To The Point

By BUDDY NORVILLE

Gil Stricklin came to Stanton, Texas, and preached repentance. Lee Castro sang praises to God and led young people to Christ. The Holy Spirit came and convinced hundreds of people of their need for a closer walk with Jesus.

The 1972 Encounter Crusade was a success 125 times over. At least 125 persons accepted Christ as their Lord and Savior during the week-long Crusade, held April 9-14.

The Crusade was a joint effort of the First Baptist, First United Methodist, St. Joseph's Catholic and Mexican Baptist churches. Members of these churches put aside all denominational and doctrinal differences and became as one in the service of our Lord. All worked and prayed together for a successful crusade. Gil and Lee have departed, but the Spirit remains — very much alive in the hearts of many Stanton people.

The Crusade began with an all-day prayer vigil at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Saturday, April 8. A special Catholic service was held that morning with an emphasis on prayer for the Crusade. Many Christians came during the day for prayer and meditation.

Gil, a former magician, entertained and challenged the youth of Stanton during hot dog and pizza suppers throughout the week. Lee, who began his ministry in the streets of Corpus Christi, led groups of young people through the streets of downtown Stanton singing and witnessing for Jesus.

The Stanton Encounter Crusade was the first revival Gil and Lee had ever worked together — but there are no strangers in God's service. They worked beautifully together, and God used them to do great things in Stanton. During the week over 200 people admitted they were not living for Jesus, and came to renew their vows with God.

Thursday night's service was youth night. Over 600 young people and adults filled the High School Auditorium as the Spirit of God continued to work. The crowd was the largest ever to assemble for a religious service in Stanton. There may have been more on Friday, the last night of the Crusade.

God is not dead — He is alive and doing fine in Stanton, Texas. Amen.

Speaker Tells Boosters, Athletes 'They Must Believe'

James Cameron is a successful football coach. He is successful, not only in building winning teams, but in building winning character in the individuals that make up his teams.

Coach Cameron said to be a successful athlete, coach, preacher, or no matter what, one must have what he called the 'basic ingredients for success.' "First of all," he continued, "one must learn to believe, very sincerely and very deeply. You must believe in yourself. You must believe you can be successful. . . . You must believe in the people around you, your teammates, coaching staff and others. . . . Most important, you must believe in God. You must trust

Jesus Christ as your Savior to ever be successful. If you do, then someday you will win the 'Big Game.'

Rick Wilson, junior athlete, was named 'Outstanding Boy Athlete,' during the proceedings of the evening. Coach Bill Young exclaimed, "We tried to name someone that was good in every sport. And this year's outstanding athlete was good in football, basketball, and even won district in the shot put. Rick Wilson is that man."

Stallings Okayed By Tax Service

Jimmy Stallings has been advised by the Internal Revenue Service that his application for enrollment to practice before the Internal Revenue Service has been approved. By successfully passing all three parts of a special written examination covering Federal taxation and tax accounting and the use of tax return forms for individuals, partnerships, corporations and trusts and estates, he became eligible to make application for enrollment.

Enrollment procedures are designed to assure the technical competence and ethical appreciation of persons, other than attorneys and certified public accountants, who practice before the Internal Revenue Service.

Practice before the Internal Revenue Service, as defined in Treasury Department Circular No. 230, includes all matters connected with presentations to the Service relating to a client's rights, privileges, and liabilities under laws or regulations administered by the Service. Such presentations include the preparation and filing of documents, all communications with the Service, and the representation of a client at conferences, hearings, and meetings. Neither the preparation of a tax return, the appearance of an individual as a witness for the taxpayer, nor the furnishing of information at the request of the Service is considered practice before the Service.

Texas Sportsmen May Be Heard

AUSTIN — Texas sportsmen and landowners will have an opportunity to hear and be heard about proposed games and fish law changes for 1972-73 when public hearings are held throughout the state during May.

The statewide hearings are the first step toward setting of coming hunting and fishing regulations, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department Executive Director James U. Cross pointed out, and is the citizen's forum for comments, questions and opinions. Cross added, "I sincerely urge all interested Texans to attend these local hearings, toward our goal of setting the most reasonable game and fish laws in the best interest of sportsmen and our bountiful wildlife resources."

Times and locations for the hearing in Martin County is set for 2 p.m., May 30, at the County Courthouse.

Cheryl Bradshaw Named Lions Club Queen

Cheryl Bradshaw, a sophomore at Stanton High School who said she believes young people can solve most of their problems today with candid talks with parents, was crowned Stanton Lions Club Queen here Tuesday night.

Her coronation climaxed a pageant staged before a near capacity crowd at Stanton High School in which 24 young ladies competed for the title to succeed Carol Perry, the 1971 queen who went on to be named district Lions Club queen in a Midland contest. Miss Bradshaw, a blonde who was sponsored by the Scale Steppers Club, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Bradshaw. She said she enjoys reading, playing clarinet and meeting people.

And, in answer to a question asked as judges — Mr. and Mrs. Bob Baker, all of Midland — selected the queen from five finalists, she said that the biggest problem facing young people today is that "they probably are scared to grow up. "Everything is happening at once . . . and sometimes they try to find the answer with drugs . . . but I think the best solution is to talk things over with parents."

The remark drew applause from the crowd. Named first runner-up was Teresa Louder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Louder, sponsored by the Stanton Jaycees; second runner-up was Mary Helen Gonzales, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gonzales, sponsored by the Spanish Club; third was Deborah Lambert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lambert, sponsored by the Junior Class, and fourth was Carolyn Holloway, daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. N. E. Holloway, sponsored by the Courtney Home Demonstration Club.

The Sun Country Gentlemen chorus of the Midland area chapter of the Society for Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartet Singing in America serenaded the lovely pageant entries and the crowd — which joined in singing "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" during the contest.

Master of Ceremonies was Don Tollison.

Buffalo Band Rated Excellent

The Stanton Buffalo Band, under the direction of George Walker, emerged from the annual regional UIL Sight-Reading Contest with an adjudged Excellent rating. Mustang Soil Conservation News

An estimated seventy-five percent of the 407 million acres of Texas rangeland produces less than half its potential because of range deterioration resulting from poor grazing management in the past. Overgrazing and subsequent range deterioration are problems created by man. Areas of high precipitation having generalized storms developed deep, rich soils and were the first to be converted to farming operations. Areas of lower precipitation generally characterized by localized storms, such as Martin County, were left to grazing by wild animals and subsequently were utilized by domestic livestock.

Prior to man's confinement of domesticated grazing animals and the restriction of wild animal movement, the open range was utilized in a natural deferred-rotation system of use. Unrestricted animals were able to follow the rains and obtain fresh green forage. They were also free to leave drier areas and thus provide needed rest. This pattern could still be observed in certain areas of the Western United States prior to World War II and may still be observed in areas of South America and Africa.

In 1899 Jared Smith described this natural grazing system. Less than thirty years ago 4,000,000 buffalo and countless numbers of wild horses roamed unrestricted over the Southwest, gradually moving northward as the sea-

Narrow-Row Cotton Is Now A Reality

COLLEGE STATION - The production of narrow-row cotton has become a reality in Texas.

More than 18,000 acres were planted to cotton in narrow row in 1972, pointed out Dr. Robert Metzger of Lubbock, area agronomist (cotton) with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service. Most of this acreage was on the High Plains although about 3,000 acres were planted in the Rio Grande Valley. He contended that 1971 acreage could reach as high as 50,000 acres with the use of more than 100 narrow-row harvesters.

Metzger discussed the narrow-row cotton situation in Texas at the recent Western Cotton Production Conference in Bakersfield, California.

"Even though 1971 was a poor production year, yields from cotton planted in narrow rows ranged from 5 to 30 percent more than that planted in conventional rows. Production costs were similar or lower and this is the real advantage for the narrow-row method of production," said Metzger.

What row patterns are producers using in this high plant population method of production? These tend to vary with the soil type and the irrigation system, according to the agronomist. "Double-row on a 40-inch bed is the most commonly used row pattern under furrow irrigation and on finer textured soil. In sprinkler irrigated areas, planting flat with a grain drill in row width of 10, 12 and 16 inches is the most common pattern."

In the Valley, 10-inch row spacing have looked good under dryland, noted Metzger. Under irrigation, 28 to 30-inch rows as well as two and three rows on a 40-inch bed have yielded well.

"As far as seeding rates are concerned, four to five seeds per foot of row regardless of row spacing have given the best results on the High Plains," said the agronomist. "This is about 35-40 pounds of seed per acre with two rows on a 40-inch bed. As dwarf varieties become available, higher planting rates and higher plant populations may be required to achieve maximum yield in a minimal growing season. Seed for dwarf varieties should be available to producers in 1974."

Further commenting on varieties, Metzger pointed out that many of the stormproof, stripper varieties presently planted on the High Plains fit well into the narrow-row picture. Such varieties as Lockett 4789A, Rilecot 90, Gocck 35, Paymaster 18 and Stripper N are characterized by earliness, close fruiting and little branching.

"Although the future looks rosy for narrow-row cotton, there are a few problems," said the agronomist. "Effective control of perennial weeds is a major obstacle. Non-uniform and soft areas in narrow-row fields present some difficulty in keeping the stripper head level."

Root rot is a serious problem in harvesting in the Valley as the plants are pulled out of the ground during the stripping operation. Wet, humid conditions in that area also affect defoliation and desiccation of plants for maximum stripping efficiency.

Narrow-row production is still limited to some extent in certain areas due to a lack of harvesters, but that condition will not prevail for long, noted Metzger.

Turning to the "plus" side of the ledger, the agronomist noted that reducing the cost of production while maintaining or increasing yields has been the major advantage of narrow-row production. "Much of the lower production cost is due to reduced harvesting costs as well as reduced cultivations and irrigations. It is estimated that harvesting costs can be reduced from the present $10-$15 per bale level to about $5 per bale."

In the Valley, shortening the growing season may be a real key in controlling some of the most damaging cotton insects. This will also reduce the use of chemicals for controlling insects, emphasized Metzger.

A coordinated research and extension program is being directed at the production of narrow-row cotton. "Outstanding progress has been made and the future looks bright," said Metzger. "Some tests in 1970 with lines adapted to narrow rows produced more than 800 pounds of lint per acre in a total of 128 days from planting to a killing freeze. Narrow-row cotton could indeed mean a revitalized cotton industry."

SPRING FABRICS

by Victor Gene Hughs
County Home Demonstration Agent
Martin County

Now is the time for everyone to get our summer clothes and put away winter clothes. Hopefully Ol' Man Winter did his last dance for the Easter Bunny.

As the weather gets warmer, spring fever sets in, accompanied by lighter and more carefree fabrics.

Those thin, transparent or translucent fabrics are grouped together into a major category termed "sheers." Sheers include voiles, organzies, organzas, batistes, lawn, and chiffons. Some are crisp, while others are soft.

This season they are plain, printed, flowered, embroidered, flocked or woven with a wallpaper stripe, plaid or dotted design. Sheers may be of natural fibers such as cotton, wool or silk; manmade fibers, or — more commonly — a blend of two fibers such as cotton and polyester.

When buying sheers—whether in ready-to-wear garments or by the yard—it's important to note specific care instructions.

The trim, style of a garment, or particular blend may cause the manufacturer to recommend special care procedures. When in doubt about how to care for a clothing article, it's best to either have the item dry cleaned or to hand launder it. When laundering by hand, don't use chlorine bleach or wring or twist the garment.

In sewing with sheers, consider what you'll wear under the sheer and decide if it should have an underlining, lining or both. Seams and darts will show through when the sheer is used alone. An underlining of self-fabric will usually conceal seams and dart edges.

Sheers lend themselves to a variety of design possibilities. For example, a bodice may be underlined, the sleeves left sheer and the skirt lined with an underskirt that's seamed and hemmed separately.

Collars and cuffs are appropriate for crisp sheers, but the seam allowances must be trimmed to hairline width.

Buttons and button loops make the best closings. Where there are machine-worked buttonholes, be sure to use an interfacing of matching color.

On a skirt with straight lines such as a full, gathered skirt, the hem should be four to eight inches wide. On a circular or bias skirt, use a rolled or narrow machine-made hem.

Sheers can create special moods for spring and summer. If you're interested in a graceful, light and feminine look, then think SHEERS.

County Agents Report

ELM LEAF BEETLE

Now is the time to control the elm leaf beetle in Martin County, according to Billy H. Reagor, County Agricultural Agent.

The elm leaf beetle is very destructive to Chinese elms. The larvae fed on the leaves and cause a lacelike or "hot hole" appearance to the leaves.

If you had this damage in your Chinese elms last year, now would be the time to examine the trees to see if there are small 1/4 inch yellowish to olive-green beetles with a black stripe along each side of the wing covers, feeding on the leaves.

Spraying the trees with Sevin, Malathion, Toxaphene, Chlordane, or general purpose preparations may be used to control this insect. Mix and apply sprays according to manufacturer's directions.

Thorough coverage with the insecticide is necessary to obtain satisfactory control of the beetles.

To secure additional height and better coverage of the tree, tie the hose on sprayer to a fishing pole or other sturdy object and raise it up in the air and spray the tree.

Judging Teams Place At State

The Stanton FFA Land Judging team composed of Gary Posey, Jackie Rudd, Lynn Romine and Bradford Hull placed 10th in the State Contest held at Tarleton State College Friday, April 21st. The Range and Pasture Judging Team composed of George Franks, Darrell Bradshaw, Steve Wood and Dennis Ireton placed 12th in the State Range and Pasture Contest also held at Tarleton State College.

The Grass Judging team composed of Bradford Hull, Gary Henson and Kenneth Hull placed 2nd at the Texas Tech Judging Contest Saturday April 22nd. Bradford was 2nd high individual, Gary 5th high individual and Kenneth Hull was 9th high individual in the Grass Contest. Dennis Ireton placed 5th high individual in Land Judging at Texas Tech.

Gary Posey placed 2nd high individual in the Crops Contest at Texas Tech in seed identification and 4th high individual in grain grading. The team composed of Michael Adams, David Chandler, and Gary Posey placed 5th high team out of 22 teams entered.

The Wool Judging team placed 3rd in wool grading and 7th high team out of 16 teams overall, the team was composed of Tim Hall, Benton Posey, and James Luna. Only the District and Area II activities remain for the local chapter to participate in the remainder of the school year.

Treatment of trees now, before the overwintering adult beetles deposit eggs for the next generation of this pest, will greatly reduce damage to tree foliage later in the season.

VA Questions And Answers

Q — May a veteran pay off a G.I. loan before final payment is due?

A — Yes, A VA-guaranteed loan may be partially or fully paid at any time ahead of schedule. However, part payments may not be less than one monthly payment or $100, whichever is less.

Q — About two years ago, I received VA outpatient treatment for an injury sustained in service and verified by VA. Can I receive treatment again from VA?

A — Yes, if you have established this service - connection with VA. Suggest you apply for treatment again.

Q — I have been drawing widow's pension of $81 since January 1971, and I earned $900 the rest of the year. Should I report this to VA, and what effect will it have on my pension?

A — Anytime a person who draws nonservice-connected death pension has a change in income during the year, it must be reported to the VA office having his records. That office will decide if pension adjustments are necessary. If there is income that could not have been anticipated, payments are usually adjusted at end of year in which income changed.

The State Board of Education will hold no more hearings on 1971 textbook adoptions at its January meeting.

M&M Drilling and Pump Co.

The M&M Drilling & Pump Co. located on Rankin Highway in Midland, phone 683-2081, has been able to effectively find water at low cost in this area for several years. Drilling a good, long producing water well is not a job for the amateur. The knowledge and experience behind this well driller will prove valuable after you note that the well he has drilled has produced for some time, there have been no cave ins, and that large enough pipe was installed with a strong pump that provides the amount of water you need. They use late model equipment and trained assistants who also understand their work, and you can be assured that the job will be completed in the shortest time, at the least expense, and with the very smallest damage to your property. The editors of the 1972 Town and Country Review make public our recommendation of this well driller for his fine work, and suggest our readers remember to contact the M & M Drilling & Pump Co. whenever they need a good well at low cost. Don't forget their full line of pumps for every application, as well as pump servicing and repair.

To Tell You The Truth

Question: How often should we partake of the Lord's Supper?
Answer: Inasmuch as some religious sects set aside a time annually, semi-annually, and quarterly for observance of this vital act of worship, I think it best that we take a moment to examine the purpose of the observance. In I Corinthians 11:24, 25, the Lord said, "As often as ye do this, do it in remembrance of me." So then, when we do observe the supper we are to remember the great sacrifice He made. The communion is a symbolic feast, with the emblems symbolizing His body on the cross and the blood flowing so freely from His side. It is a communion feast. The communion we enjoy of the body and blood of Christ in partaking of the Lord's Supper is the result of our union with Christ. It is a memorial feast; we are to remember His love for us. It is a covenant feast in that the cup is the "new covenant in my blood, even that which is poured out for you." (Luke 22:20) It is a unity feast because we are to be of like minds with Christ as we partake of this great act of worship. In Acts 20:7, Luke writes, "Upon the first day of the week when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul preached unto them..." Many people claim that this does not mean every first day of the week because it does not say so. Yet, when we turn to Exodus 20:8, we find that the Jews were to "Remember the Sabbath day and keep it holy." Any devout Jew would have known this meant every Sabbath day and not once or twice a year. It would be inconsistent and incongruous for Christians to meet fifty-two times yearly to remember the resurrection of the Lord, but only annually, semi-annually, or quarterly, to commemorate His death. (If you have any questions regarding the scriptures or the church of Christ that you wish to have answered in this column or privately, send them to "To Tell You The Truth," Box 87, Tarzan, Texas 79783.) Editor's Note: While we may not agree with Mr. Munro's interpretation of the Scriptures, we would like for his right to his own opinion. I see nothing wrong with observing the Lord's Supper every Sunday. But then I see nothing wrong with musical instruments in the church either. Every time we break bread, or eat a meal, we should give thanks for the gift of God's love. That being His Son, Jesus Christ.) Don't forget: people judge you by your actions not your intentions. You have a heart of gold, but so does a hardboiled egg. Professor: Can you tell me something about the word "statistics?" Sophomore: Well, they're something like a Bikini—what they reveal is interesting, but what they conceal is vital. The best time for parents is when the kids are too old to cry and too young to borrow the car.
