Wilson, who owns land in Borden and Howard counties, resides on the land where he was raised, 16 miles south of Gail. He said he has really enjoyed serving on the board.

Kathryn Roberts served as chairperson of the election. As votes were being tallied, Joe Hefner, county executive director, spoke on "Things Aren't Always What They Seem." He said that ASCS is in a tough position, being the middleman. Congress and the federal government write programs and come up with ideas, and it is the ASCS offices' responsibility to apply them at local levels.

"Thanks to the local producers for helping make this work," he added. The office is currently working on a 1989 disaster program.

Dave Dvorak of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department presented a videotaped program on Texas quail management. Stating that Thursday's viewing was the first public viewing, he asked for comments on the tape's effectiveness. After the viewing, presentation, and Dvorak held a question and answer session. Others nominated for the Zone 5 position were Bob Beall and John Anderson.

Wilson also serves as secretary-treasurer of the board. Other members include Charlie Henderson, chairman representing Zone 3; Walter Stirl, vice chairman, Zone 1: Burl Belew, Zone 4; and Leon Sterling, Zone 2

Keeping tabs on our neighbors:

For the superstitious, Friday the 13th is not a popular day. Walter Buckel, in the Lamesa Press-Reporter, told about a Dawson County farmer who had an encounter with wasps

The farmer went to his pasture to load up a bull to haul to the cattle auction in Big Spring. The bull had a problem and the farmer was ready to get him to the sale and get him out of the pasture or anywhere else he chose to roam.

At the loading chute, the farmer banged against a piece of pipe open at both ends and out buzzed a swarm of wasps. The wasps attacked - hitting him on the neck, his hands, the chest, and one even got into his ear.

Desperately trying to get the one out of his ear, he knocked off his glasses and could hardly see.

The wasps continued their attack as he scrambled for his glasses.

By Roy McQueen

He found his peepers just in time to see the cantankerous bull charging him. Trying to escape, the embattled farmer grabbed an old fence post and felled the bull with a solid blow to the head. The farmer even thought the beast might be dead.

Instead, he was stunned only for a few minutes. The addled bull got up and staggered back to the pasture. Having his hands full with wasps, the farmer decided to let the bull roam for another week and headed for the sale.

Enroute, the farmer stopped for some ice to cool down the ear and neck welts. Sitting down next to a friend at the auction, he recounted his morning's plight and frustrations.

The friend listened and then commented, "I knew a guy who had just about the same experience.

"That so, what happened to him.? "He died."

Smoking still on decline

ATLANTA (AP) — Cigarette tional Abortion Rights Action smoking continues to decline steadily in America, but not fast enough, according to federal health officials who say the country is going to miss a 1990 goal for snuffing out the habit.

> A survey of adult Americans conducted in 1987 shows that 28.8 percent, are cigarette smokers, the Centers for Disease Control reported Thursday. That's down from 30.1 percent in a similar 1985 survey, but apparently too small a decline for researchers to project meeting the federal government's official goal of less than 25 percent by 1990.

"We're getting pretty close," said Dr. Ron Davis, director of the CDC's Office of Smoking and Health. "We're heading in the right direction."

CDC officials believed two. years ago that the 1990 goal could be reached, partly because of a 1986 survey showing a national smoking rate of 26.5 percent.

But that survey, conducted by phone, probably isn't quite as precise as the face-to-face 1987 survey reported Thursday, Davis said.

The CDC said Thursday that smoking rates continue to fall by a steady half-percentage-point a year, as they've done since 1964, the year of the surgeon general's landmark warning that smoking causes cancer and heart disease. At that time, 40 percent of the country smoked.

The number of Americans who smoke will continue to drop, possibly until just a small "hardcore" band of smokers is left, Davis projected.

"So far, we haven't seen any evidence of a leveling off (in smoking's decline)," he said.

"We need to intensify our efforts," he said. "We still have almost 400.000 Americans dying every year because of smokingrelated disease. We can't be complacent about smoking rates going down.'

Thursday's CDC report, based on a survey of some 44,000 people, showed that one in three adult Americans uses tobacco of some sort, including cigarettes, pipes, cigars and chewing tobacco - 39 percent of men and 27 percent of women. Among men, 31 percent smoke cigarettes, compared to 27 percent of women.

The margin of error for the overall smoking survey was 1 percent.

Young people are more likely to smoke cigarettes than older people; 33 percent of Americans ages 25-44 smoke, compared with 19 percent ages 65-74 and 9 percent ages 75 and up.

nation. A pair of private companies wants to buy the government-run airport for $30 million and run it for a profit, and some government officials are pressing to accept the offer.

Such a sale could signal a trend toward privatization of other airports run by cities and local governments. These airports are Poole of the Reason Foundation, increasingly beset with crowding and flight delays because terminal expansion has failed to keep up with the growth in airline travel. The last big new airport to open was Dallas-Fort Worth's 15 years ago.

Backers of private ownership say the profit motive would force corporate operators to do a better job running airports than governments do. Opponents worry that private owners would raise the fees they charge airlines, thus driving up ticket prices.

"Private industry has a was pleased, I don't think we would have airports currently looking at privatization," said Cornell. "Albany is not an isolated case. It seems to be a movement going around the country, and in places around the world. The British government sold off its major airports two years ago. Denmark is selling Copenhagen airport and officials in Peoria, Ill., Atlanta and Los Angeles have at least considered selling their airports, said Robert a conservative Santa Monica, Calif., think tank.

A powerful incentive to local governments is the money to be made from selling the airport.

James J. Coyne, the Albany County executive leading the campaign to sell the airport, warns that big property tax in-creases could be needed if the sale isn't approved.

"Airports have really outgrown local government management," Coyne said, ad-ding that there's little incentive make three no-trump with today's cards in the finals of the Grand National Teams competition. But a defender can hold only so many cards, and forcing discards by playing out winners can sometimes pay unexpected dividends.

A club was led to the king and ace. East returned a club, ducked by declarer, and a third club removed the queen. Declarer Kasle now played the king of diamonds. When East dropped the 10, a low diamond was played to dummy's eight-spot. So far, so good. The queen of diamonds was cashed, and then a spade was played back to the queen. Declarer could now count five diamond tricks, two spades, and one club trick. He could of course knock out the ace of hearts, but then East would take two more clubs to set the contract. However, East had thrown two hearts on the second and third diamonds. Maybe something good would happen when two more diamond winners were played. So the fourth diamond was played, East throwing a spade. Then the fifth diamond - East had to choose among blanking his king of spades, throwing away the ace of hearts, and letting go a good club. Nothing would help. If he threw a club, declarer could safely play a heart. And if he threw a spade, the ace would bring down the king. Lesson: Even if the opponents are ready to defeat your three-no-trump contract when they gain the lead, play out your good winners. A defender may not have room in his hand for all the cards he needs to hold.

Trade for Herschel nets Dallas 12 men

IRVING, Texas (AP) - Jim- Nelson, who had previously inmy Johnson was ready to greet five new Dallas Cowboys today, part of what he called a "mindboggling" trade package for run-ning back Herschel Walker.

The Vikings were expected to arrive some time in the morning and check into the Cowboys' practice facility.

Johnson said they won't play on cisco 49ers.

The Cowboys were openly giddy over the deal with Minnesota general manager Mike Lynn that had been brewing for weeks.

Johnson said an NFL owner told him "It's 'The Great Train Robbery,' " and an agent told him, "It's the greatest trade in NFL history.

The Cowboys paid Walker an undisclosed amount of "exit" money to accept the trade with the Vikings.

Owner Jerry Jones said: "We paid Herschel under the do-right rule. It was very important he feel very good about the Cowboys when he left."

A source close to the deal said Walker got $1.2 to $1.3 million in cash. Walker was on the fourth year of a five-year contract, making $1 million a season. His contract wasn't renegotiated. Dallas obtained linebackers Jesse Solomon and David Howard, cornerback Issiac Holt, defensive end Alex Stewart and running back Darrin Nelson and a "solid" first-round draft choice. The Cowboys also got six "conditional" draft choices over the next three years - two firstround picks, three second-round choices, and one third-round pick.

A source close to the deal said the Cowboys would get first and second picks in both 1990 and 1991, and first-, second- and thirdround selections in 1992.

Stewart is on the injured reserve and Solomon has been battling a knee injury. Stewart is an eighth-round draft pick who had been impressive until he suffered a hand injury. Solomon led the team in tackles for two years. Johnson said he had talked to dicated he wouldn't report.

"Darrin was upset but he's going to be here," Johnson said. Nelson has averaged four yards per carry in his career.

Solomon had been battling a knee injury, but Johnson said, "He's just about ready to play again at full strength."

None of the other players started for the Vikings last week.

Andrews has gained 899 vards on the ground this season pounding out about 225 yards per game. Passing, the Mustangs have picked up just 317 yards in four games.

"They run a lot of power plays at you," said SHS mentor David Baugh. "They'll run sweeps with two backs leading the blocking and just power you out."

Baugh feels the strength of the Andrews offense lies with the line, a line which averages just over six feet and about 205 pounds across the front five.

"They'll line up with you foot to foot and power you out," Baugh reported. "They are big, strong and they block really well."

The Mustangs will attack the Tigers' defense from the wishbone formation.

"They don't do a lot of different things," says Snyder defensive coordinator Jack Dorsett,"but what they do, they do very well and very consistently.'

Andrews fullback Kelly Cornejo is currently third in District 4-4A in rushing with 263 yards in just 35 attempts, giving him an average of 7.5 yards per rush.

Robert Morris, the Mustangs' quarterback has completed 17 of 56 passes in '89 for 275 yards, a touchdown and three interceptions

His most prolific target is Eric Lopez, who while only snagging six passes has turned the throws into 123 yards for an amazing 20.5 yard average.

Snyder's defense is led by linebacker Tommy Lane and tackle Jody Iglehart.

Lanes 10¹/₂ tackles versus Lake View were tops on the team. He also forced a fumble on a bruising tackle on last Friday's opening kick-off in San Angelo.

Iglehart anchored the SHS line and nabbed a pair of sacks of the Chiefs' quarterback a week ago.

Nine of Snyder's defensive players graded out at 80 percent or above in last week's game, according to the coaching staff.

Snyder's offense is led by senior quarterback Toby Good- Head-to-head win.

Goodwin is 15 of 52 for 202 yards this season. He has also gained 12 yards rushing. Jayson Presley, SHS flankersplit end, caught five tosses from Goodwin last week for 74 yards. On the season he has raked in 10 balls for 155 yards. His 15.5 yard per catch average places him in the upper portion of receivers in the district. He is currently ranked number four in yardage gained. He also rushes for 5.6 yards per carry and a total of 118 yards in this fall's campaign. The Tigers will have the services of tailback Shelby Bufkin against Andrews. Bufkin has been sidelined with a twisted knee for two games. He has gained 85 yards on 12 carries for the offensive unit in his two games this year Still questionable for tonight's battle is defensive end Hayward Clay. Like Bufkin, Clay has been out for two weeks with a twisted knee.

The Mustangs were 35-14 winners over the Tigers last year in Andrews.

In other 4-4A action tonight, Big Spring is at defending champ Sweetwater, Ft. Stockton is at Pecos and Monahans hosts San Angelo Lake View.

The Mustangs-Tigers game will be broadcast on a tape delay basis, Saturday, at 7:30 p.m. on Snyder Cablevision channel 2.

Local golfer in SW Classic

Snyder native Bill Atwood was a member of a team competing in the Gatlin Brothers Southwest Seniors Classic Pro-Am golf tournament held at Fairway Oaks Country Club in Abilene this week.

Atwood and his team, including golfing great Doug Sanders on Wednesday, garnered a 61, just five strokes off the pace of the foursome headed by pro golfer Quinton Gray.

Atwood's score on Wednesday included a pair of eagles and two birdies.

The professional on the squad switched for Thursday's round and Atwood, Scott Taliaferro, Jr. and John Speer played with professional Chuch Mehok.

The squad carded a 61 Thursday to finish the tournament nine strokes back of the winning team.

The winners were pro Bob Toski, Lee Baird, Jay Miers and Mark Hobbs. They registered a final round 55 to vault into the lead.

COLORADO CITY, Texas feud stemming from a brutality (AP) - A medical examiner, in a lawsuit Gomez filed against the LULAC hired Dr. Juan Contin, the medical examiner for El Paso County, to perform an independent autopsy. Contin's report, released today, concluded that Gomez was not armed with a knife, that he was not lunging at Williamson and that he appeared to be turning around with his hands above his head when he was shot.

The third shot was fired in the Contin concluded. Contin said the third shot was fatal.

"Sammy Gomez died, not at the hands of police who were defending themselves, but was murdered by police," said Ruben Sandoval, a San Antonio lawyer representing LULAC in the case, after seeing the report Sandoval contended police produced a "throwdown" knife to back up their assertions that Gomez was armed.

Williamson and the other officer who was at the scene, Patrick Taylor, could not immediately be reached for comment.

A Mitchell County grand jury declined to indict Williamson a week after the shooting.

The board took no action but inferred that mileage checks could be considered salary and therefore should not be changed immediately since those involved were already depending on that form of income. Moseley also presented some figures pertaining to school enrollment as compared to communities within the district, comparing such facts as budget per pupil, average teacher salary and pupil-to-teacher ratio. Snyder showed a fall 1988 enrollment of 3,532 students compared to a district low of 2,872 at Monahans and a high of 4,743 in Big Spring. Total operating expenses per student were $3,457.26 for Snyder ISD as compared to a low of $3,149.63 in Sweetwater and a high of $4,353.73 in Fort Stockton. The state average is $3,384. Average teachers salaries, which do not include career ladder, were $25,436 in Snyder, $22,549 in Big Spring and $27,155 in Andrews. Pupil-teacher ratios ranged from Fort Stockton's 14.8 to Snyder's 15.1 to Pecos' 16.6. Snyder led in teacher experience, with teachers averaging 16.6 years of experience here while instructors at Pecos and Sweetwater averaged 11.5 years. Tax rates for 1988-89 throughout the district were 99 cents per $100 valuation in Snyder ISD, 95 cents in Sweetwater, 65 cents in Andrews, 99 cents in Big Spring, 75 cents in Fort Stockton, $1 in Pecos and 97 cents in Monahans. The board also discussed new attendance requirements by the state which allows a student to miss 15 days of class during the school year. Students may miss up to seven days during the first semester and eight during the second and still be allowed to make up the work for a full grade. According to Moseley, there are no excused or unexcused absences. Students may miss for whatever reasons they want and will be given an opportunity to complete the work. After a student has used up his days of absence, future absences will be reviewed as to 'extenuating circumstances" because the state mandates that students must attend 80 days. Students may be required to make up the work on Saturdays, depending on the circumstances, and may not be allowed to score products and businesses.

Additional Information

The amendment would authorize the legislature to issue $75 million of general obligation bonds and to establish programs funded by the bonds to assist in the development and production of new or improved products, the development of small businesses, and agricultural production in the state.

FOR: The economic development programs authorized by the proposed amendment will help rebuild the state's ecomony and make it more diversified. The proposed amendment will help many farmers and ranchers and small businesses located in rural areas to overcome current temporary difficulties that economic forces beyond their control have inflicted.

AGAINST: The financing of private businesses should be strictly a private matter. The state cannot afford to finance with state money enterprises that private investors find too risky to finance with their own money. Although agriculture is an important part of the state ecomony, it is not in the best interest of the state as a whole to go into debt to provide financial assistance for farmers and ranchers and the small businesses that serve them.

Compatible job

NEW YORK (AP) - Peter Jennings says he prefers working as a reporter, but being anchorman of "ABC World News Tonight" is more compatible with fatherhood than a foreign correspondent's life.

"I have a lot of colleagues who have screwed-up children because they were on the road all the time when their kids were growing up," Jennings, 51, said in an interview in the Oct. 15 issue of Parade magazine. "So at the moment I'm pleased I'm not running around the world."

Burning the Flag: Is It Contempt or Respect?

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: When I studied civics in high school, I was taught * that the proper, respectful way to dispose of an American flag when it became soiled, torn or damaged, and therefore unsuitable for displaying, was to burn it.

Now with the current move to make such an act unconstitutional, I ask you, what am I to do with my flag should it become unsuitable for displaying?

PATRIOTIC AND PERPLEXED

DEAR PATRIOTIC: First, one would have to determine whether the flag burner burned the flag to show contempt or respect.

When a flag becomes unsuitable for displaying, call the local chapter of your American Legion. They collect such flags and dispose of them in a dignified and respectful ceremony.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing in defense of the couple who announced their divorce to their friends at their 25th wedding anniversary party. Although "Was There" thought the couple's actions were unbelievable, I think that their actions were kind, compassionate and mature. Their announcement must have put a damper on the party, but if their marriage could not be reconciled, they did the next best thing for themselves, their family and friends.

It is much nicer if divorcing couples can part as "friends" rather than to go for the jugular. The anger, accusations and pain should not be hashed and rehashed. By making a joint announcement with all of their friends in attendance, they avoided the painful explanation to each friend, as well as the inaccuracies that occur through gossip and the placing of blame. They also gave their children and friends permission to remain friendly with both parties

Their actions were commendable. May they both find happiness as they each make a new life. I've thought of doing the same thing myself.

ON THE BRINK IN SACRAMENTO

DEAR ON THE BRINK: I am not advocating dissolving marriages, but if you decide to go that route, this seems the most civilized way to do it.

DEAR ABBY: Re the couple who announced their divorce on the occasion of their 25th wedding aniversary: Bravo! I only wish my parents had the good sense to do the same.

They have plenty of money to go their separate ways and make new lives, but they just stay together quarreling and unhappy. Congratulations to the couple who admitted their marriage wasn't working anymore and went on with their lives.

surance companies say their decisions to settle a lawsuit brought by Attorney General Jim Mattox was the cost-effective choice.

Mattox announced Thursday that the Travelers Insurance Co. and St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co. had agreed to pay $500,000 each and testify in the state's antitrust suit against other insurers.

District Judge Pete Lowry, both create a phony "insurance liability. The pacts say each $500,000 payment is for investigative and legal costs and "does not represent a fine or penalty."

"In essence, these companies have entered a nolo contendere (no contest) plea and have agreed to testify for the state as the lawsuit continues against the other defendants," Mattox said.

School district set to fight lawsuit

CANUTILLO, Texas (AP) — students have rights, but a judge Canutillo school officials say and a court will tell them so." Canutillo school officials say their investigation of students' claims that their hair was cut by teachers turned up no reason to discipline faculty and the district will seek dismissal of a related lawsuit.

Wilson Knapp, Canutillo superintendent, said the district also will seek compensation for litigation expenses.

Two junior high students claim in the suit they were sent to detention last month and forced to remain until they agreed to allow teachers to cut their hair.

The suit, filed last month, accuses the district of denying the students due process and violating the equal rights amendment because only the hair of male students was cut.

"The board found no disciplinary action is warranted against any faculty or staff member arising from the inci-dent in question," Knapp said, reading from a prepared state-ment. "Additionally the revised student dress code for the district as adopted for Sept. 12, 1989, will remain in force and be implemented in conformance with the discipline-management plan of the district.

'Their claims are basically groundless and frivolous as set forth in the lawsuit," Knapp told The Associated Press.

The school district implemented the dress code this year but dc'eted the long hair regulation at a board meeting attended by parents of the students who claimed their hair was cut.

Rod Ponton, who represents the plaintiffs, said he would not withdraw the suit. "Absolutely not. It's a valid suit. Canutillo ap-parently did not think the

"It was my understanding they (the school district) investigated themselves and they found they did not find they did do anything wrong," he said.

Knapp said the board has in-structed its attorneys to seek "from the court sanctions against the plaintiffs in the form of reimbursement for cost and expenses incurred by the district in defense of the groundless and frivolous claim set forth in the lawsuit."

Mattox in March 1988 sued eight major insurance companies and other insurance groups, accusing them of illegally conspiring to boycott, coerce and intimidate insurance consumers in order to drive up rates, cut back coverage and create a false insurance crisis in the commercial liability field.

Several other states joined a similar lawsuit filed in federal court in California.

"We are asking the court to set us a trial date as soon as possible for the rest" of the defendants, Mattox said.

The state's lawsuit seeks civil penalties and restitution for consumers.

The civil penalties could range up to $1 million for each violation of the state's antitrust law by corporate defendants and up to $100,000 for each violation by individuals.

Spokesmen for both Travelers and St. Paul Fire and Marine said their companies believe they would have won but decided to settle because of costs involved. "We look at this as a very cost-effective way for the company to

"We feel confident that if it would have gone to its conclusion, there would have been a ruling in our favor. But the costs of doing this would have far outdistanced the benefits we would have been getting," added Travelers spokesman Dan Kaferle.

Mattox recalled a television advertising campaign in which the insurance industry contended that the crisis would hinder everything from high school football games to fire protection.

When his lawsuit was filed, Mattox charged the insurance industry with "the most insidious consumer fraud perpetrated upon the American public in decades."

Dr. Gott Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: A 13-year-old nephew suffers from a branchial cleft cyst that is the size of a tennis ball. What is the cause, result of surgery and the outlook for him?

DEAR READER: The developing embryo has five mounds of flesh, called branchial arches, that eventually grow to form the upper and lower jaws, portions of the neck and the cartilage beneath the thyroid gland. These arches are separated by grooves or clefts.

For unknown reasons, parts of these primitive structures may remain after a person has fully deve oped. The remnants fill with fluid and appear as soft, painless cysts beneath the angle of the jaw. Although they do not represent an illness or a health hazard, they can be unsightly.

Surgical removal is the recommended treatment for branchial cleft cysts. Simple drainage is not appropriate because the cysts re-form. The operation is quite standard, and the results are uniformly successful.

Your nephew would probably be grateful to have the cyst removed. To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "An Informed Approach to Surgery." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Can you provide information on neurofibromatosis? I have it, my five children have it, and now my grandson has a tumor on his brain.

DEAR READER: Neurofibromatosis (von Recklinghausen's disease) is an uncommon, inherited affliction associated with nerve tumors, bone deformities and peculiar; tan (cafe-aulait) spots of the skin. The disease is serious because the nerve tumors can grow, causing weakness, deafness or blindness.

Treatment consists of surgical removal of the tumors or radiation therapy to shrink them. Because neurofibromatosis is inherited, it is genetically transmitted to children. as was the case in your family. Adults with the disease should have genetic counseling before choosing to have a family.

I wonder if your grandson's brain tumor may be yet another manifestation of von Recklinghausen's disease. Ask your doctor about this. Perhaps the youngster could be helped by radiation therapy, without the need for surgery. In any case, I encourage your

Actress calls husband 'klutz'

NEW YORK (AP) - Film director Louis Malle is a klutz who throws himself into life with such zeal that he often lands on his head, says Malle's wife, actress Candice Bergen.

"'He's always bleeding," Bergen said in the Oct. 30 issue of US magazine. "Once, in Paris, I met him at the airport during the time of all the terrorist attacks. Suddenly, I saw everybody in the airport was backing up, aghast, as Louis parted the crowd, with his head in bloody bandages

"Everybody thought he'd been a victim of terrorism, but he'd just been running to get a luggage cart and hit his head on a pole,'' said Bergen. Bergen said her 3-year-old* daughter, Chloe, shares her father's metabolism and curiosity. And, so far, her mother's disregard for high fashion.

"I don't shop in Beverly Hills. For Chloe and myself, I go to The Gap," said Bergen.

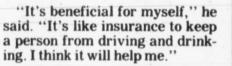

"We decided to make this a test case in Bexar County," said Johnson. "If this works, we can add it to our arsenal of weapons to fight DWIs.'

Yanez' driver's license had been suspended for two years last month by State District Judge Sharon MacRae after he appeared in her court on a felony DWI charge, his third such arrest in two years.

Johnson had already granted Yanez an occupational license to allow him to continue working as an electrician at the time Alonso suggested the device.
