TDC utility lines may push project into August date

By DONNY BROWN SDN Managing Editor

It now appears the completion Daniel Unit northeast of Snyder will fall in August, while builders of the prison say they are now on target with a construction completion date of June 27.

The city has been ready to seek September, but only last week received a verbal go-ahead from the Texas Water Development Board (TWDB) to advertise for the utility lines.

With authority to move forward received, these bids are to returned to the city by Jan. 19.

The project involves laying some 5 miles of sewer and water

Burglary suspect arrested

A 23-year-old Snyder man was arrested early Tuesday for burglary of a business in connection with a Dec. 12 break-in at Acme Furniture Store at 2109

Ray A. Reyes of 902 28th St. was taken into custody about 12:30 a.m. Tuesday at the police station, and a city detective said another man is also being sought in the case.

Reyes' bond was set at $3,000 Tuesday morning by Justice of the Peace Dan Callaway

He is accused of breaking into the store, owned by Sadie Shy, and stealing a large amount of clothing and tools.

The detective said information gathered during the investigation about Reyes' possible involvement in a burglary of a vehicle and the theft of a purse in Sweetwater had been forwarded to the Sweetwater Police Department.

He said the second suspect in the Snyder case had been identified but not apprehended.

The city council is expected to date for laying utility lines to the consider these bids at a Jan. 23 meeting, but final approval must still come from the TWDB, the agency which will issue some $2.7 million in revenue bonds to pay for the lines.

A six months construction bids on the work since period is estimated, but this cannot begin until TWDB approval of the bids is received.

With an estimated 30 days required to study bids, completion of this part of the project is now possibly pushed to August.

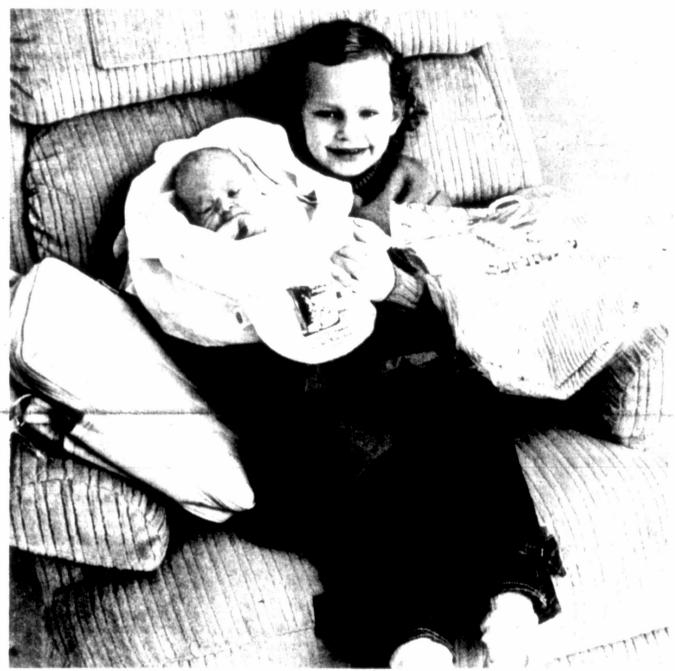

"We're looking at construction to begin March 1," said City Manager John Gayle.

To move the project along as quickly as possible, city officials have asked TWDB to expedite its consideration of the bids if possi-

The time frame involves four months to complete an elevated storage tank facility at the site and six months to lay the lines.

The work will involve laying two utility lines-a sewer and a water line--to the prison site. Also involved will be the construction of a lift station for the sewer line and a pump station for the water line as well as the erection of the 150,000 gallon overhead storage

The test becomes the almighty thing," said Bob Baker, president of Classroom Teachers of Dallas. "You're teaching to a specific test, which is, by nature, limited."

Dallas Independent School District officials deny issuing such orders, the Dallas Times Herald reported.

State education officials, who have taken note of such complaints in Dallas and other Texas school districts, agree that some overzealous schools might be compromising the test's original purpose, and the state plans to change the exam because of that.

The test was introduced in Fall 1985 as part of the sweeping education reforms. It was designed to pinpoint students' weaker areas so districts could correct them, but was not designed to measure the quality of education in a district or become the focus of months of class work, state officials say.

That, however, has been the result.

"We're going to change the test because of these kinds of things," said Keith Cruse, director of the Texas Education Agency's student assessment division. "It's become clear to us that there is a different use being made of it."

The plans include testing during the fall, rather than spring, to reduce the amount of time teachers can spend on pretest drills. Also, questions would be selected from a broader range of material, forcing teachers to making their wedding plans, Rhonda Hufford and Todd Kellermann chose musicians, pink dresses and gray tuxedos. And they were tested for AIDS under a year-old law some officials say isn't worth the cost.

The nation's only premarital AIDS testing law may not be a law much longer, primarily because, like the Kellermanns, the overwhelming majority of those tested have shown no signs of the virus that causes acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

Illinois' mandatory testing program took effect Jan. 1, 1988. But only 23 of the 150,000 people tested in the first 11 months were found to be infected with the virus, the state Department of Public Health said.

That's about one in 6,500 tested. The cost of the AIDS test in Illinois, including the doctor's visit, ranges from $25 to $125 per person, said state Health Department spokesman Tom Schafer. Based on a "conservative" $35 per test average, the cost of finding each of the 23 infected people came to more than $228,000, Still, to receive a marriage license for their June wedding, Kellermann and Ms. Hufford, a nursing student, had to show the Macon County Clerk's office a certificate verifying they had been tested.

"I'm easygoing about it," said Kellerman, a 22-year-old Springfield computer analyst. "As long as they make it a law; there's not much you can do about it."

But the law has resulted in a 25 percent drop in the number of marriage license applications in

"They don't want to take the AIDS test," said Janet Hudacek of the Lake County, Ind., clerk's office, which has seen a six-fold increase in the number of Illinois residents seeking marriage licenses. "Mostly it's the cost."

To the north, in Kenosha County, Wis., officials are selling more marriage licenses to Illinoisans than to Wisconsin residents.

Through Dec. 8, they said, 1,073 Illinois couples got married in Kenosha County — 51 percent of all licenses issued. The previous year, 58 Illinois couples were married there of 1,021 licenses issued, said Michelle Riley, a clerk in the county offices.

Because the number of people with AIDS infections detected through premarital testing is so low and the cost so high, Turnock plans to recommend to Republican Gov. James R. Thompson that the law be scrapped. Democratic state Rep. Grace Mary Stern, who was rebuffed this spring in efforts to dump the testing law, has filed legislation for this session to end the testing.

Long suit is wrong suit

By James Jacoby

The result of this deal left declarer in a shell-shocked state, puzzling over what he could have done. The opening lead went to East's heart nine, and declarer won the queen. In a routine manner, without a care, South attacked his longest suit by leading the queen of diamonds. East won the king and returned the 10 of hearts. Declarer let this hold the trick but had to win the continuation. He then cashed the remaining diamond tricks. Although declarer could take the ace and king of clubs, he was still one trick short, so he played a spade to the king. West gobbled up the ace and quickly took two more good hearts to set the contract.

For a much better chance at making the contract, South must play against the grain. Instead of trying right away for many tricks in diamonds, he should at once try to set up a spade trick by leading the king. Sure, West will take the ace and clear the heart suit, but declarer can hold up taking his ace until the third round. Then, when he takes the diamond finesse and loses to East's king, East will have no more hearts to play, and the contract is safe. Does this line of play guarantee the contract no matter what? No, but there is risk only if West led from three cards in hearts, and East held five hearts originally. Not

Linda Shatney was the featured guest at the December meeting of the Deep Creek Chapter of American Business Women's Association held at The Texan:

Shatney, a Snyder native, recently returned home after living in New Hampshire for 14 years and Japan for two and onehalf years. She graduated from Snyder High School in 1964.

Shatney's mother, Lois Black, is a former member of ABWA and Shatney studied nursing under an ABWA scholarship. She received her RN degree from Odessa College and did work on her BSN at the University of New Hampshire. She is currently employed at Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

Shatney began singing at public events about three or four years ago and began her program with a Christmas medley. Other pieces were "What Child Is This?", "Oh Come, All Ye Faithful," "Silent Night," and "Silver Bells."

UCLA sends Hogs squealing

DALLAS (AP) - Arkansas Coach Ken Hatfield said it was not as much what UCLA quarterback Troy Aikman did but the fear of what he might do that made for a long day for the Razorback defense.

"Their offense is more of a runthe-ball and short passing game, but the thing that scares you is that Aikman has such a tremendous arm and you have to stop the long pass," Hatfield said Monday after UCLA defeated Arkansas 17-3 in the Cotton Bowl Classic.

"You're aware of the potential every down that if you don't cover deep that he can open up the game," Hatfield said.

The Southwest Conference champions were geared to prevent Aikman from beating them with the big play, but UCLA put together drives built around the running of two young backs and Aikman's short- and mediumrange passing.

The Dallas Cowboys have the first pick in the 1989 NFL draft and are expected to use it to take Aikman.

Cowboys personnel director Gil Brandt was waiting for Aikman at the edge of the field after the game and congratulated him on the victory.

"I thought he played well, real well," Brandt said.

"Coach Landry will be the one who makes the final decision, but I would be shocked if we don't pick Troy Aikman," Brandt add-

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Twice in the fourth quarter, fourthranked Florida State stopped Auburn with big defensive plays, the second preserving a 13-7 Sugar Bowl victory.

On fourth down at the Florida State 9-yard line with 7:58 left in the game, Howard Dinkins broke through and caused Auburn quarterback Reggie Slack to draw a penalty for intentional grounding.

Then, after Auburn drove from its own 4-yard line to the Florida State 22 in the final minutes, Deion Sanders outwrestled Auburn's Lawyer Tillman to come up with the game-saving interception - the fifth Auburn turnover of the game.

"People usually out-tough us. We are usually more of a finesse team," Florida State Coach Bobby Bowden said. "But that didn't happen tonight."

Sammie Smith, named the game's outstanding player, rushed for 116 yards, the first time in more than two years that a back gained over a hundred yards against Auburn.

Dayne Williams scored Florida State's touchdown on a 2-yard run, and Bill Mason kicked field goals of 35 yards and 31 yards to cap short drives after Auburn turnovers.

Florida State, noted for its wide open passing offense and trick plays, used a bruising running game and a sturdy defense to force five turnovers.

well as we did. A lot of it was because of the offensive line, and Shawn Wills and Brian Brown were outstanding," Aikman said.

Brown, a sophomore, gained 21 yards in six carries in a 19-play, 93-yard drive that gave UCLA a 7-0 lead in the second quarter. But four of the six first downs on the drive came on Aikman passes of 10, 12, 5 and 9 yards.

Wills, a freshman, contributed a 5-yard run on the drive, then came back with runs of 15 and 18 yards on a 10-play, 74-yard drive ater in the second quarter that padded the Bruins' lead to 14-0.

UCLA, runner-up in the Pacific 10 Conference, had a 22-4 edge in first downs, overwhelmed the Hogs 371-42 in net yardage and kept the ball for almost/43 of the game's 60 minutes.

"The key was the physical play the coaching staff." of our football team," said UCLA nose tackle Jim Wahler.

"We stuffed them. I was shocked. I didn't think we could stuff Arkansas that much. I was very proud of our entire effort," Wahler added.

UCLA senior cornerback Dar-

rish secure national title

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) - Notre Dame's Tony Rice came into the Fiesta Bowl as "the other quarterback." He left it as the game's most valuable offensive player and a member of a national championship team.

Rice, a junior, threw for two touchdowns and a career-high 213 yards as the top-ranked Fighting Irish beat third-ranked West Virginia 34-21 Monday to cap an undefeated season that netted the school its eighth national title.

"All week long, people kept talking about how great a quarterback (West Virginia sophomore) Major Harris is. But I always felt Tony Rice is the best quarterback in the country," Notre Dame linebacker Wes Pritchett said. "I thought he proved that today. I don't know of any other 12-0 teams this year, do

Rice completed seven of 11 passes, including a 29-yard scoring strike to wide receiver Raghib Ismail late in the second quarter and a 3-yard jump-pass to tight end Frank Jacobs early in the fourth quarter for a 34-13

Rice also rushed 13 times for 75 yards off the option as the ghting Irish rolled up 455 yards in total offense.

"We found ways to put some points on the scoreboard and found a way to win," Notre Dame coach Lou Holtz said. "Rice had a great day. I told everybody he was throwing the ball better in practice this week and he threw the ball better in this game than he has in the past. But Tony was the same easy-going guy he always is in the huddle. That never changes." Rice wasn't bothered by all the pre-game hype centering on Harris, who threw for 1,749 yards and 13 touchdowns during the regular season, compared to 1,176 yards and eight touchdowns for Rice.

The Fighting Irish limited the Mountaineers to 282 yards and Harris to 14 completions and 174 passing yards.

"We felt we had to keep Major contained as much as possible," Holtz said. "He had to disrupt their rhythm on offense, stop their power running game and stop their long passes. That's what we did."

1988 gave us quite a few decent Democratic Justice Lloyd Dogmovies and a host of good performances, though there were no flat-out great movies. Some of the following may not have played in your neighborhood, but most are, or will be, by the way that we interpret and available on home video. The best movies of 1988 (in alphabetical handle the decisions that we have order):

A WORLD APART - This directorial debut for cinematographer Chris Menges has a beautiful, bracing simplicity. 80 percent of wreckage of plane located in Scotland

- Police said today that 80 percent of the wreckage of the sabotaged Pan Am Flight 103 has been located, including part of the tail section and a radio distress beacon.

Police superintendent Angus Kennedy said only 20 percent of the jet's wreckage has been recovered, due in part to the rough terrain around the Scottish town where Boeing 747 crashed Dec. 21 after a bomb blew it apart.

Kennedy said 124 of the 242 bodies recovered from crash have been released to relatives, up from the total of 81 bodies that had been released by Monday. All 259 passengers and crew aboard the plane and 11 people on the ground were killed in the explosion and crash.

T. Allen McArtor, head of the U.S. Federal Aviation Administration, arrived in London and called for tightened security on all American flights operating out of Middle East and European airports.

A London newspaper, The In-dependent, reported searchers around Lockerbie found luggage belonging to a Lebanese student whom news reports have said may have unwittingly carried the bomb aboard.

The Independent quoted an unidentified searcher as saying part of a zipped holdall contained the identity card of the student, Khalid Jaafar, 21, and a roll of currency "from a country in the Middle East."

"It (the luggage) was clearly nowhere near where the bomb exploded," the newspaper quoted the searcher as saying.

Jaafar's father, Nazir, who lives in Dearborn, Mich., has denied speculation in U.S. and British newspapers that his son may have been duped by terrorists into carrying the bomb aboard. The student was living in Frankfurt, where the flight to New York via London originated as a Boeing 727. It switched to the jumbo jet in London.

on the newspaper report. West German authorities said today the bomb was in the plane's forward cargo compartment but that it was unclear whether the bomb was put aboard the flightin London or Frankfurt.

"All of the luggage from Frankfurt was in that compartment, as well as some of the luggage from Heathrow," Frankfurt prosecutor's spokesman Hubert Harth said.

Weak signals from the plane's radio distress beacon, located earlier but not retrieved, were picked up Monday by a search and rescue satellite crossing Britain, said Kennedy. He said the beacon, which fell several miles outside Lockerbie, was probably triggered by a switch that reacts to water and was set off by rain.

Kennedy said bodies identified Monday included that of Briton Ingrid Smith, whose husband, Pan Am pilot Bruce Smith, has accused local police of being "paralyzed by inexperience and incompetence" and of delaying Line construction

The uncertainties are important as the economists look at all crop prospects, but they are particularly vital for feed grains and how this year's output might affect livestock producers.

Economic Research Service says in the January-February issue of Agricultural Outlook magazine the acreage of corn and other feed grains is expected to increase in 1989 because of a relaxation in the government's land- tinue to be pegged to roughly 90 idling requirements.

The program changes, he said, could add 8 million to 10 million Rains listed tings. In all, the corn area for month by month acres to this year's corn planharvest next fall could be in the range of 67 million to 69 million acres, compared with an estimated 56.7 million harvested

Last year's corn production was 4.67 billion bushels, down from 7.06 billion in 1987 and 8.25 billion in 1986. Yields averaged 82.3 bushels per harvested acre, compared with more than 119 bushels per acre in each of the two previous years.

"Many estimates of 1989 corn yields range from 110 to 115 bushels per acre, although these forecasts may be weighting the 1988 disaster and potential weather problems a bit too heavily," Hull said. "If weather cooperates (in 1989), yields of 120 bushels per acre are not out of the question, considering long-term trend increases of more than 2 bushels per year."

If that happens, he said, farmers could harvest between 7.7 billion and 8.3 billion bushels

The Communist Party newspaper Pravda said Monday, without giving details of the debate, that some scientists involved in the project joined con-sumers upset by food and clothing shortages in questioning the value of the program.

In the years before scientists here revealed their own shuttle program, they assailed the U.S. project as too costly and of questionable use. Many Soviet scientists said they could gain the same goals with more standard, single-use rockets.

Pravda said in a full-page article devoted to the development and testing of the Soviet shuttle that a "major rethinking and a fierce clash of ideas, concepts and proposals are under way" even within the space shuttle pro-

HAVANA (AP) - Fidel Castro's revolution has eradicated much U.S. influence from Cuba, but certain vestiges defy 30 years of Communist rule. Thousands of revolutionary era American cars, for example, still negotiate the roads. Washington imposed a trade embargo in 1960.

Cubans hang on to their rundown Fords and Chevies because later model Russian-made Ladas are only available to a limited number of Cubans. Castro says widespread use of private cars is a luxury Cuba cannot afford.

Thus, antiquated as they are, U.S.-made cars are still prized possessions. The driver of a beatup 1948 Chevrolet said he turned down an offer of about $10,000 for his car. U.S. cars a decade older routinely go for twice that price, equivalent to about five years pay for the average worker.

More than a million Cubans have fled the island since Castro came to power in 1959 by overthrowing the rightist dictatorship of Fulgencio Batista, but the traffic goes both ways. Many have returned, and about 200 Americans have even settled on the island.

A documentary about nine such Americans was shown on television the other day. One was a rock singer, and several others were involved in teaching music and dance.

A Christian missionary here since before the revolution says Cuba has given her the chance to carry out the Christian ethic of a life in service to others. Service and self-sacrifice: the same messages Castro has preached to his countrymen for 30 years.

A visitor has trouble sorting out the conflicting claims Cubans make about their revolution.

According to government statistics, enrollment in colleges and universities has increased nine-fold since the year before the revolution.

A Havana University law student identified only as Gladys was quoted in an interview with Bohemia Magazine as saying, "Young people feel secure about their future. They don't live in uncertainty as to whether they will be able to continue their studies or whether they'll be able to find a job afterward. Sometimes I wonder if it isn't all too easy."

There are, however, some clear signs of discontent. A rock group caused a sensation recently with a song called, "El Hombre Esta Loco" (The Man is

When the group sang the song in mid-November at a local theater, a crowd of thousands broke into a rhythmic chant, repeating the title over and over. Witnesses said the crowd had discovered a clever way of venting anti-Castro feelings without leaving themselves open to charges of anti-government ac-Government radio stations stopped playing the song, but it can still be heard on Radio Marti, the U.S.-funded Voice of America station beamed to Cuba.

Castro shuns the notion of high salaries as an inducement for hard work, but he has allowed an alternate form of material incentive in an effort to remedy Cuba's terrible housing shortage.

A Cuban who is unhappy with his existing home can take a leave of absence from his job and volunteer for work on an apartment construction crew. The worker is paid the same as on his normal job, but hours usually are much longer — up to 70 a week.

The payoff is that the worker, after two years of arduous labor, is entitled to move in to one of the apartments he worked on. He uses about 10 per cent of his income for mortgage payments, and the apartment is his after about 18 years.

Many Cubans say the country's food-rationing system does not provide enough to eat.

An embittered 30-year-old who was once caught trying to escape to the United States in a boat spent three years in prison. He said he now fishes illegally for lobster to support his family

The government prohibits domestic consumption of lobster because it is a big source of badly needed foreign exchange.

Church-state relations are now better than they have been in years.

The government expelled 600 priests as counterrevolutionaries in the early 1960s, but now is inviting some back. Thirty returned last year.

Several thousand Cubans attended a high-spirited Mass on New Year's night that was said by a papal emissary, Cardinal. Roger Ethegaray of France.

When he asked the congregation what he should tell Pope John Paul II, a loud and spontaneous chant rose up: "That he come, that he come.'

The pope's visit is expected in

Tires cut on vehicles

Police Tuesday investigated several vehicle vandalism cases from late Monday or early Tuesday which occurred in the 3400 and 3500 Blocks of Irving Ave.

Patsy Hart of 3404 Irving and J.T. Price of 3500 Irving reported that tires had been cut on their 1981 Pontiac and 1969 Ford.

Tires had been flattened on vehicles belonging to Al Young of 3401 Irving, Gerald Culpepper of 3405 Irving and Calvin Goebel of 3501 Irving. As of Tuesday morning, it was not determined if these tires had actually been cut.

scleroderma? DEAR READER: Scleroderma is a chronic, often fatal disease of unknown cause, marked by diffuse scarring in many of the body's organs, including the skin, joints, intestinal tract, heart, lungs and kidneys. The disorder varies in its severity. In most cases, it is progressive. It typically starts as skin thickening and moves into serious problems as internal tissues become affected.

The characteristic manifestations are known by the acronym CREST: C: Calcinosis (an abnormal buildup of calcium deposits in skin and R: Raynaud's phenomenon (sporadic interruption of blood flow to fingers, toes, ears and nose). E: Esophageal dysfunction (difficulty swallowing and heartburn).

S: Sclerodactyly (deformation of the hand bones and muscles). T: Telangectasia (permanent widening of groups of small blood vessels in the skin). Other abnormalities may be present in scleroderma. These include lung damage causing difficulty breathing, skin ulcers, heart irregularities and cardiac degeneration, weakness and loss of muscle, liver disease, maldigestion and kidney failure (the major cause of death). Diagnosis is usually made by biopsy

> But the U.S. government has concluded that Esposito is the man named in an extradition request from Italian authorities.

> The document charges that Esposito ordered or committed through June 1983 while holding a top post in the Nuova Camorra Organizzata, a criminal clan similar to the Mafia that operates in and around Naples, near Esposito's hometown of Acerra, "Esposito is big fish," said

Italian Judge Vicenzo Scolastico, who was involved in the investigation of the organization.

"As a member of the (Camorra's policy-making) Council of Nine, Esposito had or disappeared.

"He is one of the last great Nuova Camorra figures still at large, and if he ever decided to talk, he could cast light on many unsolved crimes," Scolastico added in an interview with The Chicago Tribune.

Esposito was arrested in March 1987 as he and several employees finished lunch at Bravissimo, the modestly successful restaurant he and his wife opened in May 1986. He also worked as a chef there, and earlier had worked as an auto body repairman, car salesman and sausage-maker.

He entered the United States in 1984, had no trouble with the law and appeared to have been what he claimed - a contented, hardworking immigrant whose sweat earned him a growing business and a home in the suburbs. He earned enough money to send his children to parochial schools.

But all that changed with people strangled. Some had to dig Esposito's arrest. A lengthy court fight drained his resources and forced his family onto publicaid rolls. He also said his prison confinement has worsened a heart condition. "The authorities make him out to be a one-man crime wave,' said Esposito's attorney, Philip Parenti, "and for all that, there is not one eyewitness, one photograph, one fingerprint.

There is not one piece of corroborating evidence, except for the pentiti.'

Assistant U.S. Attorney Thomas Scorza argued that even though some informants' criminal histories might raise questions, those matters are best addressed in Italian courts.

These successes and warming U.S.-Soviet relations have made the United Nations "a better place for the United States to do business," Walters said in a farewell interview

The former deputy head of the Central Intelligence Agency said the U.S. view of the world body, once hostile and disdainful, has changed to appreciation. "If pro-perly handled," Walters said, "the U.N. can be advantageous in Walters also said he believed the United States will pay about $400 million in arrears. He has opposed U.S. withholding of U.N. dues to protest what Washington of full funding.
