VOLUME THIRTY-TWO STANTON, TEXAS FRIDAY, SEPT. 30, 1938 NUMBER FIFTY-ONE

THERE is a proposition, that is of most vital importance not only to Stanton, but Martin county as a whole, creeping up on the taxpayers of the county. It's the matter of voting $50,000 worth of road bonds. This is to be a county-wide affair in which every taxpayer has a right to participate. The notice of this election is now being published in the Reporter. It calls for the voting of $50,000 "to bear interest at the rate not to exceed 4 per cent and maturing at such times as may be deemed most expedient by the Commissioners' Court serially or otherwise, not later than twenty years from their date, for the purpose of constructing, maintaining, and operating macadamized, gravelled, or paved roads and turnpikes or in aid thereof, within said county, including the acquisition of all necessary lands for right-of-way purposes on the south end of the Stanton-Lamesa road and on the proposed west road extending from a point on the said Stanton-Lamesa road west to Andrews county line accessible to the communities of Lenorah and Tarzan in Martin County, Texas, and from a point on the Stanton-Lamesa road, said point being the N. E. corner of Sec. 15, Block 36, Twp. 2-N, Martin County, Texas, thence in a northeasterly direction along the section line to the Howard county line, and whether or not an ad valorem tax shall be levied upon the property of said Martin County, Texas," etc.

That's the meat of the bond issue.

Martin county stands today as one of the very few counties in Texas as having less mileage of paved or gravelled roads. Other counties around us are bending every effort to build permanent roads and those that have taken advantage of the opportunity to build good roads are profiting by it. Farmers and ranchmen are afforded all-weather roads for hauling their crops and livestock to the markets. Such roads afford rapid and convenient transportation facilities for the ranchman, farmer, and the tourist.

No better example of what good roads mean to a town or its county than Lamesa, in Dawson county, the county that adjoins Martin on the north. Paved or graveled roads lead out of that wide-awake town in every direction, and as a reward for that progressive spirit, just happen into Lamesa most any day and see the crowds milling on the streets and in the stores, the number of tourists that are getting serviced at the filling stations and the cafes, aside from the big business the merchants are enjoying from the people of the rural sections who have seen fit to trade in Lamesa because of the fine roads leading into it affording them rapid and convenient travel.

Dawson county has recently completed a paved road leading from Lamesa to the Martin county line on the north. This project, at the outset, was started as a co-operative move between Lamesa and Stanton, two or more years ago. So enthused over the project was our county to the north that it sent delegations here to meet and confer with a like representation from Martin county. The two towns agreed in toto on the proposition, with the result Dawson county pulled off its coat, rolled up its sleeves, and left no stone unturned until its part of the program was completed. Martin county progressed with its part to the end that grading, caliche base was laid, and rightofway was purchased on the road to a distance of some 15 miles north. Then the move collapsed until within recent months new life was breathed into the project by purchasing rightofway on the north end of the route as well as some grubbing done. Additional features has been made to the

Building Home On Ranch

Kelly Stevens of Cleburne, with Sam Wilkinson, is building a 6-room and bath on his 3-section ranch, five miles southwest of Stanton. The house is expected to be completed Saturday of this week and Mr. Wilkinson and family will move into it. Mr. Wilkinson went to Lamesa, Tuesday to buy a heating and electric plant to be installed in the home.

Mr. Wilkinson has a 15-section ranch 20 miles north of Stanton on which he is running sheep and cattle.

Moving to Hobbs, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Willingham are this week moving to Hobbs, New Mexico, where Jim has recently purchased a business. We are informed that Ladd Laws is associated in the business in the New Mexico town. Willingham and Horace Blocker recently sold Camp Cozy to Cecil Gerald and the B&W wholesale oil and gas to Henry Hull and E. R. Cawthon.

original plans of the road in that a road is to branch off the Stanton-Lamesa road at a point one mile east of Lenorah going west to the Andrews county line, which county voted bonds a year ago to connect with Stanton at the west line of Martin county line, and has waited all this time to see what Martin county was going to do. As the matter now stands Andrews county is ready, willing, and anxious to start construction of its road to the Martin county line just as soon as those folks are guaranteed that Martin county will come up to the lick log.

With the voting of the bonds the communities of Lenorah, Tarzan and the section leading up to West Knot will have good all-weather road over which to travel to market.

The Reporter believes that voting the road bond issue October 15, will be the greatest progressive move that has ever taken place in the county, and it will be the main cog in the machinery that will lift the county out of the quagmire of the "dumps" and non-progressive-ness.

Lay all prejudices aside boys, and let's get in behind this bond issue and put it over.

IT looks like there is one hot Czech that's going to pitch the world into war. And it may be the means of Hitler losing his job for tampering with it.

BROTHER OF STANTON RESIDENT WRITES OF RHODE ISLAND HURRICANE

Among those deeply concerned over the welfare of relatives living in the hurricane and fire-swept area of the New England States, none were more anxious to receive word from a loved one than Mrs. Elsie Gilkerson, county home demonstration agent of Martin county, of her brother, Charles Miller, who, with his wife, reside in Providence, Rhode Island.

Mr. Miller is a former newspaper man, at one time holding down a position on the Abilene Daily Reporter and the El Paso Herald.

The first word to be received from Mr. Miller, came in the form of a letter written to his father W. H. Miller, living in Abilene, telling vividly of the storm at Providence, Rhode Island. The letter was forwarded by the father to his daughter, Mrs. Gilkerson, and here follows:

Dear Dad:

I hope you have not been worrying too much about Laura and me. We weathered the storm in good fashion, excepting a few hours of anxiety Wednesday when we were separated.

I tried to send you a message yesterday, but gave up after a while when it seemed that thousands were trying to do the same thing and at that time no messages were going out, telephonic communication is out and the power is off.

Chaotic conditions prevail in the little state of Rhode Island. While Providence was hard hit, the suffering here is not as great as in dozens of communities along the bay. Entire communities were wiped out—some of them three or four miles from Providence. It is feared that the death list will exceed 300 or 400 in this little state, and Rhode Island is not a great deal larger than Taylor county. At some of the resort communities down the bay only a few protruding pines remain of entire summer colonies. The death toll would have been appalling had the hurricane occurred a few weeks earlier. Many persons had returned to their city homes. Roads and streets are blocked with debris and it has been impossible thus far to really ascertain the extent of the damage.

Hurricane Strikes at 3:30

The hurricane struck almost without warning at about 3:30 Wednesday afternoon. I was near home when the wind started to blow, and I came on over here to close the windows. I had no idea that we would have more than a fairly strong wind and rain. A short time after I reached home a few of the weaker trees in the block started to fall. I tried to phone Laura and warn her to stay at the store until the danger was gone—but there was no telephone service. It was then that the six hours of horror started for me. Huge trees were falling all around the house, which was creaking itself. For more than two hours it was almost impossible to venture from the house, although there were a dozen of us on the porch watching things being wrecked around us. Once I started out to move our car, which was almost under a large elm, but was blown down just as I left the house. I didn't leave again until the tree fell. It missed the front bumper by less than six inches. During a lull in the storm two school girls who had taken refuge on our porch started out for their homes down Waterman street. Just as they reached the corner a half block away the wind revived and a tree came down. A limb struck one of the girls and knocked her down. Some of us rushed out to pick her up and she surely appeared to be dead, but she came to after about ten minutes and suffered nothing worse than a few broken ribs. This block is infested with doctors offices, but a negro porter and I had a difficult time finding one to go to the girl. I don't know where they were.

Water 10 and 12 Feet Deep

At 5:30 I was able to get to the store momentarily and was told that Laura had left at 5:15. She was worried about me and was trying to get home. I started out for the downtown district. It was almost impossible to walk down the street due to fallen trees, chimneys, etc. The wind also made walking difficult. When I reached the foot of the hill, overlooking the business district, I knew that it was impossible to reach Laura. The entire district was flooded—a tidal wave had come in. Water was 10 and 12 feet deep in Market square. Tops of automobiles and street cars were visible at some points. A dozen or more persons were marooned on high base of the World War monument and the water was climbing higher. A rope was carried out to them from a nearby building by firemen and they were brought to safety. Trees were still falling on College Hill, the steeple of the First Baptist Church. (Roger Williams founded it), was swaying drunkenly, threatening to fall at any moment. A chimney fell on a car across the street. A woman who had sought refuge in the car was killed instantly. It is remarkable that many more persons were not killed in Providence. I was terribly worried about Laura knowing that she was out on the streets somewhere. You can't imagine the agony I went thru until I met her coming up the hill at about 10 o'clock, 4 1/2 hours after the storm started. She had been buffeted about a bit by the wind but was not injured. We are going through a few minor hardships now but they are really inconsequential since we escaped serious harm. There are many families around Providence that are still separated. No doubt in many cases the separation is permanent. Many bodees must have gone out with the receding waters.

Vandal Reap Harvest

The downtown district is in shambles. I was down yesterday morning. Cars are overturned in the streets, practically all of the plate glass windows were broken, and millions of dollars worth of merchandise destroyed—much of it washed out into the streets. Vandals, as were to be expected, reaped a rich harvest before marshal law was declared in that area. Stores probably will not reopen before next week.

New England Beauty Destroyed

In addition to the loss of life, much of the old New England beauty was destroyed around here. East Side, where we live is widely known for its beautiful and stately trees. Most of them are gone now. I counted over a hundred down within two blocks of our place. From where I sit now I can count about 15 lying in yards and in streets. Practically all of them are from two to four feet thick. For two days now we have had no lights, hot water or heat, and it's rather chilly today. Yesterday was not so bad. Since all of the favorite eating places were flooded or otherwise put out of commission, I have been living out of cans. I visited a dozen grocery stores yesterday before I found one that had bread in stock. Before that we had only crackers. Fortunately, we had some old kerosene lamps on hand and had lights after a fashion. Denatured alcohol, which we had on hand to clean picture frames came in handy in making coffee. Excepting that we cannot get about a great deal we are not suffering a great deal. The car is still standing within a few feet of where the storm found it. I backed it up a few feet after the tree fell. It will stay where it is until some of the trees are

LETTER FROM MAHON ON PWA PROJECT

Federal Building
Lubbock, Texas
September 22, 1938

Mr. O. C. Southall
Superintendent of Schools
Stanton, Texas
My Good Friend:

I have your letter with reference to your PWA application. I was disappointed that your project was not approved in the group of allotments which was released last week. I have again written to the Honorable H. A. Gray, Assistant Administrator, Public Works Administration, Washington, D. C. asking that the matter be given his special consideration. As you know, allotments for Texas have been held up for several weeks because of a so-called quota system being applied to the various states. Now that this quota system is being relaxed, it is my earnest hope that your project may receive an allotment at an early date. I shall certainly do all I can in your behalf.

Please feel at liberty to write me at any time.

Sincerely your friend,
George Mahon

STANTON LOSES TO MONAHANS 26-0

STERLING STAMPS

The Buffs lost to the Monahans Lobos 26-0 in a hard fought game last Friday night at Monahans.

The team seemed to have improved very much since their game with the Colorado Wolves. In that game Hull and Pinkston made all the yardage but in the Monahans game the two were hard pressed to make more yards than Eidson and Chandler because these two boys made some very nice gains themselves. Also in this game Sprawls got another thirty yard pass as he did at Colorado; in this game Woody also caught some passes for nice gains.

The game as a whole was a very nice one, both teams playing jamup football at all times. Monahans squad had the Stanton squad bested some sixteen pounds to the man in weight, and of course, that spells much in a football game.

This coming Friday we play Ackerly here, and we hope to see everyone, young and old, out to the game. In games played away from home maybe some could not get cars to go, but this time there will be no excuse, so come out to the football field at 2:30 sharp Friday afternoon and help the Buffs win a football game.

The football season in this part of West Texas blazed loose on all fronts the past week end.

After this I think I will choose cyclones if possible. At least one will know within a few minutes whether he is going to live or otherwise. This hurricane blew nightly from 3:30 until after 7:00 o'clock. A city in utter darkness and being whipped by high winds is not a very pleasant place to be in. The wind did not really die down until about 10 o'clock. The excitement of the storm, I suppose, is about the only thing that can make the New Englanders lose their reserve. There was a warmth and a spirit of friendliness that I have never seen before.

SIX-MAN FOOTBALL

WESTBROOK DEFEATS GARDEN CITY

R. G. Couch's Westbrook grid ders stamped themselves as serious threats for PSAA six-man football honors defeating the Garden City Bearkats, 42-6, at Garden City, Friday afternoon.

It was the second victory of the season for the Panthers who last week defeated Courtney, 14-6.

Junior Oglesby, rangy half back, accounted for four of the Westbrook touchdowns while Sidney Jones went into the end zones for the other two. Jones chalked up three of the extra points while Moody, Oglesby, and Board had one each.

Hershel Wheller's forces crossed the last line in the fourth period when Lee Swindall took a short pass from Alvi Ray Cox and fought his way to pay dirt. It was the first touchdown of the season for the Bearkats.

GARNER HILL BILLIES DEFEATS COURTNEY LIONS

Showing unexpected strength, the Garner Hill Billies opened their six-man grid season with a 19-8 victory over the Courtney Lions at Courtney, Friday afternoon in a PSAA battle.

The Billies counted a touchdown in the first quarter when Parks Lawley recovered a fumble.

They added to their lead in the second when Lawley raced 65 yards for a score and tallied their third touchdown in the fourth on a pass from Lawley to Chapman after Courtney had scored on a Garner fumble behind the goal line.

The Burnetts made only one first down during the game, that renewal coming in the second quarter.

The Garner crew will oppose Garden City in Garden City this Friday, and Courtney goes to Forsan in Howard county.

SPENDING THE FOOD $ WISELY

When a mother wants to make a wardrobe for the small daughter, she gets her measurements to fit, using them for a foundation, charging them about both in color and style. This might be applied to our food budget. Mrs. Hugh Warner, member of the Brown home demonstration club told the club members at their meeting with Mrs. W. G. Lillard Sept. 15.

Cutting nutritious food out of our menus is neither wise nor a saving. We should plan our meals using nutritious food for the foundation, and prepare them attractively.

After a short business meeting, the members completed filling out their year books.

Those present were: Mmes. C. J. Martin, Huchey Warner, Lee Castle, J. F. Griffin, Belton Hill, Lonnie Montgomery, and the hostess.

Next meeting will be with Mrs. R. C. Stock, Octo 6.—Reporter.

BIRTHDAY PARTY FOR H. D. CLUB WARK

The Council met with the usual session at the court house at 2:30 p. m., Saturday, Sept. 17.

There were representatives from five clubs present. Mrs. Lee Castle, chairman, was present, and Mrs. Herman Deavenport, acted as secretary since Mrs. Sells has moved away.

After a brief business session a motion was made and carried, that our Achievement Day program be changed from October to November, due to late crops, etc. Watch your newspaper for date, as all town people are invited to attend these meetings.

Following Council adjournment all were invited into Mrs. Gilkerson's office to a birthday party in honor of the first year of home demonstration work, under the supervision of Mrs. Gilkerson.

The table was beautifully decorated in green and white. In the center was a large white cake with one tiny green candle. Mrs. Key poured punch while Mrs. Lee Castle cut the cake, which was also a fortune telling cake. Every piece contained tiny prizes that meant great fame for some, while to others they didn't mean so much.

Besides the home demonstration clubs to enjoy this very feasible occasion, were the members of our Commissioners' Court, and George Bond, county agent.

We are looking forward to the clubs' second birthday with much interest, and as it grows and we come to realize what home demonstration work means to us, our families and our communities, we will have accomplished more than we did the first year.—Reporter.
