

Possible rainfall 30 percent chance listed for Snyder

From Local Wire Reports
The Snyder area is part of a region in West Texas forecast for isolated thunderstorm activity Friday night.
Friday's local rain chance is set at 30 percent with a 20 percent chance listed for Saturday.
A brief rain was recorded in Snyder Friday morning around 9 a.m. and cloudy skies prevailed at noon.
According to the National Weather Service, isolated thunderstorms will be roaming portions of North Texas, West Texas and the Hill Country Friday night.

Friday night's thunderstorm activity is expected on the heels of other thunderstorms that moved across the Rio Grande plains early Friday.
Lows Friday night will be mostly in the 60s and 70s with a few readings in South Texas expected to be in the lower 80s.
Highs Saturday will be mostly in the 80s and 90s, ranging from the upper 70s in the Panhandle to around the 100-degree mark in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas.
An upper level storm system over northeastern New Mexico triggered thunderstorms.

China 'quiet' for now

BEIJING (AP) — China's senior leader Deng Xiaoping today appeared in public for the first time in more than three weeks and praised the military for crushing the student demonstrations for democracy.

The speech was televised nationally, as were scenes from demonstrations in several provincial cities, where there were reports that dissidents and supporters of the pro-democracy movement were being arrested.

In Beijing, hundreds of troops took up positions around college campuses, where the nation's pro-democracy protests began in mid-April. Many students have returned home or gone into hiding since the army declared martial law in the capital and violently ended the protests over the weekend.

In Washington, President Bush said Thursday the United States "can't have totally normal relations" with China until its government recognizes the rights of the students who led the demonstrations. But Bush, in a televised news conference, rejected suggestions he impose more sanctions on China.

In Bonn, West Germany, the Soviet Union's main spokesman said today that Soviet officials have been unable to reach Beijing. Asked if he was surprised by the brutality of the crackdown on the Chinese protests, Foreign Ministry Spokesman Gennady I. Gerasimov said: "We hadn't expected this." He said Soviet authorities were "extremely dismayed" at Beijing's actions.

The comments are the first official Soviet response since the new Soviet Congress issued an extremely guarded statement Tuesday saying events in China were "an internal affair."

Deng praised the suppression of the pro-democracy movement in an address to officers of the People's Liberation Army. He thanked them for their actions, which resulted in the deaths of hundreds if not thousands of Beijing residents.

Deng said the people behind the democratic movement wanted to "overthrow communism and do away with the socialist system and the People's Republic of China and establish a capitalist republic."

He said, "Facing a life-threatening situation, our troops never forgot the people, never forgot the party, never forgot the country's interest."

Chinese Red Cross officials estimate 3,600 people were killed and 60,000 injured in the assault, according to a Chinese group in West Germany.

ISD count stabilizes

Current indications are that the enrollment for Snyder public schools has leveled out, figures which began a downward spiral as the "oil bust" hit West Texas during the 1985-86 school year.

For the first time since the start of that cycle, there was no appreciable drop in students at the close of school this year.

As classes ended this spring, the student number was 3,411 as compared to 3,418 one year ago.

With the completion of the Price Daniel Unit this summer, school officials are also looking to the possibility of enrollment increases in the fall.

For comparison purposes, at the close of school in 1986, Snyder ISD counted 3,579 students. This end of school figure declined

Basketball games for Snyder boys stay at coliseum

The Snyder High School boys basketball team will return to the Scurry County Coliseum for its home games next season following a decision Thursday by school trustees.

The board acted based upon a recommendation by head coach Larry Scott, who profiled "advantages and disadvantages" of the coliseum versus returning to play in the high school gymnasium.

Assuming the current prices stay the same for use of the coliseum—a figure estimated at $1,500—Scott says he sees no disadvantages associated with it.

On the positive side, he noted his players universally endorse the coliseum and that he believes it gives them a definite home court advantage because of such factors as the open space behind the baskets, the portable floor which makes the balls bounce differently and the overhead position of the clock.

To support his contention of the home court advantage, Scott pointed to a 45-5 win-loss district record at the coliseum during his tenure as head coach.

"There are also five teams in our district who have never won in the coliseum," he told the board.

During a work session May 30, several members of the board said they felt a change back to the local high school gymnasium—now used by the girls basketball team—would "bring the crowd back into the game."

Scott noted that since the board's considerations were profiled in the community, he had heard comments from some fans—he noted that they "might or might not" reflect the majority opinion—that games played in the high school gym prior to the move to the coliseum were "too crowded, too hot and too loud."

Second appraiser alternate method okayed by school

Snyder school board members Thursday authorized Superintendent Dalton Moseley to employ a "second appraiser" for the school system next year, a decision which will also set in motion the consolidation of two key administrative-level positions.

Moseley indicated he has already been in contact with a retired high school principal from Abilene who has indicated an interest in the role of outside teacher evaluator. A tentative figure of $12,000 for the man's services was noted.

With the board's motion, Moseley was authorized to employ an appraiser at his discretion and he said Friday morning that he would continue to interview applicants before making a final decision.

In the past, this task of "second appraisals" of local elementary school teachers for career ladder selection has been performed by the district's testing coordinator and curriculum specialist.

Current plans are to combine these two positions into the role of testing coordinator. Janice Brown, the current curriculum specialist, will assume both roles.

Under the new plan, she will be relieved of the second appraisal responsibility. This consists of an assessment during the fall term of all district elementary teachers, an estimated 122. This serves as a backup for the "primary" teacher evaluation conducted by campus principals.

During the spring term, another round of second appraisals is required for those teachers who have not been selected for Level II on the career ladder. This involves an estimated 35 teachers, primarily those recently hired by the district who must first serve a two-year probationary period.

The board unanimously approved the second appraisal change with all board members attending, to include Billy Bob McMullan, who presided. Ann

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

In just a few days, President Bush will be 65. He has adopted Texas as his home state, and a recent review of his life by Texas Monthly proves that he has the grit common among Texans.

According to the article, the road to the Oval Office has been a rocky one. "There have been so many bumps and detours along the way that at times it must have seemed to the future president that the road had been condemned."

While a senior at Yale, Bush was turned down for a management job with Proctor and Gamble. In 1964, he made a run for the U.S. Senate against liberal Ralph Yarborough and lost.

In 1966, he sold his interest in an off shore drilling operation for $1.1 million. Just 18 months later, the same stake would have been worth more than $4.6 million.

In 1968, when Richard Nixon was seeking a vice presidential running mate, he considered Bush and chose Spiro Agnew instead. He tried politics again, running for U.S. Senate against Lloyd Bentsen. He lost again.

He was named U.N. Ambassador in 1971 and opposed the admission of China. Unknown to him, Nixon and Secretary of State Kissinger were working to open diplomatic relations with Red China.

In 1973, he became national chairman of the Republican party and even considered a race for governor of Texas, but decided against it because of the Watergate backlash. In 1974, he was Gerald Ford's choice for veep, but staffers convinced Ford to choose Nelson Rockefeller instead. In 1976, Ford again passed over Bush in favor of Robert Dole.

In 1980, Bush ran for the Republican nomination against Ronald Reagan and lost. Looking for a running mate, Reagan first eyed Ford, but the deal fell through and Bush became vice president.

A man who has dealt with those kinds of adversities should make a dandy president.

In Brief

Water suit

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox said he has obtained an agreed judgment in a lawsuit that alleged an East Texas water utility violated numerous state health regulations.

The lawsuit and the judgment were against Oakridge Water Co., doing business as Pine Springs Utilities, Mattox said Thursday in a news release. The utility operates 50 different water systems.

The company operates water systems serving residential subdivisions in Polk, Liberty, Hardin, San Jacinto, Trinity, Walker and Tyler counties, Mattox said.

The judgment requires the defendant to make improvements to the water systems during the next 14 months, and to pay the state $35,000 in civil penalties, investigative costs and attorneys' fees, Mattox said.

Prices are up

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale inflation came roaring back in May after a two-month lull, rising a steep 0.9 percent, the government said today.

The rise in the Labor Department's Producer Price Index primarily reflected higher prices for cars, fresh vegetables and gasoline.

For the first five months of the year, wholesale inflation for goods one stop short of the retail level was running at a 9.4 percent annual rate, more than double the 4 percent rise in 1988 and quadruple the 2.2 percent 1987 gain.

Bay closure

AUSTIN (AP) — The state health department has ordered the continued closure of a small portion of Lavaca Bay to the taking of finfish and crabs for human consumption.

The area, on the eastern side of Lavaca Bay, south of the Highway 35 causeway, was closed in April, 1988.

Texas Department of Health officials said Thursday that finfish and crabs from the closed area continue to be unfit for human consumption because of mercury contaminants.

Debt plans explained

AUSTIN (AP) — Farmers and ranchers who get debt restructuring notices from the U.S. Farmers Home Administration can get help from state agencies, said Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower.

Easy-to-understand tools from the Department of Agriculture and others can help producers file responses with the county FmHA office so they can be eligible for restructuring, Hightower said.

Failure to respond properly could lead to the loss of a borrower's operation, he said.

"Since 1980, a combination of misguided federal farm policies, backbreaking crop prices and rising production costs have forced 50,000 Texas producers out of business," Hightower said in a statement. "Those producers who have managed to stay in business are saddled with a record $12 billion in farm debt."

"The severe problems caused by the farm crisis have been exaggerated by drought, freezes, hail and tornadoes which together have cost Texas agriculture an estimated $1 billion in the past year," he said.

DR. GOTT PETER GOTT, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been told I have cytomegalovirus. Would you please tell me about this virus and explain what it does to the body?

DEAR READER: Cytomegalovirus, or CMV, is an infectious agent that is classified with herpes viruses. It is ubiquitous. In newborn infants it can cause stillbirth or serious hemorrhage, anemia, liver inflammation and brain damage.

In adults it can cause an infection resembling mononucleosis: sore throat, fever, fatigue, swollen glands, hepatitis, enlarged spleen and rash. Massive CMV infection is sometimes fatal for AIDS patients. In otherwise healthy people, CMV infection is often "silent," producing symptoms no more serious than those of the flu or common cold. Most persons recover uneventfully, although long-lasting, low-grade infection appears to contribute to chronic fatigue in some individuals. Antibiotics are of no value in treating CMV infections; supportive care and symptomatic therapy (fluids and rest) are usually sufficient. Because CMV is so common, many healthy people have positive blood tests to the virus, even though they are not ill. Therefore, in a patient with chronic symptoms, doctors often have difficulty determining whether the ailment is due to CMV or some other infectious agent.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My mother recently died, and an autopsy indicated Alzheimer's. One family member insists she had manic-depression and that both conditions would show the same results on an autopsy. Could you give an answer to this puzzle?

DEAR READER: Alzheimer's disease, the most common cause of dementia in adults, is characterized by three anatomical variations in the brain: amyloid plaques, neurofibrillary degeneration and neuronal degeneration. These terms indicate the shrinking and loss of brain tissue. The changes are not diagnostic of Alzheimer's disease (although they are common in it), but are present in the brains of most elderly patients who die with dementia (confusion, forgetfulness, loss of enthusiasm and intellectual decline). Therefore, your mother's autopsy findings were consistent with but not diagnostic of Alzheimer's disease.

To my knowledge, manic-depression (bipolar mood disorder) is not associated with specific changes that can be detected during an autopsy. This condition is marked by behavioral alterations: deep depression, alternating with euphoria.

Therefore, although your mother may have had Alzheimer's, there is no proof of it. Nor would there be post-mortem findings of a bipolar mood disorder. In fact, she could have had both conditions. As yet, no conclusive autopsy findings have been discovered to differentiate the two afflictions. Hence, both the doctor and your family member may have been correct.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Alzheimer's Disease." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Locals attend special seminar

West Texas State University hosted the annual Crown of Texas Hugh O'Brian Youth Leadership Seminar June 2-4 for outstanding sophomore students.

Attending were Kenneth Gartman of Snyder and Lloyd Bennett of Ira. Sponsor was West Side Optimist of Midland.

The seminar was conducted in 84 locations across the United States with the purpose of bringing a select group of students together with groups of distinguished leaders in business, government, education and the professions to discuss present and future issues, using an informal question and answer format.

The specific goals were to seek

Hance doesn't like OPEC's agreement

AUSTIN (AP) — Railroad Commission Chairman Kent Hance said several OPEC nations' ignoring of previous production quotas, along with the higher production ceiling agreed to this week, set the stage for continued, increased excess production.

"The key will be the actions of the 13 member countries over the next three months," Hance said.

If production by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries stays above 20.5 million barrels a day, prices could dip to $16 a barrel, he said in a Thursday statement.

"Sudden dips in crude oil prices in the past have had a negative effect on the Texas economy," Hance noted.

If OPEC production is 20 million to 20.5 million barrels a day, the price of a barrel of oil should range between $17 and $21, he said.

Particle beam to be fired at White Sands

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) — A rocket scheduled to be launched within the week will carry the first space test of a neutral particle beam — an invisible ray of atoms stripped of their electrical charge that could be a component of the "Star Wars" missile defense system.

The $60 million Beam Experiment Aboard a Rocket will be launched 87 miles above White Sands Missile Range, and the neutral particle ray will be beamed into space, said Air Force Maj. Alan Freitag, spokesman for the Strategic Defense Initiative in Washington, D.C.

The date of the experiment is a secret because some aspects of the experiment are classified, Freitag said.

The 40-foot Aries rocket carrying the experiment was poised for launch last week, but a pump used to cool the experiment failed and had to be repaired. The rocket and payload were reassembled Wednesday, and the rocket probably will blast off sometime next week, he said.

An ultraviolet camera in the payload will track and analyze the neutral particle beam, which is invisible to the naked eye. The camera needs almost total darkness to observe the test, meaning the experiment can be launched only on nights when the moon isn't shining brightly.

Sharp play for thin game

By James Jacoby

North-South reached a thin game because both players got carried away by their intermediate cards.

The defense started by taking the first four heart tricks. A club was discarded from dummy; East shed a spade and declarer a club. West played a spade. Declarer won dummy's jack and led the 10 of diamonds. East played low, and South followed with the three. That was step one.

It was likely that East held the king and two more diamonds. (With only three diamonds to start with, East would have covered the 10 with the king.) Since East had shown with the A-K of hearts and now the king of diamonds, and had originally passed in second position, it was not possible for East to hold the king of clubs (or he would have opened the bidding). So declarer came to his hand with the ace of spades and led the club queen. West covered, and dummy won the ace. Now two more spades were cashed. East had to make two discards. Eventually he had to either throw the club jack or let go a low diamond. Naturally, looking at dummy's club 10, he threw a diamond. Declarer discarded his last club on the fourth spade. When he played a diamond to the jack and then cashed the diamond ace, the king fell and the contract was made.

It would not have helped East to cover the diamond 10 earlier, since he would still have to throw a diamond to keep the club jack, and then South's three of diamonds would take the last trick.

James Jacoby's books "Jacoby on Bridge" and "Jacoby on Card Games" (written with his father, the late Oswald Jacoby) are now available at bookstores. Both are published by Pharos Books.

Lomas announces $500 million sale to Merrill Lynch group

DALLAS (AP) — Lomas Financial Corp., continuing a program to reduce its indebtedness, said Thursday it has agreed to sell its retail banking operation for $435 million in cash and $65 million in notes to an investor group led by Merrill Lynch Capital Partners Inc.

Analysts called the sale of an operating unit that includes the Visa and MasterCard business formerly owned by MCorp a major reversal in corporate strategy and further evidence of financial problems plaguing the firm.

In the quarter ended March 31,

Lomas suffered a $12.2 million loss from its real estate development operations and a $1.3 million deficit in its mortgage banking unit, which is undergoing its second reorganization in recent years.

In all, the company lost $12.4 million on revenues of $332.3

million during the recent quarter.

As part of the sale to Merrill, expected to be completed within 60 days, Lomas said it will spend $10 million to acquire a 10 percent stake in the divested operation.

Stockholder files suit to block sale

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — The proposed sale of Tony Lama Co. to a private group isn't fair to stockholders, according to a class-action lawsuit seeking to block the sale of the boot manufacturer.

The suit was filed this week in District Court in El Paso by Tony Lama stockholder Herbert Behrens on behalf of 496 stockholders nationwide.

Stockholders won't get their share of the value of the boot company if the proposed $50 deal goes through, according to the lawsuit. The suit claims executives involved in the leveraged buyout "are carrying out a preconceived plan to eliminate the public common stockholders of Tony Lama" and benefit from continued growth.

Under terms of the proposed sale, two of the company's vice presidents and a Houston-based limited partnership would buy all the publicly traded company's stock for $13.65 a share and make the boot maker private.

The offer is contingent on obtaining financing, as well as approval by stockholders at a special meeting in September.

The suit lists as defendants the two executive vice presidents — Frank Tisdale and Johnny Walker — as well as Equus Investments II, the limited partnership that plans to finance the deal.

It also lists as defendants the company's directors, including the sons of founder Tony Lama: Louis and Tony Jr. Under the buyout's terms, Louis and Tony Jr. would remain as consultants but would have no ownership stake in the company.

Walker said he had not seen the suit and would not comment. Behrens' hometown was not listed in the suit and he could not be located.

After heavy trading last week prompted by the announcement of the proposed buyout, Tony Lama stock has been relatively inactive this week.

Sierra provides key bat as Rangers win

by The Associated Press

Luckily for the Texas Rangers, Ruben Sierra was hitting home runs almost as fast as Nolan Ryan was giving them up.

Ryan allowed four homers in a game for the first time in his 22-year career. But Sierra had a pair among his four hits and knocked in five runs Thursday night as the Rangers beat the Chicago White Sox 11-7.

Sierra homered once from each side of the plate, but his second shot, with two men on base in the eighth, wasn't exactly what he planned.

"I'd never hit for the cycle before, so I was looking for a triple on my last at-bat," Sierra said. "I tried to hit it in the gap but I hit it too good. It went very far."

Ryan didn't mind. He allowed home runs to Ivan Calderon, Ron Kittle and two to Harold Baines. The seven runs were the most runs Ryan had yielded in a victory since he beat the Rangers 9-6 as a member of the California Angels on Aug. 4, 1976.

"It was one of those nights and it's a good thing that my club was scoring runs because I needed every run I could get," said Ryan, 7-3.

Ryan allowed six hits, struck out seven and walked one. He set a club record by retiring 26 consecutive batters over two games before Calderon homered in the second inning.

"They are a free-swinging club and they came out swinging tonight," Ryan said. "I felt fine physically but I didn't have good velocity on my fastball. Three homers were on fastballs."

So were Sierra's. "Sometimes it happens," he said about his hot night. "You don't think about it and you hit the ball hard. I was looking for fastballs and I got fastballs twice and I hit the ball good."

Astros 7, Padres 6

(AP) - Glenn Davis' two-run homer in the 10th gave Houston its 13th victory in 14 games. Danny Darwin, 5-1, pitched the 10th for Houston.

Tony Gwynn's RBI single gave the Padres the lead in the top of the inning.

Mark Davis, 2-2, walked Gerald Young to open the bottom of the inning and, one out later, Glenn Davis hit his 14th homer of the season.

Anderson upsets Brenham

AUSTIN (AP) - Austin Anderson baseball coach Jimmy Tompkins lost to Brenham in today's tournament in March, but he predicted that his team could beat the three-time Class 4A champions if they ever met again.

Tompkins and his team made good on the prediction Thursday when the hometown Trojans stunned the Cubs, 6-4, in eight innings in front of a standing room only crowd of 5,123 at Disch-Falk Field.

The victory gave Anderson a spot against Paris in today's Class 4A final at the 41st University Interscholastic League baseball tournament.

"I always thought we could play with them," said Tompkins in his first year at Anderson. "We had our opportunities and we made the best of them."

"They are a great team," he added. In their first meeting, the Trojans lost 4-0 to national record holder Jon Peters. On Thursday

Peters watched from his position at third base and teammate James Nix lost for the first time in 15 games.

Peters contributed a single and an RBI and ends his career with a 54-1 record after winning 53 straight.

"This is not the worst thing that could happen," said Peters, who was 12-1 this year. "We all have bigger and better things to do in our lives."

Anderson, 25-6, erupted for four runs in the top of the eighth to secure the win. Brenham ended its season with the bases loaded.

Longhorns oust LSU, 12-7

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) - Opponents at the College World Series are learning you don't tell the Texas Longhorns there's no way they're going to beat you.

A Miami player was heard by the Longhorns to say there was no way Texas could beat the Hurricanes. Texas won 12-2 in the West Division winners' bracket final Monday night.

Louisiana State Coach Skip Bertman said after the Tigers eliminated Miami the following night that he believed his ace pitcher Ben McDonald was better than Texas and that LSU would force a second semifinal game today.

Texas collected 13 hits, scored 12 runs again and handed LSU a going-away ticket with a 12-7 whipping in a CWS semifinal

Thursday night. The victory sends second-seeded Texas to the championship game with a 54-17 record. Sixth-seeded LSU ends its season 55-17.

Texas goes to the championship game for the eighth time to face the winner of tonight's 7:10 p.m. CDT East Division semifinal between No. 1 seed Florida State, 54-17, and No. 4 seed Wichita State, 66-16.

"I think I said and some other people said that very often these highly pumped pitching duels just don't develop that way. This was just another case of it," Texas coach Cliff Gustafson said.

Scott Bryant and Arthur Butcher drove in three runs each for Texas as the Longhorns erupted for four runs in the first, two in the second, one in the third and four more in the fourth off McDonald, the No. 1 pick in the Major League draft last Monday.

The matchup of McDonald, 14-4 with the loss, and Texas starter Kirk Dressendorfer, 18-2 with the win, drew a session record crowd of 16,072. The fans saw McDonald set a record not expected of the pitcher named College Player of the Year by Baseball America last week. The loss was McDonald's fourth career CWS loss. No other pitcher had lost more than three at the NCAA Division I championship.

Steve Bethea had three hits, including his fifth homer, and Jeff Shults had two hits for the Longhorns.

Gustafson said he will start Bryant against the Florida State-

Wichita State winner in Saturday's championship game.

Florida State and Wichita State will meet tonight for the third time in the tournament, each having won one game. FSU downed the Shockers 4-2 behind Clyde Keller's pitching on Sunday, while Wichita State came back with Charlie Giaudrone starting and ace reliever Mike Newlin closing his third CWS save in a 7-4 decision Wednesday night.

Pat Cedeno, 12-4, Wichita State's loser in the opening round, is scheduled to start for the Shockers, while the Seminoles have Keller, 13-0, who beat WSU earlier in the tournament on a four-hitter.

Pistons top Magic-less LA

AUBURN HILLS, Mich. (AP) - The Lakers lost their Magic touch. Can their championship be far behind?

"The Pistons must be the luckiest team in the country," Los Angeles guard Tony Campbell said, "in the world."

The Lakers chances of becoming only the third team in NBA history to win three consecutive titles sustained a severe blow when Magic Johnson, their leader, was hurt in the third quarter Thursday night.

He didn't come back. Detroit did.

A 10-point run that opened the fourth quarter gave the Pistons their first lead, 94-92, and carried them to a 108-105 victory and a 2-0 lead in the best-of-7 NBA Finals.

It's uncertain whether Johnson can play in Sunday's third game in Inglewood, Calif. Byron Scott, the other starting guard, missed the first two games and said he also would miss the third because of a hamstring injury suffered in practice.

Although Los Angeles misses Scott's shooting and defensive quickness, the impact of his loss doesn't compare with that of Johnson, the NBA's most valuable player and the man who directs the Los Angeles attack.

"When Magic's not in the game, it's like when (Larry) Bird's not in the game or (Michael) Jordan's not in the game," said Detroit's Isiah Thomas, who had 13 of his 21 points after Johnson was injured.

Johnson strained his left hamstring with 4:39 left in the third quarter and the score 75-75. He stood at center court while his teammates huddled during a timeout. Then trainer Gary Vitti escorted him to the locker room.

"I felt a twinge early in the third quarter but thought everything was OK," Johnson said. "I pulled it trying to get back on defense."

"Why me? Not now." "It wasn't a great sight to see him walk off, but I've got a team to coach," said Los Angeles Coach Pat Riley. "We've got three games at home and the most dangerous thing in the world is a wounded animal."

With their emergency backcourt of Michael Cooper and Campbell getting 11 points, the Lakers outscored Detroit 17-9 after Johnson left and took a 92-84 lead into the final period.

But James Edwards hit a basket and two free throws, Vinnie Johnson sank two straight field goals and Mark Aguirre made a layup. That put the Pistons ahead 94-92 with 8:32 remaining.

They led 106-100 before Mychal Thompson and A.C. Green made two foul shots each to make the score 106-104 with 32 seconds left. The Lakers got the ball back with eight seconds to go on a 24-second violation.

With two seconds remaining, James Worthy drove to the basket and was fouled by Dennis Rodman. Worthy missed the first shot and made the second, leaving Los Angeles one point down.

Thomas made two free throws with one second left and a desperation heave by the Lakers at the buzzer fell short.

Worthy and Cooper led Los Angeles with 19 points each and Johnson had 18 points, nine assists and six rebounds in 29 minutes.

Joe Dumars topped Detroit with 33 points. He had 26 in the first half, but the Lakers led 62-56 at intermission.

will meet for the Class 5A crown.

Dulles fought back to conquer Fort Worth Southwest 8-5, while Corpus Christi Carroll staved off a late inning rally by Duncanville 5-4 to secure a spot in the finals in the other semifinal game.

Steve Rochard went the distance for Dulles and improved to 11-0 on the year, striking out 10 and allowing seven hits.

Carroll, now 29-4 on the year, built up a 5-0 lead through five innings on 11 hits against a Duncanville pitching staff that had not allowed a run in the past 22 innings.

Duncanville, 28-6 and a two-time champion in 1975-76, cut the lead to one with a four-run surge in the bottom of the seventh on the strength of five straight hits including back-to-back doubles.

Trey Walters' ground-rule double in the bottom of the eighth lifted Paris past Leander 5-4 in the other 4A semifinal, also played in eight innings.

Sinton will have a chance to defend its Class 3A title when it meets San Augustine in the final.

Sinton, 24-5, trimmed Pleasant Grove 7-5, while San Augustine, 22-5, dumped Llano 9-6 in the semifinals.

Jaime Sepeda, an all-tournament selection last year, struck out 12 batters in improving to 15-1 for the season.

Michael Canton fanned 10 in San Augustine's win.

Shelbyville, 27-1 and winner of 21 in a row, will also have a chance to repeat in Class 2A after defeating Hamilton 7-2.

The Dragons will take on China Spring, 21-4, which defeated Yorktown 5-4.

Joe Daw turned in the top individual performance of the day in Shelbyville's win.

Daw mowed down 17 Hamilton batters to establish a new Class 2A strikeout mark.

Solons receive praise

Education board liked session

AUSTIN (AP) — The 1989 regular legislative session was a triumph for the State Board of Education, which saw many of its concerns answered by state lawmakers, says Education Commissioner W.N. Kirby.

"I think you're going to be amazed at the number of your recommendations that were enacted into law," Kirby told board members.

"I would say that this is probably the most successful legislative session the agency and the board has had ... that I can remember," Kirby said.

The board Thursday applauded legislative action and praised Kirby's work in pushing legislative goals for public education.

"Nothing apparently fell through the cracks. It's remarkable," said board member Bob Aikin of Commerce after Deputy Education Commissioner Lynn Moak explained highlights of education legislation.

"I think that says a great deal about the maturing of this commissioner and his staff. Credit is due in the very highest degree to the commissioner," said Aikin, whose sentiments were echoed by other board members.

Lawmakers approved numerous education bills, including those on public school funding, raises for starting teacher and plans to decrease the number of dropouts.

Kirby said legislators had been particularly receptive to suggestions by the school board.

Among the most important legislation was a bill aimed at equalizing state aid between poor and wealthy school districts, for which the Legislature set aside $450 million over the next two years.

Kirby cautioned the board not to rush into writing rules to implement the new laws.

"If we can read the law and understand it, let's not write any regulations on it," Kirby said. He also suggested the board not write rules to "get around" legislation they don't like.

He urged board members to adopt preliminary rules as guidelines for school districts on programs mandated to begin Sept. 1. The board may need more time to fully implement the programs and may want to change regulations later, he said.

Among the board's recommendations set into law were the addition of social studies and science to a standardized test for students and the elimination of testing in the first grade, Kirby said.

Legislation Moak outlined for the board included pilot programs for early childhood education and for 3-year-olds; expanded dropout-prevention efforts; and changes in the textbook adoption process.

At least one board member, Bill Hudson of Wichita Falls, offered less than full support for lawmakers' actions, especially concerning public school finance.

"We need to congratulate the Legislature on what they have done, but it falls far short of what they could have done," Hudson said, adding that one-fifth of the schools in his district would lose money under the redistribution plan.

He also said that one-third of the school districts would have to raise taxes.

Bullock: Texas spends less per capita

AUSTIN (AP) — Texans paid less state taxes and Texas spent less money per capita than any other state during 1987, according to an analysis by the state Comptroller's office.

The analysis of U.S. Census Bureau figures showed Texans paid $1,168 per capita in state taxes in 1987, about one-third less than the 50-state average of $1,728.

And Texas' 1987 general revenue expenditures of $1,148 per person were 31 percent less than the national average of $1,664, according to the analysis in Fiscal Notes, a monthly publication of the Comptroller's office.

S&L compromise is threatened by partisan fighting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Partisan disputes over Jim Wright's ethics and Republican opposition to a key reform threaten President Bush's plan to protect depositors from $100 billion in losses by failed savings and loans.

The debate is taking on a more political tinge as the full House prepares to deal with the bill next week.

House GOP leaders threatened on Thursday to blame the financial crisis — the largest in the nation since the Depression — on influence peddling for S&Ls by the fallen House speaker and fellow Democratic leader Tony Coelho. Both Wright and Coelho are leaving the House under fire on ethics issues.

Democrats, meanwhile, began making an issue of GOP House members' opposition to the reforms that Bush has requested. The Republicans are trying to weaken a key reform that Bush says is needed to prevent a similar debacle in the future — requiring S&L owners to put up more of their own money when making speculative loans.

Bush's proposal calls for total spending and borrowing, including interest over the next 30 years, of $285 billion. The money would guarantee that depositors will not lose any money because of risky and often fraudulent lending by S&L operators in recent years.

Of that bailout total, about $157 billion, or 55 percent, will come from taxpayers — "about $600 for every man, woman and child in this country," according to the General Accounting Office.

Through four months of congressional action including Senate passage of Bush's proposal, Democrats and Republicans studiously avoided blaming the other.

"Nobody wanted to point a finger because there would be three pointed right back at him," said Rep. Richard Lehman, D-Calif., a member of the House Banking Committee.

But there were several signs of finger-pointing Thursday.

Rep. Marcy Kaptur, D-Ohio, using a cartoon of Bush as a prop on the House floor, called his bailout proposal "the biggest tax increase in recent memory."

The cartoon was captioned "Read my FSLIC" and portrayed Bush as talking out of both sides of his mouth in promising no new taxes while committing taxpayers to more than $150 billion in interest costs.

FSLIC stands for the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., the agency that insures depositors against losses up to $100,000 each. It now has an estimated deficit of $55 billion that is growing by $10 million a day.

Did Soviet plant explode?

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Some leading scientists think the Soviet Union's Chernobyl nuclear plant exploded like a nuclear bomb, something the nuclear industry has said could not happen.

In an article in today's Technology Review, scientists gave conflicting views on whether the April 1986 Chernobyl accident, which killed 31 people and spread radiation thousands of miles, was caused by a nuclear explosion.

The article in the journal, published by the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, said similar accidents could happen at 13 other reactors in the Soviet Union, but "the possibility of such an accident in a U.S. reactor is vanishingly small."

William Sweet, the article's author, interviewed scientists and specialists at the Nuclear Regulatory Commission and the Department of Energy in an effort to reach a consensus on the accident.

"A runaway nuclear reaction set off a chain of events that severely damaged the reactor core and surrounding structures," Sweet wrote. "This damage set the stage for a second explosion which was much more violent than the first and almost certainly was a full-fledged nuclear explosion."

But Themis Speis, deputy research chief at the NRC, said it was "very misleading" to call the accident a nuclear explosion.

"The reactor went out of control, but the time it took to raise the temperature and pressure is many orders of magnitude smaller than it takes to get an atomic bomb going," he said.

Pedestrian struck here

A 37-year-old Snyder man was injured when a car hit him at 12:25 a.m. Friday in the 1300 Block of the East Hwy.

Police said James P. Mackey of Box 863 was crossing the street when he was hit by a 1978 Chevrolet driven by Martin D. Torres of 1201 24th St.

He was taken by private vehicle to the Cogdell Memorial Hospital emergency room, where he was treated and released.

Police investigated a three-car accident at 1:13 p.m. Thursday at 40th St. and College Ave., where a 1989 Ford driven by Danny R. Thomason of Rt. 2 was in collision with a 1978 Chevrolet driven by Esperanza Villanueva of Hermleigh and a 1989 Pontiac driven by Donna Zajicek of 4008 Ave. U.

Who will control the system remains critical issue in workers' comp debate

AUSTIN (AP) — Lawmakers working to reform workers' compensation in Texas must decide who will control the system, said the chairman of the Industrial Accident Board.

"I think the gut issue of the workers' compensation debate is the issue of control — who controls what occurs in workers' compensation claims," Joseph Gagen, head of the agency that administers workers' compensation claims, told a Thursday health law conference.

"How the Legislature addresses this issue — or its ability to address this issue — will determine whether or not there is any legislation at all," he said.

Lawmakers in the regular session that ended May 29 were unable to agree on a plan to reform the method of compensating workers injured or killed on the job in Texas.

A special legislative session beginning June 20 has been called by Gov. Bill Clements for lawmakers to again try to reform the system, which has been criticized for combining high premiums paid by businesses with low benefits paid to workers.

Insurance companies and attorneys currently control the process, Gagen said.

"They decide essentially what is paid in the vast majority of cases," he said, with decisions based on the law and on potential administrative and legal costs.

"How much does it cost to work a claim through the system? Is it cheaper to settle without doing that? ... Can a worker survive the time it takes to get through the process?" are among the items considered, Gagen said.

The issue, Gagen said, is "How much control continues to reside with the parties, and how much control is given to the administrative process, the administrative agency."

As lawmakers study the system, Sen. Chet Brooks said one proposal being considered is whether a portion of punitive damages awarded to workers by juries should be given to the workers' compensation assigned risk pool.

Businesses in the pool are unable to obtain insurance from another source.

Under the proposal mentioned at the conference by Brooks, if a jury awarded an injured worker punitive damages in excess of two times the actual damages, that excess amount would go to the pool in an effort to lower premiums.

"Punitive damages really, in theory, are a punishment to the person who induced the injury to begin with," said Brooks, D-Pasadena. "It seems to me to be a fair thing to say a part of the punishment, or the fine if you will, should go to help sustain the system."

Bush says...

China must recognize right to dissent

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Bush refuses to fix blame for the massacre in Beijing but says it would be "extraordinarily difficult" to have ties with anyone responsible for the bloodshed.

Bush, in the first prime-time news conference of his presidency, said Thursday night that the United States won't have normal relations with China until the government there recognizes demands for democracy.

Despite a military crackdown that killed hundreds if not thousands of people in Beijing, Bush emphasized Thursday night that he wants to "preserve the relationship" with China.

But for that relationship to be normal, he said, "it will take a recognition of the rights of individuals and respect for the rights of those who disagree."

He said, "I don't want to pass judgment on individual leaders but I want to make very clear to those leaders and to the rest of the world that the United States denounces the kind of brutality that all of us have seen on our television."

Pressed on whether he could maintain relations with anyone who ordered the firing on unarmed students, Bush said, "It would make it extraordinarily difficult."

Bush answered questions at the televised news conference for 33 minutes. He appeared relaxed and confident, joking at times with his interrogators and expressing pleasure when a reporter wished his wife, Barbara, happy birthday on her 64th.

Bush took the opportunity to say the first lady was "doing just fine" after treatment for a thyroid problem.

On other matters, Bush:

—Said he opposed public disclosure of people who test positive for AIDS. "There is a certain right to privacy that we should respect," he said, adding, however, that people who test positive should inform their doctors and sexual partners.

—Said he will tell Polish leaders during a visit next month "we want to work with you" as long as economic and pro-democracy reforms continue. "When a country moves as Poland did, down democracy's path, the United States should respond as best it could," he said.

—Said he would not give up on his campaign to drive from power Panamanian ruler Manuel Antonio Noriega, who has been indicted in Miami on drugsmuggling charges.

Foreign policy issues dominated the questioning.

Bush said he was encouraged by Moscow's response to his proposal for cutbacks in Soviet and

In other school-related items, the board:

—Approved the employment of three new teachers to include Heather Guthrie as an English teacher at the high school; Patti Monroe as a sixth grade teacher at Stanfield; and Andrew Purcella as a sixth grade teacher at Northeast. Guthrie, a recent graduate of McMurray, and Purcella, a recent graduate of Angelo State University, are both starting teachers. Monroe counts 11 years experience, holds a masters degree from Texas Tech and transfers in as a Level III teacher.

—Approved a resolution supporting the effort to expand the TDC's Daniel Unit to a 2,000-bed facility. The measure passed 4-3 using a paper ballot vote.

—Approved the resignations of nine staffers, eight of these retirees. Also resigning was Janice Mauldin, math teacher at the junior high. Retirees include Martha Schiebel, Billie Hartfield, Ramelle Parsons, Troy and Mary Lou Scott, Carolyn Reon, Jerrald Bowen and Bobbie Box.

—Approved out-of-district transfers both in and out of Snyder ISD for the coming school year. Some 80 students will transfer into the district next year and 60 will transfer out.

—Approved the district's "technology program" which deals with the proposed future addition of a closed circuit television channel for the district which would broadcast educational programming.

—Awarded the bid for janitorial supplies to SJS Inc. of Snyder. Two out-of-town firms bid on select items on the itemized list of supplies, but it was noted the package bid of SJS was considered the "best" bid. The total cost is projected at $24,366.

Two trustees abstained from voting, Mike Jordan and Sam Robertson, and it passed 5-0.

—Awarded the bid for cafeteria equipment, to include three Montague brand double convection ovens and one Montague branch range to Plan-Ex Corp. of Lubbock. The firm's estimate of $16,802 was the lowest of two out-of-town bids.

—Awarded the bid for copy paper to Stephens Office Supply, the lowest of two submitted. Stephens bid $36,167 and National Papers bid $37,511. This bid reflects supplies for Snyder ISD as well as Western Texas College, Hermleigh ISD, Ira ISD, the city and county. Sam Robertson abstained from voting and it passed 6-0.

—Approved summer purchases of instructional supplies which must be ordered prior to the approval of the 1989-90 school budget. The items were broken down by school campus and totaled some $24,000 of district funds.

—Approved a budget amendment related to the purchase of a typewriter for the West Elementary campus. The board authorized moving $510 from the West general supplies budget into the equipment budget for the purchase.

—Approved a policy update as recommended by the Texas Association of School Boards related to academic achievement areas.

Congress chartered the "nation's attic," the Smithsonian Institution, on Aug. 10, 1846. It was named in honor of English scientist Joseph Smithson, whose bequest of $500,000 made it possible. Smithson's will directed the money be used "for the increase and diffusion of knowledge among men."

American combat troops in Europe to 275,000 each.

He said agreement on that plan could ease tensions in NATO about updating short-range nuclear missiles — a plan that West Germany opposes.

While saying he wants to see Soviet leader Mikhail S. Gorbachev's economic reforms succeed, Bush said, "I am going to keep my eyes wide open."

He also urged Iran's new leaders to help free American hostages in Lebanon and to renounce terrorism if they want better relations with the United States.

On the political front in Washington, where congressional Republicans and Democrats are bitterly attacking each other over ethics issues, Bush said "this ugliness of this climate is bad and I don't like it and I'd like to think that I could help."

He said newly elected Democratic House Speaker Thomas Foley, tarred by a Republican Party circular comparing his record to that of a homosexual congressman, had been rendered "a terrible ill service."

Bush said GOP chairman Lee Atwater "looked me right in the eye and said he did not know about" the circular, whose purported author, Mark Goodin, resigned as a Republican press aide on Wednesday.

Discussing China, Bush repeatedly referred to his experience as U.S. envoy to Beijing in 1974-1975 but said U.S. understanding of developments in China was "very, very murky."

Long-standing allies are likely to be even more helpful to you in the year ahead than they have in the past. It behooves you to do everything you can to keep improving these associations.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) It looks like you might be more effective running things for others today than you will be in managing your own interests. Be equally attentive in both areas. CANCER (June 21-July 22) Be able to distinguish today between genuine optimism and just plain wishful thinking. The first enhances possibilities for success, the second negates them.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A reasonable profit is likely from your commercial endeavors today, but if you expect something for nothing, you could be in for a disappointment.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Conditions in general should be rather pleasant for you today with the exception of situations that have competitive elements. Measure competitors realistically.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Your hunches and insights could provide you with false readings today, so don't rely upon them too heavily. Important evaluations should be based upon pure logic.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Not everyone who promises to do things for you today will live up to the commitment. In fact, people who talk the loudest might deliver the least.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Your achievement potential is high again today and goals are apt to be attained. However, you might have to drag along some dead weight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Co-workers will be annoyed with you today if you do not do your fair share. Be a producer and not one who tries to pawn off onto someone else things you should be doing.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Resist talking prematurely today about something impressive you hope to accomplish. You'll feel very foolish later if things don't come off as you anticipate.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Strive to be cooperative with others today, but, by the same token, don't let yourself be jockeyed around by a person for whom no one seems to be able to do enough or please.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Ambitious expectations can be fulfilled today, but it might require a bit more work than you realize. Don't fall into the trap of taking things for granted.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) In your commercial dealings today it looks like you will be practical up to a point, but then you might do something foolish at a critical moment that could adversely affect your efforts.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren
1988 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a 31-year-old female, married nearly five years (no children), and have been having an affair for several months. Late last year I realized that I was not happy. My husband started a new consulting job at that time and worked every evening until 9 or 10 p.m. and all day Saturday. I saw less and less of him, and felt lonely and frustrated. We argued a lot and I kept telling him I was not happy. He told me if our marriage did not work out it would be because I wasn't understanding enough — that he was working for our future.

Innocently enough, I asked one of my clients to a client appreciation luncheon. We had a wonderful time, and after I left him, I felt something deep within my heart for this man. I passed it off as "flirting" fun; then he called me a few days later and invited me to lunch. I felt like a school-girl again. To make a long story short, more lunches followed, and I knew he was special enough to risk my marriage for. That's how our affair began.

Now I know that I love this man and want to spend the rest of my life with him. The problem is that I really do love my husband and don't want to hurt him. How did this happen? How can I be in love with two men? Is my affair true love, or am I substituting the lack of love at home for an exciting affair with another man?

We both decided to end our affair on the last day of 1988. It didn't work. We saw each other again because we couldn't stay away from each other.

The guilt is killing me. Meanwhile my husband is working so hard he doesn't seem to notice. Please help me.

IN LOVE WITH TWO MEN IN TEXAS

DEAR IN LOVE: You need more help than I can give you in a letter. You (and your husband) need to find the time to discuss your marriage and evaluate it. Here we go again — I am recommending a family counselor.

You do not mention whether your new love is married or has children.

How your affair "happened" is no mystery. You were vulnerable in your bored and lonely state and were unconsciously looking for the attention and excitement you hungered for.

There are many unanswered questions here. If you left your husband for this new man, who would be hurt? The answers to your questions can be found through counseling. One thing is certain: There's no free lunch. You can't build happiness on the misery of others.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell "Mrs. G. in L.A." not to shoot herself — shoot her husband instead. (Only kidding.) She said her husband, age 72, was having a delayed mid-life crisis and is divorcing her. I know how she feels. My husband of 20 years walked out on me shortly after our daughter turned 16. He said he was going to "find himself." (He also took along his 30-year-old girlfriend and her teen-age son!)

I have (mentally) shot him, poisoned him and strangled him at least once a week since he took a hike. I realize I am only fantasizing, but it helps me cope with the anger, hostility and stress I feel.

Tell Mrs. G. to hang in there. Counseling helps — individually, in a group or both. Also, don't shut out friends who want to help but cannot find the words. Keep busy, volunteer, take classes at a local college or trade school. Most of all, remember, time heals — and the pain does diminish.

Thanks for giving me a chance to unload.
