Rains sweep area but are slight in city

Snyder's rainfall was reported to be just one-tenth of an inch of rain over Sunday evening and early Monday morning, but most of the rest of the county benefitted more.

Q-I have heard there is group that will give free trees to anyone that will plant them. Is there a way I can find out whether this is correct and who it is?

A—There may be several organizations. One of which we know about is The National Arbor Day Foundation. The trees are almost free. For a $10 membership contribution during September, the foundation will ship to you, postpaid, as many as 10 6-to-12 inch trees ready for planting. You may write the foundation at 100 Arbor Ave., Nebraska City, Neb., 68410

The People's Front will be officially recognized and allowed to speak at a special session of the republic's Supreme Soviet legislature on Friday, group spokesman Ekhtibar Mamedov said.

Firemen fight 2 tank battery fires near Ira

City firemen were called to two tank battery fires Monday morning near Ira and were still at one of them near mid-day, reportedly waiting for it to subside enough to extinguish it.

The second fire, reported at 6:20 a.m. a half-mile north of Ira Cemetery, had been put out and the three trucks and numerous regular and volunteer firemen there had gone back to the first blaze, which was reported at 5:30 a.m. a mile south of Ira.

Asked if the blazes had been set off by lightning, a department spokesman said, "I would suspect that it was. There was some lightning out there.'

He said the first tank battery was owned by Thompson Oil Leasing on property owned by Bill Murphy and the second was owned by A&A Production.

A tank battery is a large, circular oilfield petroleum storage tank, with some being made of metal and others being constructed from a fiberglass-like synthetic material.

The first call of the weekend was at 1:58 a.m. Sunday to the 1600 Block of 17th St., where firefighters worked a half-hour to put out a grass fire, and the second was at 8:17 p.m. Sunday 12 miles east of Snyder on the Lamesa Hwy., where there was a reported smoke scare.

An EPA consultant's report found reason to believe that in Texas, Formosa has put cancercausing and toxic materials into Cox Creek, which runs directly into Lavaca Bay and feeds the Matagorda Bay system, which produces 8 million pounds of commercial seafood and $120 million in recreational fishing each year.

along a recent experience to your women readers:

Dear

The other afternoon, I received a telephone call from a man who said he was calling to deliver a "love-agram" from my husband. (He knew my husband's name.) He had a pleasant, cultured voice and sounded very professional, so I stayed on the line and listened to what he had to say. I had expected a love poem or something on the order of a singing telegram, but he started to describe in very graphic terms the act of lovemaking, and it turned out to be an obscene phone call!

I felt deceived, used and violated! When my husband came home that evening, I asked him if he had sent me a "love-a-gram," and he said he had never heard of such a thing. Abby, please print this as a warning to other women. I assume the caller used the telephone directory as his source for names

TRICKED IN PASADENA

DEAR TRICKED: Thanks for the tip as well as the opportunity to tell my readers how to handle obscene phone calls.

The most effective way to handle an obscene call is to hang up immediately. Or, if you don't mind having your own telephone tied up for a while, carefully lay the receiver down and walk away for as long as you wish.

If the calls persist, contact your local phone company. * * *

DEAR ABBY: I read in your column the question of whether it was proper to ask a stranger for the name of her perfume. Let me tell you, I did, and I have never regretted it.

Two women came out of a fine department store and passed me. Both were wearing a lovely fragrance, so I asked what it was: They replied, "Norell." I promptly purchased some for my wife. Forty-four years have passed and it's still our favorite. But

DEAR ABBY: I would like to pass my brand. Little things have a way of influencing our lives! FRANK H. CURTIS.

BEVERLY, MASS.

DEAR FRANK: Little things? Don't underestimate the power of the olfactory (the sense of smell). Odors are of primary importance in attracting the opposite sex in animals including the human animal.

DEAR ABBY: I must object to your response to "Pro-Life Mom," who became hysterical when she saw the term "abortion" in her medical record. This woman said that a D and C was performed to save her life. but had she known that the term "abortion" would appear on her record, she'd have refused the procedure because she's anti-abortion. How utterly ridiculous! Worse yet, she asked the doctor to change the terminology on her records.

Abby, medical records are legal documents and terminology is universal. This woman had a "spontaneous abortion" whether she likes the terminology or not. If her physician altered her records to accommodate her, his integrity would be diminished among his peers.

I feel that you've set her up for a futile battle with her physician. He'd have to be an idiot to put a nonmedical term into a patient's record.

You do a fantastic job of educating your readers. Please don't advise anyone to demand that a professional person lower him/herself to accommodate ignorance.

I've been a patient's rights advocate all along, and, yes, I am a nurse. JACQUIE GORDON, UNIVERSITY HEIGHTS, OHIO

Wright draws like a Hollywood star for Texas ag commissioner

Former U.S. House Speaker Jim Democrat Pete Geren, who seeks Wright's return to politics to help Wright's old 12th Congressional raise funds for Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower's re-election bid might have over- his appearances, but he's still goshadowed a Hollywood celebrity in the crowd.

'We've got Morgan Fairchild and I think more people turned out to see Jim Wright than her," Hightower said.

Wright of Fort Worth joined other Texas politicians Saturday night in a fund-raising picnic at a ranch outside Austin. It was billed as Hightower's "Back to the Ranch" party.

Wright and other notable politicians addressed the crowd from atop a tree stump.

"I feel at home here," said Wright. "It's great to be back on the stump. This is what grassroots politics is all about."

Wright, who left office in June under the cloud of an ethics investigation, said he could not guarantee his campaign appearances in support of fellow Democrats would increase as next year's primary election nears.

"I'm not planning any particular step up or step down" in activity, he said. "I'm just going where I feel there's an empathy and where I feel there is a sense of being able to do something good.'

The former speaker has made few campaign appearances since his resignation in June. His first, and only appearance in support of another politician was last GARFIELD, Texas (AP) - week, when he campaigned for District seat.

> 'He's going to pick and choose ing to be in great demand," said Hightower.

> More than 2,000 people attended the fund-raiser at the L-Bar Ranch, about 41/2 miles southeast of Austin. Hightower hoped to raise almost $200,000 from the event for his campaign fund.

The former speaker said he attended the event because of his longtime association with Hightower.

Bush picks Lanier

Dr. Bob Lanier, Republican congressional candidate, has received President Bush's endorsement in the close runoff for former House Speaker Jim Wright's seat

"Bob is the candidate need," Bush said Sunday via satellite from the White House to about 400 Lanier supporters in a rally at a Fort Worth hotel.

"He represents the strong family values that I think this country needs," said Bush. "He's dedicated to the community there."

the winning play

An unusual event took place April 1-15 in New York and Paris - a mara-, thon bridge match between men and women. One table was at the Cavendish Club in New York; the other was at Le Club de Bridgeur in Paris. Participants were asked to make charitable donations, and a respectable sum was raised. The men won the competition, but by a very slight margin considering the 2,532 deals played. For the women, Dorothy Truscott found the right play in three no-trump in toticularly veterans' groups, are still angry. "People are incensed," said Sen. Christopher Bond, R-Mo. "They still want to see action guickly."

In its 5-4 ruling, the court overturned a Texas law under which a protester was charged for burning a flag at the 1984 Republican National Convention in Dallas.

With legislation to protect the flag ready to begin moving through Congress this week, the only question appeared to be whether Congress would submit a constitutional amendment to the states for ratification in addition to widely expected passage of a law.

An amendment would have to be approved by a two-thirds majority of the House and Senate and by 34 of the 50 states, while a law requires simple majority votes of the House and Senate and the president's signature.

Happy 40th, Keith You're Still a Winner Years ago the county and city officials bought part of the 37th Street right of way, and part of it was given to them. In addition, the width of 37th St, between El Paso and Austin Place, is far wider than the width from Austin Place to College Avenue.

Also, when the Highland Park addition was developed the width of 37th St. was approved by our city officials. Now 30 years later, and with FEWER RESIDENTS, our city council is proposing to make a four lane street out of 37th St., using $800,000 of our state's tax money. Please remember this huge sum of money is going to be used to make a wider street to better serve a smaller town with a decreased traffic flow. Taxpayers, use only logic and you will see that huge sums of money for wider streets do not better accomodate a smaller town with less traffic.

The city of Snyder will have to move utility poles, provide curb and gutters, place water lines, purchase right of way, lay new sidewalks, and answer condemnation suits. How will all of this be paid for? It will be from you, the taxpayer, and myself. Once again, we are being taxed unnecessarily and forever.

Who does all the paying? Our county consists of farmers, ranchers, small businessmen, men and women working for a salary, and the many people who provide medical services, state schools and the religion of your choice. By law, farm and ranch land is not taxed at true value. I am not criticizing, but only stating fact. Therefore, the working people and above mentioned pay the majority of the taxes in Scurry County. We cannot pay for all the good things that the oil companies paid for in the past. In the real world, people have lost jobs, moved from Snyder, and businessmen's incomes have been drastically reduced with the majority of employees' salaries being frozen or cut.

Our present city and county officials did not create this problem, but inherited it. Now is the time to bite the bullet and not raise county and city salaries. We must find how to cut out the tat: county cars with telephones, unnecessary job titles, and luxurious convention trips. We are down to the basics of living in Scurry County, after many years of prosperity. The homeowners and small businessmen cannot afford to provide as the oil companies did in the past (The boom days). Let us all face this one lesson learned in life, we must support and care for ourselves.

Please be at the public hearing Sept. 12, 1989 at the Snyder Junior High School at 7 p.m. to try and stop the latest $800,000 plus BLOOPER. Let us quit following and get involved.

Bill E. Line

P.S. The selling price of property in Snyder is way down while the taxable value is still high. There has not been one house or business sold within the last two or three years that has brought as much money as our taxing agencies say they are worth. Let's all get involved and get our valuations lowered.

The three Snyder High School volleyball teams were in action this weekend with the Varsity and junior varsity falling in their opening games of District 4-4A competition to Pecos while the freshman squad won against Brownfield and then lost to Plains in the Denver City Tournament.

The Pecos Lady Eagles brought a 48-match district win streak to Snyder and proceeded to stretch the streak to 49, winning 15-7 and 15-12 against the Lady Tigers.

"Our first game we had several hitting errors," coach Patty Grimmett reported. "We have been having serving trouble, but our serving was 100 percent better against Pecos.'

"We played them close the se-cond game," she continued."Our offense was better, our defense was better, we were getting points off our serves, but a line call that gave them point 14 just finished us off. It was called out by the line judge and over-ruled by the referee. It was a crucial call as far as we were concerned.'

Camille Thompson led the scoring effort for Snyder with six points. Ann Osborn was second with five followed by Kathy Armstrong with three, Jennifer Pate and Teena Braziel with two each, and Robbie Braziel with one.

JV coach Laurie Welch said of her squad's play,"Over all we played a great match. They made us work hard for every point, but we did.'

The junior varsity lost to the Pecos JV by scores of 10-15 and 9-

Top scorers for Snyder were Ginger Alexander with eight points, Julie Johnson and Dayla Church with four apiece, Frieda Clay with two and Angie Crawford with one.

Two match points down and a net cord away from elimination.

Only a fortuitous bounce off the cord kept Derrick Rostagno from eliminating Becker in the second round of this tournament. The 21year-old West German survived that crisis, though, and went on to win the title, defeating Ivan Lendl 7-6 (7-2), 1-6, 6-3, 7-6 (7-4) Sunday.

Did Becker think about the Rostagno scare at all as he moved to his first Grand Slam title other than Wimbledon?

"I thought about it for the last 10 days," he said. "All the time.

"Over the years, those things (net cords) even out. Sometimes they're good for you and sometimes they're bad. To win a almost out of it."

For Becker, Rostagno provided 41/2 161/2 that match in the tournament's 21 1/2 second round. GB

"I thought after that, things can only get better," Becker

Among the things that improved for him was the court. Becker has always thrived on the green grass of Wimbledon, where he has won the prestigious All-England championship three times. The hardcourts of Flushing Meadow have never been as friendly for his serveand-volley game.

But by Sunday, Becker noticed that had changed. "The court was much quicker than it was two weeks ago," he said. "It was quicker every day because of playing on it and sliding on it."

That was bad news for Lendl, playing in a record-tying eighth consecutive Open final but still with just three titles to show for it.

Twice, in the first and fourth sets, he forced Becker to tiebreakers but each time, he came up short. "Tiebreakers are usually shootouts, but with a serve like his, there's not much you can do about it," Lendl said. "He just has more power in his game than I do and his game was putting a little more pressure on me."

Any time he was in trouble, Becker's booming serve usually

"The game is changing," he was 10 years ago when I came up "I was two match points down and it's going to be more difficult. "I think that I have improved with experience and I'm able to make up for something which, at times, other players have and I don't. But there is only so much you can do. You have certain limits."

For Lendl, the limit may be Becker, who has won their last four meetings to draw even at 7-7 with his rival. "We're close," Becker said. "We're the same more or less.'

It was the first time New Orleans ever shut out an opening day opponent.

"It's not the franchise it once was," Edelman said. "That's not to say that it can't be a good ball club and can't be a perennial winner. But they still have a long way to go."

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) -Houston Oilers coach Jerry Glanville and his Minnesota Vikings counterpart, Jerry Burns, must have been watching a different game.

"I was disappointed with our coverage on Carter, especially since he was double-covered." Glanville said.

Said Burns: "They gave us man coverage and it's tough to hold a guy like him down with man coverage."

Guess they'll have to look at the films.

In any event, Anthony Carter made the point moot. Double or single, zone or man-to-man, there was no covering the two-time Pro he didn't have anything to prove Bowl receiver Sunday as the Vikings opened the NFL season with a 38-7 victory.

Carter, who on Tuesday said he was so upset with his contract that Burns should bench him because "I won't put my best foot forward," used both feet to run around, jump over and, basical-ly, grind the Oilers into the turf.

The Vikings' first offensive play was a quick, 14-yard, Wade Wilson-to-Carter sideline pass.

"Coming in with that first play, I guess (Burns) wanted to see if I was going to put my best foot for-ward," said Carter, who caught seven passes for 123 yards and a touchdown before sitting out the second half with a slight ankle injury

He said his statement was made "in the heat of the day"

"I still believe I should be compensated for being one of the top receivers in the game," said Carter, whose $450,000 salary is less than half those of Jerry Rice and Mike Quick. "I got a contract right now and I'll deal with that later.

"I don't want to keep harping on this contract thing.'

On Wednesday, Carter apologized to Burns and his teammates. On Sunday, he said to them of player I am," Carter said. "They know I'm going to give it my all out of frustration, but I love the guy. The guy's a hell of a football player. He played out there today like a guy possessed."

There were 62 defensive backs chosen in the 1989 NFL draft, the most for any position.

day, a 71-yard drive against New 15-12, 4-15 and 14-16. Orleans reserves that ended with an interception at the 15-yard Hunters' class line.

Aikman threw a touchdown pass to Michael Irvin on that fourth-quarter drive, but it was called back by a penalty.

New Orleans scored on a 4-yard run by Dalton Hilliard and a 1yard plunge by Craig Heyward, both in the first quarter, a 56yard punt return by Derrick Shepard in the second quarter and a 1-vard run by Paul Frazier in the fourth quarter.

Saints linebacker Rickey Jackson said he and his defensive teammates dictated the course of the game.

'We're looking to be one of the best run defenses in the whole league," he said. "We've worked hard on that, stressed it.

"If they were going to beat us, they were going to have to beat us with the pass. We were going to try to stop Herschel Walker and make them beat us with the pass.

"We did, and they couldn't."

A hunters' education class will be held at the Dunn Community Center Sept. 16 and 17.

The course is open to adults and children and is slated to include rifle, shotgun and bowhunting safety procedures, outdoor ethics, laws and regulations, conservation, traditions, wildlife identification, field care of game, wilderness first aid and survival techniques.

The cost for the class is $5 for registration and materials.

Students successfully completing the course will receive a certificate from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission, according to class instructor Calvin Goebel.

Goebel also reminds hunters that anyone whose birthday falls between Sept. 2, 1971 and Aug. 31, 1973 must have this certificate to hunt alone in Texas.

The hours of instruction will be 8 a.m.-12 noon and 1-5 p.m. Sept. 16 and 1-5 p.m. Sept. 17.

For more information contact Goebel at 573-6938, Bill Robbins at 573-0795 or Mel Reed at 573-2884.

Rangers win against Birds

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) The Baltimore Orioles' remarkable run may have been dealt a crippling blow by the Texas Rangers.

Mike Stanley keyed a six-run first with a three-run double and Jamie Moyer pitched a six-hitter as the Rangers downed the Orioles, 8-1, on Sunday.

With the loss, Baltimore fell 21/2 games behind the Toronto Blue Jays in the American League East after the Blue Jays edged the Cleveland Indians, 5-4.

The Orioles have 17 games left, including a three-game series at Toronto the final weekend of the season

"It's just a little tougher now." said Orioles manager Frank Robinson. "It's not impossible, but a little tougher. Three down in the loss column with 17 left, it's tough.

The Orioles lost ground on the Blue Jays over the weekend even though Baltimore took three of five from Texas.

Veteran notary recalls romantic aspects of working for citizens

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - Anita Ellington reaches into her desk and slips out a 30-year-old autograph book full of Bexar County Courthouse history and memories.

A 1964 postcard sent to Mrs. Ellington by a former judge falls out of the book, as does a picture of a deputy constable she knew years ago. This is the way Mrs. Ellington's friends at the courthouse enter her conversations. They slip in effortlessly with every mention of a dear, old friend.

"Other than my family, this courthouse has been my life," Mrs. Ellington said. "There's a lot of wonderful memories in this rinconcito de amor (little corner of love)."

Mrs. Ellington's corner on the first floor of the courthouse is more than her office for a busy notary public business. It also is the corner where courthouse visitors most often come for directions to various offices, or where county employees hang out for a few minutes of friendly chatter.

Over her corner, a dimly lit, black-and-white sign put up in the 1950s reads, "Notary Public, Public Stento." The old sign has been her companion for 33 years, the same number of years Mrs. Ellington has called the courthouse home.

thouse's pre-1970s days, when the building was an open-air structure with high ceilings and patios lush with beautiful plants.

"It was so romantic," Mrs. Ellington said, rolling her eyes. "The courthouse was like a big, old mansion."

Those were the days with no air conditioning, and when heating during the winter months was generated from a boiler room in the basement. It also was a time when the courthouse had segregated bathrooms, a troubling policy Mrs. Ellington never liked.

Through the changes, she has been there to record it all in her autograph book. There is a 25year-old note from Bill Hauck, a Bexar County sheriff in the 1960s and a friend Mrs. Ellington treasured for many years. State District Judge Robert Murray stopped by Sept. 26, 1969, to clip a few hairs from his nearly bald head to give Mrs. Ellington as a memento. Twenty years later, the judge's hairs still are taped to a page in the autograph book. 'Little things here and there," Mrs. Ellington said of her collection of memories.

There is little time for recollections during an ordinary workday in Mrs. Ellington's corner. People walk up to her counter in a non-stop procession of ques-tions and ask for directions to the tax office or to an upstairs courtroom

Young couples, or "young turtle doves" as Mrs. Ellington calls them, come by to ask for information about marriage licenses.

"You never get bored here," she said. "I think the only other places I'd like to work are the Pentagon and the White House."

Mrs. Ellington's years before the courthouse were spent in Seguin, where she grew up as Anita Maldonado. She came to San Antonio in 1955, thinking she would go back to Seguin in a few years. She never did. Her rincon-She is a throwback to the cour- cito became an anchor she could not leave.

Family in Panhandle tunes out

CANADIAN, Texas (AP) -They say there's at least one in almost every home in America. Its invention unveiled a worldwide communication explosion, and some claim that it is the most important informational source ever/created.

They won't get any argument from Canadian school teacher Jim Hawley. He's been proclaiming the virtues of the printed page ever since he switched off the television two decades ago.

"I was raised on the tube, you know, and I didn't read much," said Hawley. That changed when he married his wife, Pennie, also a school teacher, 21 years ago this December. They got rid of the TV set.

"To tell you the truth, I can't recall the moment we decided not to own one. We've never been in the market for one," he said.

He concedes that it is unusual for a 20th century American family to be without a television set, but said they decided to do without the electronic houseguest for two reasons.

"Spiritually, we didn't want the undesirable part of it in our home. Secondly, we wanted to raise our kids in the best educational environment ... we wanted to be readers instead of watchers."

Reading has replaced viewing almost entirely for the family of four. In an average school year, Hawley estimated his family checks out about 600 pieces of literature from the library.

Although he admits the effect a literary diet has had on his children's education can't be verified. Hawley said he suspects the influence has been positive.

Former mayor killed as more violence occurs in Colombia

Attackers today shot and killed a former mayor of Medellin, the heart of the nation's cocaine industry and focus of most of the violence in the country's narcotics war, police said.

Medellin...

At least two attackers dressed in black shot Pablo Pelaez Gonzalez as he was being driven to his office, where he operated a local plywood company, the Medellin police said by telephone.

Pelaez' driver was killed also, said a police spokeswoman who declined to be identified.

Radio stations reporting from the scene of the shooting said the killers, apparently on foot, fired 9mm automatic pistols at the exmayor's BMW sedan, shed their black outer garments and fled.

Pelaez, 45, was mayor of the city of 2 million, Colombia's second largest, until 1986.

No group immediately asserted responsibility for the killing. It is the latest in a string of daily bombings and shootings in Medellin, where wealthy drug lords have focused efforts to terrorize Colombians following an unprecendented government crackdown on traffickers announced Aug. 18.

The most-wanted cocaine chieftains remain at large and it doesn't appear the government knows where they are despite a $250,000 reward offered for information on their whereabouts. Colombia on Sunday signed extradition papers for three alleged traffickers.

The crackdown has been supported by President Bush and is the focus of a U.N. meeting that opened today in Vienna on the issue.

"If Colombia were to lose this war (against the traffickers), we should all be lost," Margaret J. Anstee, director general of the U.N. Office in Vienna, told top government and law enforce-

⁵⁷³⁻⁰⁹⁰⁴ Pat Gray Body Works can do the job

The Kansas Jack Magna Rack III. What does this mean to you? "When your car is in a collision, it can mean a great deal," says Pat Gray, owner of Pat Gray Body Works, 700 N. Owens, Big Spring.

The Kansas Jack Magna Rack III is a revolutionary collision repairs system for unibody cars that literally reverses the collision action by pulling it out the way it went in, then squares and aligns each section of your car in relation to the rest of the car - the way it was meant to be.

"When your car is out of com-mission, you're just thinking about one thing - get it fixed. You want it fixed right - the first time - and you want it fixed quickly.

That's why we invested in the Kansas Jack," says Gray. With its advanced gauging and analysis system the machine aligns each vehicle as a single unit. This means each section is aligned in correct relationship to the rest of the vehicle in conformance with the manufacturer's original specifications.

Unibody cars are built with more precise dimensions, ex-plains Gray, because they're designed to be light, durable and reliable and at the same time roomy. The body parts may be asymetrical to pack in the most features possible. "There is little margin for error in Unibody repairs," according to Gray, who says the Kansas Jack can achieve repair results that are correct within one or two millimeters.

Pat Gray Body Works features an exclusive alignment machine for front-wheel and four-wheel drive vehicles. This machine applies a sensor on each of the four wheels so they can be adjusted individually, especially important

DEAR DR. GOTT I vacation in Arizona. Recently, a friend took me to a meeting where he stated miracles would happen. They claim the blind can see, the lame can walk, hypertensives can go off their medication, all because of KM-Matol. I understand this "medicine" is widely used in California, Nebraska and Arizona. The cost is $1 per day. Now, I'm being pressured by my friends to make the investment.

Yesterday, I met a man from Calgary, Alberta, who claims he gets $3,000 a month from his company as a "rake-off" from people selling this product. What's your opinion?

DEAR READER: This is a scam, a get-rich-quick scheme. As medical treatment, it's absolute baloney.

I am constantly amazed at how gullible people are. Folks of aboveaverage intelligence line up to spend money on the darndest quack cures. Don't you think doctors would break down doors to get KM-Matol if it had even a fraction of the benefits its proponents claim?

When a drug or other medical therapy shows promise, it is tested by the scientific community to determine its value and potential side effects. If, through investigation, it appears useful, it is released.

This is not the case with "miracle most everything. No scientific testing takes place. The product is promoted by money-grubbers who hope to reap huge profits, at the expense of an unsuspecting public, before the "cure" is found out to be a sham.

Be very skeptical about any treatment that purports to cure blindness, lameness and hypertension. Say "no" to your friends' suggestions; save your money and follow your doctor's advice about health issues. I'm the last person to claim that traditional medicine is perfect but, right now, it's the best system available.

State officials say they take no pleasure in seeking to evict Gagnon but have a responsibility to protect public land and provide more recreational opportunities for the public along Long Island Sound.

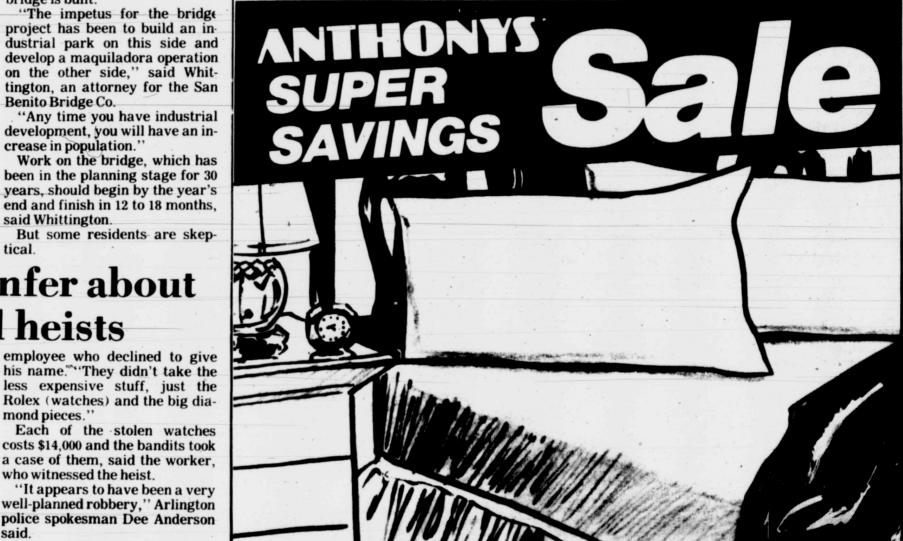

Gagnon's homestead lies about 100 feet from shore, on a sandy plot hidden on three sides by tall marsh grass. She lives in a dilapidated 18-foot camper and shacks with no running water or telephone. Chicken-wire fencing surrounds the property, where cats, dogs, chickens, geese and ducks also stay.

Her lawyer has asked for an injunction that would enable Gagnon to remain in her home at least five more years.

Meanwhile, two other men used sledgehammers to smash eight of the store's 13 glass display cases. Following them, a fourth man emptied the jewelry into pillowcases.

DEAR READER: Ludwig's angina is a rapidly spreading infection of the upper neck. It can follow dental extractions, which allow bacteria from ' the mouth to enter and penetrate the tissues under the jawbone. As the infection spreads, it causes severe pain and swelling, difficulty swallowing, drooling and trouble breathing. If respiration is severely impaired, asphyxiation and death can result

Before the advent of antibiotics. Ludwig's angina was a serious and dreaded consequence of dental extractions. Fortunately, with modern antibiotics, the infection is easily treated. However, during the treatment phase, patients must be closely monitored in the hospital for respiratory distress, a complication that can appear suddenly and without warning.

Attorneys seek to free man wrongly convicted

GROVETON, Texas (AP) Attorneys have taken up the case of a Texas death row inmate they say was wrongly convicted in the 1984 slayings of three Trinity County family members.

Prosecutors admit they have no physical evidence linking James Lee Beathard, 31, to the forest northwest of Groveton. But they had the testimony of another man charged in the crime, Gene Wilford Hathorn Jr.

Then, one year after he was found guilty of capital murder and sentenced to die, Hathorn recanted his earlier testimony, saying he alone killed the three.

'We're horrified by this case. This is about as good a scenario for justice not being done as you can think of," said Eden Harrington, an attorney with the Texas Resource Center, an organization connected with the University of Texas School of-Law in Austin.

Saying the killings stemmed father, Hathorn confessed and died." originally claimed Beathard helped him.

The bodies of Gene Hathorn Sr., 45, and his wife, Linda Sue Hathorn, 34, were discovered on the living room carpet of their trailer home. The body of their younger son, Marcus, 14, was on the floor of a bathroom just feet away.

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) -Odie, the 1,200-pound baby sperm whale who washed ashore a week ago, died at Sea-Arama Marineworld where he had received constant care since he beached himself.

The whale, who apparently suffered from a lung infection similar to pneumonia, died Sunday afternoon, said Sea-Arama spokeswoman Christy Benson. The exact cause of death was not known.

Odie was only about 3-weeks Odie's death, she added.

The robbery began about 10:30 a.m. when a well-groomed man went to an electronic security door at the store and was allowed in by employees. Officers said the man then held the door open for three other men.

The door, the only customer entrance, automatically locks when it is shut.

Police said the first San Antonio robbery was also wellplanned.

"They cased the place. They knew what they were doing," San Antonio police Capt. Jimmy Kopeck said.

Detective Joe Oosterveen said two men entered the jewelry store and one began striking the case with a 14-inch sledgehammer. An employee told him to stop and the man replied, "Just step back," police said.

Texas A&M officials took the whale from Sea-Arama on Sunday afternoon for research, Ms. Benson said. The university's marine biology department is in Galveston.
