VARIETY City Sales Tax Effective July 1

By NEAL ESTES
I will pay $100 to the person who found my black billfold, lost in downtown Stanton Sunday morning. The billfold contained two fifty dollar bills, eight twenty dollar bills and some small bills. It also contained cards and credit cards issued by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company. Return to NEAL ESTES, editor THE STANTON REPORTER.

GUY BROWN and BUDDY SHANKS dropped by my house while Sunday for a personal visit. BUDDY is a student at ACC in Abilene and GUY is attending the American University in Paris, France. Both young men were outstanding Stanton High students and both boys will return to the colleges of their choice next September.

The new one cent sales tax to be collected for the benefit of the City goes into effect on July 1. The tax will be applied to items now being charged for under the specifications of the state sales tax.

Several members of the local Lions Club will be in Dallas this week attending the International Convention being held in that city. A story appears elsewhere in the paper telling about the Lions from Stanton who are due to be among the many Lions attending the annual meeting.

Monday, July 1, is Dollar Day in Martin County. This long-time project has paid off in dividends to the customers and to the merchants in years past. It is one of the best planned programs, if not the most beneficial, ever created in this community. Honest, genuine bargains are revealed for the buyers consideration in the newspaper in the issue preceding the first Monday in each month. Read the ads beamed to create Dollar Day sales in this issue and then patronize the local merchants who sponsored the advertisements.

Very little public comment has been heard concerning the new water being consumed and used in Stanton these days. The newspaper welcomes comment on what our readers think of the quality, taste, etc., of the city water. A few days ago the city fathers opened up the new supply from Lake J. B. Thomas and abandoned use of well water with the exception of some stand-by wells.

Congratulations are in order this week for the members of The Martin County Sheriff's Posse. The local riding club participated in the Big Spring Rodeo parade the past week and won second place. The week before, in Lamesa, the local group won first place in the activities in the Dawson County city. Of course, those of us who have been around for several years, have learned to attach no surprise to the cups, awards, plaques, trophies, and citations on display in DAN SAUNDER'S courthouse office. The average Martin County person takes the honors won by the Posse for granted. It should not be that way. A nice place should be provided, either by the county, or by public subscription, to house these fine trophies won by so many men who at one time or the other, paraded the colors of the county from one section of Texas to the other.

Patrons of the Cap Rock Refrigeration Coop, Inc. have been advised that effective, June 28, the slaughtering of both livestock and poultry will be discontinued. I hate to (Continued on page 8)

July Dollar Day Due To Be Real Big One

July 1 will be Dollar Day in Stanton and merchants have availed themselves of the opportunity to use the columns of the newspaper to advertise their specials.

The hot values in one of the hottest months of the year are present in most stores. The summertime sizzlers are marked to meet all area competition.

Coming before Independence Day, the specials for Dollar Day, are timed to meet the needs of the proper celebration of that national holiday. Many, many useful articles will be displayed and the county residents have an invitation to come in and visit with local merchants on Monday, July 1.

VOLUNTEERS FIGHT GRASS BLAZE—Members of the Stanton Volunteer Fire Department are shown in action Tuesday when they answered an alarm west of the city. A big meadow burned over a wide area before local volunteers brought the blaze under control. The fire was confined to a section of land immediately behind the five-mile store on IS 20 West.

Tubing Danger Cited By Local Authorities

Residents with flexible copper tubing connecting a new stove in their home may be in danger, according to local officials.

O. L. Snodgrass, Jr., manager of Pioneer Gas in Stanton, said in the past several weeks numerous complaints have been received that the tubing "just fell apart from no apparent misuse."

Fire inspectors in Midland have determined that at least one explosion which almost destroyed a house was caused by leakage from tubing which dissolved. And several fires have caused damage as a result of the tubing.

"Not all flexible tubing is soldered on to the bolt part of the connection, but some are and these are dangerous,"

Snodgrass said. Authorities are on record as saying that it is almost impossible for the untrained person to determine if the type he is using has been soldered together, or is of one piece.

It has been suggested by Snodgrass that persons use either aluminum or solid brass to transport natural gas. Copper, he said, even the type that has not been soldered, tend to "flake off" on the inside.

Persons not able to determine the type of tubing they own should have plumbers make an inspection.

Snodgrass will be glad to assist those desiring inspections through cooperation of the local fire department.

DPS Head Calls For "Heads Up" Driving

The acting directors of the Texas Department of Public Safety today called for "heads up" driving on the part of Texas motorists over the upcoming four-day Fourth of July weekend to help bring about a reduction in the estimated toll of 38 lives in traffic during the holiday period.

Wilson E. (Pat) Speir announced that "Operation Motorcade," a special emphasis program designed to focus attention on the added dangers of holiday travel, will be placed in effect from 6 p.m. Wednesday, July 3, through 11:49 p.m. Sunday, July 7.

Traffic fatalities will be tabulated by the DPS throughout the period, and the totals will be announced officially three times daily as a means of keeping safety uppermost in the minds of the motoring public, he said. (Continued on page 8)

"It is a known fact that the unusually crowded conditions of the highways on Independence Day holidays makes driving more hazardous than usual," Speir said. "Past experience and the present trend of traffic deaths indicate that 38 persons will lose their lives in traffic accidents during the 102-hour period of the holiday this year, according to DPS Statistical Services. This means that on the average one person will be killed in traffic every two and-a-half hours.

"Of course, we hope this proves to be too high an estimate, and will do everything we can to keep down the expected toll of lives and suffering from accidents. As part of this effort, we will be utilizing additional personnel from our other uniformed services. (Continued on page 8)

Judge Jim McCoy, president of the Rotary Club, introduced O. B. Bryan, program chairman for June, who presented young Brown to the group of 20 assembled Rotarians.

Brown's subject was: "Conditions and History of Europe."

Rotarian will install new officers at a meeting at the Belvue Restaurant starting at 7:30 p.m. Monday evening, July 1.

July Fourth Holiday To Be Observed

The next issue of The Stanton Reporter will appear on Thursday, July 4.

In order to get the message over to the shoppers of this community in plenty of time, the newspaper has been requested by the Martin County Chamber of Commerce to announce the closing of retail stores and professional firms in the county next Thursday, Independence Day.

July 5 is one of the holidays marked for observance by the participating and voting members of the Chamber of Commerce.

All federal offices will celebrate the holiday. The bank will be closed and the courthouse closed with the exception of a small staff in the sheriff's office.

Sheriff Warns Merchants About Illegal Bills

Sheriff Dan Saunders has requested the newspaper to warn Martin County merchants to be on the alert for bogus $20 bills.

Several bogus $20 and $10 bills have turned up in West Texas cities.

One veteran sheriff said the bills passed in his jurisdiction looked like "the real thing." When counterfeit bills are discovered and confiscated they are immediately turned in to the Treasury Department office in Fort Worth.

The warning bulletin issued by Saunders for Martin County describes the passers as two women. One of the women is between 22 - 24 years old with a dark complexion. Her companion is supposed to be 15 - 16 years of age and of blond complexion.

Mandatory For City Merchants To Collect Levy

Stanton merchants will start collecting a one cent sales tax for the city on July 1 in addition to the two percent state sales tax being collected currently on every one dollar spent for merchandise coming under the tax levy.

The total tax take will climb to four cents out of every dollar spent in the city after the increased one percent tax hike recently passed by the Legislature becomes effective.

Stanton Boys Report On Trip To New Mexico

The Stanton Lions Club met Tuesday noon at Belvue Restaurant, with President Tom Angel, presiding. F. O. Rhodes led the sing-song. The pledge to the flag was led by Nolan Simpson and James Jones voiced the invocation.

Billy Reager, program chairman, introduced Willie Wells and David Porter, who reported on their trip to the district 4-H camp held last week at Cloudercroft, New Mexico. Each day's activities were described to the Lions, as well as the theme of the camp. Lion Reager accompanied the group. Willie and David are members of the Friendship 4-H Club in Stanton.

The president expressed appreciation for the interest shown and the cooperation of each member during the past year, and passed the gavel to Russell McMeans, who accepted the gavel as president for the coming year. McMeans stated that he believed the club would experience a good year under his leadership and commended the past president for his years work.

Jim Irvin of Lamesa, was a guest, and O. C. Turner joined the club. There were 18 members present.

Stanton residents voted for the municipal tax take in a special election called here in the early part of the year to become effective on July 1. After a quarter of tax collection is completed the Comptroller of Currency will return directly to the City of Stanton the money derived from the one cent tax take. This rebate to the town is supposed to amount to about $40,000 a quarter, according to local authorities who sponsored the election here recently.

Money returned to the City of Stanton by the new tax levy was supposed to go for increased salaries for city employees, new equipment for the fire department and other local improvements.

It was argued by the then city council that by voting for the one cent city sales tax, personal and property tax increases would not have to be made for years to come. The people bought the proposition with this premise in mind.

Legislative action in Austin the past week included wide swings at the municipal sales tax, with proposed amendments aimed mainly at cancelling application of the levy to sales going outside the city with the local tax in force. All missed, as House members approving the municipal tax as it stands voted down the attempts to change it.

A total of 271 Texas cities have adopted the one cent sales tax proposition. This (Continued on page 8)

Getty Oil Company Schedules Test In North Part Of County

By JAMES C. WATSON
Getty Oil Co. No. 1 Slaughter, a scheduled 12,100-foot Fossilman prospect in North Martin County, has encountered shows of gas and oil in the Devonian.

It is 2 1/2 miles north of Stanton, 1,320 feet from north and east lines of section 12, block 36, T-3-N, T&P survey, a mile west of a recently completed 1 1/4 mile west extender for the Sulphur Draw (Dean-Wolfcamp) pool.

Getty's No. 1 Slaughter took a test, of unreported duration, at 11,600 to 11,850 feet. There was a weak blow of air after 15 minutes.

Recovery was 2,000 feet of oil-gas-cut water blanket, 1,015 feet of gas and 30 barrels of oil. Initial shut in bottomhole pressure in an hour was 5,958 pounds. Final shut in pressure after two hours was 5,088 pounds.

The explorer now is at total depth of 11,905 feet taking another drillstem test.

George M. Blair of Midland will attempt to open production from the lower Permian—possible Dean-Wolfcamp—in North Glasscock County at No. 1 Edwards, a re-entry of the former Continental Oil Co. No. 1 Edwards, plugged in November, 1963 at 10,945 feet in Location is 18 miles north-west of Garden City, 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 15, block 34, T-3-S, T&P survey 3 3/4 miles north of the McDowell (multipay San Andres) area, four miles northwest of the southwest sector of the Howard - Glasscock field, which produces from several horizons.

Blair proposes to clean out to 7,700 feet for the checking he proposes to undertake. Top of the Dean sand in No. 1 Edwards is 6,790 feet.

The venture is eight miles east and slightly south of the oper of the Gordon Street, South (Wolfcamp) reservoir in Northwest Glasscock. Connally Oil Co. Inc. of Abilene No. 1-C Flanagan, Northeast Midland County explorer, 12 miles northeast of Midland has been completed from the Dean - Wolfcamp in the Sprabery Trend Area.

From a series of shot holes between 8,439 and 9,141 feet it pumped 85 barrels of 39-gravity crude and 29 barrels of water in 24 hours with gas-oil ratio of 941.1.

The perforated intervals had been stimulated with a fracture of 126,000 gallons of gelled brine water mixed with an unreported quantity of sand.

Location is 740 feet from south and 755 feet from west lines of section 22, block 37, T-1-S, T&P survey, seven miles southwest of Stanton. (Continued on page 8)

Tax Man Sam Sez:

Every year a large part of the high schools and colleges offer some of their students a simple short course in how to prepare their income tax return. There are about 100,000 students in the northern half of Texas, and a similar number in the southern half of the state, who receive this simple training. These young men and women are receiving some of the most valuable training that they will get throughout their entire schooling. (Most of them will realize tax savings as a direct result of the free IRS training course.) However, adults can achieve a good part of this training by simply reading your tax instructions carefully—or better still, get a copy of "Your Federal Income Tax" for 50 cents from any Internal Revenue Service office, icle on an inside page of a newspaper last night about a motorist in England who refused to pay a 12-cent toll to cross a bridge because, he said, the tax was imposed 900 years ago by King Canute and couldn't possibly apply to a modern automobile. Despite the fact that since the year 1023 people have continued to pay the tax, he said, 900 years is long enough and he refused to pay. Of course they took him to court and made him pay anyway.

Clearly that man doesn't know the first thing about taxation.

He should have been grateful that King Canute thought of the idea of charging him only for crossing the bridge. Had Canute been on the ball he would have taxed a man to come onto the bridge, then taxed him an equal amount to get off the other end. Have you got time to figure up how much tax money England would have brought in during the past 900 years if that bridge tax had been 24 cents instead of 12? Probably could have made enough to have left the tax off of tea and saved us the trouble of holding Presidential elections.

Another thing that man doesn't know about taxation is that a tax's age has nothing to do with it. The longer ago a tax was thought up, the more used to it people become and the easier it is to collect. The easier tax to collect is one that was thought up and put into effect before you were born. If we're smart we'll be figuring out some taxes now to go into effect just before the next generation arrives.

The fact that King Canute may have told his people that bridge tax was just a temporary measure till England got on its feet, has nothing to do with it.

Any man who has studied the matter knows that there's nothing more temporary than a permanent wave or more permanent than a temporary tax.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Bible Comment—

Faith, Good Works Must Go Hand In Hand

In the Epistle of James, there is a profound plea for plain, honest, practical Christian living. There ought to really be a great deal more of it in the Church and in all relationship of Christians with the world. We have had no right, even in our thought, to separate faith and works. Faith is primary and basic, but faith and works go together, and until we relate faith to character and conduct, we do not come to understand what Christian faith is.

James, like Paul, emphasizes the fact that God is the source of all goodness. From Him comes every good and perfect gift, and with Him there is no variableness or shadow of turning. His love and His grace are abiding, and every man who in faith accepts the obligations of the Christian life will find the power of God with him to help him.

We cannot too strongly stress this concise definition of religion, found in the Epistle of James: "Pure religion and undefiled before our God and Father is this to visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and keep oneself unspotted from the world."

It is this sort of religion which distinguished the early disciples. Paul believed in it just as much as James, but the world is still run largely on the basis of self interest and not always "enlightened" self-interest.

True Christianity represents something deeper and brighter. It has produced humanitarian organizations and movements which lift mankind to motives of mutual aid. This, not self-interest, is the hope of the world's future.

County Agents Column

Scientists have made considerable progress during the past few years in controlling bloat in cattle. It can be successfully controlled by the use of products now available provided they are used in accordance with the manufacturer's recommendation, says County Agent Billy Reager.

Although present day knowledge pertaining to bloat is important, some facts remain unknown. Clinical cases of bloat may vary in severity. Treatment is not always satisfactory and surgery may be required for severe cases.

Frothy bloat which is usually present in cattle pastured on legumes is more difficult to treat than the dry bloat more commonly seen in cattle on dry feed.

Present day products are effective but good management and common sense prevention are always in order, reminds the county agent.

He offers these suggestions as aids in starting cattle on legume pasture.

1. Start bloat prevention medication several days in advance. Follow the manufacturer's directions and make sure that each animal has a daily intake of the medication equal to the recommended dose.

2. Check all cattle at frequent intervals and be prepared for treatment.

3. Call a veterinarian at the first sign of trouble.

4. Keep a supply of bloat preparations on hand at all times and know how to use them.

Bloat is a known killer. Rapid death loss is one of the distinguishing characteristics of bloat. During an emergency every minute counts; therefore, have the needed equipments and materials handy and ready for use.

Plains Cotton Net Sets Record Gain

Cotton farmers in the High Plains of Texas had record net incomes last year, the Department of Agriculture reports. The figures were made public by the department in an analysis of costs and returns of farmers in three major cotton-producing areas of the United States.

Agencies Overspend Rep. Cabell Asserts

Supplemental appropriations are permitting government agencies to overspend and are causing severe budgetary problems, Rep. Earl Cabell of Dallas said this week. He said this is apparent every year toward the end of congressional session when representatives of these bureaus come trooping up to Capitol Hill to ask for more money.

Pastures Need Attention Now Specialist Says

With other crops late and facing an uncertain future, pastures should receive closer attention, says Neal Pratt, extension agronomist at Texas A&M University. Fertilizer is the biggest profit producer on pastures.

Long Blames Supreme Court For Major Crime

Sen. Russell Long, D-La., has taken another potshot at the U.S. Supreme Court saying the high tribunal was to blame for major crimes in the United States. "They are making it impossible for us to punish these people who commit major crimes," Long said in a broadcast interview.

Twister Tips May Save You

Do you know what to do if caught in a tornado? The National Safety Council has processed more than 700 answers to this question within the past six weeks. To receive a free copy of The Tornado Fact Sheet, send a stamped self-addressed envelope to "Tornadoes," National Safety Council, 425 N. Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill., 60611.

The council advises that you know the difference between a tornado warning and a tornado watch, or alert. A tornado warning is issued when a tornado has actually been sighted in the area or detected by radar. The following precautions should be taken during such time:

If you are in the city or a town, seek inside shelter, preferably in a strongly reinforced building. Move to a lower floor and stay away from windows.

In an office building or factory, stand in an interior hallway on a lower floor, preferably the basement.

At home, the corner of the basement toward the approaching storm is safest. If your home has no basement, take cover under heavy furniture against strong inside walls. To help reduce building damage, open windows and doors on the side of the house opposite the approaching storm.

In schools, if the building is of strongly reinforced construction, stay inside, always away from windows. Remain near an inside wall on the lower floors when possible. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums with large, poorly supported roofs.

In a shopping center stay away from large plate glass windows. Don't get near parked automobiles.

If you are outdoors during a warning, try to take shelter inside. In completely open country, seek protection by lying flat in the nearest depression, like a ditch or ravine. But be careful to avoid culverts that may suddenly be filled with deep rushing water.

When driving, try to drive at right angles to the path of the storm. For an example, when a storm is coming from the west, head south or north to get clear of its path.

The council warns that a car is not a preferred place to be during a tornado. Once the storm hits, the car may roll over and over, crushing it and its occupants. However, if stuck in flat, open country, staying in a car can be better than no protection at all.

Panhandle Farmers To Get FCIC Aid

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation said today it will pay an estimated $475,000 in damages to insured wheat farmers in 24 Texas Panhandle and Northern counties and Curry County, New Mexico.

The estimate put losses slightly above the $423,000 paid a year ago, but still indicates relatively minor damage to the crop. Ben A. Jordan, Jr., state director for FCIC, reports.

"About 350 insured farmers already have indicated some loss due to extreme weather factors, but it is not anticipated the loss situation will become much greater," he says.

Counties in the Panhandle where losses have been reported and the estimates include Dallam, $18,000; Sherman, $39,000; Hansford, $40,000; Lipscomb, $20,000; Moore, $50,000; Carson, $30,000; Gray, $15,000; Deaf Smith, $15,000; Randall, $20,000; Parmer, $17,000; Castro, $47,500; Swisher, $46,250; Hale, $8,800, and Floyd, $5,500.

Losses to a lesser degree have been reported in the Northern Texas counties of Foard, Wilbarger, Knox, Jones, Cooke, Grayson, Fannin, Denton, and Collin.

For Curry County, New Mexico, served by the Texas State Office, the estimated loss stands at $150,000 on insured wheat.

"More potentially serious," Jordan says, "is the condition of the cotton and grain sorghum crops planted this spring which already have suffered from the almost continuous rain."

"Cotton and grain sorghum losses are expected to be high in the Blacklands and many West Texas counties also have suffered. Just getting the crop in the ground in time to meet insurance risk deadlines has been a big problem."

"Cold, rain and army worms have helped deteriorate the cotton crop in New Mexico also," he adds.

On the brighter side, All-Risk Crop Insurance programs on irrigated wheat and grain sorghum have been made available in four Panhandle counties — Hartley, Hutchison, Ochiltree, and Oldham — effective with the 1969 crop. This makes Crop Insurance now available to farmers in 70 Texas counties.

Federal Crop Insurance is designed to protect the farm working capital that must be invested and risked each year to produce a crop. Policy guarantees are geared to cover most production costs. When low yields, due to weather or other natural causes, reduce crop values below these guarantees, FCIC makes up the difference in cash.

"Throughout the 30-year history of our program in Texas," Jordan says, "we have paid an average of nearly $3 million each year to farmers in achieving our purpose."

Mascara, creams and beauty lotions were used by the women of ancient Athens.

Snow generally is formed by water vapor that crystallizes directly into ice from gas without becoming liquid.

A product of New Mexico's state tree, pinon nuts are difficult to eat. Spanish-Americans have mastered the art. They place a handful in the left cheek, crack them with teeth and separate meat from shells with their tongues, all in one continuous motion.

According to estimates, more than 22 million persons in the United States are affected with asthma and hay fever.

main more than ample to satisfy any and all potential departments.

Farm & Ranch Review

1969 Wheat Program — The 1969-crop wheat program has been announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and features a national allotment of 51.6 million acres, down 13 percent from '68. Diversion payments at the maximum rate authorized by law will be offered to farmers for planting less than their acreage allotment and diverting this land to conserving uses. Details on the program are or soon will be available from county ASCS offices.

Alert For Screwworms — The number of screwworm cases in the Southwest continues to increase and is the highest since 1963. Weather condition continue to be near ideal for the propagation of this costly livestock pest. Officials of the eradication program continue to emphasize the importance of livestock producers checking their animals at frequent intervals and submitting worm samples from all infested wounds. Knowing where the new cases are permits the dropping of sterile flies at the earliest possible time, the officials said.

Insect May Have A Taste For Mesquite

A Texas Tech entomologist says some South American insect with a hearty appetite for mesquite may prove to be an effective means of solving brush problems in the United States.

Dr. Charles Ward of Tech's School of Agriculture recently made a trip to Buenos Aires to help establish a cooperative research program between Argentina and the United States aimed at discovering such a bug or combination of insects.

Study
The study would involve locating and conducting research on the feeding habits of the most promising species of insects.

Since native insects tend to develop their own parasites and predators, species indigenous to one region serve most effectively when transplanted to another.

Argentine provides a logical site for mesquite research since the South American country suffers from infestations of the same type of mesquite found in this country.

Ward cautioned that even if a promising species of insect is identified, months of research would be required.

"Biological controls of this type have been employed successfully in Australia to eradicate prickly pear and recently an insect was introduced for control of alligator weed in Florida," said Dr. Ellis W. Huddleston. The same kind of alligator weed control has been studied in Texas.

Huddleston recently completed a year's research in Hawaii, where, working in cooperation with the University of Hawaii, he studied biological control techniques for improving sugar cane production.

Harmful
In finding an insect to devour the Texas mesquite, conclusive research would have to be conducted to determine if the insect is harmful to other plants in the United States.

Tech officials pointed out, as have others, that hundreds of thousands of acres of useless, brush-choked land in the Southwest alone could be converted to valuable farm and range acreage if mesquite can be eradicated or at least controlled.

It seems that Europeans once ate flowers. English recipe books of the 17th and 18th centuries tell how to make conserve of red roses, a sirup of violets, and marigold pie.

THE TRAVEL LOG
By Ian H. Corbin

THE SOUTH PACIFIC

Pacific at 30,000 feet at nearly 600 miles an hour.

There are still the explorers: thousands of them from all parts of the world determined to see the magic of the Pacific for themselves. They come with guide books, cameras, dipdye holiday clothes, and the assurance they will have the best of it without the inconveniences or downright hardships of the past. There will be air-conditioning, soft beds, international cuisine as well as local specialties, and one-day laundry service at the new hotels which have sprung up all over the South Pacific.

An example are those of Inter-Continental Hotels. Their locations form a kind of horseshoe on the map of the Pacific. Starting with Tahiti where the Hotel Tahara's Inter-Continental will open late in 1968, across to American Samoa (the United States' only possession south of the Equator) where the Hotel Inter-Continental Pago Pago looks up at Rainmaker Mountain. Down to New Zealand where the new Hotel Inter-Continental Auckland was opened last March, overlooking the historic harbor of Auckland. Over to Australia and in the gracious city of Melbourne rises the Hotel Southern Cross. A continent away is Indonesia where the Hotel Bali Beach on the shores of that fabled island and the Hotel Indonesia in the capital city of Djakarta. Then to Singapore to visit the Singapura Inter-Continental and on to Bangkok for the Siam Inter-Continental, Thailand's newest and most luxurious hotel.

Somerset Maugham, Captain Cook, Dutch painters, Australian colonials, and Anna of the court of the King of Siam would have envied today's traveler. He can enjoy the world they knew; only he can do it so much more pleasantly.

For uncounted centuries the South Pacific was an awesome challenge: its limitless waters uncharted, its islands unnamed. Today it is an invitation to travelers from all over the world. That invitation is being eagerly accepted by thousands more people each year.

There has always been a magnetic lure to that tropical world. One of Somerset Maugham's best known works "Rain" had its setting in Pago Pago. Gauguin deserted his family in France to paint his masterpieces in Tahiti. Robert Louis Stevenson's former home on Western Samoa is now the residence of the island's governor. One of the theater's classical musicals was adapted from James Michener's famous "Tales Of The South Pacific".

Into the latter half of the 20th century the South Pacific still guards some of its ancient secrets despite the research of scholars. Its history and its legends are intermingled.

What is the accurate story about the Bounty's mutiny? The mutineers told Pitcairn Island. Captain Bigh made a 100% conducting report before the Admiralty Board when he at last reached London.

What are the origins of the natives of the Pacific? Did they, by some navigational miracle, sail in their handmade canoes from the West Coast of South America as the skipper of the Kon Tiki tried to prove some years ago? Are the Polynesians descendants of migrating natives of the Middle East as some anthropologists insist? What were the beginnings of the Maoris of New Zealand? How far back into the millennium must one go to know the first aborigines of Australia? The secrets remain.

But the recent years have brought about changes. The vivid paintings of a French exile who died a pauper hang in the great museums of the world, worth a king's ransom. The ocean is no longer uncharted, endless stretches of water. The lovely islands have names. The floating palaces of cruise ships long ago replaced the lumbering sailing ships. A Clipper today means not a ship but a jet aircraft crossing the

By NEAL ESTES

U. S. REP. GEORGE MAHON appeared on one of those carefully arranged, well planned, canned-type thirty minute television interviews last week. GEORGE ought to be a candidate for Hollywood. The veteran solon looked young enough to play a GEORGE HAMILTON screen role. His questioner for the tv clip was a very attractive young lady whose strong sympathies for MAHON was plainly evident. GEORGE appeared bouncy, totally congenial, and one sensed that he was sure of both the questions and answer. The Congressman revealed his strict Scotch bringing up and told of his completely warm association and friendship with LYNDON JOHNSON through the years. MAHON'S friendship with LBJ has been questioned relative to his chairmanship of the powerful House Appropriations Committee. Mutual friends of both men have wondered if some of the program of JOHNSON would have been able to exist but for some additional money, after budgets were fixed, through help of the Appropriations Committee. REP. EARL CABELL brought this point up in Dallas the other day. He vigorously objected to supplementary funds being appropriated after an agency had exhausted the original fund appropriated for a given program. These supplemental funds naturally raise the price of the original budget. It looks good for any President to submit a low budget. But under LBJ most of the budgets have been boosted later on. REP. L. MENDEL RIVERS, a dynamic southern congressman has been a critic of supplemental appropriations for sometime. Congressman RIVERS sometimes wonders if the friendships in Washington are mixed up with the public funds. I am of the opinion that the U.S. taxpayer is tired of supplying boondoggling funds so politicians can capture votes to cling to office with. Anyway, LYNDON JOHNSON says he is leaving office in January and that should help slow up the comments of Congressman RIVERS, and his views on old friends and congressional matters.

A renewal, Dallas specialty store published on ad the other day with this opening caption: "What do you wear when she goes bare?" the store had an answer. The new formal NEHRU Women are buying NEHRU jackets too—also pajamas—also turtle necks also pants—also long-tailed shirts. The men are buying jewelry too. And a fashion writer has predicted that joint dressing tables and a common closet for couples will spring up soon in the southland. They already have these community deals for holding clothes and costume jewelry in some sections of the nation. Could be. But I can't imagine that husky fellow pictured on the boob tube sometimes advertising a certain brand of cigarettes and wearing cowboy gear sitting alone with his wife before a lighted mirror and asking: "Honey, what jewelry are you wearing tonight?"

Sometime when you are alone and there is nothing better to do, play a game I play once in awhile. Tune in on a western music radio program and delight in the announcer's ability to cut up the King's English. I count the number of errors the old boy makes in pronouncing words and running grammar. To open a program up one morning recently one announcer said: "Hit's hot out there in radioland today folks and hit ain't gonna get no better."

I feel like it is high time to appeal to the self-appointed successor of the late DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING, one REV. RALPH DAVID ABERNATHY, to really start acting like KING or step down. As one American to another, I suggest that RALPH ABERNATHY, black man, sans his titles, bring forth for public viewing his wife, if he has one. I feel like a great number of people would trust RALPH a little more if they knew he was a real family man. I also think it would be much better for the cause of the colored if MRS. MARTIN LUTHER (CORETTA) KING went home and stayed with her four children. That she accept and wear the dark weeds of a decent widow in mourning, instead of gallivanting about the countryside occupying air-conditioned rooms of luxury while shedding crocodile tears for the poverty people forced to sleep in the bug infested encampment there in Washington known as "Insurrection City" since the arrest of 77 of their number the past Thursday night. I also think that RALPH ABERNATHY should stop uttering his threats and slow down his mouthings. Who knows? Out there on the banks of the Potomac there may be another hunter loose on the land and looking for a headline?

After an unusually grinding day at the office last Friday I slept little and finally got out of bed, and returned to my desk at the office at 2:55 a.m. Saturday morning. I developed the urge to look through my personal file and there found an interesting communication from CLYDE E. JOHNSON, director for State Democratic Executive Committee, in which he outlined procedure to be followed by county delegation chairmen to the State Convention which was held in Dallas at the State Fair Music Hall in September 1960. W. MARVIN WATSON, Daingerfield, and old friend of the ESTES family in East Texas, was the Democratic Committeeman from District 1. WATSON is currently serving as Postmaster General.

(Continued from page 1) see this service stopped but valid reasons evidently exist in the minds of the management else the action would not be taken. Personally, I am going to miss the dressed capons bought annually from the 4-H Clubbers.

Sometimes my faith wears pretty thin. It really reached a low point this week. All of my life it has been one of my goals to be a merited friend indeed. I have gone out of my way to try and be considerate of certain people. And in one series of seconds to have confidence and admiration and respect shattered, is a terrific moral, mental and heartfelt blow. Maybe I am too old-fashioned. Perhaps the day has gone when the shaking of hands sealed a bargain. I guess society has accepted a new set of rules for honesty, fair play, and mutual admiration. If society has changed then the people are responsible. Adults will do well to set the right example before the children and the children need to be put back on the road of corrective upbringing and living when they break one of the ten commandments.

City Sales - - -

Harvey White, spokesman for the City of Stanton, said Wednesday: "So far as revenue is concerned, cities at this stage are no longer involved in the state's search for new money."

One spokesman said that the higher state sales tax bill would make it harder to get a one cent city sales tax voted affirmatively.

The state sales tax increase takes place on January 1, 1969.

The city sales tax will cover all items purchased now covered by the state sales tax and the same progressive scale on deductions from the patron's money will be made, local officials said.

Pesticides Recommended For Gardens

A pesticide sprayer that attaches to the end of a garden hose may be one of the gardener's handiest gadgets, but make sure it delivers the recommended amount of pesticide.

That's the advice of Billy Reager, county agricultural agent. The size of the container will vary among the different sprayers on the market, but more important to know is the amount of spray delivered.

For example, some quart-size containers will deliver 15 gallons of spray, while others deliver only 6 gallons of spray by the time the container is emptied. The amount of delivery is written on the containers.

If your sprayer delivers 6 gallons of spray and you have a material that calls for 1 tablespoon of insecticide per gallon of water, then add 6 tablespoons of insecticide to your container and fill it with water. But if only one gallon of spray at the same recommended rate is desired, add 1 tablespoon of insecticide to the container and fill the container with water ONLY to the one gallon mark on the sprayer.

Reager warns against using the same hose-on sprayer for herbicides and insecticides, because washing out of the herbicides is not easy. To be safe, he suggests that hose-on sprayer for insect control and another for weed control be used.

Depending on the pressure you get from your water line and the amount of water delivered, you must also take precautions with spray drift when using a hose-on sprayer. Shooting a stream of spray into a tree will result in some of the spray material drifting away. Adjust your spraying technique according to surrounding plants and wind movement to prevent unwanted residues or hazards.

It is also important to note whether the sprayer is designed to have insecticide added and filled to a given line with water or whether the particular sprayer is designed for the addition of insecticide alone—with no water added, cautioned Reager.

Homeowners are encouraged to check the output of their sprayers by filling the sprayer to a given mark with plain water, attaching the hose and spraying into a one, three or five gallon container. This is an easy procedure for determining if the sprayer is putting out the 6 or 15 gallons indicated on the container, says Reager.

Adjustments in the insecticide mixtures can then be made where the calibration of the sprayer is not accurate. This will prevent damage to plants or failure to get good control in other instances.

If you are in the market for a hose-on sprayer, remember you get what you pay for. Don't expect a precision-made piece of equipment for a real low price.

Wallace Campaign Picks Up Momentum

George C. Wallace's barnstorming across the South to the cheers of zealous supporters indicates his increasingly significant role in the presidential election.

"We are not running to throw it into the House of Representatives," he told crowds on his Southern fund-raising tour last week. "We are running to win."

But at this stage, even those governors supporting or leaning toward Wallace are not making all-out predictions of victory. Gov. Albert Brewer of Alabama is supporting the third-party candidate and says: "I think he has an excellent chance of winning."

Brewer predicted Wallace would carry Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Georgia "of a certainty." And he said Wallace has an excellent chance of taking Texas, Arkansas, North Carolina, South Carolina, Florida, and Virginia.

Vets Asked To Report New Addresses

Recipients of veterans' benefits should notify the Veterans Administration office which maintains their records as well as the Post Office Department of any change of address, Jack Coker, manager of the Waco VA Regional Office said today.

About $1 million in undeliverable checks is returned to the VA each year, he pointed out.

This means that some 12,000 persons miss at least one payment of their monthly compensation, pension, or other VA benefit. In some instances, Coker said, failure to receive a monthly check from the VA undoubtedly creates a hardship for the family involved.

Coker said that veterans or their dependents in receipt of VA benefits should also include their zip code with their change of address notification to the VA office holding their records.

Billy Graham Gets Repsonse From Youth

Dr. Billy Graham took his crusade crowd of 25,400 persons in San Antonio half way around the world to Vietnam where he painted a vivid picture of suffering and posed the question, "Do you know how to meet death?"

The tall, striking evangelist, dramatically followed his death query with, "Do you know how to meet God?"

Dr. Graham's challenge pulled more than 1,000 young people out of the Alamo Stadium stands, across to the playing field to the speakers' platform to publicly accept Christianity.

This act is the central point of each crusade rally and ac-ording to Dr. Graham is a symbol of the early Christians who came out of crowds publicly to follow Christ.

Dallas Cowboys Coach Tom Landry and Cowboy end Frank Clarke were on the platform and told the crowd, of mostly under 25-year-olds, what Christianity represented in their lives.

"There's a difference between being a church goer and being a Christian," Landry declared. He added that being a Christian had given him the ability to enjoy success and "face my failure."

He introduced Clarke as "my friend" and "one of the greatest receivers in the National Football League."

Clarke said his Christian life gave him a "thrill" to know "I am serving Jesus Christ."
