Announcement of the speaker for the banquet date was made on Monday by Abe Turner, Jr., nearing the end of two consecutive one-year terms as president of the chamber of commerce here.

The visiting platform personality will be introduced by District Attorney Royce Adams, a longtime friend. Murphey has often said that he speaks "perfect East Texas fair English." He enjoys in the Deep East Texas region where he was born and raised.

Murphey passed along his country wit, and wisdom, as a speaker, and gained an excellent reputation in this area, in which he is in great demand.

TOTAL ABOUT 47,000 BALES County Cotton Crop Coming Up Short Of 1963

Haskell County's cotton crop was leveling off toward the final cleanup Monday, with a total of 44,004 bales reported by the county's 12 gins, Bill Estep, area manager of the Texas Employment Commission office headquartered here, said.

Estep's figures from Knox County's seven gins show a 20-914 bale crop in the neighboring county. Frank Martin, Haskell County agent, said about 2,000 to 3,000 more bales will be "about all" that can be expected from the cleanup operation in this county, bringing the 1964 cotton harvest to around 47,000 bales, a "short crop" based on earlier predictions of 50,000 to 55,000 bales.

The total cotton crop in Haskell County in 1963, according to U. S. Department of Labor statistics, was some 64,000 bales, about 7,000 bales more than is anticipated in the wind-up this year. The 1962 cotton harvest netted 52,547 bales. It was a whopping 87,219 bales in 1961.

Bales reported to date by the following gins in Haskell county include Farmers' Co-Op, 5,070; Haskell Co-Op, 3,800; Duncan, 2,870; all in Haskell; Paymaster, 3,502 and Weinert, 3,573, both in Weinert; Rule Co-Op, 5,380, and Lisle, 3,121, both in Rule; Paymaster, 1,168; Farmers' Co-Op, 4,881, and Reeves, 1,005, all in Rochester; O'Brien Co-Op in O'Brien, 8,637; and Sagerton Gin, about 1,000.

The O'Brien gin, managed by Sam Reed, appeared to be the leader in number of bales ginned.

Knox County bales reported by gins were: Knox Prairie Seed and Feed, 6,333; Paymaster, 1,354, and Farmers' Co-Op, 3,970, all in Munday; Goree Producers, 2,481; Rhineland Co-Op, 2,717; Brazos Valley Improvement Assn., 2,650, and Paymaster, 1,409, both in Knox City.

Riley Pitman, Veteran Grocer, Succumbs At 77

R. F. (Riley) Pitman, 77, well-known Haskell grocer, died in Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene at 6:30 a. m. Wednesday. He had been ill about six weeks and entered the hospital on Dec. 17.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. Friday at the First Christian Church here, with Royce E. Wood, minister, officiating.

Burial will be in Willow Cemetery under direction of Holden Funeral Home.

Mr. Pitman, a resident of Haskell 48 years, came to Haskell in 1917 from Bell County. He and his wife, who celebrated their Golden Wedding anniversary in 1957, had operated a grocery store on State Highway 24 on the west side of Haskell for more than 25 years. Prior to his entering the grocery business, Mr. Pitman had been employed as a mechanic.

He married Emma Kate Thompson in Bell County in 1907, and the couple resided in that area some 10 years before coming to Haskell.

Mr. Pitman was a longtime member of the First Christian Church here and served for many years as a member of the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department.

Survivors include his wife, two daughters, Virginia Pittman, of Haskell, and Mrs. O. K. McClintock, of Abilene; two sons, Roy, of Haskell, and Dr. Herman Pittman, of Warrensburg, Missouri; 13 grandchildren and 8 great-grandchildren. Two sons, Ross and Albert, preceded their father in death.

FROM SEYMOUR Rev. Anderson Accepts Call To Weinert Pulpit

Rev. Ross Anderson, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church in Seymour for the past six years, has accepted a call to the pulpit of the First Baptist Church in Weinert.

The Seymour pastor will complete his tenure at the church there, effective after services on Sunday.

Rev. Walter Copeland, retired Baptist minister, of Haskell, has been serving as interim pastor of the Weinert church for the past several months, since the departure of Rev. R. N. Tucker for a new pastorate at (See Rev. Anderson, Page 12)

1965'S FIRST NEW CITIZEN—Shown here with his mother, Mrs. Billy Ray McGhee, of Rule, is Billy Wayne McGhee, who has the distinction of being the first addition to Haskell County's population total in the New Year. Billy Wayne arrived at Haskell County Hospital here at 4:05 p. m. Sunday, January 3, weighed seven pounds and one ounce. The mother is doing fine, and the father is still a little jittery. Billy Wayne, as demonstrated here, is taking his fame in stride. Both the Stork Derby winner and his proud parents received numerous gifts from Haskell merchants, among them Trav's Dairy Cream, Gholson Grocery, Hasen's, M&F Pharmacy, Biggon's Mobil Service Station, Biard's Cleaners, Perry's Variety Store, and Ben Franklin Variety Store.

IN ZANY BASKETBALL MADCAP THE GOOSE WILL HANG HIGH OR LOW, WHICHEVER, TONIGHT

OL' STICKY FINGERS (He Can't Come But A Reasonably Accurate Facsimile Is!)

Tonight at 8 o'clock in Indian Gymnasium, the Goose arrives, and when he leaves, he probably will have the hearts of the fans.

For the Goose is none other than the ageless wonder of the hardwood, "Goose" Tatum of Harlem Globetrotter fame, now with his own group, the Harlem Roadkings.

Goose and his gang are coming here under auspices of Haskell's enterprising Jaycees, Jesse Priest, president, and Bill Anderson, chairman in charge of this particular enterprise, booked to raise funds to support the many worthwhile projects of the faithful civic organization here. So a ticket to the game, which may be purchased (See The Goose, Page 12) fans who eagerly looked forward to seeing him, Goose Tatum suffered a leg fracture last Saturday night in a game at Houston between his Harlem Roadkings and the New York Olympians, the same two teams which face each other in a sizzling exhibition tonight at 8:00 here.

Hospitalized in Houston, the Clown Prince of Basketball will not be in Haskell, but his son, Reece Tatum, Jr., a reasonably accurate facsimile, and the host of other roundball magicians in the entourage, will be, and the game will go on as scheduled.

Though The Goose will be missed, naturally, Reece Jr., "Boatboat Boatner, Ramon Willkinson and a dozen others will CARRY ON, literally and figuratively, in Goose Tatum fashion. So don't you DARE miss it, say the Haskell Jaycees!

It is to be hoped that the long road back to Haskell seems like a hop, skip and jump late tomorrow night!

Haskell National Bank will observe a bank holiday on next Tuesday, Jan. 19, the birthday of Robert E. Lee, and customers are reminded to make their plans about their banking needs in view of this holiday, Abe Turner, Jr., cashier, has announced.

The Jones and Fisher County Singing Convention will be in session at the Foursquare Gospel Church in Hamlin Sunday at 2 p. m. Ollie Coborn, president, reports. A record assembly of gospel singers is anticipated, he said.

Junior College Potential To Be Evaluated Tonight

Bulletins

J. W. (Johnny) Mullins, 60-year-old retired farmer, of Haskell, was arraigned before Judge Ben Charlie Chapman in 39th District Court here Wednesday morning on a charge of murder "with malice aforethought" in the stabbing death of C. F. White last month. Judge Chapman set the trial date for 9 a. m. Monday, March 15, in the courtroom here.

After hearing the indictment read by District Attorney Royce Adkins, Mullins answered "Not guilty," to a request of Judge Chapman as to which plea he enters.

The $10,000 bond on which Mullins has been free since December 22, date of White's death, was ordered continued by Judge Chapman under agreement with District Attorney Adkins.

Mullins' attorneys are Davis Scarborough, of Abilene and Dennis Ratliff, of Haskell.

Carlos Berry's up-and-coming Indians, who were shaded by District 5-AA League leading Winters by one point in a recent tourney at Brownwood, will meet the Blizzards in their own Storm Cellar tomorrow night in the first "for keeps" encounter between the two foes.

David Middleton's Squaws and Sonny Everett's B-Boys also will make the journey to Blizzardsville, to make a triple header out of it. A goodly crowd of roundball enthusiasts from here probably will be in the Winters gym for the triple fray.

After losing a squeaker to Anson and failing to break a 3-game Hamlin jinx, in their first two district outings, the Tribe of HHS thrashed Stamford here last Friday night, and the season's prospects immediately lighted up like the proverbial pinball machine.

It is to be hoped that the long road back to Haskell seems like a hop, skip and jump late tomorrow night!

The Jones and Fisher County Singing Convention will be in session at the Foursquare Gospel Church in Hamlin Sunday at 2 p. m. Ollie Coborn, president, reports. A record assembly of gospel singers is anticipated, he said.

Funeral Here For Widow of Former Area Minister

Mrs. V. A. (Laura) Duncan, widow of a longtime Baptist minister in this area, died at 3 p. m. Saturday in Lubbock.

She was the sister of two well-known Haskell residents. Funeral was held at 10 a. m. Monday in Lubbock under direction of Franklin-Bartley Funeral Home there.

Graveside rites were held in Willow Cemetery here Monday afternoon with Dr. Ray Nobles, pastor of the First Baptist Church here, officiating.

Holden Funeral Home handled local arrangements.

Mrs. Duncan was buried beside the grave of her husband, who died in 1955.

Pallbearers, all from Haskell, were Harold Spain, Jim Fouts, Ed Fouts, C. A. Thomas Jr., J. L. Toliver Sr., and Elmer Wheatley.

Mrs. Duncan, sister of Mrs. Jess (Stella) Josselt and Mrs. Walter Rogers of Haskell, lived in this area many years ago when her late husband was pastor of the Ballou and other community Baptist churches in Haskell County. Later, he was pastor of the First Baptist Church in Electra for a number of years.

Survivors include a son and other close relatives in Lubbock, and in addition to the two sisters here, another sister, Mrs. Charlie Fouts of Corpus Christi.

Survey Started To Feel Pulse Of People On Area Junior College Plan

(Editor's Note: Companion story on tonight's meeting in Rochester on the area junior college project appears elsewhere in this issue of the Free Press.)

Concurring in the proposition that "there is no time for mediocrity" in the realm of education, editors and publishers of four newspapers in this area joined Mrs. Luther Burkett, "mother" of a plan to establish a public junior college district, in blueprinting and timetabling here last Friday night an information program to spell out the need to the people.

Mrs. Burkett, supervisor of instruction in Haskell schools, explained to representatives of Haskell, Rochester, Rule and Knox City newspapers progress made to date in a data collecting survey, one of the basic requirements for organizing a 4-county joint junior college district.

The territory under consideration comprises Haskell, Stonewall, Knox and Throckmorton Counties. Editors and publishers of Munday, Aspermont and Throckmorton newspapers could not attend, but have expressed their desire to cooperate in the information program," Mrs. Burkett reported.

They will be outlined in a series of meetings Feb. 1-11 by B. W. Musgraves, of Austin, chairman of the junior college division, TEA, who already has made two visits to this area to help organize the effort which has begun to establish the school. The schedule will include Knox City, Feb. 1; Aspermont, Feb. 9; and Throckmorton, Feb. 11. Musgraves at these open, public meetings, the hour and place to be announced later, will explain the finer points of the program to all interested citizens.

On February 12, the press group again will convene in the "Texas" Cafe here to "take stock."

Next meeting of the expanding steering committee, which includes citizens of all walks of life from the four counties, will be held Wednesday, Jan. 20, at (See Survey Started, Page 12)

These meetings are being held to determine the scope of interest in establishing a junior college to serve the four counties; give some idea of the number of people interested in attending such a junior college; whether students who never graduated from high school are interested in attending adult education and night classes in a junior college; and if potential high school graduates of the next few years favor attendance at a junior college in this area.

Should the four-county area meet the standards for establishment of a joint county junior college district laid down by legislative act and monitored by the Texas Education Agency, other prescribed steps immediately should be taken.

Luther W. Walker New C of C Exec

here to direct a revitalized Haskell Chamber of Commerce program, Abe Turner, Jr., announced Monday. He will assume his duties here next Monday.

Haskell, without the services of a professional chamber manager for several months, has doubled the budget of the organization in a community-wide effort. Employment of Walker climaxes a campaign, begun in August, to initiate a program of civic development. A series of Town Hall meetings resulted in the project's "catching fire" and led to its successful climax.

Walker, whose record as a civic organizer for a new Chamber of Commerce in Ozona, has attracted wide attention, is no stranger to this area. He attended public schools in Weinert, graduating from high school there in 1949. He is a graduate of McMurry College, Abilene, with a B. S. degree in secondary education. His majors were in speech and drama, with a minor in English. He has a background of eight years in public school teaching (See Luther Walker, Page 12)

How To Enjoy The Happiest Day Of Your Life

We can do anything for one day. So, just for today, let us be unafraid of life, unafraid of death which is the shadow of life; unafraid to be happy, to enjoy the beautiful, to believe the best. Just for today, let us live one day only, forgetting yesterday and tomorrow, and not trying to solve the whole problem of life at once.

Lincoln said that a man is just as happy as he makes up his mind to be. Suppose we make up our mind to be happy just for today, to adjust ourselves to what IS ... our family, our business, our luck. To try to make the world to suit US is a large order. If we cannot have what we like, maybe we can like what we have.

So just for today, let us be agreeable, responsive, cheerful, charitable; be our best, dress our best, walk softly, praise people for what they do, not criticize them for what they cannot do. And if we find fault, find it with ourselves and forget it; if with others, forgive it.

And if you MUST do something behind someone's back, PAT IT.
Here at the outset of a New Year, let's do this JUST FOR TODAY. Then make a habit of it.

Material Abundance Is Not Enough

As always, with the year's ending, there was a flood of reports on what had happened during 1964 in this nation and the world along with all manner of forecasts of things to come.

Many of these summaries dealt with the progress of the U. S. economy during momentous 1964. In area after area, industry after industry, there were notable gains, some of a truly spectacular dimension. Records fell like tennpins in a bowling alley. All in all, despite certain dark spots, the system we call Free Enterprise brilliantly demonstrated its astonishing strength, vigor, purposefulness, and imagination. And the material results were fully shared by the many, not just the few. In sum, the system demonstrated once again, and perhaps more effectively than ever before, its superiority over any yet devised by man.

Other backward looks concerned themselves with a world situation in which question mark is piled upon question mark, and confusion compounded confusion. It is very certain that reappraisals of our policy have now become necessary—toward Asia, Europe, Latin America, almost everywhere. Because far-reaching changes took place in the world during the 12 brief months of the year. Powerful as we are, rich as we are as a nation, well meaning as we may be, there is no room for complacency.

And that can be said of our domestic affairs as well as our posture in the larger world. It is very easy, when incomes are high, the standard of living is at a peak, and we have reached an astonishing degree of material well-being, to become complacent and to let values become warped and atrophied.

The point IS that MATERIAL ABUNDANCE IS NOT ENOUGH. It is important ... vastly so. But the long-run strength of a nation of people cannot be measured in terms of simply goods and services. It must be measured, rather, by what goes on within our hearts and minds. If human freedom, here or anywhere, is to be perpetuated, it must be fought for ... continually. The weapons are many ... self-reliance, a sense of individual responsibility, a concept of duty that has nothing to do with material advantage, and, ABOVE ALL, spiritual belief! These, among others, are eternal verities.

It may be hard to remember and to act on this in an era in which everything is huge ... government, business, and industry, the labor organizations, the farm groups. The individual, some may think, is dwarfed by the forces that surround his life. And SO HE WILL BE if he takes that attitude. The very conditions of today present the individual with his GREATEST CHALLENGE. He, in the mass, decides what his nation shall be like. He, in the mass, decides, for example, whether he is to retain the dignity and the independence that the founding fathers bequeathed to him or whether he is to assume the prone or supine position, accepting a welfare state in which he can only be a statistic whose rights and liberties grow EVER FEWER.

We need to CONSTANTLY REMEMBER ... and REAFFIRM ... those principles and virtues which built this nation, during years in which living was INCREDIBLY HARD AND THE PRICE PAID FOR FREEDOM WAS BLOOD ... AND TRAVAIL. Thomas Jefferson wrote long ago, "The God who gave us life, gave us liberty at the same time."

We have the gift. Now it is up to US to keep it ... intact.

Oakescripts A Pencil Pusher's Potpourri By PORTER

This being the calendar season, wonder how many of the young(?) folks remember the Petty Girl calendars? They were the answer to the pin-up prayers of a dreamin', droolin' G.I. Ab, Yesteryear!

A "filler" used in last Thursday's Free Press declared that "Gooney Birds are believed to be the most fearless animal on earth." We didn't research the source of that statement, but we, and anyone else who was in the United States Army Air Corps, later U. S. Air Force, are willing to go along with the accuracy of it, if that's how a certain workhorse airplane of this country's acquired its name.

We speak of the indestructible C-47, known as a DC-3 to civilian types, the first universally accepted airlines passenger plane. In the military, it literally was the workhorse, the mule of the skies, and, being indestructible, it also was, as is known as the Model-T of the Air Force. The things we've seen that airplane do defy the descriptive dissertations of a Pulitzer prize winner.

And how could we EVER forget our first trip into Germany from a base in the Midlands, or Potteries District, of England, Stoke-On-Trent, to be specific. Our destination was Schweinfurt, and the transportation was a "Gooney Bird," complete with everything, thank goodness, except a back door, which had seceded from its union with the plane before we ever climbed into it the first time. The day of the pressurized cabin wasn't yet, and we are here to say (and we're glad!) it's a rather novel experience to be sitting in the doorway of a Gooney Bird, one's feet swinging over the side, skimming at treetop level over some of the bloodiest battlefields of World War II, past the Rhine, deep into the heart of the then Third Reich.

But what was there to worry about? We were in a fearless Gooney Bird, weren't we? "Nothing can stop the Army Air Corps ..." as the song then went. Where C-47 Gooney Birds were concerned, you better believe it!

We are indebted to Virgil Meadors for his thoughtful conveyance of a copy of the multi-colored special edition of the NASHVILLE TENNESSEAN, commemorating the 100th anniversary of the Battle of Nashville. We weren't there at the time, but it did take us back to cherished days of ours in the Athens of the South. We were endeavoring at the time, with a notable assist from our Tennessee cousins, Rev. and Mrs. Roy Hulian, to acquire some culture we had missed, having been raised in Texas.

Although the face of Nashville, like all other communities with aggressive and progressive leadership, has undergone some real face lifting, some things don't change, we learned in a nostalgic perusal of the Tennessee's spectacular special edition.

There's something else that has not changed either. The Battle of Nashville was re-enacted in the observance of the anniversary. Only the numerical superiority of the Yankees on the battlefield was not exactly apparent. Nobody around Nashville had any hankerin' to play the role of a Bluecoat. Hardly a handful was "on the firing line," on the side of those you-know-what Yankees.

There may not have been any basketball practice during the Christmas holidays, but we understand Juggernaut Joe Jossel, he of the 33 points, stayed in shape changing clothes for important social engagements. That, and bowin', and scraping to his Dad as he let the Ol' Man up for everything but his Christmas socks. It's reported Poor Richard Jossel had no alternative to go to bed one particular evening after Joe hit him up for his money, the car, and most of his Sunday-go-to-meetin' clothes!

Heard Roundin' The Square: "I'm goin' back to pullin cotton. At least you get to quit when night comes." We KNOW what you mean.

As might be expected, the Russians' press agents have made pikers out of us again ... on paper ... that is. One of the mountain boys over there in the Caucasus turned 100 the other day, and his MOTHER plus two OLDER brothers were there to help him celebrate his birthday, they say. She's reported to be 121, and the big brothers, 104 and 102. Then there were two "baby" brothers also on hand, ages 93 and 87.

Sounds like a "Haskell County of the Caucasus."

Haskell County History

30 YEARS AGO (January 10, 1935)

City and county officers raided several "beer garden" dance halls in the extreme south edge of the county on the outskirts of Stamford late Saturday night. In the surprise raids, officers arrested 16 men who were loaded into the county prison truck and brought to County Jail here. Charges of drunkenness and fighting were lodged against the men. Officers participating were Giles Kemp, sheriff; Al Cousins, city marshal; Mart Clifton, chief deputy sheriff; Dan Kirkpatrick, "Bud" Thompson, and Henry Ivey, deputies.

Eleven more marriage licenses were issued in 1934 than in 1933, according to the records in the office of County Clerk Jason W. Smith. A total of 232 were issued in 1934, and 221 in 1933.

Five hundred more head of cattle will be bought by the Government in Haskell County, according to information received by R. H. Maxwell, county agent. Buying will be done Friday and Saturday. Maxwell said. The government has purchased 6,005 cattle to date in Haskell County, paying out approximately $70,000.

At the meeting of the school board Tuesday night, Supt. C. B. Breedlove was re-elected as head of the local school system. Supt. Breedlove is ending six years as administrator of the Haskell school system. Statement of condition of the county of the Caucasus.

Jim Sampson, enterprising entrepreneur of the South Side of the Square, advises that, contrary to public opinion, he ain't pullin' up stakes. Since he has not been invited to leave town yet, he thinks he'll stay awhile, says Solid Citizen Sampson. We endorse that statement.

Sign reported seen at a laundromat: "Ladies, leave your clothes here and spend the afternoon having a good time." Sounds like fun, and a case of "it'll all come out in the wash," reckon?

Haskell National Bank at the close of business December 31, 1934, showed total deposits of $346,691.67, and loans and discounts of $85,885.11.

The annual New Year's Dance given by the Elks Club was a delightful occasion, and more than 50 couples were in attendance.

All Haskell gins have announced that their plants would be operated only on Friday and Saturday after this week. Gingers believe that this is a sensible step, since most of the cotton is gathered, and the remainder of the crop can be handled satisfactorily on a short operating schedule.

Carl and Marvin Medford of the Howard community have returned from a visit with relatives in Comanche County.

Annual business meeting of the Magazine Club was held on Friday, and the following officers were elected to take office after the club year ends in May: President, Mrs. F. T. Sanders; First Vice President, Mrs. Virgil Meadors; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. W. H. Murchison; Recording Secretary, Mrs. R. Reynolds; Corresponding Secretary Mrs. J. E. Bernard; Treasurer Mrs. R. C. Montgomery; and Parliamentary Mrs. J. U. Fields.

60 YEARS AGO
(January 8, 1905)
R. P. Simmons and family have moved back to Haskell County from Bosque County, to which place they moved about a year ago, thinking they could do better there farming than here. Mr. Simmons says the experiment proved this the best county, and that he was glad he had retained several hundred acres of land to which they have returned.

County Commissioner W. S. Fouts has put himself in connection with town by having a telephone installed at his home a few miles south of the wire fences. County Surveyor H. made a business trip to Worth this week. S. S. Cummings and Thur, spent several days with the week. It was news to us day when we heard Billingsley of the neighborhood, had been to town and got himself into a bit of a tangle. I. D. Killingsworth, town Tuesday, told us that he had started a new place, and had moved from Cliff, who country is nearly a prairie, to a part of the southeast of Haskell. firewood is plentiful, to this reporter the that he found it late during the late and that he felt like the change.

The photograph ment given Thursday the ladies of the association was well and netted their fund sum of $25.95. A. B. Lowery, of country, was in town. He says they still cotton to pick in his hood.

Jesse B. Cox, of County, was in Haskell week. We understand purchased the Vin west of town.

McCOY REPORTS CHALLENGES OF TEACHING IN VARIED WORLD

With textbook material rapidly changing, particularly in the field of science, today's teachers face a tremendous challenge of keeping pace with the students. Gerald McCoy, principal at Haskell High School, told Rotarians here on Thursday.

Describing the changing picture in his realm of teaching, McCoy pointed out that one college with which he is acquainted is furnishing the freshman class with textbook material that graduating seniors in the same school have never seen. "And next year they'll be us-precedence over science as to thoroughness of indoctrination for any student.

Roy Johnson, president of Rotary here, reported the Haskell club compiled a 94.10 per cent attendance average for the six months period ending Dec. 31, with nine 100 per cent meetings during that time.

H. V. Woodard was program chairman for the day. Tom Roberson was the leader of a rousing song session. Otis Johnson was a guest of Rotarian Douglas Finch.

Home From Japan

Mrs. J. W. Merrell and children, Donnie, Betty, Jimmy and Terry, arrived in Haskell last Monday from Miswa, Japan. They have been with their husband and father, Staff Sergeant J. W. Merrell, stationed with the U. S. Air Force in Japan, for the past two and a half years. He expects to return to this country in July. Until that time, Mrs. Merrell and the children will make their home with her mother, Mrs. Mary Jane Brown, here.

LETTERS . . .

Dear Editor:

In the past two weeks, we have lost a business in town of which the man was an active member of the Haskell Chapter of Young Homemakers. With more families moving from Haskell every week, this means loss of children in school, and with loss of children, the state cuts down on our teachers. When the teachers are without a job, they also move. This problem is more serious than most people realize. When people can't find enough work in our town they move.

The mayor and city council promised last April, as they did April before last, to go to Stamford and purchase water. It has been nine months since that promise and we are still drinking water unapproved by the state Health Department. I, for one, would like to know when we are going to receive the Stamford water. Without adequate water, a town dies just as our town is doing.

No one has prompted me or asked me to write this letter. I am a young mother and I would like to see our town progress and grow so that some day there might be a future here in Haskell for my children.

I would like for the mayor and city council to answer my question in the Free Press so I might know why we have not received Stamford water yet.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Waymond (Betty) McBroom

Mrs. R. C. Couch Sr. is starting a bulb bed of flowers native to the Holy Land. Freesias, those pretty little clusters of trumpet-shaped orchid, pink or white flowers, must be grown in pots in the house, and should be blooming now. Haasia has just put her bulbs in the soil. There is a

TFB Names New Field Rep For This Territory

A new Texas Farm Bureau representative for 20 counties in the Northwest Texas and South Plains area, including Haskell, has been named by the state headquarters in Waco, according to word received here.

He is Jerry Bedenbender, 36, a native of Pampa, who grew up there and studied animal and dairy husbandry and agricultural education at Texas Tech.

Bedenbender served four years in the Air Force, part of that time in Korea. He was a ranch foreman before going into service. He has been a sales representative for Gulf Oil Co. and a distributor of Gulf products for a total of eight years before recently joining the Texas Farm Bureau Staff.

He is a member of the Methodist Church, is married to the former Lois Alley, of Uvalde, and the couple has a daughter, Lou Ann, 4.

As field representative, Bedenbender will serve as liaison between the state and county Farm Bureaus in the following counties: Briscoe, Childress, Cochran, Cottle, Crosby, Dickens, Floyd, Foard, Hall, Hardeman, Haskell, Hockley, Knox, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Stonewall, Terry and Young.

Lola Scott Has 'Dbl. Stamp Day' On Birthday Gifts

Mrs. Frank C. Scott, wife of a Haskell doctor, has been looking for a soapbox upon which to climb to expound upon the virtues of her fellowman. And she's very happy that honesty is the best policy with one fellow Haskellite in particular.

Mrs. Scott lost her billfold containing "a considerable amount of money" on, of all days, her birthday. And her husband, Dr. Scott, had presented her with her birthday present, some of "the long green," only minutes earlier. H. V. Woodard, farm implement dealer here, found the billfold near the Post Office and took it to the Scott residence almost before Mrs. Scott missed it on her first shopping stop after leaving the Post Office. That made it "double stamp day" on birthday presents for Lola Scott.

good chance they will still show color this year.

Double yellow oxalis are also natives of the Holy Land. The foliage is like a four-leaf clover, the flowers double yellow and very attractive. If Oxalis are planted outside, they bloom all summer, and the foliage dies down during the winter months. The tiny bulblets lie dormant until warm weather, then produce a new crop of flowers.

Black and purple edge Calla Lilies grow in profusion throughout the Holy Land, and adapt well to this climate. Plant corms outside in a semi shady nook. The blossoms show in early spring. Callas should be kept damp until they bloom. Then the corms should be kept dry or dug to be planted again another season.

Everyone is familiar with the double anemone. They, too, are natives of the Holy Land. A bed of anemone adds much color to the flower bed.

Fragrant miniature gladiolas, natives of the Holy Land, will bloom here year after year, once a bed is established. It is best to dig the corms every 3 or 4 years and re-plant, as new corms grow on top of the old ones, until they finally come to close the surface of the soil. This method applies to all gladiolas.

Jonquil Campemelli, Star of Bethlehem, and snowflakes, are all natives of the Holy Land. Most every one is familiar with these bulbs. Their culture is the same as any medium size bulb. Once established, the bulbs last for years without being disturbed. Mrs. Couch has planted all these exotic bulbs in her garden, or in pots in the house. Here is hoping you great success.

Mrs. A. E. Ivey and I paid a visit to the Drey Lawes' garden this week. Mary Frances was having trouble with her Nandinas. I suggested using lye on them as well as her Japonica. I'm anxious to know the results of this treatment.

The Lawes are very fortunate to have a 6-foot fence around their tastefully landscaped garden. This fence offers protection from West Texas winds. The family's pride and joy is their blue spruce. Mary Frances says it has just outdone itself growing.

Mrs. W. D. Gilleland had a Japonica that hadn't grown for several years. She gave it a feeding of lye and this year the bush put out several new sprouts. It blossomed more profusely this spring than it had in years.

It Pays to Have Spouse In House, Tax Man Says

The new dividend exclusion feature of the 1964 tax law may give Texas taxpayers a break. If either the husband or wife has excludable dividends, they can exclude the first $200. The 4 percent credit has been reduced to 2 percent. The average investor will benefit more by having the large exclusion. The advantage in Texas is due to dividends being considered community income. In non-community property states they could only exclude $100 for the husband or the wife if the stock was all in the name of one spouse. In Texas, it pays to have a spouse in the house.

SGT. JIRCIK RESCUES FIVE IN HEROIC EFFORT AT CRASH SITE

At least five of the seven persons trapped in a mud-clogged car near here owe their lives to a state highway patrol sergeant who pulled them one by one from their vehicle isolated in a remote area early last Saturday night.

The seven, their ages ranging from 61 years old to 11 months, escaped serious injury when the car they occupied left the road after a blowout 10 miles east of Haskell on S. H. 24 about 7 p. m.

Only one, the eldest, was hospitalized after all were brought to Haskell County Hospital by Sgt. Frank Jircik, highway patrol supervisor in this area. Jircik happened upon the scene a few minutes after the accident.

Holden ambulance attendants from Haskell, summoned by two occupants of the automobile who were able to climb out of the car window and walk to a nearby house, reported that Sgt. Jircik, without help, did a "super job" of bringing all seven to the hospital.

Two Haskell physicians worked with the accident victims for about two hours, administering help, but said only one needed hospitalization, "thanks to the speed with which they were received."

Mrs. Ed Messenger, 61, of the Swenson community in Stone-wall county, suffered facial cuts, a possible chest injury, and a possible broken kneecap in the accident. She was admitted to the hospital.

Minor Injuries Mrs. H. A. Singletery of Brownfield and her daughters, Gay, 16, and Jane, 14, also received treatment for cuts and bruises. Mrs. Carla Wright, also of Brownfield, and her two sons, Ralph 4, and James 11 months, also passengers in the car, were given treatment at the hospital and released.

The 1959 automobile, driven by Mrs. Singletery, was headed east on S. H. 24 from Brownfield to Jackboro at the time of the blowout, officers said. The car careened across a culvert, slid down a moisture-saturated borrow ditch and was buried two feet deep in mud when it came to rest about 150 feet from the highway.

Sgt. Jircik was hampered in his efforts to remove the injured from the car because the doors were jammed by mud, but finally succeeded in getting the out one by one, and placed them in his patrol car.

The missionary couple were in Knox City Monday night, Haskell on Tuesday night, and Weibert last night. OF ESTABLISHMENT OF AMERICAN LEGION IN HASKELL STATE COMMANDER EMERICH MAY BE AT 45TH EVENT HERE

Members of the Rogers-Cox Post 221, American Legion, in Haskell last Thursday night initiated plans to secure the participation of State Legion Commander Lewis W. Emerich, of Houston, in two significant events here in the next few months.

Rogers-Cox Post Commander Porter Oakes was asked to contact Emerich to secure his services as principal speaker in a planned observance, in late February or early March, of the 45th anniversary of the founding of the American Legion Post in Haskell. The post was established here in 1920, with John P. Payne, as first commander.

Payne, now a retired druggist, but still active in civic affairs in Haskell, recently was among some 23 past commanders of the Haskell Legion post honored, along with the parents of the heroes for whom the post is named, at an event here in December.

Commander Emerich, general agent and member of the board of directors of a life insurance company headquartered in Houston, also will be asked to attend the 80th Commencement of Haskell High School in May to make traditional annual presentation of Legion-sponsored Americanism awards to outstanding students here.

The Legion's present state commander, who will serve until next June, has been active in the organization for 18 years. He is a member of Craig Post 299 at Galena Park and is former executive secretary of the Galena Park Chamber of Commerce.

Active in American Legion Boys' State work each summer in Austin, Commander Emerich had "under his wing" last summer Bobby Black, Haskell selectee for Boys' State and son of then Post Commander

Beta Chi Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma met Saturday in the Old Glory cafeteria with Mrs. Maxine Klump directing the program.

The English students of Munday High School, under direction of Mrs. H. H. Partridge, presented their one-act play, "Pygmalion," which they will give at the District Interscholastic League District Meet.

Pygmalion is a Greek legend, a king of the Island of Cyprus. Disgusted by the women of his day, Pygmalion carved a beautiful ivory statue of a woman and then fell in love with it. In answer to his prayers, the god Venus made the statue a living woman whom Pygmalion later married.

In this modern play, by Bernard Shaw, a gentleman of culture, as a sporting venture, undertakes to create an elegant lady out of an ignorant flower girl. He succeeds and then falls in love with his creation. The reaction of the lady he creates tends to be somewhat more complicated than those of the legendary statue.

Cast of characters include: Shaw's modern Pygmalion, Prof. Higgins, played by Eddie Littlefield; Eliza, the poor flower girl, played by Francis Reneau; Col. Pickering, a refined old bachelor, played by Andy Anderson; Higgins' mother, Mrs. Higgins, played by Millie Moore; and Mrs. Pearce, Higgins' housekeeper, played by Marita Massingill.

The president, Mrs. Thelma Smith, presided over a short business meeting in which Mrs. F. M. Squires was granted a transfer of membership to the Seagraves Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma.

Mrs. Luther Burkett, Chairman of the Steering Committee for the area junior college, reported on the development

PATTERNS FOR PROGRESS IN COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

Today many Towns are "waking up" to Community Development

Everywhere you go these days you see towns engaged in or planning "community development." These activities range from simple clean-up programs to business modernization, new schools, hospitals, public buildings and recreational facilities as well as commercial and industrial promotion... making the towns better places to live, work and play. In 1965 we will run a series of ads which will picture and describe examples of community development now taking place in our service area. This is part of our area development program in which we are dedicating our efforts to assist the towns we serve to grow and progress. Growth-conscious towns are invited to contact their local WTU manager for the services of our area development representatives.

COUNTY AGENT MARTIN GIVES OUTLOOK ON COTTON FOR 1965

On August 1, 1965, the cotton producers of Texas and the United States will be confronted with a carry-over which will total about 13 million bales, an increase of about 600,000 bales from August 1, 1964. Frank Martin, Haskell County Agent, reported Monday in an estimate of the cotton outlook for 1965.
This increase will be brought about because the large 1964 cotton crop, which was placed at 15.4 million bales on Nov. 1, 1964, will likely more than offset the high disappearance expected during the 1964-65 crop year, August 1, 1964-July 31, 1965.
The national acreage allotment for the 1965 crop of upland cotton has been set at the statutory minimum of 16 million acres. Of course, total production for 1965 will depend on growing conditions, etc.
Domestic mill consumption of all kinds of cotton during the present crop year 1964-65 is forecast at about 9.7 million bales. This is 1.1 million more than was used in 1963-64 and the most since 1950-51.
Lower net costs of upland cotton to domestic users, provided for by legislation enacted last April, are contributing to the expected consumption increase. Some rebuilding of cotton textile inventories is expected.
Per capita mill consumption of cotton for the year 1964 was up about 5 percent from 1963. However, cotton's share of total fiber consumption probably showed a slight decline for 1964 to an all time low of 55 percent.
Man-made fiber consumption probably reached a record high in 1964.
U. S. exports of upland cotton during the current season, 1964-65, are expected to total 5.2 million bales. This compares with 5.7 million for the 1963-64 season. However, exports during the present season should be above the average shipments of 5.1 million bales for the preceding four years.
Exports are expected to continue large because of the continued up-swing in foreign free world consumption which is expected to offset the increase in foreign free world production.

There will be a sign-up period for participation in the 1965 domestic cotton allotment program. Sign-up dates have not been announced at the present time. Announcements will be made by local ASCS offices concerning the sign-up period for local counties.
In order for a farmer to be eligible and participate in the domestic allotment program, he must sign up during the sign-up period.
As for the 1964 crop, most farmers with 1965 allotments of 15 acres or less will not be required to reduce their plantings to be eligible for the additional price support.

JUNIOR COLLEGES ESSENTIAL TO HIGHER EDUCATION PLAN

(Editor's Note: The problems of higher education in Texas are vital and immediate. Oscar Griffin, Pulitzer prize winner and reporter for THE HOUSTON CHRONICLE, has written a series of articles discussing "Our College Crisis." Knowing of the vital interest in this subject in this area at this time, here is one of the key articles in the series. The Free Press feels it most appropriate at this time to inform the people as fully as space will permit on the background of the project so immediately vital to the welfare, well-being, and future of this territory.)

Spiraling enrollments crowd senior college and university campuses; workers trained in specialty fields are in demand by industry, more high school graduates are seeking additional education.

These and other factors will combine to place a heavy burden on public junior colleges in Texas.

But if recommendations by Gov. John Connally's committee on Education Beyond the High School are to be followed, courses and programs will be available to allow every high school graduate "to achieve maximum development of his abilities."

It will mean that junior colleges must assume a larger, more diversified role in the state's educational system.

Emphasize 2-Year Plan
What the educational excellence committee recommends is a vast network of two-year institutions, called community colleges, that would be all things to all students.

In addition to the traditional role of preparing students for transfer to a senior college, junior colleges should offer technical, vocational and adult education programs, the committee said.

The committee recommended that more junior colleges be established to meet growing educational needs.

Junior college enrollment is expected to double in the next decade even if no new junior college programs are added.

No one is sure what will happen to enrollment if junior colleges become the multi-purpose institutions that the committee recommends.

Junior college enrollment has increased dramatically in the United States since World War II—by 200 percent—and has more than doubled in Texas since 1950.

The enrollment climb in Texas has been steady, although there are only three more junior colleges now than in 1950.

This prompted the committee to ask for legislation that would allow formation of enlarged junior college districts that would provide means of financing out-of-district students.

The committee also recommended that direction of junior colleges be placed in the hands of a Coordinating Board of Education Beyond the High School, which would direct and coordinate all institutions of higher learning.

The state, the committee recommended, should pay instructional costs for all junior college courses approved by the coordinating board.

Junior colleges now are directed by the Texas Education Agency, whose main responsibility is to primary and secondary education. The state helps finance only a few technical and vocational programs. As recommended by the committee, local junior college trustees would continue to be the chief policy and administrative bodies for operation of the institutions.

This would give the community college a dual function: Serving the needs of the community, while playing an important role in the total pattern of higher education in the state.

The community college would allow a student to follow a two-year program leading to employment in the area or to gear himself toward transfer to another part of the higher educational system at the end of two years.

The Southern Regional Education Board, an organization of Southern colleges and universities designed to improve the quality of higher education, claims the major saving to the taxpayer comes at the community college because dormitory facilities are usually not required.

"The individual student and his family are the main beneficiaries of cost reduction because the student is able to live at home and save on room, board and laundry and other dormitory living costs," an SREB report said.

Twenty of the state's 32 junior colleges have dormitory facilities, however. About half the institutions also provide bus transportation for students.

In recommending more junior colleges, the committee said they should be at least 50 miles apart, except in metropolitan areas where additional colleges may be justified because of population.

New junior colleges should have a prospective enrollment of at least 500 full time students within five years after formation and a beginning enrollment of at least 300 students, the committee said.

A study of 1962-63 enrollment figures reveals that junior colleges in counties adjacent to metropolitan areas have the greatest growth rate. Some institutions have grown spectacularly since 1960. The overall growth rate of 10 schools surveyed was 38.7 percent.

Junior colleges which are neither in nor adjacent to metropolitan areas reflect a much more modest growth, with enrollment down at one school more than 40 percent. The overall growth rate of 11 of these rural schools was 15.6 percent.

One rural junior college had 152 students, while another had 214 students.

In areas such as these, two or more counties should band together into a district and establish a junior college, the governor's committee recommended.

The idea of multi-purpose community colleges is not new to Texas or the United States, but it has been slower evolving in Texas than in several other states, notably California, Florida and New York.

The first two-year college was established about 60 years ago and until the 1930s the majority were private and they were almost entirely "academic" in orientation.

Since they offered programs similar to the first two years of a 4-year college, these institutions appropriately called themselves "junior colleges."

The idea of multi-purpose junior colleges began to catch on when public junior colleges sprang into existence in the 1920s and 1930s, and began offering programs determined by the needs of their localities.

"The emergence of the junior college is possibly the most important development in American higher education in the past quarter century," the Carnegie Corp. reported.

"If this movement results in the addition of two years to the duration of education for the average American, its importance will lie in the enlargement of the educational expectation common to every individual who lives in America's democracy."

The SREB holds community colleges will help solve the college dropout problem and "explode the conventional theory of 'four years of college or else.'"

Four-year colleges lost about half their students before graduation because of academic failure, motivation loss, financial problems and other obstacles, SREB points out.

"The community college permits a meaningful rounding out of education for the person who can benefit from a program of less than four years."

"It provides a coherent program and an honorable terminus for many who would otherwise drop out. For others it offers a two-year period of growth which may motivate them toward continuing academic attainment."

COUNTY'S HABITUAL CRIMINAL, THAT 'THANG', DOES IT AGAIN

Habitual criminal that it is, that Haskell Rascal, Varmint, Thang, came back like the cat that it probably is, to stalk all too familiar haunts in eastern Haskell County Saturday night.

Sheriff Garth Garrett vowed Sunday that a "stakeout" in the Paint Creek and Mattson areas soon should get this habitual criminal, a beef on the hoof eating type with a record as a repeater so long just one "arrest" would put it away for good.

The Thang, believed to be a mammoth mountain lion, waist high to a tall man, lithe, low-jawed, and obviously hungry, sometime late Saturday pounced upon a 60-pound whitefaced calf on the Elbert (Chief) Mapes farm 11 miles northeast of Haskell, skinning and skeletonizing the hapless Hereford "in nothing flat," Mapes, longtime resident of the area, reported.

The cat came back to precisely the same area it stalked a year ago this week, according to records of its preying in Haskell County. And it was exactly two years ago to the week that it scared the gizzards out of a transient couple from Illinois when it negotiated State Highway 24 in three leaps, right-of-way, fence and all, in view of the headlights of the travelers' car on a cold winter's night. The incident occurred no more than three miles from the scene of the latest kill of the cagey carnivore, which apparently has a pretty pat pattern of strikes on its beefy victims, Sheriff Garrett reported.

Mapes, who was away Saturday night from his farm home which faces south overlooking brakey country, followed the trail of a walling mother cow Sunday to the almost totally devoured carcass of her offspring. Rain-sodden soil showed the fleshy calf had been dragged some 300 yards across a road to the churned up site of the kill. The skull and a few ribs were all that remained of the healthy calf when it was discovered by its owner Sunday afternoon.

The method of kill, the victim apparently having been hit head-on, its jugular vein severed, and its ribs laid bare left no doubt, Sheriff Garrett reported, "but that the same cagey creature struck again."

Mapes and other concerned Mattson area citizens, still recalling the frozen fear of two laborers who sighted a "huge mountain lion" on the Chapman place, not far away, in the spring of 1963, said they would press again to secure the services of a trapper in an effort to ward off further loss of valued cattle.

A total of 31 other cattle were in the same pasture when the slinky and stealthy animal struck, Mapes said, and the shinnery-covered terrain was a mass of churned up dirt, indicative of the actions of a fear-filled herd.

Folks in this area have been reluctant to report any sightings of the infamous Varmint in recent weeks. There are those with no tangible experience who disbelieve the Rascal's existence.

But not so the folks in the Mattson and Paint Creek communities, in particular. "Beats me what it does between meals," mused Sheriff Garrett late Sunday. "I'd rather stalk a two-legged murderer," he declared, having pitted his wits and manpower against the more quadruped killer 16 times in the past 24 months.

And the long searched for, formidable and foxey predator was still at large in Haskell County late Sunday.

Advisory Council Studies Social Security Needs

Following some 18 months of study, a 13-person Advisory Council has reported its findings and recommendations to the Board of Trustees of the social security trust funds, says R. R. Tuley Jr., social security district manager, Abilene.

Robert M. Ball, Commissioner of Social Security, acted as Chairman, but as a government official did not take a position for or against any of the recommendations. Others on the committee, a cross-section of business, labor and education, were: J. Douglas Brown, Dean of Faculty, Princeton U.; Kenneth W. Clement, M. D., Practicing Physician and Immediate Past President, National Medical Assn.; N. H. Cruikshank, Director, Dept. of Social Security, American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations; Jas. P. Nixon, M. D., President, Antioch College; Loula F. Dunn, Director, American Public Welfare Assn., 1949-1964; Marion B. Folsom, Director and former Treasurer, Eastman Kodak Co.; Gordon M. Freeman, President, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers; Reinhard A. Hohaus, Director, Metropolitan Life Ins. Co., and Fellow, Society of Actuaries; Arthur Larson, Director, Duke University; Herman M. Somers, Professor of Politics and Public Affairs, Princeton University; John C. Virden, Chairman of the Board, Eaton Manufacturing Co.; and Leonard Woodcock, Vice President, United Automobile, Aerospace and Agricultural Implement Workers of America.

Major recommendations, some or all of which may be considered by Congress, included these:

1. A program of hospital insurance for the aged and for those with long-term total disabilities, using the method of contributory social insurance. (One member dissented from this proposal.)
2. A change in the benefit formula for retirement, survivor, and disability benefits, with a resultant increase of from 7 to 15 percent in present social security checks.
3. Increase the maximum creditable for social security purposes from $4800 to $6000 per year, and later increase to $7200.
4. Change the tax schedule for social security to a final top rate of 5.7 percent (including 4 for hospital insurance), each, for employees and employers, and 6.8 percent (including .5 for hospital insurance) for self-employed. Present law calls for a top of 4.625 percent, each, for employees and employers, and 6.9 percent for the self-employed.
5. Improve benefits for men who retire before 65 so that their rates will be the same as women's.
6. Continue children's benefits past age 18 to age 22 if the child is still in school and unmarried.
7. If a widow is disabled before her husband's death, or before her youngest child reached age 18, or becomes disabled shortly thereafter, begin her benefits prior to age 62. Persons desiring more detailed information about the recommendations of the Advisory Council may write to the Social Security Administration, Washington, D. C. 20535. Sure.

You might find another car as new as the Delta 88.

But not this year.

This is Oldsmobile's Delta 88. It's unique. Unique because it's new. New clear through.

Styling is new. So new, not a line nor a highlight was borrowed from last year.

Power plant is new. Super Rocket V-8 is the biggest in Olds history: 425-cubic-inches big, up to 370-horses strong.

Transmission is new, too. Turbo Hydra-Matic, available on any Delta 88, provides up to 40% more torque from a standing start, superlative performance at all speeds.

New styling. New engine. New transmission. This year, only Delta 88 lets you have all three, all new. Other cars have a lot of catching up to do.

door exercise, all respond to supervised physical training, and all need to satisfy the spirit of competition. For the few specially gifted athletes, these are not problems. But for the great many self-conscious, awkward and often discouraged there still may be athletic fulfillment... on wheels.

Most of us remember the little story of the youngster riding his bicycle around the house, calling to his mother, "Look, Ma, no hands"...

Youngsters get about as much kick out of a shiny new bicycle as a family does out of a new car.

Drive around over Haskell, and you will see many adults as well as youngsters enjoying bicycling.

I have often thought that the emergence of cycling in our schools would probably benefit our high school boys and girls more than any others...

All that bicycling takes is a little practice... and it is perfect training for any other sport and for health and endurance.

All the youngsters need out-

Writing of bicycles reminds Prattle of by-gone days. I still remember the time as a lad of 9 years, I had chopped enough cotton during the summer months to buy a bike.

I also remember very well the time I was racing my bicycle around the big farm home.

Yep, I also remember the time I got my big toe hung in the spokes of the bicycle wheel.

to be opened at the next meeting of the Court on January 26, County Judge James C. Alvis reported.

Patton Equipment Company of Abilene, was the bidder authorized to deliver one motor grader, with an old one traded in, for a net difference of $16,445, and also a tractor-loader with a trade-in of four pieces of old mobile equipment for a net difference of $14,995.

The Haskell County Commissioners also approved requesting bids for the purchase of two 2-ton trucks and an additional motor grader with tandem drive, the bids to be taken until 10 a. m. on January 26.

Five persons were approved for employment as inspectors of property for the purpose of assessing taxes in the county. They, and the salaries stipulated, are Roy Sellers, $300; C. C. Abernathy, $350; Eddie Sanders, $300; Eva Speer, $350; and Joyce LeFevre, $300.

The Commissioners also approved the quarterly report of the County Auditor and the annual report of the auditor of the Haskell County Hospital financial statement for 1963.

In other action, the Commissioners here voted for the salaries of all county employes to remain throughout 1965 on the same basis as they are now scheduled.

Judge Alvis was directed by the group to advertise requesting bids for a banking institution or other agency to serve as a County Depository in 1965-66.

Lions Club Hears Progress Report On Jr. College

"A junior college would certainly build our area and would be better than an industry," Mrs. Artie Mae (Luther) Burkett, Education Chairman of the Chamber of Commerce, told members of the local Lions Club at the Tuesday noon-day luncheon meeting.

Dr. Ray Nobles, pastor of the First Baptist Church, was program chairman for the day, and introduced the guest speaker.

Mrs. Burkett, who has spent many, many hours in compiling facts and figures on the Junior College project, said there is a good possibility of getting a Junior College for this four-county area of Haskell, Throckmorton, Knox and Stonewall counties.

"I am disturbed there are so many drop-outs, and I think that a junior college would solve a lot of this problem," Mrs. Burkett pointed out.

The guest speaker stressed that interested citizens from Haskell, Stonewall, Knox and Throckmorton counties should attend the area-wide meeting of junior college supporters to be held Thursday, Jan. 14, at 7:30 p. m. in the Rochester High School auditorium.

ing, including three years at Breckenridge, where he specialized in speech and drama, organizing a Little Theater movement which still thrives there. During his tenure at Breckenridge, his proteges won two state championships in public speaking. The next two years, Walker spent as assistant principal of the elementary school in Sonora.

Entering Chamber of Commerce and affiliated work, he was the first manager of the Caverns of Sonora, and was responsible for organizing its production to the public. He also was a staff member of the San Angelo Chamber of Commerce before going with the Ozona Chamber. During his work at Ozona, he has concentrated his effort in the following realms of activity: publicity, tourism, special events, retail activities, highway improvement, membership, industrial development and general public relations.

"Mr. Walker comes to us highly recommended by the president and board of directors of the Ozona Chamber of Commerce, and we feel extremely fortunate to have him direct our rejuvenated civic development program here," Turner said Monday in making the announcement.

Walker is married to a native of Rule, and the couple have three children. He is a member of the Baptist Church and has been active in the work of the Lions Club.

The Goose

chased at M&F Pharmacy until an hour before game time, and at the gate until tip-off time, not only provides peak entertainment, but helps the town of Haskell as well.

Goose's Roadkings will go against another top cage quintet, the New York Olympians, in a basketball exhibition those who witness it will never forget. Indubitably, there will never be another Goose Tatum. Like Babe Ruth in baseball, Joe Louis in boxing, Bobby Jones in golf, and Bill Tilden in tennis, Goose has been king in his chosen sport, basketball, for 10, these many years. Ageless is the proper word for him.

The tall gangly and always smiling Tatum, one-time Arkansas farm boy who joined the Globetrotters while in his teens and became famous the world over, has been playing pro-basketball for more than 25 years. He holds every record there is to hold in basketball, having scored more than 100,000 points in his exciting and fun-making career, and having played to more than 25 million fans from Hong Kong to Hoboken. He is as well known in Mobeetie as he is in Manhattan.

The basketball fans all love to see him play. They laugh at his crazy antics, his hidden trick, his water bucket act, his sideline capers, and most of all, they are amused at his ability to make unbelievable shots.

Always the clown, Tatum also is regarded as one of the greatest shots in the history of basketball, as proven by his high-scoring record.

In addition to the game, fans always look forward to seeing the famous magic circle, a pre-game warm-up feature during which the Harlem Roadkings literally make the ball disappear as they pass it around in rapid-fire order.

While it is the Goose Tatum basketball show, the Goose is not the whole show. He has his sidekick, Showboat Boatner, as well as his son, Goose Tatum, Jr., and many other stars in their own right helping to make it a stellar attraction.

Smouldering Fire Chars Interior Of 5-Room House

Fire of undetermined origin badly charred the complete interior of a five-room vacant house at 1104 North Avenue J here early Wednesday. A mysterious explosion had jarred the residential area in the vicinity of the fire several hours earlier.

The house is owned by Mrs. Reba Harrell, of Lubbock, formerly of Haskell. It had been vacant several months.

About 15 members of the Haskell Volunteer Fire Department, led by Fire Chief Tom Watson and Supervisor Floyd (Satch) Lusk rushed to the scene when the alarm was given by Marvin Medford about 6:45 a. m.

Finding the house a charred shambles inside, Fire Marshal Earl Correll expressed the opinion any flames which had made headway might have "been blown out" in the explosion. The house was tightly closed.

Medford, whose home is the residence immediately north of the gutted house, said he heard an explosion "that rocked my house about 1 o'clock this morning." He got up to investigate, and saw nothing "out of order" while looking in every direction, aided by streetlights.

Early Wednesday morning, when Medford went to the garage of the Harrell house, where he had permission to park his pickup truck, he was greeted by billowing smoke when he lifted the garage door.

The smouldering remains of the interior of the house were quickly extinguished by alert firemen here. The fire, which either "blew out" or was snuffed out for lack of air inside the house, apparently started in the southeast corner of the structure.

Colonel Garrison Urges Inspection Of All Vehicles

Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Department of Public Safety today encouraged Texas motorists to "start the new year with a safe vehicle" by securing the 1965 vehicle inspection sticker without further delay.

The Public Safety Director said that approximately one-half of the inspection period has expired and only about one-fourth of the vehicles in the state have been inspected. He added that unless the inspection pace is stepped up, motorists may expect to find the usual waiting lines at the inspection stations when the April 15 deadline approaches.

"The inspections in 1965 have been a September 1," Garrison said, "allowing ample time for the out delay prior to the deadline and displaying the new sticker in violation of the April 15."

Texas now has 200 authorized stations over the state to Garrison, these ready and capable of inspecting the remaining vehicles without delay until just a few days before the deadline.

He pointed out the function of vehicle inspection is to detect cause an accident.
