Birmingham Beautiful City Despite Recent Publicity, Rotarians Told

Much of the criticism which has appeared in Northern and Eastern newspapers concerning the handling of so-called "racial problems" in Birmingham, Ala. in recent months has been unfair, a young attorney of that city told the Rotary Club and guests at the weekly club meeting and luncheon Thursday at noon.

The speaker, Richard Dominick, who was visiting relatives here, was introduced by Gaston Hattox, program chairman. He pointed out that since about 50 percent of the population of Birmingham is colored that naturally there would be racial problems. However, the incidents of violence so widely publicized came about because of outside agitation, including the NAACP and Ku Kluxers, he declared.

Speaking of the "good points" about his home city, Dominick described Birmingham as a beautiful city, the cultural center of Alabama, with modern schools and beautiful churches. Steel is the city's biggest industry, with some 20,000 workers being employed in the largest steel plant. Coal mining ranks as a major industry. He pointed out that Birmingham was the only place in the world where all the elements necessary in the manufacture of steel existed within a radius of 20 miles. However, a diversified economy is being developed, he stated. In addition to farming and produce raising, Birmingham is gradually becoming a furniture outlet of the South.

Club president E. J. Stewart presided, and announced the District Institute would be held Aug. 24 in Graham. He also announced that a new date for the Lions-Rotarians softball game would be set. Bob Herren led the club singing.

Guests at the luncheon and meeting were Al Hinds, president of the Haskell Lions Club; H. H. (Hut) Hutson, Amarillo newspaper cartoonist who is here doing special work for the Free Press; Bob Richey of Dallas, Cliff Combs and Bob Townsend of Fort Worth. E. C. Lane of Atlanta, Ga., Buddy Winn of Abilene, and Lynn Stockman of Stamford, who will be manager of the new Weaver Medlin Tire Store in Haskell.

People, Places & Things

By A. PATE

State Ranger Homer T. Melton of Benjamin has been on duty recently in the East Texas oil fields in connection with the investigation of so-called directional drilling.

Seems that some of those East Texas operators added a Billie Sol touch and headed their drill bits in a direction that would tap their neighbor's oil pools. At first believed confined to a small area, the slanted holes are being found in a widespread pattern.

If Ranger Melton stays down there much longer, we wouldn't be surprised if he doesn't call Sheriff "Tang" Garrett to help him check some of those off-angle wells. The genial Haskell sheriff could easily check those slanted holes without need of any scientific equipment.

A top-notch mechanic before he became a peace officer, "Tang" claims he could check out the block of a V-8 motor in half the time required by an ordinary mechanic! He can look in two directions at the same time.

Mention recently that early-day barnstorming pilots used the prairie just north of the old Shook Place as a landing field brings a reminder from a reader that a slightly sloping prairie on the old Koonce farm on the southeast edge of town was also a favorite landing place.

Many planes did land there, and whether by choice or accident, we remember that on the new occasions when an Army Air Corps ship landed in Haskell, the pilot always came down on the Koonce place.

At least one Haskell airman also started his career in the Air Corps on the Koonce place, also. He was Jim Peavy, now of Abilene, who enlisted in the Air Corps in the early 20s. As a condition of his enlistment, an Air Corps pilot flew to Haskell and picked Jim up for the flight to Dallas.

Use of the early-day planes as a means of speedy transportation was quickly recognized, but even this factor sometimes backfired as it did in one instance we recall in the late 20s.

At that time, Armistice Day was still widely celebrated, and a big program was on tap for this area.

A Seymour man who had recently purchased and learned to fly an Army surplus plane, flew down to join Haskell friends in the day's celebration.

On his arrival, friends greeted him with bad news. The town was virtually dry as far as liquid refreshments were concerned.

"We were just preparing to drive over to B-G's place at Swenson and get a supply when we heard your plane," the Seymour man was told and invited to accompany them.

"Why drive, when I can fly over there and be back in less than an hour, if one of you fellows will go along and show me where he lives," the plane owner said.

One man quickly volunteered and they were off. Everything went nicely, and when the plane reached the Swenson area the "guide" had little difficulty locating the farmhouse they sought. However, several minutes were consumed as the pilot flew low over the house and immediate area looking for a suitable landing spot.

As they were circling, they paid little heed to a Model T touring car seen leaving the farmhouse.

After setting down in a small clearing, the two men walked several hundred yards to the farmhouse. After repeated knockings on the door, a woman answered.

Asked if this was B-G's place, she admitted it was, but added he was not at home. When would he be back? She didn't know, but it would probably be four or five days.

Finally, she told the men that when their plane started circling the house, her husband feared it was officers. He'd loaded his "stock" in the Model T and left for safer territory!

experiencing "growing pains" as a municipality back around 1907-08, one of the first major projects of the City Dads after the town was incorporated was building of a municipal water and sewer system.

Water was readily found almost anywhere in town at from 15 to 20 feet, while along Spring Creek which ran through town there were numerous outcroppings springs which ran the year 'round.

When the water system was first built, one large well was dug on the north side of Spring Branch where the city warehouse now stands. The city's pumping plant was located at this well, which furnished the city with water for more than a decade.

The pumping plant was steam-operated for many years, and generally required not over two men to maintain and operate the entire system.

Old-timers recall that the volunteer fire department had only hose carts 50 years ago, and pumper trucks were unheard of in small towns.

In fighting fires, the volunteer firemen depended on pressure furnished by the city's overhead water tower and in most cases this was sufficient, since there were no buildings of more than two or three stories.

There were times however, when additional water pressure was needed in fighting fires in the business section.

The late H. J. (Haynes) Hambleton, first superintendent of the city water works, saw this need and devised a method of giving firemen additional water pressure when needed.

When a bad fire broke out, Hambleton would head for the pumping plant and soon have his steam water pumps going. He would close the water lines to the overhead tower, and start pumping directly into the mains.

This would give firemen all the pressure needed, and on several occasions was credited with bringing some devastating fires under control. One instance recalled by oldtimers was the Elks Club building fire around 1912.

Haskell firemen were red-faced, however, during the winter of 1916, when the city water pumping plant caught fire! The flames had spread through the small wood and sheet metal building before it was noticed, and heat then prevented plant operators from getting to the pumps and starting them. Luckily, the water tower had plenty of water and firemen were able to hose down the blaze after most of the building had burned.

For months afterwards, firemen and city water plant employees were the targets of considerable ribbing for letting the pumping station burn to the ground.

The late M. A. Clifton, one of the county's earlyday settlers at the beginning of the farming era in West Texas, enjoyed telling of his first visit to Haskell.

That was in the early 90's, when Albany was the nearest railroad point.

Getting off the train at Albany in early Spring, Mr. Clifton intended to continue to Haskell by stage coach which operated every other day between Albany and Haskell.

The balmy spring weather gave Mr. Clifton an idea. Since he was only prospecting and looking the country over, why not walk the 30 miles or so to his destination and really get a firsthand look at the country?

Going to a grocery store and buying a small supply of food—he set out on foot, carrying his valise.

The trip was made in days of leisurely walking in later years Mr. Clifton said the trip really was this section of West Texas.

Incidentally, one tract of land he had of Haskell, in a country he "walked" first trip here.

Mr. Clifton was the outdoors and fishing hobby was fishing. He was credited with a black bear in the Brazos in the corner of Haskell.

More Significant Than the Bomb

The jet plane has added new standards of comfort and speed to international air travel. The result has been a steady increase in this travel, by business people, students, tourists. We can reach almost any point in the civilized world in a few hours. Thus, the family with a two-week vacation can spend almost all of it in the far-away places of its choice.

But there is more to the jet age than just convenience and improved service—much, much more. President Juan T. Trippe of Pan American World Airways expressed that fact in these words: "Mass travel by air may prove to be more significant to world destiny than the atom bomb. For there can be no atom bomb potentially more powerful than the air tourist, charged with curiosity, enthusiasm and good will, who can roam the four corners of the world, meeting in friendship and understanding the people of other nations and races."

Insularity is a root cause of misconceptions, misunderstandings, jealousies, enmities. Those dangerous barriers to a better world are broken bit by bit when Americans go abroad, and people of other nations come here. Knowledge of the hopes, traditions and achievements of people who live thousands of miles from one's own shores—can be a highroad to ultimate world peace.

Yes—It's Taxpayers Money!

Writing in the Cleveland Plain Dealer, columnist Howard Preston makes one of the best suggestions that has come along in quite a while.

He simply suggests that, when we write or talk about government spending, we use the phrase "taxpayers' money" rather than "federal funds."

It is unfortunate, but true, that there is a need to emphasize this distinction. Numbers of people, seemingly don't relate government money to the money that is taken from them through taxation. Consciously or not, they assume that government has some other and magical means of obtaining funds.

Government doesn't earn money, and it doesn't create wealth. It isn't supposed to. Government can spend only what it first seizes from the people—and this includes the as-yet-unborn taxpayers who will be paying the bills of the past for ages to come.

So—don't just think of federal funds. Think of taxpayers' money—your money.

ard. and his two sisters, Mrs. Della Cox from here, and Mrs. Lela Cox from Fort Worth. That he will be missed is just an understatement. Men like Arthur Montgomery are few and can't be replaced in a community. His thoughtful, common sense and able advice was sought by all of us, young and old, whenever we had a problem. And Arthur, with his sense of humor, and his optimistic outlook, gave us the help we needed, from his storehouse of experience and from his reading. I imagine he was the best read man as far as periodical reading is concerned in our community. He and Gomer took all the good magazines and read them, and could converse on any topic of the day whether it was politics, government, or news of the day. Everybody loved him and his death will be a great loss to the Methodist Church, to the Stamford Electric Co-Operative Board, to the Haskell Farmer's Co-Op Gin Board of Directors, because, although Arthur resigned from the Board two years ago, he was still helpful with gin problems since he had served as manager several years, and knew the business. He was also a charter member of the Haskell County Hospital Board. We want to express to his family our sympathy, and our deep appreciation of having known and been neighbors of Arthur Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Howard Montgomery were in Dallas Sunday and Monday with Howard's brother, Arthur, and vis-

Here for Arthur Montgomery's funeral were his nephews, Mr. and Mrs. Othella Cox and children of Odessa. Mr. and Mrs. Vaughn Cox and children of Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. John Carlos Montgomery of Snyder; his nieces, Mr. and Mrs. James Gardner and children of Dallas; Gomer's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gordon from Petersburg, and Mrs. Ellen Reed from Grand Prairie and Gomer's nieces and families. Mrs. Ruth Phillips and husband, Fred, and their son, John Fred Phillips and family. Mrs. Pauline Webber and family all from Abilene, and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Lynn Gordon from Lubbock.

Mrs. Allen Morris from Seymour spent last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Bergstrom and Joy.

Mike Overton is spending several days in Garland and Dallas with his brother, William. Mrs. J. M. Owens has resigned as first grade teacher, and we all regret losing her. Mrs. Owens has started our little folks off in their schooling for 15 years, and we have considered ourselves most lucky to have such a dedicated and thorough teacher for them. Her mother's health is such that she feels she is needed more at home now. Applications will be considered at the regular school board meeting in August to hire a replacement for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tate and children moved to their new home and new job in Merkel Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Van Morrison will move to the Tate house, and the new homemaking teacher and her husband, the new custodian. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Diddle, will live in the Morrison house.

Jean Ann Raughton of Highland is spending several weeks with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Overton. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Isbell and children spent last weekend in San Antonio visiting Allen's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Callahan, and seeing historical and interesting places in that old city. They returned by way of Austin and visited the capitol. Mrs. Lee Bohannon returned with them for a visit with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mickler in the Erickdale community.

Plans are being made for Paint Creek's Homecoming in October. Class agents will be notified in the next few days to invite members of their classes to come. No invitations are being mailed to former students of Post, Howard, McConnell, Rose and Weaver and the other schools which have come into Paint Creek. You will just have to consider the announcements in the paper as your invitation. All former students and teachers of any of these schools and of Paint Creek are urged to come. The meal will be catered again this year, and reservations will have to be in early. Billy Garland Middlebrook is chairman of the dinner arrangements committee, and reservations should be sent to him, Route 3, Haskell, Texas, or to the Homecoming secretary, Margaret Fischer, Route 3, Haskell, Texas, or to the President of Homecoming Ray Perry, Route 3, Haskell, Texas. We will let you know the exact date and cost next week.

Half the families of this community has left for vacations this week, but I don't know where everybody went or how long they are going to stay—so, vacation news will have to wait. Someone said the Baptist Church hardly had enough to call it church Sunday. The members are all having their vacation now so they won't miss any of their revival which begins next Sunday.

Cisco Junior College Expects 400 Students

As applications for enrollment continue to pour in at Cisco Junior College, a record number of 400 is predicted when registration is completed on September 13, President, G. C. Hogue reported from Cisco this week.

Seven students attend CJC from Pennsylvania, Tennessee, Louisiana, New York and Illinois. Two students come from Thailand.

Gratitude for Skill of Dr. Spencer Brings Wheel-Chair Gift to Hospital

An operation performed by Dr. Frank C. Spencer, now of Lexington, Ky., while he was with Johns-Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, resulted in donation of a wheel chair to the hospital by a grateful Norfolk, Va., woman. Dr. Spencer, reared here, is the son of Mrs. Frank Spencer of Haskell. Letter which told of the gift is self-explanatory, and read as follows:

Norfolk, Va. July 17, 1962 John-Hopkins Hospital Gentlemen: Upon arriving at John-Hopkins Hospital after a conference with a Charlottesville professor who gave us no hope in saving my husband's leg, one of my first contacts was with an old, rickety wheel chair in which my husband suffered bucking and jerking on the way to his room. I made a silent promise to myself that if my husband walked out of your hospital with both legs, I would donate a wheel chair, to be used in the emergency-admitting section (by the ramp). Three weeks later, after an operation performed by your former Dr. Frank C. Spencer, my husband walked out of your hospital under his own power. And, six months later, Dr. Spencer performed a similar operation on my husband's other leg. Now, two years after the first operation, my husband is still walking with both legs. Here in Norfolk, these two events are referred to as "Spencer's Miracle."

I regret the necessary lapse of time between my promise and its fulfillment, but I am indeed happy now to enclose a check which I ask that you use toward the purchase of a wheel chair for the emergency-admitting section, by the ramp. (I must insist that this check be used only for this purpose, for only in this way can I feel that I have kept my promise.) Please accept this in appreciation of the miracle performed by Dr. Spencer and his assistants. With a hope and a prayer that Dr. Spencer, and your hospital may long continue to bring health and happiness to many, I am, Sincerely—(Mrs.) Lillie S. Segal.

New Self-Service Cleaning Center Opened Here

Fred and Jane Boon announce this week the opening of the self-service con-operated Boon's Cleaning Center at 1200 North 1st Street.

The new business is equipped with 20 Maytag automatic washing machines and features rain-soft water, six clothes dryers and four E-W Norge dry cleaning units. The complete cleaning operation is processed in one machine in 40 to 50 minutes and clothes are left undressed and wrinkle free. Nine dresses or four men's suits make a typical load, or 10 sweaters or a big bedspread. Two automatic hair dryers are another added convenience of the new air conditioned business. The Boons invite the public to come out and inspect the new equipment and state there is plenty of parking space.

Mrs. Boon will be remembered as the former Jane Holt. Dates for a grand opening of the new business will be announced in the newspaper soon.

Haskell Fireman Attends Training School at A&M

City Fireman Floyd Lusk spent last week in College Station, where he attended the 33rd annual Texas Firemen's Training School held at Texas A&M College.

More than 1,700 firemen from 20 states attended the five-day school, which was directed by H. D. Smith, chief of the Firemen's Training Program of the Engineering Extension Service of A&M College. Towns sending firemen to the school receive key rate credit for those participating firemen. Attendance of the Haskell firemen resulted in a 3 per cent credit for fire insurance buyers in this city. Firemen Lusk enrolled for the special course in fire department officer training this year. He has attended the annual school each year since joining the fire department.

Mrs. Clara Busby Funeral Rites Held Wednesday

Mrs. Busby was a member of the First Presbyterian Church. She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Margie Lamert and Mrs. Sue Mahood, both of Snyder and Mrs. Becky Feuge of Bronte; two sons, Johnny Busby of Lubbock and R. D. Busby of Seymour; her father, J. Former Haskell Youth Injured Near Snyder

Ronald Eugene Gilleland, 16-year-old Roby youth who was critically injured in a car-truck accident Monday night, is a former student in Haskell schools and a nephew of Dudley, Frank and Roy Phelps, and grandson of Mrs. Joe Phelps, all of Haskell.

The youth, member of Snyder Colt League All-Star baseball team, suffered a broken back in the crash, in Cogdell Memorial Hospital in Snyder. A specialist who was flown in from Lubbock to perform surgery, said there was a good chance the boy would live, but added that chances of his ever walking again were slim.

At the time of the accident, young Gilleland and the Snyder All-Star manager were en route to Lovington, N. M., for a scheduled ball game. Horatio Alger wrote more than 100 novels based upon the idea that virtue is always rewarded.

Prattle

By AL HINDS

This scribe would like to express thanks for the fine reception the Prattle column has received. Please do not think we are boasting, but for the telephone calls, letters, and to those who have stopped on the streets, and to those who have dropped by the office to tell us that you have been reading and enjoyed the column, we humbly say thanks.

By the time the meek inherit the earth, taxes will be so high they won't want it.

One way to get rid of the noise in the rear of your car is to have her sit up front with you.

REMINISCING: As the month of August rolls around, I am reminded of that August day, 17 years ago, as the nation heard the news the World War Two had ended. Many whooped and shrieked with joy, yet in the hearts of others were sadness. I remember a lad of 13 or 14 years of age sauntered up to me and exclaimed, "We whupped 'em, didn't we?" Yes, perhaps in one sense of the word, "we whupped 'em." The nation had received the victory message, yet when I paused to think of the homes broken by war, when I thought of the mothers, fathers, wives and sweethearts who had lost their loved ones, to them the war had not ended, and in their memories will never end.

In war everyone loses... no one wins. Because of war many men go through life crippled. Because of war, never more in this life will thousands of fathers have the privilege of grasping the hand of their sons; never will many mothers embrace their sons again; never will the wives and sweethearts of those fallen on the field of battle forget the awful day when their loved one marched off to war... the long period of waiting, and then the dreaded news... "We regret to inform you." Because of war, never will the little girl in pig-tails, nor will the little boy in blue run to meet their daddy, take him by the hand and lead him home.

Yes, Sherman was right. "War is hell!"

Often-times I get into the "galopy", along with the family, and spend a few hours on Sunday afternoon driving over the country surveying crops, and enjoy the quiet and peace of the "great outdoors." I like to take the side roads, or some lonely country road, drive at a slow pace and enjoy Mother Nature at her best. Sometimes I come upon an old church or school building, vacated...

just standing there gradually falling apart from lack of care and use, and I think how wonderful it would be if some way or other those buildings which cost thousands of dollars to construct, could be put to some use.

And then again, maybe I will drive into a community which at one time bustled with activity... just to see a little country store, or service station... all that is left of what at one time was a thriving village... but now life around many rural schools, and villages is just about a thing of the past.

At one of the little country stores I stopped to get a cold "soda pop," and to rest for a few minutes, and while imbibing the pop I walked over into the shade of the building and surveyed what at one time was a busy little community, with several stores, a good school, and all the earmarks of an "up and coming" little community... but today, one must look into the past to verify that statement, as there are now few indications pointing to that fact.

As I sat in the cool shade of the little store, I realized that with the passing of time... and with distances meaning almost nothing in this "moon-bound" age... more and more of the small communities will disappear.

A truly sensible girl is not as sensible as she looks, because a sensible girl has more sense than to look sensible.

When I see two women kissing, I always think of two boxers shaking hands before the fight.

Many persons believe that "success" in life is the accumulation of money, stocks, bonds and property, etc., but this scribe believes that if a person is doing the things he wants to do, and is happy in his work... even though he may not lay up a lot of treasures here on earth... still he can be termed successful.

It's good to have the nice things in life, but we should all remember that "you can't take it with you," and should give more thought and concern for our fellowman, as we travel down the pathway of life.

Today's Food for Thought: What good is it going to do if this country is the first to land on the moon, when many of us cannot get along with our next door neighbor?

1962 License Is Needed Through August
It's nearing the time when fishermen and hunters will need to purchase their new 1963 licenses. August is the last month in which the 1962 licenses can be used. Many people still haven't used up their vacation time, but probably expect to do so before September 1. When they finally take off on this long anticipated period of rest and relaxation, much of their time will be spent attempting to fill their ice chests with fish. J. B. Phillips, law enforcement coordinator for the Game and Fish Commission, reminds these people that even though the 1962 license will be good just through August, they will have to have one. Last month, 211 fishermen failed to buy the proper license and were arrested by game wardens. "Don't be one of those who will be apprehended by our officers in July or August," advises Phillips. "If you plan to fish during these two months, get that license now while you are thinking about it. The reason why most fishermen fail to have a license is simply because they wait until the last minute, and then forget it or decide to take a chance."
In June a total of 289 persons were charged with violating the game and fish laws of this state. Of these, 65 cases were dismissed, 3 persons had their fines suspended and one was found not guilty. Fines and court costs amounted to $5,987.27.
