A public hearing to discuss the proposed widening of 37th St. west from College Ave. will be held 7 p.m. Tuesday in the Snyder Junior High School auditorium.

The project, which would necessitate the acquisition of right-of-way over portions of the .814 of a mile involved, is expected to draw heated discussion.

Representatives from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, headed by William G. Burnette, P.E., district engineer from Abilene, and Ed Vernon, P.E., resident engineer in Snyder, will open the meeting with a discussion of the project selection, proposed construction and right-of-way requirements.

Following this will be a time for members of the public to view maps and drawings of the proposed project and to ask questions of the highway department representatives. The displays may also be reviewed 30 minutes prior to the meeting.

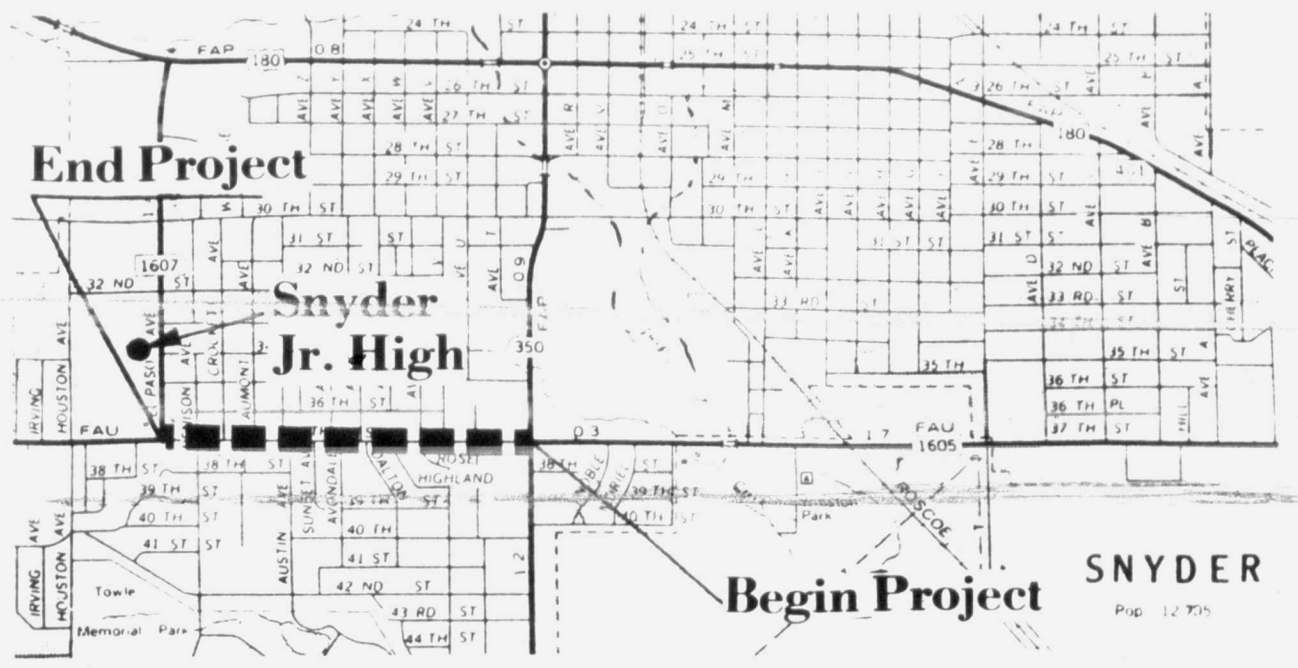

Afterward, local citizens will be given the opportunity to voice their opinions of the project.

Anyone who wishes not to make a verbal statement may submit a written statement within 10 days of the hearing.

The project, expected to cost some $805,000, will be funded through the SDHPT's urban system program.

Right-of-way must be provided by the City of Snyder and tentative schedules for right-of-way acquisition will also be discussed Tuesday.

Officials have indicated right-of-way acquisition affects a (see 37TH ST., page 8)

Neighborhood Watch in force at Ira

Area community tired of frequent vandalism, theft

By BOB CAMPBELL
SDN Staff Writer

Tommy Huddleston was motivated to help start a Neighborhood Crime Watch in Ira earlier this year when burglars broke into the Ira Baptist Church, to which he belongs, and stole a sound system.

The program is in operation now with a warning to potential thieves — you are being watched and you will be prosecuted.

"When they start stealing in churches, that's getting pretty rough," said Huddleston, the plant operator for BLJ Salt Water Depot.

Huddleston had already been disposed to be sternly anti-crime by the theft this year of $6,000 in tools from him, recent break-ins at two Ira businesses and, of course, the murder of his father Jack at a Snyder convenience store in 1985.

"All this taking place kind of does something to you inside," he said. "All it is is neighborhood law, like back in the old days."

After the church burglary, Huddleston remembered a young man who had come by a garage sale Huddleston and his wife Kitty had held the previous day and that the youth's "eyes were blood-shot and he was acting like someone would act when they're high on drugs."

Huddleston went to where he knew the young man lived and found the stolen sound equipment, helping to break the case for the county sheriff's office.

Sheriff's Deputy Charlie Reynolds was invited to bring his Neighborhood Crime Watch slides and presentation to the Huddlestons' home on the east side of the Ira school grounds, and about 35 Ira residents are now participating in the watch and helping to monitor the town.

One of Huddleston's main emphases now is trying to get high school students involved. "If they get involved in it, we're going to have this thing whipped," he said.

Reynolds said the Ira watch is the third to have been sponsored by the sheriff's office, with organizations already having been in place at Dunn, south of Snyder on the Colorado City Hwy., and Randall's Corner, in western Snyder.

Huddleston, 6 foot 2 and over 300 pounds, went to several people in Ira in an attempt to find someone else to organize the watch and was finally told by one man, "You're the biggest and ugliest one in town. Why don't you do it?"

Now when he drives around the school at night and checks for signs of a break-in with his spotlight, he says, people look out their windows and turn on their porchlights because they know who it is and what he is doing.

Ira was doubly ready for a Neighborhood Crime Watch, Huddleston said, because in addition to the crimes that had been reported, numerous recent petty thefts, vandalisms and other offenses had not even been called in by Ira citizens.

"That's no good because if they get by with it once, they're going to come back and do it again," he said.

City tax increase approved; treatment plant is discussed

City councilmen Monday night approved a nickel increase in the municipal ad valorem tax rate and decided to go to Austin Friday with a $950,000 proposal to expand the city water treatment plant that could be down-scaled later.

A tax rate of 35.94 cents per $100 in valuation, up from 31.99 because of declining property values, was approved unanimously, after which the council had a lengthy discussion with engineering and financial consultants about building a solids contact clarifier onto the water plant.

They eventually decided to carry a proposal to a Friday morning pre-application meeting with the Texas Water Development Board for a $950,000 loan from the State Revolving Fund for the $750,000 clarifier project and a $200,000 pump.

They indicated, however, that the necessity of the pump will continue to be evaluated and that the amount of the loan request could be reduced at a later date to include the clarifier only.

Other business in the 3½-hour meeting included the passage on second reading of an ordinance (see COUNCIL, page 8)

Assault suspect hospitalized

A 42-year-old attempted capital murder suspect was hospitalized with chest pain early Tuesday at Cogdell Memorial Hospital as the condition of his alleged victim, listed as critical Monday, improved slightly at a hospital in Lubbock.

Raymond Medrano Jr. of 1900 Ave. I was taken to the Snyder hospital at 2 a.m. Tuesday, and a hospital spokesman said no information about his condition could be released because he had been classified as a security risk.

A sheriff's deputy was guarding Medrano's room.

The Snyder man, charged with attempted capital murder and aggravated robbery in the Saturday night robbery-stabbing of 62-year-old Gilberto Jimenez of 1401 20th St., is being held in lieu of $100,500 in bonds.

A spokesman for Lubbock General Hospital in Lubbock, where Jimenez was flown by helicopter following the 10 p.m. Saturday incident, said Jimenez was listed in serious but stable condition Tuesday morning with deep stab wounds in his chest and abdomen.

A second man, 24-year-old Rafael G. Vera of 701 30th St., has also been charged with aggravated robbery in the incident and is being held under a $25,000 bond.

Football season is underway, and Texas Tech's Spike Dykes recently was speaker at Fina's Academic All-State football team honors banquet.

Dykes may not win the game, but he wins the heart of his audience with his down-home West Texas humor.

Dykes started his speech with a bang and a hearty laugh when he referred to the all-star team's cumulative 99.3 grade point average.

Said Dykes, "I want to know which one of you guys fouled up."

We've often called attention to the "sue 'em" mentality of the 1980s.

We just recently read where a group of town citizens became concerned to see their neighborhood park fall into disrepair because of a series of budget shortfalls.

The citizens offered to recruit volunteers to clean up and maintain the city park. The park commissioner, having consulted with the town counsel, responded that the use of volunteers might result in an accident and suit.

The offer for help was declined, and the park continues to deteriorate.

In another city, a burglar fell through the skylight of a public school. You guessed it, the burglar sued the school for damages.

Enough is enough. We're waiting for the classic—somebody will fall asleep during a Sunday sermon, fall out of the pew and sue the preacher for putting him to sleep.

The newspaper had the threat of a suit last summer. A business closed down and filed bankruptcy. The account was not removed from the computer, and a monthly statement was mailed after the bankruptcy filing.

Guess what? Sending 'em a statement is considered harrassment. Whatever happened to justice?

Q—How many Snyder teachers worked for the Pecos school system before coming to Snyder?
A—Only three teachers have joined the Snyder public schools system directly from Pecos; two in 1984 and one in 1988. Others may have taught at Pecos earlier in their career. Two administrators, superintendent Dalton Moseley, and high school principal Rueben Gillespie, were also previously employed by the Pecos school system. Moseley joined the SISD in 1987 and Gillespie, who left Pecos in 1983, was hired this year from Albany.

High-definition TV development...

Proposed government role dropped

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commerce Secretary Robert Mosbacher, facing White House disapproval, is dropping his proposal for a major government role in developing a U.S. high-definition television industry, officials say.

Mosbacher has said for months he would recommend loosened tax and antitrust laws to help private American industry compete with Europe and Japan in the race to build the next generation of television.

Commerce officials first promised Congress they would unveil such a plan by midsummer and, later, by the end of this year.

Now, a Bush administration official said Monday, Commerce is looking at HDTV only as part of a broad-based effort to boost U.S. technological competitiveness.

"There isn't necessarily going to be a single HDTV report as was once envisioned," the administration official said.

"We, throughout the last several months, have concluded that the issues that surround HDTV have to be viewed in a much broader context — full marketplace competitiveness — so we're not going to have a Commerce Department, per se, or a specific initiative that targets HDTV applications at this time," the official added.

"We're going to study it further and probably weave it into a more extensive high-tech competitiveness package. There's no date-certain of when that will be ready," said the official, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

A congressional source said the White House reined in Mosbacher for talking in terms reminiscent of the "industrial policy" program that Democratic presidential candidate Michael Dukakis advocated in the 1988 campaign.

"Mosbacher in their eyes is a renegade promoting industrial policy and they thought it was absolutely necessary to reprimand him," said the source, who also spoke on condition of anonymity.

The Wall Street Journal last month quoted sources who said Mosbacher's HDTV initiative was soundly criticized by other government agencies and was nearly dead.

The Journal said Wayne Berman, a counselor to Mosbacher who chairs an interagency study group on HDTV, planned to circulate a substantially revised proposal that would advocate policies aimed at a variety of technologies, including HDTV.

SAT race and gender gap widening

NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly a decade of progress on the Scholastic Aptitude Test by female and minority youngsters stalled during the last school year. The nation's top education official termed the results "disheartening."

Statistics presented by The College Board on Monday show a widening race and gender gap among the 1,088,223 high school students who took the SAT in 1989.

White students in the high school class of 1989 gained 2 points on their combined SAT scores to 937, and now average 200 points higher than blacks whose math-verbal scores were unchanged from the previous year at 737.

Women's combined scores dipped 2 points to 875. Male test-takers averaged 934, 1 point higher than a year earlier.

For all students, SAT averages showed little change for the fourth consecutive year. Average verbal scores dropped a point to 427 from 1988; math scores were unchanged at 476, for a combined 903.

The combined national averages have changed little since 1985 when they hit 906.

Average composite scores on the ACT Assessment, the college entrance test that predominates in 28 mostly Midwestern and Western states, dipped 0.2 point in 1989, to 18.6. Averages on the four-part exam, assessing English, math, social studies and natural science skills, are scored on a scale of 1-35.

The results were "disheartening at the end of a decade marked by substantial education reform efforts," said U.S. Education Secretary Lauro F. Cavazos.

The scores, Cavazos said, pointed to "an urgent need to restructure the nation's elementary and secondary schools, to create intellectual opportunities for all."

The SAT, sponsored by The College Board and administered by the Educational Testing Service in Princeton, N.J., is the predominant college entrance exam in 22 states. The two-part multiple-choice test is scored on a scale of 200-800, with a combined 1600 being a perfect score.

The ACT, taken by 855,171 high school students during the last school year, is administered by American College Testing of Iowa City, Iowa. The organization announced that beginning October, students will receive 12 scores instead of the current five, including seven new subscores in specific content areas of English, math and reading.

Robert G. Cameron, executive director of research and development for the College Board, said he was disappointed by the erosion in average verbal scores. He attributed the decline in part to an increase in recent years in the number of test-takers whose first language is not English.

The latest results also were certain to fuel the perennial debate over whether the tests are valid predictors of college success, and whether, as critics insist, the tests are biased against females and minorities.

Critics led by the Cambridge, Mass.-based "FairTest" say SAT questions tend to cover subjects that male and affluent test-takers are more likely to be familiar with.

College Board president Donald M. Stewart attributed the continued lag in SAT averages among women and minority students to inequities in educational opportunities.

"College Board research reveals a strong relationship between the strength of a student's high school preparation and his or her test scores," Stewart said. "That's why we believe that score differences among ethnic groups and between men and women reflect wide disparities in academic preparation—or lack of it."

FDA investigates generic drug firms

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration plans to take a closer look at 11 generic drug companies where inspections turned up serious manufacturing and record-keeping problems.

Irregularities that ranged from falsified records to misrepresentation of test data were found at 11 of the 13 companies that make generic versions of brand-name drugs. Paul F. Vogel, deputy director of the FDA's generic drug compliance staff, told a House subcommittee Monday.

The investigations into the companies where problems were found are continuing, and the FDA is reviewing the operations of 20 more companies and testing samples of the 30 leading generic drugs. One of the companies has admitted substituting a brand-name drug for its own in sampling tests.

"We don't think our job is yet completed," said Vogel.

The investigation, sparked by evidence turned up by the House Energy and Commerce investigations subcommittee, has resulted in charges against three FDA employees, two generic drug makers and former executives at the companies, as well as FDA action to remove dozens of generic drugs from the market.

"We can no longer be sure that generic drugs are safe and effective," said Rep. John Dingell, the subcommittee chairman.

He added, however, "For those drugs with broad therapeutic ranges there is probably little danger to the consumer."

Vitarine has admitted substituting the brand-name drug Dyazide for its generic copy in tests to win FDA approval, and has since removed its product from the market. The FDA is investigating to determine whether Bolar did the same with its generic version of the drug used for high blood pressure.

Current and former officials of Par and Quad, which is a subsidiary of Par, appeared before the subcommittee under subpoena, but most declined to answer questions, claiming protection under the Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination.

Comment from other companies was not immediately forthcoming. People answering the telephone at Pharmafair and Pharmaceutical Basics said no one could be reached until Tuesday. There was no answer at Vitarine and at Barre-National.

Rep. Thomas Bliley, R-Va., ranking Republican on the subcommittee, said the FDA must rein in the generic drug makers as more drug patents expire and become eligible for generic applications.

FDA officials said deficiencies were found at American Therapeutics Inc. of Bohemia, N.Y.; Barre-National of Baltimore; Bolar Pharmaceuticals of Copiague, N.Y.; Par Pharmaceuticals of Springfield Valley, N.Y.; Pharmaceutical Basics Inc. of Morton Grove, Ill., and Denver, Colo.; Pharmafair of Hauppauge, N.Y., a subsidiary of Bausch and Lomb of Rochester, N.Y.; Quad Pharmaceuticals of Indianapolis; Sidmak Laboratories of East Hanover, N.J.; Superpharm Corp. of Central Islip, N.Y. and Bayshore, N.Y.; Vitarine Pharmaceuticals of Springfield Gardens, N.Y.; and Watson Laboratories of Corona, Calif.

Vogel said FDA found no significant problems at two manufacturers: Able Laboratories of South Plainfield, N.J., and Zenith Labs of Ramsey, N.J. He said neither is a major

Gag order put on Zsa Zsa Gabor

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Zsa Zsa Gabor transformed her encounter with a Beverly Hills cop into street theater, with hairdresser, aristocratic eighth husband and the world press watching the selection of her jury.

On Monday, the actress who appeared in "Moulin Rouge" and "Picture Mommy Dead" was mobbed by about 100 reporters at the courthouse as jury selection began. Only six reporters were allowed inside.

Miss Gabor wore a black Donna Karan dress, a string of pearls, and a flashcube-sized diamond wedding ring as she breezed into court with a trademark "Hello Dahlinks."

She was accompanied by her hairdresser, daughter and eighth husband, Prince Frederick von Anhalt, Germany's Duke of Saxony.

Defense attorney William Grayson estimated a five- to seven-day trial, with jury selection ending today.

Municipal Judge Charles G. Rubin immediately imposed a gag order on the case, attempting to silence the outspoken Miss Gabor and her supporters.

"This is the case of the people versus Zsa Zsa Gabor," Rubin told the first 18 prospective panelists, who included an accountant, a lawyer, a computer programmer and a housekeeper-cook.

Grayson's first question to the prospective panelists focused on their familiarity with an obscene directive Miss Gabor claims the officer told her and which she allegedly took as an order to leave.

Texas scores stable

Results given for ACT-SAT

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas students' scores on the country's two major college entrance examinations remained lower than the national average this year, but followed a national trend in staying stable since 1988, according to the Texas Education Agency.

State Education Commissioner W.N. Kirby expressed concern Monday that Texas scores still are below the national average.

However, he said, the scores are higher than they were when the Legislature enacted sweeping education reforms in 1984.

"I am optimistic that the reforms will enable our students to improve their scores in the future," he said.

The mean score for the state on the verbal section of the Scholastic Aptitude Test was 415 this year, down two points from 1988. The mean SAT math score was 462, the same as last year.

National averages were 427 on verbal, down one point from 1988, and 476 in math, the same as last year.

On the American College Testing program exam, Texas students' average composite score was 17.5 points, down from 17.6 in 1988. The national average ACT composite score was 18.6, down from 18.8 in 1988.

"Our scores on the SAT and ACT have obviously reached a plateau," Kirby said. "This reflects the national trend."

A total of 81,541 Texas students took the SAT this year, 1,434 more than in 1988.

More minority students took the SAT in 1989, and their scores also remained stable, the TEA said.

Black students' verbal scores were down slightly, from 346 to 345, while their math scores increased from 381 to 384, according to figures from TEA. Hispanic students' verbal scores on the SAT increased from 372 to 373, and their math scores increased from 422 to 424.

Students in the state who had taken at least 20 or more academic or college preparatory courses by the time they took the SAT had higher average scores — 475 on the verbal part and 526 on the math section.

However, only 22 percent of Texas students who took the SAT took 20 or more academic courses, compared to 39 percent of the national group, according to the TEA.

Texas students taking the ACT exam totaled 51,609, an increase of 5,321 students from 1988.

Minority scores remained stable on the test, the TEA said. Black students scoring 13.6 this year and 13.4 in 1988. Hispanic students scored 14.8 on the ACT in 1989, compared to 14.9 the previous year.

The state is broadening the scope of the Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills test to put greater emphasis on higher-order thinking skills, Kirby said.

"I believe that this will result in improved college entrance examination results for our students," he said. "Both the SAT and the ACT put a much greater emphasis on higher-order thinking skills than our state minimum skills test does."

SCS Notes

CONSERVATION RESERVE PROGRAM

As the summer is winding down and fall is a little bit closer, we are all looking forward to some cooler temperatures and hopefully some rain. All the CRP producers need to keep tabs on their contracts and see that items scheduled are carried out as required. Most of the county is obviously experiencing severe drought, and conditions for grass production are extremely low. However, there are some areas that have produced some good grass stands this year in spite of the nearly zero rainfall.

Competition for moisture is probably the most limiting factor in this area that faces the CRP participants. Therefore, weed control is an important item in the CRP schedule. It is the sole responsibility of the producer to see that the competition is controlled during the establishment period. However, if there is a question, the SCS personnel will gladly help the producer make the right decision.

There have been some questions as to the deadline for weed control on CRP land. There are no set time limits as to when to shred during the year because each person's circumstance is a little different. However, all weed control must be carried out within twelve months of the "scheduled" time or the item will be deleted from the contract and cost share will be forfeited. Remember that maintenance of the contracted land is the responsibility of the landowner. If you have a question about carrying out the provisions of the contract, don't wait until next year, take the time to call and have your problem resolved.

Currently, there are over 40,000 acres involved in CRP in Scurry County, comprising nearly 270 contracts. It is impossible to service each and every contract several times throughout the year. Therefore, it is important that you, as the operator, keep abreast of your contract and any problems that may arise.

declarer to watch his spots. Declarer ducked the king of clubs in dummy, won the second club with dummy's ace, and immediately played a diamond back to his jack. He played two more high diamonds, discarding a club from dummy when West ruffed in with the eight of spades. West continued with another club.

Declarer now made a key play by ruffing with dummy's six of spades. Next he cashed dummy's ace of spades and led the spade seven back to his king. Declarer now played a low heart up to the king. East made the good play of unblocking with the jack, just in case declarer was going to lead a second heart from dummy. But South was able to get back to his hand with dummy's carefully preserved two of spades to lead up to the queen of hearts. That was 10 tricks, but it wasn't easy.

Although the play for game is poor, it is very difficult for North-South to stay out of game. Prime cards abound in both hands, and the result is an optimistic final contract.

Rangers' backstop retiring after 1989

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — The Texas Rangers' Jim Sundberg, one of the top defensive catchers in history, said he is retiring because of the physical beating he took behind the plate in 16 major league seasons.

"My body was giving me indicators," Sundberg said. "When you get my age your body starts telling you things. I knew it was time."

Sundberg, with 20 games remaining, is already the Rangers' all-time leader in games, hits, at-bats and doubles, and ranks second in runs and triples.

"The toughest part was the last two weeks," he said. "I believe that I probably cried at least once a day for the last 14 days at one time or the other."

However, the physical hurts made his decision easier.

"I have a sore left shoulder, a bad right knee," Sundberg said. "If I played any longer I would need surgery. I also have a bad thumb on my catching hand."

He said his fondest memory in his 16-year major league career was a game-winning hit in the 1985 World Series.

"My hit with the bases loaded in the seventh game to win (for Kansas City) was something you start dreaming about when you're a kid," Sundberg said. "That's the highlight."

He said his biggest disappointment was not playing for a championship team in two different stints with the Rangers.

"I wish I could have been on a winner here," he said.

Sundberg had played only three times and started once since Geno Petralli returned from the disabled list Aug. 19. Sundberg is hitting .189 with two homers and six RBI in 132 at-bats.

Sundberg's career fielding percentage is .993, third among catchers with 1,000 or more games. He has only 81 errors.

On Aug. 8, Sundberg reached an important career milestone in Toronto, when he moved past Al Lopez into second place on the all-time games-caught list. Sundberg has caught 1,025 games in his 16 major-league seasons. Only Bob Boone of the Kansas City Royals, at 2,171, has caught more games than Sundberg.

"Based on his achievements, it is no surprise that Jim Sundberg is one of the most popular players to ever wear a Texas Rangers uniform," said Tom Grieve, Rangers' vice president and general manager.

But he has hitting and catching as late as June 4, when a majority of his at-bats had come against left-handed pitching. After Petralli suffered a torn knee ligament and Chad Kreuter moved into the catching platoon, Sundberg got a higher percentage of his at-bats against right-handers and his average dropped.

After Petralli's return, Kreuter has replaced Sundberg in the platoon. Kreuter abandoned switch-hitting and batted only from the right side.

Sundberg spent ten seasons with the Rangers before being traded to Milwaukee for the 1984 season. He later played for Kansas City and the Chicago Cubs.

The Rangers signed Sundberg again as a free agent on July 21, 1988 after being released by the Cubs July 15. He appeared in 38 games the remainder of the year, making 25 starts behind the plate.

Padres dump Houston on Schiraldi's 4-hitter

SAN DIEGO (AP) — When the San Diego Padres acquired Calvin Schiraldi, it seemed like a trade made with next year in mind. But the right-hander has been an immediate success.

Schiraldi pitched 6 1-3 innings of four-hit ball and allowed three runs Monday night to win his second straight start since joining the Padres nearly two weeks ago as San Diego defeated the Houston Astros, 7-3.

The victory left second-place San Diego six games behind the San Francisco Giants, who rallied to beat Atlanta. The third-place Astros fell seven games back in the National League West.

Garry Templeton hit San Diego's club-record fifth grand slam of the season to highlight a six-run sixth inning, when they chased Astros starter Jim Deshaies, 12-9.

"I've been pitching better since the all-star break, but the wins haven't been there," Deshaies said. "It's one of those years where things haven't been falling into place."

Templeton's fifth homer of the year made a winner of Schiraldi, 5-6, whom San Diego acquired with outfielder Darrin Jackson in a five-player deal with the Chicago Cubs.

Schiraldi was 3-6 for the Cubs this season with a 3.61 earned run average in 55 appearances, all in

Johnson looks for positives from 'Pokes' opening game

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Tom Landry was somewhere in Europe, celebrating his 65th birthday.

Jimmy Johnson was at Valley Ranch Monday, picking up the pieces of the worst opener in the Dallas Cowboys' 30-year history.

It was easy for Johnson to discover what went wrong in a 28-0 whipping by the New Orleans Saints on Sunday in his NFL coaching debut. Johnson needed no film review to know the Cowboys were defeated in every phase of the game.

"I would love to have an experienced and talented football team," Johnson said. "But if the football team had that I probably wouldn't be here."

With new owner Jerry Jones glumly prowling the sidelines, the Cowboys made history with their first season-opening shutout.

Johnson was grim but had expected the worst.

"It's not a good feeling to look

WTC golfers at tournament

Western Texas College golf team will open the season Thursday in the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor Fall Invitational Golf Tournament.

The event will be played at Leon Valley Golf Course in Belton.

The tournament consists of 36 holes, 18 holes Thursday and the final 18 on Friday.

Westerners will tee off at 1 p.m. on the opening day.

The WTC Blue team is made up of sophomore David Turrentine and freshmen Chris Mathis, Jerry Whitten, Brandon Benedict and Tony Lara.

The Green squad carries sophomores Mike Montgomery and Jeff Baker as well as freshmen Brad Stewart, Zeke Bidwell and Chad Wallworth.

Eighteen universities and junior colleges will be competing in the event including McLennan Community College, Navarro Junior College, the University of Mary Hardin-Baylor, Abilene Christian University, Trinity University and Tarleton State University.

Bowlers meet to plan league

An organizational meeting is planned for Wishball bowling at Snyder Lanes on Thursday.

The gathering is scheduled to begin at 7 p.m.

Group spokesman Wayne Monroney said, "We need you there to help organize a good league."

Monroney also reminded bowlers if they could not attend the meeting and want to bowl in the league to call Snyder Lanes at 573-2811.

across the field and know you have to play your best to have a chance," Johnson said. "We didn't play our best in any area. We weren't as aggressive as I want us to be. We showed no spark."

New Orleans coach Jim Mora said the Cowboys didn't look prepared.

"Jimmy has a long way to go," Mora said. "I don't know if he realized that before this game."

Landry's wife, Alicia, knew she didn't want her husband around to have to deal with the emotional aspect of the Cowboys playing their first game without him as head coach.

She suggested a European vacation, which will last until late September. The itinerary is secret.

Not even Landry's son, Tom, was certain where his father was when the game was played.

"I didn't want to know so I didn't have to answer any questions," he said.

Former club president Tex Schramm wasn't gloating over the disaster.

"It was very difficult for me to watch on television," Schramm said. "But I don't want to comment any farther."

Schramm is the president of the World League of American Football, which will make its debut in the spring of 1991.

It was a big comedown for Jones and Johnson after a 3-1 preseason that gave Cowboys' fans false hope.

As shocking as the futility of the Dallas defense was the lack of production by Herschel Walker.

Walker had a combined 2,109 yards rushing and receiving last season, but he carried only eight times for 10 yards against the Saints. It was his worst game rushing since 1986.

Walker, who caught four passes for 36 yards, couldn't understand his idleness.

"I think I played decoy and blocked more than I have in any game of my career," he said. "This offense is not an offense for a running back. It's a passing offense for receivers and quarterbacks."

Rookie Troy Aikman hit 17 of 35 passes for 180 yards in his NFL debut but suffered two interceptions. He had three passes dropped and a touchdown pass was called back because of holding.

"I thought Troy did a fine job considering the circumstances," Johnson said.

Aikman took the flogging in stride.

"Rookies are babes in a men's game in the NFL," he said. "Who thought we'd go 16-0 this season? You know, we might lose another game."

Jones' preseason prediction also looked in jeopardy. He predicted the Cowboys will win more games in the first third of the season than they did all last year (3).

Sunday's events indicate the new Cowboys will have to hustle harder to do it.

Oilers line injuries add to Sunday loss

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers coach Jerry Glanville said he didn't want to single out the offensive line as the only area that didn't play well in the team's 38-7 loss to Minnesota.

But it was a good place to start. "Some of our best football players didn't play very well," Glanville said Monday. "But I don't want to pinpoint the offensive line. If you started pointing fingers you'd run out of fingers."

The Oilers offensive line was hobbled by injuries, allowing quarterback Warren Moon to be sacked seven times. The Oilers allowed 24 sacks last season.

Defensive tackle Keith Millard took advantage of Oilers guard Mike Munchak's strained Achilles tendon for three sacks. He also tackled fullback Walter Highsmith twice in the backfield.

"We've been beaten by a speed rusher from the outside before but I don't think we've ever been rushed inside like that," Glanville said. "We really didn't give ourselves a chance to win."

The Oilers scored on their first possession and then couldn't mount a sustained drive the rest of the game.

But Glanville wouldn't blame the performance on injuries and he couldn't blame it on the element of surprise.

"I wish they'd have done something exotic so we could say we weren't ready for it," Glanville said. "But they didn't. We didn't look like ourselves. We couldn't get the job done."

The worst of the injuries was free safety Jeff Donaldson, who received a severely sprained ankle in the first quarter and is doubtful for Sunday's game at San Diego.

Oilers line coach Kim Helton didn't sugar-coat his players' performances.

"It's not like they were blitzing linebackers and defensive backs," Helton said. "Their defensive line beat our offensive line. They actually play an eight-man front, using the four down linemen to pass rush every play and letting the others handle the run."

Pennison was impressed with the Vikings' defensive performance. "This is definitely the best a defensive line has played against us," Pennison said. "We were banged up, but that's no excuse. It's part of the game. We just didn't get it done."

Glanville said he hopes the injury problem doesn't persist.

"Our biggest problem right

Emergency meeting set in Colombia

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — The government, besieged by daily bombings and slayings in its war against cocaine barons, called an emergency meeting of the National Security Council to debate anti-terrorism measures. "We are in total anguish over events in Medellin," said Helena Herran de Montoya, governor of Antioquia state, where Colombia's embattled drug center is located.

Officials fear the crackdown launched against the cocaine cartels by President Virgilio Barco three weeks ago is turning Medellin — home base of the country's most powerful drug kingpins — into a war zone.

Contest

Second place and $25 goes to Franklin B. Pruitt of P.O. Box 835, and the $15 third prize goes to Mike Bonta of 4105 Jackson Ave. They will receive their checks in the mail.

Honorable mention goes to Ben T. Essery, Steve Grimmett, Robert Hoyle and Steven M. Sales for their efforts.

Another contest appears on the back page of Tuesday's edition.

Dable, Pablo Gonzalez, a popular former mayor of Medellin, was shot and killed Monday when five or six attackers opened fire as he was driven to work.

His driver also was killed and a bodyguard wounded. The killers fled, police said.

DAVID KENNER

Kenner enlists in U. S. Marines

David Kenner, son of Bobby and Peggy Kenner of Snyder, has enlisted in the U. S. Marines and is currently attending "boot camp" in San Diego, Calif.

He is a 1989 graduate of Snyder High School.

Man charged in connection with stabbing

A 25-year-old Snyder man was arrested for aggravated assault Monday afternoon in connection with the stabbing of 23-year-old Ralph Torres last weekend at a residence in the 1200 Block of 24th St.

Officers went to 2303 Ave. I at 3:39 p.m. and took Jessie V. Medrano into custody on the charge. Medrano's bond was set at $15,000.

Torres was treated and released at Cogdell Memorial Hospital following the 12:34 a.m. Saturday incident, in which he reportedly sustained a two-inch-deep wound.

Victim identified after 9 years

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Every 90 days after authorities found skeletal remains in a remote area of Pushmataha County on Nov. 29, 1980, Oklahoma State Bureau of Investigation agents re-opened the case and looked for any clues that might lead to the identification.

No luck. That is, until a life insurance company apparently pursuing details for a claim asked the OSBI for information about a stolen pickup truck found in the area about the same time.

OSBI spokesman Paul Renfrow said the connection between the pickup and the remains apparently was not made in 1980.

The inquiry from the life insurance company, he said, "provided a lead that broke this case wide open."

The OSBI identified the remains as Charlotte Bernice Cook of Lufkin, Texas. Renfrow said authorities now will begin the homicide investigation into Ms. Cook, who was 18 when she died.

He also said the identification might help agents with another discovery of unidentified skeletal remains found about a month later in the same area.

"The plot has thickened," Renfrow said. Renfrow said Monday evening that every unsolved case "has to be reviewed every 90 days."

"That agent has to be aware of it," he said. "And keep in mind, a lot of work has gone into this ... a facial reconstruction that was released to the media. But the people in Lufkin had no way of seeing it."

"Fortunately, this lead made the connection or it might have gone unnoticed again."

News of the identification brought mixed reactions to Ms. Cook's mother, Doylene Cook.

"I'd look at her picture and wonder if she had a place to put her little head at night," Ms. Cook told the Lufkin (Texas) Daily News. "I'm sorry she's gone, but if she died, I'd rather know it than to wonder. She was gone for so long. I wasn't surprised."

In October 1980, another unidentified body was found in the same area as Miss Cook's. The OSBI is still trying to determine if the incidents are connected, and with one body identified, it should be easier to determine the identify of the other body, Renfrow said.

"We have a man's body that was found in the same general area and at approximately the same time," Renfrow said. "We've always wondered if the two cases were connected. If it's just a coincidence that they were both found there at close to the same time, then that's a pretty big coincidence."

raising water, sewer and sanitation rates by 20 percent.

The panel awarded the city's annual bank depository bid to West Texas State Bank as WTSB offered, among other things, an interest rate equal to the most recent 13-week Treasury Bill discount rate on certificates of deposit in excess of $100,000 with a maturity of more than 30 days, with a floor rate of six percent.

Resolutions were adopted to accept the construction projects that raised a 150,000-gallon water tower at the Price Daniel Unit and extended water and sewer lines to the prison, with City Engineer Don Osborn saying the contractors did excellent jobs.

Councilman Ralph Williamson abstained for the water and sewer lines resolution voting, he said after the meeting, because he has a relative who works for the engineering company that supervised the project, Parkhill, Smith & Cooper of Lubbock.

The council tabled discussions of buying a new telephone recording system for the police department and closing the 2500 Block of 24th St.

Police Sgt. Jerry Parker and Dictaphone Corp. representative Patricia Cruz of San Antonio said the current system is about 15 years old and worn out, and they discussed new systems that would cost $24,000 and $29,000 respectively.

Mayor Troy Williamson said the more expensive system would be more adaptable to the 911 emergency calling network that is scheduled to be in place here within the next three years.

Greg Midkiff, area manager of Electric Submersible Pumps of Midland, attended the meeting to say his company has recently bought property fronting the 2500 Block of 24th St. and would like to have the street officially closed to have better security for equipment that will be stored there.

Osborn said the street area, abutting Deep Creek on the north, has been closed and fenced for some time and that he would need an easement to the city's six-inch water main there if the council decided to close it officially.

The council tabled the matter while the city staff writes a proposal to obtain an easement and close the street.

three-block area adjoining the intersection of College Ave. and 37th St. The area would include the north side of 37th St. for a two-block area just west of College. A one-block area just west of College on the south side of 37th would also require right-of-way.

The proposal calls for the intersection to be widened from 44 feet to 60 feet which would allow for the addition of a fifth traffic lane for vehicles to turn off 37th St. onto College. A "left-turn only" traffic light would be added at the intersection.

The remainder of 37th would be widened from two lanes to four lanes, or to a minimum of 48 feet.

The project calls for the south side of 37th St. to be moved back either 6 or 12 feet from the present curb. On the north side of 37th, the curb would be moved back either 6 or 12 feet also. From Ave. U west to Austin Place, the 12-foot setback would be required. From Austin place to Crockett, the requirement would be a 6-foot setback on the north side of the street.

A 4-foot sidewalk would be added on both sides of 37th St. also.

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I took Ser-Ap-Es for 10 years to control high blood pressure. Then I found out the drug can cause Parkinson's disease and depression. Please comment.

DEAR READER: Ser-Ap-Es is a drug that has been used for many years to treat hypertension. It contains reserpine, hydralazine and hydrochlorothiazide. Unfortunately, each of these ingredients has dangerous side effects. Reserpine, in particular, commonly causes depression, slow pulse, deafness, headaches, dizziness and nightmares; Parkinson's disease is an extremely unusual complication.

Hydralazine can cause liver inflammation, fluid retention, angina, depression and bone-marrow damage. Hydrochlorothiazide is associated with potassium deficiency, worsening of diabetes, gout, vertigo, rash and weakness.

In my opinion, Ser-Ap-Es is no longer an appropriate medicine for hypertension; it has too many side effects and is more dangerous (and less effective) than the newer drugs for high blood pressure. Ask your doctor to prescribe more modern medication — such as beta-blockers, calcium-channel blockers or angiotensin-converting enzyme inhibitors — to lower your blood pressure without the risks of Ser-Ap-Es.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 5 1/2-year-old daughter was diagnosed last year with epilepsy. She has petit-mal seizures and takes Zorantin. Her doctor says she will outgrow this condition between the ages of 8 and 12. When we took our second daughter, who is retarded but not epileptic, to her neurologist, he indicated that she will develop grand-mal seizures as she ages. Whom do we believe?

DEAR READER: Both doctors may be correct.

From your description, I conclude that one daughter has petit mal, a mild form of epilepsy that most children outgrow, while the other daughter, because of her mental handicap, may develop seizures as she matures. The two situations are different.

Petit-mal epilepsy is characterized by brief episodes of bewilderment (called "absence attacks") and muscle twitching. The cause is unknown. Petit mal always begins in childhood; many patients are highly intelligent.

On the other hand, major motor seizures (grand mal), marked by loss of consciousness and violent muscle contractions, may appear at any age and are common in people who have a degree of brain damage, such as mental retardation. Of course, the neurologist is simply guessing that this condition will develop. Your handicapped daughter may mature normally and never have seizures.

Therefore, I think you are safe to adopt a "wait-and-see" attitude. If your retarded daughter develops grand mal, she can be treated; if she doesn't, the neurologist's prediction was incorrect.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Epilepsy — the Falling Sickness." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Former deputy pleads guilty

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — A former chief deputy with the San Augustine County Sheriff's Department pleaded guilty to a charge that he distributed cocaine to an undercover police officer in May.

Willie Earl Dade, 47, who worked under former Sheriff Nathan Tindall, signed a plea agreement Monday pledging to cooperate in future drug investigations by law enforcement authorities. He pleaded guilty to one count of possession of a controlled substance with intent to distribute.

U.S. District Judge Howell Cobb said he will sentence Dade within 50 days. Dade could receive up to 40 years in prison.

Prosecutors have recommended that Dade serve no longer than 12 years and agreed to drop other charges provided he cooperates with authorities.

Father Admits Having Bias Against In-Laws' Ethnic Slurs

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1989 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I am a 29-year-old married man with a fine, bright, 8-year-old son. My wife and I have a wonderful marriage, and for the most part I have fantastic in-laws. The one negative aspect of my in-laws is the way they refer to certain ethnic groups. They are very close-minded, prejudiced people who use offensive words to describe someone's race, color or religion.

I can live with it, but I don't want our son to hear talk like that from people he is supposed to respect.

Is there a tactful way to ask my in-laws to please refrain from making ethnic slurs around our child? Or should I let them say what they wish and continue to dispute what they've said after they leave?

OPEN FOR SUGGESTIONS

DEAR OPEN: Ask your "fantastic" in-laws to please keep their ethnic slurs to themselves in the presence of your son because you are trying to teach the boy to judge people by their character—not by their color or religion. Also ask your wife to join you in keeping her parents in line.

DEAR ABBY: I have some questions that need to be answered concerning several situations. I already have a couple of my neighbors upset with me, so I hope you will help settle things.

The first situation involves inviting other children to go along with my child to the movies, skating, out to eat, etc. Who should pay for the other children's food and entertainment? Should I? Or should they pay for their own?

Also, is it rude to invite only my child's playmate, even though there are three other children in his family?

And how do I handle this situation: A young neighbor boy is always asking to be included, no matter where we're going. He says, "My parents have already said yes."

Please help me, but don't use my name, initials or location. Thank you.
FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: When you invite a child's playmate to go anywhere with your child, the playmate is your guest, so you pick up the tab.

It's not rude to invite only your child's playmate, regardless of how many siblings he has.

Finally, if it's convenient to include the neighbor boy who is "always" asking to go along and says his parents have already said "yes," include him after checking with his parents. The lad appears to be very hungry for acceptance. Be kind to him.

DEAR ABBY: My former fiancée and I have split up and the handwriting is finally on the wall. (No hope for a reconciliation.)

However, a few months before the breakup, she lost the engagement ring I had given her. She claims I should just "deal with it." I say she should reimburse me. I am still paying for the darn ring, which makes me angry every time I think of it.

Who's guilty here? Should I swallow my pride and assume the loss, or should she pay for it? Legally, do I have any recourse? Or am I out $2,200?

STEAMED IN LOS ANGELES

DEAR STEAMED: If you want to know what your "rights" are legally, please consult a lawyer.

Thanks for this opportunity to remind young (and old) lovers wherever they are, that as soon as they become officially engaged and he slips the ring on her finger, the ring should be insured for loss, theft or mysterious disappearance.

Everything you'll need to know about planning a wedding can be found in Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding." Send your name and address, plus check or money order for $2.89 ($3.39 in Canada) to: Dear Abby, Wedding Booklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Workers' comp may be in trouble again

AUSTIN (AP) — Key legislative and industry figures say a Dallas insurer's decision to quit writing workers' compensation policies may be a sign that the system is headed toward collapse.

They also say it could prod lawmakers to adopt proposed reforms in the system that have been favored by business.

Dallas-based Texas Employers Insurance Association told policyholders last month it will stop selling and renewing workers' compensation policies because of rising losses. The company is the oldest and largest writer of workers' compensation policies in Texas.

While no one predicted an immediate breakdown in the $3 billion-a-year workers' compensation system, several legislative and industry observers said it is spiraling toward collapse.

"This may point more alarmingly than anything else to the real deterioration of the system," said Kay Doughty, executive director of the state's Office of Consumer Counsel.

Although rates charged to employers have risen 148 percent since 1985, "it may be that rates haven't gone up enough," Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said. The industry has a request for another 34.9 percent rate increase pending before the State Board of Insurance.

The decision by Texas Employers to get out of a market it has dominated in the state since 1913 could tip the balance in the Legislature toward House members who have called for radical changes in how disputed claims by injured workers are resolved.

Lawmakers are scheduled to return in special session Nov. 14 to try for the third time this year to overhaul the system. Rep. Richard Smith, R-Bryan, the House leader on the subject, said, "One of the arguments of the opponents of reform is that we don't have a problem, that they (insurers) engineered this problem to drive up rates and get reforms at the expense of workers—that it was all a bluff."

"When the largest, oldest insurer in the state drops its business, that's not a bluff," he said.

Mike Toomey, chief of staff to Gov. Bill Clements, said Texas Employers' action "cuts apart what the trial lawyers have been saying, which is that one of the main problems is that it's been greedy insurers trying to make all these profits."

"Well, obviously that's not true, with a major comp writer ceasing to do business," he said.

Two workers die as gravel buries them

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Early morning rains were not believed to be a factor in a construction accident that killed two men who were buried under 28 tons of wet gravel, officials said.

The two men died Monday after a hopper funneling gravel onto a conveyor belt collapsed, spilling the gravel on top of them, officials said.

They were working in a pit beneath a metal hopper at J.L. Bertram Engineering when the machinery gave way and buried them, said Butch Hall, a spokesman for the Fort Worth Fire Department.

A bulldozer dug out Hector Suarez, 24, of Arlington about four hours after the 8:30 a.m. accident. The second man, a 25-year-old Mexican national whose name was being held pending notification of next of kin, was removed about an hour later.

Benefits of calcium may be depleted

DALLAS (AP) — A new study suggests that even moderate alcohol consumption may reduce some of the dietary benefits derived from calcium.

"Our study suggests that for the average person, at more than two drinks a day some bad things start happening physiologically," said Michael H. Criqui, co-author of the study released by the American Heart Association.

The study confirms that non-drinkers and light drinkers have higher calcium intakes associated with lower blood pressures, Criqui said. However, he said alcohol not only seemed to raise the blood pressure of people who averaged two or more drinks per day, but it also seemed to prevent the blood pressure-lowering effects of calcium.

On even the coldest days, a heat pump system operates efficiently and will provide all the warmth you need.

A HEAT PUMP CAN SAVE $130 A YEAR.

Compared to a gas furnace, a heat pump is more energy efficient. And TU Electric's low rates make heating and cooling your home with a heat pump an even better value. Tests have shown you can save $130 or more a year by installing a heat pump.*

You can find out more about the amazing heat pump, including details on rebates, from your local heat pump dealer.

In each advertisement on this page you will find the contestants in a prominent football game being played around the country this weekend. On the entry blank at the bottom of the page, fill in your selection of the WINNING TEAM only...opposite the name of the business firm on the entry blank. Then clip out the entry blank and send it to FOOTBALL CONTEST EDITOR, Snyder Daily News, Box 949, or bring it by the news office at 3600 College Ave. Entries must be in the hands of the editor by 5:00 p.m. Friday. Games ending in a tie must be specified as a tie or else it will be considered a miss.

To avoid splitting the prize money a TIE-BREAKER slot will be provided on each entry blank. Pick the total points of the score for that game and in case of a tie the one who picks the winner and the nearest number of total points will receive the prize money. The same formula will apply to second and third place winners. In the case of a perfect score, the formula would apply for that cash prize.

There will be fun for the entire family. Only one entry blank will be permitted for any one person. More than one will disqualify all that person's entries. Entries must be on the official entry blank (No Copies Please). Scores listed on the entry blank will have no bearing except in the case of the tie-breaker. Sign your entry blank and list your address and phone number and watch for the winner's story in next Tuesday's SDN. Employees of the SDN and their families are not eligible to enter.
