Engine problem may delay shuttle even if court fight doesn't

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — NASA today reported an engine problem that could ground space shuttle Atlantis beyond Thursday's launch date even if anti-nuclear activists lose their court challenge to stop the flight.

U.S. District Judge Oliver Gasch began hearing arguments today in Washington from attorneys representing NASA and three citizens groups seeking to halt liftoff because Atlantis will be carrying a plutonium-powered space probe.

Shuttle test director Mike Leinbach said overnight checks found that a controller on one of the three main engines was giving a faulty fuel pressure reading. The device controls the engine during the liftoff burn.

Experts were analyzing the situation to see if the controller had to be replaced, a task that could take five or six days.

A decision was not expected until late in the day today or Wednesday.

Sources said that after the first low pressure reading, four more tests were conducted, and the problem did not repeat itself.

Leinbach said other countdown tasks were proceeding normally despite four inches of rain overnight. The main job today was loading fuel aboard the shuttle's power-producing fuel cells.

The countdown ticked toward a liftoff at 1:29 p.m. Thursday with the Galileo spacecraft on board.

Opponents sought a temporary restraining order because Galileo, which Atlantis' five astronauts are to dispatch toward Jupiter, carries two generators fueled by 49.4 pounds of plutonium.

They contend an explosion like that which destroyed the shuttle Challenger in 1986 could spread cancer-causing plutonium particles over a large area of heavily-populated east-central Florida.

NASA responds that in tests empty plutonium containers have been blown up, shot at and burned to determine how they would survive all kinds of accidents (see SHUTTLE, page 8)

Morales to use bills as campaign keynotes

State Rep. Dan Morales of San Antonio Monday in Snyder said he will make two anti-drug bills that he introduced in the last legislative session a cornerstone of his campaign for attorney general.

Morales, 33, a former San Antonio prosecutor who was named chairman of the House Criminal Jurisprudence Committee during his third House term this year, said he still wants laws to provide the death penalty for drug-related murders and to allow authorities to seize assets derived from first- and second-degree felony crimes.

The bills failed to pass in the session earlier this year.

Morales, a 1981 Harvard Law School graduate, has been endorsed by San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros and leads his two Democratic opponents, U.S. Rep. John Bryant of Dallas and Houston attorney John Odam, in early newspaper polls for the March primary.

Morales also said, in an interview at the Snyder Daily News that he supports legislation that would require the state to provide funding for programs it mandates for other state governmen-

For month of August...

City sales tax returns show 8.84 increase over last year

Snyder sales tax returns were back on the positive side for the month and the year-to-date according to the latest report from the state comptroller's office.

The state reported that sales tax collected in Snyder increased 8.84 percent for the month and 0.75 for the year-to-date.

The latest monthly report reflects taxes collected by businesses in August and reported to the comptroller's office in September.

The report indicates $62,376.72 was collected in August, compared to $57,308.10 for the same month a year ago — an increase of 8.84 percent.

In July, Snyder had generated $55,921.78 in sales tax, which was down 9.23 percent from $61,607.27 for the same month in 1988.

The 1 percent sales tax collected here has generated a total of $631,408.45 this year compared to $626,716.99 for the same period in 1988.

Across the state, the state comptroller returned $71.9 million, which is up 10.99 percent from August of last year. The state picked up an increase of 9.59 percent for the year-to-date; an increase from $773,540,387.75 in 1988 to $847,761,548.34 in 1989.

In meeting today...

Outside attorney to be hired; county departments combined

Scurry County Commissioners this morning authorized County Attorney Leland "Pete" Greene to hire outside counsel to represent the county in its defense of a lawsuit, then hired H.B. Walker as general superintendent of maintenance for Scurry County buildings, to include the coliseum and parks departments.

The action came after commissioners went into executive session to discuss the suit, filed by former county auditor Bernhard Bartels and his former chief deputy, Ann Walton. The county became a third defendant in the suit last week.

The suit was originally filed against District Judge Gene Dulaney and County Auditor Linda Franklin, and charges that Dulaney unconstitutionally dismissed Bartels after he refused to fire Walton for her alleged activities in the race last year between Dulaney, a Republican, and Greene, a Democrat who is now Scurry County Attorney.

Commissioners earlier this year voted to combine the coliseum and parks departments, effective Jan. 1, and this morning also added all county buildings, including the courthouse, library, senior center and health unit. They named Walker as general superintendent of maintenance.

The assistants in each respective department will remain the same.

Walker has been employed for two years as maintenance department head over the library, courthouse, senior center and health unit.

Before going into executive session, commissioners adopted a resolution supporting proposition 3 on the Nov. 7 general election ballot. The resolution, presented by Martha Edwards, district director from the Texas Department of Agriculture, supports the amendment, which

The Fly-In at Snyder's Winston Field is the newest addition to White Buffalo Days activities planned Saturday.

White Buffalo Days, sponsored by the Snyder chamber, is a fun-packed day with most events centered at the Scurry County Coliseum.

This year, the Snyder Pilots' Association will host a fly-in at the newly-renovated county airport. The association wants area pilots to see the modern facility as well as to take the time to attend some of the activities at the coliseum.

Jim Burleson, president of the pilot's association, stressed that the fly-in is being conducted at no cost to taxpayers. The association, along with funds donated by local businesses, is taking care of expenses.

A breakfast in conjunction with the fly-in will be held at Winston Field from 7:30 to 10 a.m., sponsored by the Snyder Jaycees. Members of the pilot's association will then offer airplane rides for $5 during the day, with proceeds going to the Snyder United Way.

Elizabeth Potts and her committee have a jam-packed day starting with a parade at 9 a.m. At the coliseum there will be crafts booths, food booths, and a variety of competitive events, including the Mayor's Cup Race at noon Saturday.

In addition to free entertainment, the Dodson House will be open for guided tours as will the Scurry County Museum.

It's a day to relax and enjoy Scurry County history with Scurry County friends.

Speaking of activities, we heard about one Hermleigh farmer's reponse after watching a group of teenage at a dance:

"If that don't bring rain, nuthin' will."

Q—How many of those who are employed at the Price Daniel Unit live in Scurry County?

A—A unit personnel officer said 200 of 240 unit employees, not counting medical and Windham School staff members, live inside Scurry County.

Drug crackdown continues

WASHINGTON (AP) — The recent U.S. seizures of almost 36 tons of cocaine may be the result of the Colombian drug crackdown as traffickers move the drug out of an unsafe haven, officials say.

But others say the timing of the huge busts may simply be coincidental. The drugs seized may have come to the United States through Mexico or may have been in this country before the crackdown began Aug. 18 in Colombia, they say.

"We're seizing a lot more cocaine because a lot more cocaine's coming out, because it's not safe to leave it in Colombia anymore," Transportation Secretary Samuel K. Skinner told reporters at a dock in New Orleans, where the ship Zedon Sea was taken after six tons of cocaine were seized from it in the Gulf of Mexico.

While drug traffickers used to send out cocaine in smaller lots as a security measure, they've now begun moving it out in huge shipments, Skinner said. "That's because of the pressure from the government in Colombia," he said.

The Colombian crackdown, begun one day after the assassination of a leading presidential candidate who was a critic of the drug trade, has resulted in sweeping arrests and the seizure of millions of dollars of drug traffickers' assets. One accused money-launderer has been extradited to the United States.

The traffickers vowed to wage "total war" against the government and have been blamed for at least 148 bombings that killed 10 people and wounded 165.

U.S. officials in the past two weeks seized 20 tons of cocaine from a warehouse in Los Angeles, nine tons from a house in Texas five miles from the Mexican border, six tons from a ship in the Gulf of Mexico, and 1½ tons near Puerto Rico. The 20-ton seizure was the largest ever in the world, while the nine-ton bust is the second largest in U.S.

Several years ago, cocaine came into the United States primarily on private aircraft. The shipments were much smaller and the loss of any load cost the traffickers much less.

"As we became more effective in targeting that method of transit, they have changed," Drug Enforcement Administration spokesman Frank Shults said. "These are businessmen ... We feel that they are weighing the risks and have decided they have got to move these drugs."

But there also are reasons to believe that the huge busts may have nothing to do with the situation in Colombia. For example, there is no indication how long the 20 tons of cocaine seized in Los Angeles had been in that warehouse.

Los Angeles District Attorney Ira Reiner said the group arrested in connection with that seizure had been operating the warehouse for two years.

During that time, Reiner said, authorities estimate 60 tons were processed through the warehouse in addition to the 20 tons just seized.

Jury selection begins in trial

CONROE, Texas (AP) — Attorneys are expected to continue questioning prospective jurors today in the trial of a former coach accused of the execution-style slaying of a man who was engaged to marry the coach's former girlfriend. Jury selection in the capital murder trial of Jon David Weathered began Monday in State District Judge Lee Alworth's court.

Attorneys, investigators and others connected to the December slaying of 35-year-old William Ralph Strawn of The Woodlands have been prohibited from discussing the case because of a gag order issued by Alworth.

Prosecutors said Strawn's wallet and car were stolen, making the murder a capital offense. Investigators have said in previous interviews that Weathered was jealous because his girlfriend, Conroe school teacher Pamela Beene, 30, rejected him so she could marry Strawn.

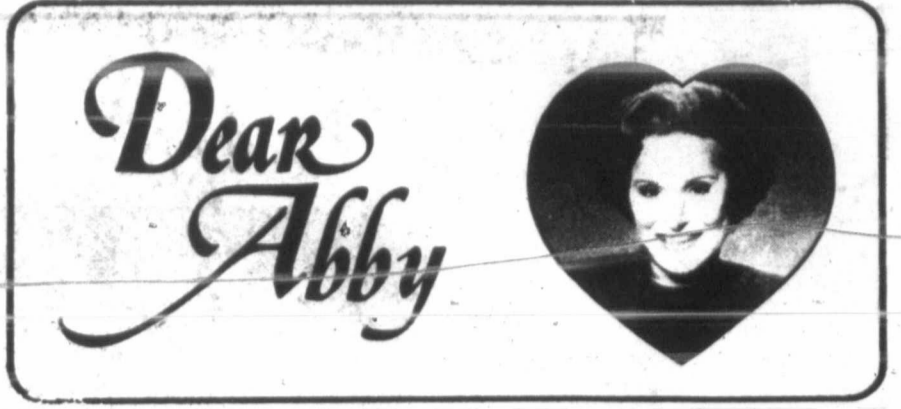

"He couldn't handle the rejection; he just snapped," one investigator said.

Ms. Beene found her fiance's body in her home Dec. 12 — 18 days before their planned wedding. He had been shot once in the back of the head with a .38-caliber weapon, which has never been found.

Weathered, 30, who was a Plainview High School tennis coach, denied involvement in the murder for three months as investigators gathered evidence against him.

After obtaining phone records indicating that Weathered was at a Houston airport hotel the night before the murder, detectives obtained an arrest warrant that was supported by statements from people who said Weathered tried to persuade them to lie for him.

Weathered maintains his innocence, and friends in his hometown of Kress, near Plainview, say they believe him. Many of the friends, along with relatives, raised $150,000 to bail him out of the Montgomery County Jail in May. Others have pitched in money for attorneys' fees.

Murder Sparks Effort to Shield Public Figures' Private Lives

DEAR ABBY: The leadership of the Screen Actors Guild was highly gratified by your recent letter demanding confidentiality for private home addresses kept by government agencies such as the Department of Motor Vehicles. We, too, believe that such information should be kept secret as a matter of both privacy and security.

The shocking and senseless murder of actress Rebecca Schaeffer stunned and alarmed the entire acting community. The guild received dozens of phone calls from members urging that we take action to stop the virtually unrestricted release of home addresses and other private information by government sources.

You and your concerned readers will be glad to know that the California State Legislature on Sept. 15 unanimously approved AB1779, a bill sponsored by Assemblyman Mike Roos, D-Los Angeles, which limits public access to private information. The bill was supported by the Screen Actors Guild.

Pam Dawber, who co-starred with Rebecca Schaeffer in the TV series "My Sister Sam," went to Sacramento to lobby for this vital measure. So did Rebecca's parents.

Once the bill is signed into law by the governor, all California citizens will be able to list an alternate address with the Department of Motor Vehicles, such as a post office box or business manager's address. This alternate address may also be printed on the driver's license. The private home address will then be kept strictly confidential, accessible only to law enforcement officials and authorized businesses such as auto insurance companies. Anyone else seeking information on another citizen will receive only the alternate address. In addition, there will be a 10-day delay between the request for information and the release of any data. During these 10 days, the DMV will notify the person that a request has been made for his or her personal information. The person will receive the name of the individual or company who made the request and the reason for it.

We believe that this is an important first step toward protecting the privacy and well-being of all Californians.

nia citizens. MARK LOCHER, NATIONAL DIRECTOR OF COMMUNICATIONS, SCREEN ACTORS GUILD, HOLLYWOOD, CALIF.

DEAR MARK: Congratulations. It's incredible (and regrettable) that a tragedy had to occur before this action was taken. But better late than never.

DEAR ABBY: I need your opinion on this situation. My son has requested that I call him before I come to his apartment.

I used to drop in any time and was always welcome. Now he has a roommate and things have changed. The roommate is a very nice fellow. He even offered to take care of me if I ever got sick. (My son is a flight attendant with a big airline, and he's out of town a lot.)

Abby, I don't think a mother should have to make an appointment to visit her own son. I am not a salesperson or a friend — I am his mother. I was born in Mexico, and it's an old Mexican custom that you don't have to call before visiting a relative. What do you say?

ONLY HIS MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Now that your son has a roommate, the roommate's privacy and convenience should be considered. Also, because flight attendants work irregular hours, your son may need to sleep some days when he's home, so his request is not unreasonable.

It will only take a minute, and you will be much more welcome if you call first. Trust me.

DEAR DR. GOTT: What are the harmful effects of ozone to the human body?

DEAR READER: Ozone (O3) is a more active and unstable molecule of oxygen (O2). It is formed when oxygen is exposed to strong electrical charges or to ultraviolet radiation. For example, if you have ever been in the vicinity of a lightning strike, you may remember a peculiar pungent odor in the air; this was due to small amounts of ozone formed by the electrical discharge.

Earth is surrounded by an ozone shield 20 to 40 miles in the atmosphere. It protects us from dangerous ultraviolet radiation by absorbing much of this radiation before it gets to Earth. Therefore, the ozone shield directly benefits us.

Recent reports indicate the ozone layer is being depleted by chlorofluorocarbons — industrial chemicals widely used in refrigeration, insulating foam, solvents and aerosol propellants — and air pollution.

Environmentalists are clamoring for a ban on CFCs because, in theory, a depleted ozone layer would let in more ultraviolet radiation, causing a marked increase in the incidence of skin cancers.

When ozone is breathed in quantity, it causes health problems. The reason for this is not known. Ozone sickness occurs in jet aircraft passengers when ozone enters the cabin at altitudes above 40,000 feet and causes headache, chest pain, breathing difficulty and sleepiness. These effects are transient and disappear once the aircraft has descended.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I walk three miles each day, half-way through which my hip and knee begin to hurt. I have arthritis and am wondering if this walking is doing damage to my joints.

DEAR READER: Pain is nature's way of telling us that something is wrong. Hip and knee pain while walking could certainly reflect arthritis. Unless your discomfort is severe, I doubt you are doing damage to your joints by continuing your exercise. However, ask your doctor.

Exercise is good for the rest of your body and the doctor, after diagnosing your condition with appropriate tests, may choose to prescribe anti-arthritis medicine to reduce inflammation and keep you active. Not all aches and pains indicate a serious condition. Nonetheless, your physician is the best judge of whether you should have treatment and whether your pains could indicate an undiagnosed affliction, such as gout or circulation problems.

To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Understanding Osteoarthritis." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Strait voted top entertainer

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — George Strait, a former ranch trail boss whose songs are White House favorites, was voted entertainer of the year by the Country Music Association.

Strait, 37, won country music's top honor Monday night during the association's nationally televised 23rd annual awards show.

Ricky Van Shelton and Kathy Mattea won top vocalist honors, and perennial honoree Hank Williams Jr. received two awards.

The accolade for Strait came a month after President Bush, a country music fan, told the singer how much he enjoyed his songs. The president made the comments during a Rose Garden ceremony honoring Strait and 11 others for promoting vocational-technical education.

Monday night at the Grand Ole Opry House, Strait's peers gave him a standing ovation as he accepted a bullet-shaped trophy for entertainer of the year.

"I'm so excited. I've wanted this for so long," said Strait of San Marcos, Texas. He thanked his Ace in the Hole Band, adding: "I truly believe audiences go away entertained."

Strait's July hit single, "What's Going On in Your World," was his 19th No. 1 song in eight years of recording. His album "Beyond the Blue Neon" has been a top seller this year.

Besides his crisp tenor, he is known for his spiffy cowboy hats, neatly pressed jeans and starched shirts that accent his lean, athletic frame.

"This is incredible," he said backstage after the awards program. "I'm my own worst critic. I know I'm not a great singer."

A fourth-generation cattle rancher who was a trail boss in the 1970s, Strait has a degree in agriculture from Southwest Texas State University.

Top male vocalist honors went to Shelton, an ex-pipefitter in Virginia, for his recent hit singles "From a Jack to a King" and "Hole in My Pocket."

Top female vocalist Mattea, a former tour guide at the Country Music Hall of Fame, had a No. 1 single in "Come From the Heart."

"I thank God he gave me a voice instead of big feet," Shelton quipped as he accepted the award.

Williams, the association's entertainer of the year in 1987 and 1988, was the night's only double winner.

Both awards were for his music video, "There's a Tear in My Beer" — on which old footage and sound recordings are used to make it appear that Williams is singing with his late father, the famed country artist. The vocal event of the year award goes to two performers who don't normally sing together.

The late Keith Whitley, 33, who died of an accidental alcohol overdose in May, won single of the year for his hit "I'm No Stranger to the Rain." The award was accepted by his widow, singer Lorrie Morgan, who said as her voice cracked, "Five months ago on this date, I lost the world's greatest husband, and country music, in my eyes, lost the world's greatest singer."

In Sinton...

Walton visits a Wal-Mart store location

SINTON, Texas (AP) — Workers at the Wal-Mart store "looked a little surprised" when the chain's billionaire founder, Sam Walton, dropped in for a visit, but they ended up having a good talk.

Walton, whose wealth is estimated at $6.7 billion by Forbes magazine, told a Rotary Club meeting in nearby Corpus Christi he chatted with the Wal-Mart staff Saturday about ways to reverse the Sinton store's money-losing ways.

"We had a good session," said Walton, 71, who is chairman of the nation's third-largest retailer. "They talked for a little and I listened, then I talked for awhile and they listened."

Walton said he understands the store's losses aren't the fault of the staff. "Sinton is a town pretty hard hit by the drought."

ABWA celebrates 40th anniversary

The Scurry Charter Chapter of American Business Women's Association met Sept. 28 at Martha Ann Woman's Club. Some 17 members and one guest were present. Vern Beasley led the group in the invocation.

Pat Faver introduced Carol Young, who has been employed by Lone Star Gas Company since 1972. She said that six people are employed in the office, including a manager, two servicemen, a meter reader and two office workers.

Young takes payments, answers the telephone, and takes orders and complaints. She also said she does anything else that may need to be done in the office, which is equipped with a scanner and a computer.

Shannon Warren, chapter scholarship recipient, was a guest at the meeting. She said she is taking 15 hours at Western Texas College, and is employed at West Texas State Bank. She has been elected to the Student Senate at WTC, and she hopes to attend Texas Tech and study law.

Irene Brooks, Martha Ann Woman's Club member, discussed the barbecue and style show held Sept. 30, and an Oct. 21 garage sale.

Pat Faver announced that ABWA is 40 years old, and the Scurry Charter Chapter is 29 years old. Maxie McNew and Inez Teaff have both been members since the beginning of the chapter.

Club members also discussed White Buffalo Days to be held Saturday and the fall tea to be held Oct. 26. New members are welcome to come to the tea.

Members were also informed of a national ABWA meeting Nov. 1-5 in Nashville, Tenn. Deborah Rodgers dismissed the group with the benediction.

Sorority members discuss stress

Beta Sigma Phi sorority met Oct. 3 at the Snyder Country Club. Mickey Baird attached a stress dot to each person's hand as they entered the meeting.

Mrs. Baird gave the program, "Getting the Best of Stress." During the general business meeting, all committee reports were given.

Wanda Early won the door prize, and hostesses Lisa Rollins and Donna Fowler served dessert.

The next monthly meeting will be Oct. 17 at the Snyder Country Club. Lisa Rollins will present a program on "Conducting a Meeting." Hostesses for the meeting will be the membership committee.

A club social will be held in the home of Mickey and Jerry Baird Oct. 21, and the Nov. 7 meeting will be held at Anthony's.

University Women met Oct. 3, at the Martha Ann Woman's Club for dinner. Hostess Phyllis Smith introduced Linda Scalf of Noah Project, who presented the program.

Penny Perry conducted the business meeting and assigned the work schedule for the ice cream booth the club will sponsor during White Buffalo Days Saturday. Ruth McBeth won the door prize.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 14, rather than the first Tuesday of the month. Melinda Owens will be hostess and Kathryn Roberts, Home Extension Agent, will provide the program, "Shopping for Beef."

Guests are invited to attend the meeting, and members are asked to contact Owens by Nov. 13 if they cannot attend.

Oprah's pleas prove successful

CHICAGO (AP) — More than $1 million in contributions for victims of Hurricane Hugo has poured in since an on-the-scene appeal during "The Oprah Winfrey Show," Red Cross officials said.

The Chicago-based Ms. Winfrey appealed for donations in a special show telecast Thursday from Charleston, S.C.

By Monday, more than $1 million had been collected over the telephone in credit-card contributions, according to Steve Chase, executive director of resources for the Red Cross in Chicago.

Denmark's flag holds most ancient symbol

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — The world's oldest flag design belongs to Denmark.

The flag, which shows a large white cross on a red field, has been in continual existence as a national emblem since the 13th century.

According to legend, the Danish flag dates back to the time of King Valdemar II, who used a red banner with a white cross as his battle flag during crusades against pagan invaders.

The flag was called Dannebrog, literally meaning Danes' Cloth, and has remained unchanged for more than 700 years.

Unusual jump-bids to show two-suiters are effective in depriving opponents of bidding room. But it can be a mistake to crowd the bidding with very little in high cards. You tip off the declarer about how he should play the hand. In today's deal, I held the South cards when East stuck in an unusual two-no-trump bid. The bidding needs little explanation. When partner invited slam, I accepted, a little too eagerly, since I needed a good helping of luck to make 12 tricks.

Since I had only 10 top tricks, there was much work to be done. It was right to duck the first club, preparatory to a later squeeze. I won the club return. Since East would certainly hold the queen of hearts (his second suit), a heart was shed from dummy. A diamond to dummy's jack and a diamond back to the king brought the good news that East held two cards in the suit. If his singleton spade was the 10 or nine, something good would happen. The jack of spades was played; West covered with the queen, and dummy's king and East's 10 completed the trick. Three more diamond tricks were cashed, and then the ace and king of hearts. West had to come down to three cards. To keep the 9-7-6 of spades, he threw away the club queen. (His partner might hold the jack.) I cashed the club jack and then finessed dummy's spade eight to make six no-trump.

Unique plantation grows tea in U.S.

WADMALAW ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Just off the sleepy, oak-shaded, two-lane blacktop that runs across this sea island near Charleston is a sight one can't see anywhere else in the United States: tea plants.

Row upon row of the verdant plants rustle in the sea breeze on what is the nation's only tea estate. The Charleston Tea Plantation is where entrepreneurs Mack Fleming and William Barclay Hall grow, harvest and package America's only domestic tea — American Classic.

Although there may be a few tea plants hiding out in private gardens or lurking in pots in offices around the nation, tea has never been successfully grown in the United States, according to Terry Kulka of the American Tea Council in New York.

"People have tried to grow it and it never worked out," she said. "It's the only American plantation that we know of."

And if rural South Carolina seems an unlikely location for a crop that conjures thoughts of far-off India and China, the partnership between those who run the Charleston Tea Plantation seems more unlikely still.

Hall is a Canadian-born, third-generation tea taster who, as a youth, served an apprenticeship in Britain where for five days a week he would sample as many as 1,000 teas a day to learn his trade.

Hall, one of only a handful of tea tasters in the nation, also runs his own tea importing company and serves as a taster for the A&P food chain. The 39-year-old entrepreneur drives a red Lotus with a New York license tag reading "TEAPOT."

The silver-haired Fleming, 45, is South Carolina born and bred — growing up on a tobacco and cotton farm in rural Manning and studying horticulture at Clemson University.

He was the last manager of an experimental tea farm run by the Thomas J. Lipton Co. on the site of the plantation. The farm was established in the 1960s and Lipton sold it and the plants to Fleming last year.

Fleming then formed a partnership with Hall, and Charleston Tea Plantation and its American Classic brand were born.

During his work in the tea industry, Hall said he always had "a burning desire to market an American tea."

The first boxes of American Classic began making their way into stores in South Carolina last fall.

Vikings' GM to try for swap for Dallas' Herschel Walker

EDEN PRAIRIE, Minn. (AP) — Jerry Burns didn't remember Herschel Walker's name, but that's OK.

He often didn't remember Fran Tarkenton's name, either, and Tarkenton is one of best players in Minnesota Vikings' history.

Rest assured that Burns, the Vikings' coach, knows exactly who Walker is and exactly what the Dallas Cowboys' star runner can do for his team.

Vikings general manager Mike Lynn knows, too. That's why he said Monday that he'll pursue a trade for Walker this week when he is in Dallas for meetings to select a successor to retiring NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle. The meetings were scheduled to begin this afternoon.

Vikings backs averaged only 2.8 yards a carry in Sunday's 24-17 victory over winless Detroit but Burns said, "I don't like to blame it all on the running backs."

"I still think our group is solid," he said, referring to fullbacks Alfred Anderson and Rick Fenney, halfbacks D.J. Dozier and Darrin Nelson and multi-purpose back Allen Rice.

"I've often stated that I wouldn't trade our five running backs for any other five. I'm not talking about (Indianapolis' Eric) Dickerson or I'm not talking about (Detroit's Barry) Sanders or I'm not talking about the Dallas guy. What's his name?"

At first, reporters thought Burns was kidding. But he really couldn't remember Walker's name.

He knew Walker's value, though.

and be the catalyst, be the spark to get something going," said Burns, in his fourth year as head man after 17 seasons as Minnesota's offensive coordinator. "But if our linemen don't block, if (defensive players) are in the backfield, they'll knock (down) anybody, including Herschel Walker."

Lynn considers the Vikings close to being a Super Bowl team and agrees with Burns that championship teams win with overpowering running games.

Walker led the NFC with 1,514 rushing yards last year and also caught 53 passes for 505 yards. He hasn't been as effective for the Cowboys this year. Dallas (0-5) is rebuilding and is going with a more pass-oriented offense under Johnson.

The Vikings and Cowboys had reportedly worked out a trade last week, but Walker said he didn't want to come to Minnesota.

What would it take for Walker to change his mind?

Frosh Tigers grab second in Lamesa

Snyder's freshman volleyballers placed second in the weekend Lamesa Tournament.

The Lady Tigers' first draw was Plains. Snyder defeated them in three games, 15-8, 11-15 and 16-14 advancing to the second round.

Seminole came next and again it took three games before SHS could claim victory. The Lady Tigers won the first 15-8, dropped the second, 11-15 and came back to win the third, 15-13.

The win over Seminole put Snyder in the championship match with Monahans. The Lobos proved too much for Snyder as they beat the Black and Gold crew 5-15 and 8-15 to claim the tourney crown.

"They played some tough matches in the tournament," said head volleyball coach, Patty Grimmett. "They had lost to Plains earlier in the year, and for them to come back and beat them in the first round was quite an accomplishment."

The frosh will be in action today, beginning at 5 p.m. as Snyder hosts Sweetwater.

"He asked us to play hard and with pride." It took the Raiders a little more than 30 minutes to do so. The teams struggled through the first scoreless half in the NFL this season, with the Raiders' only scoring chance a 43-yard field goal try on the final play of the second quarter. Jeff Jaeger's kick was well short.

Vance Mueller ran for 19 yards on the first play of the second half. Then Fernandez ran an out pattern, took Jay Schroeder's pass, eluded Bobby Humphery and Erik McMillan, raced down the right sideline and, after a cutback to the middle at the 15, scored for a 7-0 lead.

New York tied it with a 97-yard, 15-play drive capped by Roger Vick's 1-yard dive.

In fact, the Jets moved the ball better throughout the game, but didn't make the big plays.

Art Shell's Raiders earn debut win beating New York Jets Monday night

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — In this West Coast Story, when you're a Raider, you're a Raider all the way.

And you beat gangs like the Jets, particularly when one of your greatest players is making his debut as coach.

The Los Angeles Raiders weren't too sharp Monday night. They were tough, and opportunistic. That was enough to beat the New York Jets 14-7 in Art Shell's debut as the first black coach in modern NFL history.

"I love those guys to death," Shell said after two big plays lifted the Raiders. "We fought hard today. That's what the thing is all about. It's about that team in there."

"I almost cried in there, but they wouldn't let me do that. Everyone was very happy and everyone got a game ball."

The first two game balls should have gone to Eddie Anderson and Mervyn Fernandez. Anderson's spectacular 87-yard interception return broke a 7-7 tie in the fourth quarter. Fernandez's equally scintillating 73-yard pass play provided the Raiders' other points.

"It's not what he did out there, it's what he represents," Anderson said of Shell, a Hall of Fame tackle and star with some of the franchise's greatest teams. "He was a Raider, he is a Raider, and that's what he gave us — Raider football."

"He's Mr. Raider, Mr. Pride on the sidelines," added Fernandez.

Giants claim pennant

Bay area World Series begins Saturday

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Giants had the Willies — Mays and McCovey — on hand at summery Candlestick Park to cheer on the club's biggest day since 1962.

Even the Say Hey Kid and Willie Mac may have learned a few things from Will, as in Willie, Clark. "The Thrill" put on a show for the ages, and he's not finished yet.

After San Francisco wrapped up the second National League pennant in its 32-year baseball history, Clark was willing to compare himself to one of the greats. But he had one of his cross-bay rivals in mind, not the architects of pennant No. 1.

"You saw it in the other series with Rickey Henderson," the NL playoffs' most valuable player said after lifting the Giants to a 3-2 victory over Chicago on Monday to win the playoffs four games to one.

Clark's heroics made a reality out of the matchup many California fans have fantasized about. The Giants and Athletics, spring training partners for over two decades, finally play for real Saturday when the Bay Bridge World Series opens in Oakland.

The A's have the pitching and the speed, but the Giants boast baseball's hottest and most dangerous hitter.

"I've just got a lot of confidence when I walk up to the plate right now. You come up there and it feels like you are going to get a hit every time up."

Clark almost did. He tripled and scored the Giants' first run on Kevin Mitchell's 400-foot fly in the seventh inning, then punched Mitch Williams' high fastball into center field for a game-winning two-run single, his third hit, in the eighth.

Yet it was only an average game by his own astronomical postseason standards. Clark set NL playoff records for hits (13 in 20 at-bats), runs (8), extra-base hits (6), total bases (24), batting average (.650) and slugging percentage (1.200).

And, by the way, he helped win Monday's game with aggressive baserunning and alert defense.

The playoff pitching wasn't good on either side until Monday, when the rejuvenated Rick Reuschel engaged in a duel with the Cubs' Mike Bielecki. It came down to managerial strategy in the late innings, and Don Zimmer paid the price for not lifting Bielecki after he'd issued his first three walks of the game with two outs in the eighth.

Prosecution witness recalled

MARFA, Texas (AP) — A teenager who prosecutors say will testify he saw Eduardo Rodriguez-Pineda fatally shoot a Rio Grande rafter last year has been recalled to Mexico.

Despite the development, the murder trial of Rodriguez-Pineda resumed Monday after a brief recess, prompted by a court request to determine the competency of the defendant to stand trial.

Rodriguez-Pineda was ruled competent to stand trial after a psychiatrist reported that the defendant understands the charges against him.

Rodriguez-Pineda is accused of killing Michael Heffley of Eastland as Heffley, his wife, Jamie, and a guide were rafting the Rio Grande through the Colorado Canyon.

District Attorney Richard

Barajas had brought Julio Cesar Hernandez, 16, to Texas last week. But Hernandez went back to Chihuahua on Saturday after the Mexican Consulate claimed it did not have the proper travel documents, Barajas said.

Barajas said he will try to bring Hernandez back to the United States on Thursday.

If Hernandez' testimony cannot be secured, Barajas said prosecutors have two confessions from Rodriguez-Pineda as well as the alleged murder weapon.

Heffley was shot once in the back as he tried to shield his wife from gunshots in the Nov. 17, 1988 attack. Mrs. Heffley was shot in the hip, and river guide Jim Burr was shot in the leg.

Authorities said a group of teen-agers fired the shots while standing on a cliff above Colorado Canyon.

"It was quiet and calm on the Rio Grande. These people were rafting for vacation when the solitude and serenity was broken by gunfire," Barajas said in opening arguments.

"The kid has confessed to being present at the time and they found a .44 Magnum at the (Redford) residence (where Rodriguez-Pineda was arrested)," Barajas said. ".44 Magnum rifle casings were found at the bluff that matched those with the .44 at the residence. He confessed numerous times and he has implicated himself."

Defense attorney Michael Rodgers said his client was fired upon first and returned fire in self-defense.

But Burr, the first prosecution witness, said the trio was floating down the river when they saw smoke and then heard shots. Then two shots were fired at them on both sides of the raft.

"I was quite frightened, petrified," said Burr, describing the shooting and saying the rafters were unarmed. "We were afraid whoever was shooting at us would come down and kill us."

After several shots were fired, Burr said he pleaded with the attackers to stop shooting because there was a woman with them. He said he also offered money that Heffley had left in the raft.

"Bullets were raining all around us. Then Jamie said she'd been shot. Then Mike turned back and started to help her," Burr testified.

Burr recalled hearing Heffley tell his wife he was dying.

The defense also claims authorities have covered up evidence. Rodgers, as part of his self-defense argument, contended Heffley was wearing a belt with a holster, which law enforcement officers later destroyed.

Amis testified when he saw Heffley's body the morning after the shooting, there was a belt but no holster.

El Paso County Medical Examiner Juan Contin, who performed the autopsy, testified that when he received the body, it had a mark around the waist, consistent with what might be left by a belt. But he said no belt was found.

Barajas has said the rafters were unarmed.

Meats judging team wins awards, ribbons

The Western Texas College meats judging team won fifth overall in the Excel High Plains Meat Judging Contest held in Plainview this past weekend.

This year was the first outing of the season for the WTC team, coached by Jim Judah. Ten colleges and universities participated in the contest, sponsored by the Excel Corp. The University of Idaho took first with a total of 3,338 points while WTC had 3,218 out of a possible 4,000 points.

The WTC team was first in lamb judging, second in questions, fourth in judging, and sixth in pork judging.

WTC team members receiving individual honors were Shad Cox,

Derrick Bruton and Michelle Cox. Shad Cox, sophomore from Hobbs, N. M., was third high overall, fifth in beef grading and sixth in lamb judging. Bruton, freshman from Frankston, was high individual in lamb judging. Michelle Cox, sophomore from San Angelo, was seventh high individual in lamb judging. Other team members were Mark Faulkenberry and Quenna Shurbet of Seymour.

WTC cowboy injured Sunday during rodeo

Western Texas College rodeo team member Ted Cooley, 19, remains in satisfactory condition at Odessa's Medical Center Hospital today after being struck under the chin during Sunday's bull riding finals of the NIRA rodeo at Sul Ross State University.

Bob Doty, WTC rodeo coach, reported that the Colorado City cowboy was jerked down on the bull's head during the ride. The bull did not have horns, Doty noted.

The WTC cowboy underwent tests for a possible broken jaw, bruised esophagus and bruised larynx, but will apparently not require surgery.

Mattox will run for state governor

DALLAS (AP) — Attorney General Jim Mattox returned to his high school today and said he wanted to be the state's next governor, calling for a state lottery instead of an income tax to pay for better schools and crime-fighting.

"I'm running for governor because I love Texas because there are fights that are not being fought... battles that are not being won," Mattox said.

Speaking to reporters and supporters in front of Woodrow Wilson High School, Mattox said he would like the Legislature to pass a referendum for a state lottery, an issue he called a "political risk."

"As a Southern Baptist, I know the concerns that this particular issue causes for my fellow church members. But I also know that the Legislature needs new revenues to adequately fund our drug and alcohol abuse programs, our crime efforts and our educational system."

Mattox said he wants Texas teachers to receive higher salaries.

"We will once again make teaching one of the most respected professions in our society," he said.

The two-term attorney general also said he would push for tougher drug sentences "including the ultimate sanction for dealers whose crime is so heinous that it crosses the bounds of civilized behavior."

He added more prison beds need to be built, saying, "I'm tired of a system that lets the criminals out of jail before their victims get out of the hospital."

Mattox has spent more than a year of raising money and making other preparations for the gubernatorial race. The former congressman and former state legislator also plans stops today in Houston, Beaumont, San Antonio and Brownsville. The trip will end with a jog on Austin's Town Lake trail Wednesday morning.

"This itinerary symbolizes my commitment to being right here in Texas, working on our drug and crime problems, on our failing public school system and on bringing Texas back to prosperity," Mattox said.

Mattox has raised some $4 million for the race. The primary is March 13.

State Treasurer Ann Richards began her campaign for the Democratic nomination in June, and she held a substantial lead in a poll published Sept. 17 by The Dallas Morning News and the Houston Chronicle.

That survey of 1,024 registered voters showed Ms. Richards with 35 percent support, former Gov. Mark White with 23 percent and Mattox with 8 percent.

White, governor from 1983 to 1987, has said he is considering the race, but hasn't yet decided whether to run.

Similar devices have been carried on 22 other U.S. spacecraft without a problem.

"We're going to count down to a launch on Thursday unless we are told to stop," NASA test director Ron Phelps said Monday as the countdown started.

About 25 people held a brief demonstration at the space center Monday, staging a mock countdown and then collapsing in mock death when a woman sprinkled powder representing plutonium.

They said that if they lost in court they would attempt to stop the liftoff by infiltrating the launch area in a non-violent occupation.

would "authorize the legislature to issue $75 million of general obligation bonds and establish programs to assist in the development and production of new or improved products, the development of small businesses and agriculture production in the state."

In other action, commissioners nominated Bill Voss as a candidate for the Appraisal District board and heard from Tom Hochwalt, Cogdell Memorial Hospital administrator.

Hochwalt asked commissioners to appoint an outside auditor by mid-November to begin auditing hospital records the first of December.

Commissioners did not act on Hochwalt's request since it was not on the agenda.

Press 'trapped in crossfire' with known drug smugglers

MONTERREY, Mexico (AP) — Six journalists have been killed and 10 kidnapped by drug traffickers or leftist guerrillas in Colombia during the past six months, a prominent Colombian publisher told a meeting of the Inter-American Press Association.

The Colombian press "continues to be trapped in crossfires" between the government, which is fighting both the guerrillas and the drug lords, said Enrique Santos of the Bogota newspaper El Tiempo.

"This occurs in a country where there exists a policy of free press and a government that is respectful of criticism, but not of real guarantees for their full exercise," Santos said, addressing the association's annual meeting on Monday.

About 450 editors and publishers from the United States, Canada, Latin America and the Caribbean are attending the association's 45th general assembly in this northern industrial city.

Eduardo Ulibarri, vice president of the association's Press Freedom and Information Committee, singled out Colombia and Panama as "the two most critical cases this year."

"I want to confess that, yes, we're afraid. We're scared to death," said Jorge Hernandez of the daily newspaper El Colombiano of Medellin, home of the Medellin Cartel of drug traffickers.

Reporters for El Colombiano have been killed and bombs have been found in the newspaper's offices.

After the Colombian government declared war on drug lords this summer, a group of drug smugglers declared "total war" against journalists that had exposed them.

Santos said that, as a result, the Colombian press omits the names of judges and magistrates that handle narcotics cases and the names of government officials "on the front lines of this struggle."

Among the measures taken to protect journalists, stories about drug traffickers do not carry reporters' bylines, and news reports about terrorist activities have been played down to avoid "playing the terrorists' game," Santos said.

"The permanent climate of terrorism — psychological and real — has obliged the press to take exceptional measures to protect itself," he added.

He said 10 journalists were kidnapped for several days in May and June by Marxist guerrillas of the National Liberation Army to pressure them into publishing messages from the organization.

Luis Gabriel Cano, editor for the daily Bogota newspaper El Espectador that was bombed last month by drug traffickers, urged the group to find a way "to combat this tremendous flogging."

Cano, whose brother was killed in 1986 by drug traffickers, told the group that Colombian journalists have to be accompanied by body guards, they receive death threats directed toward themselves and their families, and newspaper advertisers also have been threatened by the drug lords.

Reporting on Nicaragua, Cristiana Chamorro of La Prensa of Managua said that, despite official promises of press freedom, reprisals by that country's leftist Sandinista government are common against the news media.

La Prensa, Nicaragua's only opposition newspaper, is owned by her mother, Violeta Chamorro, the opposition coalition's presidential candidate in February 1990 elections.

Cristiana Chamorro said President Daniel Ortega's promise two years ago to permit the creation of an independent television station remains unfulfilled, a Nicaraguan-born reporter was expelled from the country and radio stations are censored or forced to broadcast government news.

The situation has improved for journalists working in Paraguay and Chile, publishers from these two South American countries reported.

But he said Manuel Cabieses, editor of the ultra-leftist magazine Punto Final, has been charged with "presumed offenses against the president..." Cabieses has been charged in court, but has not been arrested.

The magazine, banned since late President Salvador Allende's overthrow, has been allowed to publish again in September.

Despite some examples of an "authoritarian mentality," freedom of the press now exists in Paraguay, said Aldo Zuccolillo, publisher of the Asuncion daily ABC.

After Alfredo Stroessner's 35-year dictatorship, Gen. Andres Rodriguez who succeeded him as president has taken "the necessary steps to reinstate freedom for Paraguayan journalism," Zuccolillo said.

In the United States, according to a report from Brian Dickinson of the Providence Journal, reporters "enjoy complete freedom of expression" but conflicts are not always resolved in favor of free expression.

Dickinson said the U.S. Justice Department announcement in August that federal officials who leak information to the press will be persecuted "is distressing."

Cheating scandal may lead to costlier generic drugs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers may soon be paying higher prices for prescription drugs as more generic products are pulled from the market and cost-conscious buyers are left with fewer low-priced options, some industry observers say.

Dozens of drugs have been recalled in the wake of allegations and admissions of cheating on safety tests required for Food and Drug Administration approval.

The scandal is likely to produce a shakeout in the industry and result in more rigorous safety testing required for approval. Some generic drug makers and industry observers say this will force prices up, but others say the industry will remain competitive enough to withstand the financial pressures without price increases.

A more immediate concern for consumers, however, is the possible effect of the recalls.

"The costs to pharmacists are going up for selected products, but not overall," said Steve Grote, vice president of purchasing for the American Association of Retired Persons Pharmacy Service.

The biggest impact of generic drug recalls may be seen by patients taking the high blood pressure drug Dyazide or its generic version.

One of the drug's two clones was removed from the market earlier this year when its maker, Vitarine Pharmaceutical Inc., admitted cheating on safety tests to win FDA approval. Now the FDA is trying to remove the other generic version from the market, saying its maker, Bolar Pharmaceutical Co. Inc., misrepresented test data to the agency.

Bolar's product is about half the price of Dyazide, and its removal from the market would mean higher prices for some consumers, at least until another generic version can win FDA approval.

Bolar agreed to recall another drug, an antibiotic used to treat urinary tract infections, after the FDA said the company cheated on product safety tests. The drug is nitrofurantoin, sold under the brand name Macrochantin by Norwich-Eaton Pharmaceuticals.

Generic drugs, which account for about one-third of all prescriptions nationwide, now offer consumers savings averaging 50 percent to 70 percent over their brand-name counterparts.

But some in the industry say the gap will narrow as the FDA toughens regulations and as the industry itself consolidates.

"The prices for generics will show a gradual increase ... but still will be substantially below brand-name drugs," said John H. Klein, president of Zenith Laboratories in Northvale, N.J.

Klein, who with an investor group took the company out of bankruptcy last year and anticipates generic drug sales of $36 million to $40 million this year, also predicts an end to cutthroat pricing in the generic industry as companies realize that setting prices below costs to gain market share is unprofitable.
