Band wins at district; region next

Snyder High School's marching band easily qualified for regional competition Saturday in Abilene, with judge's unanimous "1" ratings and encouraging comments buoying optimism that the "Pride of the West" will reach the state level this year for the first time since 1985.

Only two of the six bands in its classification advanced to regional, and the same process will be used Saturday in Wichita Falls' Memorial Stadium to determine which bands go to January 20...

Roll-back election date set

Scurry County Commissioners set Jan. 20 as the date for a tax roll-back election after accepting a petition bearing the signatures of 1,304 registered voters this morning.

County Clerk Frances Billingsley presented the petition, which she received Oct. 16 and finished verifying Oct. 23. Billingsley said 1,453 names originally appeared on the petition, but only 1,304 were certified.

The petition seeks a roll back of the county ad valorem tax rate from 39.80 to 34.75 cents per $100 valuation.

The Jan. 20 date was selected because it is the next uniform election date within the time frame set forth by law, no sooner than 30 days and no later than 90 days following certification.

Proposed Amendment No. 17

Below continues the series outlining the 21 proposed constitutional amendments which will be offered for voter ratification on the Nov. 7, 1989, general election ballot.

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION 33: would allow the legislature to authorize by general law the use of public money to provide certain assistance to local fire departments and other public fire-fighting organizations and allow the use of public money for the administrative costs of the assistance program.

Additional Information
The assistance could take the form of scholarships and grants for education and training and loans or other financial assistance for the purchase of fire-fighting equipment and facilities or equipment required by law.

H.B. 708 will take effect if the amendment is approved by voters. H.B. 708 would create the Fire Department Emergency Board which will administer the fire department emergency program and make the loans, grants, scholarships and other financial assistance available to applying local fire departments and other public fire-fighting organizations.

FOR: Adequate fire protection is a public necessity that should not be denied to areas with inadequate fire protection. (see AMENDMENT, page 9)

Commissioners also accepted a quarterly report provided by Rita Staton, county treasurer. She said the only major change is in Cogdell Memorial Hospital's operating fund, which is "looking better."

Staton said that Texas Department of Corrections has begun reimbursing the hospital for expenses it incurred before operations at the Price Daniel Unit began. She also said interest in county investment funds has dropped during the third quarter because some money has been drawn out to cover accounts payable.

interest earned on the Super N.O.W. Accounts is $6,064.19. The third quarter totals bring the year-to-date interest earned to $296,866.35.

In other business, Cogdell Memorial Hospital administrator Tom Hochwalt approached commissioners asking for appointment of an accountant to perform the annual external audit of the hospital. Commissioners directed County Auditor Linda Franklin to speak with interested accountants and seek proposals for performing financial audits of both the hospital and the county for 1989.

Commissioners also accepted the minutes of the Oct. 23 meeting and approved bills payable for the week.

To free hostages...

U.S. relations with Tehran favored

NEW YORK (AP) — A decade after the Iran hostage crisis gripped the nation, most Americans favor normalizing relations with Tehran if it would win the release of U.S. hostages in Lebanon, a national poll has found.

Even while respondents supported such a deal, eight in 10 in the Media General-Associated Press poll believed Iran supports world terrorism, and roughly half regarded it as an enemy of the United States.

Nearly three-quarters believed Iran controls the groups holding American hostages in Lebanon, and 61 percent said Washington should offer to resume normal relations if Tehran used its influence to get the Americans freed.

Support was somewhat lower for releasing Iranian assets now locked in U.S. banks if Iran got the hostages out, with 50 percent in favor. Iran offered last week to help free the hostages if the money were released.

Eighteen Westerners, including eight Americans, are held in Lebanon, most of them by groups believed to be loyal to Iran. It is unclear to what extent Iran controls the captors.

Poll respondents divided evenly on the idea of direct negotiations with the hostage takers, but most favored indirect negotiations. A majority also favored military action, but that shrank to a minority if the hostages might be killed in the effort.

Iran and the United States have been estranged since Nov. 4, 1979, when Iranian students, apparently with official support, seized the U.S. embassy in Tehran and took 52 Americans hostage there.

Q—Will Snyder police have any extra officers on duty for Halloween?

A—A department spokesman said extra officers will be assigned to patrol during Halloween night, "just trying to maintain safety for the kids."

In Brief

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1989 Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I take strong issue with your response to "Wrong-Way Housewife." Daily experience convinces me that a sense of direction is either inborn or not, on an individual basis. I have always had it — my husband has not. And lest you assume he is "slow-witted," he has an IQ exceeding 150 and was a high-ranking military officer in a position requiring exemplary map-reading skills. He also has an MBA. By his own admission, he has absolutely no sense of direction. He has striven all his life to overcome this failing, to no avail. This is a man who has the willpower of a bull and intelligence approaching genius level, so please don't tell him to "try harder."

THE FAMILY NAVIGATOR
IN SCOTTSDALE

DEAR ABBY: Usually you're right on course, but your answer to "Wrong-Way Housewife" was 180 degrees off course.

A sense of direction is a right-brain function, and some of us are more left-brained than right-brained. Case in point: My husband and our oldest son are very good at directions — they always know where north is and can get anywhere with no problem. They both tend to be right-brained people. My younger son and I barely know left from right and find directions impossible to follow. We tend to be left-brained people.

Abby, please be a little more sympathetic to the ones who have this problem. It's no fun, believe me.

WRONG-WAY KENNEDY

DEAR ABBY: While I was driving, my wife awoke from a sound sleep to tell me that I had made a wrong turn!

I can get lost in a revolving door, but my wife has an unerring sense of direction. Those of us without it know that to keep from getting lost is not, as you said, "Simply a matter of paying attention." The fact of the matter is that many of us have to work twice as hard to get lost only half as often.

THE REV. RAYMOND J. HOWE,
ST. PETER'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH, TUNKHANNOCK, PA.

DEAR ABBY: You should have checked with your experts before telling "Wrong-Way Housewife" that anyone can find his way if he just charts his course, then concentrates on staying on it. A neuropsychologist would have probably told you that there are people who confuse left and right due to an inborn learning disability or a minor brain injury.

It's not a matter of intelligence, either. When I go to a large shopping mall and park my car in one of those enormous parking lots, I practically have to leave a trail of bread crumbs in order to get back to my car. I am fairly bright; I'm a member of Mensa, Phi Beta Kappa and a champion contract bridge player.

GETS LOST A LOT
IN COLUMBUS, OHIO

DEAR ABBY: I can't believe you told "Wrong-Way Housewife" to "try harder."

Abby, her problem could be the result of a minor accident, or even something she was born with — in which case, no amount of "trying" can help her. It's like saying, "Abby, you could be a great opera singer, or a ballet dancer, or a gold medal Olympic winner, if you would just try harder."

Come on, Abigail, get real.
DISAPPOINTED IN YOU

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: All right, I'll take my lumps. I said, "No one is born with a sense of direction," which I still think is true. But I should have gone on to say that many people are born without one, due to a learning disability.

So, give me a break, and give me a charitable "D minus" on that one.

Dear Abby's Cookbooklet is a collection of favorite recipes — all tested, tried and terrific! To order, send your name and address, plus check or money order for $3.50 ($4 in Canada) to: Abby's Cookbooklet, P.O. Box 447, Mount Morris, Ill. 61054. (Postage is included.)

Tourism reviving after Hugo

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Nearly six weeks after Hurricane Hugo hit, horse carriages are clopping through city streets, golfers are back on the links, and tourism officials have begun a campaign to lure tourists back.

"We want to create an awareness that we weren't wiped off the face of the Earth," says Helen Stansell of the Charleston Trident Chamber of Commerce.

Hugo, which cut a swath of destruction along more than half of the state's 187-mile coastline on Sept. 21, resulted in an estimated $200 million loss to the state's $4.7 billion a year tourism industry. The industry provides 98,000 jobs and $280 million annually in state tax revenues.

"What we had hoped for was an 8 percent growth on $4.7 billion spending in 1988," said Bob Liming, tourism director for the state Department of Parks, Recreation and Tourism.

"What we're looking at now is a growth of 3 to 4 percent," he said. "We did have a very good summer and the first part of the fall was good from Labor Day until the storm hit."

State and local tourism groups are telling U.S. and Canadian travel agents that travel spots are open. Myrtle Beach officials are raising $500,000 for a national advertising campaign.

In the Myrtle Beach area, 62 of the area's 63 golf courses are open. Hilton Head Island and other tourist points south of Charleston sustained little, if any damage.

In Charleston, about 95 percent of the 10,000 tourist rooms are open, and most of the area's more than 500 restaurants have reopened, Ms. Stansell said.

The annual candlelight tour of historic homes is scheduled for next month, and Fort Sumter in Charleston Harbor, where the first shots of the Civil War were fired, reopened to visitors last week.

"The Number 1 reason people come to Charleston is because of the historic appeal. We were fortunate we didn't lose any of that," she said.

Nearby Ashley River plantation museums have reopened.

Post-storm reports that Middleton Place plantation was destroyed were exaggerated, apparently when reporters flying over it thought the ruins left by Sherman's troops in the Civil War were from Hugo.

At the Patriots Point maritime museum in Mount Pleasant, across the Cooper River from Charleston, the storm knocked the 27,100-ton aircraft carrier Yorktown into a pier. Still, the museum reopened about 1½ weeks later.

Some attractions will take longer to recover.

Boone Hall Plantation in Mount Pleasant isn't expected to reopen until around Thanksgiving, and Charleston Landing State Park will remain closed until at least January, said Ms. Stansell.

The worst damage was on the state's beachfront, where Hugo washed away homes and condominiums. But most major hotels survived and the beach season is over for the year.

Wild Dunes resort on the Isle of Palms again plans to play host to the U.S. Clay Courts tennis championship in the spring, officials said.

And Hilton Head Island escaped unscathed, although cancellations in the wake of Hugo resulted in an estimated $2.5 million loss.

The state has embarked on a plan to restore beaches in the Myrtle Beach area with Gov. Carroll Campbell promising that tourists next year will find those beaches in better shape than before the storm.

Publicity about the storm ironically may prove a boon.

"What we're finding is that people who didn't know South Carolina had so much beach and so many historic sites do now," said Liming.

Town grieves over airplane crash that killed 20 persons

HONOLULU (AP) — A small island grieved over the loss of 13 residents, including members of a high school volleyball team, who were among 20 people killed in a twin-engine commuter plane crash.

A National Transportation Safety Board team left Sunday from Washington, D.C., for the island of Molokai to investigate the cause of the crash, which killed all aboard. A six-person NTSB team was expected at the site today.

The Aloha IslandAir DH6Twin

Otter crashed into the wall of Halawa Valley on the eastern end of the island, just below the ridgeline and about 700 feet above the valley floor, Coast Guard spokesman Scott Hartvigsen said.

The cause of the crash was not known.

Rescuers recovered 20 bodies from the charred wreckage of the plane on Sunday. Fire rescue teams used helicopters to ferry the bodies back to Kahului Airport on the island of Maui, said Maui Deputy Fire Chief Leroy Hokoana said. The islands are separated by 10-mile-wide Pailolo Channel.

The victims included eight members of Molokai High School's volleyball teams, the coach of the girl's team and the school's athletic director, Principal Clifford Horita said. Three other island residents also were killed.

Horita said school would be held today, but he planned to arrange a special morning assembly to help students cope with the tragedy.

And get an earful...

Communists organize a rally

BERLIN (AP) — At a remarkable open forum, East Berliners stood before an open mike and said what once might have landed them in jail, jeering Communist leaders and calling on them to account for a host of misdeeds and blunders.

At least 20,000 people attended Sunday's rally, which was organized by the mayor of the East German capital to address calls for reform that have reached a fever-pitch this month.

Similar meetings were organized in other cities across the country.

At the request of a person who stepped up to one microphone at the gathering outside East Berlin's old City Hall, the crowd observed a minute of silence for those killed while attempting to escape over the Berlin Wall.

"We have to remember those who lost their lives in the minefields and along the barbed wire and in the waters of the Spree River just because once in their lives they wanted to see another part of the world," said the unidentified man.

It was the first such public mourning since Communist authorities built the wall in 1961 to prevent East Germans from escaping to the West. West German human rights groups say 191 people were killed trying to flee East Germany from 1961 to 1988.

One worker demanded the Wall be torn down. "It's time we were allowed to go where we want," he said.

The man who supervised construction of the wall, Erich

Honecker, ruled East Germany for 18 years until being replaced nearly two weeks ago.

The new Communist chief, Egon Krenz, has promised "a new course" for the country, including freer travel to the West and an amnesty for people jailed for trying to escape what has been a tightly-controlled society.

East Germans have taken to the streets by the hundreds of thousands this month to demand a more open society with free elections, a free press and an end to one-party rule. Since mid-September, more than 50,000 have fled to the West, many of them young skilled workers.

Texas inmates stage sit-in EDEN, Texas (AP) — Inmates who staged a sit-in at a West Texas federal correctional facility broke off negotiations with prison officials early today over changes in exercise time and other grievances.

About 200 inmates began the peaceful demonstration Sunday but by about 4 a.m. today, only about 75 prisoners remained in the Eden detention facility's inner compound, said prison spokesman Roy Burns.

Relatives: patriarch was 122

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Survivors of a family patriarch who fathered 15 children say his name belongs in the record books for being the world's oldest person before his death this fall.

But, so far, Arthur Cooper's relatives haven't been able to prove his claim.

Cooper said he was born in 1866. Family members insist that he was right, in spite of conflicting evidence that he may have been only 106 or 119.

His relatives say that he had lived well beyond the 120 years, 237 days the "1989 Guinness Book of World Records" lists as the oldest authenticated age.

Family members have tried for nearly 30 years to prove Cooper's claim. Cooper and his wife, Bess, who died last January at age 81, had 15 children, 89 grandchildren, 126 great-grandchildren and 10 great-great-grandchildren.

"You were born and a lady come and delivered you. And they didn't turn in no records," said Lois Tealer, 50, sitting with her sister, Katherine McLin, 64, reminiscing about their father earlier this month.

Cooper, born in Greenwood, Miss., died Sept. 20 — just short of his Oct. 26 birthday. A house fire during Woodrow Wilson's presidency claimed a family Bible that might have shown his true birth date.

Relatives say there was no particular secret to Cooper's longevity. He didn't drink. He smoked a pipe, but only as a young man. His favorite foods were eggs over easy and squirrel soup, preferring freshly caught varieties.

Annie McDonald, 45, has traveled to the rural counties of her parents' youth, interviewing county clerks and older folks who might give clues to her father's past. She is the Coopers' 12th daughter.

Mrs. McDonald is preparing a biography with the anecdotes. But among evidence, she only uncovered birth certificates prepared in the 1930s that make Arthur Cooper younger than some of his siblings. No one disputes that he was the oldest of 13 children born to Jim and Rosie Cooper, former slaves.

"The record that we found down in Panola County showed he was 89 — younger than his third brother. So that record is definitely off," said Mrs. McDonald, who lives in Denver and was visiting her sisters in Lubbock.

Mrs. McDonald has vowed to continue her quest.

"I feel that he deserves to get the age that he suffered and had to go through," Mrs. McDonald told The Dallas Morning News, "and I'm not going to stop."

A good contract founders

By James Jacoby

Does a reverse bid by opener on 13 high-card points seem overdue? Perhaps, but South rightly upgraded his cards when North made a two-diamond response to the one-heart opening. Since North had nothing extra, he was quick to sign off at game. The bidding was fine, but declarer foundered in the play.

South ruffed the second club. At first glance, it seems that he could lose two diamond tricks and still make his contract by shedding losing spades on the long diamond winners. So he played ace of hearts and a heart to the king. When East showed out, the situation changed. With West holding length in trumps, declarer should now play East for the key diamond honors (passing the nine of diamonds and continuing the suit would still succeed), but South played instead to his diamond king and then back. So the defenders took two diamond tricks, and the long trump in the West hand became the setting trick later.

Declarer should recognize that he needs the trumps in dummy for ruffing purposes. After ruffing the second club, he should lead a diamond to dummy's queen. East wins and plays another club. Declarer ruffs and can now make the contract without pain by playing K-A of spades, ruffing a spade and returning to his hand with the diamond king to ruff another spade. West winds up ruffing his partner's jack of diamonds at the finish, and declarer makes 10 tricks.

But runoff likely...

Poll: Hall leads Washington

HOUSTON (AP) — A newspaper's poll shows that City Councilman Anthony Hall leads in the race to fill the U.S. House seat left vacant by the death of Mickey Leland but a runoff is likely.

The Houston Chronicle, in a copyright poll for today's editions, reports that Hall and Sen. Craig Washington appear destined to meet in a runoff to decide the special election.

The poll showed that Hall has the support of 32 percent and Washington 24 percent of registered voters surveyed Oct.

21-25 in the 18th Congressional District.

Two other Democratic officeholders in the 11-candidate field, state Reps. Ron Wilson and Al Edwards, were far behind with 7 percent and 6 percent respectively, according to poll results.

Voters unsure of their choice totaled 30 percent, with the other seven, lesser-known candidates sharing 1 per cent. The newspaper said its margin of error is plus or minus 6 percentage points.

"Hall has opened up a statistically meaningful lead, but it looks like he's going to fall short of winning without a runoff," University of Houston political scientist Richard Murray said. He directed the survey through the UH Center for Public Policy.

Asked about a hypothetical runoff between Hall and Washington, 39 percent of the respondents chose Hall while 29 percent chose Washington, with 32 percent unsure or refusing to answer.

The poll surveyed 372 voters in the district who said they would likely vote on Nov. 7.

Mexican citizen says he had to kill artist

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — A 20-year-old Mexican citizen arrested by police in this city south of the Texas border told officers he killed an artist who had allegedly assaulted him sexually.

Cesar Najera Flores was arrested by Chihuahua State Judicial Police at 6 a.m. Sunday at his home in an impoverished colonia southeast of Juarez. Najera was wearing the artist's shoes when he was arrested, judicial police said.

Najera was charged in Juarez with murder and robbery in a foreign country in the death of artist Manuel Acosta, according to Jose Refugio Rubalcava, head of the State Judicial Police in Juarez.

Najera will go before a judge today on the Mexican federal charges, said Rubalcava. Authorities found Acosta, 68, bludgeoned to death Wednesday evening in his El Paso home.

Police in El Paso, across the Rio Grande from Juarez, contend robbery was the primary motive for the murder. Longtime friends of Acosta question Najera's version of events surrounding the slaying.

"I just kept thinking of what he did to me, and I just had to kill him," Najera told reporters in an interview.

Najera faces up to 40 years in prison if convicted on the charge. The Mexican government traditionally has refused to extradite Mexican nationals to face trial in other countries.

In the United States, Najera could face the death penalty if convicted in Texas of murder during a robbery.

Najera told reporters at state judicial police headquarters in Juarez that his resentment and anger toward Acosta exploded after a two-day drinking bout.

"I was drunk and I couldn't stand it anymore," Najera said. "I just kept thinking of what he did to me and I just had to kill him. I'm not a homosexual. I have a wife and 2-year-old son."

Public Notice

On October 18, 1989, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (SWB) intends to file an application with the Public Utility Commission (PUC) of Texas to add a new service offering for business customers, called Consolidated Billing (CSB). The proposed effective date for this offering is December 4, 1989.

Consolidated Billing allows the business customer to combine an unlimited number of accounts within a single Revenue Accounting Office (RAO). Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's RAOs in Texas are located in Dallas, Houston and San Antonio. This service will establish a common billing date for each of those accounts so that they may receive one bill each month. Each customer account is tied together for billing purposes, but retains its own identity and level of detail.

PROPOSED RATES

There is no monthly rate associated with Consolidated Billing. However, a nonrecurring charge of $15.00 will be applied to establish a Consolidated Billing arrangement. An additional $15.00 nonrecurring charge will apply for each account which is incorporated into the Consolidated Billing arrangement.

Consolidated Billing (CSB) has been forecasted to generate an increase in first year annual revenues of approximately $581,733.

Persons who wish to comment on this application should notify the Commission by November 24, 1989. Requests for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or you may call the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Coach suspended after gridder hurt

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — The football coach at San Antonio Roosevelt has been suspended with pay pending an investigation into an alleged clipboard-throwing incident that injured the Rough Riders' starting quarterback.

John Ferrara was suspended late Saturday, hours after allegedly injuring star quarterback Mike Coolbaugh during halftime of the Rough Riders' 28-0 loss to Converse Judson.

Roosevelt Principal Mark Scheffler handed down the suspension, pending an investigation today by officials of the North East School District.

Coolbaugh suffered two cuts — one on the forehead and one on the bridge of the nose — that required plastic surgery at Northeast Baptist Hospital.

With Roosevelt trailing Judson 21-0 at halftime, Ferrara allegedly threw a clipboard that struck the 6-foot-1, 190-pound senior in the face during a fiery halftime talk.

Coolbaugh had completed 1 of 14 passes and was intercepted twice — his worst first-half showing of the season.

In an interview with KSAT-TV at the hospital Saturday night, Ferrara said he didn't throw the clipboard at the quarterback.

"I threw a clipboard at the wall ... how it hit the young man, I don't know. I threw that clipboard. That's what took place. I was just trying to get a point across, get the boys to play harder the second half," Ferrara said.

Robert Coolbaugh, Mike's father, believes the school should consider a coaching change.

"I definitely think they ought to have someone who will not touch the kids," Robert Coolbaugh told the San Antonio Light. "I don't think it's a matter of me wanting him to be dismissed. I think ... he has to be dismissed."

Roosevelt, which was undefeated entering the game against Judson, must win one of its two remaining District 27-5A games to clinch its first playoff berth since 1970.

In the latest Associated Press state schoolboy poll, Judson was the No. 1-ranked Class 5A team.

Ferrara, who has coached at Roosevelt since 1982, is the only active coach in the city to win a state football title in the highest classification, having done so while at Lee High School in 1971.

He was visiting relatives in Wimberley on Sunday and was unavailable for comment, according to Marty Shaughnessy, Ferrara's first assistant at Roosevelt.

But Saturday night Ferrara said he had talked to the quarter-back's father at the hospital.

"I told him I was heartily sorry about the accident," Ferrara said. "He showed tremendous respect. We had a good conversation, because he knows I love the boys. I love all my boys."

"I'm not worried about the loss. I'm worried about the boy."

Dr. Michele Thiet, who performed the surgery, said the quarterback would be sidelined two to three weeks.

Cards take 19-10 win...

Cowboys drop eighth

IRVING, Texas (AP) — It was a familiar setting for Phoenix coach Gene Stallings, except this time the guys with the silver stars on their helmets made the game-breaking mistakes.

Stallings, an assistant for 14 seasons under Tom Landry, gave Jimmy Johnson a lesson in ball-control offense and a quarterback-harassing defense.

He also saddled Johnson with an eighth straight NFL loss Sunday, a 19-10 Cardinals victory over the Dallas Cowboys at Texas Stadium.

The Cardinals had no turnovers, intercepted Steve Walsh twice with deadly effect and recovered a fumble late in the game that led to a clinching field goal.

"We wanted the clock to run in this game and that's why we were conservative," Stallings said. "We wanted the game over so that's why we didn't come with anything special on offense."

St. Louis controlled the ball for more than 39 minutes in the 60-minute game.

Safety Michael Zordich returned an interception 16 yards for a third-period touchdown, and Al Del Greco kicked four field goals as the Cardinals evened their record at 4-4.

It was a big day for Zordich, whose wife had a baby boy in Phoenix earlier on Sunday.

"I was right there when Walsh threw the ball and it fell right in my hands after it was tipped," Zordich said. "There was nobody in front of me. It was just a matter of catching the ball and taking it in."

"The last three days have been just unbelievable. I can't wait to get home and see the kid."

Johnson, used to success in the college ranks, said it was difficult to accept one defeat after another.

"We're trying so hard that we're making mistakes," Johnson said. "For the second straight week our opponent didn't have any turnovers. I guess we are pressing as we try to make something happen and that in turn causes errors."

Johnson said the team was trying hard but was snakebit.

"Right now they are really trying and doing everything we ask them to get ready for a game," Johnson said. "I can't ask for anything more."

No NFL team has lost all 16 games in a season, but Tampa Bay went 0-14 in its first season in 1976, then lost its first 12 games the next season.

"This losing streak is tearing us up on the inside," said Dallas offensive guard Nate Newton.

ONE MORE LOOK — Tommy Lane, (45), Snyder linebacker, closes in on Sweetwater running back Patrick Villa, (43). The Snyder defense allowed just 152 total yards against the top rushing offense in District 4-4A Friday in the 18-13 Mustang win. A special community pep rally is scheduled for tonight at 7 p.m. in Tiger Stadium. The public is encouraged to attend, according to booster club spokesman Ron Pruitt. (SDN Staff Photo)

Oakland claims World Series crown; being described as baseball dynasty

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The World Series had been over for only a few minutes when the word dynasty started to be thrown around like a batting practice grounder.

The Oakland Athletics are a good team, perhaps a great team. But dynasty?

The New York Yankees from the mid-1920s to the early 1960s were a dynasty.

The Boston Celtics and Montreal Canadiens had dynasties. Bill Shoemaker was a one-man dynasty.

The Oakland A's? They are a team that has won one World Series and two American League pennants. Right now, that's not even close to a dynasty.

Sure, they looked invincible in wrecking the San Francisco Giants in four straight games. But consider the shape of the Giants' tattered pitching staff.

Scott Garrelts had a sore elbow, Rick Reuschel a sore shoulder and Don Robinson a sore knee. All combined to give Manager Roger Craig a sick headache.

In the four games, the Giants starters allowed 22 hits and 18 runs in 13 innings. Garrelts, Reuschel and Robinson averaged 3 1-3 innings per start.

There are rotations in the new senior league that look better.

The Giants were outscored 10-3 and never led in 36 innings.

In the 1980s, no team repeated as World Series champion. The last club to repeat was the New York Yankees in 1978 when George Steinbrenner's baseball committee still had control.

"There are a lot of elements in becoming a dynasty," said Oakland pitcher Dave Stewart, the Series MVP. "Returning year after year and winning year after year. If we continue to play the game properly as we have, and if Tony La Russa wants us to play the game, then I can see us winning the thing a few more times."

There are indeed a lot of "ifs" involved in this dynasty business. It's also a lot harder to build a dynasty now.

Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle couldn't file for free agency or demand trades.

The last baseball team to come close to a dynasty were the Oakland A's, who won consecutive World Series in 1972, 1973 and 1974. They probably could have won the World Series a few more years, but Reggie Jackson, Catfish Hunter, Joe Rudi and Rollie Fingers all wanted big bucks.

A's general manager Sandy Alderson faces similar problems this winter.

Rickey Henderson and Storm Davis are eligible to file for free agency.

"My first choice is to stay in Oakland," Henderson said. "But I have to see what's out there."

Rickey may get some nice offers, too.

With a little motivation, Henderson demonstrated in the playoffs and World Series why he may be the best leadoff hitter in the history of the game.

He was 9-for-19 in the Series and led off Game 4 with a home run to get the A's rolling. In nine postseason games, Henderson set a record with 11 steals.

"I think he's the single most devastating weapon in baseball," La Russa said. "Put him in your lineup and he's worth two or three runs. Then surround him with (Jose) Canseco and (Mark) McGwire and he's going to get them runs, too. He's got to be the greatest leadoff hitter in baseball."

Richie Bry, Henderson's agent, may want to remember that quote.

In 1986, the New York Mets won 108 games and the World Series. They were going to be a dynasty, according to the New York papers. But Keith Hernandez and Gary Carter got old, and Ray Knight, that season's World Series MVP, ended up being Nancy Lopez's caddy. without Canseco, and Dennis Eckersley missed 40 games with a shoulder injury.

ween costume contest to be conducted from 4-5 p.m. on Tuesday in the lobby.

All children through the age of 10 are welcome to participate.
Three age brackets include 1-4, 5-7, and 8-10. A gift certificate will be presented to the winner of each age group and all participants will be given treats at the end of the contest.

Residents will again serve as judges and all decisions will be final.
Kmart is also sponsoring a costume contest on Tuesday. All ages are welcome and first through third place prizes will be presented.
The judging will take place between 4-6 p.m.

A Spook House, sponsored by the Snyder High School drama department, is planned for 7-10 p.m. on Tuesday at Worsham Auditorium. Admission is $2.

Snyder Junior High School choirs will present a "Halloween Happening" beginning at 7 p.m. on Tuesday on the school's patio.

The public is invited to attend, and elementary age children, when accompanied by a parent, are encouraged to attend and wear their Halloween costumes.

The program should last approximately 40 minutes. In case of rain, the program will be cancelled.

There is no admission charge.

Highway department plans public meeting Oct. 31 in San Angelo

SAN ANGELO--A public meeting about a proposed rural highway in Texas will be held here tomorrow. The meeting, one of 10 throughout the state to gain input from interested citizens about the plan, will begin at 8:30 a.m. and testimony will be heard until noon.

"This is a rural system designed to link urban areas in the state," said Al Luedecke, transportation planning engineer for the highway department. "The goal is to provide enhanced mobility for rural areas with a network of four-lane or wider divided highways."

Luedecke said the meetings will continue through mid-November.
Eight meetings were scheduled originally, he said, but requests from Texas citizens prompted the highway department to add two meetings, in McAllen on Nov. 14 and in Longview on Nov. 16.

Tomorrow's meeting will be at the Holiday Inn Convention Center, 441 Rio Concho Drive, San Angelo (915) 658-2828. Luedecke said detailed maps on the system will be displayed, and staff planners from the department will be available to answer questions.

New designs said possible

HOUSTON (AP) — Despite four years of development, prototypes of magnets critical to the performance of the $6 billion super collider are inadequate and may have to be redesigned, The Houston Post reported.

Scientists say planners of the giant atom smasher have until Feb. 1 to formulate a plan whose price will be acceptable to Congress.

The final plans for the dual 53-mile tunnels for subatomic particles, to be built on farmland in Ellis County, 30 miles south of Dallas, are due at the Energy Department by Feb. 1.

At issue are almost 8,000 powerful dipole magnets, most of them more than 56 feet long, that will have to operate reliably for 20 years in what will be the largest scientific instrument ever. The goal is to unlock new layers of secrets of the atom by smashing them together.

Billions of protons, propelled by the supercold electromagnets, will stream in opposite directions at nearly the speed of light. The magnets will focus the positively charged protons to collide at a total energy of 40 trillion electron volts, breaking loose the fundamental particles.

But those magnets are not up to the task, according to a committee of scientists who convened earlier this year to assess their performances.

Russell Huson, director of the Texas Accelerator Center, said the panel found that several test magnets had met the design field strength, but lacked sufficient operating margin to work reliably.

Search continues for six still missing after blast at plant

PASADENA, Texas (AP) — Heavy rains in the Houston area helped rescuers locate two more bodies in the massive steel and concrete debris of the Phillips Petroleum Co. plastics plant early today, while the search continued for six workers still missing.

"They were found in the area of the control room and the finishing room," company spokesman Rob Phillips said of the latest recoveries.

"That's really where we expect to find the rest of the missing. But we're talking about an area as big as a football field, so there's still quite a lot of area to get through."

In the week since the plastics plant was ripped apart by a series of explosions, 16 bodies have been recovered by crews working around the clock. Only five bodies have been officially identified.

Phillips said heavy rains that dumped hail and up to four inches of rain in some areas in and around Houston Sunday helped rescue efforts by damping dust from the rubble.

"The rain didn't really slow them down yesterday," Phillips said today. "It kept the dust down and the asbestos that is being cleaned up and removed from the area from flying around. From what I hear, we may get more rain today, so that could be good."

But the crews' search was hampered Sunday by a steel beam which was hanging loosely 150 feet over a control room area where rescuers believe they will find the missing bodies. Workers were able to locate a crane to stabilize the beam.

Six bodies were recovered Saturday and another on Sunday before the early morning finds. One of those recovered Saturday was identified as Jesse Thomas Northrup, 42, of Brookshire, company spokesman Dave Dryden said Sunday. Northrup had been an operator for Phillips since 1978, he said.

Others identified include two Phillips employees: Jeffery L. Harrison, 36, Houston, and James H. Campbell, 30, Baytown. Two Fish Construction Co. employees who were doing contract work at the plant also have been identified: Jose Gonzales, 38, Galena Park, and William Scott Martin, 28, Dayton. Phillips spokesmen said 124 people were injured in the accident and nine remained hospitalized late Sunday.

"The accident came as a big shock and it will be a long time coming before the company recovers," said spokesman Bill Wicker. "There are economic concerns for the company right now, but ahead of everything is our commitment to find the missing people."

Debris from Monday's explosion near the plant's control and finishing rooms is stacked as high as 40 feet, officials say.

The polyethylene plant produced almost 20 percent of the nation's production of plastic pellets used in the manufacture of milk jugs and grocery bags.

Phillips officials believe flammable hydrocarbon vapor from ethylene and isobutane gases escaped from a leaking chemical reactor, triggering Monday's blast. But company officials have said they don't know how the gases were ignited.

A memorial service for the victims is planned for tonight at the Pasadena Civic Center.

Agent Orange issue to be reconsidered by officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — An advisory committee to the Department of Veterans Affairs this week may open the door a crack to disability benefits for Vietnam veterans exposed to Agent Orange.

Responding to a federal court decision in May, the 15-member Veterans' Advisory Committee on Environmental Hazards will look again at scientific papers and studies on the herbicide used to clear dense foliage that hid the enemy.

This time, however, the committee will use standards considered less strict than those used for determining other service-connected disabilities.

No one is predicting the outcome. But there is agreement that VA Secretary Edward J. Derwinski wants to resolve the issue quickly and in favor of veterans.

"I don't think he's going to fool around very long," VA spokesman Don Smith said. "He's so far exhibited a degree of willingness — if not impatience — to go along rather rapidly with this."

Once the committee does its work Derwinski is "kind of on his own as to how he wants to fly on this," Smith said. He said Derwinski will make a final determination on the committee's recommendations within two weeks of receiving results of the meeting.

According to one congressional source, Derwinski's actions mean "he's almost promised people" that he will take some positive action for veterans.

Veterans blame exposure to Agent Orange for cancers, skin diseases and genetic damage leading to miscarriages or birth defects. The committee will spend its first two days reviewing about 20 or 30 studies on the connection between exposure and non-Hodgkins lymphoma, one of the most frequently cited cancers, then study other diseases at later meetings.

On Friday, it will issue recommendations on non-Hodgkins lymphoma and Agent Orange.

The four-year-old advisory committee and government scientists have thus far rejected a link between Agent Orange exposure and health problems other than a skin condition known as chloracne.

The American Legion, the prime veterans' group in this dispute, contends the committee has a longstanding bias against veterans.

Not so, says Oliver Meadows, the disabled veteran and scientific layman in charge of the panel. "Their greatest interest is their own integrity as scientists," he said.

Agent Orange, an orange-brown liquid that was shipped in orange-striped barrels, was sprayed in Vietnam from January 1965 to April 1970.

Agent Orange is suspect because it contains "phenoxy" herbicides associated with certain cancers as well as dioxin, which has been found to cause cancer in laboratory animals.

A ruling in May by U.S. District Judge Thelton E. Henderson in San Francisco created a way out of the impasse over Agent Orange. A new administration and the elevation of the Veterans' Administration to cabinet status added another ingredient.

Henderson ruled May 2 that the VA imposed an "impermissibly demanding test" for linking Agent Orange with health problems.

Although the VA has relied on a "cause and effect" relationship in determining service-connected disabilities, the committee was to use a different standard: "a significant statistical association."

Derwinski told Attorney General Richard L. Thornburgh on May 8 that he had decided against an appeal.

New regulations for reviewing studies using the new standard, effective Wednesday, say a link will be deemed to exist if the studies associating Agent Orange with health problems outweigh the evidence that there is no association.

The regulations say the VA secretary can give the "benefit of the doubt to the conclusion that the association exists."

SF returns to abnormal following quake

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A World Series victory gave earthquake-battered Oakland something to celebrate, and thousands of hedonistic Halloween partiers helped San Francisco return "to abnormal."

"A little happiness will help us bounce back," baseball fan James Mead said after the Oakland Athletics beat the San Francisco Giants 9-6 Saturday night to sweep the Bay Bridge World Series.

The A's decided it wasn't appropriate to celebrate with champagne or a parade, but they did plan a victory rally today in Jack London Square.

The celebration was unabashed at this weekend's 10th annual Exotic Erotic Ball in San Francisco, where the popular attire was lace, leather, chains and whips or next to nothing.

"The scare's over with. People want to get back to a routine," said Dagny Lancy, 21, of Penngrove, whose floral costume of a stem and two blossoms was painted on and contained the barest stitches of clothing.

Tickets were $25, and organizers donated 25 percent of the net proceeds to the disaster relief fund. As in the past, 15 percent went to AIDS foundations.

"We're getting back to abnormal," said Wendy McMurry, 28, of Belmont.

The 7.1-magnitude earthquake struck Oct. 17, causing $7.1 billion in damage in the San Francisco Bay area and south through Santa Cruz County.

There had been 8.0 aftershocks of magnitude 3.0 or greater, the U.S. Geological Survey reported Sunday.

The Federal Emergency

Management Agency said 27,668 people had registered at disaster centers for housing assistance, grants or loans.

"People left homeless in Santa Cruz County demonstrated for housing.

The death toll stood at 64, including 39 motorists killed in the collapse of Interstate 880 in Oakland.

About 1,400 homes, 200 commercial buildings, and 12 city-owned structures were also damaged in Oakland. Officials estimated the building damage in Oakland at $1.3 billion.

"We're now looking at the long, slow, insidious damage," said city emergency planner Jim Worlund. "It's not dramatic, but it requires people to move out of their homes."

The quake struck hard at those least able to afford it. Eight low-rent residential hotels were condemned, putting about 800 people into the streets.

More than 400 people took refuge in Oakland's five Red Cross shelters.

"We'll be dealing with these folks for many months to come," said American Red Cross spokesman Joe McGraw.

state. The 102-member group elicited comments from the three judges in Shotwell Stadium in Abilene that its "playing is very mature and fundamentally very good" and that it demonstrated "a very fine variety of formations" and "excellent music, very tastefully performed."

Band director Walter Reneau said today that its music is probably the group's strongest point and that marching will be the primary emphasis of this week's rehearsals.

"These are the most positive comments that we have had in several years," Reneau said. "It's really a younger band this year, but they have a great attitude and a lot of enthusiasm. They just want to go."

Burk Burnett was the other band to advance to regional in Abilene, and Snyder will face them, Crowley, Cleburne and two bands from the Panhandle in Wichita Falls. Reneau said the Pride of the West had to eliminate its colorguard after no-pass, no-play rendered 18 band members ineligible recently. It was not that all the colorguard members failed to make their grades, he explained, just that they are some of the better marchers and were needed in the band after the no-pass, no-play results.

Officers work three accidents

City and state officers investigated three traffic accidents last weekend, the last at 9:04 p.m. Sunday in the 2600 Block of 33rd St., where an unknown vehicle and driver hit a gas meter owned by Lone Star Gas Co.

At 3:21 p.m. Saturday in the 3200 Block of College Ave., a 1983 Dodge van driven by Geraldine Stokes of Ira hit a parked 1984 Oldsmobile owned by Ernest Brandon of 3204 Ave. L.

A 35-year-old Hermleigh woman escaped serious injury when her 1987 Chevrolet Monte Carlo went out of control and overturned in a creek 5.9 miles southeast of Snyder Friday afternoon.

A Department of Public Safety trooper said Sophie V. West of Rt. 1, Hermleigh, was southbound when the car went out of control on wet pavement, off the road and through a guardrail into a creek, where it turned onto its roof at 5:05 p.m. Friday.

The woman declined medical attention, the trooper said. A county-owned guardrail had an estimated $400 in damages.

Man arrested for PI, language

Two men were arrested at 5:41 p.m. Sunday in the 100 Block of Browning St., one for using bad language toward officers.

A 21-year-old was taken into custody for public intoxication and a 48-year-old for PI and disorderly conduct by using profane language.

An 18-year-old man was arrested for shoplifting at 4:29 p.m. Sunday at Lawrence IGA supermarket.

The California Department of Transportation, meanwhile, said the damaged Bay Bridge won't be repaired until the end of November rather than Nov. 16, as previously predicted.

A 50-foot section of the upper deck fell during the quake. Repair of the key commuter link between San Francisco and Oakland will cost about $1 million, said Caltrans' Jim Larson.

In San Francisco, the weekend brought more scenes of people moving belongings out of damaged Marina district apartments or picking through the rubble of demolished buildings for possessions.

The public works department said the district sustained the city's greatest damage. Seventy structures were considered unsafe.

Dave Angelesco, 75, teetered atop a mountain of rubble that had been his home for five decades. As he looked for important papers, the retired coffee salesman lamented he would have to leave the neighborhood he called "close to heaven" because rent on a new place would be too high.

Crews labored to replace gas lines in a system that once served 5,700 customers. Water and electricity were restored, but residents were asked to limit use of appliances to avoid straining the system.

5 killed, 2 hurt in carrier-jet accident

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — A jet practicing take-offs and landings crashed into the tower of the aircraft carrier Lexington, the cartwheeled and burst into flames on the flight deck, killing five and injuring two, authorities said.

The two-seater T-2 Buckeye jet, based at the Naval Air Station in Meridian, Miss., crashed Sunday afternoon during the training mission about 30 miles south of Pensacola in the Gulf of Mexico. The Lexington, the oldest aircraft carrier in the Navy fleet, returned to its dock late this morning, said Petty Officer Tom Hushion.

The pilot approached too low for a landing and deck crew members tried to wave the flier off before the crash, according to Rep. Earl Hutto, D-Fla.

The plane hit the tower of the 46-year-old aircraft carrier, flipped over and slammed into a row of parked planes, said the congressman, who was briefed by Navy officials.

Aviation fuel immediately ignited on the 889-foot-long blacktop deck, but the fires were quickly brought under control, said Navy Cmdr. Dennis Hessler.

The crash caused major damage to two aircraft on the ship and minor damage to another, said Army Maj. John Smith, a Pentagon spokesman.

The Lexington was not damaged extensively. The ship, which came under a deadly Japanese kamikaze attack 45 years ago this week, has 1,440 crewmembers and is the Navy's only aircraft carrier used exclusively for training.

After the crash, helicopters flew the casualties to hospitals in Pensacola and Alabama.

Crewmember Anthony Lopez, 21, of West Valley, Utah, had second- and third-degree burns covering about 45 percent of his body, and was listed in critical but stable condition, said Suzette George, nursing supervisor at University of South Alabama Medical Center in Mobile.

The other person injured was being treated at the U.S. Naval Hospital in Pensacola.

The dead also were taken there. Their names were not released.

In Pensacola, relatives of crewmembers worried about finding out who the casualties were.

"We're all just shaken. We don't know what to think one way or the other. I just want to know something," said Cathy Webb, whose boyfriend serves on the carrier.

The crash occurred six days before the anniversary of the Nov. 4, 1944, attack that killed 47 and injured 127 on the ship in World War II.

The original crew plans to hold a reunion next weekend in Pensacola.

After the war, the Lexington was mothballed until being reactivated in 1955. It reported to Pensacola on Dec. 29, 1962, to serve as the Navy's training carrier. It is scheduled to continue that role after moving next September to Corpus Christi, Texas.

The ship has been a favorite of movie producers with roles in the film "Midway" and the made-for-television mini-series "War and Remembrance."

Girl's dad shoots boy

HOUSTON (AP) — Police are continuing to search for a man who may be headed for Mexico after he allegedly shot and killed a 12-year-old boy attending a slumber party at his house, authorities said.

Sigifredo Delgado, 38, is wanted in connection with the fatal shooting of Sergio Roberto Melcher.

Melcher was one of six children who were friends of Delgado's 13-year-old daughter and were sleeping over at Delgado's house Friday night.

Delgado, a plumber, fired the fatal shot from a .38-caliber pistol about 11:15 p.m. Friday inside his home, Houston homicide Detective Dave Ferguson said.

Higher gas tax nixed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House today rejected a Republican leader's call for higher taxes on gasoline and also said President Bush was not easing his opposition to Democrats' formula for raising the minimum wage.

"We do not feel that an increase in federal gas taxes is necessary at this time," said White House press secretary Marlin Fitzwater.

Senate Republican Leader Bob Dole had said Sunday that although he still supports Bush's "no new taxes" pledge, he would back a gasoline tax increase to rebuild the U.S. infrastructure — such as roads, bridges and other public facilities.

However, Dole said he would not back a gas tax hike for deficit reduction.

On the minimum wage, Fitzwater said, "We are not changing our position at this point" although he noted that White House chief of staff John Sununu has been conferring on the issue with House leaders.

House Democrats are casting the minimum wage issue as a poor vs. rich matter that, along with his demand for a capital gains tax cut, leaves the president's allies a bit nervous.

quate resources to acquire expensive but necessary equipment and to provide the training that adequate fire protection requires. The entire state stands to gain from improved fire protection in places where protection is presently inadequate due to a lack of resources.

AGAINST: Providing fire protection is traditionally a local responsibility.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

By Peter H. Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT: Our 39-year-old son is impotent. I had the mumps while I was five months pregnant with him. Is this the cause of his impotence?

DEAR READER: No. In order for your mumps to have affected your son, the virus would have had to infect his testicles before birth, a highly unlikely possibility. Also, immature testicles seem to be relatively resistant to the mumps virus. Further, prenatal mumps would have caused your son to have problems starting from puberty. Mumps can cause infertility and impotence when the disease affects mature testicles, leading to acute inflammation and scar tissue.

Your son's impotence is more likely the consequence of something affecting him in adulthood, such as diabetes, medication effect, psychological factors or alcohol/drug abuse. He should see a physician, preferably a urologist, for an examination and testing. To give you more information, I am sending you a free copy of my Health Report "Impotence." Other readers who would like a copy should send $1.25 with their name and address to P.O. Box 91369, Cleveland, OH 44101-3369. Be sure to mention the title.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I'm an amputee with extreme phantom pain. I've been taking Elavil. Can you tell me what this drug does, and how it might affect my body?

DEAR READER: Elavil (amitriptyline) is an anti-depressant with sedative effects. It potentiates alcohol and should be used with caution in patients with glaucoma, epilepsy and enlargement of the prostate gland. Although the precise mechanism of action is unknown, the drug appears to block the absorption of serotonin, a chemical messenger in the brain.

No ideological tests for some jobs

NEW YORK (AP) — Aspirants to top scientific jobs in the federal government will not have to pass an ideological test on abortion and other political issues, according to a published report today.

U.S. Health and Human Services Secretary Louis Sullivan said in a speech Sunday that the so-called "litmus test" would not be used to gauge applicants for jobs in his department, The New York Times reported. Sullivan told the Association of American Medical Colleges that the decision was meant to end the controversy over such political tests and "to clear the air and not have a cloud hanging over these positions."

The era of the parking meter began in 1935 when the first coin-operated device was installed in Oklahoma City.

Major side effects include heart attack, heart block, rapid pulse, low blood pressure, seizures, disordered thinking, headache, rash and hair loss. Despite its potential side effects, the drug is widely used and, for most patients, poses no problems under appropriate monitoring.

If your phantom pain is chronic and intractable, I suggest you seek a referral to a pain clinic, where specialists may be able to address your problem with more effective therapy.

DEAR DR. GOTT: I have a great deal of trouble with canker sores and blisters in my mouth. Could you give me a clue as to what causes these and how to heal them? Could an acid condition or too much grapefruit cause them? My mom used to feed me sulfur and molasses in the spring to clear my blood. Perhaps I should resort to this old-time treatment.

DEAR READER: Canker sores (aphthous stomatitis) are shallow, painful, grayish ulcers that occur cyclically in crops (or singly) on the lining of the mouth. The inner lips are commonly affected. The lesions usually heal within 10 days, only to recur. Contributing factors include: nutritional deficiencies, stress, injury and hormonal changes. The cause of aphthous stomatitis is unknown but may be related to a temporary decrease in cellular immunity.

Canker sores can be treated by cauterization (burning with a chemical), local-anesthetic creams (such as lidocaine) or topical cortisone. The recurrence rate is not diminished by therapy.

Too much grapefruit or other acid foods could trigger your canker sores. Because modern treatment is not completely satisfactory, you might try the old sulfur-and-molasses routine. Maybe Mom was right after all.

For crowded skies...

Officials say computers inadequate

DALLAS (AP) — A series of computer glitches at the nation's second busiest airport has stirred concern among some controllers' representatives, who say the aging equipment needs to be replaced.

The representatives also say the equipment may reduce the margin of safety within the 4,900-square-mile air space controlled from the Dallas-Fort Worth International Airport tower.

"You're looking at machinery being pushed to the red line at just about any peak you got," Edward Mullin, a representative of the National Air Traffic Controllers Association's southwest region and a Love Field controller.

For a short time on Oct. 14, vital numbers and letters disappeared from radar scopes at the DFW tower. A computer had been shut down for a restarting to eliminate garbled data, officials said. But that left controllers unable to read planes' altitudes, air speeds and other data.

One controller, in the confusion, misidentified a blip on the screen as it approached the airport from the southeast at 11,000 feet. He called out what he thought was the flight number for the first plane in line, but the number belonged to the third plane.

An American Airlines jet that was the third plane swerved to the right and descended to 5,000 feet as instructed, but it entered space reserved for departing flights, officials said.

Shocked controllers caught the error seconds later. Luckily, there were no planes in the jet's path, though it was unusual for that time of day, officials said.

"The air traffic gods were with us this time," said Milton Scherrotter, president of the NATCA local branch. "What about next time? Are they still going to be there?"

Federal Aviation Administration officials acknowledged a rash of computer glitches and overloads in recent years, but said safety at DFW and elsewhere has not been compromised.

But the FAA responded to the computer glitch by agreeing to improve the tower's computer and make DFW a high priority for receiving new software, solid state memory and other improvements during the next 18 months.

The present equipment has been patched and upgraded since the airport's opening in 1974.

"There's no question that things need to be done," Norm Scroggins, the DFW tower manager, told the Dallas Times Herald. But "I'd say the system is still very safe." Though air traffic is growing every year, "we will keep the system managed at a level where it can be accommodated."

Service on train line resumes

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Passenger train service on Mexico's west coast resumed Sunday night after a crash earlier in the day in which the locomotive's driver was killed.

The first-class passenger train, El Sinaloense, crashed into two parked locomotives Sunday morning in the western state of Nayarit. The driver, Pablo Gonzalez, was killed and about 100 people were injured, a doctor told The Associated Press.

Dr. Raul Parra at the Ixtlan Health Center said by telephone that the train's driver was killed and that its fireman was seriously injured.

He estimated the number of people injured at 100 and said his center had treated 56, most of whom had been released.

Red Cross spokeswoman Lourdes Palomares said from the state capital of Tepic that the organization had treated 15 people, and the Social Security Hospital reported treating six.

The train was headed from the Pacific beach resort of Mazatlan to Guadalajara, 550 miles west of Mexico City, when the collision occurred near the small town of Aguacatlan, 40 miles southeast of Tepic.

News reports the crash may have been caused by faulty rail switching. Authorities said they were investigating.

Activists protest fur sales

DALLAS (AP) — Animal rights protesters are conducting "fur funerals" to discourage people from shopping at stores that sell furs.

The protestors, draped in black, wore masks and carried caskets containing fur coats as they marched last weekend in front of a shopping mall which contains a fur salon.

"We're trying to let people know about the horrors of trappings and the horrors of ranch-raised furs," Rhonda Holley, director of the Society for Texas Animal Rights, said.

The group organized the event in conjunction with national protests by People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals.

The demonstrations by members of PETA Saturday also targeted Jindo Fur Salons in New Orleans, Atlanta, Los Angeles, New York, Washington, D.C. and six other cities.

Bryant's offers safe carpet cleaning

Bryant's Carpet Cleaning has served Snyder over 11 years. They have used or seen every type of carpet cleaning. Even though they could use a cheaper method, they prefer steam extraction. This method extracts the dirt and stains, whereas other methods leave the dirt in the carpet. For a clean and safe carpet, steam extraction is by far the best method.

Some methods leave the carpet wet but they leave it only damp so it will dry in only a few hours. This is because they have the latest truck mount unit, with more power than smaller units. The unit stays in the van and only the cleaning head goes into the house, eliminating spills in the home.

Most carpets need to be cleaned within a year, depending on the traffic. Not only can they be dirty, but after walking on the carpet awhile the carpet protector is worn off. We can clean the carpet and replace the carpet protector (similar to Scotch Gard).

In some cases we can clean the carpet as cheap as you can rent a machine. Many times when people try to do it themselves and the carpet won't come clean and they keep adding detergents to the machine. This results in the carpet becoming too wet, plus they leave a residue in the carpet and the carpet seems to get dirty quicker. Bryant's doesn't leave a residue in the carpet because they pre-spray with cleaners and when they go over the carpet with the cleaning head, they use only soft hot water.

Carpets are a big investment and the wise person will maintain them. So, trust your carpet to the professionals. They have cleaned thousands of carpets and can furnish recommendations.
