

Opportunity to speak out on spouse issues

The Air Force Blue-Ribbon Panel examining issues concerning the career plans and work aspirations of Air Force spouses will visit Reese Oct. 7-8. The panel, headed by Maj. Gen. Anthony J. Burshnick, is conducting a number of fact-finding visits to various bases throughout the United States and overseas. Members and their spouses are invited to address the panel.

According to the panel's charter, the Air Force fully supports the career plans and work aspirations of spouses. The Air Force also encourages and benefits from participation by Air Force members and their families in activities supporting the Air Force community. The blue-ribbon panel will examine the range of those activities, help clarify the concept of participation and identify the extent and causes of pressures and conflicts between employment or career aspirations and participation in the Air Force community. At the end of its informational visits, the panel will make recommendations to the Secretary of the Air Force and Air Force Chief of Staff on how best to resolve or minimize those conflicts.

The panel desires to receive all views on these issues. To encourage individuals to appear before and provide candid views to the panel, all statements made to the panel will be received in confidence.

Those members or spouses interested in meeting with the panel should contact Lt. Col. Kevin Collins, commander, 3500th Mission Support Squadron, at 3444. Those who prefer anonymous or separate input to the panel may call the Wing Commander's CARE Line at 3273 between now and 7:30 a.m., Thursday, Oct. 8. Please state that your call is intended for the Blue-Ribbon Panel. You may also put written opinions in the six dropboxes located at key public places around base between now and 10 a.m. Thursday, Oct. 8. The boxes are located: in the lobby of the Postal Service Center, bldg. 11; the primary care clinic lobby in the Reese Hospital; the Commissary lobby; the Base Exchange lobby and the lobby's of both the Enlisted and Officers open messes.

The panel may also be addressed by writing to USAF/DPE Attn: AF Blue-Ribbon Panel, Washington, D.C. 20330-1000."

It's that time of year again

by Capt. Charles Sinclair
Chief, Environmental Health Clinic

The flu shot program at Reese starts Monday and runs until the end of the month.

Everyone is required to receive the immunization yearly since the influenza virus tends to change over time. Since immunity is very specific, everyone will need to get vaccinated against the most current strains.

The hospital immunization team will come to each squadron to administer the shots. Unit orderly rooms will coordinate a date with the Immunization Clinic. The 'gun' which is used is a quicker and less painful method of giving the shots than the traditional hypodermic needle.

Some people will feel chills and aches, mild flu symptoms, for a day or two. This is because the vaccine contains a scaled-down live flu virus. It causes your system to produce antibodies which will protect you against the real thing.

Pregnant women and people with known allergies to eggs are exempt from the shots. If you have this rare problem, you must come to the clinic with your medical record. A physician will review your case and determine if you are able to take the shot.

Class 87-08 winners

Thirty-four United States and two foreign pilots received the coveted wings of an Air Force pilot during a graduation ceremony for Undergraduate Pilot Training Class 87-08 at Simler Theater last Friday.

The Commander's Trophy was awarded to 2nd Lt. Mark A. Wagner. The Nederland, Texas native also received Distinguished Graduate and Flying Training Awards. He will begin his Air Force career flying the F-15 at Langley AFB, Va.

ble to receive the shots are those who are at high risk of complications or death from influenza. This includes adults and children with chronic lung or circulatory disease, diabetes or disorders of the immune system. A doctor must determine if you qualify. Dependents and retirees must have a written prescription from a doctor to receive a shot at Reese.

Captain Randall E. Roberts received a Leadership Award and a Distinguished Graduate Award.

Captain Kevin G. Young was awarded an Academic Training Award and a Leadership Award.

Second Lieutenants William P. Bedesem and Jeffrey A. Johnson were awarded Distinguished Graduate Awards. Lieutenant Johnson was also awarded a Flying Training Award.

Wing ding Friday

Friday, from 3 to 5 p.m., hot dogs and beverages will be served at the picnic area for all base personnel.

"This celebration is for all members of the Reese family following the many activities we've hosted during the past month," said Col. Mark Lillard, wing commander. "Everyone involved helped to make our Readiness Staff Assistance visit, Hispanic Heritage Week activities, Undergraduate Pilot Training Career Day, 40th Anniversary of the Air Force and POW/MIA Day, Open House and Tattoo ceremony and now our Unit Effectiveness Inspection great successes. Thank you everyone for all your hard work and many jobs well done."

Mission Milestones

The 64th Flying Training Wing fell 82 sorties short of the required amount last week. This prevented the wing from reaching its yearly goal as we ended the year slightly below the number of required sorties.

Did you know?

The number of personnel leaving Reese during the last 12 months that made 'DITY' moves is 638.

Bits and Pieces...

I want to thank the UEI team for giving us a thorough and tough inspection.

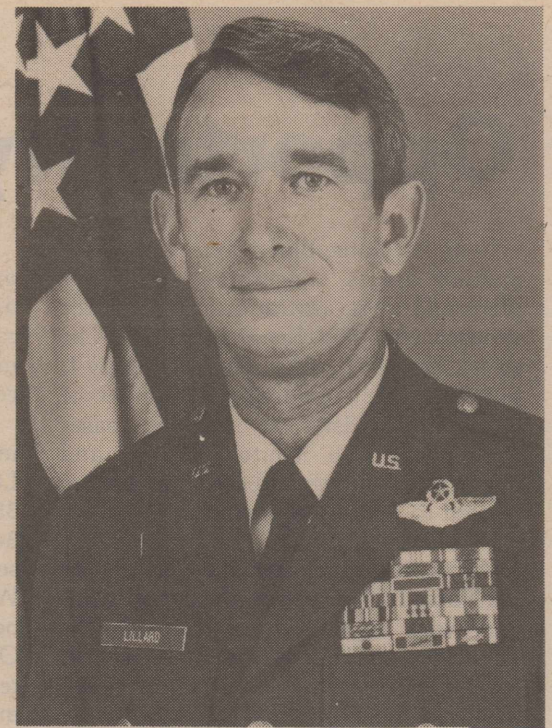

Base and Logistic Support received good reports with tenant support receiving a well deserved high rating. Primary mission area also received an overall high rating. I am very proud of all the hard work of so many people.

I realize that some people wished ratings were higher. Reese and excellence have always been thought to be synonymous, and they still are. That you feel disappointed that your area didn't do as well as you hoped is positive in the sense that it shows you have an attitude of excellence, but your disappointment is unjustified. The Reese team works very hard day in and day out to make sure we get the mission done right. Many long hours were spent preparing for this inspection and that hard work payed off.

Now that the inspection is over, we need to guard against what I call post-inspection let-down. As always, safety is paramount and we can't afford to blur our focus.

Again, super job! Hope to see you at the picnic this afternoon.

Col. Mark H. Lillard, III

Torchlight '87 competition nears

Last year Reese was overall Champion of Turkey Shoot '86. Torchlight is the same competition with a new name. Torchlight is an Air Training Command event hosted by the 12th Flying Training Wing at Randolph.

Official Mission: "This competition will test various phases of instructor pilot proficiency, maintenance capability, enhance esprit de corps, increase training efficiency based on competition experience, and recognize the best aircrews and maintenance teams."

Competition includes T-37 and T-38 teams from Columbus, Vance, Laughlin, Williams, Sheppard, and Reese. Mather will compete with T-37 and T-43 aircraft. The Flight Screening Program at Hondo will compete with T-41 aircraft.

Reese will send three T-37 and three T-38 aircraft. Two will fly in the competition while the third aircraft of each type will serve as a spare.

Our maintenance competitors include four T-37 and four T-38 crew chiefs and an engine specialist for each aircraft, along with T-37 and T-38 team chiefs and a spare crew chief for each aircraft.

Four T-37 and four T-38 Instructor pilots will compete. Additionally, two T-37 and two T-38 instructors will accompany the primary competitors to act as substitutes.

The competition runs from Oct. 14 through 18. On Wednesday the 14th the Operations and Maintenance team captains and the maintenance team arrive at Randolph.

Thursday the aircrews fly to Randolph to begin the competition with a graded arrival time and wing landings.

After landing the aircraft will be judged for appearance and maintenance personnel will participate in a tire change competition. All competitors will be rated on personal appearance.

Most of the competition events will occur on Friday with morning and afternoon flights. On the first sortie aircrews will be rated on a representative cross section of formation, contact, and instrument maneuvers. The second sortie will be a low level navigation mission. Crew chiefs will be scored on numerous activities associated with aircraft launch and recovery tasks. Pilots and crew chiefs will jointly participate in aircraft preflight competitions.

On Saturday the competition will conclude with T-37 and T-38 engine change competition. A Saturday afternoon awards ceremony will complete Torchlight '87 activities.

"As defending champions we have a reputation to maintain. Reese competitors have been training hard and we are going all out to win again," said Lt. Colonel Stephen Maddox, Assistant Deputy Commander for Operations and Torchlight Team Chief.

Care line

The CARE Line is prepared by Col. Mark H. Lillard, III, 64th Flying Training Wing commander, on a weekly basis. All information provided to the CARE Line will be held in strict confidence. Callers are urged to give their name and duty telephone number so that a personal reply may be made; however, neither are mandatory. Callers should use the CARE Line only after all possible means to air their views or complaints through the chain of command have been exhausted. The CARE Line number is 885-3273.

Smelly Situation

I've noticed that trash cans in base housing are not being cleaned regularly and it is creating a very offensive odor. I've also seen a lot of garbage bags outside of the cans instead of in them. I was wondering if something can be done about this?

There sure is. The contractor in charge of the dumpsters has been advised of the situation and is taking measures to clean the dumpsters with the offensive odors.

All garbage should be placed in the trash cans or dumpsters. Grass clippings are the only items which may be placed along side of the dumpsters.

Cleaning of trash cans is the responsibility of the owners. Everyone should take time to ensure their garbage cans are kept clean, especially during the summer.

If you have any problems with garbage collection in the housing area, call the QAE at 3929. Thank you for bringing this to my attention.

Big Bang in wee hours

Can the bombing to scare the birds away from the flightline be done at a reasonable time instead of five or six in the morning?

The noise you've been hearing so early is gas cannon-sounding devices being fired in the Reese lakes area. This is done to frighten migratory birds roosting in the lakes from the flightline area. The firing scares the birds from their nesting place without physical harm.

Last year, and again this year, we experienced several problems with our aircraft because of birdstrikes. Because birdstrikes present a serious hazard to our air crews, especially during the migration season, it is necessary to carry out this procedure as early as possible, before flying begins.

I'm sorry for the inconvenience and hope this will not be going on much longer.

Safety Hazard on West 8th Street

A large bush is creating a safety hazard on West 8th Street across from the Social Actions building. This makes that intersection very dangerous. I would like to know if the hazard can be eliminated or diminished by removing the bush.

I appreciate your safety consciousness. Ground safety, just like flying safety, is essential to our mission. Any potential hazards observed should be reported so they can be looked into.

The particular intersection to which you are referring has been reviewed for hazards. Visibility is obscured by shrubs, large trees, dumpsters and parked vehicles. The street parking is being revised to make the intersection safer. Further, the intersection will be closely reviewed to alleviate these problems during an upcoming base roads project.

With any intersection on base, caution is necessary to prevent mishaps. I hope everyone on base makes an effort to observe ground safety precautions. Thank you for your call.

Filters at Housing Maintenance

My wife went to the Housing Maintenance Office to get a heater filter because our heater was leaking water on the floor. The receptionist there told my wife that she had to get the filter, and then she made no appointment to get the heater fixed. No one came to look at the heater until I called back a few days later. What do I need to do to make appointments with housing maintenance?

I'm sorry for any inconvenience you may have experienced. Housing Maintenance makes every attempt to provide quality services to our base housing residents. Apparently there was a misunderstanding about the filters with the individual who was working at the Housing Maintenance Office when your wife went there.

I've been informed the situation in your home has been fixed and all maintenance personnel have been instructed to avoid incidents of this type in the future. I hope you won't run into any more problems like this. Thank you for your call.

The buck stops here

Laboratory MIP

The first Buck Stops Here Award ever presented to an Air Force Health Facility was awarded to USAF Hospital Reese on September 10, 1987 at the annual Air Training Command Surgeons Conference.

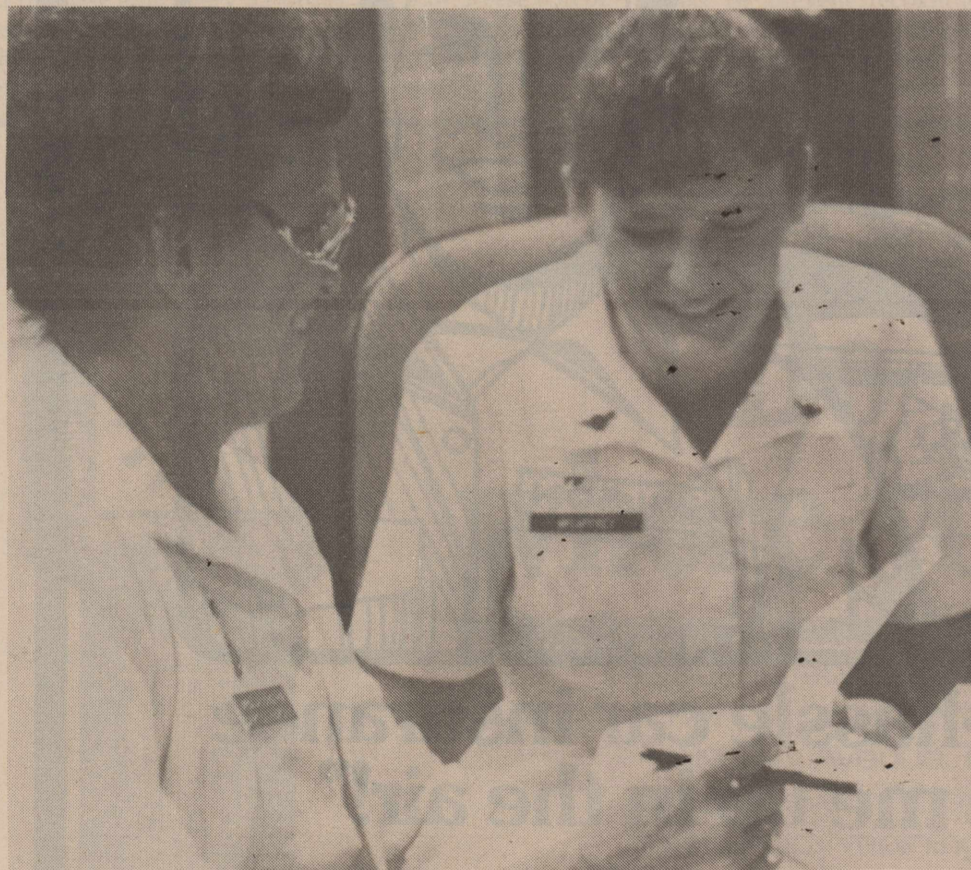

All facilities, including Medical Centers, Hospitals, and Clinics competed for the award which was presented by Colonel John E. Murphy, Chief Air Force Medical Service Corps and Assistant Surgeon General for resources. The award cites the USAF hospital "for management innovation contributions resulting in significant cost savings and increased efficiency." Receiving the award on behalf of the hospital were Colonel Roy L. Bobbitt, Commander, and Major Michael V. Neese, Administrator. Colonel Murphy went on to state that USAF Hospital Reese won the award based on the significant improvements and innovations throughout the facility. He further explained that Reese had done an absolutely superb job as the pilot facility in ATC for the Health Care Finder Program. Many of the innovations began at Reese in their immensely successful program were adopted by the Air Force for use.

Colonel Murphy also praised Reese's forward thinking that was shown in development of their VA inpatient Sharing Agreement, the first of its kind in the Air Force. He highly recommended that other ATC facilities look into this same type of agreement. Finally, Colonel Murphy praised the significant and sweeping improvement shown on the recent Health Services Management Inspection. He stated that these improvements had not escaped the attention of the Air Force Surgeon General.

Dental ear phones

The Dental Clinic provides Reese patients a rare, but soothing service. Thanks to a MIP proposal, the Dental Clinic uses ear phones to help relax patients. The ear phones reduce much of the drilling and scraping dental noises. The patient can ask for and listen to a variety of different types of music and/or comedy. The patient's attention is also diverted from dental procedures to music or comedy. Dental patient Andre McZeak is shown above taking advantage of the new ear phones. (USAF Photo)

VA agreement

Reese Air Force Base and the Veterans Administration announced the signing of an agreement between the two facilities providing for the sharing of inpatient services.

The agreement will enable the VA Medical Center in Amarillo to admit certain VA patients to the Reese Air Force Base Hospital. This will serve to provide needed beds in Lubbock for VA patients and benefit Air Force patients by increased resources. The care of these patients will be provided jointly by staff from the VA Outpatient Clinic in Lubbock and the Reese Air Force Base Hospital. Under this agreement, Reese agrees to provide hospital beds for VA patients that require continued, intermediate (non-acute) hospital care. This would allow the VA Medical Center in Amarillo to transfer South Plains area patients to the Reese hospital so that their hospital care can be provided at a facility closer to their families. The first patient under this agreement has already been admitted.

Full time pediatrician hired

The hospital is proud to announce the hiring of a full time pediatrician. Dr. Sandra Narendaran, previously working under the health finder's initiative, will begin to see pediatric patients full time beginning Oct. 5. As a new member of the hospital, there will be no associated CHAMPUS costs for care given. Pediatric appointments can be made by calling 885-3245. (USAF Photo)

Appointment hours changed

The Primary Care Clinic and Internal Medicine Clinic have changed their appointment hours. The new appointment hours will be from 7:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Commander's Column

Reese is on the move

Col. James L. Higham

by Col. James L. Higham
Air Base Group Commander

Hey, the running track's torn up! What are they doing now? What's going on by the Commissary? Are they building a raised parking lot or something? Well, I guess it's time to inform everyone about our exciting construction projects taking place right now as I write this article.

The new Civil Engineering complex is 95 percent completed. We still have the parking lot and landscaping left to do. This should be finished in December. I believe this is the first CE complex of its type in the Air Force—all CE functions are now consolidated under one roof. The result: We were able to tear down 11 World War II (WWII) buildings!!

The new vehicle maintenance complex is 40 percent completed. It will have an on-site fuel station. When this complex is finished around June 1988, we will be able to take down five WWII buildings.

Replacing the gas lines is the reason why there has been so much digging on base. The old metal gas lines were corroded and leaking—we were losing a lot of gas. The contractors should be finished with this one in October.

We're in phase I of the Whole House Renovation in Reese Village. 100 units out of 407 are involved in phase I. 20 units are currently being renovated with the first one due for completion very soon. Phase I should end in August 1988, and then we'll head into phase II with more units entering the renovation process.

Some great things are going on over by the commissary. The Commissary warehouse is being enlarged. Included with this expansion will be a new bakery! This all should be done in July 1988. And two WWII warehouse buildings (located between the BX and CE complex) will be torn down.

The running track was torn out and a new, regulation 440 yard track will be put in along with a sprinkler system. This project should take around 120 days, so we're looking at a January completion date.

Renovation of Dorm 230 first floor continues. The MWR staff already moved into one part of the floor, and Services Squadron will move into the other part sometime in October. Both offices have new computer systems which need a stronger base than the old buildings could provide.

The new Family Support Center, located behind the Rec Center, is 50 percent completed. Family Services will be the first to move into the new center.

GTE is laying cable for the DO's TRIM (time related instruction management) and MA's CAMS (core automated maintenance system) projects. And the digging goes on . . .

Some of the projects on our "to do" list include:

Replace concrete slabs on apron and taxiway

Repair and expand the Hospital staff parking lot

Construct Runway Supervisory Unit (RSU) radio shelters

Repair the firing range

Repair the training area for the Fire Department

Replace windows in Dorm 230 and Bldg. 1030

Construct two flightline shacks
Replace the roof on Hanger 82 and Buildings 132 and 2105

Repave the golf course parking lot
Add on to the Non Destructive Inspection (NDI) building

Remodel the console at the Control Tower

Repair the gym and racketball court floor and walls

Repair the exterior stairs in Dorm 220

Repair the bearing room in Bldg. 52

Repair the emergency entrance at the Hospital

Whew! These projects should keep us busy through FY88.

One last word: Lubbock should be called the "Windy City," not Chicago. So goes the wind and construction, so goes trash. Please, pick up the trash you see. None of us are above (age or rank) doing this little task (although my back would sometimes like to differ with my opinion). I hope everyone on Reese is as proud of our community as I am.

It's 3:00 a.m. Do you know where your tacos are?

Or your burritos for that matter? On Friday and Saturday nights, chances are they're at Taco Bell on 19th Street just east of University Avenue. That's because we now stay open until 3:00 a.m. every Friday and Saturday night (actually Saturday and Sunday morning). So the next time you're out cruisin the town when all of those other fast food places are closed, cruise by Taco Bell and grab a taco or burrito, fajita or just something to drink. Your stomach will thank you.

Be prepared for storms

by SrA. David A. Wallace
Disaster Preparedness Office

Outside you see the sky light up then you hear a loud boom. This can be a very beautiful and deadly sight.

It is estimated that at any given moment nearly 2,000 thunderstorms are in progress over the earth's surface. Lightning strikes the surface 100 times each second. There are at least 100,000 thunderstorms annually across the United States. There have been 130 deaths from lightning in the state of Texas from 1959 to 1984.

To be sure of proper actions one should know the difference between a severe thunderstorm Watch, and severe thunderstorm Warning. A severe thunderstorm Watch means severe thunderstorms are possible. A severe thunderstorm Warning means severe thunderstorms have been sighted or indicated by radar. If there is a thunderstorm Watch you should monitor the Emergency Broadcast System at KFYO Radio, 790 on the A.M. dial, or your television for official weather bureau information.

If you plan to be outdoors, check the latest weather forecast and keep a weather eye on the sky.

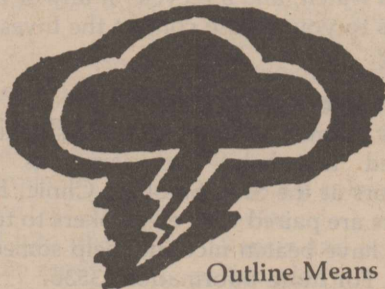

When a thunderstorm threatens, get inside a home or a large building. Do not use the telephone except for emergencies.

If you are caught outside, do not stand underneath a tall isolated tree or a telephone pole. Avoid projecting above the surrounding landscape.

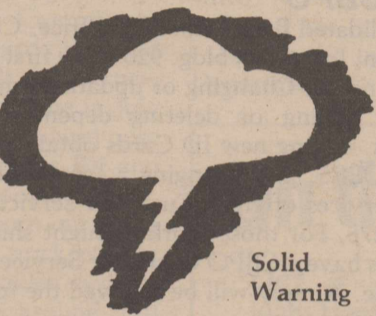

Get off or away from open water tractors and other metal farm equipment or small metal vehicles, such as motorcycles, bicycles and golf carts. Put down golf clubs and take off golf shoes. Stay away from wire fences, clotheslines, metal pipes and rails. Remember lightning may strike up to 15 miles from the parent cloud. Precautions should be taken even if the thunderstorm is not directly overhead.

New MIP incentive

The Director of the Reese Model Installation Program will add a new incentive award beginning this month. Colonel Donald J. McCullough announced a quarterly award for the most beneficial Model Installation Program (MIP) proposal approved during each calendar quarters.

An engraved Cross Pen & Pencil set will be awarded for the best original MIP proposal approved between Oct. 1, and Dec. 31, 1987. Selection will be based on which proposal provided the most benefits to the Reese community.

The benefits can be financial savings, manpower savings, or a combination of both. "We are all enthusiastic about the support the Reese Community has given the Model Installation Program and will continue to press forward with your good ideas. We will also be enhancing our publicity efforts. Watch the Roundup for further details," said Col. McCullough.

Fire prevention week begins

by Bob J. Hitch
Base Fire Chief

Fire Prevention Week stems from history.

Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 4 through 10, 1987, marks the 76th year that fire safety has been the subject of a national observance.

It all started on October 9, 1911, when Fire Prevention Day was inaugurated. The date of October 9th was chosen because it marks the anniversary of the so-called "Great Chicago Fire of 1871"—the conflagration which killed 250 people and destroyed 17,430 buildings at a cost of $168 million, and the fire which started people thinking in terms of fire prevention rather than only of fire fighting.

Fire Prevention Day was begun by the Fire Marshall's Association of North America, now a section of the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA). The day was first proclaimed by President Woodrow Wilson on the 40th anniversary of the Chicago blaze.

In 1922, on recommendation of a member of NFPA, and a unanimous vote of the membership at the association's annual meeting, the fire safety observance was extended to cover the entire week that includes the October 9th anniversary date. President Warren Harding was the first to officially proclaim National Fire Prevention Week, which always is the Sunday through Saturday period during which the October 9th anniversary date falls.

The Reese Fire Department would like you to become a "Partner in Fire Prevention." Fire prevention can't be a matter of "Let George do it . . ."

Good fire safety planning and practice is, instead, a matter of "togetherness." The individual and the family must work to keep their home as fire-safe as possible, following recommendations of the Fire Department.

"Partners in Fire Prevention," theme of Fire Prevention Week 1987, calls attention to the necessity for everyone to "think fire safety," not only during the week of Oct. 4-10, but all year.

At home, each person in the household can help by keeping accumulations of burnables at a minimum. Get rid of old papers, clothing, draperies, boxes, nearly-empty containers of paint and other liquids that might be flammable.

Practice burn prevention in the kitchen by keeping hot pans and small appliances such as coffee maker and broilers out of the reach young children, so they can't spill scalding-hot liquids or grease on themselves.

Keep lamp and appliance cords in good condition. Use a minimum number of extension cords and don't plug too many cords into any one outlet. Never run electric cords under rugs or across doorways. Walking on them damages the insulation and leaves bare wires which could start a fire. Use only the proper size fuses in your fuse box.

If anyone in the house smokes, provide a lot of large sturdy ash trays. Do your best to prevent people from smoking in bed or even while relaxing in an easy chair or on the couch.

Dozing off while smoking, and accidentally setting fire to bedding and/or upholstered furniture is by far the leading cause of home fires in which people lose their lives.

Before retiring for the night, check behind cushions for smoldering cigarettes that might have rolled there unnoticed. Leave the dirty ash trays for morning, or if you feel you must "tidy up" before going to bed, be sure to dump butts and ashes into an empty metal container, never a plastic wastebasket, and never on top of papers and other trash.

"Partnership in Fire Prevention" at its best, means cooperating with your Fire Department by installing automatic fire detectors. These inexpensive units are your best defense against being overcome by smoke and flames before you have a chance to escape safely.

Be a "Partner in Fire Prevention" from each fire prevention week to the next and "Learn Not To Burn!"

Demphasizing volunteers

by 2nd Lt. Barbara J. Mahn
Chief, Personnel Utilization

Recently the Air Force Chief of Staff, General Larry Welch sent a letter to all major commands expressing his concern "that too many organizations place too much emphasis on 'volunteer' status during consideration of officer assignments." His bottom line was: "In my view, as officers, we volunteer one time—when we take the oath of office."

Based upon the Chief's letter, a study was conducted which found that most agencies have institutionalized the "volunteer only" philosophy. In an effort to break away from this widespread mind set, during future officer assignment selection procedures, volunteer status will not be a mandatory criteria for selection.

All assignment selections, including faculty positions and joint duty assignments (with the exception of hazardous duties such as explosive ordnance teams) will be made based primarily on the officer's qualifications. Agencies may solicit volunteers, but this will not exclude selection of non-volunteers.

In keeping with the Chief of Staff's direction, officer Professional Military Education assignments will now be treated similar to a Permanent Change of Station. Assignments must now be accepted or declined within seven calendar days of the officer's notification; however, declination will not require the officer to apply for separation or retirement. After the seven day period, officers will only be released if a documented humanitarian or hardship condition exists. As in the past, release of an officer due to operational necessity will still be allowed.

Opportunity to exchange ideas

Captains Sandra Gellner, 64th Air Base Group, and Paul Nelson, 35th Flying Training Squadron, were Reese's participants in the Air Training Command Outstanding Officer Orientation Program or PACESETTER. In August, they received a close-up look at the command mission and the chance to exchange ideas with the ATC Commander and his staff.

Thirty-six captains and majors participated in PACESETTER. The officers were selected for the 4 day program by their wing or center commanders because of outstanding job performance and professionalism, said Capt. Chuck Crane, Chief Officer of Special Programs at Headquarters ATC's personnel programs directorate. Capt. Crane added that the program offers these individuals the opportunity to better understand ATC's mission, while recognizing them as "pacesetters" among the peers.

During their visit to Randolph, the officers were briefed by ATC deputy chiefs of staff, including technical training, inspector general, operations, plans, logistics, personnel, and engineering and services. They traveled to Lackland AFB to tour the NCO Academy and received briefings on the Air Force Military Training Center and Basic Military Training School. At BMTS, the pacesetters had lunch with trainees and toured the dormitories.

The officers also toured the Air Force Drug Testing Lab at Brooks AFB, participated in the formal military retreat ceremony at Randolph, "Tattoo at the Taj", and had lunch with the ATC staff.

Capt. Gellner said one of the most interesting aspects was hearing the general officers express the same concerns as those of her peers.

The PACESETTER program, held annually, began in 1982 and has evolved into a prestigious command recognition program, said Capt. Crane.

W.O.C. Notes

Each month the Women of the Chapel have programs and ministry projects that women can be involved in according to their abilities, interests and time schedules.

The women of the Chapel meetings are on the third Tuesday of each month. Women's Bible study is held on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month. The book, Seven things children need, by John M. Drescher is the theme for study. Lessons of significance, security, acceptance, love, praise, discipline and God will be discussed.

The class begins at 9:30 a.m. and will last approximately 90 minutes. Carol Gilpin and Delores Stroud will teach the class. Child care is provided at all W.O.C. gatherings. For more information, contact the chapel, 885-3237 or W.O.C. President, Mary Blair, 885-4225.

At the Annual Friendship Luncheon, held Sept. 15, Chaplain Peter Otto, W.O.C. Advisor, introduced the chapel theme for the year, Seek peace and pursue it.

The W.O.C. is currently working on Chrismons for the Chapel Christmas tree. As the cross-stitching on the chrismons are finished, they should be returned to Thelma McGraw.

A legend has taken root

by Marty Brazil
Keesler AFB, Miss.
Company of Military Historians

In the years since the end of World War I, a legend has taken root that the men who fought in the skies above the savage European landscape were somehow different from the soldiers huddled in the dark trenches. Perhaps it is true.

The great aces were, by necessity, men of great skill and courage. They had to possess eagle-eyed vision, lightning-quick reflexes and the daring to risk their necks in the flimsy and unpredictable flying machines of the era.

Individually, they were so different that no one description fits all of them. Some were war lovers who killed with ferocious satisfaction. Others killed equally well, but always with regret.

Some were sportsmen who reveled in the rules of the game. These were the hunter-killers like Richthofen, who gave himself a silver cup after every victory.

There were also deeply religious teenagers like Albert Ball, who wrote his parents assuring them that he said his prayers every night. He died before he was 20.

Cool, calculating perfectionists, like Rene' Fonck, France's top-ranking ace, were among them also. Fonck ended the war with an official score of 75 enemy planes.

France's Nungesser and Germany's Besthold were typical of the driven fanatics in their midst—men who survived battle wounds that would have disabled and hospitalized lesser men, and flew again . . . and again.

Willy Coppens, the Belgian ace who landed on a German observation balloon and took off again, and Billy Bishop, the Canadian ace who won the Victoria Cross after attacking a German airfield by himself, were in there, too.

During the war, each nation praised and publicized their pilots. The number of downed enemy aircraft brought a corresponding amount of glory. In France, anyone who shot down five enemy planes became an ace. The Germans were tougher, requiring their flyers to down 10 aircraft before being hailed as a kanone. The traditionally stoic English felt that herosim should not be unduly publicized and released their heroes' war records only on the occasion of their being solemnly decorated. American newspaper headlines were full of aerial combat feats.

Every nation had strict requirements for verifying victory claims. Three eyewitnesses were usually necessary. So, too, was verification by army personnel on ground. As a result, it's likely that many of the great aces on both sides scored more kills than the official records show.

The accomplishments of the aces, however legendary they were, tended to be more romantic than decisive in the outcome of the war. Throughout the conflict, reconnaissance was the most important function of aircraft, reaching its peak when coordination with the ground troops improved and better cameras were developed. The value of aerial reconnaissance was limited, however, by the static French warfare camouflage and the fact that many troop movements were made at night. The airplane was blind 12 hours out of every 24.

Tactical use of the airplane for ground support was limited by their vulnerability to ground fire. An extremely brave pilot, such as Germany's Ernst Udet, could cause a lot of damage. Udet destroyed a British tank by driving at it continually until it went out of control and turned over. However, low-level strafing was dangerous. Edward Manock, Britain's highest ranking ace, was shot down by a German infantryman's bullet.

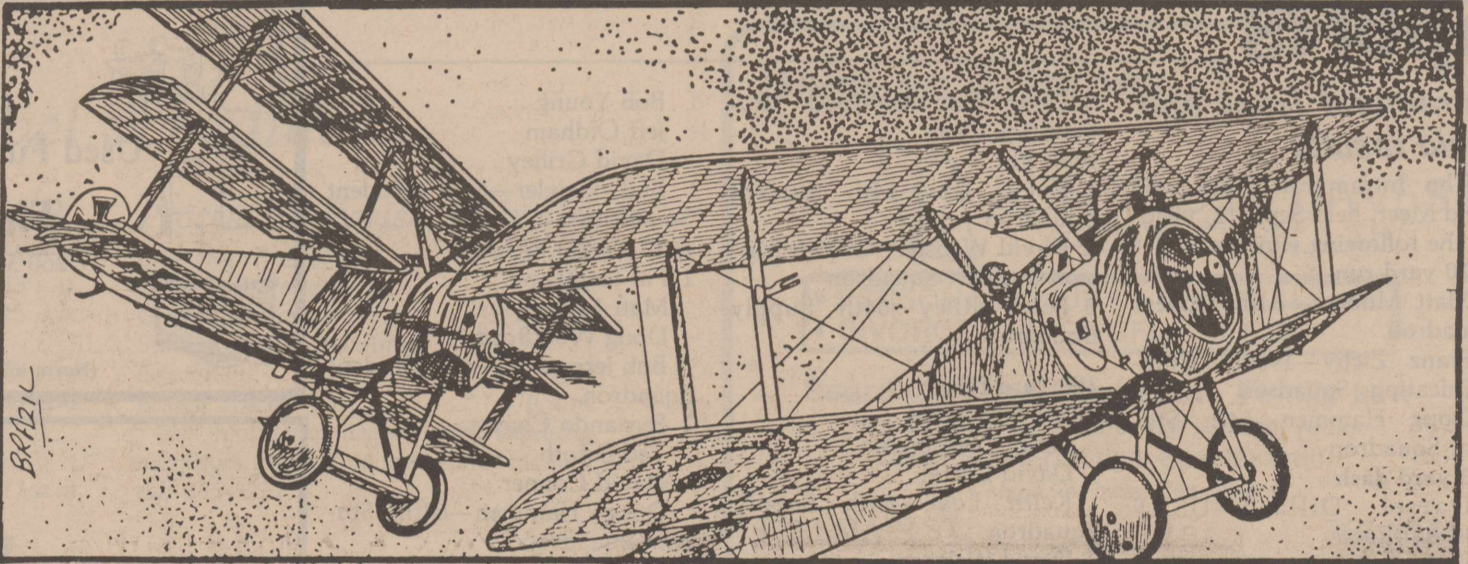

Strategic bombing was too inaccurate and sporadic to be effective. The Germans tried to instill terror in the hearts of the British by mass Zeppelin raids over England. They only succeeded in infuriating the British, whose angry fighters swarmed into the air to blow up the gas-filled ships with incendiary bullets.

During the last weeks of World War I, the potential of both air-to-air combat and strategic bombing was revealed. Allied fighters wrested control of the skies from the Germans, making daytime troop and supply movement extremely risky. Hundreds of Allied bombers smashed German troop staging areas, railroad terminals and supply concentrations.

This was the message written across the skies by the Richtofens, Balls, Foncks, Coppens, Bishops and other "daring young men in their flying machines"—if you hold the air, you cannot be beaten. If you lose the air, you cannot win.

Fatefully, some would neither see nor comprehend it for another generation. (Courtesy the Keesler News)

essay contest winner

Editor's Note: During the past few weeks the Mathis Recreation Center held an essay contest entitled "What the Constitution means to me". The winning essay came from Amn. Trina D. Douglas. Amn. Douglas works in the finance section.

"What the Constitution means to me"

Two-hundred years ago, our Constitution was born. With it, the promise that "We the People" could live in freedom as one nation. Today, that promise is two-hundred years strong and growing. With it grows honor, respect, and admiration.

I thank thee Constitution, for you have set forth the foundation on which I can stand, hold my head high, and be proud. You have given me the freedom needed to excel. You have given me the right to speak and be heard. The right to appear and be seen. You have honored me with pride, dignity, and respect. I am an American. I am proud.

You have brought peace, love, and joy to all Americans, young and old alike. You are the highlight of our lives.

Without you, there would be no "America the Beautiful." You have given so much to us. "We the People . . ." are grateful. "We were the people of yesterday. . . ." We are the people of today. . . ." We will be the people of tomorrow. . . ." "We are the people. . ." Constitution, "We the people" salute thee.
