Can We Wave the Flag Too Much?

The following reply was given by S. L. DeLove on the "Know Your History Hour" to a listener who wrote: "Your programs are wonderful—especially the no commercials—but you are waving the flag too much." DeLove replied:

Is it possible to wave the flag too much? Provided, of course, that you wave it with integrity? Is it possible to study Lincoln or Shakespeare too much? Is it possible to read the Bible too much?

The great, the good, the true, are inexhaustible for inspiration, example and strength. I believe that we are not waving our flag enough, not nearly enough.

It seems to me that we are developing a tendency to be timid or even apologetic about waving the stars and stripes. Walk up and down the streets in any average town on July 4th and count the flags. It is our nation's birthday, a sacred day in world history, the most important day of America. Why isn't the flag flying on every rooftop and from every home and building? This complacent attitude is strong evidence of cancerous patriotic decay.

Ladies and gentlemen . . . I believe it is time for us . . . for the mad, rushing Twentieth Century American . . . to stop for a moment and think. Let us arrest our near reverential admiration of material success and return to the spiritual and ethical values. Let us imbue and rekindle in ourselves and our children the so-called old-fashioned way of patriotism, a burning devotion to the principles and ideals upon which our country was founded.

Should not every home own and proudly display the colors on holidays and other such occasions? Isn't the flag Patrick Henry, Jefferson, Franklin, Washington, Nathan Hale, Gettysburg and Valley Forge, Paul Revere, Jackson and other great men and women who have given us our heritage? When you look at the flag can't you see the Alamo, Corridor, Pearl Harbor, The Monitor, The Merrimac, Wake Island, and Korea? Lest we forget, isn't the flag Flanders Field, Bataan, Iwo Jima, Normandy, Babe Ruth and Davy Crockett? The great events of our past and present are wrapped up in our flag.

It is a symbol of this blessed nation, a giant in industry, education and commerce. Millions of fertile square miles, wheatlands, coal mines, steel plants. Our great republic, the chosen infant destined to be man's last and remaining hope for suffering humanity, a shining beacon of light, noble and glorious, the haven for the oppressed and persecuted and truly God's gift to mankind.

That is what the flag means to me. Can we wave it too much? I don't think so.

People, Places & Things

By A. PATE

As we prepare to celebrate our major national holiday it is interesting to note that American colonists were simply taking a page out of English history when they declared their independence on July 4th, 1776.

Many of the ideas contained in the Declaration of Independence had been used by the British to justify their own revolution of 1688, explains World Book Encyclopedia.

"The Glorious Revolution," as the English called it, sent James II fleeing to France and Mary II to the throne. William brought to the throne the rights of the forerunner of the American Declaration.

The "self-evident truths" and "unalienable rights" noted in the declaration, for example, recall the "true, ancient and indelible rights" of the English document. Both complained about taxes, although for different reasons, and condemned the maintenance of a standing army.

While the Americans studied the history books, however, the British ignored the lesson—with the result that another glorious revolution rocked Great Britain and a new nation was born.

Menard Field of Floydada, who was here recently in connection with his purchase of Kennedy Courts and plans for a $90,000 motel on the site, recalled that his first experience in the motel business was anything but successful.

Back in 1930, Menard, who lived here at the time, and his brother-in-law, W. C. Johnston, decided to go into the tourist court business and leased Kamp Kennedy as the business was known at that time.

They were enjoying a nice business until construction of Highway 30 (now US 27) was started. Both ends of a long stretch of the main highway through town were barricaded and closed to traffic. The road bed was plowed up, scarified, levelled and packed, completely closing it to traffic.

After Menard and W. C. saw two months pass without a single car passing their station and tourist court they had had it. They simply closed up shop and gave up their lease.

The Tulsa Herald relates that work has been started on remodeling and repairing the Swisher County courthouse. This has made necessary the temporary relocation of county offices wherever suitable quarters could be arranged.

There are still many people who will recall a similar situation here when the Haskell courthouse was enlarged and rebuilt.

We remember that some of the county officials had their quarters in the City Hall, and the Elks Club ballroom was used as a courtroom. District Attorney Clyde Grissom had his office in the Oates Building where Barfield-Turner are now, and other county offices, passably the Tax Collector's, were also in the Oates Building.

At first, it seemed there would be a great deal of inconvenience and trouble, but after a few weeks everyone became familiar with the set-up and it worked nicely.

The story we carried recently about Dick Nolen's run to the Rule fire in 1916 in his souped up Hudson, when a youth was bounced out of the car's rear seat, is clearly remembered by City Secretary Trav Arbuckle.

He was in a car not too far behind Nolen and recalls that almost everybody in Haskell who had or could get transportation, went to the big fire.

However, Trav thinks those "chug holes" which resulted in the boy being bounced out of Nolen's car were on what was known as the South, or Raynor Road to Rule, instead of on the North Rule Road.

The yarn also caused John Decker to recall the night Dick Nolen borrowed an automobile to take a friend to Rule in time to catch an Orient passenger train.

Dick was noted for his generosity, and never turned down a request for a favor.

On this occasion, a friend went to the theatre one evening and asked Dick to take him to Rule so he could catch a train due there in 20 minutes.

Dick's car was in the garage for repairs. However, he saw a red-wheeled Mitchell in front of the theatre which belonged to a good friend, who was in the show.

Knowing perfectly well his friend would loan him the car if he asked, Dick didn't take the time, but got in the car with the train-bound friend and took off for Rule.

After seeing his friend off on the Orient train, Dick headed for Haskell, feeling sure he would get back before the car owner had seen the show.

Apparently driving a little too fast, Dick failed to negotiate a turn in the road and the red wheel Mitchell was rolled a couple of times.

Luckily, Dick was unhurt, and a farmer living nearby brought him to Haskell in a Model T. They arrived at the theatre as the Mitchell's owner was frantically looking for his car.

Dick explained what had happened, then asked his friend if a new car would satisfy him. His friend demurred, saying his car could probably be repaired. Dick insisted he owed the man a new car, however, and next day went to the local Mitchell dealer and gave him a check for the replacement.

It's too bad the Billie Sol Estes case and those slanted East Texas oil wells had to break at the same time.

Either story would have qualified for top headlines for weeks. As it turned out they have to compete with each other. If some smart cookie could link Billie Sol and his ammonia tanks with a few directional wells, this investigating business could go on for years.

Since our town is frequently hit by hot checkers, short changers and other forms of swindlers, here's an old trick which has been revived in several towns recently, and might be tried here:

A stranger goes into a store, makes a small purchase and tenders a $10 bill in payment. Shortly afterwards, a young woman enters, buys one or two small items and pays for them with a $1 bill.

Some 15 or 20 minutes later the young woman is back, almost on the verge of tears. She relates that when she made her purchases she gave a $10 bill and a $1 bill and she having written a check in the cash register with a certain amount written on it that if the manager is less than likely he'd rather than to argue with woman.

Policeman: How brakes?
Motorist: Bottom.
Policeman: By you have your license?
Motorist: Nope, one.

Motorist's wife: attention to anything Officer. He always way when he's drunk.

The Rev. Jack Slater, uncle of the bridegroom, performed the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Kuenstler of Haskell. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Merchant of Haskell.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a street length dress of white accessories and carried a bouquet of white and pink carnations. She wore a bracelet given to her by the bridegroom as a wedding gift.

Brenda Hisey, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor, Gaynell Kuenstler, sister of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. They wore pale pink dresses and white accessories and carried bouquets of rose pink carnations. They wore bracelets given them by the bride.

Best man was John Wayne Neeley, brother of the bridegroom.

A reception followed the ceremony. Serving were Mrs. Ellen Mooney, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Lou Hisey, aunt of the bride. The table was decorated in the bride's chosen colors of pink and white.

Those attending the wedding were members of the immediate families and Floyd McMannis of Hawthorne, Florida. After a wedding trip to Lake Buchanan, Mr. and Mrs. Neeley are at home at 703 North 8th Street in this city.

Cancer Society President Praises Help Given By Crusade Volunteers

As president of the Haskell County Cancer Society, Mrs. R. W. Herren wishes to express appreciation to the crusade volunteers, to anyone who had a part in helping this unit to "Better its Best" and to place it on the State Honor Roll. "You may have pride and gratification in being a part of such an outstanding 'team' throughout the State. Thousands of workers doing their part and a little more is the spirit of enthusiasm which has carried us to our best Crusade ever," she said. "Your money works for you when you give to Cancer Crusade."

The work of the Cancer Society does not end after the Crusade each year. One of the outstanding phases of the program is the Cancer Education Program. We try to inform the public through programs, films and lectures, to educate the people to the Seven Danger Signals. If only more people were aware of these! More and more people are being cured of cancer every day because of this knowledge. Right now, Doctors could cure one half of all cancer patients—if their cancers were detected early.

Each Thursday of every week the cancer workroom on the West side of the square is open and you can find a group of dedicated women working tirelessly making bandages for future needs of cancer patients. Who knows just whom it will be next? To date several boxes and shelves are filled with completed bandages ready to be sterilized when needed.

Several patients have been served by this unit since this work was begun this last year. Some of the supplies have been used for patients in other counties as they had no unit to which they could turn. We ful that a fund be set up for this room's supplies, such as lights, heat and cooling. If any of you were not contacted during the Crusade and would like to help with making this a more desirable place to work, you may make your contribution to Mrs. Lee Brown, Mrs. R. W. Herren, or any of the women whose name you see in the list of workers each week in the paper. Dr. R. A. Middleton has made a $25.00 donation to the workroom fund. If there are others, they will be listed.

The program committee is meeting this week in the home of Mrs. Robt. Wheatley to formulate plans for the annual meeting to be held next month to which the public is invited. Haskell is fortunate in having two of the District Directors, members in this county's unit, Dr. R. A. Middleton, of Haskell, and Mrs. Melvin Volkufka, O'Brien, who both attended the Stephens County annual meeting this past week in Breckenridge at the Burch Hotel and spoke respectively on "Medical Progress and Principle of Medicine," and "History of Service, Education and Crusade."

Please be watching for the announcement for the Haskell County Cancer Annual Meeting the last of July and attend.

RETURNS TO LEFORS

DON'T WORRY, HARMON— WE'LL GET YOU A NEW PET!

BEHOLD THE GENEROUS DONOR!

THE DIFFERENT SOFT DRINK DOES IT AGAIN!

Dr Pepper does it again... the different soft drink is having another different contest! Where else can you win a solid gold dinosaur and $10,000 in cash?

So enter, friends. As often as you like. Surely you can use $10,000. And the dinosaur is an original by Johnny Hart, creator of the comic strip "B.C." (He also created the two characters above, Harmon and Bunion, and the other friendly caveman types we hope you're enjoying in our current advertising.)

In case you've wondered, we run these unusual contests—once we gave away a Diamond Doorknob, last year a Tropical Island—to remind you that Dr Pepper is an unusual soft drink. Not a cola, not a root beer, it's a happy blend of many fruit flavors. Try it. See why almost everyone says, "It's different—I like it!"

P.S. HURRY!
 CONTEST CLOSES JULY 28th!

GIVE THIS POOR CREATURE A HOME!

It breaks our heart to part with this handsome fellow, but we know someone will give him the home he deserves. He's no trouble at all—and not life-size (how would you get him into the house?)! Actually, this Johnny Hart-designed original stands 4' tall and will be the perfect conversation piece on your mantel or book shelf. Hand-crafted of 10-karat solid gold (weighted), he comes complete with his favorite possession—a miniature Dr Pepper bottle (we had to get the commercial in someplace).

You'll find an official entry blank on every carton of Dr Pepper. Pick up several tomorrow. Enjoy the Dr Pepper, send in your entries, and start planning what to do with the only gold dinosaur anywhere and $10,000!

610 OTHER PRIZES TOO!

By George, this is a fine contest, isn't it? Not only a solid gold dinosaur and $10,000, but all these other prizes, too! Count them:

basic requisites of successful living. We have tried all sorts of organized programs... glamorous plans of organized sports and organized dances, etc. only to find that psychologists say that we should really leave our children alone and let them seek their own activity. The important thing for a parent to do is to love their children... let them live in an atmosphere of love and mutual consideration, and it will not be necessary to plan a child's entire life for him.

But the point I wish to make here is that the main reason that educators fail to see even the source of the problem of the purposelessness and meaninglessness of life today is due to the educators themselves.

Having returned to school at a later age, and having thus been placed in a position of viewing the whole matter from a much different perspective than I was even capable of when younger, I realize that our schools are peopled with teachers who do not qualify for the exalted appellation of "teacher." This is not being hard on the teachers... let me make this clear... for most of them have grown up in our same materialistic society where the idea of feeling "called" to the profession is considered ridiculous... and where we evaluate a job by the amount of money it pays rather than in terms of the opportunity it affords for service or for making a valid contribution to society...

city... all of which provides for the fulfillment of that person as a person, and the only way that enrichment and happiness can be derived from our existence.

A philosopher once said that there is a difference between a job, a profession, and a vocation. A job is something that a person works at simply for the money he gets out of it. He has no feeling for, or loyalty toward, the company he works for. He can strike against that company with no reluctance, and even resort to physical destruction if his demands are not met. A man in a profession is one who is uniquely and highly trained in one field of endeavor for which training of education he expects and receives prestige and monetary rewards for his time spent in preparation. But the man who follows a vocation is the man who feels that he is "called" (and the word is not the special right of the ministry or the church) for the word comes from the Latin voco, vocare, vocavi, vocatus... which means literally "to call." A vocation is a pursuit in life to which a person can give himself, regard, less of his monetary rewards, because he equates "success" with what he puts into life, not with what he takes out of it. The man who has a vocation is a man who has found his niche for service... his place where he can make his contribution to the society of which he is a part.

A teacher ought, of all people, to have this conception of his job. This is basic.

But the reason that the teaching profession fails in its mission to youth today is largely because of the philosophy that prevails in the minds of too many of our pseudo-intellectuals... a feeling of the same purposelessness and meaninglessness that has been transplanted into the minds of today's youth. In an age past we at least made good Americans out of young students... but now it is unsophisticated to be patriotic or to love your country. We do not recognize any longer that we are part of our own history... that we are part of all that has gone before. Today our thought... encouraged by too many cynical professors having nothing to look back to, nothing to look forward to, is existential... in the sense that it points inward to the individual and his problems... which problems are accentuated and magnified.

But most deplorable of all... and I am sure you might have expected this of me... there is a tendency in the classroom... and especially in the college level classroom... to make light of religion... but especially of Christianity. Our modern enlightenment has brought us to the stage where we feel that we have outgrown the need for God or anything that closely resembles Him. Man stands self-sufficient, and the hope of the future is in his hands. Man stands alone... and our youth frightening and much too lonely position. But... like the teachers... I must say in all their contribution to this same "bleak and meaningless" life. America, though popular in religion, has not captured the hearts and lives of this generation of Americans. And... the most ardent Christians... those who seem to be holding the fort with the greatest courage and strength... are too often motivated by an exclusiveness and rebellion which manifests itself in a sullen and belligerent attitude... an attitude that is not conducive to drawing unto them thinking men and women.

Most schools today have stopped giving a major in religion... even if they still teach religion. You cannot, for example, Major in religion in our own Presbyterian School (Austin College) at Sherman, Texas. But, in any state supported school, you cannot even get credit for courses in religion and certain related fields. You cannot, for example, transfer courses in religion for university study credit in the University of Texas. It is not considered a legitimate field of study.

I do not personally object to this... and am a strong believer in separation of church and state. What I am alarmed about is the growing number of learned teachers who have been given no opportunity for study in the field of religion, to make sarcastic remarks about religion in the classroom, to joke lightly about matters "spiritual", and to create the impression that there is nothing to be said for the eternal verities.

Unfortunately, our schools in America are staffed by untold thousands of incompetent teachers... because of the foregoing facts... and many more that I could add. The sooner we honestly face this fact, the sooner we can alleviate some of our current problems. Educators must cease to look about for an answer, and look within at the real problem.

There is much that needs to be said, but I can only say (due to the time and the conditions) that educators must cease to be shy and all-knowing when persons bring into question such problems as the "keen competitiveness" which is fostered and encouraged in our schools. The new system of "programmed instruction" is designed to relieve part of this problem... but it has no answer for the teacher who does not feel a sense of dedication.

For... in a classroom, if the teacher does not feel a compulsion to give of herself or himself to those students in such a way that the students cannot but give back of themselves... so that there is more than mere communication... there is actual communion... then something besides the educational process is going on in that classroom. Unless a teacher can see beyond merely the cold transfer of a given body of facts to a group of "things" seated in front of him... rushing along in an impersonal way because he has so much that has to be covered in a certain period of time... then there is something going on, to be sure, but it is not education. Unless we can replace love and sincere concern with I see no alleviation for the problem that is being written about in every periodical published today... I see, great gains for the "negotium" that is rampant.

Education, instead of a pleasure and adventure, has become a threat... and the frightening thing about it is that the educators don't recognize that this has happened... and will not admit that they have gone backwards instead of forward. In the state of panic in which the Russians have thrown us... and our consequent rush to turn out engineers and scientists to keep pace with Russia... we have begun to neglect the humanities and the social sciences just as we have religion. The honors and rewards today go to the mathematicians and physical scientists... as well as the most lucrative opportunities. There is a cold intellectual realism among us now... and the young people of today, God bless them, must follow this philosophy if they are to survive in a world so full of the cold mechanical calculations of power. The concern of a seventeen year old college girl might be our concern also... and that is the concern for the survival of sweetness... the survival of warmth and of feeling.

Let us all, clergy, educator, and parent alike... not "look around" for the solution to our problem. Let us look "within."

has been a radical commitment of one's whole life. It is a leap of faith. John's gospel tells us: "You did not choose me, but I chose you and appointed you that you should go and bear fruit..." (John 15:16).

There is no degree of Christianity. A man is either a Christian or he is not. Neither does a man bring himself closer to God by the way he acts. God is always close to man, but the degree of "closeness" is the extent to which a man recognizes this fact.

But let's face an obvious fact. The element of the Christian faith that we do not recognize in Estes' Christianity is the basic and essential element of LOVE. This love of neighbor commanded by Christ is unlimited. It is not confined to the members of one's own little church, and neither is it manifested in a set of rules and regulations pertaining to superficial behavior. A Christian, standing in the over-whelming love of God, is compelled to love his fellowmen... and he manifests this love in his personal behavior. But it is behavior fostered in freedom... a freedom (and the only real freedom) born because a man is a slave to Christ.

God is sovereign. He is all-knowing, all powerful. He rules; and God in Christ saves us and sustains us by his provident love. When we "know" this (which means "when we have a knowledge of God") we are compelled to a standard of behavior that witnesses to this fact. "You did not choose me, but I chose you and appointed you that you should go and bear fruit..."

Incidentally this is the grossly misunderstood and badly maligned doctrine of predestination... without which concept there is no such thing as religion. We all embrace it, whether we know it or not. If not, we are caught up in a form of humanism which probably is foreign to the Christian way.

How can this car have so much extra—and still be almost low-priced? Answer...
It's a Buick... in name, styling, quality and resale value. Yet its price is right close to many models of the "low-priced" cars. So before you do any buying, come see how little extra it costs to get all the extra values included in LeSabre's surprisingly low price. Some examples...finned aluminum front brakes—safest made! A 401-cu. in. Wildcat V-8. Exclusive Advanced Thrust engineering that moves the engine forward—gives you straight tracking, flat cornering—and a nearly flat front floor! Turbine Drive automatic transmission—smoothest there is! And lots more you'd never guess LeSabre gives you. Your Buick dealer's great trades make LeSabre an even greater buy right now! BUICK LESABRE IS THE BUY

PAINT CREEK... COMMUNITY NEWS

BY MRS. GENE OVERTON

Paint Creek had a wonderful half-inch shower Monday afternoon that slowed the farming down a little bit, but was worth a lot to this little cotton just coming up. Most of the farmers could get in their fields Tuesday morning, and a rest were plowing afternoon, so they weren't delayed very much.

Everything is growing by leaps and bounds.

Have you noticed any worms on your trees? Our mesquites are infested with some long grey worms that eat the leaves by night and stretch out under the rough bark during the day. I think they are the offspring of those big moths we had in May. Anyway there are millions of them. We are going to spray the trees.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fischer, Clara Ann and Paulette left on Tuesday morning for Chicago where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. George Hauser for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Gaston Tidrow (she was Willie Faye Petrich) are the parents of a baby girl born June 21st in Haskell Hospital. She has been named Sonja Rene Tidrow. Her maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Petrich, and her great grandmother is Mrs. Hendricks. I think her paternal grandparents live in Haskell, too.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Martindale have had as guests recently their grandsons, Mike and Dennis Martindale of Palacios, and their daughter, Mrs. Jess Hartline. Mr. Hartline and Dudley of Abilene.

Little PeeWee Mickler of Stamford spent Thursday and Friday with his aunt, Mrs. Allen Isbell and her family.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Cathey and Elizabeth of Grand Prairie came home with W. A. Montgomey Saturday. Mr. Cathey and Elizabeth returned home Sunday and Mrs. Cathey will spend this week with her father.

Capt. and Mrs. Raymond Medford are being transferred from North Carolina to San Marcos, Texas. Mrs. Medford and Fred Allen are here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Doc Raughton and Capt. Medford's mother, Mrs. R. L. Medford, until Capt. Medford has their quarters ready.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Bland are moving from Plainview to Stamford. They are staying at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Montgomery until they get settled.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kuenstler had as their guests this past weekend her sister, Mrs. C. A. Mullins and her husband of Lubbock, and their daughter, Mrs. R. H. Scoggins and Shelley.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ivy of Albany spent Sunday with his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Houston.

Clinic Schedule Unchanged, Says Dr. Scott

A rumor that his office and clinic here had been closed is without any fact or foundation, Dr. Frank C. Scott, eye, ear, nose and throat specialist said this week.
