Cosmetic surgery available

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) -Some state prison inmates are getting the chance to improve their looks through cosmetic surgery - thanks to the taxpayers of Texas.

During the past 30 years, hundreds of inmates have undergone cosmetic surgery at Galveston's John Sealy Hospital, which provides medical and surgical staff for the state prison hospital and is a teaching hospital for the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston.

Although the Texas Department of Corrections is not charged by UTMB for surgery on inmates, those expenses still are tax-supported because UTMB is a state school, the Houston Chronicle reported Sunday.

Supporters of cosmetic surgery for inmates claim the prisonerpatients help surgeons perfect their crafts, and medical school officials cite studies suggesting that inmates are less likely to return to prison if they look bet-ter when they leave. Tommy Thompson, a 59-year-old inmate hoping for parole this year, agrees. On Feb. 23, Thompson received a face lift, liposuction and brow lift at John Sealy.

"I feel 100 percent better," said Thompson, who is serving 60 years on theft of property and compelling prostitution convictions out of Dallas County. He had previously served time for theft, prison records show. "I think it will help my attitude may be rejuvenated at this time with a and my feeling about myself when I go back to the free world," he said. Galveston County District Attorney Michael J. Guarino said he was unaware that prisoners can receive cosmetic surgery at the hospital.

"We're spending money for something that is somewhat unknown," said state Rep. Jim Rudd, D-Brownfield, chairman of the budget-writing House Appropriations Committee.

So far, the state has spent about $4.3 million on the project, most of which funded the National Research Laboratory Commission, the Texas agency created in 1985 to lobby for and oversee the building of the project.

The commission asked the Legislature this year for another $1.6 million to finish paying this year's expenses and nearly $4 million for the next two years.

Commission Chairman Tom Luce, a Dallas attorney, said if Congress decides not to fund the Under Texas law, the commission could be disbanded on 30 days' notice if Congress abandons plans to build the super collider, a 53-mile underground tunnel shaped like a race track that will be used to study the high speed collision of protons.

Congress is balking at President Bush's request that the super collider receive $250 million in 1990. Members of Congress, many of whom are not happy the project was not located in their states, say they are not convinced the project is worth the expense.

Still, state dollars are being used to dramatically expand the state Sen. John Leedom, Rcommission that only last year Dallas.

> The commission plans to spend $180,000 this year on travel and more than $450,000 on consultants to study everything from regional geology to file management.

Some lawmakers argue the state has more urgent needs than the super collider and tax dollars should be used to meet those needs.

With the opening lead of a low heart, declarer has a wealth of options. Playing low from dummy makes the slam if (1) West has led from the heart king; (2) the club jack falls in three rounds of the suit so that dummy's fourth club provides a parking place for a possible diamond loser; (3) declarer determines the location of the queen of diamonds. But if declarer thinks it extremely unlikely that West would lead away from the king of hearts into a

Money raised for housing for poor

AUSTIN (AP) - Former pastor, who had presented Carter President Jimmy Carter joined country singer Willie Nelson in singing "Amazing Grace" at a fund-raiser that yielded at least $40,000 to build homes for the poor.

Carter, who attended a reception Sunday for Habitat for Humanity and had a front-row seat at the benefit concert that followed, accepted the invitation to sing on stage despite having earlier joked about his voice.

"Willie sent me a sound man to tell me, 'When you speak, talk right into the microphone. When you sing, turn your head the other way," Carter told a concert crowd estimated at more than 3,000.

Rosalynn Carter and the Rev. Gerald Mann of Riverbend Baptist Church, which arranged the benefit in celebration of its 10th anniversary, also were among those on stage for the song.

Members of the audience which included former first lady Lady Bird Johnson, former University of Texas football coach Darrell Royal, state Attorney General Jim Mattox, Land Commissioner Garry Mauro and three Austin families with Habitat homes - also sang. Nelson, dressed in a black suit and boots, closed the concert with "Georgia on My Mind."

Mann asked concert-goers to dig deeper in their pockets as they were leaving. The church with a check for $40,000 for Habitat for Humanity to build homes in Austin, said the houses cost $24,000 each.

"We have enough resources here tonight to build two Habitat Houses," said Mann, urging the audience to make donations on the way out the door.

The $11-a-ticket concert followed a $100-a-ticket reception for Habitat for Humanity, an ecumenical organization that builds homes and sells them to low-income families at no profit.

The families work to help build their own homes. Habitat for Humanity operates in more than 300 U.S. cities and 25 foreign countries, said Carter.

one-no-trump opening hand, he has an extra option. He can rise with dummy's heart ace, play ace and a second spade to his 10-spot, and then exit with the queen of hearts. If East has the king of hearts and originally only two spades, he will be forced to lead into dummy's Q-10-4-2 of clubs or break the diamond suit, since the play of a third heart would let declarer discard a loser while ruffing in dummy. All that thinking is of little avail here. since East wins the heart king and plays the third trump.

Now the play is a simple matter of cashing the A-K-Q of clubs. When East shows up with four to the jack, declarer has a good partial count of West's hand. West started with only four black cards, probably five hearts after the lead of the heart three, so it becomes very likely that he has four diamonds. Since West has more diamonds than East, it becomes good percentage to play West for the queen. Doing so will make the contract.

In SW Rodeo standings...

Western vaults to 2nd place

CANYON -- Western Texas College loaded up in the steer wrestling to finish third at the West Texas State University NIRA Rodeo and move into second place in the Southwest Region standings here Sunday.

Western racked up 210 points to finish behind Odessa, which had 442.5, and Sul Ross State University, which polled 225. Tarleton State University was fourth with 157.5.

Coach Bob Doty did not have season totals available, but confirmed that Western did move into second place ahead of Howard College in the regional standings with 1,120 points. Howard tallied just 70 points here Sunday.

Western was led by bulldoggers Ray Brown and Russell Merchant, who finished first and second in the average. Brown took a 6.7 into the finals where he flashed a 5.4 for first place. His total 12.1 left him on top ahead of Merchant, who was 5.1 in the long-go and 7.7 in the finals for a total 12.8 in the average.

Western also got points in the

Exxon says cleanup is not working; apologizes publicly

VALDEZ, Alaska (AP) - Exx- it. on today apologized for the nation's worst oil spill, and mand of an uncertified third authorities said the captain of the oil company's tanker has taken steps to surrender to face charges of being drunk when the vessel ran aground.

"I want to tell you how sorry I am that this accident took place," Exxon Chairman L.G. Rawl said in full-page advertisements placed in U.S. newspapers.

'We cannot, of course, undo what has been done. But I can assure you that since March 24. the accident has been receiving our full attention and will continue to do so.'

The Exxon Valdez rammed a reef on that day, spilling 10.1 million gallons of oil into Prince William Sound. Its captain, Joseph Hazelwood, admitted drinking before boarding the ship, according to court documents. Blood and urine samples taken nine hours after the accident indicated Hazelwood was drunk.

Exxon has fired Hazelwood. An arrest warrant has been issued in Alaska for him, but his whereabouts were unknown Sundav

There were indications that the Huntington, N.Y., resident had contacted an attorney and that a surrender might be worked out, said Sgt. Clifton Smith of the New York state police.

In other developments:

-The oil slick has turned to a swirling ugly brown glop on the brilliant blue sound and has grown to more than 1,000 square miles - bigger than the state of Rhode Island. It was moving primarily to the southwest toward salmon fisheries, fishrich Seward area and Kenai Fjords National Park.

-Scientists and fishermen brought in oil-smeared otters in things like airline dog cages and boxes hurriedly hammered together from plywood and chicken wire. A refrigerated trailer truck served as a morgue for dead otters and birds.

-The Coast Guard said an election judge for the May 6 cideliveries of North Slope crude ty election. oil will be allowed to return to near normal once the tanker is relieved of its remaining load, probably by Tuesday morning. -A Soviet skimmer ship was en route to see what can be done with the oil in the sound. -A six-person team of Norwegian oil-spill experts arrived Sunday to begin assisting in cleaning up the beaches and saving oil-soaked animals. Court documents filed in support of the arrest warrant issued say Hazelwood admitted drinking before boarding the ship and when asked what the problem was after it had ran aground, replied, "I think you're looking at

The ship was under the commate when it struck the reef. Hazelwood has been charged with operating a ship while under the influence of alcohol, reckless endangerment and negligent discharge of oil.

The oil has tainted an stimated 800 miles of beach.

Exxon Shipping Co. conceded Sunday its clean up efforts haven't been working, but said a new, better-equipped assault was to begin today with more effective equipment, more manpower and a floating command post, the Crystal Star.

State officials have blasted Exxon's effort to scrub beaches as dismal and ineffective. Only 10,000 barrels, about 4 percent, of the barrels of thick crude that spewed into the sound have been recovered.

Frank Iarossi, the shipping company's president, agreed with the critics.

"It's not the right thing to do. No way," Iarossi said.

He said the company dispatched beach workers simply because put somebody out there."

'We intend not to leave until the job is done," Iarossi added. "We intend to leave Prince probably re-evaluate our whole William Sound close to what it was before the tragedy.

Gov. Steve Cowper said the company has not been "adequate to the task, and we're going to do Fishermen using makeshift gear have made more progress.

"For a full week, Exxon has been hiring men and boats. They have been making statements. We have had all this activity, and yet nothing is happening out there," said Dennis Kelso, the head of the state Department of Environmental Conservation.

Bridge collapses

COVINGTON, Tenn. (AP) -Crews today searched for more bodies in the rain-swollen Hatchie River, where at least seven people plunged to their deaths after a 60-foot-section of a halfcentury-old bridge collapsed.

Months of flooding on the Hatchie may have eroded the foundation of a bridge pier, causing the U.S. 51 span to fail, said the state highway commissioner.

A tractor-trailer rig and at least four other vehicles fell 25 feet into the river.

A 1987 inspection found no abnormalities, but the collapse probably will lead the state to review its procedures, said Bill Moore, a it was "responding to pressure to state transportation department inspector.

We certainly will look at other bridges after this failure. We'll program of inspection on this ype of bridge," Moore said Sunday.

DPS wreck noted

The Department of Public Safety investigated a 1:12 a.m. Saturday accident in which a 1979 Pontiac driven by Shirley A. Casebolt of 1605 8th St. struck a NCNB Cp parked 1983 Chevrolet pickup in the parking lot of the Rip Griffin Truck Service Center east of town.

A DPS trooper said the ownership of the pickup had not been determined.

The meeting was to continue at 1:30 p.m. Monday with the beginning of interviews of 10 applicants to succeed County Prossurer Billy Wayne Thompson, who is retiring. Commissioner Ted Billingsley was absent Monday morning.
