

Democrats seek party unification

WASHINGTON (AP) — With their new leadership team in place, House Democrats are searching for a legislative agenda to unify their party and provide a counterpoint to the policies of President Bush.

"This is our time to make a difference and move this House away from the partisan wrangling and the rancor and the bitterness, and to reassert an agenda for progress for this country," said Rep. Richard Gephardt of Missouri, elected Wednesday as his party's new No. 2 House leadership official.

But despite Gephardt's campaign-style speech to his colleagues, the new leadership team still has much work to do to assume the reins of power in the House and convert stylistic ability into substance.

While Bush has made much of advocating bipartisan cooperation with Congress, his political team has shown a heightened aggressiveness in attacking

Flooding death toll up to five

By The Associated Press

Heavy thunderstorms that came as a relief to parched South Texas were a bane to northern sections of the state, where at least five people died from flooding that inundated homes and filled lakes, prompting evacuations.

In Dallas, police evacuated portions of Rochester Park, a south side residential area, while municipal officials considered options that included building a temporary levee to alleviate flooding. An undetermined number of residents were affected.

"Everything in the house was ruined. The walls are popping out, the floors, the ceiling — everything," said Betty Hicks, one resident.

Two young brothers became the flooding's fourth and fifth victims late Wednesday after they were swept away in a rain-swollen creek in Dallas' Oak Cliff section. And state troopers searched today for an elderly man who disappeared in rushing waters.

The bodies of Mark Cox, 13, and his 9-year-old brother, Anthony, were recovered shortly before nightfall, said a spokeswoman at Methodist Central Hospital.

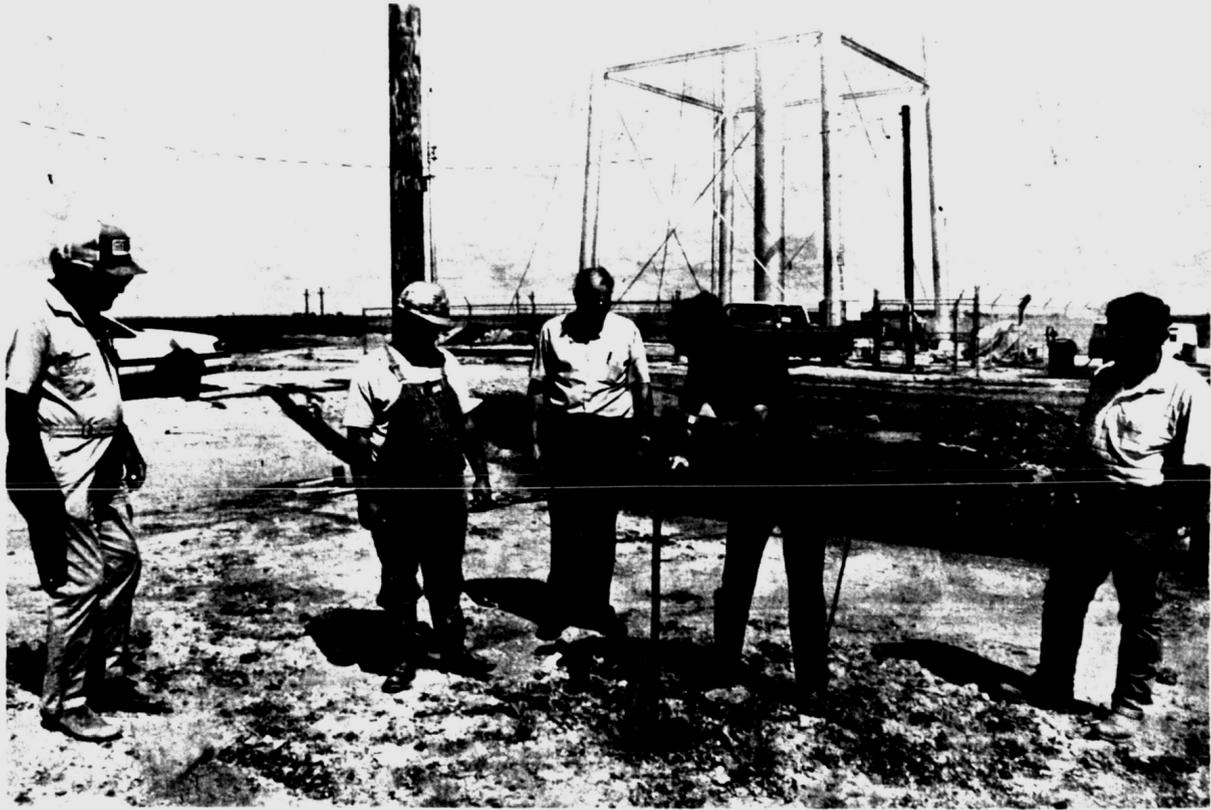

The spokeswoman said Anthony was pronounced dead at the hospital, while Mark was dead at the scene.

Earlier Wednesday, the body of an elderly woman was found after high waters swept away her car about 25 miles east of Dallas. State troopers are still looking for her husband's body.

Flood waters sent levels of rivers and lakes soaring. At least 20 homes along a chain of lakes supplied by the Trinity River's West Fork were flooded and other residents were monitoring the high water.

"Right now, we're about 10 inches below water coming up into the house. It's about 25 to 30 feet

City completes work...

TDC utilities officially 'on'

City officials Wednesday turned on the Daniel Unit's water supply, officially completing the $1.8 million extension of water and sewer lines to the Texas Department of Correction's newest 1,000-man unit.

The lines were turned in the area between the unit's 161-foot water tower and the north side of the prison about 11:30 a.m. in round-robin fashion by Mayor Troy Williamson, City Councilman Jack "Jackie" Greene Jr., City Engineer Don Osborn and consultant George Lee.

Also there was Don Brown of Trinity Contractors of Arlington, who handled the installation of lines and all of the plumbing inside the compound.

The sewer line has been in use for the past two weeks, although only for testing purposes, Osborn said.

The city required $1,593,000 in bond money to lay the five miles of water and sewer lines and $229,000 for the 150,000 gallon water tower, along with a water booster pump station near the Rip Griffin Truck Service Center east of town and a sewer line lift station at 37th St. and the East Hwy.

The 12-inch water line was laid at depths of five to six feet and the sewer line at around 20 feet.

Osborn said the work by Panhandle Construction of Lubbock, a half-dozen subcontractors and Pittsburg Tank & Tower Co. of Pittsburg, Ky., progressed rapidly from the time work started in mid-February until completion.

The only real complication, he said, was a number of leaks in the joints of the water line, but the contractor "stayed with it" until all of the leaks were fixed.

"I thought the contractors really were very conscientious and did an excellent job," Osborn said.

Planning for the possible expansion of the unit to a 2,000-man capacity, the city had a 15-inch sewer line laid for 14,600 feet from the prison toward town and a 12-inch line the rest of the way

WTC drama receives donation of costumes

Hundreds of costumes created for dance students of the late Elaine Lambert over a period of many years have been donated to the Western Texas College theatre department by Mrs. Lambert's sister, Marylu Musgrove.

"We are delighted and almost overwhelmed by this gift," Jim Rambo, WTC theatre director, says. "There is no real way to put a monetary value on the costumes and the fabrics purchased for costume making which also came to us. Some of the fabric used in the costumes and still on rolls would be extremely expensive at today's prices. We feel that the costumes and fabrics will be a great asset to our department."

Mrs. Lambert and Mrs. Musgrove were the daughters of the late Dr. and Mrs. H.E. Rosser. They were born in South Carolina and moved to Snyder with their parents when Mrs. Musgrove was about six. Dr. Rosser came first, riding the train to Roscoe and completing the trip to Snyder in a horse-drawn hack. After completing their schooling in Snyder, the sisters went to New York City College and Baylor University.

"Our father kept us together," Mrs. Musgrove remembers. "I couldn't go until Elaine was old enough to go with me." At NYC, she studied music and Elaine took expression. As students, they received passes to cultural affairs and Elaine was fascinated by dance. She was only about 15 when she began teaching dance students, Mrs. Musgrove says. She herself taught piano lessons.

Costumes are important to students in dance recitals and Mrs. Lambert began to have them made by local seamstress

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "An awkward age is being older than you look, but younger than you feel."

Wacil McNair, former SDN editor who is semi-retired and living in his boyhood town of Gilmer, was back in Snyder for a visit with family and friends.

In addition to visiting with son, Lee, who is business manager for the Snyder public schools, Wacil always makes it a point to come by the newspaper for a few hugs from the ladies, many with whom he worked for almost 30 years.

McNair also spent a day in Big Spring looking up old friends during the days when he was a cub reporter for the Big Spring Herald and worked with Joe Pickle. Pickle is also retired from the newspaper business, but works for the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

It was McNair who updated us on a bit of Scurry County history. Noting that long-time educator L.M. Dawson had died that week in Mitchell County, McNair recalled a major contribution that Dawson made to Scurry County while superintendent of the Fluvanna School.

Dawson, who was Fluvanna school superintendent from 1955 to 1968, retired last year as superintendent at Westbrook. While head of the Fluvanna school, McNair recalls a significant visit that Dawson made into Snyder.

Dawson had an idea, and one of the first steps in town was the old newspaper office on 25th Street. With evangelistic furor Dawson told the editor, "Mac, we need a county-wide fair in Scurry County."

That was the beginning of the Scurry County Fair which was begun in 1965. McNair says Dawson talked with key leaders all over the county and gained their support, but it was Dawson who did the work and kept the idea alive. "He almost single-handedly put the Scurry County Fair together," McNair added.

Research into the dates that Dawson headed the Fluvanna schools gave us newcomers another bit of history. Fluvanna schools, which began in 1892, was first called the Jumbo School, a one-room box house with no ceiling and with strips covering large cracks in the walls.

Jumbo was located about one mile east of Fluvanna and a fourth of a mile east of the Light Post Office. It was named for the Jumbo Cattle Company which had leased most of the land in the area. In 1903, enrollment caused the faculty to double in size—to two teachers.

In Brief

Trade deficit

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. merchandise trade deficit dipped sharply to $8.26 billion in April as exports rose to a new high and imports declined, the government said today.

The Commerce Department said the second straight monthly improvement in the country's trade balance came from a 0.8 percent increase in exports and a 2.6 percent decline in imports.

The April deficit was 13.4 percent below a revised March imbalance of $9.54 billion. March's trade gap originally had been estimated at $8.86 billion.

April's trade gap was the lowest since last July, when the deficit hit $8.02 billion.

Sub accident

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A nuclear attack submarine used in filming "The Hunt for Red October" accidentally snagged a tugboat, sunk it and left one crewman missing.

The search for the night watchman aboard the tugboat Barcona was suspended and no rescue effort was planned today after the sinking 10 miles from shore.

The submarine, a San Diego-based vessel with a crew of 140, wasn't damaged and it surfaced after the accident to assist in the search for the missing sailor, the Navy said.

Criminal court affirms four convictions

AUSTIN (AP) — Capital murder convictions were affirmed by the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in cases that involved the shooting of a Huntsville policeman, the killing of a Lubbock woman and two multiple murders in Houston.

In the Huntsville case affirmed Wednesday, Patrick Curtis Havard was given the death penalty for the 1985 shooting death of Kevin Williams, a Huntsville police officer.

According to the court opinion, Havard went to the home of his estranged wife and her roommate. When Havard and his wife argued and began to scuffle, the roommate called police.

Williams, who responded to the call, was killed by a small caliber gunshot wound to the middle of his forehead and also had a shoulder wound.

In the Lubbock case, which was heard in Midland County on a change of venue, Clarence Allen Lackey was sentenced to death for the slaying of Diane Kumph.

Ms. Kumph was abducted from her Lubbock apartment shortly before dawn on July 31, 1977, according to the court opinion. Later that day, her partially nude body was discovered beside a dirt road outside of Lubbock, near Lackey's house. It appeared that she had been raped, she had been severely beaten, and her throat had been slashed.

Before he was convicted in Midland County, Lackey was tried once in the case in Tom Green County on a change of venue, but that conviction was reversed on appeal.

In one Houston case, the death penalty was affirmed for Kenneth Ray Ransom in the 1983 stabbing murders of four young employees of the Malibu Grand Prix Race Center.

The bodies of Anil Varughese, 18; Rod Harris, 22; and brothers Arnold Pequeno, 19, and Joerene Pequeno, 18; were discovered at the race center by a friend of Varughese. Each had been stabbed numerous times, according to court records.

Last week, an Aug. 3 execution date was set for another man convicted of capital murder in the case, Richard James Wilkerson, who was fired from the race center before the murders. Also convicted of capital murder was James Randle, Wilkerson's cousin, who was 16 at the time of the offense and received a life sentence.

Ransom told the jury that he played video games while the murders occurred.

In the other Houston case, the appeals court upheld the death sentence for Richard Drinkard, who was convicted of stabbing and beating three people to death and robbing them in their townhome in the northwest part of the city in 1985.

Drinkard, a carpenter from Alabama, was convicted of murdering Lou Ann Anthony, 44; her sister, LaDean Hendrix, 47, of Caddo, Okla.; and Ms. Hendrix's boyfriend, Jerry Mullens, 43. They were beaten with a 16-ounce hammer.

Dear Abby

Husband With Herpes Has Left Wife Alone With Bitter Legacy

By Abigail Van Buren

© Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman in my late 30s, recently divorced after a nine-year marriage. I have been told I am attractive, personable and marriageable. So what's my problem?

A year after my marriage, I learned that I had herpes! My world came tumbling down. I had been a faithful wife, and the only way I could have gotten herpes was from my husband. He finally admitted that he had had mild symptoms when he met me, but didn't think it was anything to be concerned about. It wasn't easy, but we were able to live with it.

After nine years of marriage, my husband told me he wanted to be "free," so we were divorced. As soon as our divorce was final, he remarried — so I suspect he had a lady waiting in the wings.

It has been two years, and I am having a hard time dealing with being single and having herpes. I hurt, knowing that no man will want to marry me knowing I have herpes. I have avoided forming any serious relationships for this reason.

I feel totally alone, but I'm sure there are others in the same boat. Could some of your readers who have this problem share their solutions with me? Maybe it will give me some hope for my life, as I have no one to talk to. I have so much love to give the right person, but I am afraid.

ALONE IN WICHITA, KAN.

DEAR ALONE: You may feel alone, but you are far from it. An estimated 30 million Americans have become infected with herpes — although less than half of them are aware of it.

The Herpes Resource Center has a network of approximately 90 local support groups around the country. They provide information and emotional support, and offer an opportunity to talk about your situation (or listen to others) in a confidential environment. Sharing experiences and obtaining a broader knowledge of how the virus affects its victims' lives is the main theme of these meetings. Being able to talk with other people will relieve much of the stress, embarassment and confusion about life with herpes.

For a list of local support groups and a free pamphlet that answers basic questions about herpes, send a long, self-addressed, stamped (45 cents) envelope to: Herpes Resource Center, P.O. Box 13827-H, Research Triangle Park, N.C. 27709. The Herpes Resource Center is a program of the American Social Health Association (ASHA), a United Way agency.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have a beautiful 3-month-old baby girl who is the joy of our lives. All I took was a six-week maternity leave, then returned to work for financial reasons. I would rather have stayed home with my baby, but we couldn't afford that luxury.

I feel so guilty leaving my daughter every day — I try to spend as much time with her as I can after work to make up for it. This has created another problem: My husband is jealous of the baby. He resents my giving so much attention to the baby instead of him, and it's putting a strain on our marriage. Is there a solution to this problem?

FEELING GUILTY

DEAR FEELING GUILTY: It is not a cop-out to suggest that you do your best to give "quality time" (a much overused term these days) to the two loves of your life.

And who said that baby care is the responsibility of the mother only? Don't be selfish. Give your husband a chance to care for his daughter, too, and he won't feel that he is competing for your time and attention.

Don't put off writing thank-you notes, letters of sympathy, etc. because you don't know what to say. Get Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions." Send a check or money order for $2.89 ($3.39 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Letter Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Cough rate called epidemic

AUSTIN (AP) — The Austin-Travis County Health Department is keeping longer hours at immunization centers after six children and one adult contracted confirmed cases of whooping cough and one official called the outbreak an epidemic.

"We are very concerned about the large number of preschoolers who have not had the whole series (of vaccinations). With seven cases, we consider this an epidemic," said Dr. Solbritt Murphy, medical director of the Austin-Travis County Health Department.

She noted that state law calls for children to be immunized.

The health department announced late last week that there were three children Austin with confirmed cases of whooping cough, but it did not call the outbreak an epidemic at that time.

"We don't want to cause a panic. But we are up to seven. We think we need to move on it," said Dan Pickens, spokesman for the health department.

Young children who haven't had shots for whooping cough are at the greatest risk of contracting the disease, Dr. Murphy said.

All the Austin children who have the disease are age 2 or younger. But she said adults who were immunized as children have a decreased immunity from whooping cough and can develop a mild case.

Whooping cough is caused by a bacteria that is spread by coughing and sneezing. It can be cured with antibiotics.

Symptoms of whooping cough can occur two weeks after exposure to the bacteria, Dr. Murphy said. Initially, the symptoms are similar to those of a common cold, but can quickly develop into a raspy, bark-like cough. If left untreated, it can lead to pneumonia and death.

Pickens said most of the whooping cough cases were located in the southeastern part of Austin. But he also said the disease had appeared "in all parts of the city."

He said health officials haven't found a common thread of exposure to the bacteria among the children with whooping cough.

Kids can help fix Father's Day treats

FRUITY FUDGE — Glace fruits add a colorful—and tasty—touch to festive fudge. There's no need for a candy thermometer; this fudge becomes firm in the refrigerator. A perfect for the kids to try for Father's Day! (Photo: Glace Fruit Processors)

CHICAGO (AP) — As glace fruit becomes more available year-round (look for it in large supermarkets), home cooks find they can use it in a variety of desserts — from Shortbread Cutouts to Black Forest Souffle.

The Glace Fruit Processors have developed the following recipe for Fruity Father's Day Fudge exclusively for the Associated Press. It's perfect for kids, because you don't need to use a candy thermometer. However, Mom will have to help supervise the melting of the chocolate pieces and the use of the beater.

For more ideas using glace fruit, send for a free 16-page booklet, "Sweeten Your Holidays," from Golin-Harris Communications, 500 N. Michigan Ave., Suite 200-AP, Chicago, IL 60611.

8 ounces semisweet chocolate, melted
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
2½ cups powdered sugar
½ cup (4 ounces) glace whole green or red cherries, chopped
¼ cup (2 ounces) glace orange peel, chopped
¾ cup coarsely chopped walnuts or pecans
Glace whole green or red cherries

Line bottom and sides of a 7-by 3¼-by 2½-inch loaf pan with waxed paper or aluminum foil. In a large bowl, beat cream cheese until fluffy. Beat in chocolate and butter; gradually beat in powdered sugar. Mix in chopped glace cherries and orange peel; mix in walnuts. Pack mixture into a prepared loaf pan, smoothing top. Refrigerate until fudge is firm, about 2 to 3 hours. Remove from pan and place on serving plate; garnish with glace cherries. Cut into slices. Makes 2 pounds.

FRUITY FATHER'S DAY FUDGE
One 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened

NEW YORK (AP) — Treat Dad to dinner on Father's Day — and let the kids lend a hand! A microwave makes it easy, and the cheese and broccoli make it tasty.

The following recipe has been developed exclusively for the Associated Press by Mueller's pasta.

MORE THAN MACARONI & CHEESE
2 tablespoons corn oil margarine
½ of a medium red pepper, chopped
3 green onions, sliced
2 cups low-fat milk, divided
1 teaspoon Dijon mustard
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon hot pepper sauce
3 tablespoons cornstarch
7 ounces Mueller's pasta curls or sea shells, cooked and drained

One 10-ounce package frozen chopped broccoli, thawed and drained

2 cups (8 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese
1 cup diced cooked ham

In a 2-quart microwave-safe bowl or casserole, cook margarine, red pepper, onions, 1½ cups of the milk, mustard, salt and hot pepper sauce on high (100 percent power) for 4 minutes. Using fork or wire whisk, stir in remaining milk and 3 tablespoons cornstarch until well blended. Cook on high for 4 minutes, stirring twice.

Stir in pasta, broccoli, cheese and ham. Cook on high 4 minutes or until heated through. Remove from microwave and stir. Makes 4 servings.

An opening bid? South had neither, but still bid one spade, a risky action that he justified because of favorable vulnerability. But the disastrous result should not be blamed so much on South as on North, whose ill-judged bid of three spades set the stage for West to make a penalty double.

The jack of hearts lead was ducked to East's king, and East switched to the king of diamonds. Declarer won the ace and erred by returning the diamond jack. East won the queen and gave West a ruff in diamonds. West now played a club. Declarer rose with the 10 and still had to make the A-K of trumps for down two. Declarer could not do better by playing trumps from his hand after winning the ace of diamonds. West would grab the king, play a second diamond to get a diamond ruff, and then play a club as before. Declarer would have to lose either a club or another ruff, and would still be set two tricks.

North would have avoided this predicament if he had realized that South's overall was spotty since South was not vulnerable. If North had passed West's two no-trump, he would have surely reaped a plus score. There was too much risk for North to double for penalties, even though it would have worked.

TV show will still be aired

SECAUCUS, N.J. (AP) — Reports of Morton Downey Jr.'s show being yanked off the air are not true, said his producers.

The Record of Hackensack reported Wednesday that sources close to the controversial "Morton Downey Show" said the program will stop taping at the end of the month and reruns will be shown until September, when syndication contracts expire.

The confrontational program is syndicated by MCA, parent company of WWOR-TV in Secaucus, where the show is taped.

Panel agrees to fund super collider

WASHINGTON (AP) — Energy Secretary James Watkins expects a $1 billion contribution from Japan to help build the super collider, according to an influential Alabama Democrat who has agreed to let construction on the project begin in fiscal 1990.

Rep. Tom Beville, the chairman of the House Appropriations subcommittee on energy and water development, says White House officials assured him foreign countries would provide substantial contributions toward the $4.4 billion particle accelerator to be built in Texas.

Beville earlier this year had insisted he would not agree to fund the super collider in fiscal 1990 unless the Energy Department secured firm commitments from foreign countries willing to share the cost.

But on Wednesday, Beville agreed to legislation that has no requirements for any level of foreign participation and sets aside $200 million for the collider in the fiscal year that begins Oct. 1.

Under the bill, $110 would go to initial construction, which could begin after Oct. 1, and $90 million would be for research and development.

Beville's committee voted on the bill after he attended a meeting at the White House with President Bush, Watkins, Rep. John Myers of Indiana, the panel's ranking Republican, White House chief of staff John Sununu and Budget Director Richard Darman.

"Watkins assured all of us that they're going to have a good bit of participation," Beville said late Wednesday.

In addition to Japan, other potential contributors mentioned by Watkins were Italy and India, Beville said. India is the only foreign nation to sign a commitment to share costs of the particle accelerator and has promised to contribute $50 million.

Although some Texans vowed to press for spending $250 million, the level sought by Bush, Beville warned that final congressional approval of even $200 million may be tough.

After his meeting with the president, Beville issued a statement saying: "I told him I would put the money in for him, but it may be difficult to get it approved. It's a good project, but the cost of it concerns me a great deal. It will be up to Congress to make the final decision."

The bill would allow site preparations in Ellis County, where a 53-mile underground ring will be constructed for high-energy physics experiments that scientists hope will help them understand the fundamental nature of matter.

"Texas made out like a bandit in this bill," said Rep. Jim Chapman, a Sulphur Springs Democrat and member of the subcommittee. "Odds are good the full committee will support the subcommittee's work."

There were no requirements imposed that would in any way handicap the Department of Energy's ability to move forward," Chapman said. "This is as positive a response from the subcommittee as we could get. It would have been nice to get the president's request, but the money is simply not there."

The full committee could vote on the appropriation as early as next week, Chapman said. The Senate Appropriations Committee, however, has yet to vote on the collider and "we've got a battle in the Senate to win."

"With the passing of every one of these hurdles, the reality of the super collider gains momentum," said Waxahachie Mayor James Seis. "And with the enthusiasm we have in the Senate in Sen. Lloyd Bentsen and Sen. Phil Gramm, I am very optimistic of its passing in the Senate."

Under the House version, the money could be used for detailed design, construction of power and utility facilities, site preparations and for support buildings.

Zsa Zsa arrested

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Actress Zsa Zsa Gabor said she was handcuffed and made to sit in the street while a police officer arrested her for allegedly slapping him after he pulled over her white Rolls-Royce.

Miss Gabor was booked for investigation of evading a policeman, battery on a policeman, driving without a valid license, driving an unregistered car and driving with an open alcoholic container, said police Lt. James Smith.

She was released Wednesday afternoon on her own recognizance.

Miss Gabor told the authorities she struck the officer in self-defense.

This GOP fund-raising letter was sent to wrong person

WASHINGTON (AP) — Even Ronald Reagan's personal check for $120 couldn't persuade Sen. Howard Metzenbaum to help the Republican Party rid the Senate of "ultra-liberal Democrats."

Metzenbaum, the junior senator from Ohio, is one of those Democrats who doesn't think liberal is a dirty word.

"So when he received a GOP fund-raising letter urging him to match Reagan's donation, his reply to Sen. Don Nickles, chairman of the Republican National Senatorial Committee, was brief.

"Though I cannot send you any money for your efforts, I can send you my heartfelt wish that you achieve the same success in 1990 that the GOP earned in the 1988 Senate race in Ohio," he wrote.

Metzenbaum also suggested he could teach the party's national chairman a thing or two about campaigning.

"I could demonstrate to Lee Atwater that Republican smear tactics end up tarring the GOP and irritating the voters," he wrote. "I have copies of some GOP commercials from 1988 that perfectly illustrate my point."

Metzenbaum attributes part of his re-election landslide last year to voter backlash after his Republican opponent, Cleveland Mayor George Voinovich, accused him of being soft on child pornography.

Metzenbaum, who was rated by Americans for Democratic Action at 80 percent for votes on liberal issues in 1988, was one of thousands of people who were sent the solicitation, RNSC communications director Wendy DeMocker said.

The glossy fund-raising packet seeks charter members of a "Republican Presidential Task Force" whose mission is "to elect a Republican majority to the U.S. Senate in 1990."

It tells recipients they were chosen by a committee that included President Bush and every Republican in the U.S. Senate, and urges them to send donations because "some of the most outspoken, combative, extremist anti-Bush Senate Democrats are up for re-election. And the more of these ultra-liberal Senate Democrats we can replace in the 1990 elections, the better."

That the appeal was wasted on a Democrat who describes himself as a proud liberal didn't seem to trouble DeMocker. "I am sure it happens when the Democrats do mailings, too," she said.

She said the mass mailing went both to regular GOP targets and names from other lists purchased commercially. "The mailing list is very, very large," she said. "Thousands and thousands of people got this particular mailing."

Meanwhile, a liberal Democratic congressman from Connecticut was sent a fancy embossed card identifying him as a "sustaining member" of the GOP and asking for a donation to the Republican National Committee, headed by Atwater.

The mailing read: "Yes, Lee! You can count on me to work with you to make the Bush administration a success for America through my support of the Republican National Committee."

'Psychic' indicted for theft

HOUSTON (AP) — A self-described psychic remained jailed Wednesday after being indicted on theft charges for allegedly taking money from an undercover officer posing as a distraught father.

Sgt. P.J. Schneider said the woman, known "Mother Cantina," allegedly advertises in supermarket tabloids that she can solve all types of problems.

"They would contact her by phone and send money in exchange for her solving their problems. It usually involved finding lost relatives," Schneider said.

After being unable to help a person, Schneider said, the woman allegedly would tell the victim she had buried his or her money because it was evil and the cause of the person's problems.

Schneider said police know of at least seven people taken in by the scam and estimate $50,000 to $60,000 was paid to the woman.

Sandy Evans Ross, 22, is being held without bond in the Harris County Jail while authorities try to determine her actual identity. She was indicted Tuesday.

Prosecutor Jean Spradling said Houston Police Sgt. R.D. House went to Ms. Ross' residence last Friday and identified himself as an oil executive needing help finding his daughter.

"She guaranteed him she could find his daughter," prosecutor Jean Spradling said. "First, she did a palm reading and he had to shell out $150 for that and some candles. She asked him numerous questions."

House returned Monday and was told the situation was much worse than previously described and asked how much money he could raise. He replied $119,000.

After the woman took the money — actually only $850 arranged to look like much more — she was arrested.

"If she's so psychic, why didn't she know he was a cop?" Ms. Spradling said.

KATRINA CARRASCO

Former resident was member of gymnastics team

Katrina Carrasco, formerly of Snyder, was a member of the 5A varsity gymnastics team that won the state championship in April.

She also received the Nathans' Award (most valuable player) at the 1989 Sports Banquet.

She was elected as a varsity cheerleader for the 1989-1990 school year at Central High School in San Angelo.

She is the daughter of Carol C. Garza and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Carrasco.

Pointeau was finalist in youth forum

Fourteen year-old Virginie Pointeau of Snyder was one of more than 200 finalists to the RespecTeen National Youth Forum. Virginie is the daughter of Francois and Jack Pointeau.

The RespecTeen National Youth Forum finalists were selected from more than 5,300 seventh and eighth-grade students across the country who entered letters they wrote to their U.S. Representatives in the RespecTeen Speak for Yourself Contest. Pointeau's letter to Rep. Charles Stenholm referred to the deportation of her family.

From among the finalists, a student from each of the 50 states was chosen to speak to Congress on behalf of out nation's youth at the RespecTeen National Youth Forum June 10-14 in Washington, D.C.

The forum culminated with the students presenting their ideas and concerns to Congress.

RespecTeen includes a series of television and radio public service announcements providing useful tips to help parents and teens effectively handle the challenges of adolescence.

The program will also have a national radio program on a weekly basis offered free to radio stations across the country in 1990.

RespecTeen also puts out questionnaires, implementation support and data tabulation and analysis to help communities identify key problems related to youth. The materials were developed by the non-profit Search Institute that specializes in youth-related research.

RespecTeen is an ongoing program to help parents, teenagers, schools and communities work together to help today's youth successfully surmount current and future challenges. The program addresses youth issues on three levels: family, community and national.

The program is sponsored by Lutheran Brotherhood, a non-profit fraternal benefit society.

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My sister is 21 and two months pregnant. She has chicken pox. What can this do to her baby?

DEAR READER: This could be a problem. Varicella-zoster virus, the cause of chicken pox, has been known to cross from the mother's circulation, through the placenta into the developing fetus. Serious damage to the infant can result. This is, however, unusual. Most pregnant women, who contract chicken pox, deliver perfectly normal babies. Nonetheless, the risk is present. I urge your sister to be examined by specialists at a teaching center. These super-obstetricians will be able to test your sister and advise her further.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What is a fatty tumor? Will one disappear if I lose some weight?

DEAR READER: Benign fatty tumors are called lipomas. They are soft, rubbery nodules of fat beneath the skin and tend to form on the trunk, back of the neck and forearms. They rarely cause symptoms and are common in normal adults.

Lipomas do not disappear with weight loss; in fact, they may become more prominent as people lose the fat around them.

Occasionally, lipomas cause discomfort, especially if they are large. The tumors can easily be removed by excision or liposuction (a technique that literally vacuums out the fat). Very rarely, lipomas become malignant, therefore, a rapidly growing nodule should be biopsied or removed.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 73-year-old brother has been plagued with skin cancers for years. His surgeon recommended no more removal because he's so frail. She did suggest he use hydrogen peroxide on the healing areas. Now he's going to an osteopath who is administering hydrogen peroxide internally — both orally and intravenously. Is this a legitimate medication?

DEAR READER: I'm afraid that your brother is a victim of medical quackery. Oral or intravenous hydrogen peroxide has not been shown in any valid scientific study to be of use in treating disease. When used topically, on wounds or abrasions, it is an excellent antiseptic, however.

I'm surprised that the surgeon has discontinued removing your brother's skin cancers. Ordinarily, this is a simple office procedure, performed under local anesthesia, with excellent results. The fact that your brother is "frail" is not, in my opinion, a justifiable reason to withhold surgical excision of skin cancers.

I recommend that your brother discontinue the osteopath's therapy and seek an opinion from another surgeon or a qualified dermatologist. Although repeated minor surgery may be necessary, some types of skin cancer can be successfully treated with special anti-cancer creams, such as Five-Fluorouracil. Hydrogen peroxide has no role in the therapy of skin cancers or any other malignancy. To give you more information, I am sending you a copy of my Health Report "Fads II — Herbs and Other Supplements." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Moves up in bulldogging at CNFR...

Merchant gives solid effort

BOZEMAN, Mont. — Western Texas College cowboy Russell Merchant took over second place in the average of the steer wrestling at the College National Finals Rodeo here Wednesday night.

Merchant, a freshman from Madisonville, timed a 5.0 Wednesday for a total time of 10.6

seconds on two-head. He had clocked a 5.6 earlier in the week.

Merchant qualified for the CNFR as the Southwest Region's runner-up cowboy in steer wrestling. He is not a member of Western Texas' designated six-man team competing here, but he can accumulate individual points towards the national standings.

News from other WTC efforts Wednesday was disappointing. Michael Gaffney bucked off in the bull riding and Jim Blain Kenney took a no-score in the bronc riding when he failed to mark his horse out.

Meanwhile, WTC scores and times from earlier in the week were holding up well. With only one competitor left in the first-go, Denny McLanahan is holding on to fourth place in the bareback with a 72 score. The second go-round has already begun, but re-ride from the first-go is scheduled tonight.

Ray Brown is clinging to fourth place in the average of the calf roping with a time of 23.4 on two.

"There are still 20 ropers left and of those it looks like eight have a chance to knock him down. The fastest times left are 11.1 and 11.4. The rest are 12s and 13s so those guys will have to have 10s and 11s to get under him," said rodeo coach Bob Doty.

Only the top 10 in the average qualify for Saturday evening's short-go.

Two WTC students who appear to have qualified are Kenney and Bryan Davis in the team roping. They are holding down seventh place in the average with a 16.8 on two head.

"I think there are just three teams left that can have good enough times to move them," said Doty. "So it looks like the worst they can come back (finish in the average) is tenth."

McLanahan will try to improve his overall situation here this evening when he competes in the bareback and bull riding. The sophomore from Canadian, Texas, bucked off in the first-go of the bulls, but still has a chance of making the finals with a score in the high 70s tonight. So far, only two cowboys have made two successful rides.

Scheduled out Friday are Brown and Clyde Himes in the steer wrestling and Kenny Taton in the saddle bronc.

Himes had a 6.0 and Brown a 7.8 in the first-go of the bulldogging. They need times close to four seconds to have hopes of making the finals. Taton was seventh in the first-go of the saddle bronc with a 71 and would be in good standing for the finals with a ride in the 70s Friday.

In other news here, Odessa's Shawn McMullan is still winning the average in the calf roping with an 18.6 on two. Teammate Ty Murray won the first-go in the saddle bronc with a 79. He scored a 68 in the second go and is currently second in the average with a 140 on two. He is also winning the average in the bull riding with a 147 on two.

Also, former WTC cowgirl Mistri Davis, now competing for ENMU, is fourth in the average of the goat tying with a 15.8 on two. She won the first-go with a 7.2.

High court unanimously upholds 1976 ruling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court, which touched off an uproar last year by considering reversal of a key civil rights decision, today upheld the 1976 ruling that has been a powerful tool to fight racial discrimination.

The justices unanimously reaffirmed that an 1866 law enacted to help freed slaves could be used to sue private citizens accused of race bias.

But the court, by a separate 5-4 vote, also ruled that the 133-year-old civil rights law cannot be invoked to fight racial harassment.

Justice Anthony M. Kennedy, in his opinion for the court, said adherence to precedent compelled the conservative majority on the court to uphold the 1976 ruling.

Furthermore, he said, even if that ruling was based on a mistaken interpretation of law, "it is certain that it is not inconsistent with the prevailing sense of justice in this country. To the contrary, (it) is entirely consistent with our society's deep commitment to the eradication of discrimination based on a person's race or the color of his or her skin."

But Kennedy said allowing suits for racial harassment was not envisioned by the 1866 law.

He said the law governs contractual rights — not most conduct by an employer after an individual is hired.

The 1866 law "covers only conduct at the initial formation of the contract and conduct which impairs the right to enforce contract obligations through legal process," Kennedy said.

Justice William J. Brennan, in an opinion dissenting from the court's decision on racial harassment, said, "What the court declines to snatch away with one hand, it takes with the other."

Brennan said the court "has to strain hard" to interpret the 1866 law in a way that ignores "powerful historic evidence about the Reconstruction Congress' concerns" to end race bias.

Joining Brennan in partial dissent were Justices Thurgood Marshall, Harry A. Blackmun and John Paul Stevens.

The five-member conservative majority that voted against applying the anti-discrimination law to harassment cases consisted of Kennedy, Chief Justice William H. Rehnquist and Justices Sandra Day O'Connor, Antonin Scalia and Byron R.

White.

Kennedy, O'Connor and Scalia are appointees of former President Reagan, and Rehnquist was promoted to chief justice by Reagan.

The court sent shock waves through the civil rights community in April 1988 when it announced it would use a relatively obscure case from North Carolina to reconsider its 1976 ruling.

While no party to the North Carolina case urged the court to reconsider the 1976 precedent, the justices by a 5-4 vote took the extraordinary step of acting on their own initiative to call for a re-examination.

The four dissenters then said that the move threatened to undermine the faith minorities have placed in the high court.

The 1976 decision, called Ryunon vs. McCrary, held that racially segregated private schools which refused to admit blacks violate the Civil Rights Act of 1866.

That law was intended to ensure recently freed slaves all the rights of citizenship.

Texans say gas deregulation good for state

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas leaders say the Senate's decision to lift price controls on natural gas may ultimately lead to a resurgence in exploration and development, although no overnight cure of energy woes is expected.

The Senate voted 82-17 on Wednesday in favor of the legislation. Earlier, Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio, had warned that prices to consumers would rise under the bill that lifts natural gas price controls on Jan. 1, 1983.

"You will see some movement toward renegotiation of contracts, you'll see a quickening of exploration activities, and I think you will see, when combined with new environmental laws, a substantial increase in the use of natural gas," Sen. Phil Gramm, a Texas Republican, said.

Since the bill is similar to House-passed natural gas decontrol legislation, a conference committee must negotiate a compromise. However, Gramm said that should pose no problem.

With President Bush a strong advocate of decontrol, Gramm expects the bill to become law by the end of the month.

"It is a very important step. Combined with repeal of the windfall profits tax (on oil) and the Fuel Use Act (which banned the use of natural gas in power plants), we're beginning to see the foundations for a sounder policy in terms of production of energy," said Gramm.

"And these are three sort of landmark pieces of legislation that have not gotten much fanfare, but are vitally important and in the future will have a substantial impact," he said.

The natural gas industry also stands to benefit from proposed clean air legislation, which would create new markets for clean-burning alternative fuels like natural gas, said Gramm.

Coal-fired power plants seeking to reduce acid-rain emissions and cities trying to reduce smog from auto emissions could benefit from natural gas use. Officials say it is the cleanest burning fossil fuel, and Texas is the country's largest single supplier.

The Natural Gas Supply Association says 35 percent of the 1987 market was produced in Texas, followed by Louisiana with 30 percent.

"This legislation will not cure our energy ills overnight," Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, a Texas Democrat, says, "but it is a positive step designed to encourage the industry to explore and produce natural gas in Texas and elsewhere."

"Combined with the expected increase in demand for this clean-burning fuel, this bill could help lead a resurgence of the natural gas industry in Texas, resulting in jobs, economic growth and cleaner air for Texas," said Bentsen.

However, Philip Budzik, director of research and analysis at the Natural Gas Supply Association, said he expects the decontrol bill to have little impact on the overall industry.

Budzik points to the fact that about two-thirds of U.S. natural gas was decontrolled by the 1978 Natural Gas Policy Act.

But Gramm is convinced complete deregulation will have additional benefits.

"By removing this artificial regulation, we are going to expand our ability to produce and consume America's cheapest and cleanest burning fossil fuel," said Gramm. "Every American will benefit."

Mentzenbaum said all indications were that natural gas prices will rise.

Judge refuses defense's request

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal judge who presided over the trial of Oliver L. North cleared the way for the former National Security Council aide to be sentenced next week for his role in the Iran-Contra affair.

In his ruling Wednesday, U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell refused to grant a defense request for either a new trial or judgments of acquittal on all three counts against North.

Democrats seek to unify party

Democrats. The House GOP minority, meanwhile, has grown increasingly combative.

"I think you still are going to have tremendous problems between the two parties here, for at least another year," said Rep. Tony Coelho, D-Calif., the former whip who is leaving Congress after today because of questions about his personal finances.

The new speaker, Thomas S. Foley of Washington, is an acknowledged statesman and thinker, but some Democrats wonder whether he will have the toughness to define and fight for the party's agenda.

And after a season of fighting ethics charges, Democrats remain nervous about whether Rep. William Gray of Pennsylvania — the new No. 3 party official as majority whip — will ultimately be damaged by an FBI probe into alleged payroll padding in his office.

Rep. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., said members of the new leadership team "are extremely adept at selling the message to the American people — our challenge now is to come up with the message."

Alcohol arrest alleges sale

A 57-year-old Snyder man was arrested for possession of alcohol with intent to sell and a large amount of alcoholic beverages was confiscated at 5 p.m. Wednesday in the 3100 Block of Ave. I.

Two county sheriff's deputies made the Class A misdemeanor arrest and reported confiscating eight cases of beer, 31 bottles of whiskey and eight bottles of wine.

Police work Cogdell incident

Police investigated a Wednesday night misdemeanor assault on a Cogdell Memorial Hospital emergency room employee and said a report would be submitted to the county attorney for Class C misdemeanor, the lowest grade of assault.

Officers were told at 7:35 p.m. that a nurse had been struck across the face by the mother of a young boy undergoing emergency room treatment.

In another case investigated by police, Marge Sealy of 2303 43rd St. reported at 8:56 p.m. Wednesday that two white male juveniles had thrown a rock through her back door glass.

An officer located the suspects and reported that their father had agreed to pay for the damages.

Veto dismays wage earners

By The Associated Press

Lisa Hart, a single parent getting by as a fast-food worker at an Oklahoma City Hardee's, said she was looking forward to a good pay raise until President Bush vetoed the minimum wage bill.

Lee Soule, who owns a small restaurant in San Francisco, said he, too, believes the minimum wage should be increased and is sorry the president vetoed the bill.

Ms. Hart and Soule were among workers and managers queried by The Associated Press on Wednesday following Bush's veto of a measure to gradually raise the current $3.35 hourly minimum to $4.55. Democrats in Congress tried to override the veto but fell short of the two-thirds majority needed to do so.

Out in the saloons and restaurants and pet shops where the issue has the most impact, opinion was mixed, but most people on both the management and labor side agreed the current minimum is not enough.

"People have to understand how treacherous it is to try and live on $3.35 an hour," said Soule.

to the municipal wastewater treatment south of the city off Ave. M.

The water line was connected to an existing 12-inch line at Brick Plant Rd. and 37th St.

Osborn said he is especially pleased because the Texas Department of Correction's original opening date for the unit was June 27 "and we finished two and a half weeks before that."

"The lines should be adequate for a little bit over 2,000 (prisoners), in case we pick up some customers out there," the city engineer said, referring to possible new rural customers between the prison and town.

Streety wins highest awards

The United States Achievement Academy announced recently that Kevin Wayne Streety has been named a United States National Award Winner in English and history and government.

He also received the All-American Scholar Award. This award is given to students who have excelled with a grade point average of 3.3 or greater.

The criteria for selection for these awards are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship and dependability.

Streety will appear in the United States Academy English and History yearbooks. He will also appear in the All American Scholar yearbook published nationally.

Streety is the son of Bill and Ann Streety of Mesquite and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Streety of Snyder and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Barnes of Midland.

He will attend Poteet High School as a freshman where he will continue to take honor courses and will be a part of the honor band of Poteet High.

Costumes go to WTC drama and to work on them herself when readymade ones were not suitable. "She had a knack for sewing," Mrs. Musgrove said, adding that she herself was of little help in that area.

During World War II, they got fabric samples from a firm in New York City and began to rely more on "homemade" costumes because those available were of such flimsy material that they were not up to Mrs. Lambert's standards.

Generations of Snyder children remember going to Mrs. Lambert's studio at 1805 27th Street for lessons. She began working with theatre students at WTC in later years. She continued teaching until she died on Nov. 25, 1988, at the age of 80 following a heart attack.

The Elaine Rosser Lambert Memorial Scholarship was established at WTC shortly after her death. Because the amount has not yet reached the required minimum of $2,000, no scholarships have as been awarded.

Donations can be made to the fund at any time and in any amount.

Mrs. Musgrove now makes her home in Fort Worth with a niece, Mary Nan Kalka.

Local audiences got a look at some of the fabric from the WTC theatre department presented "An Affair of the Hair" this spring. Costumes from the studio are being sorted and stored for later use as are the fabrics. Many costumes made for children from pre-school through early teen years and too small for college students were sold, with proceeds going into the Lambert scholarship fund.
