

A Little About Everything
Not Much About Anything
By JAMES E. KELLY
(Opinions expressed in this column are the views of the writer and should be so interpreted).

AS EACH WEEK PASSES THRU this parching hot prolonged drouth, the more vehement becomes the hue and cry from over the entire State of Texas, the lowering of water in wells to a complete dry up of the water in them, and the dry up of the water in the reservoirs that have been especially constructed by towns and cities over the state to provide their water supply whenever the rains came and filled them. Some of these artificial lakes of water have dried up or they are so dangerously near that point, the cities and towns have to depend upon the communities that are so fortunate as to have the "more valuable mineral than oil or gas" in their possession, to supply them.

Dallas has clamped down a rigid rule for controlling the amount of water each consumer can use. And that watering the lawn and shrubs three times a week, and no watering of lawns or shrubbery by any water consumer on Sunday. The water in the several large water reservoirs that have been providing Dallas with an abundance of water are rapidly drying up, and as a precaution that the city of Dallas has any water at all to provide its citizenship, it is imperative that the city officials inaugurate a stayed fast law governing the water situation.

That Stanton and Martin County which are blessed with plenty of water, may have some idea of the suffering some of the communities close by are going through because of the scarcity of water, this column has only to cite them to the little town of Aspermont, not far north of Stanton. And what's more every water user in Stanton should be thankful the rate is not the same as in Aspermont. The price in Aspermont, through the water mains, is $7.00 per 1,000 gallons. The city's water supply is brought in by a fleet of trucks from Rule a distance of 22 miles. These trucks operate on a basis of almost 24-hours per day. As one Aspermont citizen said: "At $7 per 1,000 gallons, water is almost as expensive to drink, or use for bathing purposes." And again, let this column plead with the water users of Stanton, not to waste any water, even if it is plentiful at this time. There is no assurance the supply is inexhaustible.

What this column is greatly interested in, as well as the citizens of my town and county, is when will the time come when the State of Texas will have on its statute books laws that communities like Martin County can have a say as to the amicable distribution of the supply to all concerned, instead of its present position—use all the water your pump will lift from its underground reservoir, and the balance not needed for consumption, can go to waste?

Sometimes the best thing to get off your chest is your chin.

The way the Martin County water situation now stands, free of any enforcement laws, blasted of its hope of forming any organized group of water property owners with an eye single to conserving that most highly prized mineral—WATER—by the courts of our state. It was because of the laxity of the laws that people couldn't govern the peace and tranquility of their homes, that led them to rise up and take the law in their own hands and mete out justice. The encroachment of communities whose source of water supply is exhausted, has reached the very boundary lines of Martin County, and lopped over into the middle of the county's water supply, to the point that millions of gallons per day are leaving and more are to leave, the water pool that underlies the earth in Martin County. There is no law that the county who supplies these millions of gallons daily, can look to govern the number gallons of water each

Plans Announced To Widen Highway 80

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION AGREES TO PAY PAVING COST

The prospect of a four-lane highway being built across Martin County looked excellent this week as the Texas State Highway Commission declared U. S. Highway 80 across this county to be a freeway.

With the labeling of this stretch of pavement as a freeway, the State Highway Commission agrees to pay completely the cost of paving the road across Martin County from the Howard County line.

It will now be up to Martin County to provide the money for the acquisition of right-of-way for the paving program to continue.

A State Highway Engineer has been directed to coordinate planning, right-of-way acquisition, and construction for the ultimate accomplishment of this objective.

The proposed four-lane highway will follow the present road's route, including the path of the pavement through Stanton. The four-laning through the city will probably eliminate parking on Front St., however, no business property will be disturbed by the acquisition of the right-of-way.

The State Highway Commission has also agreed to pay paving costs of Highway 80 on into Midland from the Martin County line and work will begin soon on that section as Midland County has already voted bonds for the payment of right-of-way purchases.

JAMES H. JONES FIRST BALE OF COTTON SELLS FOR $1.15 AT AUCTION

The James H. Jones family's bale of cotton was sold for $1.15 at Saturday's auction sale as generous Martin County people and merchants turned out to reward the Jones family for bringing in Martin County's first bale of cotton for 1952.

Spirited by the persistent voice of Jack Arrington, Saturday's auctioneer, the people gathered in front of The First National Bank and purchased the bale in little more than an hour.

Bidding on the cotton began at forty cents, the price for which the bale actually sold to the Lenorah Gin Co., ginners of the first bale.

The price jumped quickly as "Smoky" Greenhaw, manager of the Lenorah Gin Co., chipped in a bid of fifty cents. From then on, the price rose steadily until Arrington closed the bidding at $1.15 a pound at 1:05 p. m.

For each cent bid on the bale, (See COTTON, Back Page)

FOOTBALL PRACTICE FOR STANTON BUFFALOES GETS UNDERWAY MONDAY

Fourteen lettermen will be on the field Monday afternoon when the Stanton High School Buffaloes begin training for the 1952 football season.

A ten-game schedule is on tap for the Buffs as they prepare to avenge 1951's last place ranking in District 4-A.

Approximately 50 boys should turn out for the first practice sessions, according to Coach Charles Read, including about 15 new footballers.

Denver City, who won the District 4-A championship in 1951, will be a slight favorite to repeat this year. Although the Mustangs lose fourteen boys by graduation, they have strong reserves to make them a contender this year.

The Buffaloes will lose only two men off of last year's squad, Billy Overby, who graduated, and Richard Tolliver, who has moved to Abilene.

Plymouth Is Due to Complete Morris Well as Pumper

By JAMES C. WATSON

Plymouth Oil Company No. 1 W. R. Morris, Southeast Martin County wildcat, one and three-quarter miles northeast of Stanton, appears to finally be approaching completion as a small oil well and a discovery from the Spraberry.

This project pumped 18 barrels of new oil in five hours on the last production test reported. At the end of that five hours all storage on the lease had been filled.

The well was then shut in to allow emptying the tank. When that has been done operator probably will take a 24-hour pumping potential and complete the development.

No Water

It is expected to settle down to a daily oil yield of between 50 and 75 barrels of oil per day. On the latest tests it has not reported producing any water.

The pay section is at 7,873-67 feet in the Spraberry. Location is 660 feet from west and 1,980 feet from south lines of section 7, block 35, T-1-S, T&P survey.

DeKalb Agricultural Association, Inc., No. 1 Knox, Northwest Martin County wildcat, has been abandoned. It bottomed at 12,646 feet in the barren Ellenburger.

All Zones Dry

The wildcat has no shows for commercial production in any zone it drilled through.

A drillstem test was taken in the Ellenburger at 12,585-646 feet. Length of the test was not reported.

Recovery was the 2,000-foot water blanket, 940 feet of drilling mud and 4,990 feet of sulphur water. There were no shows of oil or gas.

Electric surveys were being taken at last report.

Tentative, unofficial top of the Ellenburger was called from samples at 12,450 feet. Elevation is 2,384 feet.

Location was 660 feet from north and 2,118 feet from west lines of league 253, Ward County School Land survey.

It was 11 miles north of Tazan and four miles east of the Breedlove (Devonian) field.

Saunders, Lewis, Bearden, and Gibson Elected to Office

Over 1300 Martin County voters went to the polls Saturday as Dan Saunders, former highway patrolman, edged past W. E. (Bill) Pinkston by 33 votes to become Sheriff of Martin County for the next two years.

In a runoff election which featured better than a 65 per cent turnout of voters, Saunders polled 682 votes to Pinkston's 649.

Other county races saw Stanley L. Lewis sweep to victory in the race for County Commissioner, precinct 2, over D. E. Bloomer. Lewis received 289 votes compared to Bloomer's 193 ballots.

Martin Gibson, defeated Lynn White, another primary write-in candidate, for the Justice of the Peace position.

Gibson outdistanced White by polling 315 ballots to the latter's 168.

Otto Bearden defeated James Jones and Bonnie White in the county's closest race, that for Committeeman, precinct 3. All three candidates had been write-in selections in the July election, and each had received two votes, thereby causing a runoff between three candidates.

Bearden received 39 votes, Jones 38 ballots, and White polled 12 votes.

The only state race saw Frank Culver of Fort Worth, polling 609 votes to the 295 ballots for Spurgeon Bell of Houston in the race for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, Place No. 1. Culver also led Bell in the overall state vote.

Forty-six absentee ballots were voted in the county.

Reporter Employs A. W. Wooley in News and Ad Dept.

The Stanton Reporter has added a new member to the production staff. A. W. Wooley was employed Monday to serve in the newspaper's editorial and advertising departments.

Coming to West Texas from the Dallas-Fort Worth area, Wooley was employed during the summer at The Reporter-Telegram in Midland.

In accepting his duties at The Stanton Reporter, Wooley said: "This is exactly the type of work I can put my whole heart into. Stanton is the kind of community I consider ideal for my family. I don't know that I will be able to do any good for this newspaper or this city as a whole but my promise of a minimum standard is to at least do no harm."

Mr. Wooley's wife Dorothy and their three children, Virginia 15, Barbara 12, and Ross 7, will arrive at Stanton this weekend. The family will reside in the old Paul Jones home at the northeast edge of town.

Former Superintendent Of Stanton Schools Gets Honorary Degree

During the reign of C. L. Sone, superintendent of the Stanton school system in the 1920's, the school had one of the best football squads in West Texas. It was the period when Stanton and Midland were in the same district, and there was intense antagonism existing between the school teams, as it was a hard fought battle which team would win. Coach Rufus Hyde, was the mentor of the Buffalo squad, who, following his reign as athletic director of the Stanton schools became coach of the North Dallas high school, which position he held many years.

Mr. Sone is the father of Dr. Law Sone, president of Texas Wesleyan College, Fort Worth, and he will receive an honorary degree LLD at the summer commencement of McMurry College, Abilene, Aug. 28.

Mr. Sone is a native of Jefferson, Mo., came to Texas in 1876 in a prairie schooner. He was the youngest member of the high school graduating class in Denton in 1896. He began his career as an educator at the age of 17 and completed 50 years in that field before his retirement 11 years ago at the age of 70. He was a member of the first graduating class of North Texas Normal College, which is now North Texas State College.

Stanton was among the eight rural schools of which Sone had served as superintendent. During World War II, Sone taught mathematics in the Air Force school at West Texas State College, Canyon. His wife died in 1945 but he still maintains his home at Canyon.

Visitors last week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Crim were his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Crim of New London, Texas, and sister and brother-in-law Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Craig of Henderson, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Brown leave this weekend to attend the Southwestern Gift and Jewelry Show. They will also attend the Cosmetics and Walgreen Drug Show.

DOWN MEMORY LANE

From Files of August 28, 1942
The rainfall in Stanton last weekend amounted to an inch and a quarter. Some points in the rural sections had as much as two and three inches.

Judge B. F. White and County Agent Hubert Martin, announced this week that the Martin County Agriculture Fair that has been held in Stanton the past several years with such marked success, has been postponed for the duration.

Martin County Judge B. F. White received word this week from highway officials that the government had released asphalt to complete the Stanton-Lamesa highway and the material would arrive soon.

James Arnett Rogers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt H. Rogers, Stanton, has been selected for training as a Naval Aviation cadet and will be ordered to active duty shortly.

Due to many reports of an increase in the rat infestation throughout Martin County and requests for some medium of control of these pests, Commissioners' Court, County Agent's Office, Fish and Wildlife Service of A & M College cooperating, are making a prepared bait available to all interested.

WINSLOW NAMED SERVICE MAN FOR TEXAS ELECTRIC

Yewell C. Winslow, who has just returned from Korean duty with the United States Navy, has been named Service Man of the Texas Electric Service Co. in Stanton.

Winslow, who first moved to Stanton in 1940, succeeds D. H. Seago, who will move to Midland as Service Man for Texas Electric.

A veteran of World War II, Winslow was employed by Texas Electric at Monahans before his recall into the service in April, 1951. Since that time he has served on the U. S. S. Valley Forge, CV-45, an aircraft carrier.

Winslow is married to the former Zora Houston of Stanton. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Winslow, also reside in Stanton.

Winslow has served with Texas Electric for nearly five years.

Seago, who has resided in Stanton for the past year and four months, was the Cub Scoutmaster here.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Medford and son of Midland, visited last week with Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Steele and family.

Serious Shortage of Farm Machinery for '53 Crops Forecast

WASHINGTON—An official of the National Production Authority forecast a "serious shortage of new farm machinery to plant and harvest the 1953 crops."

John Ransom, chief of the N. P. A.'s agriculture machinery and implements division, said production of machinery to meet farmers' needs for 1953 crops normally must start as early as the third and fourth quarters of this year. Failure of manufacturers to place orders and get delivery of steel at present "may mean an industry setback of as much as 30% off 1953 requirements," Mr. Ransom said.

He predicted that 100% of this year's crops will be harvested, although production of machinery is already declining. Production of machinery will continue "at greatly reduced rates until balance of the year."

J. B. Harvard, Jr. Receives Master's Degree at Baylor

John Boulevard Harvard, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Harvard of Stanton, was one of the 355 students to be awarded degrees at the graduation exercises of Baylor University, Thursday night, Aug. 21, in Baylor Stadium in Waco.

Harvard was awarded a Master's degree in Economics. Thursday night's graduation exercises brought to a close Baylor's summer school. Registration for the fall quarter will begin Sept. 16.

Advanced supplies of needed steel are obtained," he said.

According to Agriculture Department surveys, the country must produce 16% more farm machinery than in 1949 if its food and fibre needs are to be met. Output in June just about equaled the 1949 rate, the N. P. A. said.

Andrews News Displays Work of Art In Journalism

By JAMES E. KELLY

The writer has a few words to say about the journalistic feats performed in the offices of two exchange newspapers that arrived last week at this writer's desk, and two that I prize highly for their news and editorial contents. One of the exchanges, the Andrews County News, performed a very unusual feat for a country weekly newspaper. I admit in the outset that the lay reader of this story who is not acquainted with the "inside workings" of the mechanical department which is the main cogwheel in turning out this very newspaper and every newspaper in its finished product to the reader, what I say here may be of little interest. But the newspaper fraternity, especially the boys in the "back shop" will well grasp the meaning of the feat I am endeavoring to convey.

The Andrews County News, published in a town of a little more than 3,000 population, issued last week, a 16-page, 8-column to the page, edition, as "The News' Annual Back to School Issue." The second section of 8 pages was devoted to articles relative to the opening of school and a liberal spread of advertising.

But here is the rather phenomenal feat the mechanical force of the News performed. On the front page of the issue was a 4-column wide by 13 inches long picture of "Back to School" printed in blue ink. On an inside page was a woman's fashion cut printed in blue, and on the back page of the first section, was a double column cut of a woman's fashion plate near the top and beside the borderline printed in blue ink, for a page advertisement.

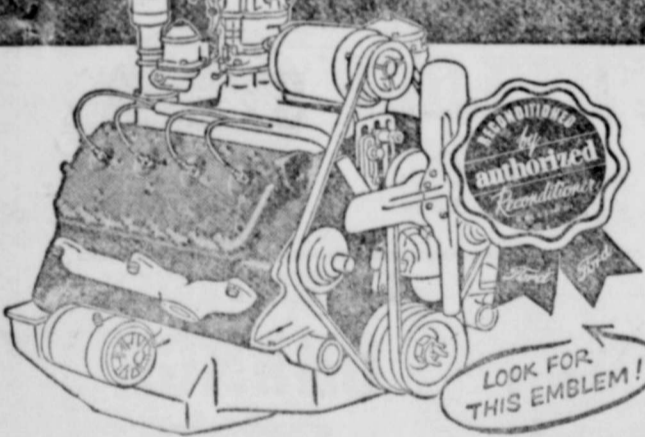

The newspaper press of the Andrews County News is not one press in motion, and permit the distribution of black ink over the type pages of the newspaper at the same time.

The feat the News performed, and I will say it was just about as perfect piece of artistic work I ever saw come from a newspaper press that didn't have the colored ink attachment.

In the first place the mechanical workmen in the News plant had to remove every drop of black ink from the ink fountain that trickles down to the rollers which is distributed over the type forms set on the press bed while the press is in motion. This job required the removal from the fountain 10 pounds of black news ink into a container to be used again, and then the job begun of washing the fountain clean of every drop of black ink with rags and gasoline. The worker then had to remove all the rollers from the press and wash them free of black ink. This task was performed in preparation to filling the ink fountain with blue ink, the type of color the News used in printing the colored pictures appearing in the issue.

In the meantime, the makeup man had a mathematical problem to solve in placing the three picture cuts at exactly the right spot where they'd be located when the second run of the newspaper was made in black ink. The three cuts were locked up in the forms according to the makeup man's calculations and placed on the newspaper press for printing. The first run problem was the determining answer to the problem of a perfectly printed issue of the News, and avoid the cuts printed in blue from striking on the printed page just any place but the right place, and botch up the appearance of the whole newspaper. With the first edition of the News off the press containing the three cuts printed in blue, the same performance had to be gone through as the one in preparing the press for the blue ink. The blue ink had to be removed from the ink fountain and cleaned, the rollers removed and washed of blue ink ready for the replacing with black, the color used for printing the general edition of the News.

For the last run of the edition to be printed in black ink goes the type forms and the three blank spaces for the cuts in blue to appear on the bed of the press. Along with this job goes the "fear and trembling" of the makeup man over whether his problem of locating the three cuts in the first place would hit in their proper positions. They hit perfectly as a copy of the News will testify.

The margin on the type pages of the News, and the perfect "strike" of their positions in the blue, led the writer to believe that the News' newspaper press is an automatic feed.

A very fine piece of artistic work, Charley Roberts and son, James, and the rest of the boys in the back shop.

The Second Exchange

The second exchange newspaper that didn't show the artistic ability as the Andrew News, was the Baird Star coming out honoring the 75th anniversary of Callahan County. The second section of 24 pages, in addition to the regular edition of 8 pages, was printed in tabloid size, and devoted to historical facts of the town and county, with a liberal spread of advertising.

Callahan County was organized July 1, 1877. Belle Plains was the name of the first county seat. But in the furor created in holding the election a flaw developed that made a second election had to be held. A courier was dispatched to Austin on horseback, a journey of 400 miles, to bring back the governor's proclamation for the second election. The courier was paid $75 for making the trip.

Baird, the present county seat of Callahan County, was established in 1880, and became the fullfledged county seat three years later.

The Baird Star is no spring chicken. The paper was established by W. E. Gilliland, in 1887. A fine job, Marvin with your Baird Star.

This member has been known and highly regarded in Stanton, Martin County and trade territory, most of his life. He is Farmer-Rancher H. G. Cross, known to us as Grady. He is an active member of the Lions Club, and is personally interested in projects which are for the advancement of this community. His membership was turned in by Philip White, and we welcome Grady as an active member. With his genial personality, we feel sure that he can do much for public relations. We appreciate his confidence in our organization.

WE WELCOME TO STANTON
Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Wooley and family. Read the article elsewhere which will present the family correctly. But, may we express our sincere welcome to Mr. Wooley, who is connected with The Stanton Reporter. This is because our work will be closely allied, and the local paper and this organization work hand-in-hand in all community projects. We pledge our full support to Mr. Wooley, and just hope that we may be of service.

OUR FRIEND DAN (McDONALD) of Dan's Grocery and Station on West Highway 80, came by with the good news of having raised a 70 pound watermelon! Just didn't know they grew 'em that big around here. Dan told us about a new water-well with irrigation pipes he had installed at his home and place of business. Now, we KNOW he'll have some really good watermelons next year. We learn something nice about this area every day. Thanks Dan, for letting us know about these things.

living in the Ed Garland home. Joe was very complimentary of the new brochure, and stated that he knew the value of similar publications. His wife was an employee in the Chamber of Commerce office in Texarkana when the family formerly lived there. We were glad for Joe and Bill to drop by the office for a visit.

VISITORS IN THE OFFICE
the past week were too numerous to mention. A great many of them were here for information concerning the auction of the first bale of cotton. We also had several persons looking for housing. Some of the visitors included Mrs. Mary Wilkie, Ed Fowler of San Angelo, who is here doing some work toward exterminating insects; John Pinkston, one of our directors; Martin Vavra and C. M. Wann of the Soil Conservation Service; C. J. King of Route 1, Ackerly (see next week's new member); Bill Shearin Educational Director of the First Baptist Church; Mrs. Herbert Nance of Route 1; Mrs. Beulah Ragland of Sheila's Beauty Shop Mrs. L. A. Ashley came by; Bruce Frazier, Coordinator of the Veterans Vocational School, brought some interesting publications for the library; Ray Hastings, our very efficient County Agent; Mrs. Mable Atchison of the Atchison Beauty Shop; Glenn Brown of the Walgreen Agency, has been by several times, as he is pretty busy with the activities next door; Ed Robnett of the Blocker-Robnett Motor Company and an active member of the Agricultural and Livestock Committee; Mrs. Grace Reed, who has recently opened a Beauty Shop in the Stanton Hotel Building. We're glad to have visitors.

OUR PERSONAL THANKS TO
Dick Madison. We were returning from a visit to a friend's home; and a flat is no respecter of time nor place, so we had a fine, fresh flat right by the side of the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Madison. It didn't take Dick long to fix it, and his wife and I had a pleasant visit. Dick fixed the flat in "no time flat." THANKS, a million, Dick.

OUR SCRAP BOOK IS UP-TO-DATE. Those extra WARM days last week caused us to really look for something to do that we might stay in the office. So, all clippings for the past five weeks were safely placed into the record of the growth of the county. This is a good record, and is ready for your inspection at any time the office is open.

DON'T FORGET ABOUT MONDAY. At the beginning of the year, the business men voted to observe seven holidays by closing their places of business. Monday September 1, happens to be one of the dates. This will be the last long week-end this year for the business men and women, so please give them a "break" and get your needs this week. There are some business concerns which will be unable to close although they would enjoy the rest as much as you and I.

well be allowed to pump, as a means that at all times the water production can be conserved to the limit. In a time when the balance of the State of Texas is calling for help to supply them with water, if that means only to provide water for the bare necessities of life, the more urgent it is that there be a law that Martin County can enforce to conserve its water supply.

A cemetery is where a lot of careless drivers stop.—O. A. Brister.

The millions of gallons of water per day that Martin County is now providing communities outside of its own borderline, will be augmented by many more millions of gallons daily, that will leave its domain if the drouth hangs on—and that matter of time will figure to the time when rains come in almost flood proportion to fill the new reservoir that is now under construction.

This column has it direct from a news story about the Colorado River Municipal Water District, appearing in the West Texas Today, in which the writer said: "The Martin County wells are to be used initially to provide necessary water until the lake is formed, and thereafter, as a source of water supply during periods of unusually high demand."

Outside of the Master Above who rules the universe, there is not one of the Three Wise Men spoken of in Biblical times, now walking the earth that can inform any human being on this West Texas soil, when it will rain sufficient water to fill this CRMWD water reservoir. If that time should ever come when the artificial lake is filled and the CRMWD lake keeper sticks his water gauge in the pool and decides the water is lowering, wags his hand at the watchman at the water wells in Martin County to turn on the pumps and let them supply the citizenship covered by the CRMWD until the rains come again and fill the reservoir back up to the water mark. "We must protect our own supply of water," they say.

If there is any glory to be passed out on the remarkable undertaking the CRMWD has undertaken, the very section that should be presented the jeweled crown is Martin County that is, and will provide the CRMWD with water from its underground water reservoir. It is a foregone conclusion at the formation of the CRMWD that Martin County wells would supply the organization with water until their reservoir is built and filled with water, and if the CRMWD so chooses Martin County wells will continue to supply the water after the CRMWD lake is brim full of water.

The National Chamber of Commerce sending out news propaganda complimenting the cities of Odessa, Big Spring, and Snyder on their project, says: "12 million dollar dam on the Colorado River which will supply all their rapidly growing water needs for at least 30 years." carried a misleading head over the publicity, reading—
"NO HELP WANTED"
The first shovel full of dirt had hardly been lifted from the earth at the site of the CRMWD reservoir with fitting ceremonies than Martin County water wells went to pumping and filling a pipeline with 5,000,000 gallons of water daily to Odessa. If that isn't "HELP WANTED" in capital letters then this column doesn't know the meaning of the two words.

Not a soul do I believe that isn't ready to compliment the CRMWD on its project to provide means for furnishing its cities with water, a "mineral more valuable than oil or gas." For me, I would judge that there is nothing more valuable to keep a human life breathing, than water, outside of bread and butter, but I'm just as firmly of the opinion, that all the glory that is being passed around, in the present water crisis, Martin County is the one on whom the glory should be bestowed. Martin County it is that is saving the day for CRMWD. If I don't miss my guess, Martin County water wells will be a long time furnishing CRMWD with its supply, and that time could be

Help Yourself to Cleanliness, Healthfulness

Last week a job of great importance and of great difficulty to perform was created in Martin County. That job is the one of City-County Health Sanitarian.

Martin County and the City of Stanton are doing everything in their power to help improve the present health and sanitary conditions of this area. The appointment of the Sanitarian is only one step in their all-out drive to improve health conditions. However, this one step can mean much to the City and County if the job is done well.

And the job will be done well if the citizens give the new Sanitarian their ACTIVE support.

The new Sanitarian has already stated that she wants people to complain about unsanitary conditions which exist in this area. The only way the new officer can learn of unhealthy surroundings is for the public to tell her.

But the public must do more than complain about bad conditions.

Whenever a complaint is made to the Sanitarian, it will be up to the person complaining, and up to the person who is associated with the condition complained about, to work with the Sanitarian.

The public must also realize that any recommendation made by the new health officer will be for the good of the community and for all involved.

It is the Sanitarian's duty to see that conditions are eliminated which will endanger the health of local citizens. And even though it may be hard for the person involved to understand at the time that the Sanitarian's recommendation is necessary, he must realize that the health of the community is at stake.

Mrs. Leo Turner has undertaken a tremendous task, one which will certainly improve the overall cleanliness and healthfulness of this already fine community. It is up to each and every citizen of the City of Stanton and Martin County to see that Mrs. Turner obtains his cooperation.

No Federal Domination of Health Dept.

As the time nears for the coming of the Presidential election in November, and the voter of Texas has made up his mind he is pretty well fed up on this "government in business" and he is going to cast his vote for the candidate who stands as a simon pure advocate of state rights, retaining possession of the rich mineral lands and holding on to any other possessions that rightfully belongs to his state, along comes the Texas State Health Department, speaking its mind on the intrusion of the federal government in its department.

State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox, Austin, is out this week with the statement: speaking of the federal domination:

"It is no less than like a stock company or corporation—the chap who owns the majority of stock will no doubt want to direct the operation. My position is that I want my state to maintain its prestige, dignity, authority, and ownership of the state public health program."

Bible Comment:

Great Proverbs of Old Give Us Guide To the Good Life

Great proverbs are the crystallization of experience. Sometimes they are reflections upon life and conduct; terse concentrated bits of wisdom, or philosophy; homely or picturesque expressions of truth, that are to character and the good life as the acorn is to the oak.

Sometimes they are the observations of discerning critics, who have seen the wisdom of the wise and the folly of the foolish, and have set down human values and the best way of attaining them in rules or guidemarks in the form of popular, memorable maxims.

Sometimes they seem to have been spontaneous thoughts, quickened by some experience or incident, in much the same way as an artist catches and records some passing scene or impression.

A deep philosophy of life is in 4:23 of the Proverbs: "Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life." Similar reflection is in the list of things the Lord hates—the six things listed in 6:16-19; and in the well-known 14:34, "Righteousness exalteth a nation; but sin is a reproach to any people."

Of the second sort—terse, practical observations—is 16:18, "Pride goeth before destruction, and an haughty spirit before a fall."

A good example of the spontaneous, but no less deeply wise proverbs is 27:19, "As in water face answereth to face, so the heart of man to man."

We can imagine the thirsty traveler stooping down to drink in some limpid pool, before mirrors were common, and as he saw each feature given back from the pool having flash into his mind that vivid metaphor to which Sir Francis Bacon devoted an essay of interpretation.

Every people and country have their proverbs, but richest of all are those that come from the ancient Hebrews. No doubt they were compiled from many sources, but it is no coincidence that they came from a race and a time that gave to the world its greatest saints and prophets, and ultimately the Savior of Men, whose parables express and fulfill the wisdom of the Scriptures that He knew so well.

Do you believe in ^{Dollar} signs?

THERE are a lot of signs to guide you to the best buy in automobiles.

Popularity is a good sign.

It means that a lot of people have tried a car and found it good. So it's important to know that Buick is today — and has been since 1938 — the most popular car outside the "low-priced three."

Room, comfort, power, ride are good signs.

So it's important to know that you can pay hundreds of dollars more and not beat the room and comfort you get in a Buick SPECIAL.

Nor, at the price, can you match its power. And only Buick gives you a real million dollar ride.

Doesn't all this give you a hint?

Doesn't it suggest that you ought to try out a Buick — sample its Fireball 8 Engine—find out how it takes you over the road — feel the sure control that is yours on curves—discover its "big car" room and smoothness?

Do that—and look at the dollars on the price tag—and we know what you'll find out:

If you can afford a new car, you can own a Buick—and boy, what fun that will be!

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Sure is true for '52

From Exchange Table

In the "general excellence" contest held at a recent meeting of the Texas Press Association at Houston, for newspapers published in towns of 2,000 to 4,000 population, the Hamilton News-Herald won the top award. Hamilton, is a town of 3,000 people and the News-Herald comes out each week a 16 to 24 pages, denoting the newspaper is liberally patronized by the local merchants and business men of Hamilton. According to C. M. Hatch, co-publisher, the News-Herald has a sworn circulation of 2,827 in a county that has a population of 10,600. The editor of the News-Herald is C. Applegate, who has a very clever column, Pen Featherers that occupies column one on the front page.

towns have 68 per cent of all dealerships in the country; they are "more consistent producers, year in and year out, than their big city counterparts." For this bit of news Crumbs is indebted to the Publishers' Auxiliary, a trade journal that comes to the Exchange Table. The Auxiliary adds: "All of which adds up to the fact that farmers are good prospects—hence the papers which they read first and most intently ought to be a good advertising media. And that refers to the country weekly newspaper press, as the newspaper the farmers read "first and most intently."

Several of the exchange newspapers coming to Crumb's Exchange Table the past week have been reporting first bales of cotton from the 1932 crop coming to their town. Foard County News reported its first bale of pulled cotton weighing 490 pounds and purchased by the gin that ginned it for 40c per pound. Up to a couple of weeks ago Foard County estimated its cotton crop promised to be the most bountiful in recent years, but the lack of rain and the intensive heat sweeping the county the past two weeks, that possibility has been greatly reduced, so reported one of the Crowell ginner.

The Foard County News reported a freak calf born dead by a cow owned by one of the county farmers. It had one skull, two complete mouths, two noses, two ears, and one eye on each side of the head and two eyes in the center of the skull. Aside from those defects, the calf was normal.

For Moderns: A Living-Room Dinette Set

BY EDNA MILES

THE modern concept of dining-room furniture is a very different one from that owned by Grandmother. She wanted solid, heavy furniture that made a good show and filled the dining room to the very corners. This furniture, which the hired girl kept polished, was used only for "good" or company occasions. The rest of the time, the family ate in the kitchen.

In these times of small apartments and houses, dining-room furniture must be functional. There's just one set and it serves both family and company. Frequently, it is placed in one end of the living room since there is no dining room at all.

Therefore, it must blend harmoniously with the living-room furnishings. And modern finishes for table tops and legs have made the hired girl's elbow obsolete.

One innovation is the use of thin steel tubing in chrome or ebony for modern tables and chairs. Table tops are plastic with wood grain finish and cannot be marred by stains.

The new tubing combines strength with a look of delicacy and, of course, easy maintenance with comfort. Seats of the chairs are sponge rubber padded and upholstered in two patterns and a wide range of colors.

←Dinette set in ebony coloromic is designed for modern homes and apartments with dining areas at one end of living room.

endurance record, reported by a Luling newspaper. It said that one of its citizens who has been hauling lumber in a 1927 model T pickup truck for 25 years, last week submitted it for inspection under the new state law. Without any adjustments whatsoever, the old-timer passed every test, and was awarded a sticker.

At a meeting of the three farmers owned gins in Loraine last week. It was decided that only one gin would operate during the cotton season, according to the Mitchell County News—the gin designated to operate through the season, was the Producers Gin Co. The decision of one gin operating was made on the grounds that with all the gins running the loss in revenue would be great, and with one gin operating, the loss would be small.

Adding to the gloomy crop picture the News said: "We can tell by now that crops in this territory, and a wide area around will be as near complete failure as could be." Editor King has been keeping a tab on the amount of rain that has fallen in the Loraine community the past year, and up to Aug. 18, the amount has been 5 inches.

Editor Aaron Edgar of the Munday Times reports that about all the hope for crops in the Munday area this fall will come from the fields that are irrigated. "The boys with the pretty crops are those who have applied the water and the work," the Times editor said, and adds, "the boys with the poor crops are those who have applied the work, and nature failed to supply the water."

This column cooled off perceptibly "squirring" in 98 degree weather when we read in the newspapers that Seymour was sweating in 108 degree temperature, the hottest point in the state on that day. Seymour is the home of this column's old time friend, O. C. Harrison and his Seymour Banner. O. C. is a rabid golf player, and is usually found knocking golf balls around on the golf course, no matter the torrid summer heat. But the column opines that 108 degree temperature wilted his enthusiasm for playing the game on that record heat wave.

You boys of the country weekly news press, you fellows who sweat, fume, and in moments of supreme fatigue and worry, dispense words of sulphuric acid blendid profanity, while in the process of publishing your weekly paper may gather some form of solace and encouragement in the fact "there are better days ahead," when you read in this column that Geo. Baker, editor and owner of The Fort Stockton Pioneer, is a member of the board of directors of the Pecos County State Bank. This bit of news was heralded through the columns of the Pioneer last week when Baker printed the story of the bank's president, H. L. Winfield, selling his interest to M. C. Puckett, a prominent Pecos County ranchman. Winfield has been president of the bank 24 years. The bank was organized in 1928, and from that date until the date of sale, the capital stock has grown from $25,000 to $100,000 and the surplus has reached the $100,000 mark.

8,000 Pounds Grass Burrs and Weeds In One Plucking

Supt. Winstead of the Stanton schools, held a "Grass-Burr Plucking" party at the Buffalo football field one day recently, but the attendance was very small. Since then, last week, Coach Charles Read, with a number of boys, plucked 8,000 pounds of grass burrs and careless weeds off the field and hauled them off to the dump grounds. Read said they had about that number of pounds more to pluck before the field is clear of the weeds and burrs, and ready for practice games.

Coach Read's membership with an oil drilling crew this summer has made him a seasoned subject for plucking grass-burrs and weeds from the football field in 100-degree weather.

Elbert Steeles Take Orange Juice Bath

This sun's gettin' hotter all the time.

Last week Mr. and Mrs. Elbert Steele and daughters, Dionna Kay and Linda, were on their way to Comanche to attend a reunion.

Then Wham! A loud explosion occurred and Steele brought his car to a screeching halt, thinking a tire had blown out.

He was disillusioned, however, as a can of orange juice under the seat of his car had exploded, spraying the beverage all over the inside of the auto.

It seems Mrs. Steele had purchased some frozen orange juice a day or two before and one can had rolled under the seat. The intense heat of the sun exploded the can.

IT'S SURE BEEN HOT!

"This summer, I have put in a great many extra hours of work for my customers every day.

"Air conditioners, attic fans, evaporative coolers, and portable fans have been going full blast around the clock—24 hours a day practically every day. High temperatures and lack of rainfall have combined to make it an exceptionally hot summer. Electric refrigerators have had to call on their reserve power to keep food fresh and wholesome at constant temperatures under 40 degrees and to maintain ready supplies of ice cubes and cooling beverages.

"Some electric bills may be higher during such extreme hot weather because of this extra work, but now—when you're able to stay cool and comfortable in spite of the heat—is when your electric service really proves to be the biggest bargain in your home."

"Complexity Without Perplexity" Given on Lions Club Program

A talk on "Complexity Without Perplexity" was given the Stanton Lions Club at its regular meeting Monday night by Frank Monroe, Supt. of Schools in Midland.

Four new members were also initiated at the meeting. Grady Cross, Dr. Maurice A. Watts, Dr. Robert W. Smith, and Jack P. Davis, are the new Lions.

Monroe's speech was concerned with how to solve problems, whether in business, school administration, public works or anything else. He was introduced by R. C. Vest, program chairman of the group.

Monroe explained that an interdisciplinary team of engineers, sociologists, and school superintendents had figured out what "Content" a business must have to be successful.

Provisions of facilities, development of personnel, improvements of curriculum and instruction, and utilization of community resources are all necessary in business, Monroe explained.

Depth in business is obtained, Monroe stated, by surveying the problem at hand, assessing the value of it, arriving at a decision, then following through with the proposed plan.

Sequence is determined by the past, present, transition period and the aspirations held for the future, Monroe told the Lions. All businesses must have the right sequence.

The Lions program for next week will be a talk by O. W. Winstead, Supt. of the Stanton School, who will explain the proposed improvements of the schools, made possible by the recent $200,000 bond election.

Bill Rhodes spent last week in Dallas attending the Fall Market Show.

Heavy Litter of Pigs Owned by C. Wren, Jr. Is Winner of Contest

Chalmer Wren, Jr., has recently been notified that his litter of pigs has been named winner in Sears-Roebuck's annual heavy litter contest. Wren won thirty dollars for his efforts in the contest.

The contest is won by the man owning the litter of pigs which weigh the most. Wren led the contests from Martin and Howard counties.

Another Martin County winner in the contest was Curtis Miller, whose boar won first place honors in the boar demonstration contest.

Miller, whose records on his boar were sent in to be judged, won six dollars for taking excellent care of his stock.

Another contest for Martin County 4-H boys is scheduled for early fall. A Gilt and pen of three barrows show is on tap for young livestock raisers of the area.
