Big chill to linger...

Arctic cold front arrives here with 10 degree reading

From Local, Wire Reports
As expected, the coldest readings of winter to date were recorded in Snyder early Friday morning with the mercury dropping to 10 degrees.

Wind gusts created a wind chill of zero or below, but relatively dry conditions kept city and area streets and highways ice free.

The Arctic cold front which had temporarily stalled north of Lubbock Thursday struck locally after nightfall. It is expected to linger through the weekend with Saturday here predicted to be cloudy and cold.

The mercury is not expected to rise above the mid 30s on Saturday with winds of from 10 to 20 mph and gusty.

The dry conditions Friday had Snyder school buses running on schedule. At mid-morning, the only school trip cancellation reported involved a junior high girl's basketball tournament in Andrews.

Friday morning, bitterly cold air spread across Texas from the Red River to the Rio Grande, leaving much of North Texas coated with 1-2 inches of ice.

In the Valley regions of the state, Texans were scrambling to protect their property from a hard freeze that threatened the fruit crop.

A freeze warning is in effect Friday night for the Lower Rio Grande Valley and middle and upper sections of the Texas coast as well as in Southeast Texas and South Central Texas and temperatures will be in the teens to single digits across North Texas Friday night.

Lows in the Valley Friday night will range from the lower 30s in western portions to the 40s along the immediate coast. Those temperatures would not be cold enough to cause severe damage to the area's multi-million dollar citrus crop.

A sleet storm that moved across North Texas Thursday night left streets and highways covered with ice, making travel treacherous and forcing widespread closures of schools and businesses across the area.

Schools at Dallas and Fort Worth as well as many others in the area were closed Friday. Many businesses closed or announced they would open late.

Forecasts called for bitter cold through Friday night over North Texas and West Texas. It will be cloudy with generally declining temperatures statewide through Friday night. Some snow flurries are expected through Friday night over West Texas north of a Midland to San Angelo line.

A strong north wind at 10-20 mph was common across the state with much higher gusts reported across North Texas. The wind combined with the low temperatures to produce wind chill factors in the minus 30s over the Panhandle, minus 20s in the South Plains and in the teens north of a line from Midland to Waco to Paris.

Lows Friday night will be mostly in the 20s and 30s. Highs Saturday will be near 20 in the Panhandle to the mid 30s Permian Basin and Concho Valley.

Early morning temperatures ranged from near zero to 5 below in the Panhandle, zero to 10 degrees in the South Plains and in the teens north of a line from Midland to Dallas to Paris and in the 20s, 30s and 40s over the rest of the state except in extreme South Texas.

Other early morning temperatures around the state included zero at Amarillo, 13 at Wichita Falls, 19 at Fort Worth, 23 at Waco, 30 at Austin, 37 at San Antonio, 41 at Houston, 51 at Corpus Christi, 70 at Brownsville, 20 at San Angelo, 8 at Lubbock, 16 at Midland and 49 at El Paso.

Vote set next week...

Pay raise spotlight on House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate's rejection of a 51 percent congressional pay raise places the spotlight on a House leadership plan to legalize the increase next week but scale it back to 30 percent a day later.

The Senate's 95-5 vote Thursday against the raise sent the two houses in different directions, and "no one knows" how the controversy will be resolved, said Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan. "I don't believe we'll know that for a matter of weeks or months."

The Senate resolution included language to roll back the raise if it becomes law and end the system allowing congressional increases, along with those for top federal executives and judges, to become law automatically unless rejected by both houses.

The chief sponsors were Republican Sens. Larry Pressler of South Dakota and Charles E.

Grassley of Iowa.

Also approved, by unanimous voice vote, was a Senate rules change that would ban senators from keeping fees for speeches, articles and appearances. But the ban on such fees, typically paid by special-interest groups, would only remain in effect while senators were receiving the raise.

The Senate action has strong political appeal to a public angry with the size of the raise, but will have little practical effect under House Speaker Jim Wright's plan to let the increase become law automatically next Wednesday.

Wright plans to use a risky parliamentary procedure that requires a two-thirds majority to scale back the raise to 30 percent, and to pass a House ban on speaking fees along with other outside income restrictions.

Even if the Wright plan passed, the Senate would be unlikely to go along.

Tourney to draw 17 schools to city

The first annual Ben Brock Memorial Speech Tournament on the campus of Western Texas College is expected to draw to Snyder some 180 high school students from 17 West Texas schools.

Eight speech competition events will be conducted Saturday with the first beginning at 8 a.m. The contest will serve as a warmup event for UIL literary meets held in the spring.

Serving as tournament director is Jan McCathern, WTC speech instructor, who noted the response to the first tournament has been even greater than expected.

"With 17 schools, we're probably already as big as we can ever get," she said. "There's only so much classroom space on campus and right now we're using all of it."

The event is being sponsored by Delta Phi Omega, the speech-drama honorary society on campus, whose members will be assisting with the contest.

Events will include informative and persuasive speaking, poetry and prose interpretation, Lincoln-Douglas debate, cross-examination debate, duet acting and literary criticism.

The contest will be capped with an awards assembly at 4:30 p.m.

NAACP to observe month

The Scurry County chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has scheduled several events this month in connection with the recently proclaimed Afro-American Month in Snyder.

Local NAACP president Evelyn Malone said the first event will be a candlelight march at 6:30 p.m. Saturday from the old Lincoln School in eastern Snyder to Mt. Olive Baptist Church.

A celebration ball will begin at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 11 at the Willow Park Inn, with admission at $5 per person.

An Afro-American heritage program will be at 7 p.m. Feb. 18 at Mt. Olive Baptist Church, and the NAACP's state president will speak during an association banquet at 7 p.m. Feb. 24 in the Western Texas College Student Center, where admission will be $7.50 for adults and $5 for children under the age of 12.

A training seminar will be conducted from noon to 4 p.m. Feb. 25 in the WTC Student Center.

Valentines due exhibit

Valentines and heart-shaped souvenirs are featured in an exhibit set to open Sunday in the Scurry County Museum.

Many of the items displayed were loaned for the exhibit by Jo Flynn from her collection of hearts. Others are from the museum's permanent collection.

Mrs. Flynn has loaned such souvenirs as a reverse applique heart-shaped box from Laos, an embroidered will box from Hungary and a papier-mache box from India and Scherenschutte, traditional paper cuttings from Germany.

The exhibit is to remain in place through the month of February and can be seen during regular museum hours Sunday through Friday. There is no charge for admission.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "In the good ole days, life was what we made it. But now it's a matter of if we make it."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors: Gene Dow told in the Colorado City Record about the recent observance of his 33rd wedding anniversary. He said you know you've been married when:

- You begin to speak in your own private language, such as "Remember the guy who did that thing with that watchamacallit at that place?" and your spouse understands every word.
- The biggest "my hero" glance you've gotten all month came after you fixed the garbage disposal.
- You buy flannel pajamas...and wear them while eating dinner.
- Your wife no longer lets you finish her dessert at restaurants.
- Your feminist wife who used to insist there should be no difference between male and female roles looks up from a box stamped "assembly required" and says, "You do it, it's a man's job."

- Your spouse no longer even bothers to say, "Do you mind?"
- You accept the fact that your husband will never close doors, kitchen cupboard or pick up those cards that fall out of the 16 magazines that he subscribes to.
- You both weigh the same, and nobody cares.
- Despite your vows to have a modern marriage, you naturally fall into traditional jobs. He takes out the garbage, she does the cooking, he does the household repairs, she does the grocery shopping, he does the yard work, and she becomes the foreman.
- You get separate remote control TVs.
- You remember your wedding date, but have to think a moment to remember the year.
- You remember your wedding date, but can't remember why.

Proof of the pudding:
You can be certain your wife's a lousy cook if she serves milk of magnesia for dessert.

Photographs by Bill Murchison, Western Texas College photography instructor, are to be shown in an exhibit opening Sunday in the Western Texas College Fine Arts Gallery.

A reception open to the public is scheduled from 1:30 until 3 p.m.

The photographs in the exhibition are of historic homes and sites in Nacogdoches and were published in "Nacogdoches, Past and Present: A Legacy of Texas Pride" during the Texas Sesquicentennial celebration.

The exhibit is to remain in the WTC gallery through Feb. 24 and can be seen without admission charge on weekdays.

Murchison joined the WTC faculty last fall, coming to Snyder from Odessa.

Ask Us

Q — Where may I call or write to check on the many non-profit organizations that seek financial support through the mail?

A — Consumer protection in Texas is handled through the consumer protection division of the Office of the Attorney General. The address is P.O. Box 12548, Capitol Station, Austin, Tx. The phone is (512) 475-1801. Local postal officials also note that by checking how the parcel is mailed will offer a clue if the organization has a tax-exempt non-profit status issued by the IRS. Such organizations may mail at a lower non-profit rate and this fact is marked on the parcel. If the group mails "bulk rate," which is marked also, chances are they are not non-profit.

In Brief

Heart test

DALLAS (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements is expected to undergo an angiogram examination of his heart today at Baylor University Medical Center.

Clements, 71, drove himself to the hospital Thursday night after flying to Dallas from Austin.

Clements said physicians told him the tests are part of a routine check-up since he suffered a mild stroke last July.

"I feel wonderful," he robustly told reporters as he marched through the hospital lobby to the elevators Thursday night.

According to medical experts, angiograms are most often used to determine whether arteries or vessels are narrowed or blocked, and how seriously so.

Space shuttle

HOUSTON (AP) — NASA should be able to go ahead with two upcoming shuttle launches despite a decision to delay one of them so workers can replace suspect turbopumps, a top space agency official says.

"I think we're in good shape," Rear Adm. Richard Truly, NASA's associate administrator for space flight, said Thursday. "We'll (the Discovery mission) fly sometime in the middle of March."

Singers' sculpture unveiled

PORT ARTHUR, Texas (AP) — An unveiling of life-size sculptures of rock'n'roll stars Buddy Holly, Ritchie Valens and J.P. "Big Bopper" Richardson overwhelmed some family members, who say the trio would have been honored by the artwork.

On Thursday — the eve of the 30th anniversary of the men's deaths — the singers' relatives gathered here for a private showing of the sculptures. Later today, there will be a public unveiling and concert in nearby Beaumont, where Richardson once worked as a disc jockey.

All three were killed Feb. 3, 1959, when their small plane crashed in bad weather near Clear Lake, Iowa, en route to a concert date in Fargo, N.D.

At the time, Holly was a giant on the fledgling rock'n'roll scene and his death became known as "The day the music died." Valens was a budding star famous for his hit "La Bamba." Richardson's disc jockey character was known as "The Big Bopper," and he recently had earned a gold record for his hit song "Chantilly Lace." The song, still a favorite on oldies rock stations, begins with the Bopper booming out his trademark "HELLO BAYYYYYYYY-BEE!"

Thursday night's unveiling overwhelmed some of the family members who had gathered for the ceremony.

"This is really an honor," said Maria Elena Holly, Holly's widow. "I have no words to express. It is very touching. He would be so proud. He would be crying to be in such good company."

"There's no way I can express," said Bob Morales of Watsonville, Calif., Valens' brother. "He'd love it. It's the most beautiful thing he could see."

Two sisters, two brothers and 13 other relatives of Valens made the trip from central California to Port Arthur for the dedication.

"This is really wonderful," said Irma Padilla, who was 6½ when her brother, Valens, was killed. "We live for my brother. At the beginning we didn't want to do things like this. It was too difficult. But the time now has come."

Another sister, Connie Alvarez, 38, said the family still cries when they hear his music. "We miss him," she said.

J.P. Richardson III, son of the Bopper, was unable to make the family ceremony. Richardson, who lives in Houston, has been researching his father's life for the past 14 months.

Accused man in 'land flip' scheme

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Three men were arrested in connection with what federal agents described as the largest bank fraud case in South Texas history.

A federal grand jury indictment, made public on Thursday, alleged that the men defrauded San Antonio-based Suburban Savings Association of more than $5 million in an elaborate "land flip" scheme that financed a takeover of the thrift with the thief's own money.

Investigators said Leo A. Ladouceur, 35; David D. Gonzalez, 34; and James L. Eakins, 43, hid the takeover from regulators by listing the shares they purchased under the names of old schoolmates and others.

Eakins, who was identified as the former vice president of the thrift, claimed poverty and requested a court-appointed attorney.

The arrests are the first of what federal investigators say will be many throughout the spring.

Ladouceur and Gonzalez were charged in the indictment with 23 counts of bank fraud, misapplication of funds and making false entries in financial records. Eakins was indicted on 18 of the counts. Each count carries a maximum sentence of five years imprisonment and a $250,000 fine.

Ladouceur was jailed pending a preliminary hearing Monday. Assistant U.S. Attorney Ray Jahns said Ladouceur committed some of the offenses while he was free on bail from a previous bank fraud charge.

Gonzalez was released on a $50,000 unsecured bond, and Eakins, who now lives in Austin, was released on a $25,000 bond.

Court records show that Ladouceur was indicted Feb. 17, 1988, on four counts of bank fraud involving four allegedly forged $10,000 certificates of deposits presented to Citizens Frost Bank.

The majority of the funds described in the indictment were obtained through two separate real estate transactions involving the purchase and sale of 96 repossessed homes in San Antonio between December 1987 and March 2, 1988.

Through their company, Triad Financial Corp., also called Associates Mortgage, Ladouceur and Gonzalez allegedly took loans from Suburban to buy the homes and then took further mortgage loans from Suburban to finance the home "purchases" by straw buyers. The straw buyers were allegedly paid for the use of their names on the documents.

The indictment alleges that $3.4 million was disbursed by Suburban in one day for the purchase of 57 homes in the names of four people who had received cash to be nominee borrowers, or "straw buyers."

The loans were then allegedly re-arranged on the books by Eakins to avoid the scrutiny of the Suburban's loan committee. Eakins allegedly was the loan officer on all the transactions. As the mortgage packager, Ladouceur and Gonzalez also collected $996,882 in closing fees, the indictment alleges.

The money collected in fees and loans was allegedly used to buy ownership shares in Suburban under various names. Investigation sources said that Ladouceur and Gonzalez had controlling, but not majority, interest in Suburban through the spring and summer of 1987. State regulators discovered the alleged fraud in October and turned the case over to the FBI, they said.

Followers want column blocked

CHICAGO (AP) — Jailed political extremist Lyndon LaRouche has filed a lawsuit to stop distribution of a newspaper column that he says could incite other inmates to harm him because it calls him a "cat-killer," a lawyer said.

The column by Mike Royko, syndicated through the Chicago Tribune, contends that LaRouche followers have killed cats of LaRouche opponents — a claim LaRouche followers deny.

"I hope that this column finds its way to his fellow inmates," Royko wrote in the column, printed Monday in the Chicago Tribune and distributed to about 500 newspapers. "They should know that they have a cat-killer in their midst. And I hope any cat-lovers among them do whatever they feel is appropriate."

not a drop of conservatism. Still, the slam certainly had reasonable prospects. After ace and a spade, declarer ruffed, played to dummy's ace of clubs and ruffed a club. He played the diamond ace, shedding the last spade from dummy. Now he led a heart to dummy and ruffed a club with the ace of hearts. Since the clubs were still not set up, declarer now had a choice. He could play a heart to dummy and simply give up a club for down one, or he could ruff a diamond to dummy, ruff one more club, and then ruff another diamond to dummy. If he could then draw the defenders' remaining trumps with the last high heart, the slam would be made. If not, the defenders would take the rest and he would be down two. That was an easy decision. He was not doubled and not vulnerable. So he played for the hearts to split, and down he went.

Nothing good can be said about South's rash decision to go to slam. He was lucky to have as good a play for the contract as he did, and he fully deserved his fate when he went two away.

WWII guerrillas in Norway to receive commendations

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — More than four decades after 19 American guerrillas parachuted into a snowy, remote valley in Norway to harass retreating Germans, King Olav V is awarding them the Deltakermedaljen — the highest military decoration that country gives to foreigners.

Fourteen survivors will receive the medal Sunday. One is former CIA director William Colby, who commanded the guerrilla operation.

"He was a very hard taskmaster who emphasized physical conditioning and was highly respected by each and every one of us," said William Coulehan, who is organizing this weekend's reunion of the Office of Strategic Service's Norwegian Special Operations Group.

Coulehan, an El Paso native, was a member of the group, but was not allowed to parachute into Norway after he was weeded out during cross-country ski training in the mountains of northern Scotland.

"Some of us ... never learned to ski fast enough to stay with the authentic Norwegians," he said. "After weeks of training, it became apparent some of us would be more hindrance than help on the actual operation."

Coulehan was dispatched to China, where he participated in guerrilla operations against the Japanese. The commandos who made the grade in Scotland parachuted into Norway in March 1945, where they blew up bridges, disrupted communications and generally made war hell for the Nazis.

Colby was one of the few guerrillas of non-Norwegian descent to go on the operation. Most of the commandos were U.S.-born children of Norwegians or had been Norwegian sailors out to sea when the Nazis invaded their homeland.

The sailors were interned in the United States, and some took U.S. citizenship, joined the Army and were assigned to the Special Operations Group.

The Norwegians and Norwegian-Americans spoke Norwegian most of the time during five months of training near Blairgowrie, Scotland, Coulehan said. But all the soldiers had a couple of things in common — they were cold and they had few ways to shake off the boredom.

"British architecture leaves a lot to be desired as far as I'm concerned," Coulehan said. "Wind would blow straight through those windows. There was never enough heat. To relax, we went to Blairgowrie, where there were pubs, and try to drink the town dry on weekends."

The former guerrillas have been getting together every two years since 1979. On this occasion, Rear Adm. Egil Eikanger, military attache with the Norwegian Embassy, will present the medals in King Olav's name at a ceremony Sunday night.

Victim called time bomb

DALLAS (AP) — Michael Wayne Robinson, the third suspect killed by an Arlington police officer since August, had a long criminal record, authorities said.

"He appeared to be the type that is a time bomb just walking around waiting to explode," said deputy constable Bob Bracken, who said he once arrested Robinson.

Robinson, 21, once an outstanding linebacker at Tyler Robert E. Lee High School, was on 10 years' probation at the time he was killed Wednesday afternoon, WFAA-TV of Dallas reported.

Robinson had 15 moving traffic violations and had pleaded guilty to burglary, drug and assault charges, the station said.

The young man's father in Tyler said Thursday in a tearful interview with WFAA-TV that his adopted son had been getting into trouble ever since his mother died.

"There came a blow in his life when he lost his mother," said Winford Robinson.

Tyler Lee football coach Biff Peterson said he was "shocked and surprised" by news of the shooting.

"Right now my feelings are with the family," Peterson told WFAA-TV.

Robinson was shot Wednesday by Arlington officer Brian Farrell, who had killed two men in separate shootings last August. Farrell said the man held a table knife threateningly as he and another officer tried to serve him with a forgery warrant.

Arlington internal affairs investigations cleared Farrell of any misconduct in the two shootings last year, and two separate police panels reviewing his use of deadly force are near completion, Arlington police spokesman Dee Anderson said.

However, Farrell was taken off patrol duty as a result of the shootings and eventually was assigned to forgery investigations.

Deputy Chief Ray Hawkins of the Dallas Police Department said the shooting took place when Farrell and partner Ed Gordon served three forgery warrants on Robinson just after 4 p.m. Wednesday at an apartment located behind a house in Highland Park, an affluent island city inside the Dallas city limits.

According to Hawkins, the officers got a key from the property owner and entered the apartment.

"They saw the man crouched behind a counter with a table knife," said Hawkins.

"They ordered him to drop the knife, but he advanced on the officers," said Hawkins, "so they went out into the yard."

"They were screaming for him to drop it, but he said, 'You'll have to shoot me,'" Hawkins said. "Farrell shot him one time in the chest."

Hawkins estimated Robinson was about five feet from the officers.

Residents in the neighborhood reported hearing someone yelling, "Help me," and then a gunshot, but investigators said no one saw the shooting.

Arlington Police Chief David Kunkle called on Dallas detectives and the Dallas County district attorney's office to conduct investigations.

Dear Abby

Lighthearted Tone of Wedding Makes a Doggone Joyful Event

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1989 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: About the church organist who was upset because the guests talked before the wedding ceremony and applauded afterward: I wonder what she would have thought of our wedding?

David and I wanted a happy, joyful wedding, so we set a lighthearted tone to the ceremony by having Knicky, our female Labrador, serve as the ring bearer.

We had the rings in a beautifully decorated basket. Knicky was to hold the handle of the basket with her teeth and come down the aisle on cue. All went well at the rehearsal, but at the wedding, Knicky got excited when she saw us at the altar and she ran down the aisle, leaving the basket behind.

You can imagine the laughter! But this in no way detracted from the seriousness of our commitment. The guests were quiet and attentive when David and I exchanged our vows, and I have never felt more moved and reverent. It was very fitting when all the guests burst into laughter after the ceremony.

JENNY KNICKERBOCKER, BOZEMAN, MONT.

DEAR JENNY (AND DAVID): Congratulations and all good wishes. May your life together be filled with love and laughter.

DEAR ABBY: I read with interest the letter from the woman who, when asked, "How are you?" didn't want to lie about her physical condition, so she responded with a long-winded health report.

Her answer could have been: "I'm too young for Medicare and too old for me to care."

Chuckle for the day, right?
JEANNE L.
FORT MYERS, FLA.

DEAR JEANNE: Wrong.

Many women would be offended by the inference that when women are no longer "young," men will cease caring about them.

And as if that weren't enough, the feminists would be offended by the implication that unless men care about them, they have little value.

DEAR ABBY: My common-law husband has a big problem with drugs, but he denies it. He says it isn't a problem because he doesn't do the heavy stuff — he only smokes pot. Abby, he smokes a lot of pot. He gets moody, slurs his words, has an "I don't care" attitude and his memory is poor. He keeps saying he can quit if he wants to — but I don't believe he can.

Abby, he is the father of my 2-year-old twin girls and a 10-month-old boy. I am getting so disgusted with him I want out of this relationship, but I really love the guy. What should I do?

CHUCK'S WOMAN

DEAR WOMAN: Your man has a chemical dependency — he's hooked on a drug and will need to go to a "de-tox" facility. If you really love the guy, try "tough love" — tell him he will have to make a decision: It's either you and the children or his pot.

As long as you stay with him while he continues to smoke pot, he won't quit. Trust me.

Dear Abby's Cookbooklet is a collection of favorite recipes — all tested, tried and terrific! To order, send your name and address, plus check or money order for $3.50 ($4 in Canada) to: Abby's Cookbooklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

DR. GOTT PETER GOTT, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My daughter, 18, has been diagnosed with Milroy's disease. The doctors are hopeless because it is so rare. Her activities are very restricted because of abnormal swelling in her foot and ankle. Is there any treatment available?

DEAR READER: Milroy's disease (idiopathic lymphedema) is, indeed, an unusual condition; it is swelling of one or both legs due to the presence of excessive lymph fluid in the tissues.

Lymph is the clear liquid that makes up the "water" in blisters. It is composed of the fluid portion of blood and contains protein and a few white blood cells. Most people are surprised to learn of the existence of a second circulation, in addition to blood, within the body. But, in fact, there is normally such a circulatory pattern called the lymphatic system and it plays an important role in health and immunity.

Lymph fluid is an "ultra filtrate" of blood, meaning that liquid squeezes through the thin walls of capillary blood vessels and enters its own delicate channels. It flows toward the heart, pausing at intervals to be cleaned by lymph nodes that act as filters. Eventually, the lymph fluid empties into a large vessel (the thoracic duct) that carries lymph back to the heart, where it is mixed with blood and recirculates.

Any blockage or swelling in the system will impede the flow of lymph. For instance, lymph nodes that are diseased may interfere with the return of lymph to the heart. Similarly, if lymph glands are surgically removed, the flow of lymph fluid will be blocked. Also, diseases of the lymph channels themselves can prevent free-flow of the fluid. Under these circumstances, the increased pressure of the lymph causes pooling of fluid; edema (excess tissue fluid) will result.

For the sake of completeness, I should add that edema can result from causes other than disorders in the lymphatic system. In the legs, as an example, blockage of the veins

(from pregnancy, blood clots or inflammation) will lead to more lymph fluid. If the lymph channels cannot accommodate the increased volume, edema will result. Finally, heart failure, liver disease and malnutrition will cause edema.

In Milroy's disease, the cause of the edema is unknown. The tissues swell for no apparent reason, sometimes extending as high as the lower pelvic area. Treatment consists of leg elevation (when possible), the avoidance of prolonged standing, the use of diuretic pills (kidney stimulants to rid the body of excess fluid) and the wearing of elastic support hose (to force lymph back into circulation.)

For more information, I'm sending you a copy of my Health Report "Choosing a Physician," end #1 and their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Permit sought

AUSTIN (AP) — A decision was expected today out of the Texas Antiquities Committee on a request by Bowie County officials to tear down the county's historic old courthouse, a 97-year-old landmark that was destroyed by fire in August 1987.

Only the walls remain, but members of the Historic Bowie County Foundation have vigorously opposed county officials' request for a demolition permit. The foundation has maintained it is feasible to restore the building.

Arson was suspected in the building's destruction.

T.R. Fehrenbach, chairman of the Antiquities Commission, said a decision is expected after full discussion of a report based on testimony from county officials, foundation members and structure experts.

Fraud alleged in MHMR program

AUSTIN (AP) — An internal report by Medicaid investigators from the Texas attorney general's office said "fraud and mismanagement is widespread," according to a newspaper that obtained a copy of the document.

The yearlong probe by investigators for the attorney general's Medicaid Fraud Control Unit found that some companies operating community homes have engaged in illegal "double dipping" by collecting state and Medicaid money to provide the same services to retarded people.

The Austin American-Statesman reported Thursday that the investigators' report concludes that several former employees of the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation signed contracts to receive state funds while still employed with the department.

The report was not meant for public distribution and has officially been released only to department Commissioner Dennis Jones and Travis County District Attorney Ronald Earle.

At issue is the MHMR Department's multimillion-dollar program that provides $20,294 a year for the care of retarded state school residents who move into community homes.

By the end of this fiscal year, the program will have spent about $143 million since its inception. It will be serving an estimated 2,224 retarded people.

The fund, called the Prospective Payment Program, was created in 1985 in response to a federal court order to reduce the number of retarded residents in state institutions.

The federal Medicaid program covers expenses for basic room, board and care. Supplementation of Medicaid funds, or so-called double dipping, is a felony punishable by five years in prison or a $25,000 fine, or both.

The Medicaid Fraud Unit report said that "as a result of our 'PPP' investigation, vast amounts of information has been reviewed, and many other problems concerning Medicaid fraud and mismanagement involving state and federally funded programs is evident."

FPC topples Lady Dusters; tightens conference picture

Frank Phillips' Lady Plainsmen, at one time nationally ranked, picked up some extra respect here Thursday night with a 64-57 win over Western Texas College.

WTC Coach Kelly Chadwick was respectful of the Lady Plainsmen, but more disappointed in the way his Dusters played.

"We couldn't throw the thing in the Mississippi River, standing on the bank. I don't know if I've ever had a team play that bad. I don't whether we weren't ready mentally or what," said the dejected coach, who later added, "Frank Phillips does have a real good ball team. I haven't looked at the video, so maybe we didn't play as bad as I thought we did, I don't know. I don't think we played well at all, though."

The Lady Plainsmen began the season at 15-0 but dropped three of their first four conference games and dropped out of the rankings. Wins of 94-52 over 16th-ranked New Mexico Junior College on Tuesday and Thursday's victory over the Dusters have put FPC right back in the hunt for a regional tournament berth.

Thursday's loss also knocked

Coach Kelly Chadwick's Dusters from atop the Western Junior College Athletic Conference standings. The Dusters, at 6-2 now, are tied with Odessa and South Plains in number of losses. They actually lead both teams, which are 5-2, by a half-game. New Mexico JC is now 5-3 while Frank Phillips is 3-3. The top four teams in the conference qualify for post-season play.

In key upcoming WJCAC action, Western Texas, 19-7, travels to Odessa on Monday while South Plains is at Frank Phillips.

Frank Phillips used the inside strength of 6-4 Peggy McDonald, a 28 year-old freshman from Jamaica, and the quickness of Sharon Taylor, to defeat the Dusters. The Lady Plainsmen dominated the offensive boards and took advantage of a slow shooting night by the hosts.

FPC managed a 40-28 halftime lead that eventually dwindled to 40-36 early in the second half. The Lady Plainsmen were held scoreless until 13:15 of the half, but Western was unable to take real advantage. A mid-half rally was turned back after WTC got within six points. Western's last-ditch effort came with about two minutes left when Tabitha Walton came off the sidelines for a bucket that made the score 61-54. Seconds later, however, McDonald hit a short, turn-around jumper and was fouled. She made both, giving the visitors a 64-54 lead with 1:47 on the clock.

Western was hobbled at the point-guard position, where Stacy Smith was suffering from a chest cold. The sophomore from Amarillo was not up to par and offensively contributed only two points.

"Stacy probably didn't have any business even suiting out but when you only have nine players and it's a big game..." said Chadwick. "I don't want to make excuses but it really hurts us when she can't play well."

Smith became the Dusters' point-guard after Stephanie McKnight was sidelined for disciplinary reasons at the holiday break. Valery Jackson moved over from a wing to back up Smith on Thursday.

"We've had a problem getting someone settled in that position this season and it has hurt us. We have to change everybody around. A point-guard is like your quarterback and if you don't have a quarterback out there the team is not going to function," said Chadwick.

Tami Wilson, 6-0 freshman from Seagraves, led Western with 18 points. Jackson bagged 14 and Nickey Allen added 12.

Frank Phillips, now 18-4, got 17 points from McDonald and 16 from Taylor.

With 15 3-point baskets...

Western 'bombs' Plainsmen

Guess who's back? Bernard Williams warmed up his 3-point expertise at Scurry County Coliseum here Thursday, heated up the crowd and cooled off Frank Phillips as Western Texas won its second straight ballgame.

"It was just one of those nights. There's that feeling. When I'm hot, I'm hot," said Williams, who bagged eight 3-pointers as Western Texas defeated the Plainsmen 108-99.

The victory was the second in a row for Coach Tony Mauldin's Westerners, who defeated Clarendon earlier in the week. Western is 12-13 for the season now and 3-8 in the Western Junior College Athletic Conference.

"Coach Mauldin told us we had to start working harder in workouts. If we didn't, we wouldn't win. We've been working hard and it's paid off," noted Williams.

Williams, whose 3-point gun has been silent much of the second half of the season after some big early games, led Western on a 3-point shootout. The sophomore from Andrews hit eight of 13 from long-range and ended the night with 30 points. As a team, Western was 60 percent from the 3-point line, hitting 15 of 25. Ironically, Western was 39 of 76 from both two and 3-point range - or 51 percent.

Frank Phillips knocked down nine 3-pointers.

Vladimir McCrary, Western's 6-7 freshman from San Antonio, was three of four from long range and provided 15 points. Regular scoring leader Bobby Spear sacked up 21 points and paced the rebounding effort with eight boards while point guard Keith Hawkins contributed 10 assists.

And in addition to the welcome return of Williams' 3-pointers and the Western Texas regulars doing a fine job, Western got some extra help in a big way.

"The guys came in off the bench and played real well," said a happy Coach Mauldin. "That was probably the difference in the ballgame. They came off the bench and not only did an adequate job, but an excellent job."

Western got 27 points from its bench, including 10 from Cedric Mason, eight from Lester White and six from David Smith - all freshmen.

They may be in the depths of the District 4-4A basketball standings but you couldn't tell it by talking to Snyder Coach Larry Scott.

"Fort Stockton has a good ballclub. They pose some real problems for us. We'll have to be able to handle their press and we've got to stop a real good scorer in Armando Trevino," said Scott, whose Tigers square off against the Panthers at 7:30 p.m. today in Scurry County Coliseum.

A junior varsity contest is set for 6 p.m.

Snyder's girls play in Fort Stockton, also at 6 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Tickets here and in Fort Stockton are $2 for adults and $1 for students.

Fort Stockton's boys are struggling through a 5-15 season and at 0-9, have yet to scratch in 4-4A ball. Yet, the Panthers boast the district's top scorer in Trevino, who is averaging 29.9 points per game. Teammate Gabe Espino ranks among the league's top rebounders, averaging 8.3 boards per contest.

Snyder could also be fighting apathy. Much of the incentive - a post-season playoff berth - was taken away in Tuesday's 63-56 loss to Big Spring. The Tigers are 12-10 for the season and 5-4 in district play.

In other boy's action tonight, fifth-ranked Andrews (23-3, 8-1) entertains San Angelo Lake View (13-13, 4-5), Big Spring (16-10, 9-0) is at Monahans (6-18, 2-7) and Pecos (13-8, 5-4) visits Sweetwater (8-16, 3-6).

Snyder's Lady Tigers go into tonight's ballgame with a 9-14 season record. The Tigers are 3-8 in league play. Fort Stockton is 6-18 overall and 2-9 in 4-4A.

In other games, seventh-ranked Sweetwater, which wrapped up at least a tie for a playoff spot with Tuesday's 69-40 win over Lake View, will entertain Pecos. Sweetwater is 22-4 overall and 11-0 in district play. Pecos, a distant third place in the standings, is 15-7 and 7-4.

A loss by Pecos tonight and a win for Big Spring, 22-3 and 10-1, would clinch a playoff berth for the Lady Steers. Big Spring, ranked eighth in the state, entertains a struggling Monahans (1-18, 0-11) squad tonight. In the district's other game, Andrews (11-13, 6-5) is at San Angelo to play Lake View (7-14, 5-6).

Cowboys' Downs feeling low

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Dallas Cowboys fans felt veterans Danny White and Randy White would be left unprotected, but it was a surprise that free safety Michael Downs was on the list.

Each NFL team had to release a list of 22 unprotected players and Downs was one of the big surprises for Dallas.

"I'm insulted," said Downs, a starter for the past eight seasons.

Downs and others on the unprotected list have until April 1 to sign with another NFL team. After then, if no team has taken advantage of their free agent status, the players' contracts will revert back to their original club.

Landry said he wasn't sure the Cowboys would invite Downs to training camp next summer even if no one else claimed him.

"Our feeling was we need to improve in the secondary, and for that reason we left him open," Landry said.

"We have to make some changes there. I've always respected Mike. He's been a fine player for us. But we gave up lots of yards and lots of touchdowns in the pass defense area, and we just need to be better. There comes a time when you have to make changes," Landry said.

Downs signed a new 3-year contract last year.

"How can my morale be any good even if another team doesn't pick me up?" Downs said. "I've got to talk to coach (Tom) Landry about this. I guess they are getting ready to move Ron Francis to free safety. I'd like for them to tell me about it."

The Cowboys protected only one safety - Bill Bates - leaving Downs, Vince Albritton, Victor Scott and Billy Owens free to leave.

The Cowboys said they wouldn't attempt to re-sign Scott because of his refusal to take an NFL administered drug test.

"What if we're all picked up? Who's going to play safety? Where is the logic? You'd think someone went crazy up there," Downs said.

The Cowboys even protected 14-year veteran Ed "Too Tall" Jones.

With the Cowboys expected to take UCLA's Troy Aikman as their number one pick in the NFL draft, Danny White and young Kevin Sweeney were expected to be on the list.

Danny White, a 13-year veteran, has been hampered by injuries. Sweeney crashed and burned as a starter during two games after being a replacement team hero in 1987.

Defensive tackle Randy White, a 14-year veteran, has been hampered by neck injuries.

Jones was protected because he played like a young colt last season.

The Cowboys also uncovered 10-year veteran tight end Doug Cosbie and 13-year veteran center Tom Fears.

However, club president Tex Schramm said putting veterans on the list was "just a numbers game."

"The 28 other teams are doing the same thing," he said. "The players shouldn't feel bad because the same thing is happening all over the league. Too much is being made of it."

Schramm said few veteran players would probably be signed because of high salaries and such fringe benefits as annuities which new clubs would have to put up.

Other players on the unprotected list included fullback Todd Fowler; running back Mark Higgs; tight ends Steve Folsom and Kent Dean; wide receivers Mike Sherrard and Rod Barksdale.

Houston leaves 21 unprotected

HOUSTON (AP) - Twenty-one Oilers now can sign with other teams in the league after being left unprotected by Houston under a new plan that made a total of 600 NFL players free agents until April 1.

Almost all of the 21 Oilers left unprotected Thursday are under contract, but they can now sign with any other team in the league. If they don't sign with a different team, the players return to the Oilers under terms of their old contracts.

Like other NFL teams, the Oilers were able to protect 37 players. Houston sent qualifying offers Wednesday to those protected players whose contracts have expired.

Such players as quarterback Warren Moon, Mike Munchak, Ray Childress, Mike Rucker, Allen Pinkett, Richard Johnson and Curtis Duncan can sign with another team, but the Oilers retain the right of first refusal. If the Oilers waive their right of first refusal, they must be compensated.

"We'd like to have all our players but we must realize we're going to lose some of them," Oilers owner Bud Adams said Thursday.

Mike Holovak, who was named the Oilers' general manager Thursday morning following the surprise resignation of Ladd Herzeg the night before, said he believes the Oilers stand to lose several players under the new system.

Berry a Rocket

HOUSTON (AP) - Walter Berry, who was waived from the New Jersey Nets earlier this week after refusing to become a backup forward, signed a contract with the Houston Rockets.

The Rockets will be the fourth NBA team Berry has played for since being drafted in 1986.

Berry signed a contract Thursday for the rest of the season with Houston, and Rockets player Tony Brown was waived to make room for him, team spokesman Steve Patterson said. Berry was waived from the Nets on Monday.

7th grade boys split with Steers

Snyder seventh grade boys split with Big Spring in their final basketball games of the season Thursday.

The local B-team lost to Big Spring 39-20. Scoring for Snyder were Marcelino Aguirre 3, Stephen Campbell 3, Michael Hess 2, Cory Lelek 2, Brian Upton 3, and Eric Horton 2.

Snyder B-team finished the season with a 1-8 record.

Snyder A-team defeated the Steers 49-35. Scoring for the young Tigers were Tyson Croome 2, Jamey Frazier 2, Eric Brazier 14, Brad Hart 2, Craig Lang 11, Jon Patrick 2, David Krenak 2, Jimmy Henry 2 and Jim Pat Griffin 12.

The A-team enjoyed a 9-1 season.

half when White and Mason came off the sidelines for 11 points and a 37-30 advantage. Spear and Jerry Joyce took over after that, leading the Westerners to a 10-point run for a 47-30 advantage with under five minutes in the half.

Score at intermission was 61-

Bill White will be NL president

NEW YORK (AP) - Forty-two years after Jackie Robinson broke baseball's color barrier on the field, Bill White is about to break it in the executive suite.

White today will be named to succeed A. Bartlett Giamatti as National League president, becoming the first black to head a major professional sports league in the United States, The Associated Press learned on Thursday.

NL owners were expected to elect White in a telephone conference call today.

40. Western led by more than 20 points in the second half, but Frank Phillips didn't quit. The Plainsmen were able to take advantage of several WTC miscues and got a strong effort underneath from 6-7 sophomore Donald Dixon.

"We got a 20 point lead and we got a little cute. We were showboating a little," said Mauldin. "We let them back in the game and then we tightened up too much."

"Don (assistant coach Don Clay) said it was because the kids aren't used to being 20 points ahead," laughed Mauldin. "I guess not."

The Plainsman rally was turned back after Donald Myrie hit a field goal with 4:17 left to make it a 99-89 game. McCrary responded with a 3-pointer for Western, and although FPC was able to get back within nine points later, Western answered shot for shot.

Dixon led the Plainsmen, now 11-9 overall and 2-6 in the conference, with 26 points. Lowell Myrie scored 20.

Next action for the Westerners will be Monday when they bus to Odessa to play the nation's No. 1 ranked Wranglers. Odessa, 24-0, 9-0, beat Howard College 79-71 on Thursday.

Talks today focus on summit and Cambodia issues

BEIJING (AP) — The foreign ministers of China and the Soviet Union hold a second day of talks today aimed at setting a date for the first Sino-Soviet summit in 30 years.

Soviet Foreign Minister Eduard Shevardnadze and his Chinese counterpart Qian Qichen are to meet at the Great Hall of the People for talks expected to focus on the summit issue.

Soviet President Mikhail Gorbachev is likely to visit China this spring for a meeting with Chinese senior leader Deng Xiaoping that will climax a year of rapidly warming relations and effectively end three decades of strained ties.

Qian, who spoke with reporters before beginning his second round of talks, Shevardnadze, said he expected a date for a summit to be set before the Soviet envoy leaves Saturday.

Shevardnadze arrived Wednesday in Beijing for a three-day visit and planned to meet Premier Li Peng today before flying to Shanghai for a Saturday meeting with Chinese senior leader Deng Xiaoping. He leaves for Pakistan later Saturday.

In almost three hours of talks Thursday, the two foreign ministers reached broad agreement on the need to end the 10-year conflict in Cambodia.

China long has insisted that Soviet financial backing for Vietnam's occupation of Cambodia is the major obstacle to normalizing Sino-Soviet relations.

Qian, in a banquet speech Thursday night, said the two sides had reached general consensus "on many aspects of the problem," including the need for Vietnam to pull out its troops and for some kind of international supervision after Vietnamese troops leave.

China is the main backer for the three-party resistance coalition battling the Vietnamese in Cambodia. It supports the introduction of an international peacekeeping force after Vietnam's departure, an idea Vietnam has rejected.

Foreign Ministry officials said Shevardnadze had canceled a tour of the Forbidden City scheduled for today. While no reason was given, there was speculation Shevardnadze might use the time to meet Cambodian resistance leader Norodom Sihanouk, who is now residing in the Chinese capital.

Soviet Embassy Counsellor V.V. Duhin, asked Thursday night whether Shevardnadze might meet Sihanouk, said the possibility "can't be ruled out."

In his banquet speech Thursday, Shevardnadze called for joint ventures, cooperation in science and technology and the transformation of the Sino-Soviet border into a region of "peace, friendship and good-neighborly cooperation."

The Soviet Union was China's political mentor and main economic benefactor during the 1950s, but relations deteriorated over ideological and strategic differences and the two countries fought a short border war in 1969.

Economic and cultural contacts gradually have increased in the 1980s, but normalization of political and party relations has been stalled by the issues of Cambodia, the Soviet incursion into Afghanistan and the highly militarized border.

Relations have improved rapidly in the past year following Soviet announcements it is withdrawing from Afghanistan and reducing its troop strength in Asia, and with progress in efforts to end the Cambodian conflict.

Cases dismissed

AUSTIN (AP) — Travis County Attorney Ken Oden says he will have to drop up to 200 drunk driving cases because a state trooper allegedly lied on reports and under oath.

Trooper Jimmy Lee Holmes, 31, who notched more drunk driving arrests in Travis County in 1988 than any other lawman, has been suspended after a Department of Public Safety investigation, DPS spokesman David Wells said.

He said the DPS would ask that none of the cases handled by the trooper be prosecuted.

"That basically means that neither the Department of Public Safety nor my office can vouch for his credibility and veracity and for that reason we will not prosecute any cases" based solely on the trooper's testimony, Oden said.

"Ultimately, the fact that we will lose cases is not good, but it's a minor price to pay to get this problem solved," Oden said.

"There's a lot of wrongful conduct out there and the point is you can enforce the law and hold people accountable and do it in a way that honors the basic principles behind the system, but in getting a conviction the ends do not justify the means."

Tower's confirmation vote...

New allegations force postponement

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate panel will extend its investigation of John Tower after new allegations surfaced about President Bush's choice for defense secretary, reportedly concerning his drinking habits and relationships with women.

Tower, a one-time chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, had appeared on a clear path to confirmation after telling his former colleagues he had no alcohol problem and would not be swayed by past business ties with defense contractors.

But the chairman of the panel, Sen. Sam Nunn, D-Ga., said that the committee received new accusations Wednesday afternoon and evening as did the White House, and both forwarded them to the FBI.

Nunn interrupted a committee hearing on another matter Thursday to announce that an expected vote on the Tower nomination that day had been postponed.

"The file is still not complete and there are members now who have made a request to review certain items in the files, so we will not be voting today," Nunn said.

Nunn and the ranking Republican on the panel, Sen. John Warner of Virginia, later met with the FBI and Sherrie Marshall, assistant to White House counsel C. Boyden Gray, to discuss the new information.

"It's not over till it's over,"

Nunn said. "The investigation is not over until all serious allegations have been checked, and that's the process we always follow."

Nunn refused to describe the allegations or identify the source. But Sen. James Exon, D-Neb., said the committee would tend "to give more weight to sources who don't have an ax to grind."

The new allegations involve reports of womanizing and drinking, according to network and newspaper reports.

The Washington Post, quoting unnamed sources involved in the investigation, said the allegations dealt with "incidents of a relatively recent nature that had previously been unreported to the FBI." An unidentified woman who worked with Tower in Geneva told CBS on Thursday that she had seen Tower chase a secretary around his desk.

Further delaying the vote was the request by two unidentified committee members to review the FBI report. Previously, only Nunn and Warner had read the report.

Warner said he hoped the committee would be able to vote next week, possibly Monday, on the nomination.

"My hope is that this is the very last chapter in the analysis of new information," Warner said.

Exon said he believed the nomination was "still in question," but not in jeopardy. Another committee member, Sen. Malcolm Wallop, R-Wyo., said he didn't think Tower was in trouble, but rather was "just strung along."

At the White House, Bush spokesman Marlin Fitzwater said the administration had only sketchy information about why the committee wanted more time. "Obviously the president has confidence in Mr. Tower," Fitzwater said. "He urges prompt consideration of his nomination."

Tower, who has been divorced twice, is now single. He has been accompanied to the confirmation hearings by his companion, Dorothy Heyser.

Tower served 24 years in the Senate, and was chairman of the Armed Services Committee from 1981-84.

He was dogged by allegations of drinking and womanizing before his nomination. In divorce papers filed two years ago by his second wife, Lilla Burt Cummings, Tower was accused of "marital misconduct."

Bush has defended Tower, saying an FBI background check found nothing that would prevent him from serving as defense secretary. When Bush announced the nomination he dismissed "a lot of rumors that proved to be groundless."

Senators also asked Tower whether he would be influenced by the more than $1 million he collected as a defense consultant. Tower, under intense questioning from Democrats Nunn, Carl Levin of Michigan and Albert Gore of Tennessee, repeatedly denied any conflict of interest.

Stutzman concerned about police tests in roommate's death

AUSTIN (AP) — A man convicted of dumping his young son's body on a Nebraska roadside in 1985 was concerned about what police ballistics tests could show in the death of his former roommate, who died of a gunshot that same year, a Travis County law officer said.

Eli Stutzman Jr., after being questioned in 1985 about the shooting death of the roommate, Glen Pritchett, asked a neighbor if police could match bullets with guns, Travis County sheriff's deputy Jerry Wiggins said Thursday in a pre-trial hearing.

After the neighbor told Stutzman he thought police could, Stutzman left town with his 9-year-old son, Daniel, whose body was found six months later in a frozen Chester, Neb. ditch.

Stutzman, 38, is charged with murder in Pritchett's death. Pritchett, 24, was found dead of a gunshot to the head on May 12, 1985.

Stutzman, 38, was brought to Travis County in December after finishing a prison sentence in Lincoln, Neb., for leaving the boy's body on the roadside in December 1985. A Travis County grand jury indicted Stutzman in Pritchett's death in July.

When questioned about Pritchett's death in 1985, Stutzman first told Wiggins that Pritchett had left for Montana weeks before his body was found off a south Travis County road, the officer testified Thursday in state district court.

But, when questioned again in Fort Worth in 1987, Stutzman admitted to lying previously, and described hearing a gunshot the night Pritchett disappeared, Wiggins testified.

Senate okays Kemp

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jack Kemp blunted last-minute ethical questions about his acceptance of speaking fees exceeding House limits to win unanimous Senate confirmation as secretary of housing and urban development.

The Senate voted unanimously to confirm Kemp, the former professional football player who served 18 years as a congressman from Buffalo, N.Y., and unsuccessfully ran for the Republican presidential nomination in 1988.

The vote followed by hours the Senate Banking, Housing and Urban Development Committee's vote to recommend Kemp's nomination to the full Senate.

Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., chairman of the housing and urban affairs subcommittee, said Democrats on the committee and the committee's staff concluded that Kemp's acceptance of thousands of dollars in speaking fees above House limits was "part of a misunderstanding" and no bar to his confirmation.

"There was no reason to do anything to embarrass him or to harass him to block him," Cranston said.

Kemp's financial disclosure reports show that in 1988 he accepted or agreed to accept $67,350 above what House rules allow a member of Congress to accept in one year. The limit is 30 percent of salary, or $26,850. In addition, Kemp accepted honoraria far larger than the $2,000 per event limit.

When committee staff raised questions with Kemp last week, he agreed to return, forgo or defer more than $67,000 in speaking fees to bring his 1988 fees within House limits.

Congressional and federal ethics officials said Thursday, however, that it was unclear whether part of Kemp's remedy — the deferral of $12,500 in excess fees from 1988 to 1989 — was permitted by House rules and federal law.

Kemp declined to comment Thursday on the matter, said his spokeswoman, Mary Brunette. On Wednesday he attributed the problems to a misunderstanding on his part of the limits.

Cranston said, "There was ambiguity in the rules that led to uncertainty as to what one could or could not do."

At the federal Office of Government Ethics, deputy director Donald E. Campbell said staff attorneys concluded they could not resolve the questions over Kemp's fees and the House rules. "We couldn't get anybody there (at the congressional ethics committees) that would give us any answers," Campbell said.

As a result, the Office of Government Ethics said in a letter to the Senate committee that it was approving Kemp's finances within executive branch standards only.

House rules forbid members from deferring income from one year to the next "to avoid the income limitation," according to the ethics manual for House members. Senate Banking Committee staff director Kevin Gottlieb said he did not object to the deferral, however, because he did not believe honoraria were included in that prohibition.

Jobless rate up to 5.4 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unemployment rose slightly in January to 5.4 percent, but the number of new jobs created last month rose by 408,000, much higher than expected, the government reported today.

The Labor Department said the civilian unemployment rate rose by 0.1 percentage point from the December rate of 5.3 percent.

But the first major report of the economy's 1989 performance showed continued strong growth, something analysts have predicted would feed inflationary fears and perhaps convince the Federal Reserve Board to tighten its reins on credit.

The 408,000 new nonfarm jobs created last month followed a gain of 279,000 in December and nearly matched November's robust gain of 440,000 new jobs.

Analysts had predicted that January job growth would be in the 250,000 range and that any growth of more than 300,000 could trouble the markets.

Phillips 66 says its motor fuel sales rose for the fourth year in a row in 1987.

Maurice Rosas told officers at 8 p.m. Thursday that the items, belonging to him, had been taken.

Gloria Ramirez of 3712 Noble Dr. told police at 9:16 p.m. Thursday that some weights had been stolen from her garage.

Bill would cut red tape on farm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Kika de la Garza of Texas says he's backing legislation that seeks to let farmers file forms and reports directly from the kitchen table to the computers of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The sponsor of the bill, Republican Rep. Ron Marlenee of Montana, says regulatory paperwork is "drowning America's farm and ranch producers in a bottomless sea of government forms and torrents of ink."

The bill seeks to coordinate the paperwork farmers must fill out for the various branches of the USDA such as the Farmers Home Administration, the Federal Crop Insurance Corp., and the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Marlenee wants the agriculture secretary to investigate the feasibility of creating a department-wide network that would allow the different agencies to share information that each requires from a producer.

He also wants USDA to look into a system that would allow farmers to electronically access the network from their home computers, so they could file applications, reports and other data needed to participate in farm programs or comply with marketing, conservation or environmental regulations.

Marlenee said farmers are required to spend countless hours each month on paperwork and that many of the forms required by each agency are repetitive and only slightly different.

Second disturbance erupts

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Riot police arrested nine people during a second night of arson and rock-and-bottle throwing that erupted in a mostly black neighborhood following reports a suspected drug dealer died in police custody.

"The message is very clear. You come over here and incite riots, you're going to get arrested," said Mayor Sandy Freedman after police controlled the disturbance Thursday.

About 70 police officers cordoned off the College Hill neighborhood for nearly three hours after sunset. An officer hit by a brick, Sgt. B.J. Curry, was treated at Tampa General Hospital and released.

"It was very sporadic. Nothing on a major scale. It was kind of hit and run," said Sgt. Walter Sluga.

The Tampa incidents came as residents and officials in Miami seek to maintain calm in the city's Overtown and Liberty City districts, the scene of three days of rioting last month following the fatal shooting of a black motorcyclist by a policeman.

The College Hill neighborhood, the site of at least a half dozen violent outbreaks in the past two years, erupted in a three-hour melee Wednesday night following the drug arrest of Edgar Allen Price, 40, who later died of a cardiac arrest.

"People feel trapped and they're ready to explode when something even looks like brutality," said Elliott Johnson, pastor of Blessed Hope Ministries two blocks from a looted grocery store. "We're still sitting on a keg of dynamite down here."

A mob of youths began throwing rocks and bottles at the officers who struggled to subdue Price, a 6-foot-3, 300-pound black man from Houston. Eight officers were finally called in to capture Price in the living room of his girlfriend's mother.

The girl's mother, a heart patient with a pacemaker who uses a walker, ended up under the pileup on the floor. She was not injured.

Price, who suffered a two-inch gash in his head during the struggle, began experiencing heart trouble in a police cruiser shortly after his arrest. He died about 90 minutes later at St. Joseph's Hospital.

Police said Price was not beaten or choked during the arrest, and an autopsy was being performed to substantiate the cause of death.

"We wanted to dispel any rumors we beat a man to death," said Police Chief Austin McLane.

Dr. Charles Diggs, an assistant Hillsborough County medical examiner, said preliminary autopsy results suggest Price may have suffocated in the police cruiser because his breathing was constricted due to being handcuffed.

Price was carrying 25 pieces of crack cocaine and a loaded .25-caliber derringer in his pockets, said police spokesman Steve Cole.

Price was sentenced in 1974 to 50 years on a Texas robbery conviction and also had a 1967 robbery arrest on his record, said Cole. He did not know the disposition of that case.

Local arrest reveals nine felony warrants

Arrests in the city Thursday included a 22-year-old Snyder man who now faces nine felony warrants issued out of Gainesville and a 16-year-old juvenile charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Jimmy R. Stripling of 3909 Eastridge Ave. was arrested on nine burglary warrants from Gainesville at 1:05 p.m. Thursday in the 300 Block of East Hwy.

The burglary warrants were discovered after he was taken into custody by city officers for evading arrest and unlawfully carrying a weapon.

The 16-year-old boy was arrested for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and DWI at 1:26 a.m. Friday in the 2900 Block of College Ave.

Police said a 1985 Oldsmobile station wagon that had been reported stolen by Henry Valdez of 2904 Ave. F at 10:54 p.m. Thursday was recovered with the arrest.

In other arrests, a sheriff's deputy arrested a 23-year-old Snyder man for theft at 1:50 p.m. Thursday at Snyder Iron & Metal on Post Rd. following a report that he had stolen some scrap metal at Y-Z Industries on the Lubbock Hwy.

State highway patrolmen arrested a 23-year-old man at 3:41 p.m. Thursday for not having a driver's license or liability insurance at a location that was not reported.

During Wednesday night's unrest, an estimated 75 young people threw rocks and bottles, fired at least two gunshots at a television news van and looted and burned a grocery store. Officials cordoned off four intersections in the 22-block housing development and summoned 100 police officers and 30 firefighters.

Bush pledges S&L support

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush said today that any plan to rescue the troubled savings and loan industry "is not going to be popular" but he pledged that the government will continue to guarantee the safety of insured deposits.

Bush met at the White House with Democratic and Republican leaders of Congress to seek their ideas on how to resolve the S&L crisis.

"We've got a big problem in the savings and loan industry, Bush told the lawmakers, meeting in the Cabinet Room. "There are no easy answers, no worrying about blame — plenty to go around. I want to see the problem solved."

House Speaker Jim Wright, D-Texas, and Senate Majority Leader George Mitchell, D-Maine, pledged their cooperation in seeking a solution.

Setting out a timetable for producing an administration plan, Bush said he will meet Saturday with Treasury Department officials to hear their final recommendations and then early next week reveal the course he will take.

Nevertheless, Bush told the congressional leaders, "you're not being presented here with a stacked deck. We need ideas and, if we're overlooking something, we want to know what it is."

The president said, "Whatever we come up with will not be popular. And I expect then whatever you come up with will not be popular. But we've got to get on and get the problem solved."

"We want to work with you. This is a serious problem," Mitchell told Bush.

The administration is worried that advertisements from banks in three states questioning the safety of savings and loan accounts may needlessly scare depositors who are already worried.

White House Chief of Staff John Sununu, who was present at today's meeting, criticized the ads Thursday at a private, hour-long meeting of Bush and five S&L and bank trade associations, said Frederick Webber, president of the U.S. League of Savings Institutions, who attended the meeting.

Sununu, waving copies of several of the ads, said, "Gentlemen, it is absolutely, unequivocally irresponsible to have placed those ads," according to another participant, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

At today's meeting, Bush did not mention the ads but said, "The safety of those deposits is guaranteed, will continue to be guaranteed and there should be no feeling around the country that some solution will do anything to diminish the credit of the United States being behind the deposits, the FSLIC, FDIC, whatever it is."

The Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation insures deposits at S&Ls and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insures those at commercial banks.

Local to speak at two churches

Beth Harrington, a student at Asbury Seminary in Wilmore, Ky. and the daughter of Howard and Carolyn Harrington of Snyder, will bring the Sunday morning message at two area churches.

She will speak at 9:30 a.m. Sunday at Dunn United Methodist Church and at 10:45 a.m. Sunday at Trinity United Methodist Church. Everyone is invited.

The pre-game steak apparently is a thing of the past, says the Reebok Aerobic Information Bureau. In an American Health magazine survey of 1,953 people, only 11 percent of heavy exercisers would eat red meat before working out or competing in an athletic event. Most opt for carbohydrates, such as fruit or pasta.
