Arrest linked to Chinese power war

BEIJING (AP) — Communist Party chief Zhao Ziyang was placed under house arrest and stripped of his post as conservatives began a purge of the liberals to gain control of the deeply fractured government, sources said today.

Zhao lost power in a bitter fight with conservative Premier Li Peng, the Chinese and diplomatic sources said. Peng last week ordered a crackdown on students, who are occupying Tiananmen Square to press demands for a freer society and cleaner government.

Officials who have worked under Zhao to chart political and economic reforms will face disciplinary action with some losing their jobs, the sources said. Among those reported in trouble were the party's propaganda chief Hu Qili and Vice Premier Tian Jiyun.

The reports were not officially confirmed.

Zhao has been a leading proponent of market-oriented economic reforms championed by 84-year-old senior leader Deng Xiaoping, but the two differed over political change. Zhao has expressed clear sympathy with the student protesters' goals.

Deng ally President Yang Shangkun told top officials Thursday that Zhao's actions "had a very bad effect" on the nation, a government source said.

Millions of Chinese throughout the nation have taken up the students' cause, with demonstrations erupting in dozens of cities demanding Li and Deng step down.

Chinese and diplomatic sources said Zhao was under house arrest. A document circulated today to county- and district-level party officials said Zhao was no longer head of the party, according to a diplomat who has proved reliable in the past.

No successor was named in the document.

Sources said conservatives accused Zhao of heading an anti-party clique, splitting the party, instigating disturbances, revealing party secrets, corruption and taking credit for Deng's achievements during the past decade of economic reform.

Two sources said National People's Congress Chairman Wan Li was under detention in Shanghai, and one source said a member of the party's decision-making Politburo was also under house arrest.

The reports could not be officially confirmed and were not the first time top leaders were said to be in trouble during the power struggle. A Foreign Ministry spokesman said Thursday that Zhao retained his post.

But the official media has indicated the conservatives at this point are winning the behind-the-scenes battle for power.

Li appeared on nationwide television Thursday for the first time in six days and defended his martial law decree.

First 'hometown' for one-act tonight

The first of two hometown performances for Snyder High School's one-act play "Blood Wedding" will be Friday. A second show is slated Saturday, both in Worsham Auditorium beginning at 8:30 p.m.

Admission will be $2 at the door.

Some cast changes have been implemented for the show, to include director Jerry Worsham filling in for one of his actors.

Worsham will perform in the part of the bride's father in place of Jeff Franklin.

In another cast addition, Bryan Brunson will play the part of a woodcutter.

The remainder of the cast will be essentially intact from the show which won second at the state UIL meet in Austin May 5. This marked the department's 21st appearance at the state meet.

"Blood Wedding" is by Spanish playwright Federico Garcia Lorca.

Female members of the cast include Kristi Mize as the mother; Cinimin Carney as the neighbor; Rebecca Vestal as the wife of Leonardo; Emily King as the mother-in-law; Erin Rambo as a young girl; Melissa Hodges as a servant woman; and Amber Adams as the bride.

The male cast members include Corey McDaniel as the bridegroom; Coy Berryman as

The feller on Deep Creek says, "It comes out even—most dreams and most nightmares never come true."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

At a recent gathering of newspaper editors, most were lamenting the decline in young folks ability to spell.

There are lots of theories for this, but one says West Texas kids fail to hear words pronounced correctly, therefore they can't spell correctly.

But the Wall Street Journal claims one of the techniques used to teach spelling may be the culprit. A recent psychology experiment concluded that many spelling tests used in schools present students with incorrectly spelled versions of words. Multiple-choice tests, for instance, presents students with one correct and three incorrect spellings of the same word and asks them to pick out the correct version. Another test asks students to spot incorrectly spelled words in a text. Some teachers and textbooks advocate using these tests as a way to improve spelling accuracy—an approach that one researcher questions.

In a series of laboratory experiments with university students, words like amateur, awkward and miscellaneous were of intermediate spelling difficulty. Half the students were shown incorrectly spelled versions of the words, while the other half—the control group—did some unrelated task. In the last step, all students were either given another dictated spelling test or asked to select the correct spellings of the work from among the misspelled versions.

The spelling accuracy of the students exposed to misspellings deteriorated.

Did you catch them? The words deliberately misspelled above are: experiment, multiple, instance, university, accuracy, laboratory, awkward and misspellings.

Ask Us

Q — Is a holographic will legal in the State of Texas and what should I do to make sure it holds up?

A — A handwritten will is legal in Texas, but it must also meet other requirements of state law. The best legal advice regarding a will is to have an attorney prepare it. For a "simple" will, the cost ranges from $50 to $100.

In Brief

Aid is sought

AUSTIN (AP) — Military help, including using abandoned military bases as "confinement camps" for drug sellers, is needed to combat illegal drug trafficking, say the parents of slain University of Texas student Mark Kilroy.

Jim and Helen Kilroy, whose son was killed by a Matamoros drug cult hoping to gain supernatural protection from police, called for five million people to ask the federal government for military help in the fight against drugs.

Fatal blast

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — A gasoline pipeline exploded and killed three people just days after residents were assured it had not been damaged by a runaway train that plowed through the same neighborhood two weeks ago.

"It looks like a bomb went off over Duffy Street," City Attorney James Penman said after the Thursday morning blast that sent flames 300 feet skyward and produced heat so intense that pets and corn stalks were singed two blocks away.

Trade deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. trade deficit improved sharply in the first three months of the year, narrowing to $27.6 billion, the smallest quarterly imbalance in four years, the government said today.

The Commerce Department said the imbalance between imports and U.S. exports fell by 13.7 percent from a fourth quarter deficit of $32.02 billion.

The improvement stemmed from a 5.7 percent jump in exports, which pushed sales of American goods abroad to a record of $88.50 billion.

Consumer groups blast Gib Lewis

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Housing Secretary Samuel Pierce provoked anger and disbelief among members of a congressional panel that questioned him about a housing subsidy program which investigators say was riddled with favoritism.

Pierce, who is now a New York lawyer, told congressional investigators Thursday that he wasn't directly involved in deciding which projects received grants under the program. He said a committee of his subordinates at the Department of Housing and Urban Development selected the winners, and his approval was a rubber stamp.

Pierce said he wasn't influenced by well-connected Republicans and former HUD officials who obtained a large portion of the multimillion dollar subsidy projects, acting as consultants or developers.

"Perhaps we should have wated ched the program closer than we did," Pierce said, in the closest he came to acknowledging any blame. "But we've got a whole department (to run)...."

Pierce's appearance before a House Government Operations subcommittee marked his first public comment since an investigative report sharply criticized the management of a HUD program that provided indirect subsidies for rehabilitation of privately owned low-income housing projects.

Current HUD Secretary Jack Kemp has suspended further awards under the program pending a review.

Pierce, who headed HUD for eight years under former President Reagan, testified that he recommended Congress kill the so-called mod-rehab program.

But his remarks stirred strong reaction among members of the subcommittee, which questioned him for more than two hours.

BEST INVENTORS—Just before being dismissed for the summer holiday, Northeast fifth graders in Elaine Byrd's and Rebekah Thornton's classes conducted an Invention Convention. Students were given the opportunity to solve problems, think creatively, and experiment and work with data. Step I involved learning about inventors; Step II, finding an idea; Step III, research and planning; Step IV, developing and testing; and Step V, the Invention Convention. Students were judged according to the invention's original, creative thought, practical value, sufficient evidence that such a product does not already exist, knowledge and enthusiasm, design and construction, use of available materials to control costs and how invention was promoted. Winners from left are in order from first to fifth place: Alejo Suarez, pencil; Kendra Helms, slip-n-slide with slides; Nick Curriel, hydro push broom, Tonya Terry, toddlers light switch; and Jesse Torres, birdbath in a birdhouse. Meadows doesn't blame husband

NEW YORK (AP) — Jayne Meadows was a rising Hollywood star until she married Steve Allen in 1954, but she doesn't blame him for her lost career.

Her husband still feels guilty, but she says in the June issue of Lear's magazine: "He's not to blame. My anger is really directed at me. I allowed it all to happen. I say to myself, 'How could you have been so trusting? So naive? So stupid?'"

She says their marriage was strengthened when they did "The Steve Allen Show" together in the early 1960s, although she says Allen became involved with a singer on the show.

They went into therapy together, and Meadows says, "The whole experience brought us closer. ... I took off the rose-colored glasses."

Your Birthday

May 27, 1989

In the year ahead you might be more ambitious than you have been in the past. You are likely to drive yourself harder, but your efforts will also be directed to benefit those you love.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Your image is a trifle fragile at this time, so be more mindful than usual as to how you behave in public. It's important you at least strive to make a favorable impression. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) If there is a particular group or clique you feel hasn't accepted you, don't waste your time trying to fit in. Beginning today, seek a more friendly involvement.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Someone who knows you only socially might try to impose upon your good nature today. This is the type of individual who does not have qualms about manipulating others.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Today you might be more receptive than usual to other's suggestions. To be on the safe side, carefully analyze both the advice and the giver before you buy what's said.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) This may not be the day for you to attempt to do a rather complicated task pertaining to something with which you are unfamiliar. There's a pretty good chance you might get your thumb in the way of the hammer.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Be careful today that you are not overly generous without thinking and lend something that isn't yours to someone without first consulting the owner.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) It's best you make certain your mate has a voice in all decisions affecting the family today. If input is denied and something goes wrong, it might open a lingering sore.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Several tasks you do not relish doing could stare you in the face today. The lesser ones you may tackle begrudgingly, the major ones might not even be attempted.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Resist temptations to take risks concerning money today. Leave your checkbook at home if you're headed for the bingo parlor or lottery counter.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Members of your household may find you extremely difficult to please today, because you might tell them to do one thing while expecting something else.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Even though you may find the perfect opening, don't repeat to others something told to you in confidence today. You'll be found out if you spill the beans.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Stick to your budget regarding funds you've earmarked for your weekend activities. If you spend more than you should they will be hard to replace later.

ence, but as long as there are hands that do not fit into any pigeonhole, there will always be a place for the artist. For example, follow the bidding of today's deal from many years ago, in which Eddie Kantar and his then frequent partner, Marshall Miles, sat South and North respectively.

With a strong heart suit and no spade stopper, Eddie bid one heart, even though he had enough strength for one no-trump. The two-club response left him in a quandary, and he temporized with two diamonds. When North bid two spades, Eddie jumped to four clubs. Partner now asked for aces and bid six diamonds. What was Eddie to do? He passed.

He won the ace of spades and drew trumps in three rounds. He then played three rounds of hearts, shedding a spade from dummy. Next came ace and a club, losing to the king, and dummy was good. Of course, it was lucky that diamonds split 3-3.

When Eddie and Marshall began discussing playing the 4-3 fit instead of the 5-3 club fit or the good 5-2 heart fit or even six no-trump, it suddenly became apparent that any of those slams would be set with a spade lead. Since the only makable slam was six diamonds, they finally decided that they had bid perfectly.

The Texas School Honor Roll Program, sponsored by Texas Safety Association in cooperation with the Texas Education Agency, is the only state recognition program that covers all aspects of school safety education and accident prevention. The Honor Roll Program assists schools in meeting the intent of Texas accreditation standards relative to safety, promotes coordinated efforts for safety throughout the school system, encourages programs for reducing or eliminating accidents involving students and enables each school to objectively analyze its own safety activities.

One thousand schools from 243 school districts across the state participated in the program during the 1988-89 school year.

Texas Safety Association is a non-profit, non-governmental, educational organization whose members work in government, private industry and as individuals to prevent accidents and needless loss of life and property.

Food allergy can trigger migraines

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: For almost two years I've had textbook migraines with no visual auras but pain in my upper jaw on one side. I take Fiorinal without codeine when I get them and walk to keep my weight down. I now have permanent hot spots on my face, and when I get a headache, they get painful and very red. Could the hot spots and headaches be allergies? We like to eat out often but between dieting and headaches, it's really frustrating.

DEAR READER: Migraine is sometimes associated with vascular abnormalities in areas other than the brain — flushing of the face, for example. Also, the headaches can be triggered by allergic reactions, such as from certain foods. Sometimes, migraines are brought on by alcohol consumption or simply missing a meal.

If you think that your headaches are being worsened by food additives or food allergies, you may wish to see an allergist. Meanwhile, you could be helped by using drugs, such as beta-blockers or calcium-channel blockers, to prevent migraine. Ask your doctor about this. To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Headaches." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: For many years I have had an itching from small pimplelike bumps. A dermatologist said it was due to the drying out of my skin forcing the bacteria to seek refuge in the hair follicles. I've applied a petrolatum-based lotion on a regular basis with some success. Does this sound reasonable?

DEAR READER: Judging from your comments, I suspect the dermatologist diagnosed your condition as folliculitis, infection of the hair follicles. The treatment for this condition would ordinarily be anti-bacterial soap followed by some sort of lotion to replace skin oils.

In my opinion, petrolatum is not a good choice because the oily substance is not absorbed into the skin; it merely covers the skin and could actually trap bacteria in the pores.

Several non-greasy moisturizing creams are commercially available. There are some new products that won't exacerbate skin problems. Look for "noncomedogenic" on the label. Try one, in preference to petrolatum products. These lotions can actually add moisture to the skin, making it more supple and soft.

DEAR DR. GOTT: You once wrote that pimples on a person's backside are a result of sitting. I believe that foam cushions in older cars deteriorate and give off some kind of gas that is activated even more by the cleaning process. I have had a rash from old brassieres that contain foam latex in the support area under the breast. What's your opinion?

DEAR READER: You are correct.

Sometimes people are highly allergic to the substances used in the manufacture of latex, a product that is a common ingredient in cushions and elasticized garments. These people may develop highly irritating skin reactions when exposed to latex, especially if the skin is moist, as is the case in hot weather or during prolonged sitting in a warm automobile. The best treatment is avoidance of material to which a person knows he or she is sensitive.

Name of park said changed

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — The name of a city park in this capital city was changed from Zia Ul Haq to Zulfikar Ali Bhutto as a gesture to Pakistan Premier Benazir Bhutto who is on an official visit.

Kecio Kirmizi, the mayor of Kecioren district, said the name was changed Thursday "in respect for democracy."

Zia, the former premier, overthrew Ms. Bhutto's father, Zulfikar Ali Bhutto, in a bloodless coup in 1977 and executed him two years later. Turkey had intervened to try to stop the execution.

Lewis defends parliamentary ruling

AUSTIN (AP) — House Speaker Gib Lewis defended his parliamentary ruling that consumer groups said blocked amendments to an insurance bill that would have placed the insurance industry under tighter regulations.

"The legislator who is most responsible for sticking the people of Texas in the next few years with unfair, large insurance bills is Gib Lewis," John Hildreth, director of the southwest regional office of Consumers Union, said Thursday.

But Lewis, D-Fort Worth, responded, telling reporters, "The way that you all reported it, I can understand why they would say that."

"I thought that was the poorest example of reporting a bill and ruling that I've ever seen in my life," he said.

On Wednesday, Lewis ruled that amendments not related to the caption of an omnibus insurance bill would not be considered.

Lewis' parliamentary ruling denied House members, wanting to strengthen regulation of the insurance industry, a chance to bring up their amendments for consideration.

"The speaker went too far. The sad truth is that the speaker's version of insurance reform has been blurred by the hordes of insurance company lobbyists," Hildreth said.

Tom Smith, of Public Citizen, said "fairness and truth make no difference in the House."

Rebecca Lightsey of Texas Consumer Association said, "It is now clear that the speaker abused his power and ruled against every insurance policyholder in Texas."

But Lewis defended his decision, saying amendments must be germane to the bill in order to prevent legislators from trying to sneak unrelated bills through the House.

"What I'm doing is following the House rules, and I'm doing it for the protection of the membership and for the protection of the integrity of the piece of legislation," he said.

The House tentatively passed the bill 98-0, but 48 legislators registered present, but not voting as a protest to the bill. On Thursday, the bill was finally passed on a non-record vote.

But the consumer groups said the amendments were relevant because they restored tougher reforms adopted by the Senate that had been removed from the bill by the House Insurance Committee.

State Rep. Allen Hightower, D-Huntsville, who was going to try and tighten insurance regulation through an amendment said, "I'm disappointed we didn't get to fight the fight. I think we had the votes to make real reform (Wednesday)."

But he added, "When you talk about making a parliamentary ruling, you're way out of my league."

The most common causes of burns include carelessness with matches and lighted cigarettes, scalds from hot liquids, defective equipment and the use of open fires. The severity of a burn is determined by its depth and its extent. A minor burn covering a large part of the body can be more serious than a deep burn in only a small area.

Sitter Who Lost Her Temper Winds Up Losing Her Client

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 17-year-old girl who has been baby-sitting since I was 13. I've had a lot of problems with one family in particular. (I'll call them the Joneses, which is not their real name.)

One Friday night, Mrs. Jones called and said her husband would pick me up at 9 o'clock the next morning. I was all ready and waiting at the door at 9 a.m. when Mr. Jones drove up at 9:45! I got into his car and slammed the door hard, then I looked straight out the window to let him know I was angry.

He said, "My, aren't we in a bad mood this morning. What's the matter, did you break up with your boyfriend?"

I ignored his question and asked, "Do you know what time it is?" He looked at his watch and said, "It's 9:45."

I said, "You were supposed to be here at 9 and I got up early to be ready. I've been waiting for you for 45 minutes!"

Well, Abby, that was three months ago, and the Joneses have been calling my younger sister to baby-sit ever since. They told her to tell me that if I ever wanted to baby-sit for them again, I would have to change my attitude.

Abby, for two years I've been bathing their kids and changing their diapers, and they dropped me because I reminded Mr. Jones that he kept me waiting for 45 minutes. Do you think I was wrong for saying what I did?

Can you tell me if this is some kind of affliction, compulsion, obsession or what? I would sure like to know if I should accept this kind of behavior cheerfully. Please help me. This is something new.

LONELY IN SAN DIEGO

DEAR LONELY: Write your husband a note and ask for an appointment to speak with him. Tell him you will make it any time it's convenient for him. This man is clearly shutting you out, escaping behind the printed word.

If this behavior is something new, perhaps he needs a physical checkup. A sudden change in behavior should not be ignored. It could be a symptom of a more serious problem.

DEAR ANGRY: It wasn't what you said; it was probably your tone and the manner in which you "reminded" Mr. Jones of his tardiness. You would do well to learn from his criticism and change your attitude to a kinder and gentler one.

DEAR DAYTONA: I wooden count on it (pun intended). Have a box of tissues handy, and when someone starts to talk to you with a toothpick in his or her mouth, hand the clod a tissue, and smile when you say, "This is for your toothpick, Sir (or Madam)."

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a readaholic. Since he has retired, the only time he isn't reading is when he's sleeping, driving the car or in the shower. He doesn't communicate (talk) hardly at all; he's too busy reading newspapers, magazines, books — anything handy.

Don't put off writing thank-you notes, letters of sympathy, etc. because you don't know what to say. Get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send a check or money order for $2.89 ($3.39 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054 (Postage is included).

Battle of Johnsons continues as Lakers, Suns hold court

PHOENIX (AP) - It's a battle of the award-winning Johnsons in the NBA playoff series between Phoenix and Los Angeles. And if Eddie stays erratic and Kevin goes kaput again, the Lakers may not even need another Magic act to make the Suns disappear.

The two-time defending NBA champion Lakers lead Phoenix 2-0 in the best-of-7 Western Conference finals heading into Game 3 tonight at the Arizona Veterans Memorial Coliseum.

Los Angeles guard Magic Johnson, the league's most valuable player this season, fueled two decisive fourth-quarter rallies in Games 1 and 2 at The Forum in Inglewood, Calif.

Suns guard Kevin Johnson, voted this year's most improved player, was pushed to exhaustion in Game 2 Tuesday night and made 10 turnovers, seven in the second half.

Phoenix forward Eddie Johnson, who shot 49.7 percent from the field this season and won the NBA's Sixth Man Award, continues to struggle with his shooting touch. He has made only eight of 28 field goal attempts in this series.

"If I had decent games in L.A., we'd be up 2-0 now instead of down 0-2. There's no question in my mind," Eddie Johnson said at practice Thursday.

In the previous playoff series against Golden State, Eddie Johnson said Warriors forward Larry Smith "did a karate chop on the little finger" of his right hand.

Against the Lakers, "E.J." was 6-for-16 from the field in Game 1 and just 2-for-12 in Game 2.

"Some games, the finger bothers me. It does if I think about it. I let it get the best of me at L.A.," Eddie Johnson said.

Phoenix has lost all five previous playoff series to Los Angeles, getting swept twice.

That might become three unless the Suns find a way to contain Magic Johnson, who had 18 points and 12 assists in Game 1 and added 22 points, 14 assists and nine rebounds in Game 2.

Peters streak stopped at 53

HOUSTON (AP) - Jon Peters' stomach told him something wasn't right, a sensation he hadn't felt before any of his national record 53 consecutive high school pitching victories.

"When I woke up this morning I had a bad feeling about this game," Peters said. "I've had butterflies in my stomach all day."

Peters, who last month set the scholastic record of 51 straight wins, lost for the first time in his high school career Thursday when Brenham was no-hit 3-0 by West Orange-Stark in a Class 4A regional semifinal.

Eric West and Kyle Free allowed eight walks but combined to hold Brenham hitless in the second game of a best-of-three series. Brenham, 27-2, won the opener 5-2 on Wednesday. The final game is tonight.

Peters allowed five hits in seven innings. He struck out eight and tied a career high with five walks. He also threw a wild pitch in the second inning, allowing the Mustangs to score their first run.

Brenham also committed five errors.

"In a way I'm relieved the streak is over, but I'm sorry it had to happen like it did," Peters said.

He said the loss won't tarnish what had been a perfect four years.

"It's not a sin to lose a game," Peters said. "I feel like 53 is something to be proud of. I wish I could have won some more, but that's baseball."

Peters was 13-0 as a freshman, 15-0 as a sophomore and 14-0 last year. He fell to 11-1 with Thursday's loss.

His high school record of 53-1 is two wins shy of the Texas record for total career victories set by Duncanville's Keith Creel, who won 55 games in 1974-77. Creel later pitched in the major leagues with Kansas City.

For Peters to have a shot at Creel's mark, Brenham must win tonight's game to advance in the playoffs.

The national record for career victories by a high school pitcher is 61 by Steve Streater of Sylva Webster, N.C., from 1974-77.

LSU defeats Rebels; A&M rips Jackson St.

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) - Nevada-Las Vegas had all of its luck working against Louisiana State in the NCAA Central Region baseball playoffs.

But LSU coach Skip Bertman's gamble paid off and it helped the second seeded Tigers rally twice to beat the Rebels 12-10 Thursday in the tournament's opening game.

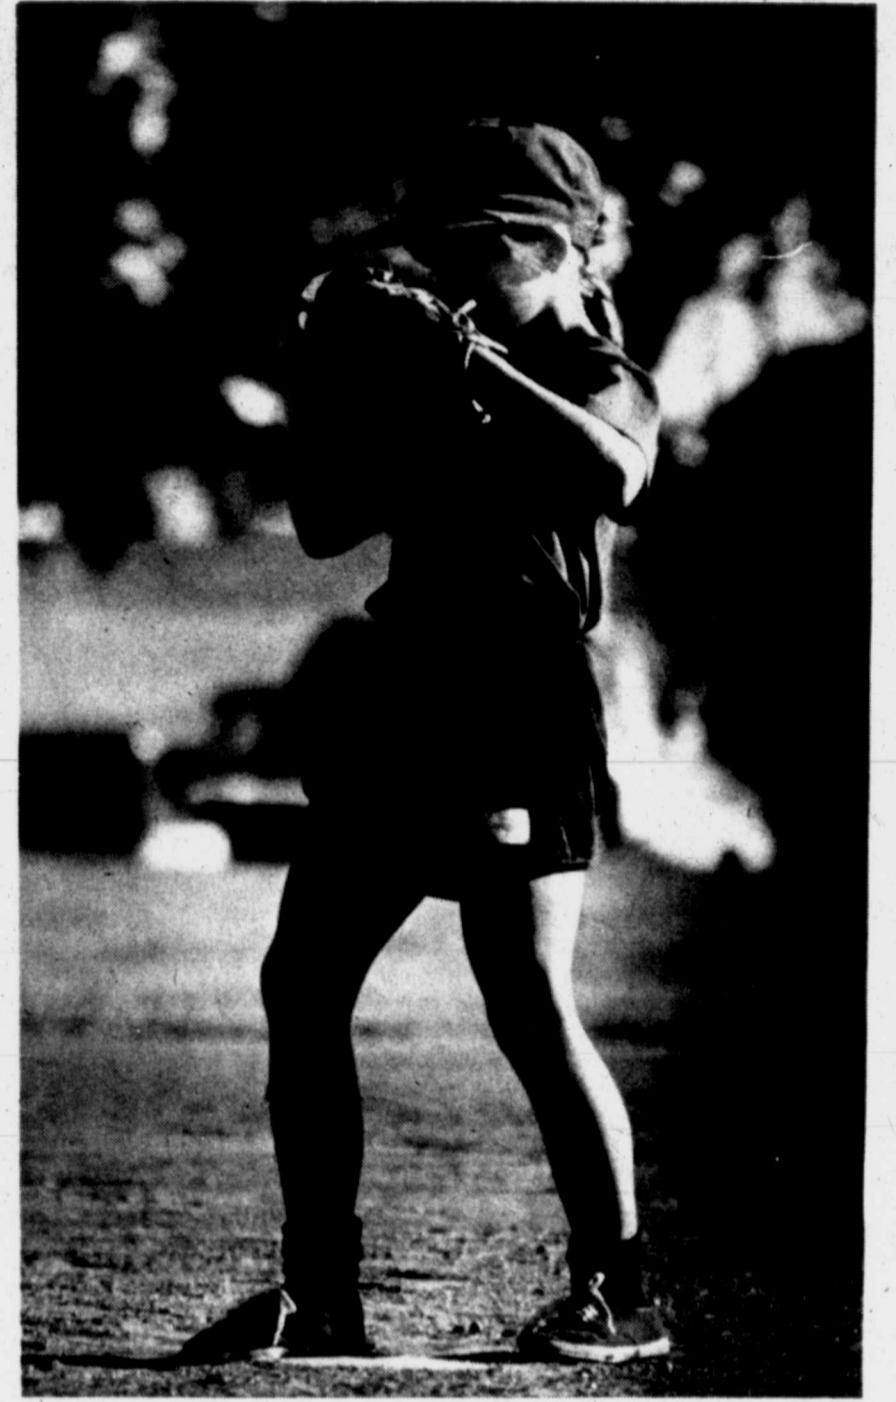

Bertman decided to pull his ace starter, Olympic gold medalist Ben McDonald, who had a slow start, and replaced him with Paul Byrd.

Byrd slowed the quick-starting Rebels and the Tigers finally won it on Craig Cala's two-run single in the seventh inning, capping a combined 27-hit game.

Top seeded Texas A&M hammered sixth seeded Jackson State 23-3, highlighted by a 12-run fifth inning in which Jim Neuman drove in five runs with a two-run double and a three-run home run.

Third seeded South Alabama blew an 8-0 lead to Brigham Young but the Jaguars rallied for an 11-10 victory in the 10th inning when Jim Shaver hit a two-run homer and pitcher Ed Zenter walked in the winning run.

Thursday's results set up today's schedule that starts with Nevada-Las Vegas facing Jackson State followed by Brigham Young and Texas A&M and Louisiana State against South Alabama.

Northeast Regional

WATERBURY, Conn. (AP) - Right-hander Craig Connolly pitched a six-hitter to lead Penn to a 7-1 victory over third-seeded Illinois Thursday during the first day of NCAA Division I Northeast Regional baseball tournament.

In the first of Thursday's three games, LeMoyné beat first-seeded Arkansas 7-5 and in the second game, Arizona State beat George Washington 5-0.

Lewis boycotts meet

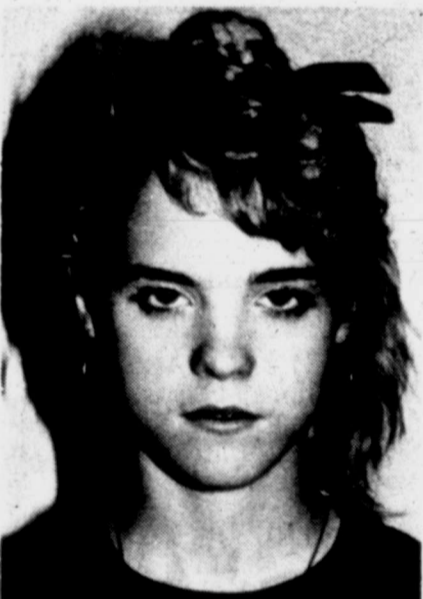

HOUSTON (AP) - Carl Lewis establish a plan to pay the top 10 athletes in every event, instead of the current process of paying only about 10 to 15 athletes, including Lewis, while "everyone else gets dogged."

"We cannot continue to be put in this position because the TAC is killing track in America. They are holding back funds, they are misappropriating situations and making it very difficult for athletes to compete here," Lewis, a six-time Olympic gold medal winner, said Thursday.

"They're taking in a lot of money and giving out very little and then asking all the athletes to continue to go."

Lewis said he'd like TAC to

USC coach Sharp takes SWTSU job

SAN MARCOS, Texas (AP) - After leading the Women of Troy to two national basketball titles in the 1980s, Southern California coach Linda Sharp says she wanted something different.

"I'm looking for a new challenge and change," Sharp told the Austin American Statesman.

"The challenge of taking a program like Southwest Texas' and putting it on the map. It's something I needed to do. Something different," she said.

Solons hopeful of worker's comp compromise

AUSTIN (AP) — House and Senate conferees remained far apart trying to reach a compromise on workers' compensation, but were hopeful they could complete their job before the end of the regular session.

"I think there's reasonable people on both sides. I think we'll be able to work out a compromise piece of legislation that does exactly the things that we're all interested in doing," Sen. Ted Lyon, D-Rockwall, said Thursday.

Meanwhile, Gov. Bill Clements reiterated his vow that if lawmakers fail to pass an "acceptable" reform to the system of compensating injured workers, they will face a special legislative session.

The workers' comp conference committee quickly found itself at odds on the issue of resolving disputed claims between injured workers and the insurance carrier.

"I hope very much we can reach accommodation ... but I don't underestimate the size of our task," said Rep. Richard Smith, R-Bryan.

With four days remaining in the session, the conference committee will try to settle major differences between Senate and House proposals.

The issue pits trial lawyers and organized labor on one side against business, and insurance companies in a high-stakes game involving the $3 billion per year workers' comp insurance industry and coverage to millions of Texas workers.

Business interests, which claim high jury awards have caused workers' comp premiums to soar, support the House bill. Labor and trial attorneys, who say insurance companies and unsafe working conditions are to blame, support the Senate bill.

The Senate and House bills are poles apart on the issue of resolving claims that are disputed by either the insurance carrier or worker.

Under current law, workers' comp claims can be appealed to a state district court jury trial and the previous administrative ruling by the Industrial Accident Board is not admissible as evidence.

The House bill would allow appeals to a non-jury court trial, and the judge could review only whether the laws and procedures of those hearings were properly applied.

The Senate bill establishes a two-track system for resolving disputes. Under one track, claims can be decided in binding arbitration. Under the other, claims can be appealed to a court jury from the previous administrative hearing.

Hospital expands physician search acute care is down some 20 percent.

"The future of this institution is with our medical staff," he commented during his request.

Friday morning, he expanded on these comments. "We have cut our costs, we have expanded our lines of business to include TDC and an increase in our long term care patient volume.

"I believe we have the opportunity to establish the hospital as a regional medical center. To realize that, we must plan now for our future medical staff needs."

During his monthly financial report, he noted a decline in patient admissions had also contributed toward April's net loss at Cogdell of $70,095. For the year-to-date, the facility has experienced a net loss of $45,086, an improvement from this time last year when the figure was a minus $184,724.

Hochwalt updated the board also on the effort to obtain a surgeon and internist. Negotiations are continuing with a number of physicians at this time, he noted, although no firm commitments have been received.

During May's regular board session, the board approved also authorization for Hochwalt to increase "ancillary service" fees at the facility as he deems necessary.

This would be to offset increased costs to the hospital related to "supplies and commodities," he said.

Ancillary services include lab testing, X-ray, pharmacy service and physical therapy.

"We need the flexibility to change our prices in accordance with changing costs to maintain our desired margins," he said Friday.

During the request Thursday, he noted the facility has not increased room rates during the past year and that Cogdell rates remain substantially below those charged in larger area cities.

In addition, he pointed to the decrease in charges for the long term care facility.

Also discussed were matters related to the effort to win state approval for the expansion of the TDC prison unit here.

The board unanimously approved a resolution voicing its support of the proposed expansion.

In executive session, the board discussed also what incentives the hospital will offer as part of the bid package.

The board approved also a $7,700 expense to renovate shower facilities in the long term care unit to accommodate wheelchair-bound patients.

All board members attended. Dan Cotton presided and members in attendance were Janet Hall, Jackie Smith, G.A. Parks, Roy McQueen and Jim Palmer. Also in attendance was ex-officio member County Judge Bobby Goodwin.

Concert delayed

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The Toledo Zoo's cheetah cubs have chased away a rabbit — Eddie Rabbitt.

His June 2 concert at the zoo's amphitheater was postponed because the cheetahs, born earlier this week, need quiet, zoo officials said.

The amphitheater is next to the cheetah den, and officials fear the noise from the country singer's concert might bother the cubs' mother, Samantha, said William Dennler, zoo executive director.

School bond amendments okayed

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans would be able to vote on creating a $750 million state bond program to help school districts build classrooms under a measure approved by the House.

That proposed constitutional amendment, approved Thursday, goes back to the Senate for consideration of House changes.

Another proposed amendment approved by the House to provide for a $75 million college savings bond program will go on the November ballot.

But in another Thursday vote, the House narrowly rejected a proposed amendment to a local government investment bill that would have restricted investment of public funds in corporations that do business with the Republic of South Africa.

The provision tracked federal language on South African investments, said Rep. Larry Evans. The Houston Democrat said the House's refusal to adopt sent a bad message.

"The statement is that we don't intend to do as much about ending apartheid in South Africa as we claim we want to do," he said after the 66-69 vote.

Rep. Nolan "Buzz" Robnett said in arguing against the amendment that it would place an "undue burden" on investment managers for large state retirement funds.

"Keeping up with that stuff is an absolute nightmare," said Robnett, R-Lubbock. Evans said it would not create a management problem because it "does not require anything be done, or prohibit anything being done, that isn't already the case."

The classroom bond program, which returns to the Senate for consideration of House changes, would allow the state to issue bonds backed by the Permanent School Fund. The money would be loaned to districts for facilities and equipment.

Rep. Paul Colbert, D-Houston, has said the plan would give property-poor school districts the chance to get a better interest rate and issuance cost for bonds. The measure, adopted 120-20 by the House Thursday after failing to muster enough votes for passage Tuesday, would be on the November ballot.

The proposed college savings bond program is meant to help Texans deal with increasing education costs, according to backers. It would allow $75 million in such bonds to be issued by the Higher Education Coordinating Board, with proceeds from the sale to be used for student loans.

An investor could buy the tax-free bonds in denominations of $1,000 or less.

Trade talks between U. S. and 3 other countries said to begin June 16

ON (AP) — President Bush, urging Japan, Brazil and India to open their markets to U.S. products, said today that negotiations aimed at ending unfair trade practices will begin with the three countries on June 16.

The administration singled out the three nations Thursday night for priority action under a 1988 trade law that calls for penalties against countries that are deemed to be especially protectionist.

"Our goal is to open markets and to eliminate trade barriers. We oppose protectionism in any and all forms. Therefore, I urge the governments of Japan, India, and Brazil to work constructively with us to resolve these issues expeditiously," the president said in a statement announcing the negotiation date as he left on a trip to Europe.

The 1988 Omnibus Trade Act requires the administration to issue what amounts to a hit list that names the countries whose trade barriers are most harmful to American producers. The government then has 18 months to negotiate away the barriers.

Failure of the talks could lead to tariffs of up to 100 percent on selected exports from the offending countries.

Announcing the action, U.S. Trade Representative Carla A. Hills told reporters, "This exercise is not intended to be offensive. I hope there is no backlash."

House tentatively oks bill that would restrict children riding in pickup beds

AUSTIN (AP) — A bill to restrict children from riding in the back of pickups, which won preliminary House approval in a dramatic vote turnaround, will not kill what some call a Texas tradition, a lawmaker said.

"We have not eliminated Mom, Pop, apple pie, Chevrolet, whatever, after the ballgame," said Rep. L.B. Kubiak, House sponsor of the bill.

"Everybody can still pile in the back of the truck and drive down to the Dairy Queen or wherever they need to go. We're not prohibiting that, and I don't want to prohibit that," said Kubiak, D-Rockdale.

He added, "My kids ride in the back of the truck, but I don't go over 15 or 20 (mph)."

The House first rejected the bill Thursday, then reconsidered the action and tentatively approved the measure with a 66-44 vote. Before passage, however, the measure was amended to exempt one-vehicle families.

As passed by the Senate, the bill would have made it an offense, punishable by fines of $25 to $200, to operate an open-bed pickup truck or tow an open flatbed truck or trailer at a speed of more than 15 mph with a child younger than 12 in the truck bed or trailer. Besides adding the one-vehicle exemption, the House raised the speed restriction to 40 mph.

The turnaround on the bill came after the Senate sponsor, Carl Parker, had bitter words for those who voted against the measure.

"I think that the people of Texas ought to start today the child's death watch, because the House of Representatives of the state of Texas has sentenced a minimum of eight to 10 little children to their death by their inaction today," said Sen. Parker,

D-Port Arthur, after the initial House vote.

After the second House vote, Parker did not immediately return a telephone call from The Associated Press. However, a member of his staff said Parker "was happy they reconsidered it."

Rhonda Talley, a research assistant for Parker, said the senator was concerned about House amendments to the bill but thought differences could be worked out in a legislative conference committee. The bill returns to the Senate for consideration of House amendments after another vote.

The exemption for families whose sole vehicle is a truck was adopted by the House after it decided to reconsider the bill. The provision was offered by Rep. Dick Waterfield, R-Canadian, who opposed the bill.

"Why do we have to mess with everybody's private vehicle?" Waterfield asked. "Why do we have to keep getting into people's private property?"

Kubiak said the intention of the bill was not harassment.

"We want to protect the lives of children," he said.

"What I'm hoping that happens is that folks say, 'Hey there's a law passed by the Texas Legislature that said we don't want kids in the backs of pickups,' and hopefully people will be more aware of that fact and not put them back there," said Kubiak.

The comic strip "Little Orphan Annie" by Harold Gray made its debut in 1924.

"American Bandstand," hosted by Dick Clark, made its network debut on ABC in 1957.
