And A Red-Spoked Baggage Wagon On The Station Platform

It seems timely, with Hey Day just 10 days away, to share with all our Haskell County neighbors some information which has been brought to our attention about a railroad depot restoration project similar to ours here which offers everything but the rumble and the roar at Pittsford, N. Y. The New York town, by the way, has a population of 1,749 far-sighted souls, a third the size of Haskell, and its citizenship is reaping tremendous rewards in tourist dollars from its effort.

In Pittsford, the depot there has been turned into a restaurant. But the idea is the same as that which we have here ... to recapture and preserve for posterity the atmosphere and the you will, is NOT a yak, as any and vivacious child, helped ed. romance of the railroad.

In our evaluation of Hey Day, and its aims and objects, as a county-wide endeavor worthy of our every last ounce of effort in support, let us consider the following experience... one which Only, The Incomparable we could well enjoy similarly here by putting our community T-H-A-N-G! And that's no shoulder to the wheel.

Two members of the last of the great railroad generations have breathed some life into that boyhood memory at Pittsford, N. Y., one of the uncountable abandoned whistle stops along America's railroads.

Harvey L. Sibley and Edward B. Plenge bought far more than a memory when they purchased the New York Central yuk! Railroad's depot and ticket office at Pittsford and turned them back into themselves. In the eighteen months since The Depot accurate facsimile of The Varhas opened, it has become one of the most popular restaurants in mint but once, and the Caddo the Rochester area.

A picture accompanying this description shows the familiar paneled interior of the old depot adorned by light fixtures from asking if it were possible to seold railroad coaches, and through the barred bay-window of the ticket office may be seen the pot-bellied stove, trademark of depots the country over. We have most of those fixtures right here, too, you know, rounds about the precarious tant statement of fact, and it just waiting for restoration. What we don't have, we do have the assurance we can get. The depot has been moved to a perfect place, accessible for viewing, browsing, touring

Haskell, "Horsehide Heaven"

Lovers of Baseball, The National Pastime, and they seem to be in the majority here in the West Texas hinterland, should, and undoubtedly will be in "Horsehide Heaven" here this week and next Beginning Monday, a Texas Teen-Age Baseball Tournament has been hosted here, with the climax coming tonight. Tomorrow and Saturday, our town extends its hospitality to the teams, parents and fans of three area winners in Little League play, which will do diamond battle with our own All-Stars, champs of Area II, for the supremacy of District 6, and the right to advance to the Sectional Playoffs in Lubbock next week. Next week, also, another Teen-Age Tourney will be reeled off here.

So here's a hearty handshake to our visitors this week from Lorenzo, Matador, Graham, Knox City and Wichita County, the places sending championship nines to Haskell for tournament tMay your stay here be a pleasant one. And come back to see us, soon, and often.

She's A Good "Jo" . . . We'll Miss Her

If ever there was a person who measured up to the female counterpart of a "Good Joe" nomenclature, it is Haskell County's Home Demonstration Agent Mary Jo(aptly) Leverett.

Mary Jo, after a year of one of the most productive records in her realm of activity anyone ever compiled anywhere, is leaving us. And she will be missed. Her organizational abilities in 4-H and home demonstration activities have become legion over a wide area since she came out of retirement a year ago to direct a tremendously beneficial program. She is leaving us only because she feels she is needed more at this time at her home in Old Glory.

This personable, dynamic lady has a knack for making people WANT to work with, and for her. And this sterling trait of character, plus her boundless energy, have accomplished aims in abuandance around here.

Somehow, we feel such traits have been transfused from Mary Jo to the leadership of girls' 4-H and Home Demonstration work in Haskell County, and the important program she began. and expanded, will continue.

We all have profited by Mary Jo Leverett's stay with us. May everything good come her way in the future. She deserves

So, to put it plainly, it is not a lot of yak, when yak is referred to in the gibberish or disentort on the filaforce sense, that this Caddo Crittur IS a yak! Now, that makes sense, doesn't it?

It sort of reminds us of the hackneyed old expression, "When is a door not a door?" Well, fellow stupes, when it is AJAR, of course! By the same token, or with pure application of the old geometric axiom, "Things equal to the same thing are equal to each other." When then is a yak not yak? # TO ALL CITIZENS INTERESTED IN THE GROWTH AND PROGRESS OF HASKELL:

The Haskell Chamber of Commerce respectfully requests that all interested citizens in the progress of our city attend the general town-hall meeting Tuesday evening, August 4th at 7:30 p.m. at the Haskell County District Court Room.

This is the first in a series of projected town-hall meetings which is designed to define and then discuss policies that will lead to the growth of our city. This is the program:

- 1. The new budget recommendation of the Chamber research committee will be presented by chairman, Don Muenzler.
- Mr. Rex Jennings, manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce, will be the guest speaker. Mr. Jennings will discuss what the potential of a Chamber of Commerce program will bring a town if wide-spread support will come from its people.
- 3. Dr. T. W. Williams, our West Texas Chamber of Commerce director, will discuss the general growth plans of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and what Haskell must do to fit into this growth.
- 4. Discussion from the floor led by President Abe Turner. Questions may be directed to Mr. Jennings, Dr. Williams, or the budget recommendation committee.
- 5. A vote on the committee's budget recommendation of the Chamber of Commerce.

Our Chamber of Commerce has now been without a manager for several months. This does not mean that your Chamber has been inactive during this interim. Intensive research and study has been going on to decide the best direction our Chamber of Commerce should go. Should we maintain only an office and carry on only secretarial type functions, or should we give the Chamber the financial support necessary to hire a professionally experienced and successful Chamber manager? The research committee has submitted its intensive study to the Chamber's Board of Directors and has received full approval . . . Nothing more can be done unless approval or disapproval can come from all of our interested citizens.

Come to this general town-hall meeting. Voice your opinion. Help decide on the type of Chamber of Commerce you would like for Haskell. The responsibility is yours. This is the most important Chamber of Commerce meeting we have ever had. We ask your support by being there.

7:30 P. M. Tuesday, August 4th . . . at the District Court Room

LVN Candidates Take 5-Hour Exams In Austin

Nine area LVN candidates have returned home after taking the state board exams for Licensed Vocational Nursing certificates in Austin and await results of their efforts.

Most of this group underwent a year-long period of training recently completed at Haskell County Hospital under direction of Anna Kimbrough, RN

Among the 292 taking the 5hours of tests in the ballroom of the Stephen F. Austin Hotel in Austin were: Mrs. R. V. Black, Mrs. Dale Haynes, Mrs. Eugene Loewe and Mrs. Dude Mercer, all of Haskell: Arthur Howard, Wichita Falls: Mrs. Jessie Couch and Miss Caroline Cox. Abilene: Mrs. Travis Townsend and Mrs. Rod Ezell, of Rule.

The group going from this toured the State Capitol and visited other points of interest in Austin prior to the examination.
