Happy New Year

YNDON JOHNSON'S statement that he had "no doubts about being elected president in 1968" as released to daily newspapers, reminds me of the story of two East Texas darkies walking through a cemetery. One could read the other couldn't. The unlettered black asked the reading brother to translate the writing on a tall tombstone they were passing. His educated brother accompdated him and read the inscription on the stone: "I ain't dead, I'se jist sleeping." The uneducated black man paused a few minutes and then said: "That negro ain't foolin' nobody but heself." I'll dismiss that statement of "Landslide "LYNDON are pure baloney without further attention.

Notre Dame will meet the Texas Longhorns in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas on January 1. A former ND great of the yesterdays is also in Dallas for the big game. He is SLEEPY IIM CROWLEY, one of the legendary Four Horsemen, GRANTLAND RICE, the sportswriter tagged the ND backfield with the Horseman title years ago and after he first used the term to to describe the smooth running backfield composed of HARRY STUHLDREHER, JIM CROWLEY, ELMER LAYDEN, and DON MILLER, the men had their pictures made on top of horses. CROW-LEY was asked in an interview in Dallas this week if he liked the name. He said: "Very much. It opened a lot of doors for all four of us.

CPIRO AGNEW, Vice President of these United States gained thousands of supporters on Christmas Day. AGNEW gained support in his criticism of television programs in the simplest way. Husbands, dads, sons, and cousins were home and exposed to the tv sets during the course of the day. They were compelled to either to watch the NBS stupidity quiz show and programs or cut the set off. The shows now running daily on the book tube are the most ridiculous in the history of the network. Sure, television is a wild scenic wilderness and it will remain so until the program directors find better thing to tell about and broadcast. AGNEW was right when he suggested too many imbeciles with nutty upright feelings are on the air.

Thursday will bring th ebeginning of another year and the start of another decade. Many changes in most phases of life have been recorded in the period from 1960 until 1970. It is difficult to predict what the next ten years will mean to the people of this country. One thing is certain and that fact is that unless the people around the world fail to find a way to live in peace the universe is in for some real hard sledding. There must be a return to the practice of the principles that made our present freedom a way of life. Really, there was nothing wrong with the Old Frontier. There was nothing wrong with the Average Society. The trouble in the land got going when some politicians started wheeling and new dealing in the thirties and forties. Mankind must find out once and for all again that the best way to right proverty

Safety should be the watchword now until Operation New Year is concluded. Some of the highways are going to continue to be rough travel. When driving stay alert at all times when behind the wheel.

hursday, January 1, will be celebrated in the county as an official holiday. The usual government offices will be closed. The postoffice will shut down and the New Year holiday was one accepted by the retail merchants committee of the Martin County Chamber of Commerce to close. Business as usual will be resumed Friday, January 2, and the long grind ahead until the Easter period will set in. Most citizens have planned quiet family gatherings in their respective homes. A full football bowl game schedule is on tap for television. Sports fans will follow the parades on the tube and shift the dial all around the station stops in search of their favorite pigskin games. Most Texans will be tuned to the Texas University-Notre Dame University game to be played in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas. Another game destined to draw interest to fons everywhere will be the one played between Penn State aand Missouri U. in the Orange Bowl in Miami, Florida.

The political pots are beginning to boil in the Lone Star state and it appears now that some spirited races are in store for the voters during the coming year. One contest due to get a great deal of attention from the voters will be the race for the U. S. Senate. GEORGE BUSH is due to run against uncumbed RALPH YAR-BOROUGH. Neither man has offoicially announced.
