Due to a little extra work in the advertising department of this paper, and mostly due to a linotype machine running about like a saw mill because of a cold breeze floating around in office causing oil to become gummy and running like sorghum molasses in a blizzard.

BLIZZARD STRIKES; LAMBS FREEZE

Following a warm afternoon Wednesday came a heavy wind chilly blast from the north carrying on its wings an ocean of dust and sand, later to be followed by rain, sleet and a freeze.

Earl Powell of the Bar X ranch reported Thursday morning the loss of many lambs by the cold wet freeze as well as losing a cow and calf by freezing to death.

At this hour Thursday afternoon, with a chilly high wind blowing from the north, no checkup could be made on the loss of livestock in this section, but it is expected to be heavy, especially among the new lamb crop.

DR. J. E. MOFFETT RE-ELECTED MAYOR

A very quiet city election was held Tuesday. Something over a hundred votes out of a possible six hundred was polled.

Dr. J. E. Moffett was re-elected mayor, as well as James Jones, A. W. Keisling and S. D. McWhorter, re-elected aldermen.

THE TARZAN OF TARZAN, TANT LINDSAY, HAS ALL SORTS OF RELICS

Written for the Historical Edition but crowded out for want of time and space.—Ed.)

A trip to Tarzan, found Tant Lindsay away, up at Knott, building a corral. In so far as learning anything definite about the little city of Tarzan, why, when, and by whom established, it was fruitless.

The store, owned and operated by Mr. Lindsay, is a combination of grocery store, filling station, meat market, and hardware.

The building also houses the postoffice, and as we know Mr. Lindsay made application for the establishment of same, he picked the name. In his absence he left a very pleasant assistant but a very busy one. He did the reporter a favor by introducing the young son and heir, William Lee Lindsay, about five years old we judge. Between bites of the "all-day sucker" we had a trouble getting the name right 'till finally, in a bored tone, he said: "Practically everybody, even my Daddy, calls me Whistle."

A case of curios attracted our attention and with Whistle to explain the contents thereof, our trip was far from wasted. . . Indian relics, snake rattlers, the largest we had ever seen, an unusual looking pocket pistol with tiny percussion caps to fit. . . ; the strongest and most versatile. Under the tutelage of Coach Rufus Hyde, now assistant coach at North Dallas High School, the squad developed into a smart outfit that could make yardage through the air, around ends, off tackle, over center or any other method known to high school pigskin aggregations. Highlights in the season were the defeat of Odessa, Pecos, Wink Merkel, Colorado, and Crane. The Crane game was the scoring fest in which every man on the squad, with the exception of big Woodrow Maggart. He gained yard after

EDWARD WOLCOTT FOUNDER WOLCOTT

By EMMA NICHOLSON WOLCOTT

On the 22nd day of February in 1902, a young man rode horseback from a neighboring ranch, a distance of 25 miles, to Stanton, filed a claim on a body of land and rode back to the ranch in time to milk the cows that night.

The young man was Edward Roscoe Wolcott (Edd) and the land he had filed on was almost in the center of Martin county.

Mr. Wolcott bought and leased other lands adjoining his claim, and for the following thirty years and twenty days, operated what he named the "Heart Ranch."

He ran high-grade hereford cattle and did stock farming as well.

In 1907 Mr. Wolcott put some of his land in cultivation and it proved to be quite suitable for the growing of cotton, row

REVIVAL MEETING METHODIST CHURCH

The pre-Easter Revival begins at the Methodist Church Friday night, April 8th. Rev. R. N. Huckaby, of Haskell, will do the preaching. He is a splendid preacher who has had unusual success as a pastor evangelist. We take this means of extending an invitation to the whole community to attend these services. We will only run ten days. This is short enough and we must work if we accomplish what we desire.

We will have our usual sacrament service at sunrise Easter morning. This service was very impressive last year, and proved a blessing to those who took part in it.

We are deeply concerned about the spiritual welfare of our community. Can't you put everything aside for these ten days and help us raise the spiritual temperature of our community? We need your assistance. We will be expecting you and looking for you. Do not disappoint us.

RAYMOND VAN ZANDT Pastor

crops, truck, fruit, and in some years, small grain. By 1927, there was quite a bit of farming in his section and numbers of farm families had moved to the neighborhood adjoining the "Heart Ranch."

Mr. Wolcott had two young sons, Edward Roscoe, Jr., and Eldon Nicholson, who lacked several years of school age, but his heart went out to the children who were too far from other schools, to attend.

Mr. Wolcott took a petition to the voters to be signed, asking that a new school district be formed. At first the district comprised only 12 sections of land, but later several sections were added from other districts.

So many moves had to be made to get the school going, until a neighbor who lived off

DISTRICT 8 CHAMPION STANTON BUFFALOES OF 1930

By W. C. GLAZENER

Superintendent Stanton Schools (From The Maverick, published by the Stanton High School Press Club, under date of December 19, 1930).

Here they are, folks!—the Stanton High School Buffaloes of 1930, winners of the District Championship, and the most successful team that has ever gone out from this school. Below are their names, classifications, positions and years of participation in football:

Blocker, Jr., sub. 1 year; Lindley Metcalf, Soph., center, 2 years.

During the 1930 season the Buffs lost two games, one to Midland and the other to Snyder. On October 3, 1930, the Buffs and the Bulldogs played to a scoreless tie on the local field, and then on the second meeting at Midland, the Buffaloes came out with a heart-breaking 13-0 defeat. Because of an ineligibility on the Midland squad, however, the Stanton team was awarded the district crown. At Snyder the district game was a slaughter round by the beefy boys from Scurry county. They smothered the uffs 31-0.

BI-DISTRICT CHAMPIONSHIP SQUAD OF THE 1931 STANTON HIGH SCHOOL BUFFALOES

By W. C. GLAZENER Superintendent Stanton Schools

(Written for the Historical Edition but crowded out for want of time and space.—Ed.)

The team went into the regional game with the Comanche high school squad.

The husky group of football players shown above brings some keen memories to most of Stanton fans. Besides being the largest squad that the local school has ever boasted, it was the strongest and most versatile. Under the tutelage of Coach Rufus Hyde, now assistant coach at North Dallas High School, the squad developed into a smart outfit that could make yardage through the air, around ends, off tackle, over center or any other method known to high school pigskin aggregations. Highlights in the season were the defeat of Odessa, Pecos, Wink Merkel, Colorado, and Crane. The Crane game was the scoring fest in which every man on the squad, with the exception of big Woodrow Maggart. He gained yard after yard on tackle around plays, only to be checked just short of the goal line. Final score was 95-0 for the Buffaloes.

After an overlong period of inactivity the Buffaloes went to Comanche during Christmas week for the regional game and lost to the Comanche squad by some 45 points.

Anderson, end; Woodrow Maggart, tackle; Earl Eubanks, guard; Allan O'Connor, end. Front row: Claud Timmons, end; Ocie Henson, half; P. Moore, end; Robert Peters, quarterback; Mack Clinton, half; Wofford Williams, tackle; Henry Bridges, half; Pegues Houston, full back; Coy B. Cook, end; Bob Henson, half; Jiggs Hall, tackle; Crover Springer, half.

On this squad several men water All-District honors. Wilson, now starring at West Point, was the best runner, punter and defensive player in the entire section. Maggart, was one of the strongest tackles seen that season. O'Connor at end was just about the hardest in the district to circle, and the year following was the best end ever playing under Stanton colors. Hogue at guard, was a standout for interference running and headsup defensive work. Kelly, a hard hitting half, was the quickest starting man on the squad and had a fine season after being pulled out of a guard position. Clair Epley was beginning his development as a hard, shifty runner and probably the best punter from Stanton high school.

Today these boys are considerably scattered. Hawkins and Williams are seeing the world with the U. S. Navy; Wilson, is climbing the scholastic and athletic ladder at West Point; Springer, is teaching at Lenoir; Sale is finishing work at Texas A&M College; Hall is graduating from Texas Technological College; Buck Henson is finishing at Howard Payne College; Houston is a year out of Texas Tech; Rhodes is with an electrical company in Dallas; Ocie Henson, Cook, Zimmerman and Maggart, are all in business in various parts of Texas; Clinton Bridges, Swain, Anderson, Kelly, Epley and Timmons, are to be found on jobs in Stanton; Kirksey is located at Fort Stockton, while the exact whereabouts of the others is unknown at present. T. M. Rushing, is high school principal at Odessa. His school has recently graduated into Class A competition. Glazener is finishing his second year as superintendent of the Stanton schools.

taught two terms. For the past two years Miss Leola Varner, (now Mrs. J. F. Glaze), has very successfully handled the school.

In 1937, the higher grades were taken to Courtney, since bus lines had been installed.

In the beginning of the fall term of 1937-38, it was decided to co-operate with Tarzan and Courtney and maintain only an elementary school at Wolcott, because of the smallness of the district. Community interest has always been very keen at Wolcott. Any public function is well attended.

A Sunday school to which all denominations are welcome, is carried on except during summer vacation. Several denominations hold church services in the school house. The location is good, the house modern and convenient, properly lighted and heated with natural gas; the grounds are kept pretty with flowers by community interest. A well and windmill on the ground furnishes plenty of good water, thus making Wolcott an ideal situation for a "Community Center."

NEW SCHOOL TRUSTEES ELECTED

J. K. Barfield and J. A. Wilson, were two new members elected to the school board Saturday.

A few resignation of teachers were accepted and some re-elected.

N. Kaderli was re-elected trustee at large.

STANTON'S ICE DELIVERY ON ROUNDS 1907

Through the courtesy of Will Hanks, local Conoco station representative, we are able to produce the picture above of a part of the business district in Stanton and the ice delivery wagon as they appeared in the summer of 1907. The horse and wagon was driven by Mr. Hanks as an ice delivery for the town of Stanton. This block of buildings faced the T&P railroad, south. The drug store is that of J. L. Hall, the present site of Jack Jones' grocery and market. The next building was occupied by a barber shop, and the two-story building was occupied by the Horace Hamilton and Roden dry goods store. In the barber-shop building originated a fire that destroyed this block in 1909. The same year the bank built the present building on the corner, now owned by Dr. P. M. Brisco, including the site of the then Hall drug store. Mr. Hanks relates a story about

Mr. Shepperd is now finishing his second term with this system, during which time the high school has become fully accredited; a practical curriculum has been initiated, with emphasis on commercial and vocational subjects; and a gymnasium has been built. The Courtney schools serve school districts of this section.

Mr. Shepperd holds a B. A. degree from Hardin-Simmons University and has been a school executive in Martin county for seven years, coming to Courtney from Valley View. He helped organize and is chairman of the Pioneer School Activities association.

Sensational of the Republic

Recently there descended on Congress from the folks back home a flood of protests on the so-called Reorganization Bill.

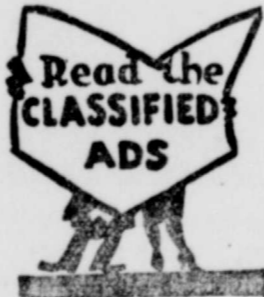

Specifically, many of the messages opposed features of the measure which constituents feared would remove certain brakes on spending of the public funds; would grant to the Executive branch of government powers they felt should be limited to the Legislative branch, and would change the administration of our Civil Service.

But fundamentally, in the opinion of experienced observers, what the public most feared was the possibility of further surrender by Congress of the powers and authority entrusted to it by the Constitution and the people.

This apprehension was not groundless. In recent years, in response to pleas of emergency, the public has seen many Congressmen willing to relinquish to the Executive branch of government and its bureau responsibilities which they were elected to assume. Every surrender of such authority means, of course, a surrender of the power of the people those Congressmen represent.

If enough of that authority is bartered away, our boasted "balance of powers" between the Legislative, the Executive and the Judicial branches of government can become an empty phrase. So long as that authority is retained by the people through their elected representatives, Democracy persists. If it is lost, Democracy falls. The Old World today offers eloquent evidence of what can happen to human freedom and business rights when representative government fails to assert itself.

That is something for Congressmen to remember when they read the mail which urges them to fulfill the responsibilities for which they were elected, and thus keep government close to their constituents, the people.

Twin Foes of Democracy
By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

With shocked amazement America has been reading the tragic tale of what is happening under Communism and Dictatorship abroad.

Trials that are travesties, wholesale executions, widespread death by bomb and gunfire, reckless disregard of treaty rights, of national rights and of human rights—no run dispatches from Europe and Asia.

What are the purposes behind all this? What brought it about?

Essentially both Dictatorship and Communism, whatever their pretensions, are twin foes of representative democracy, as we have always known it in America.

Their aim is to subordinate the individual to the State. Their theory is that the citizen is incapable of running his own life, thinking his own thoughts, choosing his own religion, producing his own and the nation's goods under his own direction.

These things, they believe, can be better directed by the politicians in power.

The men who founded America and built it into a great nation established a different pattern. They held that government was of, by and for the people, and that the politicians were the servants of the people, not the masters.

They believed in the intelligence, the enterprise, the ability and the freedom of the individual citizen, and planned a government to encourage these virtues. The American epic proves how right they were.

But there are among us theorists and busybodies who disagree with the founders and builders of America. They would discourage initiative and enterprise—by vitriolic attack, by confiscatory legislation, by destructive schemes of taxation. They seek to stifle enterprise by law. They prefer to see the politician in power, the individual citizen submerged.

That isn't the American ideal of representative democracy. It approaches the way of the totalitarian states.

If Americans want to know where that path can lead, let them study the headlines from abroad, then route our own course to avoid it.

The Power of Taxation
By RAYMOND PITCAIRN
National Chairman
Sentinels of the Republic

Congress, as this is written, is deep in deliberation over proposed revisions of pending tax measures.

Somehow, there has been created the impression that these measures affect only that branch of American activity known collectively as business.

But this picture is incomplete. It covers too narrow a field.

What Congress decides, whenever it deliberates on taxes, affects profoundly every man, woman and child in our nation. It deals with the welfare of our great army of approximately 130,000,000 consumers.

Tax legislation can determine whether or not men should have jobs, and the amount of purchasing power which those jobs create. It can determine how well American families may live and progress. It can weave its influence through the entire fabric of our national economy.

For taxes, as every one knows, are a constant and inescapable part of our daily existence. Through the higher costs of necessities which unreasonable taxes entail, they intrude into the cost of all necessities.

They slip into the gas tank of every car and tractor; into the cloth of every suit and dress, into the rent or purchase price of every home and farm, into the cost-tag of every piece of home and industrial equipment, into the food basket of every housewife.

They can influence all production, all employment. For when they threaten the enterprise and the production which create employment, they threaten jobs. Our recent record of mounting unemployment bears tragic evidence of this.

Taxation, therefore, should be above all politics.

It is everybody's business, everybody's burden.

That is something of which Congress should be reminded as it deals with this great national problem.

FOREMANS STORE A VERY BUSY PLACE

Foremans Store at Lenorah, is the center of activity at this season of the year. Housed in a stucco building is this very clean, well stocked grocery store, a filling station, egg and cream market, wholesale oil business, a postoffice and the telephone.

The business of the store is under the active management of Dave and Virgil Foreman, with L. C. Foreman, the father of the clan, keeping an eye on it. S. J. Foreman looks out for Uncle Sam's business in the post office.

The first store in Lenorah in 1923, was opened by Jim Willingham, who after a year sold to his father, J. F. Willingham, who in turn, sold to G. L. Gerold. Six years ago L. C. Foreman, who, with his wife and family, moved to Martin County from Comanche county, purchased the store and since has added many improvements.

In the fall of 1924, J. F. Willingham made application to have a U. S. post office at this place which until now, had been called Plainview a name given it by Mr. Willingham. Mrs. Jno. F. Epley, helped with the filling out and filing of the papers required and when she asked for a name for the new postoffice Mr. Willingham took the pen and wrote in the name, "Lenorah," which is Mrs. Epley's given name.

Mail was delivered at this office three times a week for approximately six months, on Monday Wednesday, and Saturday. The postmasters that served were J. F. Willingham and G. L. Gerold and the present one, S. J. Foreman who took office in February, 1931. The business of the office, besides the mail which the routes bring, serve between sixty and seventy customers.

(Written for the Historical Edition but crowded out for want of time and space.—Ed.)

Much discussion pro and con as to whether there was once a flour mill in Stanton led this reporter to interview Adam Konz, the fount of wisdom and authority on early days.

According to Mr. Konz, P. A. Peters moved the machinery for a flour mill to Martin county from Pocahontas, Ark. some time in the early 80's. He went so far as to dig a basement on a location this side of the T&P railroad, opposite where the section house now stands to the north of the Bankhead highway. The machinery was never set up and the bars lay on the ground and rusted.

In 1893 the T&P Railway Co. wishing to encourage the raising of wheat in this section, grubbed the lake on the south of their tracks and furnished the seed for planting wheat and barley. The Konz brothers, Adam, Paul and Joe, did the planting.

At maturity the Konz brothers harvested the crop with a hay mower and hay rake. The threshing was done by tramping straw with horses, then fanned by a small mill belonging to Jim Shaffer and Mike Waskowski. The yield from about eleven acres of land was 35 bushels of wheat and 15 bushels of barley. This wheat was ground in a grist mill set up near the convent and owned by
