133 Daniel inmates register for 1989 fall college classes

Registration numbers at the Price Daniel Unit were "better than they or we anticipated," according to Mike Thornton, Western Texas College director of adult education, as 133 inmates enrolled for fall 1989 courses in the Windham School System on Thursday.

The landmark event was the first registration for the newly-opened Texas Department of Corrections unit, located northeast of Snyder.

Some inmates registered for more than one class, upping the total to 140 students for seven classes. Of the 140, some 35 enrolled in Introduction to Business, prompting officials to consider dividing the course into two classes. Twenty-five inmates enrolled in General Psychology, 24 in U.S. History to 1865, and 18 in English Composition I.

In addition, 16 registered for Beginning Spanish while 12 took Fundamentals of Speech and 10 enrolled in American, State and Local Government.

Classes, which will be held weekdays during the evening hours, begin Monday.

The 133 inmates involved in the registration are approximately 14 percent of the total inmate population at the unit. Only inmates who had previous college credits or had completed the necessary entrance tests were allowed to take the courses, which are applicable to an associate arts degree and are transferable.

"This was one of our main directives in the prison locating here, to fulfill our commitment of education at the unit," said Thornton. "We feel like we are accomplishing that. The numbers were larger than they or we had anticipated."

Representatives of the Windham School included Bob Martin, principal, and Deborah McLarty, counselor.

Counts reviews prison unit, workmen's comp at meeting

State Rep. David Counts Thursday said he has grown increasingly optimistic lately about Snyder's chances for the Price Daniel Unit to be doubled in size, but he discouraged hopes that the state House and Senate will reach a compromise on worker's compensation reform in their November special session.

Noting that the Texas Department of Corrections' site review team was here Wednesday as part of the selection process, the white-haired Knox City Democrat said he expects "good things to happen out of that," adding, "There are a lot of indicators out there that are very positive."

Local Economic Development Committee Chairman Roy Baze earlier gave the club a report on the TDC site team's visit and upcoming events related to the prison and the new Texas Criminal Justice Board.

Counts went over the various bills he supported during the Legislature's regular session early this year, including the school finance bill, which he said should be revamped in the special session to weight it more in favor of rural school districts.

The insurance man said the new rural health bill is good because in return for providing some care for indigent people, the state indemnifies hospitals for up to $100,000.

Counts said, however, that the House "went along with 80 percent of what they (state senators) wanted to change" in a July special session on worker's compensation and House members will be unwilling to compromise much more in November.

"The House is not going to weaken its position," he said. "If the Senate doesn't give, then there will be no bill on worker's compensation."

Counts said worker's comp benefits should be set administratively by a panel of experts and should not be subject to the threat of a jury trial, which he said has been the primary cause of rapidly climbing insurance rates.

"We will get it changed," he said. "It's just going to take awhile."

He said the Legislature did achieve one good reform this year with the establishment of a fund with fees from gasoline transport trucks to help service stations with the expense of repairing or replacing their underground tanks to satisfy new federal Environmental Protection Agency regulations.

Midwest co-op elects three board members

Three Midwest Electric Cooperative directors were elected Thursday evening as some 528 co-op members attended the company's annual meeting and barbecue at Scurry County Coliseum.

For Place 5, Mickey Sterling, who was unopposed, garnered 397 votes. He replaces Joe Falls, a three-term veteran of the board who chose not to seek re-election.

Bobby Gruben was re-elected to Place 6 by 335 votes. He was unopposed.

The only contested seat was Place 7 which saw Jerry Upshaw being re-elected with 243 votes. Opponent Andy Moore received 121 votes.

After the meeting was called to order, Don Campbell, minister of the Fluvanna Church of Christ, gave the invocation. Several people addressed the audience briefly, including Midwest Co-op representatives and Snyder Mayor Troy Williamson.

Drawings for door prizes were held throughout the evening and Crystal Church, Hermleigh senior and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Church, who was the 1989 Washington Youth Tour winner, spoke briefly of her experience and thanked the co-op for making it possible for her to go.

Members of the 1989 nominating committee included Gene Terry, Luther Breuer, Bryan Justice, Clay Fowler, Glen Posey, Manley Burrow and Rex Pylant.

Prairie Fire, a local country swing band, provided the entertainment.

Midwest Electric Co-op was created 51 years ago.

Diez y Seis festivities scheduled Sept. 16-17

The annual Diez y Seis fiesta, sponsored by Our Lady of Guadalupe Church, will be held Sept. 16 and 17 here.

A queen coronation, dance, parade, special performers and food booths and games highlight the event, which is open to the community.

The festival begins at 4 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 16, when the food booths open and games commence. Mass will be held at 6 p.m.

The coronation starts at 7 p.m. and continues with the traditional march of the court and candidates, and the crowning of the queen and princess. Folkloric dancers will also perform.

At 8:30 p.m. on the 16th, a dance begins with music by Jessie Olvera and The Latin Notes. The dance is scheduled to end at 12:30 a.m.

Booths open again at 1 p.m. on Sunday, Sept. 17.

Highlighting Sunday's activities will be the Diez y Seis parade, which will begin at 2 p.m. in the Varsity Square shopping center.

From 3:30 p.m. until 4 p.m. the former and new court will be presented.

Activities continue to include a 6 p.m. jarapeio show — colorfully dressed horsemen who perform tricks with ropes and horses — and a 7 p.m. performance by folkloric dancers.

A dance will be held from 7:30 p.m. until 10 p.m.

Our Lady of Guadalupe Church is located at 13th St. and Ave. K.

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Don't be easily discouraged. It took Noah six months to find a parking place."

Keeping tabs on our neighbors: Gene Dow, former Snyder resident and now publisher of the Seminole Sentinel in Gaines County, has collected some "mispeaks" while attending various meetings.

A county commissioner, while asking for help to clean up some county ball parks said, "some of these projects are like getting married...you can't get loose from them."

A citizen who appeared before the commissioners told the court, "Call me at home any time. I'm always there...unless I'm gone." Later he added, "Don't ask me for an estimate. I once guessed at the weight of a bantam rooster and missed it by 30 pounds."

While waiting for a long overdue survey, one commissioner moaned, "I guess surveyors are like lawyers...they are supposed to be slow."

While signing a contract with the Big Spring state hospital, the same commissioner told the story about a patient who was trying to drive a nail in the wall with the nail head against the wall while he hammered on the point.

Another patient said, "Man, are you crazy? That nail goes in the wall behind you."

For more than 20 years, the Seminole school board has had an unusual centerpiece on its board table. Right in the middle is a red snuff can provided by a board member who was in the grocery business.

The grocer, now deceased, once explained, "That's there just in case anybody gets out of snuff."

Kim Pease, in the Rotan Advance, observed that most housewives are very careful about money:

"They're afraid their husbands might lose it, so they spend it as soon as possible."

Q—Did Snyder attempt to get the Blue Bell distribution center that is locating in Big Spring? Let's go after all those East Texas companies needing a West Texas distribution center.

A—Bill Moss, chamber manager, said contact with Blue Bell was made several months ago and Snyder was told the company had no plans for expansion in West Texas.

Clarification

Concerning Thursday's Ask Us question, the ad last Sunday signed by the commissioners court will be paid for by private funds and not by the county.

In Brief

Bodies found

EULESS, Texas (AP) — Police officers awaited autopsy results today to determine if two bodies found after a two-hour hostage standoff died as the result of a murder-suicide.

Officers who fired tear gas into an apartment to end the standoff late Thursday found the bodies of Laura Elizabeth Martin, 23, and Russell Lee Simons, 26, inside. A 2½-year-old girl was also found inside.

Ms. Martin lived at Bear Creek Apartments, where the incident took place. Police did not know Simons' address.

The girl, who was unharmed, was in the custody of her grandfather, police said. Her relationship to Ms. Martin and Simons was not immediately known.

Eules Police Capt. Tommy Free said officers were sent to Bear Creek Apartments after "an incoherent, screaming woman" called for help about 9:30 p.m.

Officer Cesario Rodriguez exchanged gunfire with the man when he arrived at the apartment.

Astro-Graph
By Bernice Bede Osal

Your Birthday

Sept. 9, 1989
In the year ahead you will be exposed to more opportunities than you have been in the past. Be alert and take advantage of all that is offered and be doubly sure you see through to completion any enterprise you initiate.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Usually you're not the showoff type, but today you might try to upstage your companions in order to call attention to yourself. The results aren't apt to be too effective. Know where to look for romance and you'll find it. The Astro-Graph Matchmaker instantly reveals which signs are romantically perfect for you. Mail $2 to Matchmaker, c/o this newspaper, P.O. Box 91428, Cleveland, OH 44101-3428.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Make the most of opportunities that are presently available to you, because they may not be of a lasting nature. You're in a cycle where trends are subjected to sudden changes.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Even though it may be quite difficult for you to own up to your mistakes today, it is best to do so rather than rationalize. Excuses won't enhance your image.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) If it's necessary for you to borrow something today that the lender prizes, make every effort to treat it respectfully. There are indications you are inclined toward carelessness.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It's not your nature to be vacillating or indecisive, but today you might have a problem making decisions and sticking to them. Get back in character.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) People who come to your assistance today can't be expected to do everything for you. In certain arrangements it is imperative that you fend for yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) It's admirable to be optimistic and enthusiastic, but one must also be practical as well. Guard against building your hopes upon unrealistic premises today.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Things could misfire today if you depend a little too heavily on chance and luck to carry you through in critical career matters. Unfortunately, they are not allies who can be relied upon now.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Do not pretend you are knowledgeable about something today if, in reality, you really aren't. People who come to you for advice will believe you and your suggestions could create problems for everyone.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) If you are careless today and make a miscalculation in a commercial matter, there's a possibility it might be the type of error that could compound itself. Have someone else check your figures.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Today it might seem like the harder you try to please others, the less they appreciate you. Your frustrations can be minimized if you stay clear of people who take you for granted.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) A veiled opportunity may come your way today through a least expected source. In order to capitalize on it, you'll have to be exceptionally sharp to recognize its merits.

AG says cereal firm's ads are misleading

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox continues his food fight — not the Animal House kind, but the court-house kind.
Mattox on Thursday sued Quaker Oats Co., saying the nation's biggest seller of hot cereal misled consumers in advertising that its product can reduce the risk of heart disease.
"We are in the middle of an oat bran craze in this country that was primarily started and prompted by Quaker in order to sell its products," Mattox said at a news conference.

"Consumers have been duped. Quaker's claims are largely not true," he said.
But spokesmen for Chicago-based Quaker Oats defended the ads, saying the advertising is truthful and supported by valid scientific evidence.
"We expect to prevail in this litigation," said Luther C. McKinney, senior vice president of law and corporate affairs for Quaker Oats.
And McKinney said the company may seek legal action against the attorney general's office.
"After we've successfully defended this case, we are considering taking action against the Texas attorney general's office if we believe our products have been damaged by the attorney general's inflammatory statements," McKinney said.

Halt order given to 2 companies

AUSTIN (AP) — Two Florida companies have been ordered to stop selling pesticides after a four-month investigation by the Texas Department of Agriculture, officials said.
"These companies were selling products that are not registered for use in Texas, and they were making claims about the performance of the products that could not be backed up," Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower said Thursday.
Hightower said that orders have been issued to halt sales of products distributed by American Farm products and Pioneer Farm Products of Margate, Fla. The orders were issued by the Florida Department of Agriculture based on TDA's investigation, officials said.
Hightower said the Florida Department of Agriculture, United Parcel Service, the U.S. Department of Transportation, and the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency also cooperated in the investigation.

In June and July, several dozen farmers complained to TDA that they were being sold fraudulent pesticides, Hightower said. He said some of the products were actually diesel oil, while others were pesticides but were not being sold for the purpose for which they were intended.
TDA pesticide enforcement specialist Don Renchie said that shippers also reported many of the containers of pesticides were improperly packaged, resulting in leaking during shipment.
The Florida Department of Agriculture said American Farm Products has been acting as a pesticide manufacturer without having the required registration with EPA, Hightower said.

It's not the first time Mattox, a likely candidate in the Democratic Party gubernatorial primary, has taken on giant food companies.

Mattox has either initiated or joined in suits against Campbell Soup Co., Sara Lee Corp. and Carnation Co., saying they have engaged in false advertising. The companies all deny the claims.
Earlier this week, Sara Lee agreed to a settlement with Texas and eight other states to remove the description of "light" from certain products and pay $10,000 in court expenses.

Mattox, who jokingly refers to his own diet attempts, said consumers need to learn more about nutrition and not just rely on the advertisements for information.

"We hope that by taking these actions we will be able to bring people into a more conscious attitude about the food that they eat and also cause the product to be better products without having the kind of advertising that they have," Mattox said.

In the lawsuit, filed on behalf of the Texas Department of Health in a Dallas state district court, the state said Quaker Oats' ads are "replete with exaggerations, half-truths, and misinformation."

One of those ads reads: "Studies say that just two ounces of Quaker Oats a day, along with a low-fat, low-cholesterol diet, can help lower your cholesterol almost 10 percent. Other studies say that's enough to reduce your risk of heart attack by nearly 20 percent."

But the state claims Quaker's own tests showed that only a 3 percent reduction in risk could be realized if oatmeal was added to a low-fat, low-cholesterol diet. And that reduction applied only to women if they ate 25 percent more oatmeal than Quaker recommends as a regular serving, Mattox said.

Mattox said Quaker Oats has "a good product, but it's only cereal. It's not a heart-attack preventative."

The suit, filed under the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices-Consumer Protection Act, asks the court to prohibit the company from continuing its allegedly misleading ads and seeks $10,000 in civil penalties and additional court and investigative costs.

Appellate court studies facts about injunction against GTE

AUSTIN (AP) — GTE Southwest Inc. urged an appellate court to uphold an injunction allowing the telephone company not to make an estimated $140 million in state-ordered refunds while it fights the order in court.

The company contends its credit could suffer if refunds must be made during its state district court challenge of the Public Utility Commission's order, GTE attorney Pete Schenkkan told the 3rd Court of Appeals Thursday.

State attorneys asked the court to throw out the injunction, saying GTE has not proven the need for it.

Schenkkan said if forced to make the refunds, GTE would face the likelihood of a lower bond rating. It would not be compensated for its loss even if the refund order is ultimately reversed, and customers must repay the money, he argued.

"This is not a normal utility rate case" in which the remedy of a surcharge is sufficient, Schenkkan said.

Schenkkan said it is the only major utility rate case he knows in which the PUC has tried to compel "retroactive refunds," and one of the few in which there is a serious threat of a bond down-rating.

GTE began making the refunds on Aug. 29, because the injunction granted by State District Judge Joseph Hart was superseded when the attorney general appealed it on behalf of the PUC and the state as a utility customer.

If the injunction is affirmed, the refund credits would stop, pending a decision by Hart in the case, said GTE Southwest, which is based in Irving and San Angelo.

The attorney general's office argued that GTE did not present a strong enough case about the damage it would suffer if forced to make the refunds pending a ruling in the case, as required for a temporary injunction.

Threatened bankruptcy or the inability to go forward with a long-term capital improvement program, for example, would meet the test, said Assistant Attorney General Steven Baron, representing the PUC.

"The commission's position is that GTE's evidence does not come close to that kind of showing," he said.

GTE did not give specifics on the number of layoffs and reductions in capital investment it would make to address a $140 million refund, but only said the cuts would be substantial, Baron said. The company did not specify how service would be affected, he said.

Schenkkan said the impact could be inferred from testimony that a $59.2 million rate reduction also ordered by the PUC would cause the loss of 1,100 jobs and a $100 million reduction in capital investment.

The company also is appealing parts of the $59.2 million reduction in state court, but it has not asked for an injunction on that part of the order.

"Even if we accept their case on harm, it can't be the law that the PUC has a duty to save a company from itself," argued Assistant Attorney General Scott McCollough, representing the state as a utility customer. He said the company did not prove its need for higher rates.

"The commission cannot allow excessive rates that are not justified by the record because those (lower) rates may harm the utility," he said.

A three-member panel of the court took the issue under advisement.

Newborn baby dies one day after birth

HOUSTON (AP) — An autopsy will be performed on the body of a newborn girl who was delivered from a woman fatally stabbed and shot, police say.

The day-old infant died Thursday at 1:15 p.m. of an apparent lung disorder caused when her mother was attacked, said Nora Shire, spokeswoman for the Lyndon Baines Johnson General Hospital.

"This morning between 8 a.m. and 1 p.m., she had seven cardiac arrests," Ms. Shire said. "Bless her heart, she was really struggling."

Ms. Shire said the baby's death occurred while her father was making funeral arrangements for her 40-year-old mother, Delores Garza.

Mrs. Garza, who was in her first pregnancy, had been shot and stabbed in several places, including the heart and throat. She died Wednesday about five minutes after doctors delivered her 5-pound baby.

Fermin Gomez, 27, remains in the Harris County Jail without bond on a capital murder charge in Wednesday's slaying, police spokesman Dan Turner said.

Houston homicide detectives said they believe Gomez thought Mrs. Garza caused his relationship with either a girlfriend or wife to end.

Turner said an autopsy will be performed on the infant, and the district attorney's office will then decide if any additional charges should be filed.

The baby, who had yet to be named, was delivered two weeks prematurely Wednesday when her mother arrived at Ben Taub Hospital with gunshot and stab wounds.

A team of doctors performed a Caesarean section and emergency surgery on the woman in an effort to save both mother and child.

Hospital records list the baby's cause of death as asphyxial lung disease.

Tom Lewis new at Morningside

Brother Tom Lewis has accepted the pastor's position at Morningside Baptist Church and he and his wife, Brenda, and sons, T. J., 6½, Timothy, 5; and Joshua, 17 months, have relocated to Snyder from Amarillo where Lewis had served as an associate pastor in charge of music and education at Ridgecrest Baptist Church for the past 3½ years.

Lewis, a native of Girard, Kan., received a bachelor of arts degree with a minor in music from Central Baptist College in 1983. He served a 13-month internship in Blanchard, Okla., where his father-in-law was pastor.

Later Lewis served as associate pastor and music and youth director at Rosehill Baptist Church in DeQueen, Ark. He also served as a part-time pastor in Joplin, Mo. for 13 months.

Lewis said he was attending a youth camp in 1979 when he "felt the call to be a preacher." "I wanted to get a music degree at first because I thought that was what God wanted me to do. But he had different plans for me."

Even though Lewis and his family have been in Snyder just a short time, he said they are pleased to be here because "Snyder is just the right size for us."

He said they are also excited about the church and feel that it has "a lot of potential."

Deliveries for CRMWD dip slightly

BIG SPRING--Water deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District in August slipped slightly under the same month for last year.

Three slightly cooler days at mid-month accounted for most of the difference as deliveries of 1,784,704,998 dropped by 36 million gallons from August in 1989. Municipal deliveries of 1,653,552,470 gallons were down 10,413,000 gallons or .6 of one percent. Oil and industrial deliveries of 13,152,533, were down 25,647,000 gallons, or 16.50 percent. By cities, the picture stacked up like this: Big Spring, 287,349,000 gallons, up a million gallons; Midland, 422,100,000 gallons, up two million gallons; Odessa, 812,940,000 gallons, down 9,345,000 gallons or 1.16 per cent; Snyder 119,936,000 gallons, down 5,559,000 gallons or 4.46 percent; Stanton, 11,227,000, up 244,000 gallons or 2.70 percent.

Income from the month totaled $158,014, up 10 million over August of last year.

Local antique car buffs win

Members of Snyder Wheels, a local club for antique car enthusiasts, captured several awards at the Eastern New Mexico Antique Car Show held Labor Day weekend at Clovis, N.M.

During the Saturday night antique clothes style show, Luann Thomason and Trudie Wood each captured a first place award. Thomason wore a wedding dress which had originally been worn by her husband's grandmother. Wood was dressed in early 1930s apparel.

Danny Thomason earned a first place trophy for his 1927 Ford Speedster and Moody

Thomason placed second with his 1915 Ford Roadster.

Also attending from Snyder was Kenneth Wood with his 1955 Pontiac.

Other activities included an early morning drive featuring some 58 antique cars and a barbecue luncheon.

East Side Church of Christ starts meeting on Sunday

Jim Hance, evangelist from Baytown, will be the speaker at a four-day series of Gospel meetings at the East Side Church of Christ.

Jesus is Lord is the theme for the series of lessons begin at 10:25 a.m. on Sunday and at 6 p.m. Sunday. Weeknight services through Wednesday will be at 7:30 p.m.

A minister for the past 27 years, he began preaching regularly in Carrizozo, N.M. He has preached for congregations in San Antonio, Weatherford, Denton and Wichita Falls.

After 11 years with the Edgemere Church of Christ in Wichita Falls, he moved to Baytown where he is the pulpit minister for the Missouri Street church.

In addition to his work with the local church, he preaches in five to six meetings each year. He served one three-year term on the board of development for Lubbock Christian College.

He has written articles for several religious journals. For more than 10 years, he was the speaker on a daily radio program broadcast over three North Texas stations.

Hance is married to the former Judy Lockhart, daughter of Wanda Lockhart of Snyder.

Yearly Methodist women's meeting slated in Midland

United Methodist Women of Snyder will attend the Big Spring District United Methodist Women's Annual Meeting Sunday, Sept. 10, at St. Mark's United Methodist Church, 1701 N. Main, Midland. Registration begins at 2 p.m. with the regular meeting getting underway at 2:30 p.m.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Faye Armstrong, wife of the Rev. W. L. Armstrong. They are former missionaries to Indonesia, where they served the last three years of ministry as special missionaries assigned by Bishop Louis Schowengerdt, building new churches and building on the Indonesian Methodist Seminary campus, where Mrs. Armstrong taught English.

Mrs. Joan Cunningham, district president, will preside. All women of the district are urged to attend.

Churches Of Snyder And Area Support Them Every Week

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Can beta-blockers make a person gain weight? I'm a migraine-headache sufferer and take 80 milligrams of Inderal a day. Thanks to the medication, I've been free of headaches for two years but have gained 15 pounds. I also have fewer bowel movements than I did prior to the medication.

DEAR READER: Beta-blocking medicine causes relaxation of blood vessels, which is the reason the drug is useful in combating high blood pressure and migraine headaches, two conditions marked by excessive spasm of arteries. This relaxation effect can often lead to fluid retention (edema) and weight gain. Therefore, patients taking beta-blockers can experience puffy legs and, in some cases, heart failure, when excess fluid accumulates in the lungs. Also, beta-blockers cause constipation.

A few pounds of fluid buildup is a small price to pay to avoid migraines. The edema is not harmful and can, if necessary, be treated with diuretics, medicines to rid the body of excess water. Your doctor may be able to adjust the dose of Inderal to minimize fluid retention. Ask about this. In addition, by reducing salt in your diet, you'll experience less edema. Working with your physician, you should be able to arrive at a dose (or type) of beta-blocker that will prevent migraines and cause only minor fluid retention.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Headaches." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Fifteen years ago, I had an attack of thrombophlebitis. My doctor put me on Coumadin and recommended support hose. I've used them ever since. Two months ago, I had a total hip replacement. The surgeon put me on aspirin and indicated I should not wear support hose. My family doctor also took me off the Coumadin but says I should wear the hose. Please give me the straight dope.

DEAR READER: Thrombophlebitis refers to blood clots that form in veins, producing pain, swelling, areas of inflammation and, in some cases, chest discomfort and difficulty breathing, if portions of the clots break off and are carried to the lungs. The simplest preventative is anti-coagulation medicine to reduce the speed with which blood coagulates. This is often used in conjunction with elastic support hose that exert external pressure on leg veins to prevent venous pooling and a consequent tendency to clotting.

Studies have shown that, statistically, the use of anti-coagulants, such as Coumadin, is probably not warranted for more than three or four years; when prescribed for longer periods, the drugs do not seem to have a particularly beneficial effect. Therefore, I agree with your doctor that you could discontinue Coumadin.

I am less sure about the support hose. If, during the day when you are on your feet, you choose to wear these stockings, I doubt they would affect your hip — especially if you wear elastic hose that reaches only to the knee. On this issue, I side with your family physician. Nonetheless, you should ask the surgeon the reasons for prohibiting the support hose; he should discuss them with you — and your family doctor. It's important for the two doctors to agree, and they probably will once they discuss the reasons for their respective opinions.

The problem of differing opinions is an issue in my practice, too, when I refer a patient to a specialist and am often surprised to discover that my colleague has made drastic changes in therapy. The disagreement between the primary-care doctor and the specialist can almost always be resolved with a simple telephone call. Ask your family doctor to call your surgeon.

Syphilis increase worries officials

AUSTIN (AP) — A large increase in the number of syphilis cases reported in Texas has raised concern among state health officials, who fear a similar rise in such sexually transmitted diseases as AIDS.

There were 1,809 cases of infectious syphilis in the first six months of 1989, the Texas Department of Health said Thursday. That is a 29.9 percent increase over the number of cases reported in the same period last year.

The increase causes particular concern because syphilis is transmitted through sexual intercourse, said Joe Pair, director of the sexually transmitted diseases control division at the department.

"Perhaps some people, knowing that syphilis is treatable and curable, are taking dangerous risks. They may be ignoring the fact that, whereas the disease they contracted was syphilis, it might just as easily have been AIDS," Pair said.

Oklahoma legislator proclaims that bill will reflect hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Glenn English, D-Okla., says rural development legislation being crafted by his subcommittee will reflect individual local needs expressed at hearings in four states during the congressional recess.

English, chairman of the House Agriculture subcommittee on conservation, credit and rural development, has been gathering information for months on how best to pull rural communities out of economic depression and stop population losses.

"The new thoughts and contributions we received sensitized us to regional concerns," English said Thursday. "We will try to make sure that these are reflected in the bill we formulate."

Hearings were held last month in Clarksdale, Miss.; Amarillo, Texas; Marshalltown, Iowa; and Blackfoot, Idaho. English will go on the road again Monday when he hears testimony in Le Roy, N.Y., and Sept. 18 in Montgomery, W.Va.

English said he hoped to have a bill written next month. The Senate already has passed a rural development bill, but English's office said the House version may not be ready for a full vote until next year, and may even be incorporated into the 1990 farm bill.

The Senate measure would create a revolving loan fund for investments in rural enterprises, establish an insurance fund for lenders and investors, provide additional funding for sewer and water projects and improve telecommunications links for rural hospitals.

Rep. Lee Hamilton, D-Ind., issued a recent report to constituents in his largely rural district emphasizing the need for local leadership to make any new programs work.

"I have come to the view that legislation at the federal level will at best have only a marginal impact on rural development," Hamilton said.

"Assistance from the federal government is not the key to economic growth. The initiative for change must come from local communities where many tactics can be effective."

U. S. Congress to begin hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress begins hearings Tuesday to review the underwriting standards issued by the Federal Agricultural Mortgage Corp., known as Farmer Mac.

The House Banking, Finance and Urban Affairs subcommittee on policy research and insurance will focus specifically on the standards issued June 30.

Farmer Mac was created by the Agricultural Credit Act of 1987 as a secondary market for agricultural real estate loans.

Draft report now being circulated

WASHINGTON (AP) — The International Food Biotechnology Council is circulating a draft report on how to evaluate the safety of food created through biotechnology.

Comments on the draft have been requested from selected reviewers by Sept. 30. A symposium on the topic will be held Nov. 7-8 in Washington.

"The final report will be prepared and distributed to the public and government regulators in early 1990," said Richard Hall, president of the biotechnology council.

The council was formed in 1988 to identify the issues and set up criteria for evaluating new foods being scientifically developed.

Its members are leading companies that are industrial users, suppliers, processors and/or producers of foods, food ingredients and processes arising from biotechnology.

Jim Mattox takes jab at Richards

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox says he's in no hurry to shed his "likely" designation as a gubernatorial contender and criticized Texas Treasurer Ann Richards, the only announced Democratic candidate in that race.

Mattox on Thursday declined to say when he would "officially" announce his candidacy for the Democratic Party primary in March, although he has made no secret of his plans to run for governor.

"I set up certain goals. I have largely accomplished them. When they are accomplished, I'll make my announcement," he said.

Mattox said he is required to file as a candidate before the Jan. 2 deadline, but not required to make any kind of formal announcement.

"I've already accomplished more without announcing than my opponents have with announcing and conducting full-scale campaigns," he said.

"I happen to have a job that requires me to spend a hell of a lot more time doing it than being able to take off for weeks at a time and go on publicity junkets and things," he said.

Mattox has criticized Ms. Richards for a weeklong, 367-mile cruise along the coast, saying the trip was designed to attract media coverage.

But Ms. Richards said her trip was to gain knowledge and draw attention to coastal issues.

In other political developments:

— State Sen. Chet Edwards, who has made government ethics a key issue in his bid for lieutenant governor, has reimbursed himself thousands of dollars from state and campaign funds for using a private airplane owned by a company in which he is a partner, it was reported Thursday.

Edwards has made the reimbursement payments despite a 1984 state ethics opinion that said such an arrangement would "create a substantial conflict of interest and violate the public trust," the Austin American-Statesman said.

Edwards, D-Duncanville, said he was unaware of the opinion from the now-defunct State

Ethics Advisory Commission.

He also said he didn't make a profit from the reimbursements for use of the single-engine Cessna 210, which he pilots.

"I can tell you as a matter of fact we have not made money off the airplane. I have taken money out of my pocket to help pay for it," Edwards said.

But the campaign of his Democratic primary opponent, Comptroller Bob Bullock, charged that Edwards violated state disclosure rules and possibly converted campaign funds to his personal use.

— U.S. Rep. J.J. "Jake" Pickle, an Austin Democrat, said he will run for re-election and formally announce his plans Friday at a campaign party in Austin. Pickle is seeking his 14th term in Congress.

— Houston businessman Wes Gilbreath announced the formation of an exploratory committee for the purpose of seeking the Republican nomination to try and unseat Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro.

Gilbreath ran for the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate in 1985 and placed first in the primary but lost to former U.S. Rep. Beau Boulter in the runoff.

Aide pleads guilty in plea bargain

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — In a plea-bargained confession, a former nurse's aide has pleaded guilty to murder and conspiracy for helping to kill one of five slain nursing home patients.

Catherine May Wood pleaded guilty Thursday and will testify for the prosecution in her co-worker and lover's trial on five counts of first-degree murder and a count of conspiracy to commit first-degree murder.

Wood said Thursday she and Gwendolyn Graham discussed killing as many as 20 patients at Alpine Manor Nursing Home in Walker, a Grand Rapids suburb.

In her appearance before Kent County Circuit Judge Robert Benson, Wood admitted to helping Graham kill Marguerite Chambers, 60, on Jan. 17, 1987.

New bill for disabled praised

WASHINGTON (AP) — Disabled Americans, including most AIDS victims, would get new legal protections in jobs and public places under a Senate-passed "emancipation proclamation for the disabled" heading to the House.

The measure, passed 76-8 Thursday night, is being billed as the logical extension of the landmark Civil Rights Act of 1964 that gave similar rights to blacks and other minorities.

"In a sense, this legislation is an emancipation proclamation for the disabled, and America will be a better, fairer and stronger nation because of it," said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., whose Committee on Labor and Human Resources cleared the bill last month.

The measure prevents employment discrimination against the handicapped, requires equal access to public accommodations such as stores, restaurants and transportation, and requires special telephone service for the hearing- and speech-impaired at no greater cost than regular service.

Sponsored by Sen. Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, the bill had 59 Senate co-sponsors and was widely supported by advocacy groups, with a qualified endorsement from the White House.

In a historic gesture to the bill's beneficiaries, the Senate waived its usual strict access rules and allowed sign-language interpreters on the floor during the debate.

"The Americans with Disabilities Act is a landmark statement of basic human rights that will make the promise of equal opportunity a reality for 43 million Americans with disabilities," said Harkin, who has a deaf brother and quadriplegic nephew.

Businesses with 15 or more employees would be covered, but for the first two years of the law only businesses with 25 or more employees would be affected.

Violations of employment discrimination rules would be sanctioned by injunctions, back pay and attorneys' fees. Violations of the public accommodations sections would be punishable by a fine of up to $50,000 for the first violation and $100,000 for the second.

But Sen. David Pryor, D-Ark., echoing criticism voiced by the small business lobby and the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, said he was concerned with the "extremely loose" definition of handicapped as well as the harshness of the sanctions.

"We're not talking about a bus, or a train or a plane — we're talking about a shoe store, we're talking about a grocery store," Pryor said.
