ADN program among hospital agenda items

Cogdell Memorial Hospital board of managers will review for approval an agreement with Howard College for an associate degree nursing program at their 6:30 meeting this evening.

Also on the agenda are capital equipment requests, an executive session, several informational items and staff and financial reports. In the proposed agreement with Howard College, Cogdell would provide clinical experience, classroom space, office space and secretarial support for the use and benefit of the associate degree nursing program. The local hospital would also agree to pay a salary subsidy for the instructor, Velma

Clay, RN, MSN. "There is a real shortage of registered nurses and we feel this is a fine opportunity to train nurses, some of whom we hope will remain in Snyder," said Tom Hochwalt, hospital administrator.

The program could be in conjunction with the one at Western Texas College, which trains LVNs, he noted.

Among the informational items on the agenda is an arrangement with Austin King, M.D., FACS, from the Abilene area to hold an Ear, Nose and Throat clinic and perform out-patient surgery at Cogdell several days a month.

Also, Cogdell Hospital will be assuming responsibility of pharmacy services at the Price Daniel Unit, effective in early December. The service is currently being provided by Northwest Texas Hospital of Amarillo but Hochwalt noted that through Cogdell the arrangement would be more cost effective while eliminating transportation delays.

The conversion would cost approximately $12,000 to $15,000 in initial outlay, but those funds would be quickly recovered, according to the administrator.

Also on the agenda is a request for the purchase of an Omnigraph EKG machine, a report on an interview with a general surgeon from New York State and approval of medical staff privileges for Miguel Ramirez, M.D.

Proposed Amendment No. 14

Below continues the series outlining the 21 proposed constitutional amendments which will be offered for voter ratification on the Nov. 7, 1989, general election ballot.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION 71: the primary effect and purpose of the amendment is to permit the election of the new district attorney in Fort Bend County to a full four-year term at the general election in 1990. If the office were to be created in 1991 without this constitutional amendment, the office would be filled at the 1992 general election.

Background Information
Fort Bend County is currently served by a criminal district attorney who represents the state and county in all criminal and civil cases and has all the powers, duties and privileges conferred by law on county and district attorneys. Effective only if the proposed amendment is adopted by voters, S.B. 1033 abolishes the office of criminal district attorney in Fort Bend County when the current term expires in January 1991 and creates the office of district attorney for the 268th Judicial District and the office of county attorney for Fort Bend County.

FOR: The amendment and its enabling legislation would allow the voters of Fort Bend County to decide who the new district attorney would be without the necessity of making the same decision again in only two years.

AGAINST: Carving out an exception for the election of a single district attorney defeats the statewide uniformity achieved by electing all district attorneys for full terms of office at the same general election.

The SDN Column

By Roy McQueen

The feller on Deep Creek says, "People who live beyond their income fail to act their wage."

You may remember the horrible incident early in the summer. A young woman jogger was brutally gang-raped in New York's Central Park. She was left for dead and ended up in a coma in a New York hospital.

Soon after the incident, seven youngsters aged 14 to 17, were overheard rapping and laughing about what had happened. To them it seemed on a par to an amusement park ride.

Soon there was a response from a professor who claimed that "society" was at fault and was to blame. Yet the professor forgot these were not ghetto kids, but rather middle to upperclass youngsters. Don't blame society, blame it on the seven kids and 14 parents.

Such crimes have caused a DA in New York to call for the death penalty for teens who commit capital murder. A state representative in Texas last session was laughed down when he proposed that drug dealers have fingers cut off when convicted. It has been observed that justice that is not swift and sure is really no justice at all.

We were reminded of the above when we read about a day-care center which promotes aggressive behavior among its children. The male owner says parents and other day-care professionals are wrongly turning today's youth into wimps by mollicoddling.

The activities include children hitting each other with foam-filled weapons. The idea is to make the children more competitive and aggressive in what is described as "positive roughhousing."

He says that rather than learning patience by standing in line, children need to learn to push and shove. He is said to be turned off by such words as gentleness, sharing, kindness and compassion. He likes words like power, bravery, courage, fortitude, strength and stamina.

With such thinking, it's little wonder we hear about brutal acts of violence.

In Nov. 7 election...

Deadline nears to vote absentee

In-person absentee balloting has been slow, the county clerk's office reported this morning, but registered voters who plan to use that method to cast their ballots in the Nov. 7 general election still have a week to do so.

The deadline for in-person absentee voting is Friday, Nov. 3. To date, only 20 people have voted absentee at the county clerk's office.

"We might remind people that they don't have to have a reason to vote absentee," said Joan Bunch. "They can just come in and vote."

Under a 1987 state law which relaxed absentee balloting requirements, Texans are now given the option of casting absentee votes by personal appearance without having to give a reason for doing so.

The office also noted that Oct. 31 is the final day to have applications turned in for anyone voting absentee by mail. Unlike in-person absentee voting, those who vote by mail must give a reason for not being able to cast their ballot on election day. Applications are available at the county clerk's office.

The clerk's office also noted it has sample ballots for anyone interested in reviewing them prior to election day.

The Nov. 7 constitutional amendments election includes 21 proposed amendments to the Texas Constitution. They include measures that would raise the salaries of state legislators, the lieutenant governor and speaker of the house; authorize the issuance of bonds for water projects and state prison expansion; let the legislature pass laws permitting courts to instruct juries on good conduct time and parole eligibility for defendants; allow state lawmakers to sanction and regulate raffles conducted by non-profit organizations; and several other issues.

Fire destroys vacant house in Hermleigh

A vacant frame house was destroyed in a fire that was fueled by strong winds Wednesday night and early today in central Hermleigh.

Twenty-six regular and volunteer firemen with a truck and three boosters were called to the blaze, off old U.S. 84 a block east of the post office, at 10:55 p.m. Wednesday and were at the scene until 1:15 a.m. today.

A department spokesman said the cause of the fire was still under investigation and that the ownership of the house had not been determined.

"When we got there, it was fully involved," he said.

Firefighters were primarily occupied with keeping a large house about 20 feet to the north and a storage building behind that house from igniting, he said, adding that their job was made more difficult by the wind.

In the only other fire call Wednesday, firemen worked from 1:07 to 2:15 p.m. to extinguish a grass fire in a field off the 3000 Block of 32nd St.

Country club manager welcomed at reception

Snyder Country Club members Wednesday night got acquainted with the newly appointed manager, Jeff Poland, and his family, and said goodbye to retiring manager Lou Brice.

Brice served the club for 10 years and put approximately 100,000 miles on his car driving home to San Angelo every weekend.

Brice's resignation is effective Oct. 31, and Poland, along with his wife Opal and their 2½ year old daughter Ashley, is looking for housing.

Poland is moving to Snyder from Ballinger where he has been general manager of Simply Taylor's, a restaurant and club, for the past seven years. He enjoys weight training in his free time, and has competed in bodybuilding on the state and national levels.

In a letter to country club members, Brice stated that he has fulfilled the goals he set for himself 10 years ago, including improvement of the club facilities. He further stated that due to "good times," he was able to accomplish the goals.

Brice also thanked members for the opportunity to serve. Poland said he is looking forward to working with the people in Snyder.

Q—How are the district players picked for football and volleyball?

A—Assuming you mean all-district players, these are submitted by, and voted on by the coaches in the district. Coaches are not allowed to vote for their own players.

Exxon move

DALLAS (AP) — Exxon Corp. will move its corporate headquarters from New York City to Dallas next fall, the world's largest oil company announced today.

Chairman Lawrence Rawl said the company had considered moving its headquarters for some time and had evaluated a number of locations.

At least 300 headquarters employees will be affected by the relocation.

Robert M. Freeman, superintendent of the medium-security State Correctional Institution at Camp Hill, said 1,200 of the prison's 2,600 inmates joined the riot at various stages.

Juror in I-Condo trial tells why he favored acquittal

DALLAS (AP) — The juror whose persistent vote of acquittal for the seven defendants in the Interstate 30 condominium trial forced a mistrial was asked by another panel member if he was being paid to hold out.

Ron Haggard, identifying himself as the lone holdout on the jury, said the 17 days of deliberations were frequently terse, but especially so when a woman asked him if he was taking a bribe.

"She said, 'Why are you holding out like this? Did you get some money or a payoff or something?' It got pretty hot," Ron Haggard of Lubbock told The Dallas Morning News.

Garland developer Danny Faulkner, Garland Mayor James Toler and five other men were accused of diverting the proceeds of more than a half billion dollars in condo loans from Mesquite-based Empire Savings and Loan and several other institutions.

The case ended on Sept. 15, after seven months of trial, 120 witnesses and 3,000 separate pieces of evidence when U.S. District Judge Sam R. Cummings declared a mistrial. A unanimous vote is required for conviction.

Cummings placed a gag order on jurors after the trial, but altered the order Tuesday, allowing jurors to talk to reporters about some aspects of the trial.

Most of confession by boy can't be used

FORT WORTH (AP) — A judge has ruled that a 12-year-old boy's detailed oral confession in the stabbing death of a school teacher cannot be admitted in his trial.

District Judge Scott Moore made the ruling Wednesday in the case of a boy arrested in the Aug. 28 stabbing death of Jana Simpson, 24, on the grounds of Glen Park Elementary School.

But the judge ruled that the boy's statement, "I killed the teacher. I killed the teacher" can be used because it was volunteered to officers before the boy was arrested.

was declared, the FBI questioned him, Haggard said.

"They wanted to know whether I had been approached by anybody from the defense side," Haggard said. "I hadn't."

Haggard was one of two men on the jury at first, but the other male juror was dismissed one month before the trial ended.

Moore said he based his decision on a lack of corroborating evidence and officers' failure to follow juvenile protection guidelines.

The ruling leaves prosecutors with a case that hinges only on the single statement from the boy. Officers have been unable to find the weapon the boy said he discarded near the school and chemical tests did not turn up any trace of blood on the boy's clothing.

No other evidence in the case links the boy with the slaying, authorities say.

Assistant District Attorney Bob Gill said he is uncertain if the boy will ever stand trial in the slaying.

"A large part of our case is undermined by this decision," Gill said. "We're not going to be allowed to get in what is basically a confession to a murder."

Mom Makes a Case for Lighter Touch When Teen Is Grounded

By Abigail Van Buren
© 1989 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: My husband uses "grounding" for every little infraction our 15-year-old son commits. "Rick" loves sports, and he's very good at basketball and soccer. He's on his high school teams for both sports.

My husband feels that when Rick is grounded he should not be able to go anywhere — including practice for sports or playing in the games. I feel that taking away Rick's TV and telephone privileges and going out in the evening is punishment enough. Besides, if Rick is grounded from practice and playing in sports, he'd be letting his school and teammates down. Being grounded from sports for two weeks could even cause him to lose out playing a whole season.

I think I have a fairly good chance of winning this argument, but I need your help. I hope you're on my side, Abby. Say what?

HIGH-SCHOOLER'S MOM

DEAR MOM: I think the punishment should fit the crime. If Rick's offense is serious — drinking, doing drugs or breaking the law — I'd say ground him all the way, sports included.

But for relatively minor offenses, denying Rick TV and telephone privileges, plus going out — other than for practice and games — is sufficient punishment.

a charge for that. However, if the calls are life-threatening and a police report is filed, the phone company will change your number without charging you for it.

Most people think it's easy to trace a telephone number. It's not. It's a very involved procedure, and the telephone company and police department must work together in order to trace a call, but this is done only in life-threatening circumstances.

If the calls are obscene or harassing, the best way to discourage them is to keep a whistle near the phone and give the caller an earsplitting blast.

OLD REP FROM CALIFORNIA

DEAR OLD REP: Thanks. You reached out and touched a few million people. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: After reading the letter about obscene phone calls, I had to write and tell you what has worked for me. When the caller starts in with the spiel, I listen and make no comment until the caller has finished, then I say, very innocently: "Would you mind repeating that, please? I don't hear very well, and I didn't understand what you were talking about."

The caller usually slams the receiver down forcibly!

LAS VEGAS READER

DEAR READER: Not a bad idea, but that necessitates having to listen to some disgusting dialogue.

A Tampa reader with a novel solution wrote: "I used to have trouble with obscene phone calls, then I kept my Bible by the phone and started quoting Scripture to the caller. After that, I wasn't bothered again."

Research at Tech cleared in report

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — The research of a Texas Tech physiologist whose animal laboratory was recently vandalized by protesters appears to comply with government guidelines, says the medical institute that funds the work.

Dr. John Orem's animal research was called exemplary Wednesday by a team appointed by the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute, but a researcher with People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals said she doubted the investigators were impartial.

The NHLBI, part of the National Institutes of Health, funds Orem's experiments at Texas Tech's Health Sciences Center.

Orem uses cats to study how the brain controls breathing during sleep. He measures the brain activity and breathing of the animals.

The researcher, who said his work could someday have applications in fighting crib death in infants and sleep apnea in adults and children, has insisted his experiments are humane and painless. The investigating team agreed.

Orem was thrust into the limelight after vandals broke into his laboratory July 4 and caused more than $70,000 damage. Spray-painted on the wall in the animal holding area was: "Don't mess with Texas animals — ALF."

Police identified ALF as a radical animal-rights group called the Animal Liberation Front. No one has been arrested in the break-in.

The NHLBI investigators said charges of animal cruelty are unfounded, praised Texas Tech's animal-use review process and condemned "illegal acts of violence, vandalism and character assassination."

Ann Chynoweth, a researcher at PETA headquarters in Rockville, Md., said Wednesday she believes the six-person team that visited Orem's lab last month was biased in his favor.

Bowman is McDonald's alumni

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — State Treasurer Robert Bowman got hooked on fast food as a youthful burger flipper, and he dreams of the day when doctors will say "salt is good for you" and push saturated fat to prevent heart attacks.

Bowman quit his job at McDonald's in 1973, but he told about 750 McDonald's assistant managers at a convention Wednesday that Big Mac sauce will always be in his veins.

"I am always proud to be an 'alum' of McDonald's," Bowman said.

During seminars at the convention, employees were quizzed on such matters as "In what order should a Big Mac, fries and a soda be presented to a customer?" and "What is the proper temperature setting for cleaning the biscuit oven?"

Winners got a variety of prizes including McDonald's stock.

Bowman was 16 when he got his first job at a McDonald's in Brookfield, Wis., in 1971. He stayed there two years.

The Ennis Creek Community held their second annual reunion Oct 14 at Towle Park Barn.

Some 100 past and present residents of Ennis Creek met for a picnic lunch and an afternoon of visiting.

The gathering was highlighted by three former teachers who taught at the Ennis Creek school in the 1930s. Mrs. Gladys Wiman Wade of Snyder, Robert Taylor of Abilene and Woodrow Smith of Sweetwater renewed acquaintances and caught up on how life had treated their students.

Past residents traveled from California, Wyoming, New Mexico and all parts of Texas for the reunion.

A business meeting was held during the afternoon. Officers elected were Doug Horsley, president; Patti Jean McCormack, secretary and Thula Whatley, treasurer.

Greed causes a problem

By James Jacoby

Most South players arrived in six spades. A diamond was normally led. When declarer played low from dummy, East's jack forced his ace. Dummy's A-K of hearts were cashed so that declarer could throw the 10 of diamonds. Then came ace of clubs, followed by a diamond ruff. The king of clubs was played, and then a club was ruffed as West threw a diamond. Declarer was then able to ruff another diamond low, and ruff his last little club with the nine of spades. That left declarer with A-Q-10 of spades and the good queen of clubs, while dummy was still left with the spade jack. He now had a sure play for his contract. He ruffed a heart with the ace of spades. Then he played the queen of clubs, ruffing with dummy's spade jack. West could take his spade king any time, but that was the only trick for the defense.

One declarer got greedy after winning dummy's queen of diamonds at the first trick. He played A-K of hearts, shedding a club, and then took the ace of clubs. With only one club to ruff, he played the jack of spades and let it ride. Then he led the nine of spades, playing low when East followed with the eight. West won the king and returned a spade, and declarer was left with a club loser. If this declarer had first led the spade nine from dummy, his second lead would have been the jack. With East playing the eight, declarer could play the 10. That way, even if West were being clever, the spade seven would be an entry to dummy for the good heart.

Anorexia can cause a reduction in how well the body performs during aerobic exercise, says the Reebok Aerobic Information Bureau. Anorexia nervosa is a disease with psychiatric complications in which a person becomes obsessed with diet and body weight. During exercise, heart rate and blood pressure response are not as strong in an anorexic and oxygen consumption can be as low as 50 percent of a healthy person, according to researchers at the Cleveland Clinic Foundation. In one study, the exercise performance of anorexics averaged 52 percent the capacity of that done by healthy exercisers.

Bryant presents biography to club

Scurry County Penwomen met in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Killgo Oct. 18. Christine Killgo, club chaplain, gave the invocation.

A biography and poems by James Whitcomb Rily was presented by Sherry Bryant. She said that Rily learned to speak the dialect of the people of that day in Indiana and that some of his poems were written in that dialect.

Examples are "The Frost is on the Punkin," "Little Orphan Annie," and "The Little Old Poem That Nobody Reads."

In a short business session, members updated the by-laws of the society.

In the reading session, members read their own poems. Dorothy Cox read "Sandstorm, A Symbol of West Texas" and "Autumn's Last Days." Mary Westmoreland read "Regrets and Killer Bees."

Mrs. Bryant read "Torn and Return." Janelle Burk read "We Once Knew a Place" and "I Walk With a Friend." Betty Kellum read "The Promise Renewed."

Garnet Quiett read "Morning Visitor" and "The Mysterious Wind." Mrs. Killgo also read "Tornado," by Raymond Presson. In a secret ballot for the most well-liked poem, Mrs. Westmoreland won the hostess gift. Mrs. Quiett brought the word of encouragement with "How to Find Time." The meeting was adjourned following the service of refreshments.

The Nov. 15 meeting will be with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burk. Jim Rambo, WTC speech and drama coach will be the guest speaker. Visitors and writers are welcome to attend the meeting.

Apple crisps curb chills

By NANCY BYAL
Better Homes and Gardens
Food Editor

Curb winter chills with fresh-baked homemade fruit crisp. Two fruits make it doubly tasty. Use your blender or food processor to make the whole-wheat bread crumb topping; it stays crisp and nutty tasting during baking.

PEAR AND APPLE CRISP
6 slices (6 ounces) whole-wheat bread

1½ pounds ripe pears, peeled, cored and thinly sliced (4 cups)

1½ pounds tart apples, peeled and thinly sliced (4 cups)

2 tablespoons lemon juice

½ cup packed brown sugar

1 teaspoon ground cinnamon

½ teaspoon ground nutmeg

¼ cup all-purpose flour

¼ cup granulated sugar

6 tablespoons margarine or butter

Whipped cream or ice cream (optional)

Tear bread into pieces; place on baking sheet. Bake in 350-degree F oven 10 minutes or until lightly toasted. Place toasted bread in blender or food processor; process until coarse crumbs form (should have about 2 cups).

In a large bowl combine pears, apples and lemon juice; add half the brown sugar and half the spices; mix well. Turn into a 12-by-7½-by-2-inch baking dish.

In a blender or food processor combine bread crumbs, flour, granulated sugar, and remaining brown sugar and spices. Add margarine, a few tablespoons at a time. Process until mixture resembles cornmeal. Spoon evenly over fruit mixture. Bake in 350-degree F oven for 45 minutes or until bubbly and lightly browned. Serve warm with whipped cream or ice cream, if desired. Makes 10 servings.

Committee probes money laundering

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Banking Committee says he's calling a field hearing in Texas to examine whether banks across the Southwest have become laundromats that wash the "ill-gotten gains of drug dealers."

Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, a San Antonio Democrat, said the hearings would be conducted in his hometown Dec. 6 and 7 to examine the growing problem of money laundering in the Southwest and whether current banking laws are adequate.

"The hearings will examine why the Southwest is reportedly awash with drug monies that are being laundered through financial institutions throughout the region," Gonzalez said.

Gonzalez said San Antonio was chosen as the site for the hearings because "it is in the center of a region that is seeing an unusually high level of money laundering."

"Recent reports show that more cash is flowing into certain Southwest financial institutions than is being withdrawn," Gonzalez said in a statement. "Such an influx of cash — particularly in small bills — is often an indication that the deposit is the result of an illegal drug sale."

Gonzalez cited a report in the Austin American-Statesman that said the cash surplus in the San Antonio vault of the Federal Reserve rose from $900 million in 1986 to $1.6 billion in 1988.

"Only the Federal Reserve Banks in Miami, Los Angeles and Jacksonville, Fla., have larger cash surpluses," Gonzalez said.

Gonzalez said his committee would ask officials on the "front lines in the war against drugs" to discuss the extent of the drug problem and money laundering in the Southwest and how local and state law enforcement agencies are coordinating their efforts with federal agencies.

Witnesses would also be called from the Border Patrol, Drug Enforcement Administration.

Government lab loses nuclear arms material

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Energy Department laboratory in Tennessee lost a significant amount of radioactive tritium in a test shipment between lab buildings, raising the possibility of foul play, government records show.

Ironically, the secret test was done as part of an internal investigation into troubling discrepancies in the amount of tritium shipped from the Oak Ridge National Laboratory at Oak Ridge, Tenn., to commercial buyers in recent years.

Tritium supplies are classified by the government. The material is produced in Energy Department reactors in South Carolina for use in nuclear warheads, although small amounts are sold to domestic and foreign companies. Commercial uses include the manufacture of luminous lights and biological and energy research.

No acceptable explanation could be found for the tritium lost in the test shipment last year, according to an Oak Ridge report released Wednesday by the Energy Department in response to a Freedom of Information Act request by The Associated Press.

The report, dated July 20, raised the possibility of theft but said this could not be substantiated.

Jim Alexander, an Oak Ridge spokesman, said Wednesday he did not know whether the tritium in the test shipment has been recovered. He said efforts to resolve the discrepancies in commercial shipments dating back to 1985 were continuing.

Based on information in the Oak Ridge investigation report, it appeared about 2 grams of tritium were lost in the shipment between lab buildings. That is about half the amount used in a single nuclear warhead, according to private analysts.

The lab is operated by Martin Marietta Energy Systems Inc. under an Energy Department contract.

Commercial shipments from Oak Ridge were suspended in July while a joint team of experts from the Energy Department and the Nuclear Regulatory Commission conducted an investigation. This group reported on July 28 that it could not explain the discrepancies in the commercial shipments, which amounted to about 5 grams.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company hereby gives notice that on August 29, 1989 the Company filed an application with the Public Utility Commission (PUC) of Texas to revise its Texas intrastate Digital Link Service Tariff. This application proposes to restructure the rates for MICROLINK II<sup>SM</sup> - Packet Switching Digital Service to establish uniform rates for the service in each of the market areas where it is offered within the State and to expand the service to an additional nineteen (19) Primary Market Areas (PMAs).

MICROLINK II<sup>SM</sup> - Packet Switching Digital Service is for business customers with interactive data transport requirements who are located within the Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Brownsville, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Houston, Longview, Lubbock, Midland, San Antonio, Waco, or Wichita Falls Local Access and Transport Areas (LATAs). This service utilizes several existing network services in combination with packet switching capabilities. A MICROLINK II Primary Market Area is the service area from which subscribers may reach public dial access to the service by dialing a local seven digit number. The twenty-four (24) PMAs that will be affected by this filing are: Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Brownsville, McAllen, Harlingen, Corpus Christi, Victoria, Dallas, Fort Worth, El Paso, Houston, Galveston, Laredo, Longview, Tyler, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, San Antonio, Waco, Temple, and Wichita Falls.

Conviction for murder is reversed

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals has upheld the death penalty in a San Antonio murder, but reversed the murder conviction of a man in the beating death of a Texas Tech University student.

In the April 1975 slaying of Tech engineering student Mike McMahon, Ronald Curtis Chambers was sentenced to death after trial testimony showed he and an accomplice abducted McMahon and a date from a Dallas nightclub.

McMahon, 22, and Dia Sutton, his date, were taken to the Trinity River, where they were clubbed to death with a shotgun after being robbed and shot.

The couple survived the initial attack. But when McMahon called to Miss Sutton to see if she was alive, Chambers and his companion reportedly returned and killed him.

Clarence Ray Williams, Chambers' companion, got a life sentence in the Dallas County case.

The Court of Criminal Appeals said Wednesday it reversed Chambers' conviction because when the trial jury was chosen, the state prosecutor eliminated black jurors and "has failed to establish a 'clear and reasonably specific' racially neutral explanation" for doing so. Chambers is black.

The case was returned to the trial court in a 9-0 decision.

Ginkgo tree leaves have been used for 5,000 years to treat allergies and asthma in China. The active substance has been isolated and synthesized and could lead to a cheaper, more effective drug for these illnesses than any currently available, according to horticulturists at the Dorothy Chapman Fuqua Conservatory in Atlanta.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My 10-month-old son has a cough and congestion. Over-the-counter drops don't help, so we have been back and forth to the doctor for amoxicillin. Should we have a chest X-ray done to see if he has a lung disorder?

DEAR READER: I believe that any youngster with a chronic cough should have a chest X-ray. Sometimes children have low-grade pneumonia, bronchitis or other lung irritation that is not evident on physical examination but will show up as a shadow on the X-ray.

However, your son is under medical supervision, and the pediatrician may have a valid reason for omitting the chest X-ray. Ask the doctor about this and share your concern that your child seems to be chronically ill.

DEAR DR. GOTT: My son and his wife are divorced, and they have one child. The reason for the divorce is that she is bisexual and has affairs with other women. I'm very worried my little grandson will take after his mother or that the problem will crop up in future generations. I feel our bloodline has been contaminated. Please give me some information on this subject.

DEAR READER: Many homosexuals believe they were "born that way" because of genetic inheritance. However, reputable studies have failed to show such an inheritance; homosexual behavior in men and women appears to be learned, probably at an early age. Sexual preference is more likely to be determined by environment than by genes. Therefore, your perception of a "contaminated" bloodline is probably unfounded.

From the tone of your question, I assume you do not approve of your former daughter-in-law's behavior. This is OK; it's your right. However, I think that you must be careful to avoid depreciating her as a person. She is, after all, your grandson's mother, and it's important for him to maintain a good relation with her.

I cannot comment on whether your grandson will become homosexual, but I suspect he will have a more traditional sexual orientation if his new family life is stable and balanced.

You may wish to discuss this matter with the child's pediatrician and obtain family counseling if needed.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I've been told that 2 teaspoons of vinegar and 1 teaspoon of honey taken twice a day will help arthritis and clear the veins of cholesterol. Is this an old wives' tale?

DEAR READER: Alas, yes. Neither vinegar nor honey will help the stiffness and pain of arthritis or reduce cholesterol in the blood. Aspirin (or aspirin substitutes) are far more effective in relieving arthritis symptoms; diet and the vitamin niacin are the standard non-prescription methods of reducing cholesterol. To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Fads II - Herbs and Other Supplements." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

Transportation reps watch toll road plans

LEESBURG, Va. (AP) — Transportation officials at home and abroad are watching plans for a 15-mile stretch of road in congested northern Virginia that the builder says will be the first private U.S. toll road in 30 years.

"I love a traffic jam," said Ralph L. Stanley, former chief of the federal Urban Mass Transportation Administration and president of the Toll Road Corp. of Virginia. "They're all customers to me."

The $155 million road would extend the existing Dulles Toll Road, adding a third east-west route from the Leesburg area to the nation's capital, Stanley said.

"This idea needs a tire-kicking example," said Stanley. "Virginia to me is a case study of what is happening in a lot of other states. It's happening all over the world. It's just a matter of time."

As proposed, the toll would be 8 to 10 cents a mile or about $1.50 for commuters who travel the entire route. It would be eliminated once they had paid for the road, he said. "That's the advantage to it," he said. "The toll would be temporary."

The State Corporation Commission must approve the plan. Stanley said he hoped to hear by Nov. 30.

Stanley said the road could be finished by the end of 1991, 15 months sooner than the state has said it could complete the route. That's because as a private company, Toll Road Corp. would not have to hold bond referendums or open work to competitive bidding.

Another advantage to construction handled by a private company as opposed to the state is ease in acquiring land, Stanley said. Most of the land needed is being donated by property owners who see the need for such a road, he said.

Supporters say allowing a private company to build the road also would mean the state could spend its money on other needed projects.

"People don't care who builds it," Stanley said. "The Virginia Department of Transportation doesn't build roads. They hire the same guys we're hiring to build roads."

State transportation officials acknowledged that the company could build the road faster and at a lower initial cost, but said the road would cost more in the long run because the company must pay higher interest rates than the state.

Ray Pethel, the department's commissioner, said overwhelming public support for the private road outweighed such concerns.

The Virginia General Assembly passed legislation in 1988 allowing private companies to finance and build roads.

Great Britain and Mexico have passed similar laws, as has California, which is now faced with rebuilding roads damaged from last week's earthquake.

Transportation planners aren't the only ones keeping an eye on the proposal.

"We needed it yesterday," said Brian Carroll, who commutes 42 miles from Leesburg to Washington every day.

Even though Carroll is in a van pool, it takes him 90 minutes during rush hour.

"It's pretty much a nightmare," he said. "It takes a long time for that many miles. The roads have not kept up with the growth in that area."

Stanley said he has been approached by officials in other states to build private roads, but for now he is looking for more projects in Virginia such as repairing some of the 2,500 bridges identified by the Department of Transportation as structurally deficient.

In 1946, the United States detonated an atomic bomb at Bikini Atoll in the Pacific in the first underwater test of the device.

Union officials want to take part in probe

PASADENA, Texas (AP) — Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers union officials say they will participate in the investigation of explosions at a Phillips Petroleum Co. plastics plant.

"This is a major explosion and it's a major tragedy with a lot of people dead," said Bob Wages, vice president of the international OCAW's oil section. "It's symptomatic of what's going on in this industry."

"I think companies are concerned about safety, but I think they have competing interests: profit and production," Wages said. "I'm concerned about that."

Five bodies have been recovered and 17 people still missing are believed buried in the rubble left by the explosions, which set the plant on fire Monday afternoon.

Joe Misberner, national president of the Denver-based OCAW, said union officials were to join Phillips and a team of examiners from the Occupational Safety and Health Administration in the investigation.

Union officials said Wednesday they want to make sure there were no safety violations at the plant and that overwork didn't contribute to the disaster.

Wages, who met with hundreds of Phillips employees at the local 4-227 center, said employees are worried that long hours, staff shortages and an abundance of contract workers have led to unsafe conditions at many of the nation's refining plants.

"People don't feel that there's been adequate attention to safety," said Clay Howell, a 14-year Phillips employee and union man. "We've had too many contractors, people not familiar with work areas, and people working too many hours. There's been a freeze on hiring and yet an increase in production."

"I am concerned about safety, but I feel we have a pretty good safety record out there," added Bud Ramirez, a Phillips employee and union member. "My biggest concern is to see that everybody is taken care of and I think the union will stand behind us on that."

Wages said the union will try to negotiate with Phillips to get reassignments and other job assurances for workers while the firm rebuilds the plastics complex.

Wages said the union's contract with Phillips already provides that workers be given 60 days notice before a layoff, so company officials have not conceded any benefits by announcing they will provide two months' wages to plant employees.

District 4-4A chase resumes

Snyder-Sweetwater battle highlights loop grid schedule

By PHIL RIDDLE
 SDN Sports Editor

Four contests are on tap Friday night as District 4-4A action heats up in the fourth week of competition.

Sweetwater, 2-1 in loop play and 4-2 overall, travels to Snyder to tangle with the 2-1, 2-4 Tigers, last place Ft. Stockton is at offensive powerhouse Monahans, also rans Andrews and Lake View square-off in San Angelo and circuit leader Big Spring, undefeated in three starts, is at Pecos.

Sweetwater at Snyder

The Sweetwater Mustangs and Snyder's Tigers are both coming off impressive wins in District 4-4A, but if either is to entertain post-season hopes, they have to win Friday night's contest pitting the two teams.

Snyder hasn't beaten the Mustangs in the 80's with the last SHS victory coming in 1979. The Tigers were 24-0 winners that year and have not been able to get past Sweetwater since.

Each squad is 2-1 in loop competition with Sweetwater's loss being to Big Spring two weeks ago, 36-15, in Mustang Bowl.

The Tigers' circuit loss was to San Angelo Lake View three Fridays past, 24-23.

Sweetwater is 4-2 on the year and Snyder stands at 2-4 after a shaky start that saw the Tigers drop three in a row by a single point.

Oct. 27 games
 Sweetwater at Snyder
 Ft. Stockton at Monahans
 Andrews at San Angelo Lake View
 Big Spring at Pecos

Snyder's last game was their most impressive this season as they trounced the Ft. Stockton Panthers, 34-8, unveiling Randy Morris, last season's quarterback for Snyder, as a wide receiver.

Morris caught a pair of 20-yard scoring passes from QB Toby Goodwin in the space of about a minute in Friday's contest, giving the Black and Gold a 14-0 lead in the first quarter.

Snyder's defenders did their share, too, as they held the Panthers to just 62 yards of offense. Only one yard of the Panthers' total output was on the ground and 34 of the 61 passing yards were added on a single play.

After last week's defensive showing, the Tigers took over the top spot in team defense in the district.

Linebacker Tommy Lane was a wild man in Ft. Stockton registering five quarterback traps, causing a fumble, recovering a fumble and leading the team in tackles with 10.

Sweetwater outgained their opponents, Pecos' Eagles 259 to 232 yards last week.

Kiley Anglin snapped off an 82 yard opening kick-off return for the hosts and the Red and White never looked back.

The Mustang defensive unit claimed a fumble and six interceptions of Pecos tosses.

Sweetwater holds a 26-10 edge in the last 42 games between the two units with the combatants tying six times.

Big Spring at Pecos

The Steers are currently undefeated in loop competition with wins over Monahans, Sweetwater and San Angelo Lake View. Big Spring scored 50 points in their win over the Chiefs last week allowing just 14.

The Big Spring offensive unit is averaging over 330 yards of offense per game and they boast the leading passer in the district, Rance Thompson, who has thrown for 828 yards in 1989. He has tossed eight TD passes and thrown just four interceptions.

The Big Spring defense is currently third among loop members, giving up just over 233 yards per contest.

Pecos experienced the Sweetwater Mustangs first-hand last week falling 44-8.

Pecos is next to last in team defense allowing over 270 yards per contest while their offense, which has been able to net but three wins in '89, has gained about 245 yards.

The prime threat of the Eagles comes from QB Monty Medanich who is in second place among loop passers.

He has completed 36 of 76 passes for 710 yards and seven scores.

Andrews at Lake View

The Mustangs were tabbed by district coaches to be the team to beat in 1989.

They have, however, struggled to a 2-4 overall record and are resting in sixth place with a 1-2 slate on the circuit.

Andrews, surprisingly, is in third position offensively in District 4-4A, averaging 278 yards per game.

Their defensive unit is rated fourth, allowing about 260 yards.

Andrews quarterback Robert Morris has been bothered by interceptions, giving up four of them and throwing for only one TD in the first six games.

Tailback Kelly Cornejo, who led the league in rushing two weeks ago, has fallen to sixth position with 332 yards on 55 carries.

Lake View has a single win this season, a 24-23 come from behind affair, over Snyder.

The Chiefs have fallen into seventh position out of eight teams in offense, and are dead last in team defense.

They gain an average of just 183.3 yards per week and give up almost 400.

Lake View's chief offensive weapon is the Cory Stephens to Joe Barquera pass.

Stephens has thrown for 596 yards this season and Barquera has 310 of those yards in receptions.

Ft. Stockton at Monahans

The Panthers lacked any spark at all in last week's 34-8 loss to Snyder.

The loss dropped Ft. Stockton to 0-6 on the year and 0-3 in the district.

The Panthers are ranked last in offense gaining a paltry 173.3 yards per game.

Their defense is giving up about 260 yards per contest to be ranked in the middle of the field in 4-4A.

Quarterback Shannon Beeles leads the squad, having passed for 456 yards and rushing for 119 more.

Monahans flexed their muscles last week pounding out a 38-20 win over Andrews.

The Lobos are in second place in the district with a 2-1 mark, their only loss coming at the hands of Big Spring in week one of loop competition.

Monahans is gaining a whopping 318 yards weekly, while their defensive unit holds the opponents to 264.

Monahans field general Steve Ward has completed 32 of 74 passes for 554 yards this year.

His top receiver is Jody Carrasco who has gathered in nine passes for 155 yards.

Monahans' leading rusher is Joey Munoz who has piled up 336 yards overland in 52 attempts.

All games scheduled in District 4-4A Friday night will kick-off at 8 p.m.

Only one six-man tilt on tap Friday

Borden County will be the only area six-man team in action this week as Hermleigh's season-ending injury plague resulted in another open date and a win by forfeit for Ira, who was to have hosted the Cardinals this week.

Hermleigh's homecoming contest against loop foe Highland was called in the third period Saturday when Chris Velasco received a cracked arm, leaving just five players available to the Red and White.

Wayne Reynolds, Manuel Castillo and Chip Collier are other Cardinal gridders injured and unable to play.

Reynolds has a broken collarbone, Collier a fractured leg and Castillo is in serious condition in Humana Hospital in Abilene following a head injury that required emergency brain surgery to remove a blood clot.

Ira will have an extra week to prepare for defending district champion Trent. The Gorillas will be in Ira Nov. 3.

The win by default leaves Ira's season mark at 4-5, while the Bulldogs are now 2-1 in the district.

Borden County will celebrate homecoming with a grid matchup against Dawson.

Dawson, 0-2 in District 6A and 2-5 overall, were pounded by first place and undefeated Sands last week, 46-0.

The Coyotes were 30-20 winners over Klondike a week ago, setting their season mark at 5-1-1, while they are 2-0 in loop competition.

Pee-wee All-Stars in annual contests

The football season for Boy's Club team members nears its end with the playing of the annual All-Star games Saturday, Oct. 28, with battles beginning at 6 p.m.

The pee-wee gridders in the 9-10 year age group will participate in two games. The kick-offs will be at 6 p.m. and 7 p.m.

The 11-12 year Senior League All-Stars will kick-off at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Tickets for the pee-wee games cost $2 for adults and $1 for students.

The event is a fund-raising effort for the Boys Club.

"The proceeds of the games go to our athletic program so we don't have to use United Way funds for our athletic program", said Boys Club activities director, Jack McGlaun.

All games are to be played at Travis Field.

Following Saturday's clashes teams will be selected from each age group to compete against the Crossroads All-Stars, consisting of players from Big Spring, Coahoma and Forson.

The Snyder-Crossroads tilt is scheduled for Saturday, Nov. 18, at Steer Stadium in Big Spring.

Owners' group to pick Rozelle's replacement

CLEVELAND (AP) — NFL owners have once again resorted to their standard solution for finding a new commissioner.

When in doubt, appoint a committee.

After 50 hours of debate during three meetings since July 6 — including 19½ hours over the last two days — the deadlocked owners decided on the committee approach. The idea is to try to break the deadlock between adherents of Jim Finks and Paul Tagliabue by getting the four main antagonists together with one relative neutral and asking them to decide between the two candidates.

If the committee can't agree, that would apparently kill the candidacies of the men considered by most owners as the best qualified to replace the retiring Pete Rozelle.

"We felt that it might be easier for five men to reach a unanimous decision than 28," said Rozelle, who announced his resignation 219 days ago and warned this week that he might walk away if the impasse isn't ended.

The five include the chairman, Dan Rooney of Pittsburgh, who has voted for both candidates and abstained during the 11 ballots that have failed to resolve the deadlock.

The other four were described both by Rozelle and other owners as the hardest-liners on each side — Old Guard and New Guard — whose differences are more important than their feelings toward the candidates. In fact, a majority of owners could probably agree on either Finks or Tagliabue if they could agree among themselves on the future of the league.

On one side are Wellington Mara of the New York Giants and Art Modell of Cleveland, both close to Rozelle and both active in league affairs for almost three decades. On the other are Patrick Bowlen of Denver and Mike Lynn of Minnesota, who represent a group of newer and younger owners seeking more power within the league.

Co-ed church league forms

Deadline for registration into the newly formed church co-ed volleyball league has been extended until Friday.

Team representatives should have gotten their squads registered by that day.

For more information or to sign up call 573-5248 or go by 104 33rd St. or 507 29th St.

Hall of Famer Rogers Hornsby had a lifetime batting average of .358 but only hit .245 in World Series play.

DWI arrest

State highway patrolmen arrested a 56-year-old man for DWI at 10:30 p.m. Wednesday at Huffman Ave. and U.S. 84 in northern Snyder.

They said the man was taken into custody at the scene of an accident on which the Department of Public Safety report had not been completed.

Noted artist of the Southwest found slain

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Manuel G. Acosta, a painter who was one of the Southwest's premier artists, was found beaten to death in his home, El Paso Police say.

Police Lt. Paul Saucedo said Acosta's body was found in the front room of his by a nephew Wednesday evening.

Saucedo said no arrests have been made in connection with the slaying of the 68-year-old man. He also said officers have not been able to determine if Acosta's home was burglarized.

The artist was apparently beaten on the head with a blunt object and may have been dead "probably close to 12 hours," Saucedo added.

Acosta's van was missing when police found Acosta's body, Saucedo said.

John Meigs, a prominent Southwestern painter who lives in San Patricio, N.M., praised Acosta as "the finest Southwestern artist of this century."

"He was the only painter who painted the barrio with such intensity and knowledge," said Meigs, who had known Acosta 40 years and painted several murals with him.

Pete Duarte, a longtime friend of Acosta and director of El Paso's La Fe Clinic, said, "He wasn't just a friend of the arts. He was a friend of the little person, the power elite — a legacy in his own time, a living legend, bigger than the Franklin Mountians."

"And his inspiration will always live with us. He belonged to all of us, not just to the arts," Duarte said.

State Rep. Paul Moreno, D-El Paso, expressed shock and disbelief upon hearing of Acosta's death.

"This is terrible, terrible. I've known him many, many years, since I was a youngster," Moreno said. "I never heard anyone say a bad word against him."

"He was the first recognized artist that came out of the barrio," Moreno added. "He came from a humble background, and remained humble."

Five Texas Democrats help Bush sustain abortion veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Albert Bustamante says impoverished victims of rape and incest who will be denied federally funded abortions because the House failed to override the president's veto of such aid may be forced to end their pregnancies in Mexico or with "medieval" methods.

"This means they'll go to the midwife, the curandero (faith healer) or across the border, or resort to other things, medieval types of things, like the clothes hanger. This will happen, especially all over those areas where the very poor are sexually abused," Bustamante said Wednesday.

"Why the president will not sensitize himself to these issues is beyond me," said Bustamante, a San Antonio Democrat and former migrant worker.

Bustamante and 10 other Texas

Democrats voted to override the president's veto Wednesday, but proponents of the legislation failed to muster the necessary two-thirds margin.

Five Texas Democrats voted to sustain the president — Reps. Ralph Hall, Greg Laughlin, Marvin Leath, Bill Sarpalis and Charlie Stenholm, along with seven of the state's eight Republican congressmen.

The eighth Republican, Rep. Lamar Smith of San Antonio, was not present, as were Democratic Reps. Jack Brooks of Beaumont, who is hospitalized, and Kika de la Garza of Mission.

Republican Rep. Dick Army of Copper Canyon said he does not buy claims that the bill's failure would force poor women into having back-alley abortions. The government has banned for the past eight years federal spending on abortions for poor women, except when the mother's life is at stake.

"There's an awful lot of rhetoric, an awful lot of inflammatory rhetoric here ... overblown rhetoric," Army said.

Stenholm said he thought the funding provision was "too broadly written" to earn his override vote.

"I believe that there are circumstances in which abortion may be justified — certainly when the life of the mother is in danger, in cases of rape and incest, where narrowly defined, to that (an abortion) is done at a very early stage of pregnancy," Stenholm said. "I felt this one (bill) was too open."

Laughlin, a West Columbia Democrat who helped Bush sustain the veto, said he was concerned the bill had "no procedure to prevent abortion on demand."

Occult drawings among few clues in mystery girl's case

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — A possible birth date, a California connection and a few drawings of occult symbols are among the few clues to the identity of a deaf teen-age girl who may have spent years in the hands of kidnappers.

The girl — who turned up, frightened and confused, at an elementary school five weeks ago — has been in protective custody while the FBI tried to piece together her story and find any relatives or friends.

"From some of the drawings she was able to provide, it is believed that some of the people she was with since her abduction may have been tied to the occult," FBI agent Paul Cavanagh said Wednesday.

The frightened girl appeared Sept. 18 at William B. Jack

Elementary School and told a teacher through sign language she needed help. The teacher took her to a school for the deaf, and in the following weeks, psychologists and investigators have been gathering bits of her story through sign interviews and her drawings.

She says her name is Toby Cole, but adds that may just be the name given her by her kidnappers.

It appears she was kidnapped from a foster home in California about three years ago by a man in a van, Cavanagh said. She was moved around the country, and perhaps into Canada, he said.

She has drawn symbols associated with the occult.

"With the emotional stress she was under, she can't be pushed," Cavanagh said from Boston.

"She's communicated that she's been abducted, and we have no reason to believe otherwise."

She believes she was born Dec. 25, 1974, which would make her 14.

She's described as Caucasian, about 5 feet tall and 105 pounds, with wavy blond or light brown hair and blue eyes.

The FBI is checking clues in northern California and elsewhere, but there aren't any missing persons reports that seem to match the case, Cavanagh said.

"Toby seems to possess a good vocabulary and is far ahead of children in her age bracket in intelligence and communication skills," he said.

Bakker adjusting to prison

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Jim Bakker seems to be adjusting to a lifestyle much different from the one he lived as the leader of a multimillion-dollar religious empire.

Instead of silk, the PTL founder wears an orange jumpsuit, and he changed more luxurious quarters for a cell shared with another inmate.

Still, "he was in good spirits this morning when I met with him," said Brian Ross, a spokesman at the medium-security Talladega Federal Correctional Institution where Bakker on Wednesday served the first full day of his 45-year sentence.

Bakker arrived at the facility Tuesday night in handcuffs and shackles after a six-hour drive from Charlotte, N.C., where a federal judge banished him immediately to prison after imposing the sentence and a $500,000 fine.

Bakker was convicted Oct. 5 of defrauding thousands of followers of his television ministry.

"He's settling in," Ross said. "He's adjusting and becoming familiar with his surroundings. He's doing fine."

Bakker was assigned to a two-man cell. Prison officials would not reveal his cellmate's identity.

Ross said Bakker made some telephone calls Wednesday morning and exercised. He would not disclose if Bakker had spoken with his wife, Tammy Faye Bakker, or other family members.

The Bakkers' new television ministry in Orlando, Fla., has been suspended, but the storefront church they had been running in a shopping mall remains open. Mrs. Bakker and guest ministers were expected to conduct Sunday services.

Mrs. Bakker, who did not attend Tuesday's sentencing, was staying with friends in the Orlando area and did not make herself available to reporters.

Bakker's lawyer, Harold Bender, said prejudicial pretrial publicity will be the key issue on appeal, which he filed Tuesday.

Moreover, he said, Bakker's sentence is excessive. "We believe because of his celebrity status that the sentence was in the range that it was," he told CBS News Wednesday.

Ross said no additional security measures were planned during Bakker's stay at the prison, which often is the first stop for prisoners in the Southeast. He is expected to stay there no more than two weeks before he is transferred to another federal prison, which officials declined to reveal.

Ross said Bakker's family and attorneys can visit the defrocked TV evangelist for three evenings during the week and all day on weekends. Bakker also will be able to attend religious services on Sunday.

More AZT will be available for kids

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government will allow wider distribution to children of AZT, the only government-approved anti-AIDS drug, Health and Human Services Secretary Louis Sullivan announced today.

Brady urges more market reforms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Treasury Secretary Nicholas Brady today called on Congress to make additional reforms in the way financial markets are regulated, saying the Securities and Exchange Commission should be empowered to halt trading in times of emergencies.

The SEC's chairman has said he does not want such authority.

In his first testimony to Congress since the Oct. 13 market slide, Brady said the financial turmoil had not altered his belief in the soundness of the U.S. economy. But he said it did point up the need for further changes in market regulation.

The power to halt market trading now rests solely with the president. Brady's support for giving this authority to the SEC is at odds with the recommendation from SEC Chairman Richard C. Breiden, who told Congress on Wednesday that his agency does not need or want the power to halt trading.
