Snow, Freeze Make Highways Hazardous Cold Weather To Hold Grip

It's Your Turn Now, Mr. Citizen

The deadline for paying poll taxes has passed. The month of February is just 13 days old. Before March 1, a new state law makes it mandatory for candidates for many local offices to file their intentions to run in the Spring elections.

Martin County is rich in many things, and not the least, is courage of the men and women who live here. The good people of this West Texas county have always been ready to defend a Democratic way of life, and one thing for sure, you don't scare these residents away from the support of their views, convictions and principles.

So, you are wondering what the purpose is of this editorial. It can be capsuled in a hurry. If any eligible man or woman in the county is dissatisfied about the operation of any phase of the people's business, then now is the time to register that protest. Or better still, now is the time for you to make yourself available for public service if you are interested in dedicating some time to public office.

The time for action is near. If you are discontent with things as they are being run in your community, then don't wait until tomorrow and its too late to say something about it. Sidewalk juries carry no weight at law; post office conversation is nil, when considered in the light of action; coffee cup criticism fades as does the steam from the hot java; and in fact, your precious poll tax receipt becomes about as useful as a ten cent coupon on a three thousand dollar cabin cruiser.

As we said before, "It's Your Turn Now, Mr. Citizen."

Stanton Woman Killed In Highway 80 Crash

Mrs. Lillie Jones Reams, 39, was killed Friday morning when her automobile and another car collided and smashed into a truck on U. S. 80 seven miles west of Big Spring. She was the wife of Master Sgt. Gaither Reams of Webb Air Force Base at Big Spring.

Highway patrolmen said a thin layer of ice on the highway probably accounted for the wreck. Mrs. Reams' car hit the rear of a 1957 Ford driven by Myrl Miller of Midland, forcing the Reams automobile into the path of a truck loaded with pipe. The truck was driven by Jack Clifford Hunt of Odessa.

Neither Miller, Hunt nor Mrs. Reams' daughter, Judy Lynette, 3, were injured in the accident.

Mrs. Reams' other survivors are her mother, Mrs. Alice Jones of Raleigh, N. C., four brothers and a sister, all of North Carolina.

Funeral services were held at 3 p. m. Monday, February 10, at the Swift Creek Baptist Church, North Carolina.

Rev. Paul West, pastor, was in charge of final services. Rev. West officiated at the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Reams.

Sgt. and Mrs. Reams attended the First Baptist Church in Stanton while living here. They had been residents of Stanton for approximately two years.

Stanton Meeting To Talk Regional C. Of C. Program

A meeting of local members of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce will be held at 2 p. m. February 14 at the Chamber of Commerce office in Stanton.

FRED HUSBANDS

Cecil Bridges, local director of the WTCC said this week.

Fred H. Husbands, executive vice-president of WTCC, will meet with the group. A report of what the regional chamber is doing and what it has done in the past months will be given. Members are also asked to express their ideas as to how the chamber can better serve the area and what the chamber can do to further the economy of this area.

Anyone interested in the activities of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce is invited to attend the meeting.

Final Services Conducted For David Wiswell

Funeral rites for David Cannon Wiswell, 69, long-time Stanton resident, were held at 2 p. m. Wednesday, February 12 in the First Baptist Church.

Mr. Wiswell, who had been ill for some time, died at 8 a. m. Tuesday in a Big Spring hospital. A retired farmer, Mr. Wiswell was born July 28, 1888 in Hamilton County, Texas. He moved to Stanton from Hamilton County in November, 1916. He was a member of the volunteer fire department.

Rev. W. C. Wright, pastor, officiated. He was assisted by Ellmore Johnson of the Church of Christ. Burial was in Evergreen Cemetery beside the grave of his wife, Mrs. Prudie Wiswell, who died November 18, 1951.

Survivors include one brother. (Continued on page 8)

Martin County and the Permian Basin can get ready for continued cold weather through Sunday, according to the five-day weather forecast issued late Wednesday.

The lowest temperature of the season was registered in Stanton Tuesday night when the mercury read 17 degrees. It was generally conceded Wednesday that the present cold spell deserves to be tagged as the longest and coldest to strike this area this winter.

Drifting snow, driving sleet, and gloomy, sullen skies surged over Martin County Tuesday and Tuesday night.

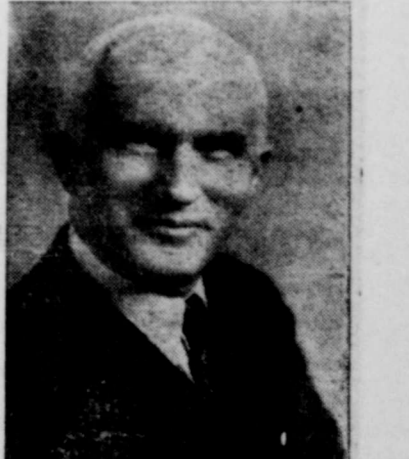

Freezing rain and drizzle, and in many places snow, iced roads. Highway 80 traffic through the county was described as hazardous, and motorists were driving with caution. Since the start of the cold spree in this area two serious accidents have been reported, one caused the death of a Big Spring man, A. W. Harbin, 49, three miles West of Big Spring on Highway 80 Monday afternoon.

Bad weather, with possibly more precipitation, maybe snow, falling again in the Basin area Thursday and Friday. Little relief from the cold seize can be expected until late Sunday, weathermen believed at press time Wednesday night.

Highways were frozen and slick in the Abilene area Tuesday night and Wednesday. Highway 80 between Fort Worth and Weatherford was closed today, and Highway 180 between Mineral Wells and Fort Worth was also closed Wednesday. This fact should slow the traffic through Martin County on Highway 80. Snow stopped in the Stanton. (Continued on page 8)

Essay Contest Announced

An industrial essay contest for high school seniors in Martin County is being sponsored by the Industrial Committee of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce. O. B. Bryan, chairman of the committee said Monday.

The committee is cooperating with the Industrial Committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and Martin County high schools in sponsoring the contest.

The title of the essay the seniors are to write is "What My Town Can Do To Have More Industry."

Bryan pointed out that for the past three years the winning essay has been written by a student from a city of less than 4,000 population.

The closing date for the local contest has been set as April 1, Bryan said, so that the winning entry may be determined in time to enter the regional contest before May 1. The local contest to be judged by instructors from Howard County Junior College.

Bryan explained that contestants must not receive assistance in the actual composition of their essay, but any type of research for material, including interviewing adults, is not only authorized but encouraged.

Continuing, Bryan said the judging in the contest will be based on (1) the practical application to the local situation of ideas advanced in the essay, (2) evidence of serious study and investigation toward arriving at answers posed by the title of the essay and (3) good composition and neatness.

Grand award to the winner in the regional contest will be a $250 scholarship to the college or university in West Texas chosen by the winner.

Connie Mack Hood, president of the Chamber of Commerce, said today that the board had approved the establishing of awards for the first three places in the contest.

Community Clinic Set For Feb. 20

Plans to revitalize the local Chamber of Commerce and to attempt to expand the work of the organization were outlined Monday when Ralph Duncan, manager of the community services division of the WTCC visited in the city.

Duncan met with the local board members and the current manager, Allen Singleton. The group studied a plan for expanding the chamber program and sought to find some consistent pattern for service to the community.

Singleton said a Community Clinic would be held in the basement of the Methodist Church on Thursday evening, Feb. 20, at 7:30 p. m.

President Connie Mack Hood, of the Chamber of Commerce, pointed out that such clinics had been sponsored over sixty times in the West Texas area by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

The first clinic staged by the regional chamber was held in Stanton on June 9, 1951 and attended by 20 local people. It is the desire and hope of Singleton and Hood that as many members of the organization as possible be in attendance for the Thursday night session.

Hood stressed the fact that the object of the Community

Clinic was to arrive at a program of work for the local chamber of commerce. The program of work will consist of a list of projects wanted and needed for the balanced program.

"We hope to get a chart or blueprint of the community projects most urgently needed at this time," Hood said.

Ralph Duncan explained that the clinic calls for a group meeting of all citizens—both members of the chamber and non-members.

The community clinic idea was developed to provide every element in the community with a voice before the chamber of commerce.

Philosopher Glad To Take His Shoulder Off The Wheel Now That Satellite Is Launched

Editor's note: The Martin County Philosopher on his farm on Mustang Draw adds his two-bits worth to the discussion of the satellite, although that may be pricing it a little high.

Dear editor: I don't know about you, but I'm certainly glad we got that satellite up and maybe now we can stop some of this talk about everybody putting his shoulder to the wheel.

Understand, I was willing to put my shoulder to the wheel, if that was the way to conquer space, but frankly Washington never did convince me that the way to help this country launch a satellite was for me to get on my tractor and work longer hours. I ain't a scientist, but I never could see the connection.

Also, I never was really worried. Impatient, maybe, but not worried. I figured any country smart enough to produce a self-defrosting refrigerator, a machine gun that could fire through the propellers of an airplane, a hydrogen bomb, an electric razor, a tubeless tire, and an atomic submarine, could figure out how to launch a satellite.

The fact Russia got ahead of us only emphasizes my contention that scientific secrets, like the secret of the bicycle, can't be held exclusively very long by any one country.

But now that we've got that satellite going around the earth, I would like to point out that there are still other problems, and if man thinks the only way to be happy is to get out in that drafty, sun-blasted and sub-zero void called space, he's in for a let-down. I figure a man can be just as miserable gliding through space as he can fighting traffic on a highway, just as he can be happy sitting on his own farm.

I read just the other day where airplanes have become so smooth you can't feel the motion, it's as if you were sitting at home in an easy chair while you travel aloft above the clouds, but my contention is that that sure is going to a lot of trouble to get what I've had for years—the pleasures of sitting still in a chair, without near the gasoline consumption.

At any rate, now that Explorer is circling the globe on schedule, I'd appreciate it if you'd find out from our Congressman if it's all right for me to go on with my loafing and fishing with a clear conscience. Can I take my shoulder off the wheel now? After all, it was just resting there anyway, I actually wasn't heaving.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

WEST TEXAS PRESS COMMENTS

The Coleman County Chronicle and the Coleman Democrat-Voice have changed the column width of their newspapers from 12-em to 11-em. A hair-line column rule is used to separate the columns instead of 6-point column rule. The papers will print on the same size news print. In the change to the new size the page size of the newspapers contain nine columns instead of eight.

David M. Warren, Sr., 62, veteran Texas publisher and banker, died last week in an Amarillo hospital.

Mr. Warren was a past president of both the Texas Press Association and the Panhandle Press Association.

He founded the Borger News-Herald in 1926 and once was a partner in a chain of newspapers in the Texas Panhandle and New Mexico. Warren sold his interest in the last of these papers, the Panhandle Herald, in 1956. Since that time he has devoted his time to the positions of president of the First National Bank of Panhandle and chairman of the board of the Panhandle State Bank of Borger.

The District Governor of 2-T-1 Lions Club is W. L. "Bill" Smith, mayor of Ralls. He was president two years of the Ralls Lions Club. He is in the gin and cotton business in Ralls and has been active in civic and state affairs for many years.

A $2,000,000 building project program is to be completed in 18 months at Alpine, so the Alpine Avalanche announced last week. The investment will go into a new building and facilities at Sul Ross State College.

The first project will be a $750,000 science building. The building should be ready for occupancy in 12 months after work starts on it. It will embrace 44,000 square feet of floor space. Following six months after the science building contract has been let, bids will be called for a new men's gymnasium, costing $350,000. A 50-room addition to the boys dormitory will be built, and a 50-foot enlargement of the dining hall will be made.

The Eden Echo reports that following an extensive remodeling and redecorating program, the Concho Pharmacy, one of Eden's oldest business institutions, will hold a week-long celebration. The business was established in 1911 and has been owned and operated by the present owner, R. G. Armor, since 1913.

A half million dollar housing program is being considered for Lampasas, according to The Lampasas Record. The project includes 60 units—or housing for 60 families and would be built on single contract with the cost in the $500,000 bracket.

Colorado City is "up in arms" in providing housing facilities for new families. The Colorado City Record announces that the "first of several hundred families have begun moving into the Colorado City area in connection with construction and petroleum operations now underway in the county."

It's a "Clean Up, Fix Up, Stock Up," says the Stamford American to get the city in shape to make a good impression on an El Paso industrialist who is to visit the city to see about locating a garment factory in Stamford. A committee of Stamford businessmen sponsored by the chamber of commerce, was selected to make the El Paso trip to invite the industrialist to visit Stamford. Reporting on their visit to El Paso one of the committee members urged "that the town be cleaned up and that it be made to present a good appearance when the man visits here." He recommended that a "trip like this at least every two weeks to awaken us to the possibilities which are available."

Melvin Dow, reported in his "Yours Truly," column appearing in the Wink Bulletin, he saw a Sputnik scooting through the skies "moving at about the speed of a jet plane at 10,000 feet, and not like a bright star, but rather like a dull white object, about the size and intensity of a medium star."

Dow went on to say, "Scientists say this may be the last time the 1222 pound Russian satellite, carrying the husky Siberian dog may be seen in this area."

The city of Slaton is working on a plan to establish an office-street parking for 72 cars. The parking facilities would be on the City Hall square, "to be paved with one row of parking space around the square. One-way traffic within the parking areas. Curbing around the trees would protect them and would not require their removal," said the Slatonite.

The county commissioners court of Upton County has ordered bids on construction of an Upton County Office building at McCamey. Bids are to be opened Feb. 24. The amount to be spent on the building is $25,000. The McCamey News said: "The county substation construction here is in keeping with the compromise reached in settling the contested courthouse bond issue last year."

According to an unofficial school census report the county population of Andrews County showed a decrease of 216 over 1956. The rural population for 1957 was set at 12,372, while the 1956 population stood at 12,588. The Andrews News says the school census takers showed the population of the city of Andrews was 10,525 or an actual increase of six persons over last year's total of 10,519.

THIS WEEK

—In Washington

Clinton Davidson

Congress appears this week to be confuting two issues—the farm problem and Agriculture Secretary

Erna Tolt Benson. The first battle is and the second infuriates it.

Unable to agree on a practical approach to reversing the downward trend in farm income, the Senate and House Agriculture Committees are concentrating on knocking down what Benson proposes.

Anyone listening to the farm debate in Congress this season may end up knowing considerably more about Benson than about the problems that beset farmers. The Secretary, apparently, has an unlimited capacity to shed criticism.

This is a regrettable state of affairs in Washington. Farmers are in trouble and that is for certain, but tarring and feathering Benson won't change that. So, what is all the shouting about? Neither Benson nor Congress wants to heap more coals on the heads of already troubled farmers, but they have widely different ideas about how to help them.

Benson has said over and over that what he wants is the opportunity for farmers to produce fully and freely in order that supply and demand may establish both the amount of production and the price it will bring in the markets.

Government control, he argues, can neither establish fair prices nor determine the amount of production. Farmers, he says, must be given greater freedom to manage their farms and make their own decisions.

Decisions by Washington bureaucrats cannot be made to apply wisely or equitably to all farmers, or even to all the producers of one commodity, Benson contends. There are many who know from experience that that is so.

Granting that abrupt removal of all controls and price supports would disrupt markets, demoralize prices and bankrupt hundreds of thousands of farmers, Benson insists that farm programs must lead farmers toward greater freedom of choice—to stay on the farm or move to other jobs.

Congress' rebuttal is that it is both a folly and heartless to tighten the screws on farmers that they'll be starved off their farms without first providing them a reasonable opportunity to find jobs elsewhere.

President Eisenhower has reported to Congress that there are too many farmers, in fact 2,700,000 too many. It would help if they would just go away and let the remaining 2,100,000 produce all the food and fiber we need.

The production per man hour of work on farms has been increasing much more rapidly than the number of people wanting to eat and wear clothes. Mr. Eisenhower said farming efficiency has increased more since 1900 than in all of the previous 2000 years and that production per hour worked has doubled since 1940.

Benson says that the way to decrease production and the number of farmers, is to reduce government price supports and other programs which enable the inefficient to eek out a living off of government handouts.

Angry congressmen retort that what Benson is proposing is that he be given authority to "plow under" three out of every five farmers. They know something Benson doesn't; that those farmers come in handy on election day.

EFFICIENT FEEDING AND LIVESTOCK MANAGEMENT

By Dr. Gustav Bohstedt
Emeritus Professor of Animal Husbandry
University of Wisconsin

Mineral Deficiencies Reduce Stock Profits

The farmer's livestock profits are becoming more and more a matter of efficient management and efficient feeding. Rations deficient in major and trace minerals rob the farmer of part of his profits by causing mineral deficiency diseases and promoting inefficient use of feeds for growth and production.

A sound mineral feeding program begins with the soil itself, when the farmer makes good use of stable manure, lime, and any necessary commercial fertilizer to grow crops that are well supplied with essential minerals as well as with other materials.

A second step in providing vital minerals for livestock feeding is in feed crop selection. Legumes ordinarily are richer in minerals than grasses.

It is not often possible to supply every mineral requirement through good feed alone, so the program must include mineral supplement feeding.

In areas known to be deficient in trace minerals, give free access to a divided mineral box with trace mineralized salt on one side and bonemeal or other suitable phosphate and ground limestone on the other side. Often it is a good idea to mix a little salt with the bonemeal, or the limestone-bonemeal mixture, merely to keep it from getting dusty and unpalatable.

Considering their ordinary base feeds, cattle need primarily phosphorus added to their rations rather than lime or calcium. If intended for cattle, mineral mixtures, whether home-made or commercial should as nearly as possible have the phosphorus as high as it is in steamed bonemeal (14%) or even higher.

To make sure of enough phosphorus for dairy cattle, add one per cent bonemeal or other suitable phosphate along with one per cent salt to the grain mixture. Other ruminants, or dry cows that may not be getting grain, may be given voluntary access to minerals.

To make sure of enough calcium for swine, if fed all-plant rations with no animal protein, add 0.75 per cent ground limestone, or about one per cent of a mixture of limestone and bonemeal along with 0.5 per cent salt to the total ration. Merely free access to ground limestone has in some experiments given good results.

When meat scraps or similar animal by-products make up the major proportion of the protein concentrates, no additional calcium or phosphorus is necessary. A mineral feeding program observing these facts is practical, effective and economical. It is not difficult to apply.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

MARTIN-HOWARD SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT
Jack Buchanan, Ollie Robertson, Bernard Houston, Edgar Phillips, J. D. Crawford.

Tommy Horton recently completed constructing six miles of level terraces with the ends partially blocked on his farm two miles south of Ackerly. These terraces were designed to detain as much run-off water as possible and to control erosion.

"Why do we not teach conservation in our schools? Is the waste and pillage and threatened physical destruction of our country less important than the names of State Capitals?"

—Harold L. Ickes
Belton Hill has completed repair work on 8 1/2 miles of terrace on his farm 15 miles north east of Stanton and J. T. Mims, Hill's neighbor, has repaired 2 miles of terrace. These terraces are some that were damaged by heavy rains last spring.

"We know soil conservation districts at first-hand and have seen not only how they have begun to transform the land and the methods of farming from an exploitative to a permanent agriculture, but how they have given rural people a new way to work together and with others for their own good and for the benefits of the community."

—P. A. Waring and Clinton Golden, in "Soil and Steel" Approximately 10 miles of level, closed end terraces were recently built on Jimmy Sawyer's farm 12 miles north of Stanton. Fertile farms will rebuild bombed cities, but nothing can save a nation whose soil is exhausted.

Technicians from the local Soil Conservation Service office ran contour lines last week for J. L. Mayes who farms four miles west of Ackerly.

Artificial boundaries are man-made and of little significance. Soil erosion knows no boundaries and obeys no landlords. As in the past, cover crops are doing a good job of controlling wind erosion in the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District.

During sand storms the past few weeks, we have noticed that land protected with a growing cover crop showed no signs of soil blowing while adjoining land with little or no protective cover showed considerable damage from wind erosion.

The man who works with the good earth controls the future of the human race.

Love's Old Sweet Song Still In Style For Sentimental Valentine Holiday

Modern sweethearts can't complain where St. Valentine's Day is concerned.

Uncle Sam will deliver their valentines on Friday, wherever they may be—without resorting to the whimsical tricks that were necessary 500 years ago.

What's more, today's lovers are spared the weeks of preparation that handmade valentines required in those distant times. Love's old sweet song, it seems, is still in fashion on this most sentimental of holidays. But all else has changed!

Actually, the first paper valentines appeared around the year 1400. At that time, St. Valentine's Day was rather a controversial subject, for its origin was linked to the pagan Feast of Lupercalia.

The temper of the times and the keen eyes of anxious chaperones made it advisable to send these early valentines anonymously. It was a calculated risk, for a young lady might easily believe her Valentine came from six other guys.

Sometimes they were dropped on milady's doorstep by bashful admirers, who knocked and promptly skipped away. But more often valentines were tucked into secret trysting places, such as hollow trees.

Later, a little more finesse was used.

Imaginative bachelors began tossing valentines tied to big red apples into their sweethearts' open windows. In retrospect, it still seems like shooting one of Cupid's arrows through the air—unless, of course, the window was closed.

Let it be said, however, that Valentine sending in the 18th and early 19th centuries was a very serious proposition. Father Time had broken the Lupercalian link, and valentines were considered a genuine proposal of marriage.

Bewildered males spent the days before Feb. 14 mixing water colors and amorous metaphors.

Carefully, they ornamented valentines with love birds, cut-out hearts, paper fountains, pressed flowers and romantic scenes framed with fine lace. Truly, a labor of love!

Rival suitors were frequently judged by the ingenuity their valentines revealed. Vexed and verboten was the hapless swain whose handsome Valentine, delivered in person, was marred by a wretched verse.

So ghost writers opened shop and quickly prospered from the thriving Valentine trade. England's bookstalls were flooded with "Valentine Writers," a series of pamphlets with fool-proof verses and learned-tips on how to make bigger and better valentines.

The next stop, of course, was toward ready-made valentines. They went on sale about 1800, and the homemade creations were all but forgotten by 1850.

During this transition period, Germany developed new graphic arts processes, France introduced its elegant styles and England cornered the Valentine market. American valentines made their debut in 1840, and by 1858, the elaborate European importations dwindled away.

St. Valentine's Day in America has always been a delightful mixture of light-hearted gaiety and sincere, old-fashioned sentiment. For over 100 years now, our annual quota of valentines has been divided almost equally between humorous and romantic themes.

The volume of valentines exchanged each year has steadily increased, too—ever since a low-cost, nationwide postal service replaced the Pony Express. Friends and relatives, moreover, are as quick to send a Valentine today as sweethearts, wives and husbands.

FARM AND RANCH REVIEW

The third freeze of the winter struck Florida last week, destroying the vegetable crop. Old timers said it was the worst in the state's history.

Citrus trees were on the point of blooming when the freeze came. Prospects are dim for a good crop this year.

Strawberry crop was destroyed and many tropical fruit trees—mangoes, avocados and the like were so badly damaged it will take them years to recover.

The industrial committee of the Fredericksburg chamber of commerce, have assurance of landing a large turkey processing plant. The proposed plant would operate about seven months a year and process 80,000 pounds of turkeys daily. The plant would employ 150 people and the weekly payroll would be $37,000.

The wind of one day last week hurtled around in Martin County at a gallop that at times reached a speed of 50 miles an hour. It was a reminder of some of the days that visited the county during the drought years when winds reached a high velocity scooping up sand and distributing it around over the countryside.

The past week has been ideal for the farmers to plow their land and do any planting they have in mind for this time of year.

Tomie M. Potts, a prominent Hereford breeder of Donley County, last week was installed as president of the Texas Hereford Breeders Association at a meeting held in Fort Worth.

He served several years as director of the association, and is a former president of the Panhandle Hereford Breeders Association.

In 1942 Potts entered the registered Hereford business. He has two ranches and runs fine cattle. One is located south of Hedley in Donley County and the other is located west of Estelle. Here is an important message for anyone who is working for a farmer. If you are paid $1.00 or more in cash during the year from one farmer or if you work on 20 or more days during a year for one employer and get paid on a time basis, you are covered under social security.

The impression that came out of the meeting of farmers of Martin and Midland Counties, held in Stanton last week, bore evidence that many of them would devote acreage to the growing of cantaloupes and sweet potatoes this year in connection with the growing of cotton.

It was brought out at the meeting it was hoped the acreage devoted to these two crops would be sufficient quantity to guarantee the coming to Stanton of a processing plant.

The season for planting sweet potatoes and cantaloupe is rapidly drawing near, and a hasty decision is asked from those who intend growing vegetables so definite arrangements can be made with the proper authorities for processing the products and securing a market to sell them.

Report from a reliable authority has it that the supply of cotton in the United States is estimated at 23 million bales. This is smaller than last year by 4,000,000 bales and the smallest supply since 1953. The carry-over at the end of the year is expected to be about nine million bales.

Domestic mill consumption is expected to be less this year and exports are expected to be lower. The consumption of synthetic fiber continues to increase every year.

In 1957, farmers produced nearly 12 million bales from the smallest acreage since 1876 and the cotton allotments in 1958 is 37,000 acres smaller than the 1957 allotment.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

One of the hottest topics at next July's precinct conventions likely will be whether such conventions should be held any more.

Gov. Price Daniel has suggested abolishing the precinct conventions. His premise is that much of the intighting that afflicts the Democratic Party in Texas originates in these neighbor-against-neighbor squabbles. He proposed instead the electing of delegates (one per precinct) to the county conventions by direct vote at the primary.

Governor Daniel pointed out that the conventions sometimes are controlled by a minority group within the area. Many people, generally, vote in the primaries than bother to come back to the voting place a second time in one day for the precinct conventions.

Electing delegates by direct vote, contended the governor, would do away with "rump conventions" and contests over which precinct delegation is entitled to seats at the county conventions.

Governor Daniel's recommendation, made at the State Democratic Executive Committee meeting, came as a surprise counter-offensive to the DOT's "code of ethics" campaign. DOT (Democrats of Texas) is a liberal group, openly bucking the governor for control of party affairs. Spearhead of its drive is the "code of ethics" proposal designed, according to its sponsors, to eliminate much of the fighting and give everyone a fair shake at conventions.

DOT members were immediately critical of the no-precinct convention plan. It would eliminate "grass roots" gatherings, they said, the only chance every citizen has to get up and speak his piece. But the governor had an answer for that too. He suggested that the new law provide that any qualified party member could propose a resolution at his county convention.

Both the governor's and the DOT's suggestions are to be studied by the SDEC. Governor Daniel said if his plan meets with approval within the party, he will submit it to the Legislature next year.

TAX FACTS — Texans paid $2,800,000,000, or one-fourth total income, in state, federal and local taxes in 1956.

In a fact-packed report (its first), Texas State Tax Study Commission traces the history of Texas' taxing patterns from 1932 to 1956. Next in an expected series of about 10 reports will compare Texas taxes with other states. Findings are to be presented to the Legislature in 1959 to serve as background for revenue-wrestling.

At present, says the report, Texas Taxes are derived 45 per cent from property; 22 per cent, sales; 16 per cent, severance; 17 per cent, all other sources. Basic pattern has not been changed since 1941, but all categories except the property tax have increased at least 10 per cent since 1950.

PRICE OF PROGRESS — Relocating utilities in the path of the new interstate highway system is going to cost Texas cities more than most officials had originally thought.

Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled that state-federal funds may be used only in a limited way to pay for utility moving. Specifically, said Wilson, they may be used to pay for relocation of sanitary sewers and for other utilities, such as water and power lines, only if they must be moved completely outside the road right of way. Cost of re-locating water, power and gas lines within a right of way must be paid for by the city or utility company.

Texas League of Municipalities protested the interpretation, said it would cost Texas cities as much as $20,000,000 to comply. Chief source of disgruntlement to the city officials is that under the same federal building program, cities in other states are not required to meet this cost.

NO PRICES FOR SPECS—No mention of price can be made in an advertisement for eyeglasses until the State Supreme Court clears up questions about the new optometry law.

High court turned down the request of an optical company to suspend the temporary injunction against price advertising until the test case is heard on March 5.

Rival groups of optometrists are at odds as to what kind of advertising should be permitted. One group contends the law passed last spring clearly prohibits certain types of solicitation. Another agrees with the Nov. 18 Attorney General's opinion that the law is unconstitutional because improperly drawn.

CONTESTS QUESTIONED — Texas merchants who like to conduct contests or drawings as business builders, were set back, temporarily, by an opinion handed down by the Attorney General's department. Based on the state's laws governing lotteries, the opinion, at first glance, seemed to rule out any type of drawing for prizes.

However, Assistant Attorney General Cecil C. Rotsch, who wrote the opinion, says that the ruling does not change, in any way, the law as it always has been interpreted in Texas. He merely cited earlier court opinions, Rotsch pointed out. And his recent opinion does not alter what always has been considered the accepted procedure in connection with drawings or contests.

TRUST LOSS CUT — Net loss to creditors of US Trust and Guaranty Co. will be $1,987,886, reports State Auditor C. H. Cavness.

US Automotive Service had assets of $4,893,269, said Cavness, partially offsetting the $6,881,155 in US Trust liabilities.

Cavness' audit of the liquidation division of the State Insurance Department suggested some tightening of methods of handling and selling property in receivership.

US Trust creditors still cannot be paid. Suits filed by groups seeking preference have not been settled.

GENTLER SLIDE FOR TEXAS — In a year of predicted recession, the dip in Texas business will be less noticeable than for the nation generally.

This prediction is made by the University Bureau of Business Research on the basis of figures for past recessions. In 1948-49 national figures dropped 19 per cent; Texas, 6 per cent. In 1953-54 the national drop was 11 per cent; Texas, 8 per cent.

Expanding industries and a growing population were noted by the Bureau in explaining Texas' favored position. A period of even greater activity was foreseen for the 1960's.

SHORT SNORTS — Ballot positions for the nine proposed constitutional amendments to be voted on Nov. 4 have been determined by a drawing in the Secretary of State's office. No. 1 position went to the amendment which would give legislators a $7,500 annual salary. . . . Veterans Land Board has agreed to try to sell the remaining $87,000,000 in bonds allowed under the program as rapidly as possible. Aim is to get the program rolling again without waiting for possibly more favorable interest rates. . . . Land Office reins are now in the hands of new Commissioner Bill Alcorn, appointed after the resignation of Earl Rudder. . . . Framing of legisla-

IN 1929 A YOUNG FELLOW named Robert A. Hamilton arrived in Stanton from Troup, a small city in Smith County—deep East Texas. Hamilton had just completed his legal education at Texas University. Judge Charles L. Klapproth of Midland, was successful in having Hamilton named county attorney of Martin County. Later, Bob Hamilton served Ector, Howard, Midland, Glasscock and Martin counties as district attorney. From Stanton, the Hamiltons moved to Midland, and from that city to El Paso. He is currently serving as Chief Justice of the Appellate Court in that city and is now a candidate for Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas. The Hamiltons have two daughters, Emily and Ann, both attending the University of Texas, and a son, Robert W. Hamilton Jr., who is a student at Texas A. & M.

A CITIZEN FROM MIDLAND visited the office the other day and had a pertinent remark to make. He said: "You people in Martin County are already rich in natural resources—you have the finest underground supply of water in the country." On the heels of his statement another big water gusher was brought in on the Marion Flynt Ranch in northwest Martin County. A consulting geologist has estimated the well's potential at 3,000 gallons per minute. The well is one of the five to be drilled in the area under terms of a contract with the city of Midland. Not far south of the location of the new water well, Midland, Big Spring area late Tuesday, but cold winds quickly put an icy glaze on the terrain Tuesday night and highway travel was described as dangerous Wednesday.

The snow mantle covering Martin County was light, but most sections of the county received some as the flakes funneled down over a wide area. Approximately a half-inch of the crystal flakes fell in Stanton Tuesday. Around mid-day the sun caused the streets to take on a muddy type slush, then the temperatures started plunging and by nightfall the streets and highways were enveloped in a vice of ice.

is a cluster of several water wells, and for years, these wells have been helping serve the water needs of Snyder, Big Spring and Odessa.
Water engineers know that the breaking of the drouth, and the titanic amount of water put back into the soil has undoubtedly raised the water table of the entire Permian Basin, and with Martin County in the very middle of the Basin, no cry of water shortage should be heard in these parts in a long, long time.

"All-American" Look "Sack" Look "Schnook" Look
WILL TODAY'S "SACK" LOOK BE TOMORROW'S "SCHNOOK" LOOK? According to health authority Raymond A. Wilson, the girl on the right may be tomorrow's "Miss America" unless present fashion trends are altered. Wilson, founder of the world's largest health organization, American Health Studios and Silhouette Figure Form, International, charged that this country's designers are ruining the health and beauty of American women and that the healthy, All-American girl is a "Vanishing American." Wilson, who presently has more than 2,500,000 studio members in his national health program, said, "While our organization helps make women more curvaceous these so-called fashion stylists try to cover them up with bags and sacks — it's unnatural, unhealthy, and Un-American!"

Guarding Tomorrow's Freedom

How to maintain a lasting peace . . . how to preserve full employment . . . how to ward off recession . . . how to keep our high standard of living. Those are problems which continually face the Government of our country.

Tomorrow they may blaze into issues that must be solved by the factions and interests that make up our democracy. Each of these factions and interests will demand to be heard — and they will be heard.

The press of America will report and comment on what each and every party to an issue has to say. The public will know what is going on.

It is only thus that the best interests of America can be served over and above the interests of any one faction or any limited-interest group.

This vital function can be performed only by a press that is free to write and free to publish the story of national issues, unfettered by dictation from any source.

Today's freedoms can be secured and tomorrow's freedoms guarded only by a press that owes allegiance to no ogre of tyranny bent upon shaping our destiny to suit its own ends.

If the press of America is, in a real sense, to remain the guardian of our future, we must preserve the freedom it possesses today.
