AND

NOT MUCH ABOUT ANYTHING

STANTON will be host Friday and Saturday, March 23rd and 24th, to the annual literary, track and field meet of the Martin County Interscholastic League.

The county meet is one of the finest features aside from school books that is conducted by the schools of the county. Competitive athletic and literary events stimulate interest in school work, give students diversion from the regular book routine, teach them how to win and how to lose and are important preparatory steps in the competitive channels that daily confront the average individual after he takes his place in life.

Teachers and students have been working hard for the county meet. It promises to be one of the biggest and best in the history of the league and too much praise cannot be given. Director General W. C. Glazener and other members of the directorate as well as participating schools for this very important part in our educational program.

Stanton thrice welcomes the many visitors from the rural section of the county that will attend the county meet here Friday and Saturday. The keys to the city gates have been tossed away, so we have been informed by Mayor Houston, to permit the visitor to walk in and enjoy the hospitality that waits to be extended him by the citizenship of Stanton.

SCANNING over the columns of several of the weekly newspaper exchanges that come to the Reporter published in West Texas, we noted they were teeming with Easter advertising from the local merchants. Some of the merchants devoted from a half page to a page in their home newspaper to inform the buying public of the various items they had just received to offer for the Spring buying campaign.

The incident revealed to the writer that while in some of these towns in which these exchanges are published, the communities enjoyed the remuneration from fairly good crops, there were others that had suffered the toll exacted from a severe drought, yet the local merchant had not arrived at that point he believed the country was astride a toboggan going down hill "hell-bent for election." With that in mind, he attributed that a West Texan is never to possess—plenty of grubs and grit and never give up—the face of sandstorms and an outlook to date there is another drought on the way, the merchant invested in Spring stocks of merchandise to meet the wants of the people in their respective communities. Then, aware, as all wise and progressive merchants are, that to inform the people what they had in store for them when they came to make their Spring purchases, they purchased space in the home newspaper to carry their messages.

In purchasing advertising space in the local newspaper, the merchant may not have realized it but he was "throwing a stone that killed two birds." His announcement to the public his Spring goods were on tap would bring him the customers from which he would receive a revenue, and secondly, his buying of space in the local newspaper enabled the editor and his force of helpers to buy some of his Spring goods, help them to pay their taxes to assist the operation of schools and the county government—and pay for a whole lot of other things that fall in the expense column of a newspaper.

The patronage of the merchant was also working to the end that would enable the editor to publish a better and more interesting newspaper, a fact that would make the local paper grow from a subscription standpoint, which would give to the local merchant the opportunity to spread his store news over a wider area of trade territory.

We have merchants who seem to be contented with the business they are getting. At least that fact is very prominently displayed by their conspicuous absence from the advertising columns of their local newspaper. Apparently, they are not seeking more trade because they are not inviting it. If they are, the vehicle they employ to "roll in the business" is the use of the "mouth organ" playing in the car of the buying public, and the motive power to that sort of a conveyance is stuck right at the front door of the merchant.

You can't make Snooter believe for one minute there is a merchant in Stanton that is contented with the business he is enjoying. Not only that, but there is not a merchant, no matter where he may be, or how big a business he is doing, that can honestly say he is contented with the amount of business he is doing. The Reporter offers the merchant who wants more business the way to secure it. That route is through advertising, inviting the public to trade in his store. First the merchant must not overestimate the quality of his goods or the price he is offering the

Martin County Home Demonstration Clubs Issues 1934 Year Book

The Martin County Home Demonstration Clubs, under the supervision of Miss Myrtle Miller, home demonstration agent for Midland and Martin counties, have the honor of announcing the first year book for these clubs in the history of the county. Miss Miller, also, has the distinction, as we know it, of being the first home demonstration agent for this county.

During her regime which has only been a few short months, Miss Miller has organized in Martin county several home demonstration clubs, all of which are aggressive organizations. Shortly after assuming her duties in this county, she held last fall, in the face of the worst drought in this section, a Community Exhibit in Stanton, that would have done credit to a much older and more prosperous community. The occasion brought to Stanton a very large attendance of ladies from the county. Coupled with this, she carried on a canning food campaign during the fall and winter at which there were thousands of cans put up. Her duties calling for her visiting the clubs of the counties of Midland and Martin, and attending to the general routine of office duties, keep Miss Miller continuously on the go.

The year book consists of twenty-three printed pages, exclusive of two printed pages on the cover.

The entire year's program of work for the Martin county clubs, is given, including the names of officers of the various clubs, the officers of the

AN APPRECIATION THAT THE REPORTER APPRECIATES

The reader of the Reporter will please take cognizance of the fact that from time to time this newspaper carries a number of advertisements from the business men and merchants. Some issues there are more merchants asking for your trade through the columns of the Reporter than in others.

In order to keep abreast of the number of merchants who take advantage of the advertising columns to inform you of the items they have to offer you, we urge you to scan through the advertising pages each issue. We say this because you might overlook the very item you wished to purchase, and also in the consideration for the merchants who are spending their money with the Reporter to convey their store news to you.

We believe in the old adage, "You scratch my back and I will scratch yours." The merchant and professional men whose advertisements appear in the Reporter are spending money with us, and in return we want you to help us reciprocate by trading with them.

MRS. JOHN A. HALEY ANNOUNCES FOR REPRESENTATIVE

PROMINENT IN THE CIVIC AND BUSINESS LIFE OF WEST TEXAS AND A RESIDENT OF THIS AREA 36 YEARS.

Mrs. John A. Haley of Midland this week announced her candidacy for State Representative of the 88th District, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries. She is seeking the votes of citizens of Stanton and Martin county.

The Midland woman was solicited to run by ranchers, oil men, farmers and business people, and leading women of a number of counties in the district. She is making an energetic campaign.

Mrs. Haley is one of the most prominent women of West Texas, and has been a leader in the civic and business life of West Texas for 36 years.

Because of her outstanding ability and leadership she was named a regent of Texas Tech and is now serving in that capacity.

Mrs. Haley has been district chairman of the American Red Cross since it was organized in this area, 18 years ago. Her work as head of the Red Cross has been so efficient and she has done so much in behalf of the unemployed and distressed people in the several counties in her district, that no one else has been even considered for the place since she was elected in 1916.

The Midland woman was the first head of the City Federation of Women's Clubs of Midland and has been regularly re-elected each year. She will take a prominent part in the Sixth District meeting in Sweetwater in April and will make the speech in response to the address of welcome.

Mrs. Haley has had a varied business experience, having taught school for several years, assisted in the management of the John Haley ranch and with her husband, a pioneer rancher and business man, having managed the Liano Hotel at Midland, for several years. She has often served as a church officer and was for years president of a Parent-Teachers association in Midland.

Her experience has qualified her for the business side of the work in the House of Representatives, her friends say, and her long residence in West Texas, with ranching, business and oil experience has qualified her to truly represent the interests of the mammoth 88th district.

Mrs. Haley has been identified with practically every important civic movement of this area for a quarter of a century. She has frequently made speeches in political campaigns and is held by her friends to have political sense and understanding of political strategy, as well as having the unqualified respect of the business people, ranchers, farm people, oil men

A JOYOUS TIME IS ANTICIPATED FRIDAY-SATURDAY

IT IS EXPECTED THERE WILL BE 1,000 PEOPLE ATTEND THE TWO DAYS INTERSCHOLASTIC LEAGUE MEET.

The gates to the city are ajar and Stanton stands with outstretched arms to welcome the children of the rural schools of Martin county, their teachers, their parents, trustees, and visitors to the County Interscholastic League Meet, to be held here Friday and Saturday of this week.

The date first agreed upon, March 16th and 17th, to hold the meet, it was found that all the schools of the county could not hold their events and be ready in the time specified, hence the time was postponed until this Friday and Saturday.

Both the student contestants and the instructors training them have been worn down to a "frazzle," and will welcome the time when the occasion will have been moved on into past history.

The success of the program billed for the Interscholastic League meet, largely, depends upon the faithfulness and perseverance put into it by the various teachers of the school of the county's rural schools. They have the whole matter in hand to select the contestants and whip them in line to do the utmost in the contest to which they are assigned. Each school from which contestants participate, is all-enthusiased over winning in the event in which it is a participant, and that fact makes it rather of a nerve-wracking proposition to the three—the instructor, the contestant, and the school in general.

The directors of each department of the Interscholastic League events scheduled in the county, have been working overtime at their tasks, parents of contestants entered have worried to a "fine edge" that their son or daughter bring home the bacon. The director general, W. C. Glazener, principal of the Stanton high school, on whose shoulders rests the responsibility of compiling the official program of the county meet and see that the events are carried out as per schedule, has been working diligently to the end that the occasion be made a success. All are anxious for the day to hasten when the curtain rolls down on the whole affair.

All the events will be held in Stanton. The indoor events at the high school building, and the outdoor sports at the high school athletic field.

The opening program starts Friday morning at 9:00 o'clock with a choral singing, Mrs. W. C. Glazener, director. Following this comes the declamation contest of which Mrs. T. H. Bass, is director. Entered in this event: junior girls, high school; junior boys, to the public. He must be in a position to meet the statements he makes in his advertisements—no bull—just straight out and out common sense facts. Then keep the people informed regularly of the goods he has to sell.

THE very first monkeywrench thrown into the machinery that caused a severe house delay from the schedule time of publishing the Fort Stockton Pioneer last week, on assuming charge of the paper by Geo. Baker came in the form of a legal document that covered twenty-four or more columns of his six-page newspaper. But it is a forgone conclusion that the delay was one most happily and remuneratively acceptable to Baker, for we opine that there is a nice little bag of gold clinging to the legal for the editor.

We would like for Baker to give us his recipe for having the opportunity to shake the hand of Old Man Prosperity. One week Baker bought the Pioneer, the next week he was at his former home, Sonora, straightening up his business affairs, and the third week he assumed charge of the Fort Stockton paper and along came the publication of a legal document that looks like will amount to several hundred dollars for Baker when the job is completed.

But Baker is not the only fortunate newspaper man to get this same legal document to publish. Barney Hubbs, of the Pecos Enterprise and Editor McKee of the Ward County News, at Barstow, fell heir to the same business. The legal work has to do with clearing the way to land bordering on both sides of the Pecos river for a distance of some fifty miles in order to build the Red Bluff Dam project for irrigation purposes. The lands involved are in Pecos, Reeves and Ward counties.

Newspaper men never get too much business nor too much money for what they do. They deserve all they get. They work harder, get less money, and cussed more for what they do, do, or don't do, than any other bunch, yet they are the greatest philanthropists going. They give away thousands of dollars yearly boosting for their town and community. No wonder they are broke!

ANOTHER newspaper man that is expending some of the big fortune he has made in the newspaper business is Editor T. B. Klepper of the Ford County News. He has made considerable improvement in his shop. We can plainly see how Klepper, in face off a depression, is in a position to spend more money on his plant. The merchants of Crowley are liberal patrons of the News, both from the standpoint of advertising and job work. Of this latter they do not believe in writing letters on baking powder stationery, or any other stationery furnished by flour and automobile companies. In return Klepper is giving his people an excellent weekly newspaper, and is equipping the plant to give them a better newspaper. It is said that the "country is just what the people living in it make of it." A newspaper is just what the people living in the community make it. If they fail to patronize it, the paper is a small half-starved affair. If they liberally patronize it, the paper will be newsworthy and progressive. The live newspaper man usually puts back into his business all the money he makes to improve his newspaper.

County Council, and the names of the officials that make up the county commissioners' court.

Miss Miller is doing excellent work with the clubs of the county. The club members are greatly enthused with their work, and with such cooperation between the county agent and the members of the clubs, the result is bound to redound in a very constructive program of work being carried out the year 1934.

The feature part to the year book is the fact that the job department of the Reporter printed it, and the job department force consisted of the generalissimo of this paper and his better half. Two important features connected with the printing of the book and that is all the typesetting, the making up of the pages, running them off on the job press, two pages at a time, setting up all the type with advertisements for the Reporter, making up the pages, running of the paper on the big press and feeding the papers through the folder, all, was accomplished by the guy who is setting this, in one week, with only a delay of half a day in the publication day of the paper.

support because of her familiarity with their problems and the oil fraternity were enthusiastic for Mrs. Haley because of her former assistance by telegram and otherwise when problems of interest to West Texas were up for consideration.

Mrs. Haley, only a few months ago, made a special trip to Austin in interest of the passage of the pink boll worm remuneration bill to repay West Texas farmers their expense in fumigating against the spread of the pests.

The Midland woman is widely known in all of the 13 counties of the 88th district due to her being a pioneer and the wife of a pioneer cattleman and due to her activities in club work and in seeking legislative relief for farmers and the oil industry.

Conoco Travel Bureau Predicts Big Increase In Tourist Traffic

"More tourists will visit Stanton during 1934, and more money will be spent in local business establishments by visiting motorists than during either of the past two years."

Such was the prediction made by Chas. S. Ritchie, commander of a roomy red green and white Conoco Travel Bureau bus which rolled into town today, Friday, stopping long enough to allow its personnel to inspect local points of scenic and historical interest and check over the tourist assistance now being rendered by Conoco service stations here.

Mr. Ritchie told the Stanton Reporter that one reason why the increase in vacation travel to this area seems probable is the fact that 1933 statistics compiled by the Conoco Travel Bureau indicates a decidedly encouraging trend.

In 1932, for example, the Bureau served 143,097 groups of tourists! routed 31,000 of them into or through this state, and 4,600 of them to this part of the state. But in 1933, a total of 196,415 groups, or an increase of 53,319, was served; 20,000 sent to the state, and 5,800 to this area.

Motorists who apply for free Travel Bureau service also receive a special "Passport" which helps them keep a careful expense record of their trips, identifies them wherever they may be and secures additional privileges for them at all Conoco stations. Each station acts as a field branch of the Bureau and is prepared to furnish valuable information to all tourists. All cottage camps and hotels throughout the country has been catalogued and described in free literature now being sent out by the bureau.

Conoco division officers accompanying Mr. Ritchie were: Chas. L. Oden, assistant division manager; H. E. Keim, district superintendent; R. H. Robinson, operator.

The Conoco bus is equipped with

Emergency Cotton Loan Office Opened In Stanton

The Stanton Reporter has just received word that an emergency crop loan office has been opened at Stanton with Chas. Ebersol in charge, and farmers desiring loans should apply between the hours of 8:15 A. M. and 6:00 P. M.

According to the regulations under which the crop loans are to be made this year, any farmer who secures a loan must obtain a statement from the county production council, where one exists, that he does not intend to increase his acreage or production in violation of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration program.

In counties where a county production council has not been set up, before any application for a loan will be considered the farmer who is applying will have to give satisfactory evidence that he is cooperating with the production control program of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The maximum amount of an emergency crop loan from $25 to $50 may be accepted by the emergency crop loan office provided the farmer does not have sufficient security to obtain a loan elsewhere.

A farmer applying for $150 or more must first make application to the Production Credit Association for a loan from it. Rejection of this application by the Production Credit Association will be considered sufficient evidence that other credit is not available and the applicant may then make application to the emergency loan office.

Ed. F. Jay, of Sweetwater, is field supervisor, and was in Midland Thursday in conference with local citizens, to which Jim Tom and Chas. Ebersol attended.

Mr. Jay states that he will be in Stanton twice each week.

BANKING RETURNS TOWARD NORMAL

Reconstruction Finance Corporation Loan Repayments Show Bank's Lead Procession in Recovery Movement

Indicating a rapid return on the part of the banks to a normal self-sustaining basis, 54 per cent of the loans which they made from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to tide them over the difficulties of the past two years have been repaid by them, it is shown in a recent official report.

The R. F. C. report, issued on March 6, says that the Corporation since it began operations in February, 1932, had made aggregate cash advances to railroads, agricultural and home loan agencies, insurance companies and various other institutions in the amount of $4,786,410,000. Of this sum banks and trust companies, to the number of 6,783, received actual cash advances of $1,520,540,000, but have already paid back $820,260,000, or 54 per cent. These figures are exclusive of $376,390,000 in loans authorized but withdrawn or not availed of by the banks.

Non-banking borrowers received R. F. C. advances in the amount of $3,265,870,000, and made repayments of $377,850,000, or less than 12 per cent. Among other classes of financial institutions reported as making high ratios of repayments are building and loan associations which had received $114,020,000 and have repaid $53,580,000, or over 47 per cent, and insurance companies, whose borrowings totalled $88,590,000 and repayments $24,340,000, or nearly 28 per cent. None of the major non-governmental financial groups showed so high a ratio of repayments as the banks and trust companies as a group.

BANK LOANS AND BUSINESS RECOVERY

Official Describes Efforts of Reserve Banks to Bring Out Deserving Borrowers—Present Situation Typical

Appropos of the part that an expansion of business loans by banks occupies in the early stages of the business recovery which is now gaining headway, a Federal Reserve Bank official recently gave an interesting review of the experiences of his institution in this connection. In 1932 the Federal Reserve Banks were empowered by law to make direct loans to individuals in unusual circumstances when they had been unable to obtain loans from a commercial bank, he pointed out.

From the middle of 1932 to the end of 1933 there were 1,236 applicants for loans at the New York Federal Reserve Bank under this law. The great majority of these applications proved on examination to be for funds for capital purposes, which are properly supplied as an investment in the business, or else were mortgage loans or others unclassifiable as commercial.

Only fourteen qualify.

Only 250, or less than 20 per cent, were of the type which merited detailed investigation. The amount involved was $9,525,000. After further study of these, the Federal Reserve Bank was forced to turn down the applications of 236, finally offering credit in the sum of $1,417,000 to 14 prospective borrowers. Of this amount, only $806,000 was actually loaned, more than one-half of which was still outstanding many months later. Two of the borrowers went into receivership.

"Since it was the special endeavor of the Federal Reserve Bank to make every possible loan under the emergency provisions of the amendment, and since their best efforts resulted in the extension of so small a sum as to have no effect on the total volume of commercial loans, it is a reasonable assumption that eligible borrowers entitled to bank credit are being provided for by the commercial banks," says the American Bankers Association Journal in commenting on this episode.

It is characteristic, as shown by studies of past business cycles, for changes in the volume of commercial bank credit to follow behind other contraction or expansion of business activity, says a financial writer in the New York Times. This was manifest recently in England's recent recovery where there was a lag between increased business and increased commercial loans.

County Key Bankers

Describing the activities of the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association, the Director, D. H. Otis, says: "With 2,500 agriculturally minded bankers designated as county key bankers, there is enlisted a tremendous force for the improvement of agriculture. These key bankers bring organized assistance to progressive bankers, who are led to see the possibility of agricultural work in their communities. Banker-farmer tours are emphasized as a means of acquainting bankers, farmers and other business men with first-hand knowledge of how agricultural improvement methods are working out in practice. These give an opportunity for the key bankers to contact county bankers and work out new ideas."

Mrs. Weston
(The Doctor's Wife)

Says . . .

"I Use Gas For Water Heating"

MRS. WESTON is the wife of Dr. Weston, who engages in a general medical practice. His calls take him into the homes of rich and poor alike, and often he asks for hot water for use in administering to the sick. He recently noticed that, almost without exception, the water is heated with gas. And he had always considered gas a luxury fuel because of its fine qualities! Dr. Weston spoke to his wife about his finding.

She uses gas for heating water but never considered its value. To satisfy her own curiosity, Mrs. Weston checked up to see how much it costs to heat water with the different fuels. She found that gas could sell for as much as $1.25 per 1000 cubic feet and still be the most economical fuel for this purpose. Unfounded political attacks upon gas rates will not receive Mrs. Weston's support because she finds the value of gas far more than any amount she ever has been asked to pay for it.

If others of us were to think of gas in terms of its value as compared to other fuels, like Mrs. Weston, we would assume a fairer attitude in considering its price. Those who know its true value count gas as worth $1.25 per 1000 cubic feet for water heating, $2.50 for cooking and $3.00 for refrigeration. The price asked for gas is far below any of these amounts, and the difference is your savings. That's why it truthfully can be said—"Gas Doesn't Cost . . . IT PAYS."

Joe J. Cook Announces Commissioner Prect. J

In our announcement column this week will be found the name of Joe J. Cook as a candidate for the office of Commissioner of Precinct No. 1, subject to the action of the Democratic Primary in July.

Mr. Cook has been a resident of Martin county 17 years, coming to this county in 1914 from Mitchell county. All these years he has been farming. Prio to coming to Mitchell he was in the employ of the American Railway Express Co., at Kansas City, Mo. In the drouthy year of 1917, in Mart county, Mr. Cook went back to Kansas City and worked during the year 1918 for the same express company.

He has never been a candidate for a public office, but has always taken an active interest in behalf of the welfare of his community.

Mr. Cook is thoroughly familiar with the duties of the office of County Commissioner and believes that he is qualified to fill the position to which he aspires. He expects to make a thorough canvass of the precinct between now and the primary in an effort to place his candidacy before the voters of the precinct personally, but realizing that he may fail to see each individual in making a canvass he asks that you give his candidacy your serious consideration in the coming campaign and election.

FRUIT NOT KILLED HERE

ACCORDING TO FRUIT GROWER

Following the very cold spell of Saturday night, many owners of fruit trees were worried as to whether the blooming trees had been killed. According to French Gray, who owns a fine fruit and vineyard farm just west of the city limits of Stanton after an investigation this week stated he found the fruit was safe. Only in a few isolated cases did the trees appear to show any blight.

Fruit trees in Stanton were out in full bloom indicating a good crop on the way, when the cold wave struck.

Why Liquid Laxatives Do You No Harm

The dose of a liquid laxative can be measured. The action can thus be regulated to suit individual need. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The right liquid laxative will bring a perfect movement, and with no discomfort at the time, or afterward. The wrong cathartic may often do more harm than good.

An approved liquid laxative (one which is most widely used for both adults and children) is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, a prescription. It is perfectly safe. Its laxative action is based on senna—a natural laxative. The bowels will not become dependent on this form of help, as they may do in the case of cathartics containing mineral drugs. Ask your druggist for Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Member N. R. A.
