A Little About Everything Not Much About Anything
By JAMES E. KELLY
(Opinions expressed in this column are the views of the writer and should be so interpreted).

A QUOTATION THAT THE WATER conservationists might include in their water conservation program since the drought has just about dried up all the water resources in Texas, and there are interests at work that may dry up the water resources of Martin County, was uttered by a speaker at the water carnival celebration held Friday night in Big Spring, when he said: "Big Spring puts its stamp of welcome tonight on its unrestrained flow of water." And those words flowed freely from the speaker as the Martin County water flowed freely through the water mains of Big Spring to quench the thirst, soak the lawns, trees, shrubbery and bushes in yards, fill-up the bath tubs, fill the water pipes running to garages and filling stations to use freely in washing cars — all this labeled "unrestrained flow of water." from the wells pumping it from the Martin County underground water reservoir.

This column wasn't so overly favorably impressed with the greeting my friend, Joe Pickle received at the hands of Hila Weathers, manager of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce at the Big Spring event Friday night in its celebrating the arrival of Martin County water into that city. Pickle was master of ceremonies for the occasion, and when Hila Weathers was introduced, she introduced Pickle to the Martin County water, by dousing Pickle in the face with a handful, and at the same time christened him "Chief Rain-in-the-Face." As loyal a friend as Pickle is to his town, his abstaining from washing his face all these months in order that the rest of his citizenship would have more water, the dash of water in the face could have brought on heart failure. If Martin County water was to be wasted I would rather see it used to wash Pickle's face, than wasted on the ground.

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER campaigning for President in Atlanta, Georgia, dropped this quotation:

"... an administration by too many men who are too small for their jobs, too big for their britches, and too long in power."
and this one at Tampa, Fla.:
"I'm talking about the mess in Washington, and we want to clean it up fully, we must clean it up."

TO SHOW HOW POTENT THE MARTIN COUNTY WATER IS, when turned into the water mains in Big Spring last Thursday for the first time to flush out the mains, it blew up one section of water pipe.

"All education should contribute to moral and physical strength and freedom."—Mary Baker Eddy.

IT IS ESTIMATED THERE ARE a million automobile owners that failed to get their cars inspected by the time the inspection stations closed Saturday night. Car owners had nine months in which to get their cars inspected. Officers are warning all owners driving cars without inspection stickers, or not having in their possession credentials showing cars have been inspected, will be arrested and fined. A cluster of highway patrolmen were hanging around on one of the principal downtown corners Monday afternoon, supposedly for the purpose of nabbing a car owner driving his car minus his inspection sticker. I'd be afraid to guess the number of cars in Martin County that failed to get under the wire at the specified time.

SEVENTY-THREE TEXAS COUNTIES IN DROUGHT AREA

Seventy-three counties of Texas have been designated as in the drought disaster area, and in line for assistance from the Federal Government. Martin County is included among the counties.

B. M. Vance, chairman of the state production and marketing administration for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, has made a "rough" estimate that the farmers and ranchers need one-half to three-quarters of a million tons of feed to keep foundation herds going for the next three or four months.

Federal hay is to sell at the following prices: legume hay, $36 per ton; mixed hay, $32; and grass hay, $28. Farmers are required to make a deposit of $5 per ton with each order, and will have to pay "cash on the barrel head" when delivery is made.

Orders have already been received from Brown, Taylor, and Erath Counties, three of the hardest hit drought areas.

For legume hay in West Texas the present price ranges from $40 to $65.

Vance thought most of the "relief" hay would come from the states of Iowa, Wisconsin, and Minnesota.

STORK FLYS BLIND, AMBULANCE FLYS LOW, CONNECTIONS MADE, ALMOST

The old stork, flying blind in Wednesday's drizzling rain, seemingly misread his indicator and swooped down upon the J. A. Wilson Dry Goods store here. The stork's presentation to Mrs. Beatrice Cortez, shopping at Wilson's caused such excitement that a sales lady at the store summoned an Arrington ambulance.

The ambulance, with Mrs. Cortez, "outflew" the stork in a mad chase to Memorial Hospital. A cute little girl, weighing seven pounds, nine ounces, was born on the stretcher as ambulance attendants entered the hospital building. The new little girl still doesn't understand "why all the excitement."

WANN, young agricultural engineer from training school in Lubbock, employed by MARTIN-HOWARD DISTRICT SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE. . . City Secretary G. B. SHELBURNE reporting that ten water samples analyzed last week had turned out OK. Five of them were from the area of Stanton's public schools. . . ALBERT W. SLIGHT DRIZZLE takes SIZZLE from temperatures in STANTON. . . JEAN GRAHAM stopping in REPORTER office to pass the time of day. . . MARTIN COUNTIANS can have a FOUR-LANE HIGHWAY 80 and 40 long MILES of Farm-to-Market roads without an addition to present tax rates or hike in valuation of property.—Now is the time to act on the highway issue.—Your Commissioners have the facts and figures—lend them an ear and ere long we can all travel in safety and comfort to any spot in our county. . . STANTON is becoming a prettier town with each day that passes.—But by night the darkness becomes so intense that even the cats stumble over themselves.—A street light project is certainly in order. Besides making it easier for one to recognize his home, it would light up the horizon to approaching critics that they may take the news back to their people and advise them that we are no longer living in the DARK.

CITY CAN'T TAKE CHANCE ON BURNING UP TRUCKS

By A. W. WOOLEY

It is happening in Stanton just like it is happening in all other towns and cities. People are wanting more and more sanitation — as long as it doesn't cost anything, or not very much.

Keeping clean is one of the most expensive habits we have. Cleanliness is a luxury and not everybody is willing to allow for its cost in a budget, even though they really expect to get and to pay for it some way.

In an individual home a surprisingly large percentage of the family budget is expended for fixtures, plumbing, and supplies designed for sanitation. The hours of labor spent in keeping a home clean are never recorded, but any housewife will tell you it's quite a chore, even for one small family.

Let us fairly compare the City of Stanton to a large family with two or three thousand members. Sewer facilities, disposal plant, garbage collection trucks and manpower, capable of doing a good and satisfactory job, cost large sums of money each year.

In fact, Mr. Stanton Citizen, if you were to awaken some morning and learn that you had been delegated the responsibility of keeping your city clean and healthy, you would probably find some shocking circumstances. Circumstances which you, as a voter, had yourself created. A big job in need of doing, with only limited facilities, equipment, and manpower, topped by misunderstanding and lack of co-operation among your fellow citizens.

What Are You Buying?
The average citizen would like garbage collection twice a week. They would like the department to also carry away old fences, rocks, sand dunes, dead trees or maybe an old building or junk yard. Your neighbor would like this, also, but neither would vote funds for a department with such capabilities.

Most of us are quick to approve sewers and disposal plant facilities. We would be afraid to get caught short on these necessities. Garbage disposal, it seems strikes a different vote. Too often men expect "the other fellow" to clean up community property at small cost to him, individually.

Co-operation Counts

This man's theory is somewhat correct, and will save him money — if he cooperates to the best of his ability. A city's sanitation department can operate efficiently at much less expense if citizens individually care for some of their own needs and are understanding of the city's limited equipment and manpower.

In many towns a citizen would not be given garbage collection unless they owned a regulation or "store bought" garbage can with handles on either side and a close-fitting lid. Its maximum capacity would be about thirty gallons. A survey of Stanton shows that most people use a fifty or sixty gallon oil drum without a cover, or handles for its lifting into a truck. Nor is this enormous container all Mr. Stanton citizen expects the garbage

Martin County Chamber of Commerce Elected Member of National Chamber

Martin County Chamber of Commerce has been elected an organization member of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. This information reached the chamber's office here last week and is the result of long planning and effort by Stanton members and Mrs. Hila Weathers, manager.

Election of the Martin County chamber into the national organization entitles it to a national delegate who shall also act as National Councillor.

Judge James McMorries was immediately named to fill the councillor post by Stanley Wheeler, Chamber of Commerce president here. McMorries has accepted the national responsibilities and his name has been forwarded to headquarters in Washington, D. C.

He will receive all services and publications and will serve as a liaison between the local organization and the national body. Councillor functions of McMorries have been outlined as follows:

FIRST: You will serve as chairman of the delegation from your organization to the National Chamber's annual and special meetings. The Chamber looks to you to encourage attendance of a strong delegation from your organization to these meetings.

SECOND: In the election of members to the Board of Directors of the National Chamber you cast the vote for your organization. Formerly the National Councillor served as a member of the Nominating Committee that proposed directors to the annual meeting for election. Now, under a change in by-laws, directors are elected by mail ballot, and the Councillor himself is his organization's voting agent.

Aside from these specific functions, you are to act as consultant to your organization on questions that are taken up jointly by that organization and the national body. For instance, when the National Chamber sends out a reference to establish national business policy, you are obligated to see that your organization gives it proper consideration and that it votes upon it, so your members will have their say determining the national viewpoint of business on legislative and economic questions.

When the National Chamber's activities appear to be of special interest or concern to your members, you will make that fact known to your organization.

In turn, when your organization is dealing with something which you consider of importance to business as a whole, you will consult with your management to see that it is brought to the attention of the National Chamber.

You will work closely with the management of your organization and with your board of directors to make sure the organization and the National Chamber are working always in the closest harmony for the common purpose of advancing the interests of American business enterprise.

An underlying responsibility of the National Chamber to encourage business to think in national terms. You as National Councillor of your organization share that responsibility.

When you come to think of it, most national problems have a particular application to communities or to individual industries; and, more local problems which reach any great proportions become national in their importance.

The Chamber of Commerce of the United States is not an institution housed in Washington, separate and apart from the far-flung fabric of business. Its roots go into the community and into the multitudinous lines of business. Therefore the Chamber exists in the operations of your own organization, and in the work of all of the other organizations that make up its membership. It serves to give articulate expression to the thought of your community and of your branch of business enterprise. It expresses the cohesive whole of business thought.

You, and your fellow councillors, absorb the business thought of your own people and see that it is transmitted to the central instrument for implementation.

Old Copy of Reporter Harks Back to Pleasant Memories of 1916

By JAMES E. KELLY

Rummaging through some old papers I had tucked away in a place where the only way I could find them would be by accident, I ran across a March 10, 1916, issue of The Stanton Reporter. I remembered my old friend, W. F. Walker had given me the copy to read. Long since, Mr. Walker, a pioneer resident of Stanton, passed away. He was the father of Mrs. Punk Sauer, who, with her husband, today, live at the old home place of her late parents.

THE CITIZEN AND THE SCHOOL

(An editorial taken from a copy of The Stanton Reporter, dated March 10, 1916, and presented to Editor Kelly by its subscriber, W. F. Walker, a pioneer resident of Stanton, who passed away at his home in Stanton many years ago.—Ed.)

No matter how exalted or humble a person may be, there is one sacred duty which he owes to humanity and which it is imperatively incumbent upon him to pay. That duty is the protection and the fostering of our public school system.

We are living in an age of education and advancing intellectual development, and the human mind that is deprived of the best advantages obtainable will be hampered and hindered at every step in life.

It matters not how bright nor how acute the infantile mind may be, if that mind is denied the advantages of education then the child grown to maturity will be retarded and humiliated because of intellectual deficiencies of its parents. It will be a mark of shame and a blight upon the community that reared it in its ignorance. It will be an object of pity where it should be one of pride.

Education and the advantages of intellectual advancement have made America a great country. And America is even yet in its infancy.

Our school system should be encouraged and raised to the highest point of efficiency. The instructors should be upheld and given to understand that they have the backing of a united community, and that the community expects satisfactory results.

We have brought these children into the world, and in their infancy and youth they are helpless. It is our duty to give them an education that will enable them to successfully cope with the intricate problems of existence that will confront them later in life, to shame the innocent ones for whose very existence we are responsible.

Let us keep our schools and our children in mind. Let us study their welfare individually and collectively. Let us leave no stone unturned that will advance their moral and material interests.

For the man who honors his offspring is honored of men.

WE CAN LEARN FROM CANADA

John G. Forrest, financial and business editor of the New York Times, recently wrote, in the course of an article on Canada's tremendous industrial development, "Washington could learn a great deal regarding finances from Canada. Henceforth, all Crown companies—which are owned by the Dominion Government—and which in general compete with private business, will pay Dominion income tax for the first time. And at standard rates!"

In this country socialized enterprise not only is free of all or most taxation—but eats our taxes in tremendous quantities in the form of never-ending subsidies.

The most conspicuous—and expensive—examples are the government power projects. TVA is typical. It makes nominal "contributions" to local government "in lieu of taxes" and that's all. The loss to Federal, state and local governments, measured in the light of what business-managed utilities doing the same volume of business would pay, is huge. And that loss must be made up in one way only—by soaking all other taxpayers more than otherwise would be necessary.

This is true of every socialized producer and distributor of electricity, from the Federal projects down to the municipal systems. No sound case can be made for tax exemption. Public power projects are not basic functions of government, such as the building of roads, which work to the benefit of all and can be freely used by all. They are commercial enterprises selling a service, and they compete with commercial enterprise. In the name of simple justice—to say nothing of the taxpayers—they should be taxed on exactly the same basis as private business is taxed.

Yes, we certainly can learn a lesson from Canada in this respect!

HOW TO COOK MUSKRAT

The Saturday Evening Post has been running a series of brief articles, written by Sidney Shalett, showing how your tax money is wasted. A recent one dealt with "Uncle Sam's Book-of-the-Minute Club."

The government, it seems is in the book business on a colossal scale. Some 70,000 different books, pamphlets and periodicals are available from the Government Printing Office. Some are given away, and some are sold—usually at a below-cost figure.

One Senator has stated that Agriculture Department publications would make a stack 52 feet high. Among the all-important subjects covered in this mass of literature are "The Cuban Frog Leg Industry," "The Venezuelan Salt Fish Industry," and the book to end all books, "Recipes for Cooking Muskrat Meat."

This is an example of how the taxpayers' money is spent on projects which are of interest to an infinitesimal number of people. Government book-publishing, of course, is like everything else in government. Those involved want better jobs and more authority. They want to seem important and, if possible, irreplaceable. So they get out more and more books whether there is any demand or reason for them or not.

There isn't a department of government which isn't honeycombed with waste and duplication of effort. There isn't a department where money couldn't be saved without affecting any essential activity. And the total saving, according to Senator Byrd and other authorities, could be as much as $10,000,000,000 a year. When will a start be made?

Bible Comment: Intolerance Should Find No Advocate In Bible Dispute

IN the King James version of the Bible the Epistle to the Hebrews is attributed to Paul, but from early days in the church there has been much questioning regarding its authorship.

But one fact concerning the Pauline Epistles, those by James, Peter and John, which Paul certainly did not write, and the Epistle to the Hebrews, is that they are all agreed in a common faith in Jesus as the Messiah, in belief in his saving power, and in their conception of the Christian life.

James, for instance, emphasizes works as evidence of faith, where Paul puts more emphasis on faith, but in Paul's more extensive writings one would find many passages that, as strongly as James, stress the practical nature of Christian life. So, also, though John is the apostle of brotherly love, all that he says only strengthens what Paul wrote of love in I Corinthians 13. And when Peter writes of being "partakers of the divine nature," it is precisely what Paul has written in Ephesians 3:19.

This unity is emphasized in the conception of God's better revelation in Jesus, as presented by the writer of Hebrews, and as presented by Paul. Both are intense in their conviction that Jesus is the fulfillment of the Messianic hope. But Paul is chiefly concerned with doctrine, while the writer of Hebrews emphasizes the priestly character of Jesus, and the fulfillment of the ritualistic side of the Old Testament heritage.

Belief in Jesus as the Messiah is dominant in the Christian church; and it is here that the devout Christian and the devout Jew differ. The devout Jew may regard Jesus as a great teacher, a view now more widely held than formerly, but he looks still for the coming of the Messiah and the fulfillment of the prophecies.

It is a difference of belief that is not unimportant, but it should not in any sense occasion intolerance or unbrotherliness. If the Jew lives up to all that is good in the Old Testament and the Christian to all that is best in the New, the spirit of both would make intolerance and prejudice impossible. It is in ideals of peace and good will that Judaism and Christianity both find their highest expression.

Philosopher Against Bureaucrats Decide When Oughta Retire

(Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Mustang Draw is off on a topic he seems to be an authority on.)

Dear editor:

I read the other day where some expert in Washington has come up with the idea that arbitrarily fixin 65 as the age to retire is an impractical notion. According to him, some men at 65 aren't near ready to retire, lots of good work still left in em, and there are come who can go on to 75, even 80 or beyond. Claims the government should save a lot of pension money this way.

Accordin' to him, you can't have a set rule on automatical'ly retirin', your 65th birthday ain't no way of determinin' whether you're ready to stop or not.

I want you to know I'm opposed to this new idea 100 per cent. If there's any freedom left in this world, it ought to be freedom to retire without being inspected, but if this new idea gets goin', don't you know the first step will be to set up a board to decide when a man's ready to quit work?

Like it is now, all you have to do is hold together until you're 65; you can start aimin at it from way back and when you get there you can retire and draw a pension, but under this new system they'd be around inspectin' you, probably havin you flex your muscles, have you plow a few rounds, chop a few acres, pound you on the back, and then take 90 days to mail you back a report on whether you're ready to retire or not.

Thunder, we don't want any such system. When a man gets ready to retire, he oughtn't to have to ask anybody. Just drop his hoe and walk to the shade and sit.

In fact, if he wants to retire when he's 50, or 40, or whenever he can swing it, that's his business too. In fact, under my system, retirin ain't no sudden move, like jumpin into a cold tub of water, it's a gradual thing. It ain't good for a man to be pulled up short and have to stop workin all at once, he ought to start early in life, easin up on the thing, gradually doin less, and less, so when the time comes to retire there ain't hardly any noticeable change.

There ain't nothin more pitiful than a man who has worked hard all his life suddenly not havin nothin to do. Some folks say the way to avoid this is to not give up, keep on workin, but my idea of the way to avoid such a catastrophe is to plan your retirement early in life and work up to it. I got mine in such shape I won't even know I'm retired unless I mark it on the calendar.

What's the MOST SURPRISING THING about this BUICK?

2-door, 6-passenger Special Sedan.

WE'LL tell you the answer to that one— it's the figures on the price tag.

For some reason, lots of people just can't believe they can buy a Buick at a price so close to "the low-priced three."

Maybe it's because a Buick seems so much better and bigger.

Maybe it's because they think Buick has so much more power and room—which is true.

Maybe it is because so many distinguished people own Buicks—which is also a fact.

But the fact remains—if you can afford a new car, you can own a Buick—so let's see what you get.

You get the thrilling power of a Fireball 8 Engine, that's a gas-saving high-compression valve-in-head—as much power as you can get in cars costing $300 to $400 more.

You get as much room as you'll get in cars costing hundreds of dollars more.

You get a ride that cost an honest-to-goodness million dollars to develop.

You get the silken smoothness of Dynaflo Drive.*

You get big-car comfort, styling, durability.

Don't take our word for it. Come in and see for yourself why so many folks are stepping up to this great car this year.

CRUMBS

From Exchange Table

It's likely that in this column what Crumbs has to say this week will be more apt to be read by the weekly newspapermen of West Texas than if the item were to be placed in any other column of The Reporter.

Carl and Ann England, former editors, publishers, and every other print shop title that could be put on them, of the Morton Tribune, were pleasant visitors in The Reporter office, Friday morning, enroute to visit relatives in Snyder. Since disposing of their interests in the Morton Tribune, Carl and Ann have just been "galaventing" around over the country sightseeing the sights from Juarez, Mexico, to the "flush" gaming centers in Nevada, where Carl broke the nickel slot machine with one nickel, to the pompous fruit lands, bathing beauties on the beaches, and the movie stars in Hollywood on the Pacific Coast of California.

"All this and nothing more, quoth the raven."

Carl England wrote a very clever column, "Anne-grams," while with the Tribune, which was widely read by the newspaper fraternity of West Texas, and received recognition in the metropolitan daily newspapers of the state.

Carl England was the mechanical end of the Tribune, linotype setter, ad. setter, make-up man, etc. Ann had added duties to perform on the paper aside from writing her column. She was business manager, advertising solicitor, bill collector, besides attending to the household duties and cooking a meal for Carl once in a while.

All the much needed rest and "fitting" around over the country on pleasure bent, comes to a stop, so reported Ann to this writer, and after two more weeks of looking after some property interests they have in Morton, Mr. and Mrs. England will be in the employ of the Midland-Reporter-Telegram, Ann in the advertising department and Carl, as head of the proof-reading section.

The whole of the West Texas newspaper fraternity welcomes Carl and Ann England back into the fold again, and as for Crumbs, he is in a joyous fit, to know that Mr. and Mrs. England will be camped so near his tepee.

And this from "Wise and Otherwise" columnist in the Amarillo Register:

"On nice thing about a hen: There is nothing fresh about her except her eggs."

"And then, did you hear about the Australian who bought a boomerang and spent the rest of his life throwing his old one away."

Chief Comforts Squalling Squaw

Parade-weary feet at Wilmette, Ill., County Fair made "Indian" Pattie Bellaire cry. Comforting his squaw-of-the-day is three-year-old "Brave," Thatcher Drew.

Richards in his Anton News, said it required the services of 25 cotton pickers to pick over 25 acres of the cotton field to get a 1732 pounds of seed cotton, to make a 470 pound bale. But the premium amount of $559.50 made up by the merchants and businessmen of Anton, was not a bad "handout" to the grower.

The county judge of Hockley county is not a bit timid by the size of the fine and jail sentence he slaps on a bootlegger. The Anton News reports the county official fined one bootlegger $2,000 and two years in jail for the second offense; another assessed a fine $1,000 and 120 days in jail, and several lesser fines of $100 each and court costs. Rather a bad day for Hockley County bootleggers.

*****

What is worrying Crumb's friend, J. W. King, Sr., editor of the Mitchell County News, "is what disposition has been made of the $6,000 specified for sewer extension. No sewer lines have been extended that we know of." It's quite likely the "mess" a sewer lines stirs up. Editor King would come near knowing about its expansion.

*****

Lorraine has the distinction of raising the first bale of cotton grown in Mitchell County for the 1952 crop. The bale weighed 502 pounds and sold for 34 1/2 cents a pound.

*****

Editor George Baker reports in his Fort Stockton Pioneer that the governor of Chihuahua City, will be in Fort Stockton on Oct. 12. Better keep the dogs off the street Baker. They make chill, hot tomas, and hot dogs in Mexico.

*****

The Fort Stockton Pioneer reports there is something like 1-000 tons of alfalfa stored for sale at the price of $50 per ton. Alfalfa sales may be rather slow due to the drought burning up the grass on the range lands compelling ranchmen to move their livestock out of the state to pastures, and, too, disposing of their stock on the market.

Fort Stockton schools started with an enrollment of 1,225, for the 1952-53 session, increase of 53 students over the same time last year.

With the arrival at this desk last week of the Baird Star, came the announcement from Marvin Hunter, Jr., that he had sold the Star to Charles M. Isenhower of Valley Mills. Isenhower was born at Putnam in Callahan County and is a prominent rancher at Valley Mills. Pleas Scott, who has been publisher of the Valley Mills Tribune, will be associate editor. Mr. Hunter will devote his time assisting his father in the publication of the Frontier Times magazine, and the production of books. Hunter was elected president of the West Texas Press Association at the Alpine meeting in August. Since his purchase of the Baird Star a few years ago, Hunter has discarded most all the old machinery and replaced with new and modern, and made the Star one of the best weekly newspapers that comes to Crumb's desk. Much success to you, Marvin, in your new field of endeavor.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh
Narrow Town - Broad Outlook

The wife's cousin Ben, and Belle his bride are back from honeymooning in the Rockies. Took them to dinner last night at the Garden Tavern. Ben told about the trip: "Went through a town in Idaho that was only 100 feet wide. No kidding! Built into a long, narrow canyon. And it shares those 100 feet with a railroad track that runs right through the hotel!" "To get gas there we had to park right on the tracks. Suddenly Belle screams—'there's a train coming!' But the gas fellow just laughs and says we were there first. Blamed if the engineer didn't stop the train and wait, too!" "From where I sit, it's a good illustration of how people can learn to 'think of the other fellow' so that the community benefits. Railroaders and townspeople, Democrats and Republicans, malted milk fascists and those who prefer a temperate glass of beer—we all have to share the same space. Let's maintain our neighbor's 'right of way.'"

Cerebral Palsy Clinic For This Area to Be Held Monday, Sept 22

A clinic for the examination of cerebral palsied children will be held Monday, September 22, at the Cerebral Palsy Treatment Center, 3502 Avenue N, Lubbock.

Cerebral palsy, sometimes referred to as spastic paralysis or birth injury, is evidenced by the child's inability to sit or stand alone or walk or hold objects at the age these things are accomplished by the average child. Research has shown that treatment is more effective if started within the first few months of the child's life although children respond to treatment begun at a much later age.

Parents who plan to bring children to the clinic are requested to register the children at the Center before the date of the clinic. Information regarding the clinic may be obtained by writing Dr. Esther Snell, Director or calling Lubbock 5-6541.

ENTERTAIN WITH FISH FRY

Following a fishing trip to Port Isabel and Brownsville, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ethridge entertained with a fish fry in their home Friday night.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Clements and Linda of Courtney, and Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Matney and Sandra of Odessa, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Doss and Ann of Kansas City, Kans., and Mr. and Mrs. J. R. McCarter of Midland.

Times flashed two lines across the top of his column, "Kraker Krums", last week that were full of good old home-spun logic. They were: "Mr. and Mrs. Motorists, give the kids a brake." That reminds this column to suggest to all motorists to be certain their brakes are in tip top condition, so if needed to be applied quickly, they'll work instead of allowing the car to advance several yards before coming to a complete stop.

MARTIN COUNTY WATER SENDS REJOICING INTO THE HEARTS OF 20,000 PEOPLE

By JAMES E. KELLY

The hilarious celebration upon the arrival of water from the cluster of thirteen or more water wells in Martin County into Big Spring last Friday night, was disposed of with much pomp and glory. Water! Water!! Water!!! Everywhere!!!!

From all accounts there were teams of firemen that opened the cocks on the water mains and through hose spouted geysers of water high into the air, much of it to waste through evaporation and falling promiscuously on hard parched waste ground. The Big Spring firemen played streams of water on the ground at Steer Football Stadium. All youngsters below the age of 12 years, were present in bathing suits to frolic under the showers, and the 300 children who had been under the tutelage of the YMCA secretary, trained in swimming, were doused under the streams of water played on them at the water frolic.

The writer hopes the readers of The Reporter are not tiring under the load of effusions he has been emitting on the water question in Martin County. He is of the opinion were he to devote some space to this all-absorbing question every week until doom's day, he would not be devoting his energies to a more worthy cause in the matter of the continued existence of his town and county, for they without water—no, you tell me what would become of every living creature, both human and animal, in the county.

Depending upon the rainfall and snowfall for water, the animal and human kingdoms in Martin County would be taking a hazardous risk, as the rainfall in the county in the past three years, not since the flood and devastating hail storm that visited this county in September three years ago there's not been enough rain fall to fill a water bucket, and how far would that amount of rainfall go toward filling the county's underground reservoir depending upon a drop at a time trickling down through the earth?

Fanatic, is the proper word to tack on to the writer on the problem of water conservation, and when his county's water supply is attacked to the point there is a possibility the water supply lying under the earth in the Martin County reservoir, will be emptied of every drop of water, due to sending of millions of gallons per day to outside interests, coupled with the many million gallons used per day for our local consumption, all this taking into account, the writer accepts the honor of "Fanatic" with pleasure.

The writer is mindful of the fact that Stanton and Martin County are at this moment blessed with sufficient underground water to take care of whatever demand the home consumers make upon it. The appreciation of that fact in the estimation of this writer has not been regarded as strong by the Martin County water consumers as it should—much waste of water has prevailed, and nodoubt continues to, due to the impression of the water users that the supply is inexhaustible. Water has been wasted by the home consumer permitting it to run off the lawns into gutters due to carelessness in watching the water hose and moving it to other parts of the yard or to trees.

The continued drought has drawn heavily on the underground water supply by Martin County consumers, and now, that this reservoir is being taxed to provide 13,000,000 gallons of water per day to outside interests, has placed the water supply in jeopardy.

The conservation of water to the very nth degree should be paramount with every water user in Martin County, as well as the outside interests who are being provided with water from the Martin County wells.

One of the major hindrances Martin County has to contend with at this time, no matter how much it would like to have the power to control the supply to any one consumer of water, or to a collective number, it hasn't a leg to stand on. It has no law to control its own water consumption, or control of the water supply provided outside interests. All barriers, if there were ever any, Martin County had set up to conservative its water supply, were blasted by the decision of an Austin district judge holding against the Martin County Underground Water District.

To use the words coined by Dwight D. Eisenhower in his speeches campaigning for President in his reference to the present Democratic administration, "the mess we're in," is very applicable to the condition Martin County finds itself as having laws to control its water consumption — it's a "h—ll of a mess we're in!"

All that is required of outside interest to enter Martin County water field and take from it all the water it requires to satisfy its own purposes is purchase the water rights of land owners. So the extremely life-sustaining "blood" — WATER — that abounds under the earth of Martin County, Martin County hasn't a law to back it up in enforcing the conservation of its water resources.

Too bad the Martin County visitors collecting the Big Spring water carnival Friday night didn't take along water buckets and tubs to catch the water wasted at the festivities, to bring back and pour into the underground water reservoir, thus assuring the home consumer for a little while longer, at least, they will have enough water to fill their own bath tubs.

At the next session of the State Legislature, are the lawmakers going to be content to "kill the goose that layed the golden egg" through its failure to pass a law by which Martin County can rigidly enforce the conservation of its own water?

Snooter

"It is heaven upon earth to have a man's mind move in charity, rest in providence, and turn upon the poles of truth." —Sae n.

AS THIS COLUMN READS OF the further spread of the drought over the State of Texas, with its devastating effect upon crops, grass lands, and the drying up of the water resources to many of the towns and cities, the more are the people of Stanton and Martin County to congratulate themselves that the Martin County underground water reservoir continues to provide ample water for livestock, irrigation purposes, and domestic consumption within our own domain. And today, the Martin County water reservoir is providing an ample supply of 5,000,000 gallons per day to Odessa, a city of 30,000 people, and since last Friday, the Martin County water resources have taken on an added tax of providing Big Spring with 8,000,000 gallons of water per day. The fact that local cotton gins are turning out, though slowly, bales of cotton brought to them from the irrigated lands of Martin County, practically the only source from which will come the county's 12,000 to 15,000 bale production mark for the 1952 season, counting the dry land acres, this county is not so badly hit by the drought. Now, if we could get Adlai Stevenson to retract his views on the Tideland issue, and about all the Truman administration stands for, I might consider changing my independent vote for Eisenhower to Stevenson. The reader wonders what has this latter statement in this editorial to do with the water question. It all adds up to this: if Stevenson is elected President away goes our rich Tidelands possession, the wealth of which will be distributed among other States of the nation, and if the State Law body doesn't pass rigid laws whereby Martin County can control its water supply outside interests will sap out from under us every drop of our water.

BIGGEST WATER USING DAY for Big Spring the past year, was last Friday following the filling of the water mains on Thursday from the Martin County water wells, draining 5,378,000 gallons. Thursday Big Spring consumed 4,450,000 gallons of water. The city met up with low pressure in some sections, but the pressure is expected to be more even over the city when, as the Big Spring Daily Herald said: "The novelty wears off the city's first adequate supply of water this summer."

As the Big Spring populace settles down to an even tenor of its way following the water celebration over the arrival of Martin County water, the Martin County populace can sit back with "fear and trembling" and wait the time when the underground water reservoir will be emptied of every drop of its water.

GARBAGE

(Continued from Page One) bage collection men to heave overhead into a truck. No, Mr. Stanton Citizen has a habit of throwing in a few unwanted boulders and a couple of bushels of sand just to make the lift worth while. If he has no excess rocks the next best thing is to burn some of the old papers in the garbage can, preferably catalogues which will smoulder several days.

These stunts are entirely wrong. Once burned trash or smouldering objects are exposed to open air in a truck they ignite and may destroy the entire conveyance. Some citizens even complain when garbage collection men "skip" a container where there is evidence it has been used for trash burning. Ordinarily such burning would draw a fine.

Service Improvements Garbage collection service in Stanton may be improved, and possibly exacting ordinances and costly equipment averted, by citizen understanding and cooperation in a few reasonable matters, namely:

Use a regulation garbage can if possible. It can be lifted for emptying and its lid will prevent a fly-breeding place.

As long as your fellow citizens allow you to use an open old drum, remember and don't put more into the barrel than you would want to lift yourself (about 30 gallons).

If you burn trash, do so in a separate container, placing remains into garbage can after all fire is gone.

Haul away your own trees, bricks and dirt after directions obtainable by visiting or telephoning the city hall.

A suggestion — Start a voluntary standard in your neighborhood by buying a regulation garbage can with lid. It won't cost much, you'll be proud you own it, and compared to your own health standards it will actually be WORTH ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD!

PRIDE OF THE HERD

By Patsy Pollock
February 1, 1935 was a joyful day for the Morgan Hall family, for that was the day a little daughter named Jo Jon made her appearance. Jo Jon is the first senior that the reporter has interviewed, but we intend to report on each and every one of you who will leave us this year, before the year is over.

Jo Jon's favorite color is purple, and tops on her musical hit parade is "Blue Tango." She has no pastime she particularly enjoys, but likes to do everything. Her movie favorite is Dale Robertson. Her hobby is doing 4-H work. Coach Read and American history are her favorite teacher and subject in school. Watermelon is what she likes to eat best.

Jo Jon's dream day would begin about 8:00 a. m. when she'd arise and eat a breakfast of cherry pie a la mode. Then she'd round up all the Ta Tafs and drive to Big Spring where they would have a picnic of What-a-burgerers, oodles of olives, dill pickles, watermelon, and Cokes. They'd spend the rest of the day swimming; then they'd go to Patsy's for a slumber party and stay up all night eating French fries, fudge, and hot dogs.

AN EDITORIAL

By Jo Jon Hall
S. H. S. has had something new to talk about this week. It's the approaching football game between Stanton and the Big Spring B team. As our boys start this season and try to bring glory to our school, we must give them our whole-hearted support. Fact of the matter is that it requires more than eleven boys to make a team. We are all members of the high school team, and, to borrow an expression, "a chain is only as strong as its weakest link." If one of us in this chain displays poor attitude and spirit, pretty soon the chain breaks, and the morale of the whole school is at all time low.

This year our morale is going to stay high. There will not be any weak links in our chain. In this manner, we will give our boys the incentive to come out of each game victorious.

But win, lose, or draw, we're proud of our boys.

TIC TAC TATTLER

Say, kids, I'm sure disappointed in you. My box had only one article in it this week. Let's try to do better next week and have it crammed full.

Hey, Jessie! Is it a habit with you to chase wild turkeys? And Sabra, how do you like riding around in that yellow jeep? Say, Reggie, did you and Virginia have fun Saturday night? Punky, I think that you and David had better start taking pillows to the skating rink. Still seen going steady are Eula Belle and Marshall. Good Luck, kids. Mary Lynn don't be too sad. Jerry won't be the only fish at sea! Jo Jon, did you have fun last week end? Betty, what is so interesting at the funeral home here lately? Harriett, you and Burley were seen walking mighty fast down Main street one night here lately. What was the hurry? Glen, you and Nancy seemed to really be enjoying each others company the other night. Congratulations, Jerry Sue, on being elected the new Freshman cheer leader.

Remember Saturday night is the big night; so let's get out there and cheer loud and long for our boys.

Don't forget my box on the bulletin board, and please fill it up next week.

The Tattler

BUTTONS AND BOWS

By Mary Ivy Henson
Every day a great furor stirs Stanton High School because of the many changes in fashions.

Bright gingham plaids and stripes seemed to be very popular with the girls last week. The most favored color of all was purple, and many very attractive dresses were seen in this color.

A new style this year that is really catching on is the "squaaw skirt." It is made of three tiers with each tier wider than the one above. The skirt can be worn to parties with varied blouses, but the most suitable combination is the skirt and an off the shoulder "squaaw blouse."

The first day of school being cool, Shirley Shoemaker appeared in a very pretty gold tuck bodice, with which she wore a green cotton quilted shirt. This made a very stunning outfit.

Betty Harris wore a red saquee dress made of pique trimmed in black binding, with which she wore a wide black leather belt. Her dress tied on the shoulders, and on Betty it looked very attractive.

It seemed as if print skirts and sleeveless blouses helped in starting off the school term. Nancy Glaze was seen in a red metallic print skirt worn with a white sleeveless blouse. Also seen nearby looking very chic was Mary Lynn Hamilton in a gray and white striped skirt with buttons down the front. With this she wore a white eyelet blouse with a black leather belt.

It looks like the biggest hit of all in boys' fashions is the "Mohawk" haircut. Mike Bauch was

OUR MEMBER OF THE WEEK
We are exceedingly happy to present our member-of-the-week, Dr. N. A. Watts, of the Memorial Hospital. Dr. and Mrs. Watts came to us recently, and have bought the home formerly occupied by Dr. and Mrs. J. Leonard Dixon. The Watts have two children, Johnnie and Maurine, who are fast becoming acquainted in their new home. We have a right to be proud of our Dr. Watts, with a highly recommended background. The family are members and regular attendants of the First Methodist Church. Thanks, Dr. Watts for your affiliation with the Chamber of Commerce, and we pledge our full cooperation, in all your activities. We have a new member who will be of great value in community health problems.

Monday is Fiesta day in Lamesa! The people of this area are joining our Latin American friends in celebrating the 148th anniversary of the liberation of Mexico from Spain.

Fiesta time begins at noon Monday with the most colorful parade ever presented in Lamesa. Floats will depict famous incidents in Mexico's history. Other features include street dancing on the city square, exhibition dancing by area dance teams, and a dinner honoring visiting guests, at which the U. S. Consul General to Mexico, Hon. Stephen F. Aguirre will address the meeting.

Representatives from the government of Mexico, and state and national officials will be on hand to witness and participate in the festivities.

For the time of your life, be on hand Monday noon till . . . ? Fun for young and old alike.

denomination. We hope the Coon family will be happy in their new home.

WHICH REMINDS US OF
this: Bill Shearin, Educational Director of the First Baptist Church, has a very delightful hobby, and that is with his camera, and his colored slides. We were treated with a showing of these pictures the other day, with the colored pictures made at the Harry Billington farm. They were lovely. Other pictures shown by Bill, were good, and the ones most artistic were the ones shot straight into the sunset and the clouds. They were lovely. Thanks Bill for a very interesting visit.

HEY, WE HAVE SOME NEW
comers. The ones we want to mention is the C. W. Fitzpatrick family. They are very nice and are now living in the C. J. King home on West 5th Street. Mr. Fitzpatrick is connected with the Amarada Oil Company. Now, C. W. seems mighty nice, but here's a secret: he has a brother-in-law, Jack Douthitt, who is Editor -Publisher of the Sterling City News-Record. So, to know more about C. W., we'd better check with Jack. Anyway, we welcome the Fitzpatrick family.

ALSO, WE WELCOME THE
new Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Humphrey, who have moved next door to the Fitzpatrick, living in the M. F. Hodnett home, at 405 West Fifth Street. They are a mighty fine young couple, and Mr. Humphrey is connected with the Gulf Oil Company. So, how about you folks calling on these new comers? It would make them feel mighty happy and you'll enjoy meeting them.

OUR STICKERS OF THE SIGN
are really going places. Mrs. W. A. Bigley of Garden City, came by the office the other day and requested some for visitors here, and they wanted to have them on their cars when they returned to their home, to Detroit, Michigan, and to Ontario, Canada. Isn't that nice? Thanks Mr. Bigley for helping to put us on the map.

AND SPEAKING OF STICKERS,
this is going to be good. You've seen that personable Mary Grace Latimer walking around on her cast — well give that ankle cast a better look. It isn't the shape that we're calling attention — but that "Welcome to Stanton" sign really shows up to an added attraction. We don't recommend the use of those signs in this manner, and we hope to never do it again, but did you know that Mary Grace is the second person to wear a sticker of our famous sign on a foot cast? Roy Crim can give you the name of the other. So, please don't any more if you guys get your ankle broken, as we're running out of signs. Seriously, we can't think of anyone that can do a better job of advertising Stanton and Martin County than the very genial Mary Grace.

Earl Henson Completing Indoctrination Course At Lackland Air Base

Earl Henson, 17, son of Mrs. Bud Shaw, Gen. Del., Stanton Texas, is completing his AF basic airmen indoctrination course at Lackland Air Force Base, the "Gateway to the Air Force."

Lackland, situated near San Antonio, is the world's largest air force base, site of Air Force basic training, for men and women, headquarters of the Human Resource Research Center, and home of AF's Officer Candidate School.

His basic training is preparing him for entrance into Air Force technical training and for assignment in specialized work. The course includes a scientific evaluation of his aptitude and inclination for following a particular vocation and career.

Funds Now Available For Improvement of Water Supply

Farmers Home Administration County Supervisor William P. Sauer of Big Spring, announces that funds are now available through the Water Facilities program to qualified applicants who wish to improve the existing water supply on their farms or to develop and install new facilities, and who are unable to obtain the necessary credit from other local established sources.

Farmers interested in obtaining this assistance should contact Mr. Sauer, whose office is located in Room 25, Basement of Post Office, Big Spring, and discuss with him their needs for development if improvement of domestic, livestock, or irrigation water supplies on the farm.

Pace, who formerly lived here with his parents. David was a courteous delivery boy for the Midland Reporter-Telegram, who had the misfortune last spring of being thrown from a horse, resulting in all bones in his right foot being broken. David is still on crutches, and was back here for a check up with his physician. Luck to you, boy, we are glad to see you.

TALK ABOUT DIVERSIFIED farming. We have just learned (by demonstration) that Mr. and Mrs. Delmer Hamm are also growing fruit, other than cotton and feed, and of all things, guess what it is? We were definitely shocked, but they have a very nice, but small, APPLE orchard. We brought a bag of apples for proof. This land where the trees grow is not irrigated and they have harvested 16 bushels. This should urge us to plant some apple trees. Congratulations to the Hammes for surprising us with the fact and the fruit.

LITERATURE was sent this week to persons in North Hollywood, California, Mantou Springs Colorado, New York City, and to Washington, D. C. Which is not bad "selling" for one week. We shall continue to do our part as an active "salesman" for our County.

Greyhound Lines Start Advertising Campaign

Today Greyhound Lines announced plans for its "Meet the Man," advertising campaign, which pays tribute to the Greyhound agent as a good man for the traveling public to know.

Nationwide in scope, the campaign will get under way in early September and newspapers will be an important advertising medium used to publicize the campaign.

The Greyhound officials pointed out that while Greyhound advertising has often featured the importance of drivers and other personnel in making Greyhound a leader in transportation, this is the first time an entire campaign has been based on the important role played by the men and women who sell Greyhound tickets.

During the three-month campaign, advertising in every media will stress the economy, friendliness, service, comfort, romance and scenery found in Fall travel by Greyhound, and the Greyhound ticket seller will be presented as the man who can make all of this available to everyone.
