By JAMES E. KELLY

THE COURTNEY COMMUNITY, one of the most progressive in this part of West Texas, and a sister community of Stanton, comes up with another one of "setting its best foot forward," for the betterment of its community, when recently, by a majority vote of the patrons of the Courtney Independent School District, voted a $100,000 bond issue to defray expenses of completely remodeling their brick school building and install new light and heating fixtures.

The improvement program extends to take in the remodeling of the three-teacher units, the cafeteria and auditorium.

The Courtney Independent School District has always been recognized as one of Martin County's more progressive school units. The district up to the close of this term of school provided all educational advantages from the first grade up to and including high school. Here again by a majority vote of the patrons in the district it was decided to merge its high school department with the high school unit of the Stanton Independent School District. So, with the start of next term, the students of the Courtney school who are ready to enter high school will be given the privilege of enrolling in the Stanton high school.

As a matter of invoking a measure of economy to carry on the operations of the school, due to a small number of students attending high school, it was deemed that discontinuing the high school department, Courtney decided it was the "better part of valor."

Some of Martin County's fine irrigated farms are located in the Courtney community. And it was from this community came the honor of providing a farmer, Walter Kelly, who won the prize offered by the Fort Worth Press as the outstanding soil conservation farmer of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District three years ago. Of more recent date, at the banquet held by the Martin County Chamber of Commerce last May, Walter Kelly, was honored by the Chamber's agriculture committee, as the outstanding farmer of the county for 1954.

"Did anybody drop a roll of bills with a rubber band around them?"

"Yes, I did," said several voices standing in the bank lobby. "Well, I just picked up the rubber band," said the old gentleman, calmly.

EVERY CHILD IN STANTON and Martin County old enough to carry a tune during World War II, were humming the famous battle slogan, "Praise the Lord and Pass the Ammunition." This slogan was the battle cry that came from Howell M. Forgy, who was Navy chaplain, junior grade, when the Japanese surprise attack was made at the Hawaiian Naval base. Forgy was aboard the cruiser New Orleans on that peaceful Sunday morning. About 50 per cent of the men were on liberty, Forgy said, when the Japanese attack was made. The Jap planes came in, with guns firing and bombs dropping on the many ships clustered there. The cable to shore from the cruiser was cut by bomb fragments. Forgy related, "we lost our electric power. This meant we had no lights or power to get our ammunition."

"So," continued Chaplain Forgy, "we formed lines of men to bring up the ammunition from the storage compartments, passing it from sailor to sailor. As men poured onto decks, I would send one fore and aft, often giving them an encouraging pat on the back, telling them, 'Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition.'"

Rev. Howell M. Forgy, it is now, a retiring Presbyterian minister of Pluckermine, N. J., giving as his reason, ill health. It was on Memorial Day, past, that Rev. Forgy considered it a time for solemn remembrance of those who fell before Japanese guns and bombs during the 1941 sneak attack at Pearl Harbor during which he uttered the inspiring words.

Last year was the first time the organization had uniforms and banners, yet it won first place in the Colorado City rodeo and second place at Midland. This year they placed third in Midland. The chug wagon is a feature of the posse's equipment and makes a colorful appearance.

New Telephone Cooperative Is Garden City Plan

By SANDRA WILKERSON

The latest development in the Garden City telephone squabble is the formation of a new cooperative which intends to put in a new system. The new company is composed of Glascock County people who decided to build their own lines and install a new exchange.

A building and lots have been purchased from E. R. Morgan. A telephone engineer from Abilene is expected to come to Garden City soon to make an engineering survey. As soon as the survey is completed, construction will begin.

Common stock will be sold to all who want to buy, but telephone users will not be required to buy shares.

Country residents will be served by the new company as most of them own their lines lead into town.

Officers of the cooperative are Bryant A. Harris, president; Cecil Wilkerson, vice president; and J. B. Calverley, secretary. Directors are Charles J. Cox, W. A. Bibby, John H. Cox, E. M. Teele, D. W. Parker, and J. W. Hardy, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bartlett of Rutland, Vermont announce the birth of a daughter Rebecca Ann, 7 pounds 2 ounces. She came June 19.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Laughlin of Garden City. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bartlett of Rutland.

Mrs. Laughlin left Tuesday morning to spend a month with her daughter.

A group of Garden City Youth Fellowship members attended a sub-district meeting in Midland Monday night at the St. Luke's Methodist Church. Those attending were: Rev. Lee Crouch, Deanna Marie Watkins, Mary Duncan, and Sandra Wilkerson.

Other teachers who have been hired at Courtney are Mrs. S. H. Johnson, Miss Louise Graves and Jess Jackson.

96 Entries Are Forecast For Golf Tourney

Interest is mounting as entries come in for the Stanton Invitational Golf tournament. It will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday on the Stanton Country Club golf course, two miles east of town.

It has been estimated 96 persons will enter the tournament from Stanton, Iraan, Rankin, Goldsmith, Big Spring, Midland, Crane, Big Lake, Lamesa, Andrews and perhaps other towns.

Bob Haislip, member of the tournament committee, invites the public to watch any or all of the tournament. He says, "Much good golf will be played these three days and several good golfers have indicated that they will be on hand, so a fast field can be expected."

The finals in each flight will be Sunday afternoon, but plenty of good golf is expected to be played before the finals.

This is the first real invitational tournament the Stanton Country Club has sponsored in the two years it has been organized. Last year the club sponsored a tournament but it was mainly local. Thirty-two entries last year took part in the play with a gallery of 50-60 persons following the matches.

Officers of the club are O. B. Bryan, president; Harry Haislip, vice president; June Graham, secretary; Jack Arrington, Yuell Winslow, Houston Woody and James Jones, directors.

New, Enlarged Family Store Is Planned Here

Stanton will be able to boast of a fine modern department store building when Bill Rhodes has finished remodeling the old Crowder building on St. Peter street here. Work began last week on the remodeling.

Rhodes is the operator of The Family Store, dry goods store on the west side of St. Peter street, in Stanton, and purchased the Crowder building from the Crowder estate April 28. The building is 40x80, and houses the Masonic lodge on the upper floor.

"We will make the building new and modern in every respect," Rhodes said in commenting on the work, and he expects to spend $12,000 or more doing so. A new floor and ceiling will be built into the building, and the front will be modern in every respect. The lighting will be of the fluorescent variety, and the four rows of solid lights will be sufficient to make it like daylight throughout.

Rhodes plans to add considerably to the lines of merchandise he carries, and make the store a complete department store for all the family. He will be able to outfit men, women and children complete, he says, and with merchandise of the highest quality, yet priced reasonably.

The remodeling is expected to be finished in 30 days, and Rhodes hopes to be in the new building between August 1 and 15.

Trials on New Indictments To Be Elsewhere

Trials of James Herndon and Stanley Lewis will be held at Snyder in a change of venue, District Judge Charlie Sullivan announced Tuesday. Trials of Joe Froman and Oliver Vaughn will be held at Colorado City, Judge Sullivan ruled.

Herndon is a Stanton contractor and Lewis is a former Martin County commissioner. Froman is a county commissioner now and Vaughn is a former county commissioner. There are three indictments against Herndon, two against Vaughn and three against Froman, all involving theft of Martin County funds.

The case against Froman, Vaughn and James McMorries, former Martin county judge now serving a term in state prison for a similar conviction and a plea of guilty, will also be heard at Colorado City, this involving theft of $500 in Martin county funds.

McMorries now is a prisoner in the State Penitentiary at Huntsville, serving two concurrent three-year terms on pleas of guilty to other thefts of county funds, and a five-year term assessed in a jury trial on an indictment charging theft of funds of the Grady Independent School District.

Latest indictments charging felony theft of county funds were returned by a grand jury here June 10.

Judge Sullivan thought it wise to transfer the trials of the cases out of Martin county, to be sure defendants received a fair and impartial trial.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Burnam are visiting in Odessa with Mr. and Mrs. Mose Laws.

Merchants To Start Event Immediately

Plans are just about complete for the start of the weekly Trades Day which the Martin County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring each week from now on, Carlton J. Chapman, chairman of the merchants' committee, has announced. It is the plan of the merchants participating in the Trades Day to give tickets with purchases and then make two cash awards each Saturday. One cash award will be given at 2 p.m. and the second cash award given at 5 p.m. It is expected the first two awards will be $25 each, and that the fund will build up until the amount given each time will be several times that amount.

The first Trades Day tickets will be given out this coming Saturday, but the first awards will not be given until Saturday, July 2. With each purchase participating merchants will give tickets, and it is expressly understood that each ticket given is not purchased but is being given by the merchant as an appreciation of the trading done at that particular store.

Another feature of Saturday Trades Day in Stanton is that Bob Whitaker will keep the Texas Theatre open during all of Saturday afternoon, and he will open the show this Saturday, June 25. The first picture this coming Saturday will be "Trouble On The Trail," starring Guy Madison as Wild Bill Hickok and Andy Devine as Jingles.

Approximately fifty business firms in Stanton have signed up for the Trades Day, and much enthusiasm has been shown, indicating it will be successful.

Following are the rules for the Trades Day event, published mostly for the benefit of participating merchants:

1. Cash awards will be given at 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. each Saturday. Tickets are to be deposited by the customer in the receptacle located in front of the Texas Theatre.

2. One ticket will be presented with each $1.00 purchase. Tickets will be good for one Trades Day only and will be destroyed each week.

3. Participating merchants, their families, and employees will not be eligible to receive tickets at their places of business, but otherwise may compete.

4. The fee for each participating merchant will be $2.00 per week, and each merchant will provide tickets at his own expense. Each ticket will be stamped with the merchant's name on the back.

5. Tickets are to have the customer's full name thereon.

6. The individual whose name is selected must be present to win, and must claim his award within five minutes.

7. Awards will start with a $25 award each time. If the winner is not present $25 will be added to each award each week until there is a winner. When there is a winner a new award of $25 will be set up for the next time. All reserves will be used for necessary operating expenses, and for special awards and programs at the option of the committee.

8. Periodic collections from co-operating merchants will be made by members of the merchants committee or its authorized representative.

9. These rules are subject to change, alteration or cancellation at the discretion of the committee.

Members of the merchants committee are: Chapman, chairman, Philip White, Alton Turner, Bill Rhodes, James Biggs, James Webb, Arthur Wilson, and James Jones.

Little League Baseball Would Be Fine Here

The Liberty Vindicator's editor, Jake C. Smyth, editorialized on the topic, Little League baseball in Liberty, as an aid to help control juvenile delinquency. The meat to his editorial was wrapped up in the remark a Liberty citizen made to Smyth after attending a Little League baseball game at Liberty.

The citizen declared: "There is your antidote for juvenile delinquency."

And the Vindicator editor said in his editorial: "Many other citizens have agreed with him, some outspokenly, some by their devotion to the improvement of Little League Park, and some by their continuing interest in coaching, outfitting and organizing the Little Leaguers."

From the above quote we are reminded that the major portion of the responsibility to organizing a Little League, and the helping hand provided to support the juvenile league, must come from the adult population of the town.

The foresightedness of the citizens of Liberty is revealed in the fact that the teenage boys of the town during the long summer vacation period must be provided entertainment and athletic activities in which they can participate to assist the youth to keep their minds and bodies clean and occupied. And also, providing them with a clean sport that will help assimilate the vast amount of energy they have stored up in their bodies.

The editorial went on to comment on the great interest the parents of the little leaguers and the adult friends of the boys are manifesting. Especially, does this interest rise when they see the boys diked out in uniforms, and when they note these youngsters venting their enthusiasm to the nth degree as they pursue the national pastime.

How about the Stanton adults who are interested in the welfare of the youngsters, organize a Little League baseball group?

Editor Smyth concluded his editorial: "Big leaguers from Little Leaguers grow. Not all of them will go into big league baseball, but all of them, no matter what business or profession they might pursue 20 years from now, will put into practice the big league principles they gain from the Little League recreation and competition."

There are enough young lads running around in Stanton, nothing to do by those who want a job, many who care nothing about a job. They are seeking some form of entertainment to occupy their time. If clean wholesome recreation activities are not provided, such as Little League baseball, swimming pool facilities, playgrounds providing other forms of entertainment, the question arises where do they go in search of entertainment, and how clean is the sport they enter?

Young lads without a nickel or a dime in their pockets to spend gained from working at clean jobs, and a clean sport to choose as their pastime, frequently sacrifice their reputation and their life by falling into evil hands, only to come up with a juvenile delinquency charge assessed against them.

A Trip Around Texas Would be Sumpin'

Appearing in his column, "Tolbert's Texas," the other day in the Dallas Morning News, Frank X. Tolbert, its author, mentioned the name of a pioneer rancher, now deceased, whose acquaintance and friendship were revered by the pioneer West Texas ranchmen and other citizens of this area who knew him.

Odessa, was this rancher's home. The headquarters of the ranch was located north of that city, and the holdings ran south to almost the front doors of the Elliott Hotel. This structure was a 2-story brick in the 1920's, a cattleman's paradise to assemble, spin yarns and make cattle deals. In those days at the time of Hereford shows, the hotel lobby afforded an ideal spot for a Hereford calf exhibitor to parade his steer. And on one of these occasions back in the 1930's, a son of this Odessa rancher, now ranching in Missouri, led his Hereford bull calf around the hotel lobby.

Tolbert mentioned the name in his column as that of Uncle John M. Gist, who was his grand uncle. He had been told by friends who knew Uncle John, that he was a "fence riding fool." Tolbert told of the time back there in the 1920's when Uncle John related to him about one of the dreams he had. It was to make a trip all around the boundary lines of the State of Texas—a sort of a fence riding job on a 4,000 mile scale.

Whether it was to fulfill the dream his Uncle John had that caused Tolbert to secure a red Jeep motor vehicle, and accompanied by his 9-year-old son, Frank, Jr., as navigator, to "chug" away from in front of the Dallas News' building, June 10, on a trip that will take him riding the rim around Texas. The distance, Tolbert has figured he will cover will be 4,137 miles.

The writer wouldn't undertake to dispute the mileage Tolbert has computed it will require to complete his journey. But when he reaches the border line along the Rio Grande, 200 miles southwest of Stanton, he'll find to top the mountains down there he'll have to ascend over 8,000 feet high, an altitude that may freeze up Tolbert's mileage counter.

Just what sort of tact Tolbert will employ to affect a reconciliation with the bear, the mountain lions and the bald eagles this feathered tribe powered with sufficient strength to hook their talons in a horse and his rider and carry them into the wilds of Old Mexico, which live up there in them yar hills, for trespassing on their territory, the readers of Tolbert's "fence riding" will be awaiting with abated breath his answer.

The writer is well acquainted with one of the historical crossings on Red River that is certain to come in for quite some hair-raising incidents happening in the pioneer days of West Texas. It's Doans Crossing on Red River, some 15 or 20 miles northwest of Vernon in Wilbarger county. This crossing was the focal point for cattlemen driving their herds into Oklahoma and homeseekers in covered wagons seeking to homestead in Greer County, Okla., to cross this treacherous stream when high water coursed down its almost always dry bed. Awaiting Tolbert's arrival, Doans Crossing is all set to divulge historical facts of a blood-tingling nature that will flow like water down a hill.

Doans, the old storekeeper after whom the famous crossing was named, was alive when the writer used to make occasional trips by stage across the Red River. The old frontier storehouse bore evidence of the "larks" the cowboys would get on from drinking too much "firewater," while waiting for the waters in Red River to run down so they could drive the cattle across. The building was pretty well perforated with bullets from blazing six-shooters and Springfield Rifles.

Red River would, on occasions when it hadn't rained in miles of Doans Crossing, provide a great sheet of water spreading out from bank to bank, 200 yards distance, and in waves five high come down the bed of the river. This meant if anyone attempted to cross the river in less than five days he took his life in hand to avert being swallowed up by quicksand.

Philosopher Has Brilliant Idea To Get More Money

Dear editor:
As everybody knows, every governing body in the country, from towns to cities to state legislatures to Washington, is struggling with the problem of a new source of revenue, a city or a state is sort of like a family, it just costs more these days to run one, but nobody much seems to be making any headway in figuring out the answer.

I have been giving considerable thought to the problem out here lately, the worse a crop needs working, the easier I find it to think, and I have come up with part of an idea at least.

The trouble with people in this country is they're just not Continental in their approach to the matter of a new source of revenue, which is an odd thing. That is, we know how to look to Europe for a lot of things, take fashions, for example. Every year American women hold their breath to see what some Frenchman will decide they ought to wear, and if the French idea on fashions is good enough for us, why shouldn't the French idea on financing the government work too?

When France runs out of money, what does she do? She takes the Continental approach, which is to say, she sends whatever Premier she has at the time to Washington, sends him by air so he can get there and back before some other Premier is elected to take his place, and he swings a loan.

All right, why can't we do the same? Our Secretary of State is flying all over the world anyway, why couldn't he drop in on France or England or Spain and say, look, we're in something of a financial bind at the moment in America, can't get our budget balanced, two-thirds the cities can't find enough money to pave some worn-out streets, sewer lines need extending, water mains leaking, don't have enough cops and can't pay the ones we got enough, half the towns need new fire trucks, etc., how about loaning us say 50 billion dollars? We'll pay you back when the crops are in this fall or sooner or later anyway or give you some notes we've got from a few foreign countries ourselves as security.

Now I'm not figuring on seeing any new fire trucks bought from this source, or water mains patched or streets paved, but it's an idea, anyway.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

BIBLE COMMENT

Many Ideals of Home Come From Jews

In the heritage of Christianity from Judaism, the world owes the Jews a big debt, especially in their concept of the sanctity of home and family life.

A great factor in the strength of the Jews historically, in spite of sufferings, persecutions and tragedies, has been this attitude toward home and family life, and this goes far back into Jewish history and religion.

Christian teaching enforced all that Jesus and the disciples whom He gathered around Him had known in all that Jewish heritage that the Master said He had not come to destroy but to fulfill.

Love in all the relationships of life is the supreme demand of Christ. Love in home and family life in the Christian conception is the prime basis of happy and responsible living.

All this is so obvious and elemental that to state it seems commonplace. But it is the commonplace things of life that are the most important, and too often neglected. Is there any area of life today in which the basic and commonplace things of Christian teaching are neglected, and set at naught, more than in this area of marriage, home and family?

Surely this is a great problem facing Christians and the Christian Church, as well as all who are concerned about the social welfare.

There would be more hope among nations and peoples, if there were more peace in homes, families, and in all the daily relationships of ordinary life.

Wheat Growers To Decide on Quotas In June 25 Vote

Texas wheat farmers will join the nation's growers June 25 to decide in a national referendum whether marketing quotas will continue in effect for their 1956 crop. The State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee urges Texas producers to participate in the vote.

"Under the present surplus situation, we are required to proclaim marketing quotas," Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson said.

"We will have almost as much wheat in the total supply after harvest this year as we had a year ago. In other words, we will have enough wheat to take care of all our domestic and export needs for two full years."

Benson has said that wheat is one of the major problems facing the Department of Agriculture this year.

Any producer in commercial areas who will plant more than 15 acres of wheat for harvest as grain in '56 is eligible to vote in the referendum. Two-thirds of the vote must favor marketing quotas before they can be put into effect.

Local voting places for the June 25 balloting will be announced for each county.

The available supply of wheat for the 1955-56 marketing year is 66 per cent above the considered "normal supply." The Secretary must call for marketing quotas when the normal supply exceeds 20 per cent.

What Was The News Of Note? -Twenty-Five Years Ago-

From the files of The Stanton Reporter, June 20, 1930

Since the fall of 1929 most of the homes being built in Stanton are of brick. Mr. and Mrs. Henson, of the "M" system stores are rejoicing in their new brick. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ebberson have just had their home brick veneered. W. F. Rogers is making brick at his home in South Stanton.

The Tarzan community is making an addition to their school house. A teacherage 14x14 feet and a class room 22x30 feet are being built. Tarzan people are making their community one of the best in the county. They are looking forward to a prosperous year, for they have some of the finest looking crops that can be found anywhere.

The Democratic Executive Committee met last Monday to determine, by lot, the order in which the names of the candidates in the race will appear on the ballot.

Martin County has been receiving its share of good rains. During the last two weeks the farms and ranches have been benefited several times with good rains. Stanton and vicinity received two goods rains last week. One measured half an inch and the other was a slight amount over half inch. Listening to farmers talk while driving through the country and looking at the crops, the crops around Stanton are in better condition than you will find most anywhere.

The cotton and feed crops in the Stanton trade territory are in such a good condition that all the merchants and the farmers are going around with extra wide smiles on their faces. In the Lomax community, one of the liveliest rural communities any town can claim, the cotton is extra large for this time of year.

Mrs. Jay Moore and children, Barbara, Kevin and Mike, of Houston are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Clardy. The Clardys visited last weekend with Mrs. Moore and she and the children returned home with them for a two-week's visit.

Farm Special

Here is a 320-acre farm, all in cultivation and located in one of our best communities, about three miles from supply center. There is one irrigation well on this farm which makes 200 gallons per minute. The farm produced 96 bales of cotton, besides feed, even as bad as last year was.

This farm is located on hard surface road, and on school bus route. Two sets of pretty fair improvements go with it. It is priced right and someone is going to buy it.

There are one-fourth participating mineral rights goes with the deal.

Clardy To Get Honor in Dallas

Recognition of his services to an industry which serves more than a million Texans will be accorded Carl Clardy of Stanton Implement Co., in Dallas, on June 23. Clardy will go to Dallas to receive this along with a number of other Texans.

The occasion will be the annual convention of the Texas Butane Dealers' Association in Dallas June 22, 23 and 24. Honor will be paid to former directors of the association at a luncheon at the Baker Hotel.
Approximately 75 men who served on the butane dealers' board of directors between 1944 and the present are expected to attend.

The local man continues active in the butane organization and has served on a number of important committees.

The Texas Butane Dealers Association membership numbers nearly 600 independent retail dealers in butane and propane gas. They serve nearly a million Texans with what has been termed "the magic fuel" which brings city conveniences to rural areas. Besides serving as domestic fuel for cooking, heating, refrigerating and other purposes, butane-propane also powers internal combustion engines and its use as motor fuel is becoming widespread.
The butane-propane industry is said to be the second fastest growing industry in the United States, its rate of expansion being topped only by the television industry.

Clardy was to have left for Dallas Wednesday and plans to return home at the close of the convention and Southwestern Butane Exposition which will be held in connection with the dealers' gathering.

Payments will be figured to make up the difference between unemployment benefits and the 60 per cent-plus figure and will come from a 55-million-dollar fund, yet to be set up. ## SUPPORTING YOUR TOWN

Merchants who do not advertise are invited to read the following from the American Bankers Magazine, as it might give you a new slant on business, your own business, as well as the matter of building your town.

"No business man in any town should allow a newspaper published in his town to go without his name and business being mentioned somewhere in its columns. This does not mean you should have a whole, half or even a quarter page ad in each issue of the paper, but your name and business should be mentioned, if you do not use more than a two-line space.

"A stranger picking up a newspaper should be able to tell what business is represented in a town by looking at the paper. This is the best possible town advertising. The man who does not advertise does an injustice to himself and the town. The man who insists on sharing the business that comes to town, but refuses to advertise his own, is not a valuable addition to any town. The life of a town depends on the live, wide-awake and liberal advertising business man."

themselves together to organize an old settlers get-together meeting to be held each year in the month of July. Out of this meeting the name Martin County Old Settlers Reunion, a name it has maintained all these years.

Interference that created a gap in holding the reunion every year as was first scheduled came when World War II was declared. Then to interfere in holding the reunion regularly, was on the occasion when the county suffered the spread of polio.

Counting the age of the reunion from the date it was first established, would be 26 years old, but as stated above the postponement of the yearly meetings, clipped off four years, so this coming July the Martin County Old Settlers Reunion is holding its 22nd annual gathering in Stanton.

But what difference does it make how old the Old Settlers

Reunion is? What does matter is that at every reunion held in the 22 years it affords old timers who have been in Martin County 20 years and longer, a place to assemble, have the time of their life "gabfeasting" over old incidents that had happened over the years passed, memorialize the old timers who have passed on, listen to a well arranged program of short talks by old time residents of the county, music, etc.

On the annual occasions these reunions are held, former old time residents of Martin County who now make their homes in other far-off states are seen in attendance.

The reunion was organized for those who had lived 20 years or more in Martin County. The ranks of the members who joined the organization when it was first established, is rapidly fading out, and the gaps occasioned by the deaths of the old members are being filled by those eligible (20 years a resident of the county), by the younger generation.

James Jones is president and Walter Kelly, vice president, and Mrs. Morgan Hall, secretary of the Martin County Old Settlers Reunion.

Make your plans to attend the reunion to be held in the city park of Stanton on July 12.

Emergency Wheat Loans, Issued In 1949, Now Offered

The U. S. Department of Agriculture recently announced that special "distress" price-support loans will be available for a temporary period this summer for 1955 crop wheat in areas where regular storage facilities are not available and where wheat can be stored successfully either on the ground or in temporary structures during the summer months. In general, provisions for making these special 1955-crop wheat loans are similar to those for 1953-1954 crops.

Emergency loans for wheat stored on the ground were first made in 1949 after Texas Farm Bureau President J. Walter Hammond appealed directly to President Truman to authorize such loans. At that time elevator operators were claiming that storage space for loan wheat were not available and the price of wheat was falling to disastrous levels. Hammond charged that the elevator operators were planning to buy up the wheat at their own prices. When Truman oked the emergency loans, the price of wheat shot back up to normal levels. It was estimated that the action by Hammond saved $40 million dollars for Texas producers alone that year.

The distress loans will be on a recourse basis at 80 per cent of regular county loan rates. The wheat must meet all the eligibility requirements, except storage, for a regular price-support loan to be eligible for a "distress" loan. The special loans will run for a 90-day period. During this time, farmers will be expected to arrange for adequate on-farm or commercial storage.

President To Aid Low - Income Farmers

Proposes Broad Program To Congress That Will Help Great Deal

The Eisenhower Administration has recommended a program to Congress "to open wider the doors of opportunity to our million and a half farm families with extremely low incomes—for their own well being and for the good of our country and all our people."

The recommendations are embodied in a 15-point program drawn up by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. In his message to Congress the President said an immediate start on the program was necessary. He said the program recognizes that the problem of low-income farmers is not exclusively an agricultural problem but that opportunities for off-farm employment are a part of the solution.

Here are the recommendations of the Administration:

1. Expand and adapt agricultural extension work to meet the needs of low income farmers and part-time farmers.
2. Develop needed research in farm and home management, human nutrition, population, marketing, and in evaluating experience gained by the pilot programs.

3. Provide additional credit for low income farmers, and extend FHA services to part-time farmers.
4. Increase technical assistance, such as provided by the SCS, to low income farmers.
5. Request the Department of Health, Education and Welfare to encourage the States to expand vocational training in rural areas of low income, instituting as many as 12 pilot operations during the school term starting in the fall of 1955 in order to gain experience needed

Provide More Credit

6. Request the Department of Labor to strengthen the Employment Service in rural areas and further to adapt it to the needs of rural people. Areas of rural underemployment should be identified and included as part of the labor market services to make occupational adjustments easier.
7. Undertake to get more effective programs developed to induce the expansion of industry in rural low-income areas, using facilities of the Departments of Labor and Commerce and the Office of Defense Mobilization.
8. Call upon the State Agricultural Colleges to make substantial research and extension contributions to a cooperative venture, employing in part the increased federal funds already included in the 1956 budget request.
9. 11. Legislation should be enacted which would concentrate special funds outside the present agricultural extension formula for the purpose of conducting pilot programs and extending assistance to low-income farmers.

- B. A committee within the Department of Agriculture to coordinate the work of its participating agencies.

15. The Secretary of Agriculture should be required, in September of each year beginning 1956, to submit a comprehensive report to the President on the progress of activities directed toward alleviating the problems of low income farmers and on plans for advancing the pro-
