

RUSSELL SADLER
4-H GOLD STAR BOY

SELECTED BY EXTENSION SERVICE
AMONG 190 BOYS

As an added reward for having done outstanding 4-H club work for a period of three years, Russell Sadler, son of Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Sadler, has been designated as one of 100 Gold Star 4-H Club boys in the State.

Each year the Texas Extension Service of the A. & M. college selects from among the club boys of the State, 100 boys who have done outstanding work for a period of three years and designates them as gold star boys. They are presented this gold star at an impressive ceremony at College Station during the annual Short Course which is held in July.

Even though Russell has been surpassed by his brother Billy, at the shows, Russell's reports reveal that he has fed more calves and earned a greater profit on his work. Russell was one of the three boys from this county who entered their records in the State contest and he is one of the eight boys from this district of 39 counties who were selected.

Other boys from this county who entered records in the contest were Billy Jo Sadler and Hoyt Springer. Other winners in this district were: Harold Williams from Schleicher; David Williams from Schleicher; Loyd Rumsey from Tom Green; Russell Sadler from Martin; James Lawhron from Irion; Jack Mayberry from Fisher; T. L. Carter J. from Fisher; and A. J. McWilliams from Menard.

ROYAL SERVICE AT MRS. SALE'S

One of the most interesting programs of the year was presented at the home of Mrs. J. R. Sale Monday afternoon when the Baptist Women's Missionary Society met there for a "Royal Service" program.

Preceding the main program the last lesson of the missionary study, "Go Forward" was given jointly by Mrs. George Blocker and Mrs. Fred McPherson. Leading the Royal Service program was Mrs. Guy Eiland, who also presented plans for Home Mission Week of Prayer. The theme of the entire program was "Prayer and Study." Mrs. J. L. Hall, gave a Bible study on "Learning to Pray" and Mrs. W. C. Williamson led the devotional. To the accompaniment of "Sweet Hour of Prayer" played on the piano by Mrs. Blocker, Mrs. Clark Hamilton gave two readings, "Prayer," and "Study," after which Mrs. Eugene Jones led in prayer.

A discussion of Prayer and Missions by Mrs. Williamson was very interesting, as was a review of "Study and Missions" by Mrs. A. C. Moses who also gave the W. M. U. study plan. The W. M. U. prayer plan was presented by Mrs. Harry Haislip and Mrs. George Blocker reviewed the articles "They Prayed, God Answered." The benediction was pronounced in unison.

Following the program refreshments were served by the hostess to Mrs. J. L. Hall, Mrs. George Blocker, Mrs. A. C. Moses, Mrs. Fred McPherson, Mrs. Clark Hamilton, Mrs. John Hamilton, Mrs. Guy Eiland, Mrs. Eugene Jones, Mrs. W. C. Williamson and Mrs. Harry Haislip.

Returns From Ft. Worth

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Powell and little daughter, Earl, have returned from a visit with Mrs. Powell's mother, Mrs. E. W. Rounds in Fort Worth.

The championship was won this year by Jack Flynt of Marfa. Flynt's calf was first place winner in the middle weight class (801 to 900 pounds), and Russell's calf stood second in this class.

Billy Jo Sadler, who also showed a calf bred by Dickenson, placed first in the heavy class (over 900 pounds) and also competed for the championship award. At this show the first and second prize winners, compete for the championship award.

The calf with which Russell Sadler stood second over some 75 calves from West Texas and New Mexico counties, placed seventh in the county show at Stanton on Feb. 11.

Billy Jo Sadler, who placed first in the heavy class here stood fourth with the same calf in Stanton. Only two Martin county calves were entered in the El Paso show.

BRINGS 29c A POUND

Bob Williford, manager of the Hilton Hotel, El Paso bought the Reserve Champion calf at the auction sale Wednesday for 29 cents a pound. The calf weighed 832 pounds and brought Russell $241.28.

He also won $17.50 prize money at the show. The price paid for the calf was the highest for a reserve champion during the nine years that the Southwestern Livestock Show has been operating.

Sears Roebuck Company bought the first prize winner in the heavy class from Billy Jo Sadler, for 14 cents a pound. This calf weighed 915 pounds and netted Billy Jo $128.10. Billy also won $20 prize money on this calf.

So another feather goes into the caps of the 4-H club boys of Martin county. Last year at the El Paso show, Russell Sadler won the grand champion award with his calf from the E. B. Dickenson herd, prominent Martin county ranchman, and this year he won the next best to the champion, Reserve Champion.

298 APPLICATIONS
ON FILE WAITING DISPOSITION AND
STANTON ONE OF 'EM

A news release addressed to The Reporter from the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works, Region 5 Port Worth, gives the Stanton folks an idea where stands the PWA grant for the Stanton school improvements. Here follows a part of the news release:

Texas has 298 applications for projects with an estimated cost of $134,106,855 pending before the Public Works Administration, according to a list supplied by Administrator Harold L. Jekes at the request of the Senate.

The Texas applications would require PWA grants of $59,386,383, and loans of $33,209,175, a total $92,595,558.

The list of projects include those which might be eligible for allotment if additional appropriations were provided. "Primarily, of course," said Geo. M. Bull, Regional PWA Director, "eligibility would be determined by the terms of such appropriation act as, for example, whether or not sufficient time is allowed applicants to obtain their share of the cost of the projects and of course, whether or not, the legislation contained any stipulation as to type of projects."

Because of these reasons, the regional director said, "it is impracticable at this time to assert with any degree of definiteness that any or all of these projects would receive allotments in the event of new legislation."

The list includes applications which have been recommended for approval by the PWA examining divisions under the terms of the 1935 Act, as well as many others which did not receive such approval.

The list of the Texas applica-

LOCAL WOMAN TO LEAD GROUP IN TAX STUDY

A Stanton unit of the National Consumers Tax Commission, a national tax-study organization of women, will be headed by Mrs. Poe Woodard, Jr., of Stanton, it was announced today.

Her appointment was made public at the Chicago headquarters of the NCTC, by Mrs. Kenneth C. Frazier, commission president, who welcomed her as "a leader in this non-political movement to arouse tax-consciousness among the nation's women."

Mrs. Melville Muckelstone, a past national president of the American Legion Auxiliary, is NCTC vice president. The drive in this state is led by Mrs. Volney W. Taylor, of Brownsville, the commission's Texas national committee member.

"The women of the nation have shown themselves to be vitally interested in this tax-education program," said Mrs. Muckelstone. "Until recently most of us were unaware we paid hidden taxes on every article we purchased. But on even so simple an article as a loaf of bread there are 53 hidden taxes figured into the price we pay, and 172 hidden taxes on a bottle of medicine."

"Through their local study program Stanton women will be enabled to learn the exact amount of their income which is swallowed by hidden taxes on their daily purchases."

CREW MOVING TO TARRANT COUNTY
TO WORK ON JOB

W. V. Montgomery, general superintendent of the McKinney Construction Co., which company has the contract to build the north end of the Stanton-Lamesa road, left Monday for Fort Worth, where the company has contract for work in Tarrant county. The grading and drainage work on the Stanton road has been finished and that crew has pulled up stakes and gone to Fort Worth.

About two more weeks the work of putting the rock base and other work finished ready for the topping. At this point it is expected the state will take over the project and top the road.

As this is being put into type it is reported that practically all the right-of-way from Lenora to the Andrews county line has been secured by the Commissioners' court, in which event it is expected work will soon be ready to start on this road.

Will Attend Shoot Contest

Jess Woody is loading several hundred pistol cartridges, preparatory to taking with him on his trip to Miami, Florida, where the mid-winter pistol and rifle shooting contest is to be held. The crack shots from all over the country will attend. Jess attended this contest last year in Florida, and came home with a flock of medals.

Mr. Woody is expecting a visit from a member of the Los Angeles, Calif. police force, who is the champion pistol shot of the Florida affair, and who will be on his way to the contest. Jess will join the Californian here about March 2, and the two will go to Florida.

—HDC— STORAGE FOR CURED MEAT

"To solve the problem of storing cured pork at this time of year, the Extension Service offers as one solution that the meat be stored in highly refined cotton seed oil," states Mrs. Elsie Gilkerson, home demonstration agent.

A large earthen jar is the best container for the storage, although any container that will hold oil may be used. All pieces of meat should be packed tightly. Five gallons of oil should cover 100 pounds of cured meat. The container should be covered for sanitary reasons.

The meat can be taken out and returned to the oil as needed. By placing it in oil it does not dry out and mold is retarded.

In using the cottonseed oil another use for our cottonseed is created.

ADD TO THE LIST OF REAL "COUNTRY NEWSPAPER MEN; KELLY OF STANTON

Put Jim Kelly down as one of the old school of that noble tribe—the country newspaperman.

Happily operating his Stanton Reporter for his ninth year, Kelly probably wouldn't change his lot for that of publisher on a metropolitan daily. Even the time demands imposed upon a small town newspaper plant prove vexing occasionally and Jim Kelly has no desire to rush by his share of life's enjoyment.

Like his contemporary, Uncle Bill Kellis at Sterling City, he runs his shop about the only way it can be run successfully. He and his wife, Cora Matlock Kelly, operate the paper and turn out job work with no help except from a young "printer's devil." Mrs. Kelly handles the front office and he attends to the back end, and gets off his editorial comments once a week in a language people understand.

Kelly is one of the vanishing tribe who grew up in the days when type was all set by hand. He learned his trade as a hand-spiker, but was young enough to look ahead when old printers started moaning about a machine that would set as much type as five men. Instead of refusing to recognize progress, he quit a job at Oklahoma City and went to El Reno where one of the new contraptions had been installed.

He would come back at nights and learn composition on the linotype. Soon the regular operator found Kelly could handle the machine to a degree and promptly set upon a direct course common to printers of those days—a prolonged drinking bout. This threw responsibility on Kelly, but he came through with flying colors. The machine had no thermostat, (heat control) and occasionally he got a metal squirt that went to the ceiling, but he succeeded in turning out the type.

Old time editors, he recalls, were unique characters and most of them enjoyed a reputation for infamous scratching in the guise of legible writing. Each editor had one operator who set up his editorials and woe be to the printer that left out a comma or failed to book-space (equal space between each word) every line.

"But those papers were pretty things," says Kelly. "They printed like a picture. Now we get in too much of a hurry about it."

Kelly ran the Olney paper for George Spears before he got the yen to move on west. Next he spent a sort time at Fort Stockton before hearing about the possibilities of Stanton. Since then Stanton has been hearing Kelly's home-spun comment in his weekly column and his frank occasional mixture of news and editorials. He "excuses" it on the grounds that "mixing drinks is sometimes the quickest way to get results."

This genial editor dislikes meddling in the private affairs of his constituents, but it does not mean he dodges an editorial escapade. When the occasion demands, Jim Kelly rises on his hind legs and speaks his mind, and if some don't like it, well—life's too short to argue about it.

the scum of smoke from molten linotype metal from our eyes, we retorted in a tone of surprise, "Howdy, Joe." It was Joe Pickle, a wandering newshound from the Big Spring Daily Herald over here to kidnap a story for his paper about the Martin County 4-H Club Boys Calf show, held that day.

Innocent of the why for delving into our past history, we responded freely to Joe's questioning, and as our answer to Joe's last question was dying on the dusty air of ink besmeared gas and metal fumed printshop we were in the act of showing Joe some of our pet type lice when he hauled out his Ingersoll and said if the Daily Herald was to reach its bed on time the coming Sunday morning he'd better get back on the job.

Then on the 14th day of February there appeared in the Daily Herald, the story as printed above.

Joe Pickle is the sponsor of a column "This Week in Big Spring", appearing every Sunday in the Big Spring Daily Herald, commenting on all the important events happening in the city and county during the week.

We fell for Pickle the first time we met him when he was a cub reporter on the Herald several years ago. And as the years rolled on and Joe kept stepping up the ladder and winning friends, the biggest moment in his life came when he won the capital prize by winning the hand of one of Big Spring's fairest daughters, and who, at the time, was society editor of the Daily Herald.

Thank you Joe, for the nice things you have said about me. Will be over in the Spring tra, la, la, to dip my trilbys in the municipal with you.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS
BY JULIAN CAPERS JR.

AUSTIN—A quick funeral with few mourners, was being prepared this week for the O'Daniel transaction tax scheme, as the House committee on taxation and revenue, finished with its public hearings on the Townsend-inspired plan submitted by the Governor, prepared to take up sales tax and natural resources tax bills, in the order named.

By common consent it was agreed the transaction tax got nowhere at the hearings. Its only backers were a motley crew of men, women, and children, numbering about 200, who were herded together by professional pension advocates, and marched to the capitol carrying banners. Half a dozen Townsendite professional organizers, and promoters of rival pension organizations, appeared and endorsed the O Daniel bill. Most of them admitted they had never read it.

Meanwhile, under way in both houses was a movement by conservative leaders to get at the social security program sensibly by enacting legislation liberalizing the pension law somewhat, and defining "need" in definite terms. Then, accurate estimates will be made to determine the cost of pensions and other phases of social security. The next step will be, if the plan of this group works out, to attack the problem of raising whatever additional revenue is needed, but with definite knowledge of how much. Efforts also were scheduled to combine the social security program with a better governmental set up. Some leaders were hopeful of divorcing specific functions, such as pensions, from certain individual tax sources, and getting all but the constitutional allocations of income into a general fund, from which appropriations would be made to each department or function. That is an ambitious program, but one on which the governor and many legislators are thoroughly agreed. So there is some hope of achievement. Progress Is Being Made spent a morning rapping vigorously the nomination of J. C. Hunter of Abilene, as highway commissioner, and other minor issues, both houses are showing willingness to work with the governor on constructive matters, and virtually every such suggestion made by O'Daniel has received ready cooperation in the Legislative halls. Evidence is O'Daniel's recommendation for a better budgetary system, for an auditor controlled by the Legislature, for elimination of the Tax Commissioner's office, and similar recommendations.

Led by Will Pace, spokesman for the East Texas group, six senators voiced their opposition to naming Hunter or any other West Texan to the highway commission. They included Joe Hill, Clay Cotten, John Redditt, Allen Shivers and Gordon Burns. Confirmation of Hunter—not because of any question of his integrity or ability but because the East Texas group seeks to preserve the geographical division of the commission which has been in effect ever since it was created—seemed doubtful at the weekend. Pace and Redditt related a hotel conference to which they were asked by Carr P. Collins, rejected highway commission nominee, a few days previous to the nomination of Hunter. They declared Collins urged them to reconsider his own nomination, and threatened that if they did not, "they would get a man from West Texas."

The Senate fiercely resents any attempt by an outsider to dictate to or intimidate its members, and Collins' threat may cause rejection of Hunter.

Diversion Grab Rapped
The scheme of some county judges to divert gasoline tax money to pay off millions of "dead horse" county lateral road bonds, scheduled for a showdown this week, was given a severe setback when Thomas E. McDonald, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Good Roads, wired Alfred Petsch, opponent of the bill that the diversion contemplated by the bill would draw a penalty of $4,000,000 which would be withheld from the State's federal highway allocation of about $12,250,000 annually. The bill is being actively opposed by the Texas Good Roads association, headed by Lowry Martin, Gersicanna, publisher, and the Federal ruling was regarded as its probable death knell, as numerous members of both houses expressed an unwillingness to do anything that would jeopardize the State's allocation of Federal road-building money.

Lobby gossip in Austin credited certain bond speculators as being the real behind-the-scenes backers of the measure. It was asserted they have bought up millions of dollars of depreciated county bonds, well in advanced of the session, and that they already have made substantial profits as prices of many county bonds have gone up on the prospect of the State's credit backing them, as provided in the bill. Unfair distribution of the benefits, is shown by an analysis proving that 28 counties would get 56 per cent of the benefit, while ten counties would receive none at all and all of the remaining 216 counties only 44 per cent.

NAGGING BACKACHE

Disordered Kidney Action, Don't Neglect It!
Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking, exposure, contagion, whatnot, keeps doctors busy, but it is crowded. The after effects are disturbing to the kidneys, and oftentimes people suffer without knowing that disordered kidney action may cause the trouble.
After colds, fever and similar ills there is an increase of body impurities the kidneys must filter from the blood. If the kidneys are overtaxed and fail to remove excess acid and other harmful waste, there is poisoning of the whole system.
Symptoms of disturbed kidney function may be nagging backache, persistent headache, dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes — a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of strength and energy. Other signs of kidney trouble are frequent urination, or bladder disturbance. All over the country ARE FAMOUS. The reason DOAN'S PILLS have helped me! I recommend them to you. It is better to take a small dose regularly than to have a severe attack. Doan's Pills have won world-wide approval than any other kidney pills. They have been winning new friends for more than forty years. Be sure to get Doan's. Sold at all drug stores.
