LITTLE ABOUT EVERY-THING

NOT MUCH ABOUT ANY-THING

WHATEVER gaps appears in the political fence, today, Friday is the last day to repair it. Some of the gaps may extend over so much territory that the short length of time to election day will not allow for the entire stretch to be closed. From reports going the rounds one gains the idea there are a number of candidates concealing wire nippers to be used at the last moment on the political fence of their opponents.

The pasture fence that offers the opportunity for considerable wire-cutting is the ground on which the candidates for governor are browsing.

One candidate for governor claims he has paid no poll tax, and is reported as having made the statement that, "no man in overalls is worth more than a dollar and a half a day. If he can't make a living for his family on $1.50 a day then I can get negroes to do the work." We don't know how truthful the statement is but many newspapers over the state are printing the statement. Having been an overall worker for the past many years and having worked for $1.50 and less per day, we know something about that making a living on that small a stipend. When we did work at $1.50 per day we were single, slept in a stall in a wagon yard, twisted rabbits out of prairie dog holes for meat, and got the buttermilk before it was pitched over to the hogs, to mix up into sour dough biscuits.

Then, too, we have always recognized the fact, instilled into our mind when a little chap reading history, and what our daddy told us, "when in Rome do as Rome does," and if you don't like it get out of Rome. We are that way about subscribing to the laws of our state. If it necessary for us to have a poll tax to make us an eligible voter (and one should be eligible to vote before he is eligible to hold office), we belly up to the trough like the balance of the boys who "toe the mark" in upholding the laws of our country, pay the poll tax—then do as we d—m please when we come to casting our ballot.

We don't think the blare of trumpets, the beating of tomtoms and the failure to pay a poll tax, is qualifications to hold any office.

We think we are worth more than $1.50 a day in overalls, and so does every other "overalled" man. Whether we get more than that is here of a different color. The overalls this commentator wears every day in the week may not be denims, but they are "chip off the old block" that cost no more or wears any longer.

Anyway, boys, go to the polls Saturday and vote as your judgment dictates.

THERE is another matter of grave importance coming up Saturday for decision, and it is a matter that is "close to home." Whether or not the Stanton Independent School District, wish es to run the risk of later remodeling and building a new in places, the present school plant without any assistance from the Federal government or whether it wishes to take advantage of the assistance of the government's lending power. An election is called for Saturday to vote on the proposition of issuing $27,500 in bonds. Added to this will come a $22,500 PWA grant, providing the bonds carry, making a total of $50,000 to be expended in repairing and placing in first class condition the present grade school building, addition to the high school building in the way of needed room for home economics department, band and and physical education classes.

Now, this is a matter for you who have children in school to

P. W. A. APPROVES THE SCHOOL BONDS

O. C. SOUTHALL, Superintendent Stanton Schools Word was received Monday from the PWA offices in Fort Worth that Stanton's application for a $22,500 grant had been approved there and had gone to Washington for final approval.

If the school bonds are voted Saturday, July 23, building should be under way by the last of August. The architects will at once start work on final plans and specifications immediately the bonds are voted. The school board will also offer the bonds to the State Board of Education at Austin, August 1, and everything should be ready to let contracts by the end of the 30-day non-litigation period, August 23, which is required by law.

The first and foremost thing the school board intends to do is to spend approximately $10,000 on the present grade school building, and every cent of that amount will be necessary to put it in fit condition for efficient use. Everyone in the school district realizes that.

Then the cost of new construction to adequately house and equip Home Economics and band apartments will require approximately $15,000. About $1,000 will be needed in repair and re-arrangement of the present high school building, so as to make it more efficient, and provide at least two classrooms therein of sufficient size to accommodate large English and mathematics classes. Some $2,000 will be needed for bus storage sheds, shop, and playground improvement and equipment.

The architects fee on $50,000 at 6 percent is $3,000.

There then remains $19,000, or a great deal less than half of the total, with which to build a gymnasium, dressing rooms, shower rooms and storage space for athletic and playground equipment. While the gymnasium is not within itself a major part of the program for improving Stanton's schools, yet it is of utmost importance in the present day well-rounded educational program. All well equipped modern, up-to-date schools have them, and use them as can be readily seen by just looking around at neighboring schools. It would be hard to name a town on the T&P from Fort Worth to El Paso that hasn't a gymnasium.

Many much smaller rural schools have them, and experience has shown that they are a very worthwhile part of the school plant. Courtney has one—a good one; Flower Grove plans one; many, many other rural schools all over Texas, have gyms.

The possible increase in valuations to take care of the $27,500 bonds figures 11 percent, or $1 on each $9 of present valuations, but it will not be necessary to increase valuations this year or next since the board is paying off some older bonds, in advance, for those two years from delinquent tax funds, and with the securing of additional funds for transportation or bus aid from the State. No increase at all will be necessary.

Stanton schools will stand at the cross roads Saturday, July 23, and the parents will then there decide whether the school and their children's opportunities and welfare shall be properly provided for or ignored.

A vote for the bonds is a vote for the educational welfare and advancement of every child in the Stanton School District!!!! Parents, what is your answer????

GOOD RAINS FALL IN THE COUNTY

Martin county has received all the way from 2 to 6 inches of rain this week, according to reports coming in from the various points in the county.

Rain falling in the county ranged from one and three-eighths, that was the amount falling in Stanton, to three inches out in the rural sections.

Gordon Stone ranching five miles southeast of Stanton, reported three inches Wednesday afternoon, with the same amount falling on the Earl Powell ranch, 11 miles north of Stanton.

One and three-eighths for Stanton Wednesday afternoon, was the figure given out by N. Kaderli, the official rain gauger, and for the week he reported two and seven-eighths.

Looks like there will be a whale of a crop produced in this county this fall.

be vitally interested in. Every mother's son of you think more of your child, (or should), than all the property and money that could be poured at your feet. Not one of you would accept all the gold that could be accumulated in the Treasury of the United States for the little finger off one of the hands of your child if that be the condition of the wager. Well, then, for the safety sake, in the way of sanitation, fire and wind hazzard, protecting your children, vote for these bonds that the deplorable state of the present school plant be lifted to a plane of adequate room, sufficient light and heat, and scourged of its present unsanitary condition.

Here's the thing to do when you are in town Saturday to vote in the primary election. After you have cast your vote for the candidate of your choice go over to the polls where the school bond election is being held and vote on that proposition whether you are for or against it. Don't say, "I'm not concerned either way in the bond election—I haven't any children to send to school." Your neighbor may, and he wants his children to have the very best facilities the school can give them.

Well, oh shucks! Wonder what all we have said in this column, working with the temperature standing at 106 in the office, salt water streaming down off our fevered brow into our eyes until the keyboard to our typewriter is out of sight—boys, just consider the course, and vote as you d—m please for that is just what we are going to do.

MARTIN COUNTY PIONEER SCHOOL TEACHER IN TAYLOR COUNTY IN '84

(By Mrs. Betty Hobbs)

A. C. Eidson, a pioneer of Stanton and Martin county, was born September 8, 1863, in Camden County, Mo., and came to Texas with his parents, two brothers and three sisters in 1876, stopping near Pilot Point, in Denton county, remaining two years, and one of his brothers died there. The balance of the family moved to Brown county in the fall of 1878, settling on the Colorado river. Three years were spent there where he attended school at the old Bowser school house. A picket house with dirt floor and split-log benches.

His father being in ill health during this time died, following which he with mother, one brother and two sisters moved to Sweetwater where he finished school, and afterwards, in 1884, taught his first school in Taylor county.

Hearty Laughter

Mr. Eidson used to be noted for his hearty laughing, (by the way there are some of the old timers here yet who remember this characteristic of his), so when he went to apply for his first school they were having an all-day preaching and dinner-on-the-ground and during the day he showed his enjoyment and appreciation of the situation by laughing as well as being otherwise sociable.

An old lady told her husband to invite Mr. Eidson home with them so she could hear him laugh some more, and the old man told him about it that evening while at the supper table, so that furnished the opportunity. He secured that school, which was his first. After teaching three years he went to Ad Ran College at Thorp Springs, one year. He then taught school several years in the counties of Taylor, Nolan, and McCullough. During this time he married Miss Lillie Campbell, and to them were born five children, one dying in infancy and the other four live in and near Stanton.

In about 1894 Mr. Eidson moved to Garden City where he continued his teaching two years. He served four years as county clerk of Glasscock county, after that he turned his attention to cattle raising. About 1902, he moved to Martin county and bought four sections of land north of Stanton about fifteen miles and near Sulphur Draw, living there and sending his children to school in Stanton part of the time, later attending a school in their community.

Served As County Judge

About 1912 Mr. Eidson was elected county judge of Martin county, serving two terms, after which he took charge of his ranching interests. During the drought of 1917, and 1918, he took his cattle to Oklahoma for grass, hile looking for grass he turned over his car and was so badly crippled that he has never fully recovered. He lived near Guyton, Okla., two years, but Stanton always seemed like home, so he returned and purchased a home about eight miles north of Stanton, and resided there until his children were married. The children persuaded him he was too old and crippled, and their mother's health too poor for them to live out there alone, therefore, they came to Stanton, where they will probably spend the remainder of their days, as Mr. Eidson's health is very poor, and while his wife is full of pep and joy, her health is far from being good.

But he is still interested in the advancement of the people of Stanton and his fellowman in general.

LITTLE INTEREST IN LOCAL POLITICS

The proverbial graveyard is as quiet and tame as is the enthusiasm in local political races. Were it not for the hot race for governor, and some interest in the district offices, just as well call off the election officials, bar the doors to the polling boxes and all spend the day at home in Martin county.

County candidate races the field is a clear one for the present officeholders, except in two commissioners' precincts. The race for district judge and district attorney, have added "fuel to the fire of enthusiasm in the governor's race in such a manner, that between the two, it is anticipated by the ones in the know, Martin county will come near voting its strength in the Saturday primary, in which event that will mean the polling of some 1550 votes.

The governor's race is the "tophand" in the political round here. The name of W. Lee O'Daniel will be heard more often than the name of any of the other candidates for governor. Whether that means the candidate that will get the most votes, or that it is just an expression of the noises such as has been that of a candidate for governor himself during his "stumping" period, it will require the count of votes to decide.

The political chase, or rather two, that is holding the spotlight in Martin county, is that of district judge and district attorney. In the district judge's race there are three candidates, Clyde E. Thomas and Cecil Collings of Big Spring, and Paul Moss of Odessa. Thomas and Moss opposed each other in the race four years ago when Judge Charles L. Klapproth, present official, won out. Cecil Collings, is the present district attorney and he is asking to be promoted to district judge. He has served the district two terms. With Thomas and Collings, haleing from the same county, some of the political forecasters are wandering if that fact will be potent enough to scatter the vote in such a way as to allow only one of them to be in the runoff with Paul Moss of Odessa, or will there be a surprise vote come from the outlying counties in the district that will permit the Big Spring candidates to fight it out in the second primary. To a man up a tall tree viewing the situation, it looks like Paul Moss is slated to be in the runoff with one of the Big Spring candidates.

In the district attorney's scramble there are four fine young men, any one of whom is capable to render the district efficient service. They are Martelle McDonald, and Walton Morrison of Big Spring, and Boyd McLaughlin and Donald Traynor of Midland. There are two candidates from each of the two big voting districts. Should it be probable that Martin county center its voting strength on either one candidate for district judge and district attorney, that candidate would be elected. In other words, the candidates wrangling over the votes in their "own old home towns" would scatter the votes so that Martin county with its 1550 votes could "walk into the breach" of the affray and settle the matter. But to hold the Martin county vote intact would be like, "in ye olden times," trying to hold a herd of stampeded steers together, we opine. But enough on that score. Somebody is going to be in the race for district attorney at the August primary, likewise in the district judge's race, and here's hoping the best man wins.

Now arriving at home. The county ticket fails to arouse any interest. The candidates are the present office holders. They have no opposition, except in two instances. Jess Blackford, commissioner in precinct 2, has an opponent in R. H. (Bob) Mints, and Bonnie White, commissioner of precinct 3, has opposition in the person of G. W. Teague. There will be no county candidates in the August primary.

It is reported there will be a million votes cast in the election Saturday, and in order to receive a counting of the votes as soon after the polls close as it is possible, the state county chairmen are urging the election officials to report the count as quickly as possible. County Chairman S. D. McWhorter asks the Reporter to inform the election officials of all voting boxes in Martin county to count the votes and get the results into him at the very earliest moment possible.

Mrs. Earl Powell, Mrs. E. L. Powell, and Mrs. J. E. Kelly, went to Kerrville Friday for Mrs. Earl Powell's son Edgar Lay, who has been in Camp Stewart for six weeks. Enroute they visited points of interest in San Antonio. Kerrville, at this season of the year is about the busiest pace on the map. It is hard to get accommodations for the mamas and papas are coming after their children from the various camps or bringing them to start on the new term. Within a radius of twelve to sixteen miles on both branches of the Gaudalup river, the camps are thick. Camp Waldemar, Camp Mystic, are two well known camps for girls. Camp Stewart and Camp La Junta, are camps for boys. The climate seems ideal for taking part in all of the activities provided for these camps.

Sentinels of Health

Don't Neglect Them!
Nature designed the kidneys to do a marvelous job. Their task is to keep the flowing blood stream free of an excess of toxic impurities. The act of living—life itself—is constantly producing waste matter the kidneys must remove from the blood if good health is to endure. When the kidneys fail to function as Nature intended, there is retention of waste that may cause body-wide distress. One may suffer nagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—feet tired, nervous, all worn out.

Frequent, scanty or burning passage may be further evidence of kidney or bladder disturbance. The recognized and proper treatment is a diuretic medicine to help the kidneys get rid of excess poisonous body waste. Doan's Pills. They have had more than forty years of public approval. So simple it lasts longer

* A tiny gas flame does all the work of keeping your GAS REFRIGERATOR properly and accurately cooled. There is no motor, pump or machinery. Simple, isn't it? And that extreme simplicity explains why the GAS REFRIGERATOR lasts longer . . . and costs so much less through the years.

ACCEPTS PRINCIPAL STANTON SCHOOLS

H. A. Poole, of Elton, Texas, recently elected high school principal and head coach, was here last week with Mrs. Poole. He informed J. N. Woody, president of the Stanton school board that he was accepting the position, and while here rented the house from Dr. Moffett, now occupied by Mr. Barnhill. Coach Poole will move here about August 1.

MUSIC TEACHER SELECTED

Mrs. R. G. Deberry of Rule, was selected by the school board at Monday's meeting, as teacher of piano in the Stanton schools.

The board decided to furnish piano, and room for Mrs. Deberry, and to lend her the full support and cooperation of the board, as the officially selected piano teacher in the schools. The board fixed the price for piano lessons at $4.00 per month, and $1.00 per month for rhythm band work. They decided also that pupils should not be excused from the school during school hours to leave the school grounds to take music elsewhere. Of course, there is nothing to prevent any pupil taking music before or after school, or on days other than school days should they so desire.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

Supt. O. C. Southall has been notified by the authorities of Sul Ross Teachers college, that two deserving girl graduates of Stanton high school may, upon application, be enrolled in the college's cooperative dormitory for 1938-39 term at Sul Ross. The entire cost of room and board in the cooperative dormitory is estimated at $15 per month. Anyone interested should see Supt. Southall or J. D. Renfro at once, as application must be in the mails August 1.
