Large Group Lions Greet Dist. Governor

Area residents dedicated and Sunday afternoon, 100,000 Rice Care Home, an medical center of dedication service and endeavor in need delivered by Rev. pastor of the First...
"300 new members is the goal of District 2E-1," Charles Davis of Wichita Falls, District Governor, told a large and attentive group of Haskell Lions at the Tuesday noon-day luncheon meeting.
This was the first official visit of the new District Governor to Haskell, and he was very enthusiastic about the continued growth of Lionism not only in the United States, but outside the states.
Davis discussed the District Governor elects meetings held in Miami, Florida, during the International convention.
District 2E-1 is composed of Comanche, Erath, Eastland, Callahan, Taylor, Shackelford, Jones, Stephens, Palo Pinto, Haskell, Throckmorton, Young, Jack, Knox, Baylor, Archer, Clay, Montague, Wichita, Wilbarger, Foard and Hardeman counties.

T. J. Ballard, Gateway Pusher, Jaycee of Month

Tommy Joe Ballard, manager of the Haskell division of United Industries, Inc., Tuesday night was named Jaycee of the Month and was honored at a Ladies' Night gathering of members of the enterprising civic organization here at the Highway Drive-In.
Haskell's newest "Jaycee Jake," symbolic of a civic producer, was recognized for his leadership as chairman of the Gateway Committee. His group has undertaken, and is near attainment of, a goal to place attractive signs at the four main gateways to Haskell advertising this community as a haven of hospitality for the traveler. Much effort has been expended on the project, as well as $1,000 in Jaycee funds earned in money-raising endeavors for civic purposes.
A film on safety belts was another highlight of the Jaycee Ladies' Night assembly. It was shown by Vice President Jesse Priest, state highway patrolman headquartered here.

Defoliation Talk Slated Here By Cotton Specialist

A meeting to discuss cotton defoliation will be held in the Community Room of the Haskell National Bank here on Wednesday, Sept. 4, at 2 p. m., Haskell County Agent Frank W. Martin has announced.
Latest information on cotton defoliation will be discussed by Fred Elliott, cotton specialist, of Texas A&M University.
What chemicals to use, how much of each to use, and how to apply for good results, all will be explained by the guest speaker from A&M, Martin said.
All area cotton farmers are invited to attend.

Depot Stove May Sizzle In Park By First Frost

Haskell and the area in which this community is the geographic hub is "just before" being delivered "one each" railroad depot, 1906 model, to be moved to and restored in Rice Springs Park here as a museum and tangible reminder of the heritage of the railroad's hey-day.
H. E. Moyer, of Wichita Falls, district superintendent of the Fort Worth & Denver Railroad, sent word through Gene Shackelford, depot agent here Tuesday, that Ellis L. Simmons, of Fort Worth, vice president of the railroad, is ready to have Haskell enter into a "sales agreement" for the purpose of taking over the old depot here. It was Simmons' understanding attitude on the project that resulted in the citizens' acquisition of the nostalgic property.
The name of Abe Turner, president of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce, was immediately dispatched to the railroad's main offices in Fort Worth, and the sales agreement was to be drawn up Wednesday. As soon as Turner signs the "agreement," thus closing the "deal" to buy the train station for $1 from the railroad, the next move, moving of an entire depot, that is, is up to Haskell. The railroad has completed its move into a new structural steel efficiency depot here.
Haskell has been waiting for this green light, signal of a clear track, and has taken on a full head of steam preparatory to "drifting" the depot several city blocks into the city's tree-shaded park for restoration.
Bud Lane, president of the Jaycees here, has been named prime mover supervisor for this project.
Goal of Haskell's Hey-Day and heritage-minded civic "ironhorses" is to have the pot-bellied depot stove, trademark of this and many other landmarks up and down the railroads of the land, heated up, than which there is nothing hotter, and operational in a restored depot here "by first frost."

War Whoop Staff Meeting Friday At High School

There will be a meeting of the Haskell High School War Whoop Staff, Friday, August 30, in the High School Library, at 1:00 p. m., it was announced this week by Mrs. Weaver, sponsor.
Everyone working on the 1963-64 War Whoop is urged to attend this important meeting. Anyone wishing to work on the War Whoop, school newspaper, this year, are also invited to be present at this meeting, Buford Abeldt, editor, stated.

EVENTUALITY

Postmaster Harold Spain has cautioned that service will be temporarily suspended on 2nd and third class matter and 4th class parcel post packages beyond 150 miles, in event of rail strike emergency.

LIFE SAVING VIGILANTES - Pausing below the "shingle" they have hung out on the Courthouse Square pointing up their Operation Rest Stop efforts, which will be an around-the-clock Jaycee project this Labor Day Weekend, are a trio of hard-working Jaycee stemwinders. From left, they are President Bud Lane, Secretary Bill Tomlinson, and Von Marr, chairman of the Rest Stop operation.

Jaycees Gird, Gear For Sane Safety Vigil Of The Year

Haskell Jaycees, recipients of statewide recognition last year for a similar service above self, are girded and geared for a life-preserving effort again this Labor Day weekend with an around-the-clock "rest stop" vigil on the main arteries leading into Haskell.
Jaycee President Bud Lane said two of his chief cohorts, Von Marr and Herman Cupp, are heading-up a Rest Stop brigade which will man a "coffee-break and rest haven" on Highways 277 and 24 for travel weary transient motorists traversing the highways in nerve-tangling Labor Day weekend traffic.
In addition to coffee and light refreshments, Haskell Jaycees manning the rest-stop stations will not overlook the opportunity to "make a pitch" for their home town, Haskell, "haven of hospitality on the highway," not only Labor Day, but every day," according to Jaycee President Lane.
Those who shake hands with Haskell Jaycees during the prosecution of this project, and there will be many, judging by the 1962 coffee-break experience, will find, in addition to a warm greeting, thus transmitted, a palm full of engaging invitations to return here. Literature proclaiming the reasons why "when you stop, you should stay" in Haskell will be distributed to the wayfarers who pause here, Lane said.
The coffee and refreshment servers, who also will dispense the Haskell hospitality fare will work on a shift system all night Friday, all night Saturday, and most of the night Monday, the last night of the long Labor Day weekend in covering their "rest stop beat."
Chairman Marr, and his "right hand," Cupp, have announced the following personnel to keep the safety vigil beginning Friday at 6 p. m.:
Friday-6-8, Bud Lane, Jimmy Hamsz, Bob Lowrance, Willard Mullins, and Tom Watson.
8-10 p. m.—Lyndon Harris, Huey Bledsoe, W. D. Larned, Tommy Matthews, Duke Dixon.
10-Midnight — Joe Warren, James Hawkins, Wallace Wooten, Wilda Medford.
12-2 a. m.—Herman Cupp, Von Marr and two to be named.
2-4—Billy Jack Ray, Jesse Priest, Ken Neeley, Jewel White
4-6—Leland Thane, Bobby Druessedow, Cliff Morris, Virgil Cobb.
Saturday
6-8 p. m.—Tommy Joe Ballard, Vernay Teague, Glen Keiger, Cotton Foster.
8-10 — Waymon McBroom, Kimmy Browning, Bill Tomlinson, Wilbert Klose.
10-Midnight — Glenn Sammons, Allen Rieves, Curtis Cox, Wayne Liles.
12-2 a. m. — Jerry Sorrells, Clyde Bartley, Jerry Jetton, Buck Everrett.
2-4—David Strickland, Don Garrett, L. B. Ivy, Wayne Wainscott.
4-6—Bobby Jenkins, Biggon Drinnon, Ken Lane, Porter Oakes.
Monday

CLASS OF 1964 WILL BE 79TH IN HISTORY OF HASKELL HIGH

This building belonged to Mike Tucker, according to R. E. Sherrill's "History of Haskell County," and the front end of it was used for a feed store while the family lived in the back end. Desks were boxes in which goods had been shipped.
Seven children were enrolled in Haskell's first school 78 years ago. Their names were Philetton Smith, Ernest Smith, Will Hills, Clyde Hill, Jim Tucker, Earl Standefer, and Cue Standefer. The school ran for four months, and it was duly recorded as the first school in Haskell County.
There is a woman in Haskell today, whose connection with Haskell schools began but seven years ago.

When the Class of 1964 begins its "run for the sheepskins" starting next Tuesday at Haskell High School, it will be the beginning of the 79th consecutive school year in this community.
Haskell, by most West Texas yardsticks, is rather aged in the "noggin." One hundred and five-year-old Haskell County, which didn't have a white settler in it at the time it was surveyed, got its first formal type schooling in 1885.
In the spring and summer of 1885, Miss Mollie Holms conducted a school in a shed room on the side of the building on the southwest corner of the public square here.

Seymour Stop Is First On Indian Glory Road Route

Haskell High School's 1963 Indian Warriors hit the rugged road leading to a destination of hoped-for gridiron glory next Friday night, Sept. 6, against Seymour's Panthers at Seymour.
This blast-off into orbit of the football fortunes for the 1963 edition of the Indians will be followed in weekly succession, except the weekend of October 11, with nine games, culminating with the collision with arch-enemy Stamford Bulldogs on Nov. 15. Of course, the prayer on the lips of the pigskin parade watchers here is that there will be more games after that date.
The layoff October 11 is the week preceding the opening of District 6-AA play.

WCS Looks To Exciting Year Of Witness, Service

"Witness Through Service" will be the 1963-64 theme for the Woman's Society of the First Methodist Church of Haskell.
The WCS here met Monday at the church to plan an exciting year of witness and service which will begin Sept. 23.
Mrs. C. J. Robinson, president, is in charge of Monday's business sessions, at which officers gave reports and presented plans for the year.
Mrs. Ellis Todd, wife of the pastor, directed the program that followed and told of literacy conditions all over the world. Only 50 per cent of the world's population can read and write, she reported.
Mrs. D. H. Persons gave the meditation using scripture from "Leaves of Gold."
On September 23, Mrs. E. T. Pittard, of Anson, will lecture and show slides of her world mission tours. Mrs. Pittard is secretary of Foreign Work of the Board of Missions. Studies which will be a part of the year's program are "The Christian Family A and Its Money," "The Three Spiritual Classics," and "The Christian Mission in Southern Asia."
Other programs will include a book review by Mrs. Ken Barnes of Wichita Falls, a World Service play presented by a high school group, "Recruitment, A Concern of the Whole Church," "Where Does A Christian Woman Volunteer Her Time?" "What Does A Christian Woman Read and When?" and "The Church Speaks, Or Dies."
Two love offerings will be taken during the year for three missionaries whom the Haskell church helps support. They are Miss Joyce Hill, director of a hostel in Buenos Aires, Argentina; Miss Naomi Hare, director of a student hostel in Monterrey, Mexico; and Miss Pat Dillon, teacher in Sao Paulo, Brazil.
The Haskell Methodist women have made a pledge of $775.50 to missions. This will be a part of more than $92,000 pledged by the Northwest Texas (See "WCS Looks To" Page 10)

Auction Hums In 400-Head Run

With the market continuing "good and strong," according to Haskell Livestock Owner-Operator Tommy Ray Foster, for the second straight Saturday, another banner bunch of cattle were hemmed up in the pen pattern as the weekend sales total soared above 400 at the new auction ring here.
Thirty hogs also traded hands in Saturday's selling at the new auction facility less than a mile from Haskell's south city limits on the Stamford Highway.
The number of out-of-town buyers converging here for second sale since opening of the Haskell Livestock Auction on August 17 was tangible evidence of the recognition being given the well-facilitated new layout here, Foster pointed out. The professional buyers came from afar to participate here after opening day resulted in more than 800 cattle being sold, 700 of them straight off the farm, it was explained.
Experience of the first two weeks' operation gave healthy signs that the attraction of sellers straight from the grass-roots will be a magnetic and interesting one in Haskell, and this attraction, in turn, will lure the buyers in strength, observers here said.
The territory around the Haskell Livestock Auction plant and pens teemed with people from early to late Saturday, and the influx of buyers and sellers was felt visibly in downtown Haskell for the second consecutive Saturday.
A restaurant addition to the original 40x60 building housing the scales and ring was not quite finished for last Saturday's showing, but sandwiches and soft drinks were transported from town and made available there for the convenience of the crowd. Foster said Monday he has been assured the restaurant will be finished and operational by next sale day, Saturday, August 31.

B&PW Kicks Off Activity Year With Reception

Mrs. Luther Burkett, past president of the Business and Professional Women's Club of Haskell and supervisor of instruction in the Haskell public schools, Tuesday night keynoted the opening meeting of the 1963-64 activity year of B&PW here with a stimulating discussion of the history and principles of the organization.
The initial meeting of the new year was a reception honoring business and professional women community-wide in Haskell, and the hostesses were the officers and committee chairmen of the Business and Professional Women's Club here. The event was held in the Community Room of Haskell National Bank, with Mrs. Charlie Redwine, new president, in charge.
Flinging out a ringing challenge to women to find their niche in responsible community life, Mrs. Burkett emphasized the importance of affiliation with an organization like B&PW to coordinate efforts toward community achievement benefiting everyone.
The pinnacle goal of B&PW, Mrs. Burkett declared, is "to make of Haskell a better place in which to live, and our activity agenda for the next nine months will always keep that goal in view."

Cub Scout Building Nearly Finished After Contagious Community Effort

Response to a community-wide appeal for help in completing a half-finished "den" building for Haskell Cub Scouts has been so hearteningly spontaneous, "the goal of financing the Scouting structure by school opening time "is in sight," R. V. Black, chairman of the building committee, said Tuesday.
Black, new commander of the American Legion post here, and chairman of the Legion-sponsored Cub Scout Building project, reported the roof being placed Tuesday on the compact edifice behind the American Legion Building near Haskell's Rice Springs Park. Queen Roofing Company, in a generous civic gesture, is doing the job and underwriting all but $40 in labor of the roofing portion.
Kennedy Lumber Company, also answering without reservation the call for assistance on the faltering project, has donated a generous amount of lumber for the roof decking and rafters.
Two weeks ago, the partially finished brick building, its top open to the sky and its walls only half as high as the plans set out, was an eyesore here. Tuesday, following a weekend "work-sprees" by volunteers imbued with civic zest to finish the job, the Cub Scout building neared completion. Volunteers to whom all credit is due for unselfish community effort, who worked feverishly most of last weekend, included Herbert Fischer, Black, L. Q. Greer, T. J. Brueggeman, Leo F. Hutson, John Long, Johnny Smith, and a son of Herbert Fischer whose name was not immediately learned.
In addition to these firms and individuals putting a community shoulder to the wheel, Shesman's Floors and Interiors has offered to furnish the tile and the labor to lay tile on the floors; Fred Brown and C. E. Oates, two civic spirited citizens, have contributed $25.00 each; and a total of $25.00 has been collected from sales of blankets donated by the Duncan Gin Company toward money-raising efforts in connection with seeking the building completion.
Many other firms and individuals have joined the American Legion and the Haskell Jaycees, both of which organizations laid hard earned cash on the line in behalf of the Cub Scout cause, in a contagious upsurge of community cooperative effort during recent days.
"We are fervently grateful to each and all," said Black, "and I know the current Cub Scout generation and many generations to come join me in this heartfelt expression."

They Got Worked Up . . . Everything Worked Out

When a group of citizens gets worked up over a project that has merit, everything is going to work out, even though most everyone gets worked over in the process.

We wish everyone in the area in which this town is the geographic hub could have been at the board of directors meeting of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce last week. Such spontaneous sessions, unrehearsed and unsolicited, are a kick right in the heart. This town needs more of them.

A Chamber of Commerce should be the showcase of a community into which any and all of the most gimlet-eyed may take a dissecting and discerning look. Our Chamber of Commerce showcase, it seems to us, has a little more gleam to it these days, and when one looks through it, the things one sees come more sharply into focus and more quickly. It's because it has been sprayed with the "cleaning fluid" of enthusiasm, and polished with a little elbow grease.

A meticulous marvel of an organizer who managed our Chamber of Commerce for five and a half years until recently worked on that showcase a long time getting the grime and rust out of the corners, and getting some order out of the disarray that was piled there. Her successor, to whom she handed the dust cloth and cleaning compound, already is demonstrating his custodial community-mindedness.

Last Tuesday, the results of the depot removal and restoration project and the concerted campaign of the Chamber's Industrial Committee to support a water line to the new Haskell Livestock Auction were announced. "To boot," a report was made on the status of the Chamber-United Fund sponsored scholarship effort for deserving students.

All three were specific instances of a citizenship of a community opening its collective heart and pocketbook in productive civic endeavor.

We already have recorded our feeling about the countywide support given Hey-Day and we know, once the depot is moved and restored, those who backed the effort will have tangible evidence of the good they did.

In like manner, it already is most evident to those who supported from the pocket, the Industrial Committee's determined drive to get water to the Haskell Livestock Auction, that this was one of the best investments a person can make in this town's future. They deserve public thanks for this unwavering backing.

In the two Saturdays the Haskell Livestock Auction has been operational, all roads seem to have led to Haskell, and EVERYBODY is benefitting. Tommy Ray Foster has brought a new industry in full bloom to this town, and it is apparent at the beginning, the economic impetus it has created will continue.

The projects cited here, and the successful culmination of them, show what a town can do when it puts its collective shoulder to the wheel. And it's "catchin'."

Our fervent hope is that we STAY worked up . . . to work out MORE of the same. It will be the community's gain.

Getting Up . . . And Over

Back in World War II, when some of our nation's most courageous pilots were flying the "hump" in the Asiatic war zone, the aim and object of their missions was to get "up and over" to deliver the goods.

Today, when a member of the 82nd or 101st Airborne Division, U. S. Army, meets another, one thunders, "Airborne," and his fellow crack paratrooper roars back, "A-l-l-l the way!" . . . dragging out that a-l-l.

With another school year beginning here in our compact little community next Tuesday, the 79th school year in the history of Haskell High School, we cannot help but be reminded of some of the parallels which may be drawn between the pride of the military and the challenge which presents itself to our student population here as they cross the threshold into another school year.

The alarming rate of dropouts among students these days is the nut of this brief declaration.

Haskell is blessed with dedicated and able leadership in its school system, and this leadership is a patient one. No student, however itchy footed or unsure of himself, should entertain the thought of abruptly curtailing the pursuit of an education which is here for him to obtain.

That education is as necessary these days as food and water to sustain one's self. It furnishes the fuel to GET UP AND OVER the obstacles, the challenges, the heartaches, of living, and to STAY AIRBORNE ALL THE WAY on one's mission in life . . . and we make but one pass at the "target," you know.

Besides, if we may be forgiven for our sentimentality, and a pride and sense of BELONGING such as that exuded by a military man in his outfit, we think there can be no higher praise than to be able to say next May: "I am a graduate of Haskell High School, an institution of learning that wears a mantle of maturity and accomplishments, already 79 years deep in the heritage of West Texas achievement."

Oakescripts A Pencil Pusher's Potpourri By PORTER

Soul-stirring stories of the miners trapped alive in Pennsylvania bring back haunting memories of the little girl, 3 or 4 years old, who fell into the well 10 years or so ago. Our best recollection is that her name was Kathy Fiscus Remember? The desperate and all-out effort to save her prompted poetry, and song, some of which lived long after the incident in the hearts and minds of the people of the nation.

James Norman, a fair-minded sports scribe of that city to the south of us, says that the season for the blizzards is fast approaching—the Winters Blizzards, that is, who are supposed to descend upon and freeze out all other "elements" in District 6-AA football, better known as the "Little South-west Conference," because of its dog-eat-dog demeanor on the gridiron.

James was nice enough, however and furthermore, to leave open a door that three other 6-AA members, among them Haskell, might shut on the swirling Blizzards. And, like Andy Griffith, we "pre-shate his liberal and lateral views." Cause that's just what we think the Haskell Indians, the love of whom we have to keep us warm, Winters Blizzards or no, are going to do. The determined band of Warriors we've seen out knocking heads for the past week and a half causes us to know this will be so. And we've got the low-down from the high-ups—the railroad route—on this, too. With sideline strategists who know the Indians best, it's Haskell by a hair.

The privilege of writing up our third "three score" years' wedding anniversary in recent months in which the principals were married while seated in a buggy, which we understand was common practice in the pre-automobile days because of distances to churches and lack of a "hall," brings to mind the story of the couple which got lost while hunting the parson. A dreamy-eyed couple decided to take the big step, and set off together, horse and buggy style, to find a preacher. They became lost and didn't find the sky pilot for two days. It was a good thing neither party backed out, they agreed, because after spending "the last two nights out together, marriage became a necessity," one of them decisively declared.

Understand someone overheard the daring, daylight brush bandits who robbed Dr. Frank C. Scott, who is quite a plucky gentleman, by the way, singing, "What Lola Wants, Lola Gets . . . Except What We Got First!"

Two definite trends have been established as a result of the startling robbery here last Monday: There have been more doors locked here in a week than in many a year prior to, and bank deposits have risen sharply.

Also, a new bulletin has flashed across the fashion horizon: Dad 'n Lad Ties Stay Tied. They Prevent That Slipped-Up Or Slip-Shod Look.

Best story to come out of the Big Robbery in Haskell is the one in which a certain sterling citizen here was discussing the "haul" with Joe Pouns, astute, alert, and loquacious newspaperman from Abilene. Said the Haskellite businessman, "I think I'm gonna take up robbing." Replied Joe, "That's not news. You been doin' that for 20 years."

Two of the most consistently used terms in military slang-usage, we learned, in South Carolina recently, are to "lay it on" (start the project) and "back it" (get the job done pronto). We figure the General Delivery Man at the U. S. Post Office (that's the best kind) in Spartanburg, S. C., was so surrounded by military that their manner of speech saturated him. A letter written the Pencil Pusher was forwarded from Spartanburg to "Hack-ell," Texas. But the discerning postal employes "hacked" it without raising any hack-ella over the matter, and we got our letter. Besides, everyone knows where Haskell is—haven of hospitality on the highway, Varmintown, U.S.A., home of Hey-Day, site of the Big Robbery, etc.

The Free Press has inherited, temporarily at least, a round table, a real collector's item, upon which reposes the coffee urn in our "lounge." It is the acquisition of a lady of grace and taste for whom we have more than a casual regard. No, it's not the Pencil Pusher's wife—someone else's. We are enamored of this lady, and also of her round table.

Round tables intrigue us. Maybe it stems from our worship of King Arthur, his Knights, and Ol' Excalibur. Our contention is that this type article of furniture, whether chipped knotty pine or Chippendale, lends itself to compatibility. You can just get things settled better around a round table. More people can get in on the deal. That's the gregarious coming out in the Pencil Pusher. You can't square off into a battle around a round table. And you can't get cornered either.

The round table and cornering kick reminds us of the tour we took last summer of the campus of the University of Alabama with a friend of 25 years, fraternity brother, and college buddy, Dr. Frank Rose, the able president of the University and one of the outstanding men of statesman stature in this nation today. We were driving along sorority house row, and stopped in front of the Delta Delta Delta House. It was three stories high and round as a full moon . . . quite a unique example of architecture.

We were discussing the house . . . and Tri-Delts, who were a perky and pulchritudinous passel of charmers in Frank's and my day on our campus. Said Frank, "Don't you think that house is appropriate for them, Porter? How many Tri-Delts were you ever able to corner?" P. S. We both went with Chi Omegas.

The Apple of Our Eye (what-ever became of BABY Jane?), our 16-year-old swooner, pardon our prejudice, had a high-heel time here before starting back to the books, thanks to the attentive courtesies of some ingratiating girls and genteel gentlemen of the younger set in Haskell. She was impressed by the fact that Millie Holden's Daddy is named Bill, because a certain Bill Holden with another address, is one of her idols. Come to think of it, our Bill Holden, suave and debonaire today, probably was known as the "Poor Man's Rudolph

Haskell County History

30 YEARS AGO
August 31, 1905

A deed was filed yesterday by Hardy Grissom and G. C. Carothers changing title to 8,000 acres of land in Haskell County. The land is part of the Colbert Ranch property known as the old Queenie Taylor ranch and was recently acquired by the Dallas Joint Stock Land Bank.

A truck was backed up to the barn of R. H. Rife, farmer living near Sagerton, Friday night of last week and about 50 bushels of wheat was hauled away. Mr. Rife was in town Monday morning and reported the theft to officers who are working on the case.

Deeds transferring the title to the second largest ranch in Haskell County this week were filed in the office of County Clerk Jason W. Smith Tuesday morning. The property consisted of 12,353 acres in the southeast corner of Haskell County and a portion of the property in Shackelford County. The lands comprised the old Proctor Ranch and were bought by T. G. Hendrick of Taylor County. The consideration was given at $153,000 and the deed required $161 of government revenue stamps.

A. H. Wair and L. B. Watson have purchased the gin plant of the Farmers Gin Company from the Haskell National Bank and other mortgage holders and are rebuilding the plant and placing the gin in shape for the coming season.

In the statewide election held last Saturday, Texas was the 23rd state to vote for prohibition repeal, also legalizing sale of 3.2 beer.

Haskell County voters said "no" on local option, relief bonds, legalizing beer and repeal of the 18th amendment. They approved the amendment exempting homesteads up to $3,000 from state and county taxation, and the Home Rule amendment.

A one-cent advance per gallon in the price of gasoline has been announced by distributors of all major refineries. Prevailing prices for the three grades of gasoline handled by local stations are 15 1/2, 18 1/2 and 20 1/2 cents per gallon.

John Bell, Haskell's saddle and harness man, returned this week from a visit with relatives at Rusk and Nacogdoches.

Mrs. L. Alston and daughter of the southeast part of the county, were in town Thursday visiting and shopping. Mrs. Alston recently returned from New Mexico where she had been looking after her sheep interests. She says Texas beats New Mexico in every way.

P. G. Yoe has taken a position in the livery stable with A. D. English, the popular livery man.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Pierson, after spending several weeks with relatives here, have returned to Emory, Texas, where Sam looks after his father's livery business.

R. B. Fields, R.D.C. Stephens and W. J. Sowell are off on a fishing and hunting trip on Paint Creek this week.

W. A. Earnest, the Munday gin man, has announced he will gin the season's first bale free, and Munday merchants will give a $25 shotgun and cartridge belt as a premium.

Haskell merchants are preparing to put in a very complete stock of dry goods for the fall trade. It is their purpose to make Haskell one of the best trading points in this section of the state.

J. A. Price of the northeast part of the county sent the Free Press a large beet Tuesday as a sample of what his part of the county is doing in the vegetable line. The beet weighed 12 3/4 pounds, was 19 3/4 inches long and measured 17 1/2 inches around at the largest point.

The Haskell boys' baseball team, feeling like champions after beating Stamford last week, went up to Munday, where the Mundayites took it out on the local team 12 to 10. They have matched another game with Munday this week.

50 YEARS AGO
(August 30, 1913)

Dick's Theatre is now showing every Friday night, "The Texas Tattler," a film made by the Alamo Film Company of San Antonio, and is a concise digest of Texas events of state-wide interest.

George E. Courtney and family have moved back to Haskell from Stamford. It will be remembered that a few weeks ago Mr. Courtney suffered the misfortune of his broom factory burning. He will not rebuild for a while so has moved back to his home here and will be in charge of the Farmers Supply Co. store.

Mr. A. W. McGregor was seriously burned with carbolic acid a few days ago and is confined to his bed. As we have it, he had a bottle of the acid in his pocket for the purpose of using it to dehorn a cow, and the cork came out of the bottle and saturated his clothing. He was seriously burned before an antidote was applied.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott Key have returned from an extended trip during the summer. Mrs. Key spent three weeks in New York City while away.

Twelve autos from Rule paraded in this city one day during the carnival. The car of Will Hills was decorated with fine ears of corn plucked on the way to Haskell from the fields.

Mrs. Eunice McKelvain has returned from an extended visit to Dallas and Oklahoma. Lost: A leather hitch rein near my lot gate. Oscar Martin.

We are requested to announce that Elder A. R. Lawrence will begin a ten days' meeting at the Church of Christ, located near the North Ward School building Saturday night, August 30th.

The marriage of Mr. Frank Moore and Miss Ruby Beavers, both of this city, took place at Waco last Sunday morning. They left immediately for Yorkum where Mr. Moore has a position with a railroad company and they will make their home in that city.

Couple Who Married Seated In Buggy "Still on The Go" After 60 Years

A Haskell couple who got married seated in a buggy by a justice of the peace observed on their sixtieth anniversary here that "it took as well as a wedding with a lot more planning to it, didn't it?"

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Edwards were honored with an open house at their home, 1200 North Ave. D, by their children and their families. Members of the family serving as hosts and hostesses were Mrs. Una Essex, of Oxnard, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Herman Edwards, Live Oak, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Edwards, of Plainview, Texas, and Mrs. Cliff Lewellen, Dallas. Another son, Glenn Edwards, with the U. S. Army at Fort Rucker, Ala., was a host in absentia.

Also attending the "three-score" wedding celebration were several grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. David Ewton and children, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Lewellen and children, and Jerry Lewellen, all of Dallas.

More than 50 guests called during the afternoon bringing gifts and enjoying refreshments and a sixtieth anniversary cake which was cut by the "bride."

Four generations of the Edwards family were represented at the reunion occasioned here by the 60th wedding anniversary event.

Both "bride," the former Ethel Meredith, and "groom," are natives of Middle Tennessee and grew up in Wayne County, near Waynesboro. They have lived in Haskell for the past 38 years, since 1925, and are members of the Primitive Baptist Church.

Getting married in a horse and buggy has its advantages, Mrs. Edwards said here Friday. "We got married on the go, and have been going ever since."

Prattle

By AL HINDS

AL HINDS

Another good one comes from friend Mike Campbell, retired newspaperman and one time employee of the Haskell Free Press. Mike said that years ago back in Scurry county a group of citizens could not find any one to run for the office of Justice of Peace, and finally they approached a big, brawny blacksmith about running for the office. Although the blacksmith was a well thought of and upright citizen, he tried to wriggle out of it with excuses he did not have the experience, education, and was not qualified for the job. The citizens finally got the fellow to run for the office and he was elected. After trying his first case the lawyer told the newly-elected Justice of the Peace that he must charge the jury. So, the former blacksmith approached the jury and said: "Fellows, I have known all of you for years, and I hate to do this, but you heard what the lawyer man said... that I must charge the jury... so, I am going to let you off just as easy as possible, and I hereby charge you four-bits apiece."

Our good newspaper friend, James Hill, publisher of the Knox County Herald, Knox City, owes this scribe an apology, or at least a cup-a-coffee. In his "Just Talk" column last week, Jim said that Prattle must have had Knox City's Postmaster mixed-up with some one else when I remarked in this column not long ago that Jeff Graham, on occasions, came to the Knox County Herald office to help get the paper in the mail. No, Jim, my memory did not lapse, nor did I get Jeff mixed-up with some other town or some other postmaster. You see, the incident happened before you became publisher of the Herald. I well remember, while I was on the Herald staff, good 'ole Jeff not only helped roll single wraps, folded papers, etc., but did all the mailing-out while Rene and Jimmy Branch were vacationing.

Some gleanings from "Effen's Reactions Column" from the Duluth Publicity, Duluth, Minnesota, may be found in today's Prattle. It wasn't that this scribe was too busy or too lazy "to do it myself"... but I thought that some of Effen's Reactions were so good that I would pass a few of the clever sayings on to the readers of this column.

An Indian petitioned a judge of an Arizona court to give him a shorter name. "What is your name now?" asked the judge. "Chief Screeching Train Whistle," answered the Indian. "And to what do you wish to shorten it?" asked the judge. "Toots," the chief replied.

Another danger in walking on a cloud is that it may be a fog settling on reality.

It's really too bad, comments the Aynden Tribune, that future generations can't be here now to see the wonderful things we are doing with their money.

An Englishman living in Italy makes a point of going to a dentist in Switzerland. He explains that "It is not safe to open your mouth in this country."

To live happily in the country one must have the soul of a poet, the mind of a philosopher, the simple tastes of a hermit... and a good station wagon.

Seems like parents spend the first part of a child's life encouraging him to walk and talk. The rest of his childhood they spend in getting him to sit down and shut up.

A feller gets married, (due to lack of judgment), divorced (due to lack of patience), and then remarried (due to lack of memory).

Cosmetics are a woman's means of keeping a man from reading between the lines.

The creation of the world is told in Genesis in 400 words. The Ten Commandments have 97 words, and the Declaration of Independence has 1,821. But a Government pamphlet used 2,500 words to announce a reduction in the price of cabbage seed.

In Africa native tribes beat the ground with clubs and utter blood-curdling yells. Anthropologists call this primitive expressions. Here, we call it golf.

There are some persons who are beginning to argue that if God had intended us to walk we would not have been born with automobiles.

A new novel is described by critics as being sincere, refreshing, and clean. The author said to be in despair.

Class of 1964---

(Continued from Page 1) years later. She is Ola Frazier, mother of Woody and Byron Frazier, of Haskell, who went to high school here in 1892. Her memories, vivid ones, of school days in Haskell, date back 71 years.

Concurrently with the holding of the first school in the shed room, a small school house was erected in the south part of town, and the first school building housed the first school taught by James A. Rubie, beginning in the fall of 1885. Site of the school was determined by the population's thickness around Rice Springs, the watering place that became Haskell, and along the spring branch.

The funds for the first school building were raised by private subscription. W. F. Draper and A. C. Foster, both unmarried men at the time, being especially active in pushing the project through to successful completion. The lumber was hauled to Haskell from Albany and the work was done by the citizens of the community.

In this same little building was organized and conducted the first Sunday School class, with A. C. Foster, superintendent, and J. L. Jones, teacher of the Bible class.

Rubie was followed in the spring of 1886 by Tom Jones as teacher for a few months. Following Jones was D. James, with Miss Nellie Martin as assistant teacher for a few months in the early fall of 1886.

Beginning January 1, 1887, J. P. Lamar, with Miss Martin, taught a public school until April 8, 1887. It was during this school year that a pattern of "formalized education" evolved.

A school board with Lamar at the helm announced the text books to be used and the rules to be observed.

The textbooks included Butler's Grammar, McGuffey's Readers, Barnes' History, Montie's Geographies, and Webster's Spellers.

And Rule 6 in the Haskell scholastic code said, "Each pupil shall have equal rights and privileges, and no pupil will be allowed to impose on one another."

By and large, as the pupils stand at the threshold of the 79th year of public school in Haskell, "Rule 6" still remains the prevailing one.

CONGRESSMAN PURCELL ASKS REQUESTS FOR NEWSLETTER

Congressman Graham Purcell of the 13th District of Texas, serving a considerable portion of the Northwest-North Central Texas territory, has issued an invitation from Washington asking for more interested citizens to request his bi-weekly newsletter, and for more of the people of his district to send their opinions concerning legislation to him.

The Congressman, in a message to the Free Press, made three specific declarations concerning his evaluation of the responsibilities of a Congressman, and said, "in an effort to meet these responsibilities, I am making this personal request to you asking that you issue an invitation from me to your readers for the names and addresses of people who are sincerely interested in receiving my bi-weekly newsletter from Washington."

With additional interested people receiving his newsletter, "I hope to stimulate more of our citizens mailing their opinions to me," Congressman Purcell added. He said he hoped to run opinion polls when important legislation is being considered by the Congress.

In evaluating his responsibilities to the people, Congressman Purcell said: "I believe that every responsible Congressman must do everything within his power to keep in close contact with the district he represents; I believe that a conscientious Congressman must keep his constituents informed of his activities so that they may continue to judge his performance in their behalf; I believe that a good Congressman must do everything possible to learn the views, ideas, and opinions of his constituents so that he might better represent his district."

The Congressman concluded, "Of necessity, I must spend most of my time in Washington over a thousand miles from home. I want, in spite of this distance, to keep in close contact with the people of my district, so I may know their views and so they will know and understand my actions in Congress. The Congressman's address is 1219 House Office Bldg., Washington."

Paint Creek Boy, Explorer Scouts Win Swim Honor

Boy Scouts and Explorer Scouts of the northern district, Cibalola Trail Council, held a swim meet recently at the city pool in Stamford, with the Paint Creek Boy Scout Troop 45 and Stamford Explorer Post 47 emerging victors in their respective divisions.

In the Boy Scout event, Paint Creek amassed 22 points to win, followed by Stamford Troops 40, 42 and 39, in that order. Trinity Baptist Church of Stamford-sponsored Troop 47 led the field in the Explorer division, with Paint Creek Explorer Post 48, second, with 13 points, and First Methodist Explorer Post 40 of Stamford, 3rd.

Paint Creekers making points to earn their win in the Scout division included Mike Wright, 2nd, free style; Randy Wiseman, 1st, back stroke and breast stroke; Terry Lowery, 3rd, side stroke; Darrel Crouch and Dean Andrews, first, tractor race; and Johnny Josselot, Randy Wiseman, J. F. Cadenhead and Mike Wright, second, in the relay team swim.

In Explorer events, run across the width of the pool twice instead of once as with the Boy Scout events, the following placed: Larry Leach, 2nd, free style; Jack David Thompson, 2nd, back stroke; Johnny Josselot, 1st, side stroke; Leach, 3rd, breast stroke; and Wayne Cadenhead, Josselot, Wiseman and Wright, 3rd in relay team swim.

Adults attending the Stamford meet from this area were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Josselot, Earl Wright, Mrs. Roy Wiseman, and Roy Wiseman, assistant scoutmaster.
