HASKELL (Haskell County) TEXAS, THURSDAY, JULY 2, 1964

NUMBER 27

Highway 277 Meet Here This Morning

Designated representatives from Wichita Falls, Abilene, and all the towns in between on U. S. Highway 277, are expected for an 11 a. m. meeting today in the Community Room of Haskell National Bank to organize efforts for four-laning the thoroughfare through this area as a potential linkup near the center of a proposed Trans-America Expressway.

Joe Cooley, executive vice president of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce, who was appointed coordinator of the Highway 277 development program at an initial meeting in Haskell, outlined aims and objects of the Thursday session in a recent letter to chosen representatives of cities and towns along the potentially affected route. "We will elect officers," he said, "to serve the Committee and outline definite plans to follow in accomplishing our ultimate goal of getting Highway 277 built into a four-lane highway."

Expected to accompany Cooley here from Abilene are Grover Nelson, Joe Pouns of the Abilene Reporter News, and others.

Bob Gaston, chairman of the highway development of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, and Henry Grace, longtime backer of better highways in the area, will be in the group coming from Wichita Falls.

Haskell County Judge James C. Alvis and Porter Oakes are the designated Haskell representatives named by Abe Turner, president of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce, who will be official host for the highway talks here.

Similarly, Holliday, Manskin, Dundee, Bomarton, Seymour, Goree, Munday, Weinert, Stamford and Anson are expected to send representatives picked either by their municipal bodies or chamber of commerces, to the session here.

Knea Howard publisher of the Wichita Falls Times and Record News, and an ardent highway development enthusiast, said early this week. "One has only to have the pleasure of a ride on the recently completed Bailey Turnpike in Oklahoma to get the overall scope and picture of this important project. It is the last word in highway transportation."

When the 86.4 mile Bailey Turnpike was opened through Oklahoma in April, it was forecast this roadway would be a major part of a 4-lane transcontinental route.

Four-lane roads, either complete or now under construction, now link Texas at Wichita Falls with Waterville, Maine, a distance of 2,303 miles, except for two strips totalling only 24 miles in Missouri.

Interest in four-laning the Wichita Falls-Anson, thence in-lane portion of Highway 277, has been kindled, because completion of Interstate 29 from Abilene west would make this stretch of road through North-West-North Central Texas a potential linkup of a transcontinental expressway, first of its kind.

John W. Howard, 71, member of a pioneer Haskell County family which settled in the southeastern part of the county around the turn of the century, died at 11:30 a. m. Tuesday at a Kerrville hospital. He had been ill for a number of years.

47 STURDY SCOUTS AT TONKAWA
DONNA, TONA, ZONA—SIZ, BOOM BAH!—That goes for Lochie and Andrea, too, which completes the roster of the Haskell High School Indians' majorette corps for 1964-65. They are shown here at the Twirling Drum Major School recently held on the campus of Tarleton State College, Stephenville. Miss Beverly LeFevre, TSC twirler, extreme right, is putting the Haskell girls through their paces. That's right, from left, their names are Donna Josset, Tona Patterson, Zona Bassing, Lochie Foote, and Andrea Baird. Andrea is head drum major for the coming year at Haskell High School. The hope here is that the 6-AA Indians will have a football team to "become" the "lineup" pictured here.

Roborn Blaze Guts Large Building In Heart Of Town

members of this volunteer fire department manning three pieces of equipment, supplied by citizen volunteers for two hours before a stubborn fire through a vacant brick building in the heart of town Saturday.

The building, forced by an "M" System fire engine and more than 100 gallons of water, was gutted in about one hour. A fire engine from the city arrived about 10:30 a. m. and set to work on the fire. The fire was extinguished about 11:30 a. m. and the building was left a charred shell.

The fire was caused by a gas leak in the building. The gas had accumulated and ignited, causing a large fire that gutted the building. The fire department arrived quickly and worked for two hours to contain the fire.

PITMAN REVERSES OLD ORDER, TURNS IN 1-HITTER IN LL PLAY

Haskell's Little League baseball was replete with color this past week as Lanny (persistent Poison) Ivy barely missed his fourth no-hitter of the season in shutting out the Rams, 8 to 0. The Tigers played errorless ball and collected 7 hits off the loser, Wayne Davis, in annexing their 14th win against no losses.

In an interesting reversal of the old Tiger battery order, Roy David Pitman, a catcher for three years now in his third year as a Little Leaguer at the age of 12, started and finished his first major league ball game as a pitcher. With his usual moundman, Lanny Ivy, behind the plate catching him, and turned in a masterful one-hit 8 to 2 win over the Hawks.

For some reason, the catcher-turned-hurler, Pitman, walked the first man up in each of the six innings of the game, then settled down and mowed 'em down thereafter. Two of those walked men were worked around into markers for the Hawks.

The Tigers sparked afield and at bat in the Pitman pitched game. Roy David himself hit a homer and was on the business end of a double play to Campbell. Another twin-killing was pulled by the Tigers from Love to Campbell. Billy Wiseman and Lanny Ivy also clouted circuit swats for the indomitable Tigers.

An oddity in minor league play here also cropped up during the past week when Slim Ivy's Red Horses pulled a triple play. The Red Horses went out to the pasture in the last half of the last inning leading Roy Ammonett's Bears, 4 to 3. The Bears loaded the bases with no outs. A Bear batter lined one to Pitcher Randal Arend for one out. Randal raced to first base, beating the runner (See Pitman Reverses, P. 12)

John M. Crawford, well-known Haskell business, religious and civic leader, has been commended for 13 years of chairmanship of the Haskell County Savings Bond Committee and his dedicated leadership in this area. Dan Jones Castle, district savings bond chairman, of Abilene, has announced.

During the period of Mr. Crawford's savings bond chairmanship, bond sales in this county have totaled $3,520,988, Castles reported. The Haskell citizen's active participation as a leader in savings and war bond work actually totals 23 years. He began this important work in 1941 with the war bond effort at the start of World War II.

The savings bonds program for the most part is carried out through the leadership and support of volunteer workers. Castles said in citing the Haskell man "Mr. Crawford has demonstrated the part that one can save in the success of the program. No doubt, Mr. Crawford has sold thousands of dollars worth of bonds through his personal efforts. Thus, he has helped citizens in this county (See J. M. Crawford, Page 12)

Martin Installed By Lions As "Old Monarchs" Feted

Seven "Old Monarchs" of Lionism, "kings of the jungle" in the Lions Club of Haskell, were honored for longevity, and Frank W. Martin, Haskell County Agricultural agent for 20 years, new president, and his staff were installed amid pomp and circumstance at the annual Ladies' Night of the club here Tuesday night, attended by more than 50 at Sam's Cafe.

Tribute to the memory of a departed member, the late Courtney Hunt, prominent Haskell former Mayor and state legislator, also was paid in recognition of his 35 years' membership and service in the Lions organization prior to his recent death.

Alfred Pierson, president of the Haskell National Bank here, and Theron Cahill, Haskell businessman, were presented pins by outgoing president Wallace Cox, Jr., as "true Old Monarchs" for having logged 35 years each as Lions. W. O. (Bill) Holden, mortuary director, received a 20-year pin. Postmaster Harold Spain and Dr. T. W. Williams, prominent physician in this area, were recipients of 15-year pins.

The Texas Department of Public Safety appeals to all drivers to mark this Fourth of July weekend as a time to review their driving habits in light of the fact that traffic accidents are at an all-time high. Serious accidents are more frequent in holiday periods, and it is estimated that 32 persons will be killed in traffic from Friday, July 3, through Sunday, July 5. This doesn't have to happen! Tragedy can be averted by remaining constantly on the alert for dangerous situations, by not taking chances and by driving in accordance with laws of safety.

Don't Become A 'Motorcide'

While the drivers of Texas are making plans for 4th of July trips, the Texas Department of Public Safety is getting ready for "Operation Motorcide," a three-day vigil of tabulating all traffic deaths in the state.

We would imagine the DPS, a renowned and respected body of men, is getting weary, and justifiably so, of such distasteful vigils. The way the calendar falls this year has given them at least two extra long holiday weekends. Memorial Day was on Saturday, as is the Fourth of July. The extra time off on weekends means more motoring... and more traffic... and more "motorcides."

Definite indications at this half-way mark in the year are that traffic deaths will hit an all-time high in 1964 in Texas.

Since police traffic supervision cannot possibly cover the entire street and highway systems in the State every minute of the day, the big, and ONLY hope for safe driving, and accident prevention, rests with US, the INDIVIDUAL DRIVERS.

If you are joining the highway crazing crowd this weekend, go light on the pedal... and the bottle.

Let your conscience be your guide... don't become a "motorcide!"

They Have Retained The Flavor... A Salute To Our Stamford Neighbors

Beginning today, and continuing through Saturday, Haskell's neighboring thriving community, Stamford, will proudly wave to the world the trademark for which Stamford is best known... the Texas Cowboy Reunion.

An institution of some 34 years' standing, Stamford's Cowboy Reunion, through the years has proved by its sincerity of presentation, its quality of performance, and retention of its "amateur standing," that the annual observance is an event apart from others of its type.

There are rodeos, and there are rodeos. But the Texas Cowboy Reunion at Stamford is different. Its leaders, promoters, directors, have retained the true flavor of West Texas, and the Southwest. And what every last spectator sees and enjoys there is a credit to Stamford leadership.

Billed as such, it is truly the world's largest roundup of amateur cowboys. There is nothing synthetic about the staging of the Texas Cowboy Reunion, and that's what the oldtimers love. It is sterling, through and through.

Haskell is proud to have a tangible connection with its neighbors' annual "open house" again this year, as it has in the past. Our famed Sheriff's Posse, a crackerjack riding club which has continued its familiar winning ways taking trophies in all six appearances this 1964 rodeo season, will serve as host riding club and set the pivots throughout Stamford's colorful and scintillating series of shows.

So, facing the south, thumbs along the seams of our community trousers, we "snap to" with a most sincere salute to Stamford for the mark it has made, and is making, on the world with its unique and refreshing, Texas Cowboy Reunion, an observance apart from others like it.

And, while on the subject, we feel we would be remiss if we did not also take cognizance of the superb efforts of the fine folks at Rule recently in staging their first "Wild Horse Prairie Fun Festival, and the exemplary citizens at Munday last weekend who put on their second annual Vegetable Festival.

Such demonstrations of townwide cooperation are bound to reap dividends. And the Rule and Munday events can, with age, and continued support, become recognized trademarks and institutions of the stature of Stamford.

All these things are healthy... for the towns... and the entire territory. Long may they thrive.

Yes we know what our readers all BOTH of them are thinking! They probably have held a meeting at the summit (third floor of the Courthouse—that's as high as you can go around here unless you get a crop duster ride!) and concluded, "How did HE ever win a prize for column-writing?"

We swear, we don't know... either. Always were lucky in love... and plague winning, though. Outside of that, ran out of soap.

If that song about Kansas City, about everything being up to date, can be a winner, the lyric writers ought to hustle on down to Houston, make two stops, and then "take pen in hand." Successive inspections of the newly completed domed stadium, new home of the Houston Colts, and NASA's spanking new Manned Spacecraft Center with an entire model city around it, all put up in 14 months, should stimulate song, and the words to go with it, after one has regained his breath.

This was our cherished experience during the recent Texas Press Association meeting. And a tour of these two literally out-of-this-world facilities leave one with a single conclusion: THEY'VE GONE ABOUT AS FAR AS THEY CAN GO! What else!

One gets a little rubbery in the knees when he stands before the twin cockpit and the building which houses the entire control apparatus which will guide two of our astronauts to the Moon. The "MSC," as they dub it, had been open to the public, parts of it, for only a scant two weeks when we were there. What a thrill it was to see it.

And THE stadium? As we approached it, we muttered to ourselves, "Bet I could even hit a ball to the ceiling of THAT building. But, even at 200 yards away, it's the most baffling optical illusion we've ever seen. What appears not so imposing from the outside simply is overwhelming inside.

For the figure filberts here are some vital statistics (you know, like 36-22-35... we can look and whistle, but no touch) on the "Harris County Sports Stadium." The stadium structure covers 9 1/2 acres of land. The clear span of the dome roof over all the playing field and all seating areas is 642 feet, twice that of any previous stadium. Outside diameter of stadium is 719 feet. Maximum height of the roof is 298 feet, which would allow the construction of an 18-story building UNDER the roof! The stadium will be completely air-conditioned with 6,000 TONS cooling capacity and circulating 2,500,000 cubic feet of air each minute, cleaned by electronic filters and activated charcoal odor removers. The scoreboard is 150 feet wide. The seating capacity for baseball, 45,000; for football, 53,614; for boxing, 66,000; for conventions, 60,000. To convert from baseball to football seating, one only has to PRESS A BUTTON and stands holding 10,000 seats will move around on steel rails until they parallel the football sidelines! The seating is arranged on six levels, allowing in effect SIX FRONT ROWS! Paved parking areas will provide space for 30,000 cars and 300 buses!

You don't believe this? We didn't either... until we saw it!

Oh, we almost forgot. A number of the private boxes are equipped with telephone jacks... so the Bill Ratliffs and that ilk can call Haskell during the ball game if they want to, and see if the kids are all right.

Let's see. Where were we? Oh, yes, meanwhile, back at the salt mines...

We were about to reach the desperation stage, cast aside our pride, and try to wangle an invitation to the Lions' Club

That's the nature of their senses(?) of humor... a bunch of blood-suckers.

We have nicknamed Inky, the pluto-cat that it is our privilege of sharing with the Joe Maples, the "Tunaville Trawler." You should see that opaque hulk tear into a tuna "treat." Fifteen stevedores couldn't shovel it down the hatch any faster.

Guess if worst came to worst and one wanted to protest strenuously enough one's wife wearing a topless suit, one could wear a bottomless one, couldn't one?

One of the most economical arrangements we've heard recently in this day of soaring prices is the David Josselet family receiving a gift of a poodle. Poodles should belong only to barbers. Think of the overhead saved. We have a brother-in-law, name of Cal Skaggs, over in Midland. He has a wife, two daughters, and a poodle. Says it costs him $40 when all four go to the beauty shop at the same time.

It's a well-known fact that Shady Lane ain't no slouch as a gardener. The other day, our life's mate sashayed out of Lane-Felker's after a long workday, her arms laden with plastic-wrapped corn-on-the-cob and squash. Turning at the door she hollered back over her shoulder to Frances and Mattie Muriel, "Sure do like these fringe benefits!"

Oakescript: The other day as the Dean of Dialogue, Dapper Dennis Ratliff, approached on the street, we hollered "Whatcha been doin'?" His answer: "Oh, just 'pi-rootin' around." That "pi-rootin'" could it possibly be "West Texas" for "pirooting" meaning whirlin' around on one's toes, ballet-style? That was a new one on us.

The best stalk of cotton we have seen this year was sent in several days ago by W. A. Price of the northeast part of the county. The stalk was about 18 inches in height and was stocky and well limbed. It had two blooms and a number of squares. We were informed that it was taken from a field of 30 acres, all of which is growing off nicely.

The Good Earth

by MRS. B. F. COBB

I received such a nice letter from Bertram, Texas; I'd like to share it with everyone.

Dear Ruby:

In the early spring, I was thinking of you, one day, as I sat on a bluff overlooking the creek bottom. Wishing I could share all the beautiful scenery before my eyes. It seemed to us here that winter would never end, and the poor animals would surely starve. Then all at once, as if by magic, everything turned green. In this new country where we live you can surely see and enjoy the "Good Earth" which God makes so very lovely in the spring time.

Keep up your nice column. We all enjoy it very much. May God bless and keep you all well and happy.

Your friends,
Herbert and Janoma Rueffer

Herbert is the son of August Rueffer and Janoma is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Linton. Both of Haskell. This young couple moved from the Watson community last year, and are well known in Haskell. Like many others, leaving Haskell they take the Free Press, to keep up with the "ole home town."

Do make the best of these wonderful rains we have been having, but be careful things do not dry out before you realize it. Prolonged rain makes plants sappy, and often the dry hot days that follow, scorch and sear the tender leaves before one knows it. A good policy is to use a mulch around the trees, plants and shrubs, so the hot sun won't bake the soil. This helps to hold the moisture in the plants and prevents browning of the foliage.

Breaking the crust also helps to preserve moisture; the sun and wind will not penetrate soft soil like it does when the crust cracks and lets air and sun deep into the ground.

With all the good moisture, the "Good Earth" should produce a bountiful crop this year.

R. R. (Bob) Tuley, administrator in charge of the Abilene office, has announced.

Don Austin, field man, starting in July, will increase his Haskell visits to include an extra trip every two weeks in addition to his regular weekly trip on Thursday, Tuley said.

With the continued cooperation of the Haskell Chamber of Commerce, Austin, or other designated social security representative, will be at the Chamber offices here every Thursday morning, as before, and on Wednesday morning, July 15 and 29, August 12 and 26, and September 9 and 23.

Office hours in Haskell for the social security representative on every Thursday, and on the every-other-Wednesday basis described, will be from 10 a. m. until the work is finished for the day.

Tuley reminded that area social security patrons are welcome at the Abilene office at 203 Fannin at North Second Street between 9 a. m. and 5 p. m. Mondays through Fridays, except July 3, the day prior to Independence Day, and Labor Day, Sept. 7.

The social security administrator advised that about August 15 an announcement would be imminent concerning his office's removal to the newly renovated Post Office building in Abilene.

PRACTICAL ASPECT OF SCIENCE STUDIED BY VAN MORRISON

Van Morrison, teacher-administrator in Haskell County's Paint Creek Rural School, is learning fascinating facets of science while attending a select National Science Foundation summer institute for general science teachers at Southwestern Oklahoma State College at Weatherford.

Morrison was one of 60 junior high school teachers picked to study four phases of science as part of the institute. These include physical chemistry, taught by Dr. Edward Neparako, of the Southwestern Chemistry dept.; geochemistry, by Dr. Joe Melton, chairman of the chemistry dept. at Northwestern State College, Oklahoma; biochemistry, by Dr. Donald Hamm, a professor in the Southwestern chemistry department; and a chemistry seminar, conducted by Dr. Earl A. Reynolds, chairman of the division of mathematics and physical sciences at Southwestern, who is institute director.

These are not traditional courses for chemistry majors, according to Dr. Reynolds, but are being adapted to become practical for the teachers and their students.

During laboratory sessions, the instructors acquaint those attending the institute with equipment and techniques they might not normally encounter, at the same time familiarizing them with methods they might use in their teaching. These are designed to prove useful while teachers help their students develop science fair projects as well as in regular class study.

It Really Was A "Jailbird" ... After All

A parakeet captured here last week while apparently seeking refuge at the Haskell County Jail was really a "jailbird" after all.

A week ago Monday, Charlie Friebele, distribution agent for several newspapers here, reported he and Scotch Coggins, Haskell insurance man, trapped the brightly plumaged bird as it was "evidently trying to break into the jail," according to Friebele, to get away from some heckling sparrows.

Six days later, on Sunday, George Yancey here claimed the parakeet. He said his pet of six months had flown away two days before it was recaptured, after hitching a ride out of his house on Yancey's hat.

"So help me," reports Yancey, "that bird must have gotten lonesome to be behind bars again."

The parakeet was given to Yancey six months ago by a friend who is employed in the State Prison at Huntsville.

Farm Store Here Sets Open House On Equipment

An open house and public display of the new line of New Holland farm equipment will be held Tuesday, July 7, from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. at Haskell Farm Store, which has been named authorized dealer for New Holland in this area.

Leon Stegemoeller, manager of the Haskell Farm Store, said he will carry the grassland farming equipment, including the hay balers for which New Holland has long been noted.

Stegemoeller said that in addition to selling and servicing equipment made by New Holland Machine Co., Haskell Farm Store will also provide the latest information on grassland farming practices and methods.

New Holland is reported to have produced the first automatic pickup baler in 1940 and has become a leader in grassland farming machinery.

In addition to balers, which range from family-size to the big self-propelled Haycruiser, Haskell Farm Store also will handle other haying tools, barvesters, spreaders, wagons and grinder-mixers.

Carrol Macon Is ROTC Trainee At Fort Sill, Okla.

Carrol R. Macon, a 1961 graduate of Haskell High School, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. Otis Macon, Route 2 Rule, is one of some 1500 ROTC cadets from the five-state Fourth U. S. Army area who have invaded rolling, tree-shaded Fort Sill, Oklahoma, to begin six weeks of intensive training which will put them a step closer to commissions as second lieutenants in the Army.

The Haskell County cadet is one of 65 upper classmen from Texas Tech undergoing the training.

Macon, after graduating from high school here, attended Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene, one year, and has been at Tech for the past two years. He will be a senior at Tech this fall.

During the 6-week training session, which began June 21, the cadets will get practical application of their classroom instruction during their college ROTC school years.

SBA Has Helped District, Graham Purcell Reports

The 13th Congressional District, the southern tiers of which include Haskell, Baylor, Kent, Knox, King, Stonewall and Throckmorton counties, has benefited greatly from the loan program of the federal government's Small Business Administration, Congressman Graham Purcell reported to his constituents Monday in his newsletter.

Every county in Purcell's district except three, and one of those is King County, have taken part in the program in which SBA, "a relatively small and unpublicized Federal government agency," has issued a total of 111 loans in the amount of nearly $5.5 million in this Congressional district, according to the report.

Baylor County, with Seymour as the county seat, has received 10 loans totaling $288,000.

Haskell County residents have obtained six loans from SBA in the amount of $69,000. Other loans in this area have included one in Kent, for $17,500; two in Knox, for $12,500; four in Stonewall, for $36,000.

Texas has fared well under SBA programs, Congressman Purcell says. There have been nearly 3,000 business loan approvals in Texas for a total of $133,755,000.

"I find that most people regard the SBA as primarily a money lending instrument of the government, and that it is easy to get money there and at low rates," Congressman Purcell reports. "They are wrong. Actually SBA prefers that potential borrowers try all local sources of funds before approaching the agency, and even then, SBA tries to get local bank participation in all SBA business loans. This has resulted in 65 percent bank participation. In some cases, SBA makes the entire loan. Interest rates with SBA do not exceed 5 1/2 percent, and they may drop to 4 percent of heavy later summaries of the Congressmen. He will be happy to assist any business community who would investigate further programs of the Administration."

LETTERS . . . Mrs. R. B. Wall, Sister Of Area Residents, Dies

The Constitution wisely provided for representation of both population and homogeneous areas. The U. S. House of Representatives for population and the U. S. Senate for the states.

I believe the recent ruling that State Senates be based solely on population is questionable on two counts.

1. Logic: It would be logical to assume that State Senates should be copied after the U. S. Senate. That is, for representation of homogeneous areas or districts within a state.

2. Jurisdiction: although the Court is undoubtedly within its jurisdiction in insisting that congressional districts be based on population (because it is clearly prescribed in the Constitution). I fail to find anything in the Constitution that would give the Court the prerogative of dictating to the people of each state how they should choose their State Legislatures. In fact, the 10th amendment would seem to prohibit such jurisdiction.

A Supreme Court "decree" of this sort is questionable as to logic, as to law and as to equity, and the people should make their protests heard in Congress.

George Corse, Jr., Graduate, Candidate for Congress (GOP)

My Three Daughters

The maternal grandmother is Mrs. Virgil Shaw, of Grand Prairie. Paternal grandfather is Sherman Mullins, also of Grand Prairie. Mrs. Mary Mullins, of Haskell, is the child's paternal great-grandmother.

Tuesday Renee joins two other sisters, Jeannabeth and Cecilia, in the Jimmy Mullins household.

Franklin Reports On U. S. Jaycee Meeting In Dallas

James H. Franklin, assistant cashier of the Haskell National Bank and holder of many key posts in the Haskell Jaycee organization, is one of the thousands of delegates who swarmed into Dallas last week for the 44th annual convention of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Franklin, in a telegram to the local Jaycee group, read by President pro tem Bill Tomlinson, reported "politicizing at its peak" preceding the final two days of the convention during which hopefuls from several states made bids for posts at the top of the rung of officialdom in the U. S. Jaycees.

Following a packed schedule last Tuesday, Franklin said, a forum, caucuses, and a visit by Miss America, 1964, a traditional "Parade of States" was staged in downtown Dallas.

State parties burst onto the convention scene in preparation for balloting on "favorite sons," and offerings of everything from rattlesnake, shortcake, bear burgers, and fried chicken were served up as lures for votes, as the convention reached its climax according to Franklin.

75 Take Part In 4-H Girls' Camp At Park Here

Seventy-five club members and adult leaders, representing nine of Haskell County's 13 girls' 4-H clubs, took part in a recent all-day countywide 4-H camp in Rice Springs Park here.

Group recreation, crafts and swimming were featured events of the day. Girls who had attended a District 3 leadership training camp earlier in the week at Lueders helped direct the recreation.

The directors were Martha Nell Chambers, Rochester, Diane Davis, Kathy Hager and Susan Weise, all of Mattson. They were assisted by Sharon Leverett and Judy White from Stonewall County.

The all-day program also featured 'dinner on the grounds' and the overall schedule was directed by Haskell County 4-H adult leaders, with Mrs. W. R. Hager, Mattson as chairman.

Mrs. Mary Jo Leverett, Haskell County home demonstration agent, served as advisor to the leaders and girls.

Judy Anderson Is Staff Member At Glorieta Assembly

Judy Ann Anderson, outstanding Haskell High School student and campus favorite, who will be a senior this fall, is serving on the staff of the Glorieta Baptist Assembly at Glorieta, N. M. for the first six weeks' summer session.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Anderson, of 1702 South Avenue H, Haskell, Judy is very active in the youth activities of the First Baptist Church here.

Glorieta Baptist Assembly is one of the two nationwide church leadership training assemblies owned and operated by the Sunday School Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, Nashville, Tenn.

A group of 20 youths and adult leaders from the Church here, including Charles Merritt, director of youth activities, and Mrs. J. C. Yearly, Jr., spent a week at a conference at Glorieta June 4-10.

In the latter part of July, Mrs. Frank Martin, Pam Reeves, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. (Bill) Reeves, and possibly Merritt again, will be Haskell delegates at another Glorieta session.

Persons Have Guests

The Dave H. Persons had as their guests this past week their son-in-law, Charles F. Hunter, and granddaughter, Margaret, 9, of New Orleans. Some civic commitments of Mrs. Hunter, their daughter, prevented her coming at this time. Hunter, a pilot for Eastern Airlines, was enjoying a brief vacation from his duties as captain of an Eastern flag-ship.

Jim Pennington Soon to Conclude Dakota Meetings

Jim Pennington, minister of the Haskell Church of Christ, who has been away from his pulpit here since the first of June, has completed a successful meeting in Huron, South Dakota, and is now helping direct a similar one in Aberdeen according to reports received here.

John W. Anders, of Tyler, Texas, is the evangelist, and Mr. Pennington is one of four other Church of Christ ministers on a team assisting the Tyler minister.

At the Huron meeting, visitors were drawn, according to Pennington, from Chicago, several Missouri points, and from Watertown, Sioux Falls, Aberdeen, Brookings and Hitchcock in South Dakota.

In a sidelight to his report back to Haskell Mr. Pennington reminded that Aberdeen is the homeplace of the five American quintuplets, and that clustered around Huron are five of the seven Huderite Colonies in South Dakota. The Huderites live in a communal colony and own nothing personally except their clothing. They each have their own work, farming, cooking, hog raising, among them, and wear similar uniform-type clothing. Their religion is an off-shoot of that of the Mennonite, he reported.

The Haskell minister wrote that "especially loved by the people here (South Dakota) is the 'Texas accent,' as they call it. They do not know it—but Texans have NO accent—but everyone else does!" Mr. Pennington concludes.

The Pennington family expects to be back in Haskell by July 4th weekend.

By AL HINDS

Their rallying cry was the stirring ultimatum of Patrick Henry: "Give me liberty or give me death!" Their signal, "the shot heard round the world," they were the spirit of 1776, a spirit that has since transcended the times that nurtured it and the nation that gave it birth. It is a spirit that is timeless and universal; the essence of man's need to be free and the master of his destiny. This spirit of 1776 won independence for the American colonies and forged them into a great Nation; it lives on in 1964, in the hearts of all men who love freedom everywhere. These are some of the things we should pause to remember as we approach another grand and glorious Fourth of July.

Noticed a sign at West Texas Utilities Company which read "CUSTOMER'S AFTER HOURS PAYMENT DROP HERE." With this hot weather and air conditioners humming, perhaps many customers will "drop" when they take a peek at their bills.

The younger generation perhaps knows very little about "Rabbit Drives" but years ago it was a popular pastime in controlling the pests.

I recollect when I was a sun-burned kid down on the farm in Coleman County, the day set aside for a big rabbit drive was looked forward to with much anticipation. In fact it was almost as important as "hog killing time," and the day the thresher crew moved in.

Neighbors from far and near would gather at a designated place early in the morning of the day of the big rabbit drive, and the women would go all-out in preparing a sumptuous noon-day meal for those on the drive.

One of the most popular and effective practices devised in controlling the rabbits was the holding of "rabbit drives" in which large numbers of men took part, and a few boys, if you had a big brother, or your dad was on the big hunt.

Early in the spring, a date would be set for a community drive. In organizing for the day's hunt, the men would assemble at a set point, then elect captains, or leaders, and divide into two teams. One team, or group of men, would be stationed on a "stand" or line extending across a given area; the other would then advance toward the stand of hunters literally driving hundreds of rabbits into range of the waiting men. Teams would alternate in the procedure until a given community had been covered, killing thousands of rabbits by this method.

A few years before the "Roaring Twenties" an effort was made to popularize the jackrabbit as an edible meat animal, and large numbers were shipped to markets in the north and east. Transportation costs were excessive compared to prices received by shippers, and this venture never proved profitable.

In the spring of 1916, a highly publicized dinner of jack rabbit meat was served at the Driskill Hotel in Austin, when jack rabbit was highly praised for its good food value.

In order to encourage control of the jack rabbits as a predator of farm crops, many counties even paid a bounty on rabbit ears.

Rabbit meat ain't had eatin' if you'll pardon the expression, and if it is fried, crispy brown, it ain't had a "tail" either. I remember the time many moons ago, most every member of the Hinds clan came down with illness, and brother Matt cooked up a big hunk of rabbit meat and brought it into my room for lunch. I was just too darn sick to eat even a bowl of soup, and the sight of that blasted half-cooked rabbit staring me in the face made me even sicker.

I remember too, that our sister, Ethel, now deceased, made a statement one day that she wouldn't touch a piece of rabbit meat with a ten-foot pole, but later she had to eat that statement, and a rabbit meat too. You see it happened like this: A Mr. Gardner, friend of the family, killed two or three nice size, juicy jack rabbits, took them to a market in town and had the bones removed, then brought the rabbit meat to our house for mother to cook. He told Ethel it was steak and she ate it, smacked her lips and thought it was the best steak she had ever eaten.

Since I am on the subject of rabbits, I remember when the Prattle's daughter, Beverly, was about four or five years old, we decided to raise rabbits (the Belgian Hare type), and did so with much success. One day Beverly picked some long-stemmed hot peppers, and poked the hot pods through openings in the cage. One big, old pink-eyed rabbit grabbed a whole pod and began chewing on it. I have never seen a rabbit jump so long and high, and banging its head against the top of the cage. After the hot pepper incident, Mr. Rabbit was rather reluctant in eating anything from Beverly's hand.

Lanny Ivy Gets Sports Mag's Merit Award

Sports Illustrated Magazine's "Merit Award" in the form of an imposing silver trophy will be presented to Haskell's phenomenal Little League pitcher, Lanny Ivy, hurler of three no-hit games and two one-hitters this season, in a ceremony over Radio Station KDWT, Stamford, at 8:05 a. m. Friday.

Bob Pritchard, Stamford civic leader and radio executive, representing the magazine in this area, will make the presentation to young Ivy, nicknamed "Poison," by opposing batters, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Volly Ivy, on hand for the event.

Lanny, 12, recently was recognized by Sports Illustrated's "Faces In The Crowd" feature section, June 22 issue, for his extraordinary feats on the baseball diamond as a young pitching prospect extraordinary.

A similar presentation ceremony for the Haskell youth is being planned in which hometown folks will participate, at an early date.

Youth Revival At The First Baptist Church July 10-12

Haskell's First Baptist Church will hold a three-day youth revival here Friday through Sunday, July 10, 11, 12, Dr. B. R. Nobles, pastor, and Charles Merritt, director of youth activities, have announced.

Two outstanding youth leaders, young adults themselves, will be the leaders of the youth revival which is expected to attract young people from a wide area of Northwest and North Central Texas.

The evangelist will be John Tanner, 22, of Dallas, a ministerial student and senior at Baylor University, who attended Woodrow Wilson High School, Dallas, and played football and basketball there. He plans to go to Seminary after finishing Baylor. Tanner has been active in Baptist Student Union and Chamber of Commerce work while at Baylor, served as World Emphasis Week chairman and was president of his Freshman class. He has chosen the ministry as his life's work.

Joey Evans, 18, a resident of Winnboro, La., will be minister of music for the youth revival. He is a freshman at North Texas State University. At Winnboro High School, he was a mainstay in the choir and band, and worked on the newspaper and annual staffs. He already has had experience as minister of music in the First Baptist Church at Steilly Island, La., and as youth director and music minister at Howe, Texas. He also has done supply work as minister of music in his home town of Winnboro, La. He expects to make music ministerial work his life's calling.

Stirring messages, inspiring music, spiritual fellowship, and enlightening seminars will be part of each service at the youth revival beginning at 7 p. m. nightly, Dr. Nobles has announced.

Stubborn Blaze

(Continued from Page One) spare lumber and cleaning up preparatory to turning the building back to Mrs. Atekinson. The growing corporation's lease expires July 6, Mrs. Atekinson said.

Mrs. Frank C. Scott, whose residence is across the street from the fire ravaged building, noticed smoke billowing from the northwest corner and turned in the alarm at 4:20 p. m. Haskell volunteer firemen were swarming over the entire premises in a matter of minutes, but the blaze was hard "to get to" because it was principally located between the top of the building and a false dropped ceiling packed with insulation, firemen said.

It was almost an hour after firemen arrived before the main body of the fire leaped through the roof as volunteers manning two pumps poured thousands of gallons of water into the structure. The entire roof and the water logged ground floor soon thereafter.

E. J. Stewart, captain of one three volunteer fire companies battling the blaze, who was on the roof most of the time, said it was the "worst smoke situation I have encountered since I've been fighting fires here." He is a veteran fire fighter.

A trash fire just west of the empty building containing refuse from the cleanup job was believed to have ignited grass next to the building. The grass fire spread to a wooden shed housing refrigeration equipment at the northwest rear corner of the structure, and the blaze was believed to have swept through a wooden door leading into the main building and up to its ceiling and roof.

MORE LENIENT LOAN POLICY FOR SMALL BUSINESSMAN

The very small businessmen—chiefly operators of retail shops or service establishments—many of whom have had a hard time obtaining financing in the past—will now find it much easier to qualify for a Government loan, Jack Teddlie, Lubbock Branch Manager of the Small Business Administration, said this week.

Teddlie's announcement was made known through the office of Don Perry, administrator in Haskell of the Farmers' Home Administration, 316 North First.

The new, liberalized loan program was announced by President Johnson at White

The townwide session on the subject, about which there is a growing desire and need for more information in order to enable people to cope with the problem which has infiltrated every walk of life and every segment of society, will be held at 8 p. m. Thursday, July 9, in the American Legion Hall here.

Shelby Parnell, of Big Spring, an outstanding alcoholic counselor on the staff of the State Hospital there, who works closely with the Texas Commission on Alcoholism, will be one of the principal speakers at the open meeting.

Another potent platform personality will be a recognized leader of AA, identified simply as "Neva G." of Abilene, who will bring a message of faith based on the AA program of dependability upon a Higher Being that will stir the heart, according to AA leaders in Haskell.

A community meeting of this type was sponsored by the Haskell Jaycees a year ago, and met with tremendous response. It was recalled here this week.

Bill Tomlinson, president pro tem of the Haskell Jaycees in the absence of President Jesse Priest, who is undergoing surgery soon, said Wednesday the entire membership of his organization is bending every effort to assure a record turnout "for this very worthwhile meeting."

Vets of W Elect De To State

Delegates to state convention will be elected at the Haskell, Okla., Veterans and its Auxiliary, on Tuesday night, July 7, at the American Legion.

Commander of the unit, and its Auxiliary, a full attendance here, will be important.

"It is clear," Teddlie said, "that the SBA will have an important role in President Johnson's war against poverty. More and more it is becoming apparent that a thriving small business community can do much toward taking up the slack in unemployment."

"We have simplified our procedures and requirements for these loans. We believe it is important to help the many thousands of struggling small firms, as a means of creating new jobs, and stimulating the nation's economy."

The SBA's new small loan program reflects a very emphasis on helping the new small businesses, Teddlie said.

SBA Administrator Foley has frequently expressed the view that the Agency in the past has not done as much as it should to help the businessman at the lower end of the small business scale, he said. Yet they are often the businessmen most in need of financial help, and those who have the most difficulty in obtaining it.

The new small loan program was designed to meet this need, Teddlie said. Under this program SBA will make loans to small firms up to a maximum of $15,000 for as long as six years under greatly liberalized

The United Industries manager headquartered here said the pest is an insect that "has the appearance of a rat, and will destroy a maize crop in nothing flat."

Farmers are advised to check their maize crops immediately, and if they feel the crops are infested with the chinch bug-type, they should contact their county agent at once for advice and help.
