been named a member of the Ranch's Junior Staff, the highest honor a boy may receive there, Farley, the president and founder, said in a personal message to the Haskell Free Press last Friday.

Chiropractic Clinic

Haskell, Texas

Closed Every Thursday

The Tatum youth, who left here to go to Boys' Ranch in August of 1961, is one of the few boys ever to be appointed to the Junior Staff in such a short period of time, 16 months, Farley reported.

As a Junior Staff member, Bobby lives with and helps care for the youngest boys at the Ranch, who are from 4 to 8 years of age. "We are especially proud of the job that Bobby is doing in the Carter Ranch House where he is helping take care of the little kids," wrote Farley. He pointed out that Bobby and another of the older boys "sub in" as big brothers, supplementing the attention of their dorm parents, who are a young couple with children of their own.

A four-year-old named Scotty, and five-year-old Mike are among the boys in Bobby's dorm and the newest boys at the Ranch. The boys are brothers whose mother was missing, and they left with their dad who was unable to care for them. The father in Chicago read about Boys' Ranch in the Saturday Evening Post. Scotty and Mike have an older brother, Jerry, who is 9, and their dad scraped up every dime he could for bus tickets, bringing all three boys to Amarillo. Boys' Ranch had quite a time finding room for three boys in one fell swoop, but all three are at the Ranch now. Bobby Tatum, a tried and true "big brother," is shouldering his share of the responsibility for them, according to Farley.

Bobby is a 10th grade student in Boys' Ranch's fully-accredited high school and is learning painting for his vocational training. Fourteen skills are available to the Ranch's older boys in the vocational training program. The former Haskell boy is 16 and will leave the Ranch on his own upon graduation from high school or when he is awarded a vocational certificate.

At the present time, Farley advises his Boys' Ranch enthusiasts in this area, and there are many because of Bobby, 302 boys from throughout the nation make their home at Boys' Ranch, 36 miles north-west of Amarillo.

Eight area communities were represented among the 71 people who attended the opening session of a new study series undertaken by the Ladies' Bible Class of the Haskell Church of Christ. Mrs. L. Q. Robinson, of Abilene, author of the book, "This Life We Live," introduced her new work, which will be the textbook of the study for the next several weeks, outlining the benefits of several years' teaching experience. A social hour followed the class meeting during which information was exchanged about activities of Ladies' Bible classes in the communities represented. Participants came from Stamford, Rule, Rochester, Knox City, Munday, Weinert, Throckmorton and Floydada.

Eight Area Towns Represented As Study Series Opens

The series is being presented on the seven Christian virtues. Other speakers at the Knox City lectures are Arles Vandiver, of Rule; Dale King, of Stamford; Howard Emerson, Munday; and Grandoi Forehand, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Forehand, of Weinert, minister of the Church of Christ at Wellington.

Jim Pennington Opens Bible Lecture Series

Minister Jim Pennington of the Church of Christ here, was the first speaker in a series of Bible lectures now being conducted each evening at 7 p. m. through Friday at the Knox City Church of Christ. The Bible lesson series began Monday, with Minister Pennington speaking on "Vir-

Church of Christ Youth Here Will Host Area Meet

Teenage youth of the Haskell Church of Christ will host other youth groups of this area at an invitational youth meet here next Sunday evening, Jan. 20. A class session to include special singing, a devotional, and a youth lesson will be held at the church beginning at 5:30 p. m. The group will re-assemble as a special section in the assembly for evening worship to assist in congregational singing. Following the church service, a get-together will take place in town to foster better acquaintanceship among area youth.

In a recently concluded survey, the American Foundation for the Blind noted that 30,000 people lose their sight each year. At present, the survey continues, there are approximately 60,000 blind men, women and children in the United States.

How Ford spent $100 million to give you more quality for your money

The Ford Motor Company spent $100 million in the past two years alone to bring you a combination of quality features found in no other cars. And here's how Ford quality pays off for you...whether you drive the big Super Torque Ford, the middleweight Fairlane, or the fun-filled compact Falcon!

Superior ride and performance. For example, $10 million was poured into the development of the Super Torque Ford's incredibly smooth new ride. Additional millions went to design 6- and 8-cylinder engines that let you choose sensational performance or sparing gas economy...all with minimum maintenance.

More care-free driving. Millions more were spent to perfect Ford's twice-a-year or 6,000-mile maintenance features...now in all Fords and Falcons.

Greater safety. Brakes adjust themselves when necessary. Roofs are reinforced. Doors have safety locks.

Added luxury. Richer, longer lasting upholstery. Carpets that wear up to twice as long as in some cars.

F.O.A.F.
GREATEST CHOICE OF QUALITY CARS UNDER ONE ROOF...SEE YOUR

Smarter styling. Ford's Thunderbird-inspired lines have set the trend for the whole industry.

Greater resale value. From the big, important items like specially galvanized vital underbody parts and long-life batteries...to the "tremendous trifles" such as extended-life light bulbs and stainless steel exterior screws...your Ford or Falcon will stand up better.

And don't forget—Ford Dealers are quality dealers! We want to keep you happy after you buy...and this is your finest guarantee of value!

If Wide-Track is as hot as Pontiac says, why don't they put it in their Tempest?

They just did.

Take a hint. When people are as happy with something as Pontiac owners are with Wide-Track, we're willing—nay, eager—to let everybody else in on it. That's why Tempest has a track of its own this year. It's why you get to choose between a lively 4 and a 325-cu. in. We aim to please—and if we do say so, we're pretty accurate. *Optional at extra cost.

The "Missus" walked into the room where I was reading the paper. The other day and asked how I liked the new hat she was wearing. I glanced up from the paper and asked, "What hat?" From the position where I sat I could not see a hat, but after arising from the chair, adjusting my 'specks' and giving her the "once over," I finally discovered a brown spot, about the size of a saucer perched on the back of her head. Now I would like to pass on a suggestion to the "fairer sex" in regard to hats. . . . My suggestion would be for the ladies to pin a crisp, new $10 or $20 dollar bill to their hair, and call it a hat.

This suggestion probably would not meet the approval of hat shops, but I am willing to lay odds it would meet with satisfaction of husbands. And here is another advantage, when the "ten spot" became soiled or crinkled, the wearer could take it to the bank and replace the old bill with a new one, consequently having a new hat; neither would the closets be littered with discarded hats. Just think how "chic" the ladies would look wearing a green frock with a new $20 bill pinned to the back of her head. There might be one drawback to my suggestion . . . Uncle Sam would have to print bills in assorted colors to match the ladies' dresses.

I can't see what keeps the ladies from freezing . . . but then I guess I am not supposed to.

When a man pays special attention to a woman it's an indication he wants to marry her. When he pays no attention to her, it's a sign he has married her.

Those beautiful illustrations in seed catalogs are there just to show you what the stuff would have looked like if it had come up.

This scribe oftentimes hears men speak ill of the town in which they reside. Instead of being a booster they say things against it. If we stop to think . . . towns are made up of people, and if anything is wrong with the town, then it is the people—not the town.

When the wife first asked me for money, she wasn't a bit excited. In fact she was calm and "collected."

Daffynitions: The public is a body of people surrounded by politicians.

Many people mistake this scribe to be younger than I really am. Perhaps the reason for my light quick-step and youngness of looks is due to the fact that when the Missus and I were married some thirty years ago we entered into an agreement that when I came home of an evening if I was in a quarrelsome mood, I would keep my mouth shut, and if the wife was in a quarrelsome mood, I would get my hat and go for a walk in the great outdoors—consequently I have lived an outdoor life ever since.

So the readers will not get the wrong impression . . . my wife is very thoughtful . . . in fact everytime I come home late at night the little woman gets my pipe, slippers, pajamas . . . and anything else that is handy and lets me have it.

"How" writes a distracted parent "can I convince my daughter that the young man she goes with is worthless?" Answer—have her marry him.

Santa Claus is the only man who pays any attention to silk stockings when they are empty.

Aunt Petunia says the best way to get a wart off your hands is to marry him.

Then there is the fellow who read a sign, "Drink Canada Dry" . . . and a few days later reported "that's impossible."

Most little girls soon learn that crying gets things out of their system and out of their daddy.

A peeve that irks this scribe is the many off-brand cigars on the market these days. I like a good, popular brand cigar, but most of the time when I gaze into a cigar counter, there are so many peculiar brands and names staring me in the face I don't know whether to give up smoking or not. Not mentioning any of the new names attached to the present-day brand cigars—they sound something like this: "El Stinko," "One Puffo," and you wish to the hell-o you've never tasted "It-O," "No-Burn-O," etc. Yep, for our part they can just scuttle the whole lot of

Haskell Sponsored

The young man from Abilene currently is on a speaking swing through the entire North Central and Northwest Texas territory appearing before Rotary clubs which sponsored him.

New Zealanders, Arden said of the medical assistance program run by the government there, have complete freedom of their choice of doctors, and the doctor is under no obligation to the government in the practice of his profession. Under the system, the government pays to the doctor a basic fee, which more or less covers his own fee to the patient. This averages slightly more than $1 American money underwritten by the government, and the normal doctor's fee to the patient is five shillings, or about 75 cents. These fees are in a country where the average wage earner's salary is from $2200 to $2600 annually. Choice of public or private hospitalization is given, with the government underwriting a portion of the private service.

Both doctors and laymen say government medical help is working in New Zealand, but Rotarians there told Arden it is costing more money than originally intended. There is no shortage of doctors, and medical schools are turning prospective physicians away, he said.

These and many other interesting morsels of information were provided by the Rotary Fellow about this country, once called the social welfare laboratory of the world. In New Zealand, where government owned post office, telephone, telegraph, railroad, and government operated airline and one insurance company exist, the people say they like it because they are "alleviated of a lot of worry," Arden pointed out. His only objection to it was a complete lack of service on weekends with the New Zealanders keeping general welfare state hours.

Cost of the medical assistance and other government programs in New Zealand is borne by a straight across-the-board 7 1/2 percent tax on net income regardless of the amount made, Arden said.

Arden's discussion of New Zealand also included the country's topography, government, economics, and politics. He concluded his talk with a brief travogue of a 70-day bus trip enroute home which took him from India over the Himalaya mountains to Pakistan to the Middle East and Europe.

A Hardin-Simmons University product, Arden was an honor graduate there in 1960 and also was an all-Border conference basketball player. He enters Oklahoma University January 21 to continue work toward a PhD in political science. Before he goes to Norman, he completes a speaking schedule to Rotary clubs which include: Abilene, Friday; Eastland, Monday; Vernon, Tuesday; Brownwood, Wednesday; Wichita Falls, today; and Graham, Friday.

Haskell Rotary President E. J. Stewart presided Thursday and introduced David Anderson, high school Rotarian of the Month and Sandra Letz as guests.

Tom Barfield gave the invocation and Desmond Dulany introduced the following visiting Rotarians: Past District Governor Jim McCulloch, Weaver Medlin, Tom Adams, and K. K. Francis, all of Stamford, and A. B. Youngblood of Abilene.

Porter Oakes, new editor of the Haskell Free Press, and Stanley Furrh, insurance and real estate man, were introduced as new Rotarians.

Bob King, Haskell school superintendent, presented the speaker.

James Sims Rites Held At Hopewell Baptist Church

Funeral services for James Sims, 70, Haskell resident for 14 years, who died last Wednesday night in the Veterans Hospital in Big Spring, were held at the Hopewell Baptist Church here Monday afternoon. The Rev. Jackson officiated and burial was in Willow Cemetery under direction of Holden's Funeral Home.

A native of Paris, Texas, Sims came here in 1948 from Missouri. He was a veteran of World War I and served in the Meuse-Argonne area overseas. He was married July 23, 1944, in Kansas City, Kansas, to Harriett Lovelady, who survives him.

Wayne Bradfords To 'Live it Up' In Mexico Next Week

Those Frazier fandanglers have done it again. The Barney Fraziers have won another trip to Mexico. It's gettin' to be a habit. However, they are deferring to the Bradfords, Britta Kaye and Wayne, whose contribution to the outstanding sales and service achievement for which the trip was awarded, is an established fact.

The Bradfords will leave Dallas Saturday on a Mexicana Airlines Flagship for a flight to Mexico City. There they will be met by airlines officials who will assist them through customs and escort them to the swank and elegant Hotel Alameda.

The Haskell tourists will see the floating gardens of Yochimilco, the bullfights at the Plaza de Toros, and a full day will be spent in "doing" delightful Mexico City.

A flight to Acapulco will take them to the El Cono Hotel at the ocean's edge. There they will lounge on the beach, play golf, drink in the sights. A nighttime cruise of Acapulco Bay will be one of the highlights of the trip, when they will observe world renowned divers plummeting from cliff tops into the ocean surf.

Deep sea fishing will be one of the orders of the day, and a chartered cruiser will take the Bradfords in search of fighting salt water game fish.

Following three days and nights in Acapulco, they will return to Mexico City where a farewell party in their honor will herald their return to reality.

After such a week, it's debatable whether Haskell will be able to hold the Bradfords.

1835 Folks Here Check on Social Security In 1962

A total of 1,835 persons in and around Haskell took pains in 1962 to find out for sure about their rights and responsibilities under social security, according to Mr. Don Austin, field representative from the Abilene district office, who visits Haskell regularly.

Mr. Austin knows this because he had that many personal interviews on his 1962 visits, with 373 claims applications for retirement, disability, or survivor benefits being filed with him.

He suggests that every person past the age of 62 who has not already checked up on potential social security checks, as well as those of any age under 65 who have become so severely disabled that they are unable to do any substantial gainful work, make certain to see him on one of his future visits here. He is in Haskell every Thursday, at 10 o'clock at the Chamber of Commerce.

Responsible Citizenship Is Need, King Says

Responsibility through civic participation should be exercised to the utmost, Robert R. King, superintendent of the Haskell Public Schools, told the membership of the Haskell Elementary Parent - Teachers Association at its January meeting.

The school superintendent, speaking to the assembly in the cafeteria of Haskell's new elementary school building, declared that in teaching Americanism and better citizenship at home and in school, "the aim should include a wide scope of ideas and opinions."

Means of acquiring better citizenship, King outlined, include: knowledge and political structure; understanding of one's self; awareness of one's responsibility to other people; ability to become a responsible citizen by seeking the truth and acting with reason rather than emotion; belief in God, democracy, and the American way of life.

The speaker said the goal of good citizenship is not easily attained, but "a happy, wholesome group of citizens working together will show that we are attaining our goal."

Supt. King reported that a project is being conducted in the schools to outline methods at each grade level to help students find their niche as a responsible citizen.

Mrs. R. A. Middleton, president of the P.T.A., was in charge, and H. T. Wilkinson, elementary school principal, gave the invocation. A nominating committee was chosen, including Mrs. H. E. Stevens, chairman; Miss Madeline Hunt, and Mrs. Virgil Cobb. They will present their recommendations for 1963-64 officers at a Feb. 14 meeting.

Mrs. Garland Foote's sixth graders won the room count award.

To date, the seal sale in Haskell County totals $735.00 compared with $975.80 last year. Every effort is being made to boost the current final sale; over last year's totals, and cooperation toward this end is earnestly solicited, Mrs. Overton said.
