

Waterfowl Film Shown At Rotary Club Thursday

Ken McCollum, student guest of the club, brought the program at the weekly luncheon and meeting of the Rotary Club Thursday, when he showed a wildlife film on migratory waterfowl.

President R. A. Lane reminded Rotarians of the Haskell Fire Department's plan to raise funds to purchase additional warning units to be used in times of storms or other emergency.

Rogers Durham visited briefly, in presenting a Lions Club challenge for a softball game with Rotarians. It was unanimously accepted, with date to be announced soon.

Thos. B. Roberson explained the recent mix-up in the speaking engagement of Rev. Maple Avery of Abilene. He said the Abilene preacher would definitely be here June 28 for a talk before the Rotary Club.

The film shown by Young McCollum depicted the four major flyways followed by migratory fowls from Canada through the United States. According to the film, most of the ducks and geese wintering in Texas come from Canada.

Hunting scenes in one of the favorite areas in the South, around Stuttgart, Ala., were also shown.

Out-of-town guests at the meeting were Rotarians Aubrey Simpkins and M. E. Trice of Rule.

Mrs. Ada Rike, Haskell Pioneer, Dies Sunday

Mrs. Ada Fitzgerald Rike, 83, member of an early-day Haskell County ranching family and resident of this section 78 years, died at her home in this city early Sunday morning. She had been in declining health for some time.

She was born Oct. 16, 1878, in Gonzales, Texas, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fitzgerald who moved their family to Haskell in 1884. She attended Haskell Public Schools, Sam Houston State Teachers College at Huntsville, and West Texas State College at Canyon.

Mrs. Rike received her degree from West Texas State College.

She married S. R. (Bunk) Rike on Dec. 31, 1903, in Haskell. They made their home on a ranch east of Haskell before moving to this city. Mr. Rike died in 1926.

A retired teacher, Mrs. Rike had taught school in Haskell for 33 years. She was a member of the First Methodist Church, where she was teacher of the Philanthropic Sunday School for many years.

Funeral service for Mrs. Rike was held at 2:30 p. m. on Tuesday in the First Methodist Church with the Rev. C. R. Lemon, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Willow Cemetery under direction of Holden Funeral Home.

Survivors include one son, John S. Rike of Haskell; one daughter, Mrs. Gaines Post of Madison, Wis.; four sisters, Mrs. R. E. Ellis of Fort Stockton, Mrs. Ernest Southern of Wichita Falls, and Mrs. George Clifton and Mrs. Frank Terrell, both of Fort Worth; four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Traffic Safety Is Stressed As Highway Job Starts

Filing Assumed Name Certificate Required of All Business Owners

Businesses operating under an assumed name must file a certificate for their firm with the county clerk on or before Dec. 31, 1962. County Clerk W. W. (Bill) Reeves reminded today.

Filing of the certificate is required by state law, Article 5924 of the Revised Civil Statutes of Texas, 1925. It requires that each and every person conducting business in the State of Texas under an assumed name shall file the certificate.

Most all businesses are affected by the assumed name law. If the real name of each individual conducting or transacting such business is not included in the firm name, the certificate must be filed.

There are some businesses which have never filed such a certificate, and many others which have not been renewed in over 20 years.

The law requires certificates be renewed every 10 years. A recent addition to the law, effective last year, states "All said certificates on file in the offices of county clerks which have heretofore been filed in accordance with Article 5924, shall terminate and become null and void and of no effect on and after December 31, 1962." Because of this provision, operators of a business under an assumed name should check with the county clerk before Dec. 31 to be sure that a certificate is filed.

A fee of $1.00 is charged for filing the certificate.

There are no penalties provided under the law, however, any firm which does not have a certificate on file cannot legally collect for services performed under contract entered under such name.

Complete details and information concerning the law may be obtained at the county clerk's office.

A pre-construction conference designed to promote traffic safety on a highway work project soon to be underway here, was held Tuesday morning at the Highway Department office west of the square.

The conference was set up in connection with 14.7 miles of construction on US Highway extending from Weinert to Stamford. Presiding for the conference was W. F. Dixon, THD resident engineer of Anson.

In attendance were Willis Atchley of Olney, contractor on the project; J. C. Schroeder of Stamford, THD inspector; David McCorkle, THD concrete supervisor; W. O. Crawford, Abilene, THD district construction engineer; Sgt. Frank Jirick of the Highway Patrol; and Ray Lusk, Haskell County maintenance foreman for the highway department.

Plans were developed for acquainting the traveling public with hazards that will exist during the construction period. All possible safeguards will be taken to minimize these hazards by the use of warning signs and flagmen, as well as a lower driving speed in areas where actual construction is underway.

The traveling public will be alerted on points where trucks carrying roadbuilding material will enter and leave the highway, and all other danger points will be marked with signs and barricades.

First construction work will be on structures, or bridges, which will be widened. Next, the shoulder on each side of the present highway will be extended eight feet, and given a foundation course and two-course surface treatment. When finished, the added shoulders will give the highway an added width of 16 feet.

Everything possible will be done to minimize interference with normal traffic on Highway 277, but it was pointed out that there will be some inconvenience, particularly in areas where base hauling is underway.

The cooperation of all motorists will be sought in observing all barricades and warning signs as well as restricted driving speeds in work areas.

Contractor Atchley said that stockpiling of materials was to be started immediately, with this phase of the project to require about two weeks.

Sgt. Jirick, area supervisor for the Highway Patrol, said his department would cooperate at all times in enforcing safety precautions on the stretch of highway involved in the project.

Resident Engineer Dixon explained that the project now getting underway was initiated Nov. 6, 1961, as part of the department's Highway Safety and Betterment Program. In January, 1962, surveying of the project was started, culminating in awarding the contract late in May.

Cost of the project is estimated at $215,800, and approximately 90 working days will be required for completion.

School Board Hires Two New Coaches

At a meeting of the School Board June 6, two athletic coaches and faculty members were elected to fill vacancies created by the resignation of Harold Harrington and Jimmy Browning. Harrington has accepted a position as football coach at Tulsa Midway High School near Corpus Christi. Browning resigned to engage in farming.

Hired as line coach was A. J. Viertell, freshman coach at Sweetwater for the past four years. Viertell, formerly of Albany, was a guard on the Albany 1950 State Champion team. A 1955 graduate of Hardin-Simmons University, he played guard on the H-SU Cowboys squad during his college years. He was line coach at Nocona two years before going to Sweetwater. He is attending the summer session of ETSC at Commerce.

Named Browning's successor was Arlos Berry, assistant coach at H-SU and varsity basketball coach. A 1956 graduate of H-SU he remained as freshman coach in football and basketball three years, and for the past two years has been assistant varsity football coach.

Mr. Berry has already begun work with the Haskell schools, and is instructor in Driver Education, assisting David Middleton during the current 6-weeks course.

Two vacancies exist on the Elementary School faculty as the result of resignations of Mrs. Rachel Stubblefield, teacher in First Grade, and Mrs. Bill Pogue, teacher in the Second Grade who is moving to Tucson, Ariz.

Unknown and little noticed during the recent storm by all except those with loved ones directly concerned was the outstanding job done by nurses and staff of the Haskell County Hospital in taking care of patients in the institution during the emergency.

From the time the storm hit, the hospital was without lights or electric service for several hours, with the exception of emergency lights furnished by flashlight and candles, until Schumberger employees brought and installed a portable generator in the hospital.

Immediately after being warned the storm was imminent, nurses and other hospital employees moved all patients into the halls of the building, placed them on mattresses on the floor, then used the beds to give added protection in case the building was hit and damaged.

This procedure in time of emergency is followed in all hospitals. Hospital Administrator Halle Chapman said. The fact that it was done during the initial period of the storm when the building was without lights,

Handcuffs and Handouts

Just about everyone has heard the old saying that "He who pays the piper calls the tune."

A perfect example is found where government does the paying—and it's true of small matters as well as big.

Oregon, for instance, once used yellow dividing stripes on its highways. These, most motorists found, were easier to see at night and under bad weather conditions. They were distinctive, too, and acted as guides to tourists.

No more. For the federal government is paying most of the costs of major highways—and Uncle Sam says that all highway stripes must be white. Uncle—taxpayer-filled pocketbook in hand—is the boss.

It's also being proposed, in order to brighten the landscape, that Oregon bridges be painted in bright colors. But Uncle, with his 50-state rule book, wouldn't accept that either.

The point is that handcuffs come with the handouts.

Wondering What You Can Do?

The Treasury's Freedom Bond Drive is an opportunity and a challenge for all who sincerely wonder "what they can do for their country." The cold war and international tensions bring new frustrations every day. Buying bonds—or volunteering your services as a bond volunteer—is one good way of working off that frustrated feeling.

Of course, investing in our government's bonds is more than a patriotic exercise. It's a positive way of building up our economic strength to sustain the burden of the cold war, and of strengthening your own financial future as well. Being a good citizen, and turning a handy profit in the process, is a pretty good deal for any of us.

The bond drive is using two slogans: "Underwrite your country's might," and "Keep freedom in your future." Both make a lot of sense. Winning cold wars doesn't come cheap, and the more bond dollars private citizens invest in the job, the more soundly—and safely—it will be financed.

Americans generally haven't been asked for much up to now. Buying bonds surely isn't all that will be expected of us. The point is, this opportunity is here, it's now, and it doesn't really cost you a cent. Uncle Sam can justifiably ask us all to buy extra bonds during the Freedom Bond Drive.

People, Places & Things

By A. PATE

Several newspapers carried pictures last week of two men and a whopping 79-pound yellow catfish they caught in Possum Kingdom Lake, near Graham.

Now we learn, although we are not positive of the fisherman's name, that a 83-pound yellow catfish was caught last week in Lake Stamford. To the best of our knowledge, that is the largest fish caught in the lake to date.

Given a little more time, these Paint Creek catfish may within a few years exceed those big ones at P-K, a much older lake than Lake Stamford.

We've had no reports on our phantom panther or lion since the recent tornado. Perhaps the weather got too rough for the roving animal and he may have sought safer territory for the time being.

Old files of The Free Press for 1912 carry the announcement that regular automobile transfer service between Haskell and Rule was to be inaugurated by a local livery stable.

People in that era had their choice of the traditionally dependable horse and buggy transportation, or the new-fangled gasoline buggies which were rapidly gaining favor.

Livery stables still did a thriving business, but most owners and operators saw the handwriting on the wall and were beginning to hedge by adding one or two gasoline vehicles.

Three early-day real estate men, Felix Todd, J. J. Stein and J. D. Kinnison were the first to capitalize on the gasoline buggies as a helpful adjunct to their business.

A prospective land buyer, who had probably never ridden in an automobile in his lifetime, was whisked around over the area by the land agent until in most cases the prospect became so thrilled that he was easy to close a deal with.

At the same time, the early-day operators of these vehicles had to be men of skill and resourcefulness in keeping the newfangled gas buggies operating. As a result they became expert mechanics, and could diagnose and correct almost any trouble which might develop.

One of the first taxicab operators in Haskell, although taxis were called "transfers" then, was Brownie Hughes, who operated a Model T Ford. Brownie, who walked with a limp due to a leg injury when a youth was acclaimed as the best driver to be found anywhere. It was said that he could coax a Model T over roads where a wagon would require a four-horse team.

Although he did not operate a regular schedule to surrounding towns, Brownie made trips almost every day to Rule, Sagerton and Rochester.

When the oil boom hit Burk Burnett and Iowa Park, Brownie transferred his operations to the boomtowns, and reputedly made plenty of money in the taxi business.

In the field now dominated by Avis and Hertz, the first rent-a-car operator in Haskell was Noah Kinnman, who came here from Throckmorton and operated a garage for a time.

He owned several Model T touring cars, and rented the machines for $1 per hour. A stipulation enforced with teenage drivers were that the cars were not to be driven outside the city limits. Also, the first hour's rent had to be paid in advance.

Kinnman apparently never worried about the experience of the driver of one of his rent cars. He probably had set the carburetor and throttle at a moderate speed, and those Model T's were built to stand a lot of punishment.

By 1916, the automobile had been firmly established here. The only thing, there were about as many different makes as there were owners. However, even at that time Ford and Chevrolet were beginning to take their place as favorites.

A favorite here for a time was the Mitchell, a red-wheeled job sold by the late Bill Whately. Other popular makes were the Hupmobile, Hudson Reo, Rambler (Buick), and the Liberty Brush. Believe it or not, the Brush automobile had a wooden front axle!

Two Haskell doctors, the late Dr. D. L. Cummins and the late Dr. Odum, both drove Brush roadsters. The car had a chain drive from the engine, located under the seat, to the rear axle. It was said to be one of the most dependable cars made at the time.

Dr. Cummins had his office in the West Side Drug Store, and always parked his car in front of the store which had a cement sidewalk and curb about eight inches high. The doctor would drive up slowly and without paying too much attention to brakes, would let the car come to a stop when it bounced against the curb.

One day he had returned from a call several miles out in the country, over about as rough a stretch of road as could be found. Coming back to the drug store, he rolled up to his customary parking place. When the car bumped against the curb there was a dull thud as the two-gylinder engine fell to the ground!

E. E. Marvin, a mechanic called to the scene, soon had the Brush back in running order. He explained that four supporting bolts with which the motor was attached to the car frame had worn in two, all at the same time.

First and probably the only steam-driven automobile owned here was a White Steamer belonging to Felix Todd. Only drawback was the vehicle's excessive weight and the fact that time was required to build up a head of steam.

Once ready to roll, it had plenty of power and unlimited speed. The vehicle would travel as fast as the operator dared to open the throttle. In size, the Steamer was about like today's larger cars. Ruggedly built, it would carry all the passengers who could load on.

One of Todd's favorite hobbies was quail and duck hunting, and that's where his steam-driven car came in handy.

In the early fall, he and six or seven cronies would load in the car with their camping gear and guns, and head out for the McGregor Ranch on the Brazos in northwest Haskell County for several days of hunting. Despite the lack of roads, the White Steamer always made the trip without incident, other than one or two punctures.

As the mania for speedier cars developed, the fastest models brought here were the red-wheeled Mitchell mentioned earlier, and the Hudson, around 1915 and 1916.

Our first "mile-a-minute" ride came during that period in a Hudson touring car owned by the late Dick Nolen, Haskell theatre man. That at least was the speedometer reading and we accepted it without question. Further, since the speedometer dial could register 75 mph, we had utmost faith the sleek Hudson could make that mark, too.

Late one evening in the summer of 1916, word came that the business section of Rule was going up in flames and help was needed.

Nolen and a friend, "Spot" Lemmon or Brevard Long, jumped in the front seat of his Hudson, while three teenage boys around the theater loaded in the back seat of the car. Because of the hot weather, the top of the touring car had been folded back, as was the custom in those days.

As Nolen roared north in his car, he turned west at the old Shook Residence on the main road to Rule. The dirt road, partly sandy, was full of chug holes. The three youths in the back seat found themselves bouncing around as Nolen gunned his car. His eyes glued to the black smoke boiling up ten miles to the west.

Then the car hit a deep chug hole, and two of the rear seat passengers bounced high in the air. Coming down, they landed on the folded back fabric car top. Another chug hole sent them up again—and out as the car sped on while the two boys landed unhurt on the sandy roadway.

Still determined to get to the big blaze, the two boys dusted themselves off, tested arms and legs, and then hitch-hiked a ride in a slower car to Rule.

Why does GAS give you the only "family-duty" REFRIGERATOR?

Gas refrigerators are built to work better, last longer — and for less! You know they can take it — and here's why:

LONGEST WARRANTY ON THE MARKET — Family-planned 10-year warranty on the sealed GAS system is twice as long as any other — backed by reliable Lone Star Gas Service.

MONEY-SAVING OPERATION — Refrigeration costs less because it's GAS! Fewer moving parts to wear in the Gas system mean lower repair costs and less worry than with compressor types.

ICE DISPENSER MODELS, NEVER ANY FROST in frost-free models. Ice is always fingertip-handly in the server basket. No frost forms in continuous-cold GAS refrigerator-freezers. Big zero-degree freezer is a separate compartment. GAS refrigerator prices are the lowest ever.

PAINT CREEK... COMMUNITY NEWS

BY MRS. GENE OVERTON

We are in the monsoon season again. It has rained every night for the last four nights. The farmers are draining terraces every morning these days. It seemed there was rain to spare, but we heard Saturday that there was a strip between Paint Creek and Sager-ton where they hadn't had enough moisture to plant. The farms along the Rule to Stamford-Y and on north for several miles were as dry as could be. Howard Overby is one of the farmers who told us about it. However, they had some rain Friday night, and some more last night, so maybe they are not so bad off now. The Plainview community had 3.5 inches Wednesday and two Thursday and some more Friday. Gene says we have had some 5 1/2 inches right in here. Anyway it is nice and although we will have to replant most of the cotton, the moisture is worth it.

Paint Creek had some lovely little visitors this past week—about 75 of them, in fact. The Haskell Girl Scouts held their Day Camp at the Scott Ranch on east of the crossing. Mr. Dude Montgomery, manager of the ranch, allowed the girls and leaders to have their camp in the pasture. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday were fair, hot days, and the little girls were busy as could be with crafts, songs, skits, flag ceremonies, camping, hikes and all the other scouting activities. Then on Thursday morning four of the girls and Mrs. Al Smethie went out to the ranch early to put on their dinner of deep hole beans. The camp site was across the creek that runs through the pasture. They finished burying the big bean pot in its hot coals about 8:30 and the little girls were arriving and beginning the flag ceremony when the leaders noticed the creek rising.

The Hamlin area had had a five-inch rain the night before and the water reached California Creek at the crossing about 9:00. At first it looked as if it wouldn't get too high, and since two camp sites and headquarters were across the creek the leaders decided four more girls could go on over and help their group. But the water rose and rose, and the leaders were afraid they would have some girls marooned across the creek, so they called them all back. By the time they formed a human chain and let the girls hold on as they crossed, the water was becoming deeper and swifter. Except for two girls slipping down and having to be pulled out of the creek, and everybody concerned getting thoroughly wet, there were no incidents.

The girls adjusted to the change in camp sites and were just as busy and happy that day as any other. Scott's Crossing was entirely too deep for any vehicle to cross by two o'clock, so the leaders loaded all the girls in their cars and went back to Haskell by Ericksdale, Rockdale and Stamford. Friday morning, Mr. Barnett and Buck Bland led the cars back the same long 52 miles through rocky ranch country, and the camp was closed at two o'clock as if the weather had cooperated.

When California Creek goes down, the girls will go back and get tents, blankets, hand-craft, hats, cook kits and everything left at the two camp sites—and everybody is interested in knowing just how the beans will taste. They were supposed to cook from four to six hours. They will have been in the coals that many days. Parents had been invited to an open house on Friday night which had to be called off, of course. That will be held later, also.

The camp was well organized, and the girls seemed to learn and enjoy it so much. Mrs. Cliff Berry (Mildred) was the Day Camp director. Mrs. Allen Overton (Genevieve) was assistant director and led the singing. Mrs. Don Nanny (Gay-la) served as business manager. Mrs. H. E. Stephens (Charlie) was the camp nurse. She is a registered nurse, and the camp was fortunate to have her. In fact, when the Abilene district office heard that Haskell was to have a registered nurse, they tried to hire her for their camp. Mrs. Calvin Smethie (Ruthie) served as general chairman—and it is she who is the backbone of the Girl Scout movement in Haskell. They had on the sign "Mabel Overton—P.C." and since I was a sort of flunky who helped where ever anybody needed me, I just guessed it meant—"Mabel Overton, Paint Creek." but they told me about Thursday that I was the "Program Co-ordinator", no less. I surely enjoyed coordinating the program, and meeting and knowing the leaders and the fine little girls.

The camp had several visitors during the week. One of the most enjoyable was Mrs. Norman Nanny who dressed up in her great grandmother Earp's long dress, with her mother's (Mrs. John R. Watson, Sr.) long apron and a pink sunbonnet and told the story of Scott's Crossing and the early life of the Scott and Fitzgerald families in the very country where we were having camp. Mr. Dude Montgomery came and went every day seeing about the cattle, and Mr. Stephens and Mr. Calvin Smethie both came, and one day (Friday) Mr. and Mrs. Brooke Earley drove down to see how high the crossing was and stayed for our flag ceremony.

Much of the success of the camp goes to the four Smethie boys, especially Allan and Steve. They helped everybody and cared for the Papoose group, or the tiny children of the workers. Dave and Mack Smethie helped, too. Scout leaders in charge of the four patrols were: Mrs. Harold Turner (Lois), Mrs. F. E. Frierson (Jimmy), Mrs. Burnett Gilliland (Mary Lou), Mrs. T. J. Brueggeman (Doris), Mrs. Wayne Waincott (Betty), Mrs. Odell Helweg (Eunice), Mrs. Loewe (Bonnie), Mrs. Gentry Middleton (Mavis).

Sp/4 Eddie Lee Thane, who is stationed at San Antonio and his wife, spent the weekend at home with Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Thane.

Many of our community young people are in summer school this summer. Dolin Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Hughes of the Bunkley Ranch, graduated in the spring graduation exercises at North Texas State University at Denon early this month. His major was physics and math, and he will teach math at N.T.S.U. this summer and begin work on his Master's degree.

Barbara Grand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Grand is a senior at Texas Tech majoring in bacteriology. She will continue her studies this summer and has been chosen as an assistant to one of the Tech professors doing some special research.

Dub Sims is finishing his major work in Agricultural Education at Texas A&M at College Station and will receive his degree in August.

Mike Overton, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Overton who graduated at Paint Creek this spring began classes at Texas A&M Adjunct at Junction, Texas. This is a camp A&M has set up for freshmen who want to take some class work and carry a lighter load in the fall semester. They also have some junior engineering students who take work there and serve as cabin counselors. Mike writes he is taking freshman English, math, basic and Red Cross Life Saving. Mr. and Mrs. Overton, and Mr. and Mrs. Austin Coburn, Sandra and Jimmy Frierson of Tulsa, Oklahoma, took Mike and Robert Coburn to Junction Sunday, June 3rd.

Mary Lou McLennan is a summer student at N.T.S.U. She is a junior and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McLennan.

Margaret Fischer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fischer, is taking some English and speech courses at McMurry in conjunction with her job in the office of Mr. Hudson.

Van Morrison, principal of junior high, is attending classes at A.C.C. in Abilene this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. James Merle Raughton and family are in Abilene this summer where both Mr. and Mrs. Raughton are attending classes at Southwest State Teacher's College.

Glenda Walton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Walton, is working in Lubbock this summer and attending classes at Texas Tech.

William Overton, English teacher in the Sam Houston junior high school in Garland has received one of the three scholarships offered by Theater Three in Dallas. They offer a pre-teen, a teen-age and an adult scholarship, and he received the adult one. He opens in "The Tavern" Tuesday, June 12th, and this play runs until July 30, I think. He is also

WHY

Do So Many Home Buyers Insist on Medallion Homes?

"Live Better Electrically," the advertising slogan says. Modern homemakers know that it's more than a mere slogan - it's a fact. You CAN live better electrically when you buy a Medallion home. Here's why. The man who built that home, the Medallion home, EARNED the privilege of displaying the medallion by observing certain minimum electrical standards in the design and construction of the home, and in the appliances which are a part of the plan for living. It has been called "the Hallmark of Excellence." And it is. So look for the "Live Better Electrically" medallion when you are thinking of buying a new home. Enjoy FLAMELESS electric living!

Humble Placing New Enco Sign At All Stations

Humble Oil & Refining Company begins a 60-day campaign to erect the Enco sign at all its stations in Texas. This is another step in the nation-wide expansion program which began in 1959. Humble now markets in 46 states.

Throughout the West, from Texas to Oregon, from California to Indiana, Humble's sign will be the Enco oval. In the East, Humble stations will use the brand name, Esso. The name Enco is derived from the slogan "America's Leading Energy Company." This slogan was adopted following the merger of five leading oil companies to form the nation's largest domestic oil company.

The new sign program involves more than 3,000 service stations and more than 4,000 signs. To complete the use of a fleet of over 100 trucks to distribute the signs and more than 75 work crews to put them in place.

It is expected that all stations in Texas will have their new Enco ovals in place late in July. "This move enables the motoring public to easily identify our station," said J. C. Wilbourn, Southwest Region Marketing Manager. "The familiar oval will be seen from coast to coast."

The work is proceeding on schedule and should be completed as planned.

From A Pastor's Study

By DOUGLAS B. FINCH, Pastor, First Presbyterian Church, Haskell, Texas

We Americans are the world's greatest "hero" worshippers. We allow a hero like Elvis Presley to establish a new pattern of musical taste for us while we make him tremendously wealthy in our worshipful adoration of him. We would trade a week's wages for a strand of hair from Elizabeth Taylor's head, or a blade of grass from Rock Hudson's front yard. We allow a heroine like Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy to decide the hair-do for the great majority of young women in the country. A man whose signature will not be honored at the bank will become the victim of autograph seekers when he becomes one of the many husbands of a Hollywood "star" or a television "big name."

Like so many characteristics of American life, this one drains over into the life of the Christian Church. This "hero worship" is in accord with our "materialistic" thinking; for we like to attach our loyalty to something we can see, hear, and feel... something solid and material. Few of us have a concept, actually, of things spiritual. To try to describe "spirit" to a person is like trying to describe the color "yellow" to a man born blind.

Therefore, one of the chief sources of unhappiness and confusion in some of our churches today is that we attach our loyalty in the wrong places. For too many congregations, the minister is the "hero" of the church. They are unable to see past him to the Christ whom he seeks to serve. Many thus find themselves beset with stress and discord without realizing what has happened to them; for their loyalty is attached to a fallible human creature. And often when the Pastor of a hero-worshipping congregation leaves town, if the picture of the departed is left behind, many are left forlorn and alone. Many have nothing more to do with the church because their "favorite Pastor" has left town. Such people are typical
