Library Card Sign-up Month

By Sandy Baskin - Librarian

September is Library Card Sign-up Month - a time when the American Library Association and libraries across the country remind parents that a library card is the most important school supply of all.

The observance was launched in 1987 to meet the challenge of then Secretary of Education William J. Bennett who said: "Let's have a national campaign ... every child should obtain a library card - and use it." Since then, thousands of public and school libraries join each fall in a national effort to ensure every child does just that.

Library cards are generally free to those living in the library's service area. In most cases, borrowing privileges are granted on the spot. Some libraries may require some form of identification, proof of residency or the signature of a guardian.

Today's libraries play an important role in the education and development of children. Studies show that children who are read to in the home and who use the library perform better in school and are more likely to continue to use the library as a source of lifetime learning.

Librarians are literacy experts. Libraries offer a variety of programs to stimulate an interest in reading and learning. Preschool story hours expose young children to the joy of reading, while homework centers provide computers and assistance to older children after school. Summer reading clubs keep children reading during school vacation and have been shown to be the most important factor in avoiding the decrease in reading skills that educators refer to as "summer learning lass."

Society is changing in the way it consumes information. Libraries are evolving with these changes in order to serve the public and to continue to fulfill their role in leveling the playing field for all who seek information and access to technologies.

Today's public libraries are thriving technology hubs that millions rely on as their first or only choice for Internet access and digital content. In addition to books, magazines, DVDs, computers, libraries provide access to e-books. Ninety percent of libraries offer access to e-books, an increase of 14 percent from 2012.

Often the library is the first point of contact in helping community members. From providing assistance to small business owners to assisting with access to e-government resources, libraries are changing lives through education.

Libraries are America's great information equalizers — the only place people of all ages and backgrounds can find and freely use such a diversity of resources, along with the expert guidance of librarians.

Take time to be heard, attend local conservation program meeting

When: Sept 14, 2016

Time: 9:00a.m. - 11:00a.m.

Location: Happy State Bank 100 N Main Stratford, TX Stratford, Texas, Aug 10, 2016—The USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) in Sherman County and the Sherman County Soil and Water Conservation District cordially invite the public to attend their Fiscal Year 2017 Local Working Group (LWG) meeting Sept 142016, from 9a.m. to 11 a.m.

The purpose of this annual LWG meeting is to bring together conservation stakeholders to discuss conservation topics and issues, and to set local conservation priorities to help farmers, ranchers and private landowners conserve and manage the natural resources.

The meeting also updates attendees on recent conservation efforts and allows for an opportunity to collect public input to help guide future conservation activities. Through regular identification of conservation opportunities, effective Farm Bill investments can continue to benefit Sherman County. Farmers, ranchers, conservationists, and others interested in obtaining Federal technical and financial assistance to improve private lands are invited to participate.

For more information, please contact Bruce Meyer, district conservationist, at 806 396 5517 Ext-3 or visit the NRCS web site at http://www.tx.nrcs.usda.gov/.

Tales From No Man's Land Museum

No Man's Land Museum in Goodwell is interested in every aspect of history of the Oklahoma Panhandle. Perhaps an unlikely subject is mining in the Oklahoma Panhandle. It was coal, however, that led to the creation of the town of Mineral City (later called Mineral) in Cimarron County.

Coal was discovered in the 1880's, and by 1886, two coal mines were operating in the western edge of present Cimarron County. A large two story stone structure was built near the mines by the Western Land and Cattle Company of Kingman, Kansas, and the settlement of Mineral City began. The post office was established in 1888, with Sebastian L. Baker being appointed postmaster. He took over the large building that housed not only the post office but also served as a hotel and store and provided a place for dances.

John Skelley became postmaster in 1898, after purchasing the building-from the Bakers. He and his wife continued to care for the mail and offered a large inventory of groceries and mercantile. A steady stream of local farmers and ranchers came seeking their mail as well as homesteaders in covered wagons going into New Mexico. Using hand-cut stone, a school was built for the Skelley children and their neighbors. By 1908, the family was living near the vacant old rock building, when a tornado hit during the night. The Skelley home was damaged, but the large store building was destroyed and part of the school was destroyed.

By 1911, the hopes for a prosperous mining operation were also destroyed when it was found that the coal was too soft and wouldn't burn efficiently. In February, 1911, the Mineral Post Office was discontinued and the mail was sent to Wheeless. The Skelley family continued to run the store for several more years and operated their ranch.

The Skelley family would have probably said that it was also a place of drama when the post office was robbed. In a copy of a 1903 Roswell Daily Record, a news item reported that two men who had been previously apprehended had been tried for the robbery at Mineral City and sentenced to four years. A news item in a 1904 Deming, New Mexico newspaper, reported on a murderer who had attended a dance at Minerall City. When he came to a second dance, he was arrested and taken back to New Mexico for trial.

In a 1967 interview, William May, Cimarron County resident, stated that coal mining and the Rock Island Railroad led to the establishment of Old Mineral in 1885. He said that a railroad was planned to run from Liberal to the coal deposits and on to Tucumcari. Another route was sought when coal mining was abandoned. May stated, "In a mere fifteen years, or so, a city was thought of, was born, lived and died."

The archives of the No Man's Land Museum has the 1967 interview of William May, an envelope postmarked Mineral, Oklahoma, five checks written by John Skelley of Mineral, Oklahoma, and a photo of the rock house at Mineral, Oklahoma. The Museum in Goodwell is open Tuesday-Friday from 10:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. Everyone is invited to come to the Museum and celebrate the counties of Cimarron, Texas and Beaver.

Selective Service

Key Facts About Selective Service Registration

(NAPS)-Young men in the United States often find turning 18 can bring a number of opportunities. It also brings an important obligation—registering with Selective Service.

Registration is mandated by the federal government and is required in order to be eligible for college loans, federal jobs and

To help make the process more understandable, here are some key questions and answers.

Q. Who must register with the Selective Service and when must they register?

A. All young men, including immigrants, regardless of their status, are required to register within 30 days of their 18th birthday. Immigrants who arrive after their 18th birthday must register within 30 days of their arrival if younger than 26.

Q. In addition to being in compliance with the law, are there benefits to registering?

A. Proof of registration is required when applying for federal college loans and grants, including Federal Pell Grants, Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (FSEOG), Direct Stafford Loans/PLUS Loans, National Direct Student Loans, and College Work-Study.

Registration is also required for federal jobs, and the U.S. Citizenship and Immigration Services (USCIS) makes registration with Selective Service a condition for U.S. citizenship if the man first arrived in the U.S. before his 26th birthday.

It is also necessary for jobs with many state and municipal governments as well as government contractors. Some states even require it when applying for a driver's license.

All young men, including immigrants, are required to register with Selective Service within 30 days of their 18th birthday.

Q. Can failing to register bring penalties? A. Yes. A man who fails to register may, if prosecuted and convicted, face a fine of up to $250,000 and/or a prison term of up to five

Q. Is registration difficult or complicated?

A. Over the past few years, registration has become increasingly convenient

Many find the easiest and fastest way to register is to register online at www.sss.gov. However, a valid Social Security Number is required for online registration. Those who do not have a Social Security Number must register at a U.S. post office.

Selective Service "mail-back" registration forms are available at any U.S. post office. Those living overseas may register at any U.S. Embassy or consular office.

It is also possible to register when applying for Federal Student Financial Aid (FAFSA form). Simply check "Register Me" on Box #22 of the form. In addition, some high schools have a staff member or. teacher appointed as a Selective Service Registrar who can assist with the registration process.

Strawberries Join The Fight Against Diabetes

(NAPS)—Here's food for thought: Two new studies, one from Brigham and Women's Hospital/Harvard Medical School, and the other from Illinois Institute o Technology, discovered that eatin; strawberries regularly may redu risk factors for diabetes, one of t e most significant chronic disea es affecting Americans today. Ine research uncovered a direct correlation between frequency of strawberry intake and reduced risk factors for diabetes.

The first study, "Strawberry polyphenols and insulin resistance: a dose-response study in obese individuals with insulin resistance," at the FASEB Experimental Biology conference by Britt Burton-Freeman, Ph.D., MS, Director, Center for Nutrition Research, Institute for Food Safety and Health at Illinois Institute of Technology, found that when obese adults with insulin resistance, a condition that dramatically increases person's risk for type 2 diabetes and pre-diabetes, consumed beverages containing different amounts of whole strawberry powder prepared in a beverage and drank with a meal, peak glucose was blunted with less insulin in individuals who consumed the highest amounts tested, about 3 to 4 servings of strawberries with their meal.

Meanwhile, at the 2015 American Diabetes Association's 75th Scientific Sessions, Dr. Howard Sesso, ScD, MPH of Brigham and Women's Hospital/Harvard Medical School presented the study Strawberry intake, hemoglobin A1c, and risk of developing diabetes in women, which examined data from the Women's Health Study, which included over 37,000 nondiabetic middle-aged women. At the start of the study, the women reported how often they ate strawberries. More than a decade later, over 2,900 women developed diabetes. Compared to women who rarely or never ate strawberries, those who had at least 2 servings of strawberries each week had a significant 19% lower risk of developing diabetes. Dr. Sesso, who led the Harvard study, said, "We found that eating even a modest amount of strawberries each week was associated with a decreased risk of developing diabetes in middle-aged and older women.'

It's the berries: Several servings of strawberries each week may reduce risk factors for diabetes.

Further, the Harvard researchers looked at the women's hemoglobin A1c, a marker for high blood sugar. Women who ate more strawberries may be less likely to have an elevated hemoglobin A1c exceeding 6 percent.

Collectively, the data presented from these researchers have important implications for diabetes disease risk reduction efforts through diet

Tips On Enjoying Strawberries A serving of strawberries is 1 cup, or about eight berries

· Select strawberries that are bright red in color, and that have a natural shine and fresh-looking, green caps.

• Refrigerate and keep them dry until just before use.

· Leave the green caps on and wash with a gentle spray of cool

·Gently blot them dry and remove the green caps with a light twist or the point of a knife.

Here are a few fresh ideas for enjoying strawberries:

 Toss sliced strawberries over a green salad and drizzle with balsamic vinaigrette.

 Top your morning cereal with sliced strawberries.

·Dip fresh strawberries in dark chocolate.

 Freeze whole strawberries and use them to cool your cocktails. Learn More

When you choose a project, you will learn everything there is to know about that topic. You will participate in various hands-on activities, learn new skills, do community service, or even make speeches about your project.

How to choose your 4-H project:

Select a project you like.

Select a project that can be completed.

Consider the money and time it will take. Can parents/guardians help?
Consider the space and equipment that you have at home.

A 4-H project should be fun, serve a purpose, and be worth the effort. Some projects are for a short period of time and some last all year.

How to join 4-H in Sherman County? Sherman County will be holding a Project Showcase and Sign up Night on Tuesday, September 13 at the County Barn from 6:30-7:30 p.m. 4-H members will be showing and telling about some of their projects and answering questions that families may have. Anyone interested is welcome and encouraged to attend. If you don't have someone of 4-H age but would like to see what is going on in 4-H today you are welcome to come as well.

Texas 4-H is for kids of almost any age - grades K-2 can be in Clover Kids. From 3rd-12th grades, you can be in 4-H.

The members of Texas A&M AgriLife will provide equal opportunities in programs and activities, education, and employment to all persons regardless of race, color, sex, religion, national origin, age, disability, genetic information, veteran status, sexual orientation or gender identity and will strive to achieve full and equal employment opportunity throughout Texas A&M AgriLife.

Time Out With Rog!

Friday night Stratford went sweeping down the Plains. Y'all get it like the Oklahoma Song. Stratford beat the Guymon Tigers 56-10 in a stadium that was built in a hole. The Stratford Elks played a little slow in the first half but came out like greased lightning. There must have been a good talking at halftime! We came out with vengeance and a purpose. So enough of Oklahoma football because apparently all the cell towers are on the first down markers. Because we moved the chains so much nobody could get a cell phone signal. This week we don't play nobody because nobody wants to play us!!!!! I bet the Guymon fans were saying "Can they go home now?" in the middle of the 4th quarter. So great game Stratford Elks, and the army of Stratford Fans was enormous especially on a holiday weekend in Oklahoma. This reporter did some on field reporting with our head football coach, I was trying to get a quote but stone face Lovern said "Go Elks". He is the Bill Belichick of High School football. So let's all rest up, heal up and get ready for THEM!!!! Let's pray for all who are sick and our National Leaders. Once an Elk always an Elk!

Roger Malon Allen

P.S. People from even Germany want to come play football for Stratford!!!!!
